GREETINGS ARE EXCHANGED BY TAFT AND DIAZ

GREETING IS BEHIND CLOSED DOORS IN ROOMS OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

CROSS BORDER AND AGAIN SHAKE HANDS

At Night Taft Attends Banquet at Juarez—Woman Anarchist Said to Be in San Antonio. Officers Search.

Publishers Press.
El Paso, Oct. 16.—Amid the thunder of cannon salutes and with soldiers guarding everywhere, Taft and Diaz met here this morning and exchanged greeting and good will. The meeting was behind closed doors in the Chamber of Commerce.
Taft then crossed the border and walked with Diaz in the custom house. Taft then came back and reviewed the parade of the regular soldiers with Governor Campbell.
Taft's train reached here this morning at 9:20. Nearly the whole city greeted him. Three thousand soldiers and national guard were in the streets. Taft was dressed in a frock coat and high hat, and Diaz was in full uniform and medals.
Luncheon was served in the Chamber of Commerce building. Taft's escort was two squadrons of the Third U. S. cavalry, batteries A, B and C of the Third Field Artillery and the Ninth Infantry from Fort Sam Houston.
Mexican troops accompanied Diaz across the bridge, which was regarded as neutral ground for this purpose. President Taft has the finest suite at the St. Regis hotel.
Twenty-one guns were fired as Diaz reached American territory.
Late this afternoon Taft went to Juarez for the banquet tonight. Taft's military aide, Captain Butt, met the Diaz carriage in front of the Chamber of Commerce and escorted Diaz into Taft's presence.
When Taft alighted on Mexican soil this morning it was the second time in history of the United States that a president has been in a foreign country during his term of office.
There was a big military display when Taft left this afternoon at 5:30 to attend the Juarez banquet.

San Antonio, Oct. 16.—Extraordinary precautions will be taken to guard Taft while he is here Sunday and Monday. For weeks secret serge men have been here. Mayor Gallagher was informed that a woman anarchist is here and the officers are searching for her.

Salute.
Publishers Press.
Laredo, Oct. 16.—In celebration of the Taft-Diaz meeting in El Paso today, the citizens of Laredo, Mexico, paid the presidential salute at the hour the executives were due to shake hands.
Business suspended and bands played martial music. Congratulatory telegrams were sent to Diaz.

Banquet.
Publishers Press.
Juarez, Mexico, Oct. 16.—The banquet tonight for Taft and Diaz was gorgeous. The table service cost a million and a half and there were fifty waiters and two bands. Diaz spoke first, congratulating Taft and America and proposing toast to both. It followed, congratulating Mexico

TAFT IN TEXAS

ORIENT GOING SOUTH FOR CONNECTION ON MEXICAN RAILWAY TO MEXICO CITY

San Angelo, Oct. 14.—E. Dickinson, vice president and general manager K. C. M. and O., Kansas City: San Angelo committee offers irrevocable right of way to south county line, also Christoval station terminals, actual construction work to begin in reasonably short time and first train to be operated in two years from time right of way and terminal deeds are furnished company. Company to deposit first mortgage bonds for actual cost of right of way and terminals to indemnify committee against time failure. Reasonable extension of time for unavoidable delays will be permitted. Formal contract to be drawn in Kansas City.
A. M. DENNY.

Kansas City, Oct. 15.—A. M. Denny, San Angelo: Replying to your telegram, contract on basis mentioned approved. Will forward suggestions for contract today.
E. DICKINSON.

San Angelo, Oct. 14, 1909.—To Mr. C. A. Broome, President San Angelo Business Club, San Angelo, Texas. Dear sir: This proposition on behalf of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway company of Texas, when accepted by the citizens of San Angelo and approved by E. Dickinson, general manager, is to construct the south line of the said Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway company of Texas from a point south of and at or near the stock pens of the company at San Angelo, to the south line of Tom Green county, via Christoval, in consideration of the donation of right of way from the point of divergence from the main line to the south line of Tom Green county, and station 300 by 3000 feet at Christoval. This road is to be constructed and at least one train run through thereon within two years from the date of securing right of way and terminals above stated; to the said south line of Tom Green county. The final acceptance of this proposition to be evidenced by a formal written contract entered into by the properly authorized officials of said Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railway company of Texas, and the committee representing the citizens of San Angelo and Tom Green county.
A. M. DENNY,
W. C. BLANKS,
Field Representatives.

The following explanation is added to the above proposition: This is the beginning and north portion of the south line projected to a connection with the Mexican Central railway to the City of Mexico, and contemplated in this company's original contract with the city of San Angelo, dated January 23, 1907. And following this, negotiations are now under way with towns and communities south of San Angelo on the completed line as projected.
A. M. DENNY,
W. C. BLANKS.

The foregoing communications tell the story of the activity of the railroad committee during the last few days.

They further tell why on Friday the aforesaid committee boarded joy wagons and made a trip to Christoval. They also tell why a mass meeting was called at noon Saturday to meet in the office of C. A. Broome & Co., and this call resulted in the offices being packed and jammed.
And they further furnish another link in the chain that will make San Angelo great.

Accepted.
It was the unanimous vote of the mass meeting that the proposition made by the Orient be accepted, and the railroad committee was authorized to go right ahead, without the loss of a moment's time and close up the contract. The whole situation was gone over and acted on in less than an hour.
The meeting Friday was opened by the reading of the proposition and, Col. John R. Nasworthy, obtaining the floor, made the talk that aroused the meeting to immediate action. Col. Nasworthy told of the committee visiting Christoval Thursday and of the splendid reception tendered. The people of Christoval, he said, agreed to furnish the right of way from the Door Key ranch to the south county line, a total of about thirteen miles, and to further provide the terminals wanted at Christoval. The Christoval people have even gone so far as to obtain promises for all but about five miles of this right of way, and this remaining mileage will be obtained by Monday. He urged immediate acceptance of the proposition.
Mr. Dalton moved that the question be placed in the hands of the old railroad committee for action.
Col. Baker amended this so as to authorize the committee to close the contract, and as amended the motion prevailed.
In reply to a question V. L. Farr stated the right of way would cost between $10,000 and $12,000, and the amount needed after Christoval paid her obligation would be between $7500 and $8000, payable at once.
Mr. Dabney wanted to know how this would affect the Santa Fe proposition.
Col. Baker stated that the Santa Fe question was in abeyance, but that the Santa Fe knows and all along has known that the Orient intended building this line, for it has long been projected.
Col. Nasworthy was asked how many people in Christoval were willing to pledge the right of way, and in answer he stated that all but about three or four, and those would be obtained before Monday.

Bonus.
A movement to take up a subscription for the bonus was then started and the following subscribed: George E. Webb, $100; C. A. Broome, $100; M. L. Mertz, $100; George J. Bird, $100; W. A. Guthrie, $100; L. L. Farr, $50; Edgar S. Hamilton, $100; J. W. Hill, $100; G. S. Mason, $25; T. C. Wynn, $100; R. L. Carruthers, $25; C. W. Heckert, $25; John R. Nasworthy, $250; Angelo Furniture and Undertaking company, $100; W. P. Menzies, $10; J. D. Hassell, $25; C. L. Dalton, $10; S. Quayle, $25; S. B. Ratliff, $25; Otis Lilly, $10; C. C. Brewer, $25; J. C. Wren, $25; J. A. Williams, $10; E. O. Neely, $10; J. F. Dabney, $25; J. A. Barnett, $10; Seales Bros., $10; T. W. Taylor, $25; Mrs. J. L. Millsbaugh, $25; D. C. McCaleb, $100.

After the meeting adjourned the railroad committee got busy in accordance with the instructions of the mass meeting.

Harry Miller of Stephenville, Gives Up—Trouble Starts Over a Year Ago.

Special to The Press-News.

Stephenville, Oct. 16.—B. F. Brasfield, aged 69, and his son, Ben, aged 21, were shot and killed this afternoon here by Harry Miller, as a result of a quarrel over a $2 debt. The shooting occurred on a side street of the town.

Miller surrendered to the officers, pleading self-defense.

Bitterness over the debt owed by Brasfield extends back a year. Miller recently borrowed a wagon from Brasfield, who proposed that the debt be offset for its hire.

Miller fired the gun from a load of hay as the Brasfields passed in a buggy.

News of Ireland

Dublin, Oct. 16.—The American flag is to be tabooed in Ireland so far as licensed houses are concerned. It has been made a party flag by the advanced Nationalists and as it is against the law for party flags to be flown over licensed houses, the police have ordered it down when displayed against the law, thus creating much indignation.

This action is a result of the triumphal procession through Ireland of Captain O'Meagher Condon. The government can hardly be said to be alarmed at the bytations given the former Fenian leader, but it is well within the truth to say they do not fancy the situation.

It is generally understood that Captain Condon will be elected sword-bearer of Dublin, when the election takes place.

Since 1825, when the system of separate customs were abolished, no record has been kept of the trade between Great Britain and Ireland. In the same way there are no official returns of the import and export trade of the sister country, though by obtaining information from ship's manifests it has been found possible to arrive at figures which are probably within one or two per cent of being correct. The extent of direct Irish foreign trade is very small, and amounts to less than 15 per cent of the total external trade of Ireland with Great Britain and other countries. Within the last few years British consuls have been instructed to particulars where possible the extent of Irish trade with the countries which they are accredited, but with the exception of the United States the total values of Irish imports and exports are not obtainable. In many cases the consuls report there is no direct trade with Ireland. The superintendent of Irish statistics, in his survey of trade, states that the present system is inadequate and if more complete and accurate returns are to be obtained it is necessary to establish a system that will insure that the description, the weight, or measure, and the value of the goods, whether imported into or exported from Ireland, shall be clearly declared at the port of entry or shipment. With the means at his disposal, the Superintendent of Statistics estimates the total import and export trade at 117,377,472 lbs., as compared with 121,709,098 lbs. in 1907.

Goldsmith's deserted village must be a hive of happiness compared with the town of Magerafelt in Ireland. By the action of the Old Age Pension Committee 150 pensions have been cancelled, as it has been found that the recipients were not the proper age.

The number of evictions in Ireland is growing less, according to a statement recently made by Attorney General for Ireland Clerry. He said: "I am informed by the Constabulary authorities that the whole number of Irish agricultural tenants evicted between Jan. 1, 1903, and June 30, 1909, was 1290. I am happy to say that the number is steadily diminishing year by year. In 1903 the number was 281, and in 1908 it has fallen to 160."

Lady Amerdeen, the wife of the Viceroy of Ireland, having been asked by the South Dublin Board of Guardians to discontinue the Anti-tuberculosis crusade in Ireland on the ground that it was creating a scare and becoming haraful of the industrial welfare of the country, has written in reply pointing out that the crusade owed its origin to the reiterated warnings of the medical profession in Ireland, coupled with the figures submitted by the Registrar-General for Ireland. It was not within the power of any individual to stop the campaign.

"It is being carried on not only here, but in every enlightened country," the countess proceeded, "and the public generally are becoming so fully instructed in the matter that they

COLLEGE BOYS GO TO ABILENE

FOOTBALL GAME SCHEDULED WITH SIMMONS COLLEGE.

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Metzradt Says His Men Are Determined to Take Abilene into Camp. The Line-up.

Sunday the San Angelo Collegiate Institute football team will leave for Abilene to tussle with the pigskin on the Simmons College grounds Monday.

For the last month the boys have been doing some hard practice and are in fine shape.

"We are going to put up a hard fight," said Coach Metzradt. "Since defeating some local teams here the boys are crammed full of confidence and energy, and I am sure we will do the Simmons boys up in grand style. Daniel Baker whipped us pretty bad and we are going to get revenge and the arrow points to Abilene for such vindictness."

The line-up of the local team will be as follows:

In Henderson's show window is some of the most modern and up to date dand-painted chinaware that is painted. The work comprises a set of ten pieces—two cake plates (one having a cluster of grapes and the other a beautiful bunch of flowers); four plates with beautiful paintings on them, and two cups and saucers. The work shows good skill and excellent tact, and was done by Mrs. J. D. Robertson of this city, who has a studio of her own.

would only avoid those countries where no preventive or curative measures are being taken."

A resolution thanking the countess for her letter and work was proposed at a meeting of the guardians, but was lost after a heated discussion by 21 to 22.

In no part of the British Empire is the Cabinet Crisis in England being followed with keener interest than in Ireland. It is confidently believed by the nationalist leaders that in the next general election Ireland will be able to so exert her strength that the Liberals will depend upon the Irish Nationalist and labor men for their majority.

In this event long steps will be taken towards Home Rule.

VISITOR.

R. D. Hall of Douglas, Arizona, Here.

R. D. Hall, vice president and general manager of the Turkey Creek Mining & Development Co., of Paradise, Arizona, is in the city visiting J. E. Douglas. Mr. Hall was a conductor on the Texas & Pacific railroad eighteen years ago, and figured on coming to San Angelo, but went to Arizona instead. Some three years ago Mr. Douglas made a trip to Arizona and while there met Mr. Hall, and after telling him of San Angelo and the great Concho country, he promised to make a visit here, hence his presence. He was greatly surprised at the size of San Angelo, but says he found things as represented by Mr. Douglas. He thinks this town has a great future. He is also agent for the Douglas Daily Dispatch, a paper devoted to agricultural and mining in Arizona. Mr. Hall is selling stock for his company and will be found at the Landon hotel for a few days, after which J. E. Douglas will be his agent here.

Quits.

G. B. Ketchum, the race horse man from Sheffield, left Saturday for Brady to attend the fair. Mr. Ketchum owns a great many race horses and very fine ones, and he generally takes away some prizes wherever he goes.

He takes I'll Meter and Del Bare with him to Brady and he says he believes those two will win all the races he wants to win.

"I am going to this race, then I am done. I have been coming to San Angelo for years and am here to every fair, but I am tired of racing, and so I am going to quit it after this season," he said.

Imposing.

Soon the four-story building for W. E. Newton Furniture company will be ascending the air. The excavation for the basement has been completed and concrete foundation for the construction has begun.

This will be one of the finest buildings in San Angelo. It will also be very beautiful, having large glass windows in front with many other extra attachments.

London Gossip

By Lady Somerset
Copyright 1909 by The Publishers' Press.

London, Oct. 16.—In the kaleidoscope of human life there is nothing that changes so quickly or falls into such different attitudes as the change from the impossible to the possible. All our lives we have been taught to believe that aerial navigation was on a par with spiritualism, alchemy, the philosopher's stone and all other things that were placed in the region of superstition and doubt. But behold, within a year, aerial navigation demands international law, a rule of the road, and every conceivable prosaic legislation which tells us it has come to stay.

When Tennyson in his "Locksley Hall" wrote half a century ago—

"For I dipt into the future, far as human eye could see, Saw the Vision of the world and all the wonder that would be;
Saw the heavens fill with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;
Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rained a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue" no prophet ever foresaw more clearly what was to be.

In the early part of the nineteenth century an Englishman constructed a machine much on the lines of the Wilbur Wright aeroplane. The machinery was perfect and the wheels which carried it along the ground were almost identical with the present day construction, but the motor power was wanting. Steam was not possible, on account of the weight of fuel. Electricity and petrol were unknown, and so for the necessary motor power the machinery failed.

But long before this, in 1670, a Jesuit in Brescia had devised a flying machine, and in the extremely interesting treatise which he wrote upon it he shows that the objections raised against him were all answerable, but he says that he sees an objection far more formidable, namely, that "Heaven would never permit such amachine to be successful, as it would bring about results which would throw into confusion civil and political government." It is to be feared that the scripples of the old priest are likely to be set aside in these days, and we can but devoutly hope that the post-prophet of aerial navigation whose words have come true, may have also foreshadowed that which he further saw:

"Till the war drum throbbed no longer, and the battle flags were furled
In the parliament of man, the federation of the world."

The fever of flight has, however, bitten our younger generation. Men no longer discuss the speed of motors, the racing of yachts, may even the talk of Dreadnaughts is uninteresting in comparison with the performances of Wilbur Wright, De Lambert, Latham, Cody, Bleriot and Farnam. Those are the names which are on every lip, and the enthusiasm of the great crowd at Rheims knew no bounds when the delicate Antoinette soared aloft, and with exquisite curves and wonderful grace made its famous flights.

But there is around all new inventions the shadow of tragedy, and every time we take up our paper we are waiting to see whether the dreaded fate has befallen any one of those who are risking their lives in the cause of this new navigation.

Personally I have not seen any flight, but in common with many others I have looked with interest on those wonderful moving pictures which give us so exact a representation of the ships of the sky. Everything has yet to be discovered—the varying changes of atmosphere which come either from the state of the surface of the earth and sea, or from the draughts adjacent to cliffs or high mountains, the attractions in various places eastward, changes of wind, atmosphere, rain, storm, etc. All this has still to be learned, and to be learned at the risk of life and limb, and of this the death of the brave French officers is sad proof. Captain Ferber was one of the earliest experimenters, and as far back as 1898 he conducted a long series of trials.

There are, however, several difficulties which must inevitably be overcome before aeroplane can be anywhere near perfection. It is essential that a second engine should be carried, in order to avoid the terrible risk of depending upon one machine only.

English political life has been in a ferment, and a political crisis here is at hand. The Budget, the first piece of purely socialistic legislation which has ever been presented to the English parliament, has caused apolitical revolution, and the appeal at this moment in this country is the lords versus the people.

The tragic protest made by the duke has fallen somewhat flat, and must certainly be admitted to be undignified. One duke and landowner refuses to subscribe to a football club, owing to the large prospective increase in taxation, and is obliged to curtail his subscriptions. Another assembles his tenants and servants together at the coming of age of his son and heir, and the spectacle of the necessitous dukes has become truly harrowing.

Nevertheless, the great battle is to be fought, and the people are to decide whether or no the rich are to be taxed for the maintenance of the great armaments which the condition of Europe now renders necessary or whether it is to take her place among the second-rate powers in order that her own people may be better-to-do, or whether the land held in the hands of the few is to be considered a luxury for which they have to pay.

All changes bring hardships upon those whom legislative taxation touches for the first time. We are apt to forget that scientific improvements, or what we call advance, bring untold sufferings on large numbers of the community. The tram car threw the drivers out of employment, the railway ruined the old coaching men, the taxicab has displaced the drivers of the slower vehicles, and the temporary suffering which machinery has inflicted on the operatives has been too widespread to detail.

Lord Rosebery's brilliant speech against the bill and his migration from the liberal party are no surprise. But it is neither the lords nor the commons who will settle this question, but the great public will soon decide, either for the old order or for the new.

SQUIBB'S PURE SPICES

The purity of spices is a matter of as grave concern as the quality of food. Aside from their property of imparting an agreeable flavor to food, spices are of great dietetic importance. In response to the requests from physicians who desired powdered spices of absolute purity, E. R. Smith & Sons some years ago began to supply a complete line comprising:

Ceylon Cinnamon, Cinnamon (Cassia), Black Pepper, Red Pepper, White Pepper, Allspice, Cloves, Nutmeg, Ginger, Mace.

The whole spices are carefully selected from the best market offerings and accepted only upon assay. Each is ground in a separate mill, to avoid contamination. Squibb's Pure Spices are supplied in small airtight, sifter top cans that prevent evaporation of volatile constituents and permit of convenient and economical use. Being of exceptional strength, they should be used with moderation.

Crown For American Girl

Peasant's Gown of Money

Miss Mabel Boardman, a favorite of the President and Mrs. Taft, has been presented by the Italian government with a crown of gold in recognition of her services as a member of the American Red Cross society to the victims of the recent Italian earthquake. The crown was remitted to Miss Boardman to her summer home,

MISS MABEL BOARDMAN.

Manchester, Mass., by the Marquis de Montagliari, Italian charge d'affaires at Washington. The crown is a reproduction of the ancient Roman civic crown. It is composed of oak leaves and acorns made of solid gold. It is enclosed in a typical Roman box of leather, which is adorned by the royal coat of arms in gold. The crown bears the following engraved inscription: "To Miss Mabel Boardman, of the Red Cross. From the Italian Government as a Token of Gratitude. 1908-1909." The recipient of this token is the executive head of the Red Cross society and recently announced that she would devote her life entirely to its interests. As is well known, Miss Boardman was one of the Taft party that went to the Philippines with Mr. Taft, when he was secretary of war. She is a sister of the late Secretary of War, William Taft. She became interested in the work of the Red Cross during her visit to Japan at the time of the Russo-Japanese war.

Ida Lewis, "the Grace Darling of America," who for many years has lived at Lime Rock lighthouse, off Newport, R. I., recently saved five more lives. This brings her splendid record up to twenty-three. She is sixty-eight years old and has kept burning the light of Lime Rock for thirty years. She succeeded her father, who has been decorated by the American congress and foreign societies with medals, and when she celebrated her golden anniversary as an occupant of the lighthouse all Newport did her honor.

While a student at Knox college, Illinois, Miss Edith Dodds, one of the prettiest girls of Springfield, in that state, met R. L. S. McClure, son of S. S. McClure, publisher of McClure's Magazine. Young McClure was also a student of the same college while Miss Dodds was there. They graduated in the same class. Their wedding followed soon after. They recently returned from Europe. Young McClure will soon succeed his father in the management of the magazine.

A woman arrived the other day at Ellis island, the emigrant gateway to America, who wore a costume made up of $5000 in real money. She was a peasant and with her four children left after her arrival for California. Her necklace consisted of a string of gold pieces, and the remainder of her costume was adorned with gold buttons made out of the real metal. She also wore strings of pearls, all genuine. The money and jewelry, she said, have been in the family for hundreds of years. It has always been a superstition in the family that if any of the money was spent or the jewels disposed of bad luck would follow. Many times, according to the peasant woman's story, the family sadly needed money, but never dared dispose of any of the valuables.

The American Bohemian Woman's club of Prague has the distinction of not having and never having had an American woman member. It was founded years ago by a native Bohemian who had spent some time in a western city of this country. On returning to his native land he founded a club, assisted by his wife, in which American ideas relating especially to women were adopted. The founder and his wife died, leaving a large building and all their household furnishings, including many tapestries and other works of art, to the club. A free circulating library is connected with the club.

material weight in the game. Both teams stood at even balance in games and they realized that this was the training point for this year's series, and strictly business was settled down to. No fancy flips were displayed, but simply hard down common ball playing was indulged in.

When the men walked out on the field odds seemed against the Pirates, for loud expressions of all kinds were being made. The Pittsburghers heard not these but went to work to save the honor of their far-away city, that was eagerly awaiting the news of the final game. With this in mind, the famous Pirates easily scalped the Tigers and carried the pennant to home territory. Detroit had saved its old stand-by, Mullin, to pitch the last game, and great results were expected from him, but, alas, he was completely knocked out in a few innings and was succeeded by Donovan. When Donovan took charge of the box he was faced by a great problem—one that was almost too hard for him to master. The game stood strongly in favor of the Pirates, but with his great ability he manfully contested with the batters to the finish. At the end of the seventh inning the game stood 7 to 0 against Detroit, but hope was not lost, for many times the tide has changed at that stage and the losing team has come to the front. This time it was not that way—instead of gaining, they lost—and during the next two innings Pittsburgh scored once more, and the game was ended, standing 8 to a gooseegg.

Another revolution is, however, taking place, and one which is making a deep dent upon public thought as the budget. It is the revolt of the women. No question has so stirred us lately. None seems so sad to those who have long believed in giving the vote to men and women equally.

The line which is now taken by the suffragettes leads straight ahead to anarchy. Here lies the trouble. The women who have been sent to prison for breaking the law have endeavored to starve themselves, and the officials who are bound to protect the lives of those committed to their care, have taken means to prevent their death and to frustrate the "hunger strike."

"The militant tactics," says Miss Christabel Pankhurst, "no matter though social order and harmony be for a time destroyed, are to be pursued," and we who believe that however righteous a cause, the end must be obtained through wrong-doing, sorrowfully feel that we have to sever ourselves from those who think it right to smash glass windows, to hurl mimic bombs, to throw ink bottles through the windows of public meetings and to bring about the disturbances which in my opinion degrade a cause which is both just and pure.

EDUCATION IS WHAT'S NEEDED

COL. O'BRIEN SUPPORTS DEVELOPMENT CONGRESS.

ORIENT READY TO HELP

Will Do All In Its Power to Further the Movement—Always for West Texas.

Col. N. J. O'Brien, vice president and general superintendent of the Orient, came down from Sweetwater between trains Saturday afternoon.

"Everything is moving quite nicely over our line," he said, "and the traffic situation is improving every day. I cannot say just when we will begin running mail cars into San Angelo, for the reason the government now has that matter in hand and I don't know how long it will require to arrange the details according to law."

Col. O'Brien did say, however, that he was very much in sympathy with any movement that had for its object the upbuilding of West Texas and the spreading of educational facts about this part of the state.

"One has no idea the ignorance that prevails in many parts, not only of the United States, where it may with some apology be expected, but also in Texas, about this western part of this state," he said. "The time has passed when reports that are injurious, if not downright slanderous, about West Texas, should be permitted to be circulated without being effectually refuted. Education is what is needed. In concentration one finds power. With power results may be expected. I hope the West Texas Development Congress will attract a large number of people whose minds will be singled to the purposes of the call, as heretofore published, and I assure you that the Orient will do all in its power to aid in this and all other movements having for their end the development of the material interests of West Texas."

Col. O'Brien returned to Sweetwater Saturday night on the last train out over the Orient.

O. J. Riley arrived in the city Saturday afternoon on business. After a few hours stay he returned to Big Springs via the Orient.

Geo. Hagelstela returned Saturday from a short business trip to Abilene.

MARVELS AT CITY'S PROGRESSIVENESS

If All Towns in This Section Were as Active as San Angelo, West Texas Would Be Much Larger.

J. W. Douglas of Texico, New Mexico, was a visitor in San Angelo Saturday. "Two years ago I came to San Angelo to visit my friends and relatives," he said. "I have a son living about twelve miles from town, and this time I came to see him in particular. It always gives me pleasure to meet the old-time friends of mine and shake their rough hands of toil. Since I have been here I have met several men that I fought side by side with in the Civil war, and there is nothing that pleases me more and gives me greater happiness than to meet some of my old comrades. I do not like to talk about the past much, for I think there is too much going on now to think and discuss that, but I will just give you a little of my history."

"Thirty-two years ago I left Tennessee and came to Texas and settled in Bosque county. I lived there and was a farmer. I did not have such good luck farming, but made a good living. Around Waco in those days were all kinds of game. I well remember the times when I used to travel up and down the Brazos river fishing and hunting, having one of the best times of my life. That has all gone into oblivion now, and I find myself within the bonds of modern civilization, where the wild animal has no trace.

"As well as I remember it was in '81 when I first visited this part of Texas. Then it was very different from now. Instead of being a modern and an up-to-date city, San Angelo was a small village with some wild people here, I say wild, for one night I thought my time had come when a shooting scrape occurred down on that street near the Landon hotel. In the fight a Mexican was shot and another man wounded.

"This time I have found myself in the midst of a metropolitan city—a city where all the legacies that go to make a good town. Then the idea of farming in this country was hooted at, but I see some of the best crops in Texas here this year. You have fine crops, but I have you beat in Mexico. In fact, I have the best corn on my farm this year that I have seen since I left the hills of Tennessee. I have forty bushels to the acre on about one hundred and fifty acres. This is not irrigated dry farming, but pure sod with what rain that falls in New Mexico.

"Texico, the town that I live in, is the fastest growing place in the world. Ironicly speaking, I was about the first man to move there, and now there is a man to every section of land in that whole country. Those men are not sitting down and doing nothing—they are hard at work making a good country out of it like the people here have done. I praise that country, but still I have a few words to say about San Angelo. This is about the best prospective city in Texas, I think. The people here are working to a great end. Now an example of that was exhibited this afternoon when that mass meeting was called to figure with that railroad. Every business man in town was on the alert and ready to do his part in helping the road and instead of piddling around several days, they got through with it in about thirty or forty minutes. That is the way to do business! Why, if all the people of the western part of the United States were like that there would be the best part of the world growing up out here."

Mr. Douglass is a genuine pioneer Texas man, though not Texan. His life has been spent in toil, but at last he has got to the point where he can travel around and have an enjoyable time in his old age. He is a stock farmer and has one of the best farms in New Mexico and is the owner of some very valuable cattle. He has spent seven years in perfecting his grade of stock.

Mr. Douglass left Saturday afternoon over the Orient for his home.

Card of Thanks.

LAST OF GRADERS READY FOR SERVICE

WORK ON ORIENT EXTENSION TO MERTZON CAN PROCEED.

Mules Are On Hand and Monday Will See the Job Started in Dead Earnest.

Getting ready to extend the Orient beyond San Angelo to Mertzon, Roach & Stensell have been receiving dump scrapers for several days with which to do the grading. About three hundred have been received in all, and the last car loads came in Saturday. This work begins Monday and the wagons have been busy all day hauling tools, implements and provisions to the camp, so the start can be made at the designated time.

The scrapers are extra large and are on wheels, with a tongue in them like a wagon. It will take some extra heavy teams to pull these scrapers, but the contractors have those, and have plenty of them.

CROPS.

As a Whole No Section in State Can Make Any Boasts.

"Taken as a whole no section of the state can boast of good crops this year," says W. E. Armstrong, the veteran representative of the South Bend Chilled Plow Works, who is here on one of his regular trips.

"During the last two weeks I have covered a big portion of Texas west of Austin, and with the exception of immediately around Hamlin at no place did I find conditions measuring up to a fair average. The saving salt of present conditions, however, lies in the fact that those farmers who have raised cotton are getting excellent condition are getting rattling good prices for what they have raised, and that of course goes a long way toward keeping the situation from being too stressful."

Mr. Armstrong makes his headquarters in Austin. He has been traveling in Texas and the south for nearly thirty years.

Tollie DeBerry went to Brownwood Saturday on business.

BERLIN SUFFERS OF STAGNATION

LIVING IS BECOMING EXORBITANTLY DEAR THESE DAYS.

MANY SHOPS EMPTY

More Than 1,000 Waiting for Their Counters to Be Clothed—Over-Development.

(By Malcolm Clarke.)

Copyright 1909 by Publishers Press.

Berlin, Oct. 16.—Berlin for the present seems to be suffering from business stagnation. The beautiful shops in the principal streets cannot conceal the fact, and the coffee houses and the theaters frankly admit it. There are over 1,000 empty shops waiting for their counters to be clothed; in every street the tell-tale "sofort zu vermieten" (to be let immediately) points back to yesterday's over-development and today's reaction. Rents have risen enormously, in some cases as much as 25 per cent, within the past few years, and living is becoming exorbitantly dear. Excessive building and the impossibility for many business concerns to clear a profit ought to induce landlords to bring down the rents. But they refuse to do so, preferring to wait.

In addition to the empty shops, there are already 18,000 unoccupied dwellings.

The Reichstag will open in the last week of November, and the Budget for 1910 will be presented before Christmas. An enormous deficit will have to be covered by hook or by crook. How? It is difficult to say. The Germans themselves do not know. Taxation will have to be increased, the burden weighing on the smaller trades, and on the average man will have to be increased, duties surcharging the ordinary means of living will have to be increased. But the great trusts, for whom Germany is a paradise, and the landlords, whose domains are a heaven upon earth, will thrive in prosperity and peace. For the former the customs duties have been expressly erected; to favor the latter there will be no increase in legacy dues.

But Germany needs money. Where is it coming from? From the middle classes, from the smaller trades people, whose existence is already precarious, and from indirect taxes.

I hear that there is some likelihood of the Chinese Imperial army being re-armed, at least in part, with rifles of a modern German type. The stocks of obsolete weapons discarded by the European governments in the past two decades have been gradually absorbed, and the opportunities for inexpensive rearmament tend of necessity to become more restricted every year. An informant connected with this trade tells me that Mausers, Mannlichers, Remingtons, and similar arms are no longer available to any serious extent, and that, even if they were, the tendency of the Chinese war office is to follow the navy precedents by adopting weapons of modern precision, especially of the types which have repeating mechanism or cartridge clips.

There is a pointer here to American gun makers.

A newspaper correspondent has succeeded in obtaining an interview with the Abyssinian Emperor, at which the German minister was also present. The conversation appears to have turned to a great extent on the unfavorable treatment of German residents in Ethiopia, but the correspondent was forced to admit that, while misunderstandings and badly translated contract documents have had their share in making Germans unpopular, the latter had also contributed by "imprudent language which had wounded the pride of natives." The correspondent expresses an opinion that although Abyssinia offers a good field for the enterprise of German capitalists, they ought for the present to be extremely cautious. He states that Menelik is fairly well, but gets easily fatigued.

AT THE CHURCHES:

Emmanuel Church—Nineteenth Sunday after Trinity, Holy Communion, 7 a. m. Sunday school, 9:30 a. m. Evening prayer, 8 p. m. W. H. Meyers, rector.

First Baptist Church—The pastor will preach at 10:45 a. m. and 8 p. m. Morning subject, "The Need of Consecration;" evening, "Christ Healing the Impotent Man." Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Senior and Junior B. Y. P. U. at 4 p. m. Special service for the congregation Wednesday night. Subject of lecture, "The Origin of the Baptists." Special music. Wm. E. Foster, pastor.

Church of Christ—Jesse P. Sewell will preach at 10:45 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. At night the sermon will be especially for the young people. The subject will be "Obedient Samuel." An invitation is extended to everyone.

Harris Avenue Presbyterian Church—Services will be held at the Harris Avenue Presbyterian church at 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. Sabbath school at 9:45 a. m. Junior Endeavor at 3 p. m., and Senior Endeavor at 6:30 p. m. The C. E. society of the First Presbyterian church will unite with the Harris Avenue society this evening in a union service. Let there be a full attendance of the members of both societies, and all come prepared to contribute to the service. A cordial invitation is extended to all. C. W. Yates, pastor.

Methodist Church, North Angelo—Rev. J. L. Tarter will preach at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Sacred Heart Church—First mass at 8 a. m., high mass at 10 a. m., by Rev. Father Mass.

Revival.

At a congregational meeting last Wednesday evening of the Harris Avenue Presbyterian church, it was unanimously decided to hold a series of meetings to begin Sunday, October 24, and to continue for ten or twelve days.

It is the present intention not to hold any day services. The pastor, Rev. Callin W. Yates, will preach. While these services will be held under the auspices of this church, the pastors and members of the other churches of the city will be invited to attend and to contribute their services in any way they may feel disposed, to the success of the meetings.

The members of this particular church are expected to make a united effort, with the pastor, to make these meetings stimulating and helpful to the entire church, and a means of blessing to others as well. This can scarcely be expected if many stay at home, assume no responsibility and take no interest in the work. Every one is needed, and needed all the time.

B. Y. P. U.

"The Christian and Worldly Amusement" will be the main subject for discussion at the B. Y. P. U. meeting at the Baptist church Sunday. Miss Mollie Brown will be the leader. The program:

Sterling City Property Is Changing Hands Rapidly.

"Notwithstanding the fact that it will likely be next spring before we get our railroad, town property is already changing hands in Sterling City at a lively gait," declared Leonce B. Cole, county clerk of Sterling county, who was here Saturday.

"I left home last Wednesday and on the day I left seven deeds of transfer to city property were filed. That's a nice bunch for one day for a place four times as big as we are now, and it is a fair average of what we may expect from now on."

Mr. Cole also had a lot of nice things to say about the trades excursion of San Angelo business men that recently visited his place.

TWENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL TEXAS FAIR NOW ON!

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DAVIDSON DELIVERS OPENING ADDRESS BEFORE BIG CROWD.

GOVERNOR HARMON OF OHIO TALKS AT TRACK

At Banquet Last Night Distinguished Visitor From Ohio Is the Guest of Honor—Replica of Alamo Presented.

Special to The Press-News. Dallas, Oct. 16.—In the presence of what is declared to be the largest crowd of any opening day, Lieutenant Governor A. B. Davidson proclaimed the twenty-fourth annual Texas State Fair open at 10 o'clock this morning. Although not feeling well, Gov. Davidson was extremely felicitous in his brief remarks. Immediately after the opening, George E. Dealey, of the Dallas News, presented a replica of the Alamo to the city of Dallas. Mayor Hay responded and accepted same. Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio, addressed an immense throng at the race track grand stand at 10:30. He was introduced by Senator Chas. A. Culberson. Democratic State Chairman A. B. Storey presided at the meeting. Gov. Harmon was the guest of honor at tonight's banquet.

Special to The Press-News. Dallas, Oct. 16.—Lieutenant Governor Davidson, in making the opening address at the Texas State Fair today, became ill, and after a few remarks, called upon Speaker John Marshall of Sherman, to respond as orator of the day. Marshall's address was of a congratulatory nature.

Cardinal Gibbons. Baltimore, Oct. 16.—Cardinal Gibbons celebrated the thirty-second anniversary of his accession to the archbishopric of Baltimore this morn. The only American cardinal is now more than 75 years old, but is as hale and hearty as many a man twenty years younger. It is understood that his eminence is now contemplating another trip to Rome, to confer with the pope on the condition of the Roman Catholic church in America.

The value of road's property with view to determining the amount of bond issue, was discussed.

WAREHOUSE FOR FARMERS' UNION

PAVILION NEAR LAKE CONCHO HAS BEEN SECURED.

HOLD FOR GOOD PRICE

Any Farmer in This Section Desiring to Store His Staple Will Be Allowed Use of Building.

Announcement is made that the pavilion near the big Lake Concho has been secured by the Farmers' union for storage purposes. J. M. Mayes is chairman of the committee having this matter in hand, and Frank Williams will be warehouseman.

"White this is a Farmers' union warehouse," says Col. Metcalfe, "at the same time every farmer in this community who desires to store his cotton will be made welcome to use the facilities we have. It is our intention to store cotton until we get a sufficient number of bales to bulk the lot and then let the buyers come out and bid on it. The more they bid the better we will like it."

"These sales will be held every once and awhile, and at the beginning about every two weeks ought to just about hit the proposition correctly. The regular storage charges will be levied, $1 a bale paying all expenses for one bale one month. To meet the deficit the citizens of San Angelo have raised a subscription list of $50 a month to help maintain this warehouse. The people of San Angelo want the people with cotton to sell to know that they appreciate the bringing of cotton to this city and are prepared to stand back of every movement to aid the farmer."

HEATHERBLOOM PETTICOATS--in all of the good colors of the season. This is only one of the many lines of these popular garments that we are showing. There are cheaper ones as well. But this line is particularly good. The materials are genuine "HEATHERBLOOM." That is worth something to know. And then the styles are better than the average. Each, only $2.50

MILITARY CAPES AT $8.50--have all the style of the higher priced ones and are just as warm. The trimmings are a little less elaborate but of sufficient elegance to make these garments very attractive. We show them in all light and dark colors. Each, only $8.50

TAILORED SUITS AT $16.50--This line is one of the best that we have ever shown, and we doubt if it can be duplicated, even in cities like Fort Worth and Dallas. The materials are fine all wool serge. The colors are all of the good dark ones and the styles are very pretty. Trimmings are of fine silk braids and jet buttons, and the little suits have a very jaunty appearance. They are worth more than is asked for them. Each $16.50

MOYENAGE DRESSES AT $15.00--A most attractive line of dresses. The materials are especially good and the various styles are more beautiful than one could expect at the price. We have them in all of the good colors and would like for you to see them. Priced at only $15.00

NEW MOIRE WAISTS AT $5.00--Are here in browns, blues, greys and black. The styles are very fetching and you will want one of these good waists when you see what we have to show in this line. Each, only $5.00

THE NEWEST SKIRTS AT LOW PRICES--Are the best that we have ever had. The style range is unusually large and all good colors are here. Prices range from $8.50 and $7.50 down to as low as $6.50 and $5.00 port in November. The vessel will have engines of 70,000 horse power, which is 4000 horse power greater than the engines of the Mauretania develop, and she will be capable of making thirty knots an hour at top speed. This, says the Standard, means the revolutionizing of warship design and will practically make obsolete as first-class cruisers such vessels as the Good Hope and Devonshire, which could be overtaken and blown to pieces before they could get in range themselves.

TOWNLOT CASE BADLY TANGLED

TESTIMONY OF GRAND JURORS DIFFERS MATERIALLY.

HOW THE VOTE STOOD

Some Say Nine to Seven, While Others Say Final Count Was Fourteen to Two.

Special to The Press-News. Ardmore, Oct. 16.—Charles W. Turner and W. T. Hutchins, who with Governor Haskell are defendants in suits brought by the government charging conspiracy to defraud it out of Muskogee town sites, were today given permission by the federal court to argue motions to quash the indictments. Both defendants claim that only nine of the sixteen men on the jury voted for indictment, although twelve votes are required.

T. T. Davis, E. E. Hightower, W. T. Bailcy, David Pearson and G. A. Jackson, grand jurors, testified that the first vote and the final vote was nine to seven for indictment, and that the clerk ordered them to return no true bill. The government called in rebuttal to this evidence George Strawn, foreman of the jury, and J. C. Burgess, who declared that the first vote was nine to seven and the last, fourteen to two for indictment. The government expects to produce other jurors as witnesses.

JAILED. Man of 80 Adjudged to Be in Contempt of Court.

Boston, Oct. 16.—Quincy Collins, 80 years old, who has preached the gospel for over fifty years, has been sentenced to serve thirty days in jail at East Cambridge for contempt of court. The sentence was imposed by Judge Pond in the Middlesex superior court. The defendant was adjudged in contempt inasmuch as he has persistently refused to answer a summons and later an order from the court to appear and give testimony.

The case in which the testimony of the old preacher was desired is a 30-year-old one, docketed under the head of Kelly vs. Austin et al. Mr. Collins was first summoned to appear before a special commissioner, Fred H. Hilton of Framingham. This summons was sued by the New York superior court. Collins paid no attention to it.

SAWMILL. Former Miss Gladys Vanderbilt Goes Hungarian Ideals a Shock.

Budapest, Oct. 16.—Hungarian aristocratic circles are perturbed over the action of Countess Seechenyi, formerly Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, who recently purchased a large sawmill at Besenyovasar. Connected with the mill there is an extensive manufacturing plant which turns out all kinds of cabinet work. The Hungarian women of high rank admire the young American woman's enterprise and envy her business ability, but hint that it is a startling departure on the part of one of Hungary's noblest families. They deplore the business move of the countess on the ground that it is beneath the dignity of her station in life.

UNHAPPY. She Gets a Warrant for Her Husband's Arrest.

Hackensack, N. J., Oct. 16.—Miss Jeannette Suffern, 64 years of age, who was married less than three weeks ago to Robert Hiscock, 28 years old, caused a warrant to be issued for Hiscock's arrest on a charge of stealing about $650 of her money and some jewelry. She also asserts that her young husband has been married twice before and that both wives are living. Miss Suffern inherited a fortune from her father.

PUGILISTIC.

HOW ABOUT THAT FORFEIT MONEY?

NEITHER JEFFRIES OR JOHNSON HAS COME ACROSS.

To "Bat" Masterson It Seems as If Jim Has Been Stalling From Start to Finish.

(By W. B. ("Bat") Masterson.) Publishers Press.

New York, Oct. 16.—What to me appears somewhat peculiar at this time is the fact that neither Jeffries nor Johnson has been making any reference whatever to the alleged forfeits both are supposed to have up.

The whole thing was a big bluff on the part of both. Jeffries gave it out just before starting for Europe that he had deposited $5,000 in the hands of a local sporting editor as a forfeit for a match with the negro champion, stating at the same time that he would be prepared to talk business with Johnson as soon as the latter had covered his money.

Not to be outdone in the matter of big talk and publicity, Johnson promptly came forth and had it announced in the newspapers that he, too, had put up an amount equal to Jeff's in the hands of another sporting editor in Chicago. Also that he would be prepared to talk fight as soon as the retired heavyweight covered his money, and there the matter stands.

This much both Jeffries and Johnson must be given credit for. They certainly look upon the sporting fraternity of this country as a fine aggregation of yokels. The idea that any one with common sense would stand for such a con game as they have been trying to play is too ridiculous to talk about.

It may be safely stated that there is not one person in a hundred who has read the slush about the forfeits that regarded it as anything more than newspaper bunk. It would be a safe betting proposition, if there were any way to prove it, that neither man has up a dollar and that neither has any intention of putting up a dollar in any event.

But so far as that goes, it isn't necessary that either should put up forfeits in order to have a fight. If both are on the square they can get together in the ring and decide the question of supremacy without forfeits being put up, unless it would be to insure their appearance in the ring, which from present indications would seem to be a necessary requirement. It is the con talk about forfeits both have been indulging in that is objected to.

So far as Jeffries' statement to the effect that he would be ready in time to fight Johnson is concerned, it really amounts to nothing. The only proof we have that he intends to do so is the fact that he has said so.

No articles of agreement have been signed by either man. There has, in fact, been nothing done on the part of either that would lead any one to believe that they ever intended to fight. As a matter of course, all who know Jeffries believe that he means to do what he says, but there is little nourishment in talk. In behalf of Johnson it can be said that he is in the country and ready, so he says, to ratify a match at any time Jeffries is ready.

When Jeffries left this country he announced that his manager, Sam Berger, was authorized to go ahead and make a match with the Black champion. From the way Berger has been acting, however, it is doubtful if he was given any such authorization. At any rate, Manager Berger has not ventured to go ahead. All Manager Berger has been doing lately has been to talk, and talk is cheap, as everybody knows.

In view of all circumstances surrounding the proposed match between Jeffries and Johnson, the latter seems to be occupying the high ground. Since Jeffries went abroad Johnson has met and walloped the daylights out of Al Kaufman, whom Billy Delany openly declared Jeffries was afraid to meet in the ring. Besides beating Kaufman, the champion has also hooked up with Jack O'Brien and Tony Ross. It may be well, however, to say as little about these two matches as possible. In two weeks Johnson has taken part in three contests since Jeffries went away and by the time this letter appears in print he'll have engaged in another.

My purpose in mentioning these things is to show that Johnson has been working at his trade, while Jeffries has been spending his time and money in Europe. It is not my purpose to criticize Jeffries only as he deserves to be criticized. I'm constrained to say, however, that if he has any intention of ever fighting the negro champion nothing he has so far done in the premises justifies such a conclusion. His course has been that of a man who is stalling.

Why Jeff should want to stall, if he intends to fight, is what is puzzling his friends in this country. If he is sparring for wind, it's all right to finesse, but if he really intends to make good the best thing for him to do is to come home and back Johnson into a corner with as little delay as possible.

There is much speculation going on among local fight fans regarding the outlook for boxing in this city the coming winter. It is predicted that the sport will get to going again as soon as the election is over. It may be, though, that those who take this view of the situation will be disappointed.

It is argued by some who are in a position to speak with authority that even if the governor should keep his hands off the sport there is a probability that the local authorities would refuse to permit boxing to be resumed. This, however, remains to be seen. It is a little strange, to say the least, that Governor Hughes should feel called upon to interfere with the boxing clubs in this city, while he makes no protest against it in other sections of the state. There is hardly a town of any importance in New York in which there is no boxing; even in Albany, under the governor's very nose, boxing contests are held regularly.

It may be, after all, that the governor is not altogether to blame for this condition of affairs. It is more probable that some of the local promoters have had more to do with the closing up of boxing clubs in this city than the governor.

The Ketchel-Langford match, which was scheduled to take place in the Fairmount Athletic Club some time ago, was the cause of the recent shutdown. While there is no doubt that in booking that match and permitting it to be advertised in the spectacular manner in which it was the Fairmount Athletic Club made a big mistake, still it doesn't seem fair for the governor to put his official disapproval on boxing in this city while making no effort to prevent it in other parts of the state.

The governor's action in this matter can hardly be said to be consistent. If the sport is good enough for Albany, where the governor has his official residence, it ought to be good enough for Manhattan Island. At any rate a great many fair-minded and disinterested citizens think so.

Europe Cops Talent and New York Forced to Take Leaveings.

(By Jeff Thompson.)

Copyright 1909 by Publishers Press.

New York, Oct. 16.—The fighting game is about dead in New York. Europe and the western states have taken the talent out of Gotham and the best we have been hoping for here is that a few of the second raters may be allowed to perform before the athletic clubs. All the big offers made during the early stages of the Jeffries-Johnson negotiations were from other cities. McIntoch put in his bid for Australia; Denver came forward with a $50,000 offer; a syndicate in Galveston, Texas, made a $70,000 offer. There were others from Oklahoma, California and Nevada. Simultaneously with the $70,000 crack from Galveston, Jeff was taking life easy in Paree, attending the races and doing nothing. He was taking life easy in Paree, attending the races and doing nothing. He was taking life easy in Paree, attending the races and doing nothing.

FALL MEETING AT BALTIMORE

RACING SEASON IN NEW YORK IS DRAWING TO CLOSE.

SAM HILDRETH STRING

Western Men Lending Encouragement to Movement—Jacksonville Winter Racing.

By Hillary H. Olmann.

Copyright 1909 by Publishers Press.

New York, Oct. 16.—As the racing season about New York draws to a close all eyes are directed toward Baltimore, where the fall meeting of the Maryland Jockey club at Pimlico will open on Saturday, Oct. 23, and run until November 8. The first two days of the Pimlico meeting conflict with the last two days of the Metropolitan jockey club Jamaica meeting here and the subsequent ten days racing at Aqueduct, but no serious complications are expected.

The announcement that Sam Hildreth will run the best of his string at Pimlico has added a great deal of interest to the meeting. The Pimlico people have been trying hard for some time to induce the eastern racing men to turn their backs on the local racing associations, but judging from the present attitude, there will not be much of a defection. Attention has been called to the liberality of the Jockey club's tracks around New York in providing continuous sport despite the untoward conditions.

The fact that Jamaica and Aqueduct, which did not open their gates in the spring on account of the Jockey club's decision to move slowly, are holding fall meetings, with valuable stakes and purses offered, has further convinced both stable owners and race-goers that loyalty is due tracks in this vicinity.

Racing folk here have not yet forgotten the attitude of the Pimlico interests last spring when it was intimated the Baltimore track would be cut away from the rule of the Jockey club and become allied with the Canadian racing association for the control of the turf in this country. At the last minute Pimlico saw the handwriting on the wall and renewed the alliance with the jockey club.

Agents from the Jacksonville, Fla., track, which will conduct a long winter meeting, arrived here in great numbers with stake books and entry blanks. The Jacksonville track, begun a year ago, has been completed and promoters say it will provide plenty of good sport. As racing in California appears to be an uncertain proposition, it is believed that horsemen who do not take part in the winter meeting at Juarez, Mexico, will ship their stables to Florida. It is possible to get wire results from Jacksonville much quicker than from Juarez and, as a result, many pool rooms through the west and south have given notice that they will do business this winter exclusively with the Florida track. Indeed, it is reported that a noted poolroom syndicate has been induced to aid the Jacksonville turf crowd financially. It is further reported that there will be no interference with open bookmaking on the track.

James R. Keene has about twenty-five yearlings which will race here next season. They have been nominated for practically all the rich stake events in the 1910 season.

The Mexican race meeting at Juarez, Mexico, will open on December 1. Already plans are completed and Alberto Terrazas, president of the jockey club, announced that the ninety days inaugural will be the most successful ever held. Mr. Terrazas is a scion of one of the oldest and most prominent families in the Republic of Mexico, and is the son of the distinguished citizen General Luis Terrazas, the largest land owner in the civilized world. As may be imagined, Mr. Terrazas is intensely interested in introducing racing in Mexico on the highest plane, and he himself will have a big string of blooded racers at the track.

Harry Stevens, the official starter of the Saratoga Racing Association, and well known to racing men in both east and west, has closed a contract for the catering privileges at Juarez.

Mars Cassidy, known from Belmont Park to Oakland, who has been a familiar figure at every race track in America, has been officially designated as the official starter on the Juarez track. The Juarez officials were puzzled for a long time to find a man competent to fill this important post, and the selection of Cassidy will give universal satisfaction. Cassidy is immensely pleased. He has looked over the track and pronounces it one of the best in North America.

Secretary Rehberger of the Queens County Jockey club announced the following entries and stakes to the run during the fall meeting of ten days at Aqueduct:

Aqueduct handicap, worth $2500, over a mile and one-sixteenth course.—Feld Mouse, Mary Davis, Blue Book, King James, Restigouche, Firestone, Moquette, Woodcraft Fitz Herbert, Fayette, Dorante, High Private, Nimbus, Olambala, Arondack, King's Daughter, Huck, Maskette, Affliction, Jack Atkin and Half Sovereign. Election Day Handicap, worth $2000.—Distance one mile and a furlong. The stakes for the two-year-olds have attracted such youngsters as Grassmere, Starbottle, Dull Care, Turf Star, Fair Louise, Cherrylola, Billiard Ball, Prince Imperial, Shannon, Angerona, Faulteroy, Radium, Stat, Prentend, Glennadeane and Greenvallo. The dates for the stakes are as follows: October 26, Bell Rose, for the two-year-olds and Aqueduct handicap; October 28, Stonybrook; October 28, Roslyn handicap; October 30, Oakdale handicap and Bayview handicap; November 1, Glen Cove; November 2, Beldame handicap for two-year-olds and the election day handicap; November 3, Creedmore; Nov. 4, Woodmoore; Nov. 6, Babylon for two-year-olds and the Nassau for three-year-olds. More than $45,000 will be hung up for the horsemen during the meeting.

The following events will be run off at Jamaica before the meeting there ends: October 18, Sayville stakes; Oct. 19, Richmond handicap; Oct. 20, Meadowbrook stakes; Oct. 21, Gowanus stakes; Oct. 23, Remsen handicap; Oct. 25, Laurel stakes.

Meanwhile the Brooklyn Jockey club is going forward with plans for stakes to be run next year and in 1911. Entry lists for the big events at Gravesend next spring have already been closed. The turf men evidently anticipate that something will drop. Otherwise they would not go ahead with such elaborate arrangements.

Bust.

Publishers' Press. New York, Oct. 15.—The synod hall of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine will be decorated November 10 with a beautiful marble bust of the late Bishop Henry Codman Potter, who for twenty-five years in charge of the diocese of New York. The bust is the work of Leopold Bracony and is considered by the friends of the late bishop a fine likeness. It is now in the diocesan house in Lafayette street and has been viewed by a number of the friends of the late prelate.

Racing.

Publishers' Press. Montreal, Oct. 16.—Earl Grey, governor general of Canada, takes a keen interest in racing. He is a frequent visitor to the race tracks and has done much to make racing the fashionable function it is in England. The crusade against race track betting in the United States has had the effect of very greatly increasing the attendance at the Canadian tracks. There is little danger of the dominion following the states in this matter.

Congratulated.

Publishers' Press. New York, Oct. 16.—President Frederick D. Underwood of the Erie railroad is being congratulated by his friends upon the splendid showing made by the Erie in handling the Hudson-Fulton celebration crowd. Mr. Underwood is doing a great work with the Erie, and will have this famous old road on its feet before he finishes with it.

Banquet at Collegiate Institute.
One of the most delightful functions given at the Collegiate Institute was the banquet last Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock, when the Crutchfield Club and the Concho Debating Society entertained most charmingly their friends, the trustees and the faculty.

The college parlors were very handsomely decorated for the occasion. The college and club colors were combined with charming effect. Floating ribbon streamers festooned and fell in graceful loops from the ceiling, and rosettes were entwined around the chandeliers. The spacious dining room was unusually pretty with ferns and the tables were decorated in pink and white carnations. Those who assisted in the receiving line and in serving the delicious punch were: Miss Margarite Hinde and Mr. Karl Von Mertzardt, at the entrance, and in the hall were: Miss Josephine Lewis, the president of the Crutchfield club, and Misses Sallie Harden, Molete Martin, Anna Womack, Pearl Edwards, Mollie Prescott, Rebecca Taylor and Eva Hester, and Messrs. Ed Gillis, president of the Concho Debating Society, Fred Cox, Oscar Smith, Harris Mullin, Pat Cour, Pat Martin and Lowe Slayton. During the evening interesting games were played and the following excellent program was rendered:

Invocation—Rev. W. B. Wilson.
Piano solo—Miss Margaret Hinde.
Address of Welcome—Mr. Martin.
Response—Rev. J. W. Howell.

"The Crutchfield Club, Its History and Aims"—By Miss Molete Martin.
Toasts to the trustees and faculty—Jas. Montgomery.

Response—C. C. Walsh, for trustees, and Dr. Crutchfield for the faculty.

Toasts to ex-members of the Concho Debating Society and Crutchfield Club—Mr. Lowe Slayton.

Response—Miss Edna Hicks.
Violin Quartette—Misses Wilson, Lucile Tolson, Pauline Bullock and Francis Probandt.

Vocal and piano selections by Mrs. Coleman and Miss Osmon.
Reading—Mrs. Frank Andrews.
Violin Solo—Miss Margarite Spence.

After the well rendered program a very choice luncheon was served to about a hundred and fifty guests, after which Rev. C. S. Fields dismissed the happy throng.

Club Dance.

The members of the San Angelo Club, who have given quite a number of informal dances for the past week, entertained most charmingly on last Monday evening in honor of visitors in the city.

Excellent music was rendered by Springer's orchestra, and those who tripped to the merry strains were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert DeBerry and Misses Lucile March, Jennie Lynn Yorke, Miss Labadie, Lurlyne Hudson, Bessie Tweedy, Velma Fuller, Gertrude and Jeanette Chamberlain, Georgia, Nell and Mary McCall, Jodie Lee, Addie Bishop and Sallie Belle Edwards, and Messrs. Charles A. and Lawson Dalley, Clarence Webb, J. C. Powell, Ben Fain, E. M. Fife, Willie Burns, Theodore Bell, Frank Farr, Claude Jones, John Lee Nisbet, James P. Dumas, Jared H. Evans, E. M. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hardin of Troy, N. Y., are having a delightful visit in the city. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Taylor and Jesse E. Potter of Angelo Heights.

Daughters of Confederacy.

A most interesting and enjoyable meeting was held Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the court house by the members of the Daughters of the Confederacy. Many important things were discussed. One matter of importance was the acceptance of the Elks club room as a meeting place once a month. Another important matter was the electing of delegates to the general convention, which meets in Houston next week. Mrs. R. C. Ledford and Mrs. Geo. Rust were chosen as delegates and alternate.

After the business session was concluded all spent an hour or so socially, after which the meeting was adjourned until the next meeting, which will be the second Tuesday in November.

Mr. J. E. Brengle of Shelbina, Mo., is the guest of his sister, Mrs. O. B. Fields, corner of Avenue I and South Chadbourne street.

The many friends of Mrs. J. S. Bailey and her daughter, Miss Lula, will be delighted to hear of her appointment. Miss Lula Bailey has held the important position as instructor of Physics in the State University at Austin for a number of years, but for the past two years has been attending the Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore, Md. She has been appointed by the Academic Council of the Johns Hopkins University Fellow by Courtesy in that University.

The friends and pupils of Miss Myrtle Meers will be pleased to know that she has returned from a pleasant visit to relatives in Sterling City, and that she has had a delightful rest and is able to take charge of her duties. Miss Meers is very popular and her personality is again felt in the east ward school.

Mrs. R. H. Henderson will leave Sunday afternoon for Dallas to attend the Mothers' Congress organization. Mrs. Henderson goes well prepared to fill the place as the delegate from San Angelo.

Meeting of the Woman's Club.

The Woman's Club met last Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Mrs. R. H. Henderson at "The Richardson Flats." After the business was transacted a most interesting session was had. Mrs. B. L. Trimble read a most instructive paper on "How Women Stand in the Law." The ladies have decided to study "Legal Status of the Women of Texas" for the first five months. The ladies are indeed proud of their year books. They are exquisite in workmanship and a thing of beauty. The cover was designed by Miss Ella Scott Fisher. It is a beautiful carnation, the Club's flower, and the cover is tied with a pretty green cord, one of the Club colors. In this book is given the course of study, and all the important things concerning the Woman's Club, also the following program for the year:

Dance in Honor of Miss Labadie.
The Elks club hall was the scene of much merriment last Thursday evening when the club members delightfully entertained with an informal dance in honor of Miss Marguerite Labadie of Galveston.

Mrs. John Lee Entertains.
The most elaborate social event of the past week was the delightful "Miscellaneous Shower" given in honor of Miss Sadie Millsbaugh, whose marriage is to take place next Tuesday. The enjoyable affair was given by Mrs. John Lee at her elegant home, "Vista Concho," last Tuesday evening at 2 o'clock. The home was beautifully decorated. Miss Josephine Lee presided over the bride's book, and registered every guest upon her arrival. The large reception hall was elegantly decorated in pink and white chrysanthemums, and a merry half hour or so was pleasantly spent in drinking to the health of the lovely bride, and responding with many toasts.

A most interesting game of the evening was "500." The play was very spirited and Miss Annie Cooner made the top score. Miss Anna Lee the consolation prize, and Miss Ruth Christy won the booby. After the game all repaired to the dining room, which was handsomely decorated in white and green, and from the ceiling was suspended a beautiful white bell filled with rice, and when the bride entered, little Miss Mary Meador and Louise Lee pulled the streamers which were attached to the bell showering the bride-elect.

On one side in the dining room was a unique stack of wheat. Each bundle was tied with white ribbons and concealed under these bundles were the gifts to the bride-elect, and these were placed so as to form the "hay stack." Miss Millsbaugh was ushered to the stack and told to pull the ribbons which drew forth many dainty and lovely gifts, attesting her popularity.

Mrs. Duncan Moore furnished excellent music during the afternoon. Miss Mary Bain Spence played the wedding march as the guests were entering the dining room, where a choice luncheon was served.

The guests were: Mesdames Chas. W. Hobbs, Dwight L. Hunter, Fred Williams, Mark B. Pulliam, Jay Montague, Jewel Wylie, W. L. Hughes, Ed Duggan, Jr., Misses Sadie Millsbaugh, Helen Millsbaugh, Ruth Christy, Anna Burns, Lucille March, Annie Cooper, M. Walsh of Baltimore, Md., Elizabeth Tweedy, Jeanette Chamberlain, Margaret Spence, Mary Bain Spence, Louise Ellis and Misses Lee.

Girls' Study Club.
Mrs. Sam Crowther was the delightful hostess to the Girls' Study Club Saturday afternoon at her pretty home on Koberlin street. This is the first meeting of the year and the following attractive and most interesting program was rendered:

- 1. Origin of the World—Miss Mabson.
- 2. Origin of the Gods—Miss Helen Lee.
- 3. The Reign of Cronus—Miss Anna Lee.
- 4. The War of the Titans—Miss Louise Cherrill.
- 5. The Disfection of the Empire—Miss Kathleen Wallace.
- 6. The Reign of Jupiter—Miss Day

London, Oct. 16.—The prospects for the coming Rugby football season were never brighter, especially in Scotland. Now in Scotland and England, unlike in the United States, the season extends into the winter and the game is sometimes played upon frozen ground while the players are almost hidden in blinding surries of snow.

The Scottish Rugby union undertook this year to stimulate more interest in the sport than was ever expressed before, with the result that numberless young clubs have sprung up in every section north of the Tweed. Inter-district games have developed some very good material. Hitherto the young fry had been left entirely to themselves. Not so now. It is more than likely that all of last season's international players will be available, and as Scotland this year won two of the international series with ease, there is every reason to hope that success will again attend the lion rampant. Scotland easily defeated England and Ireland but succumbed to Wales.

The international season this year will be increased by the inclusion of France. Scotland and France will meet upon the Rugby field at Iver-leith January 22, a fortnight before the game with Wales, which will be played at Cardiff. Ireland will be met either at Belfast or Dublin, and England at Edinburgh.

The first of the international trial games between Edinburgh and Glasgow will be decided in the latter city on December 4, while the game between the Provinces and the Anglo-Scots is down for January 8 at Iver-leith.

London Sporting Life, the official sporting journal of Great Britain, is getting peeved over the question, "Is modern boxing a sport?" It all seems to have started over two things—first, an interview with Hugh McIntosh, the fight promoter, and secondly, over the starting of a new English periodical called Boxing. In some quarters sentiment seems to be that the old sporting element has been eliminated from boxing and that the game has degenerated into a money-making system. It can not be denied that McIntosh has made money out of it. His fight between Burns and Johnson in Australia brought him a fortune.

Speaking of Hugh McIntosh, that thrifty promoter seemed to deserve all the consideration he got and more, too, at the hands of Johnson and Jeffries. McIntosh, in addition to making a trip to America in an effort to get the Jeffries-Johnson fight, tagged along after Jeff in Paris in an attempt to get a definite statement from him. McIntosh made a second special trip to meet Jeffries, going from London to France, with an offer that seemed fabulous.

McIntosh is a shrewd promoter and wanted to take the Jeffries-Johnson fight to Australia, where he was so successful with the Burns-Johnson mill. McIntosh is well known in Australia as a square man and one whose word can be relied on for good, clean sport.

The invasion of the English turf by Harry Payne Whitney, August Belmonts, the Vanderbilts and other Americans has caused a great scare in the ranks of the British horse owners. Whitney's remarkable luck has caused the rumor to get abroad that he will have an entry in the derby next season.

In France W. K. Vanderbilt at the end of the first week in this month, headed the list of winners, with $206,000 to his credit. Baron Maurice de Rothschild was second, with a little more than half of Vanderbilt's winnings, and the French turfman, M. Edmond Blanc, was third.

The following program of athletic and cycling events was issued today:

October 23—Herne Hill H and Polytechnic H, 10-mile walking sealed handicap.

October 26—Surrey A. C. Interclub walk.

November 6—Highgate H versus Oxford university, at Oxford.

November 6—Herne Hill H Interclub run.

November 13—Hempstead H five-mile scratch steeple-chase for the challenge cup.

Nov. 20—Polytechnic H and Herne Hill H 10-mile inter-club walk.

November 20—South London H versus Blackheath for the Nicholas cup.

November 27—North London cross country championship.

December 4—Interbanks championship.

The town of Doncaster is the only municipal corporation in the United Kingdom which makes a business out of the exploitation of the turf. In other words, the race course belongs to the town and by managing it strictly on business lines it makes a yearly profit of $60,000, every penny of which goes toward lowering the taxes of the citizens. Exactly how long this corporation has been a race meeting promoter, it is difficult to say with any degree of certainty, but there is abundant proof that the town moor on which the St. Leger is run has been corporation property for nigh onto 300 years, and that during the whole of that period it has been principally for racing under the management of the municipality.

Doncaster is probably unique in having no borough rate at all. The district and county tax is just half as much as that of other English towns the same size which do not, unfortunately, own race courses.

The finances of the races are in the charge of the borough accountant. The town clerk gives the legal advice and the borough surveyor and his staff see that the grounds are kept in perfect condition. There are three race meetings a year at Doncaster—spring, autumn and winter. The autumn meeting is the chief event, although the other two are growing rapidly. Since the Americans have shipped large strings of horses to England and have begun wagering heavy amounts on their entries Doncaster has profited greatly.

The lively interest which England took in cricket, while still being held, seems not to be growing to any extent. Of the batting in the present season there is little to say, but it is a fact that no new stars have arisen. Some of the students who have given great promise are M. G. Salter, C. P. Leese, J. W. W. Nason, A. J. Evans and H. E. W. Prest. There is an immediate need of good players if England intends retaining her cricket championship.

DARK HINTS INDULGED IN

HOUSE OF LORDS INTENDS TO THROW OUT LONDON BUDGET.

ELECTION SEEMS SURE

Possible Dissolution of Parliament Most Generally Discussed Subject.

(By W. E. Carson.)

Copyright 1909 by Publishers Press.

London, Oct. 16.—The possible dissolution of parliament and a general election in the near future is by long odds the most generally discussed subject in Great Britain these autumn days.

Despite the recent utterance of J. A. Pease, the chief Liberal whip, it is now generally accepted that the House of Lords will either throw out the Budget or suspend their vote on it until the electorate has been consulted. Which ever step is taken an immediate general election would seem to be the only outcome.

Though this opinion is general, however, it is by no means unanimous. There are cool judges of the situation who take quite a different view. Some dark hints have been indulged in as to some trump card which the Ministers have up their sleeves if the Lords reject the Budget, and it has even been insinuated that the Budget may receive the King's assent, whatever fate it may receive in the Gilded Chamber.

These are probably only the products of wild political imaginations, but a parliamentary correspondent quotes a Cabinet Minister as saying that the preparations of both parties for a general election will be "love's labor lost." He thinks the Budget will go through, and that the House of Lords, under so cautious a leader as Lord Lansdowne, will not run the tremendous hazard involved in so revolutionary an act as the flinging out of the Budget. This is the opinion, also of some of the shrewdest and

General Sports of New York City

By Richard Dahlgren.

New York, Oct. 16.—The football season is fully on now and by this time sufficient has been seen to get full judgment on the strength of all the major class teams. Princeton has showed up strong, but weak in ballast; the Pennsylvania team has improved over the condition shown at the beginning of the season; both Yale and Harvard have settled down into better form than they did at the opening of the season. The showing made today by the teams is the final indication for the big Thanksgiving games.

When Yale goes against Harvard on November 20 it will mark the climax of the season's expectations and all eyes are focused upon that supreme test. Next Saturday Yale will have Colgate; Harvard will contest Brown, while Princeton will meet Lafayette. Gloom early settled over the heads of the Tige's. Early in the month football eleven showed little class in any department. McCrohan's work was clearly disappointing. While the big fellow has more than enough weight the coaches have had a hard time getting him to use it properly. Penn seems stronger this year than last. A great deal of secret practice has been indulged in on Franklin Field for unique plays.

Eight coaches took Yale in hand to pound her eleven into shape. The month began with five on the job, and soon three others made their appearance.

Carlisle showed some unusual strength at times yesterday. The Indians opened the season here at Polo grounds when they met Syracuse.

Both the Army and Navy teams have attained top notch form this year. Both got down to work early with the determination of setting the football firmament afire. On November 27 it will be seen which team builded the better.

Some corking good material was developed by the New York University and Fordham.

However, in a short few weeks the tale will have been told.

Here is a new story on Bugs Raymond, the eccentric pitcher who started early in the season with the Giants:

Bugs was standing in front of his cafe on Eighth avenue looking rather disconsolate because business was bad. As he brooded he saw a band of young chaps in baseball uniforms walking by. The familiar sight gladdened his soul.

"Where youse fellows going?" asked Bugs.

"This is the Northvale Field Club and we're going to play ball at Mt. Kisko."

"Want another player?" asked Bugs.

"Naw, got eleven now," responded the captain of the Northvale.

"That's all right, pal, I'm Bugs Raymond and I'll win the game fer youse," responded the ex-pitcher.

"We'll give you two bucks to play with us," responded the captain, with a gleam of animation.

"Youse is on," said Bugs.

That probably explains why the Northvale A. C. won their game from Mt. Kisko.

"Hurry Up" Yost, coach of the Michigan eleven, can always be looked to for something sensational. If it is not an utterance it is a deed, and "Hurry Up" is essentially a man of deeds.

"Sacrifice weight for speed and the Wolverines will play basket ball with their opponents this season," was the utterance of Yost when he took charge of the Michigan football team.

In fact, Yost's system may revolutionize football training. He has declared that, if this season shows his methods to have born fruit, they will be continued next by all the big teams.

James McCrea, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, is a football enthusiast. This season, hearing that Yale was not showing in the proper form, he thought he would apply some railroad rules. Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. McCrea's gigantic interests compels his almost constant attendance to his duties, he deserted his desk and took a train for New Haven. There he met Gordon Brown, another financier, and together they looked over the team. "Buck" Stunare, George Ade and George Chadwick were three others who visited New Haven to help in the coaching. The exact advice given by Mr. McCrea is not divulged, but it can be relied upon that it was practical and to the point.

An innovation which may be in football is to have each player wear a number upon his uniform corresponding with numbers upon the program, so that the spectators may know just who is doing the good work and who the poor. Ed Bushnell, the sporting writer, made the suggestion a short time ago and since then the suggestion has been seriously considered. The suggestion was put up to the Rules committee and may bear fruit.

Columbia University is entertaining bright hopes for the 1910 rowing season. In the number who reported to Coach Rice it was noted that the only veterans absent were S. A. Robinson and L. A. Spaulding. To offset this, however, there is an abundance of other good material to pick from. Nearly four score of freshmen were on hand. Coach Rice is hopeful of superior training facilities on the arrival of the new coaching launch, which was presented to the rowing club by graduates at a cost of $2500. The craft is expected to be finished by November 1.

At the finish of the American baseball season, before the opening of the championship games, Ty Cobb has stolen 50 bases, a record number. The fear infused by Ty's glittering spikes assisted by his marvelous speed have made him the greatest baserunner in the world.

Amusement.

Publishers' Press.
Washington, Oct. 16.—The attack made upon Uncle Joe Cannon by Representative Herbert Parsons, in which it is charged that the speaker made a deal with Tammany Hall in New York through which Tammany votes were given to him for the defeat of the insurgents in exchange for the killing of legislation obnoxious to Tammany at Albany, has created no little interest and a great deal of amusement in this city. It is predicted that Mr. Cannon will make Mr. Parsons sorry that he spoke before the coming session of congress is over.

Rise in Steel.

Publishers' Press.
New York, Oct. 16.—The phenomenal rise in steel common on the New York market is reported due in a very large measure to J. Pierpont Morgan. It is generally believed in Wall street that Mr. Morgan expects to see steel common, which in many respects is his masterpiece of finance, go to or above par on its merits.

HOW ABOUT THAT FORFEIT MONEY?

ing a little road work just to keep the fat down. At that time the big fellow intimated that he wouldn't think of jumping the ropes for more than $150,000. At that time his plans were to sail for the United States tomorrow.

"Why, I'm the world's undisputed champion and I wouldn't think of fighting for less than a $150,000 purse," he said.

However, I was merely trying to show how the fight game has died out, not to add to the already huge supply of dope about Jeff. Los Angeles, San Francisco, Kansas City, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, Providence and Pittsburg still remain the fight centers.

It was intimated here earlier in the month that the fight game might be resumed after the election. The managers of the local clubs have been suffering from cold feet ever since the Langford-Ketchel fight was called off at Governor Hughes' orders, and it was feared and is still feared that Gotham will never again see a big contest.

Johnny Frayne is certainly the hard luck kid. The California lightweight has been suffering from rheumatism for some time and for a long while it looked as though he would never be able to fight again. He was matched for a 20-round mill with Lew Powell in Frisco, but the physician told him that if he entered the ring it would result in lasting injury. The original date of the bout was last Friday. Frayne had the bout postponed indefinitely and took to his bed.

Ad Wolgast has joined the tribe of pugilistic globe trotters and announced that he would go to England and France for fights. The little crack lightweight was matched for a ten-round bout with Clarence English at Omaha on October 24 and with Jack Redmond, the St. Paul pugilist, for a twenty-round battle at New Orleans on November 14. Ad said he wouldn't let his international plans interfere with his American dates and that the fights here would help him keep in condition. He wants to lay on the other side ready to hop into the ring.

You can't keep Leach Cross out of the limelight. Leach announces that he has signed articles to meet Harry Stone in Baltimore during the week of October 25. That will be during the racing at the Pimlico when Baltimore will be thronged with sports of every description.

Never for a long time has there been so much interest felt in a fight as the Kaufman-O'Brien bout, which was planned to be pulled off in Philadelphia late this month. Kaufman spent a whole lot of time in the West and while there did not let the grass grow under his feet. Al is a workaholic and trains for the fun of the thing. The big blacksmith keeps in condition pretty much all the time and since his fight with Johnson has been working harder than ever. The Californian made the match without the aid of a manager and there were grave fears all along that it would fall through with. Kaufman said that he believed it a good opportunity to regain some of his lost prestige in the East.

There has been a lot of talk about Stanley Ketchel being sore on Frisco and wanting to get back to New York. Sure Ketch likes New York. When here and not training he usually lives at the Bartholdi and has his touring car up at the door every night. With a whirr he is off up Broadway and the bright lights see him while the Brilliant Way is liveliest. Just before he went West to train for Johnson, Ketch was standing in the lobby of the hotel one evening waiting for his touring car. He was dressed in a college-boy hat with a rainbow band, and ultra fashionable suit of gray with the London roll to the trousers, patent leather pumps and wore gray gloves, to say nothing of the cane. O, yes, he was smoking a cigarette.

"Who is that chap—Harry Lehr?" asked a bystander.

"Oh, you Montana."

Speaking of Ketchel, it is a shame the way he hammers his partners. To train Ketch a boxer must be a hard hitter and quick as lightning. Usually after the first few practice bouts the trainer lacks teeth and very seldom both his lamps are in working order. Charlie Miller and Steve O'Connor, who trained Ketch this month, both bore evidence of hard work.

WOMEN PLAYWRIGHTS WOULD BE SUCCESS

MRS. E. E. BAKER FURNESS SAYS THEY THINK DEEPLY.

Men Who Know More About Technique of Stage But Don't Understand Each Other.

New York, Oct. 16.—Loyalty to its star members, Mrs. Edith Ellis Baker Furness has always been one of the most salient characteristics of the Century Theatre Club, so it was to be expected that part of the first meeting of the season, which was held at the Hotel Astor, should be devoted to a discussion of her latest play, "The Ranchman."

Every one agreed that it is a screamingly funny play, not a bit coarse and without subtle, wherever subtlety is needed, with her and then a proper touch of pathos. New York hasn't seen "The Ranchman" yet, and Mrs. E. E. B. Furness, who was looking as fit as possible in a white three-piece suit, black velvet picture hat and the latest coiffure, admitted that she didn't know when it would. Brooklyn has been more fortunate. "I'm really not a literary person, you know," continued Mrs. Furness. "I know that some of my lines wouldn't mean anything if they weren't accompanied by a lot of stage business. In fact, I'm perfectly willing to admit that I never would have been an author at all if I hadn't been a producer. I have had so much to do with the alteration and reconstruction and putting of the finishing touches on other people's plays that after a while it seemed the easiest thing in the world for me to write one myself."

"Of course it was," assented an admirer in the audience.

"It's too bad there aren't more women producers," went on Mrs. Furness. "It is sometimes just those little touches which come to a woman through her intuitive powers and which a man would never think of in a thousand years that might be the making of a play. There have been many unnecessary failures—many plays which didn't seem to quite get a grip on the public, although from a literary point of view they were excellent. A woman producer might have prevented those plays from being taken off the boards."

"But don't men know more than women about the technique of the stage?" objected the Centurian, who hadn't spoken before.

"Perhaps they do," assented Mrs. Furness. "I'm not going to say anything unkind about men. Some of them are very intelligent, and when it comes to the question of merely creating splendid theatric effects, it is not probable that women could equal them just at present. What I do claim for women, however, is a little finer perception of some of the more delicate points of dramatic art, not because they know more about dramatic art, but because their very manner of life, as distinguished from man's, has made them better psychologists."

"Now what do you mean by that?" asked the recording secretary, pausing with uplifted pen.

"Why just this," explained the speaker. "I mean that every woman or nearly every one, has, or has had, a father, a brother, and a husband, not to speak of sons and uncles. She has had ample opportunity to study those men in all sorts of moods. In fact, she has been compelled to do so in order to get along with them. Men have no such conditions to encounter. They have female relatives, to be sure, but as a rule they are able to dictate to them, and it isn't at all necessary that they should be sensitive to every little change of expression or inflection in the voice. Women, for that reason, know men better than men know women, and the habit of observing men accurately teaches them also to observe their own sex in the same way. Hence, they are greater masters of psychological detail than are men, and are therefore valuable in the production of plays that depend for success on little niceties of acting and stage business rather than on broad dramatic effects."

VERDICT FOR THE WOMAN.

Jury Awarded $1,000 Damages for Failure to Marry.

Pittsburg, Oct. 16.—The jury trying the case of Luella Lowstetter, who sued Prof. Earl W. Reed of Sheridan public schools, for $25,000 damages, brought in a sealed verdict finding the defendant "guilty" and awarding Miss Lowstetter $1,000 damages.

Judge Thomas D. Carnahan advised the jurymen that in a civil court they could not find the defendant guilty or not guilty, but that they would have to return a verdict finding in favor of the plaintiff. The jury took the papers back and followed out the judge's instructions.

Miss Lowstetter, prominent in educational and church circles of Sheridan, had claimed in her bill against Prof. Reed that he refused to marry her in 1905, after he had promised to do so, and that she had lost twenty-five pounds in weight as a result, and prayed for $25,000 damages.

Attorney W. H. S. Thompson for Prof. Reed said he would appeal the case, as no evidence had been brought out that Prof. Reed had promised to marry Miss Lowstetter.

NO EULOGY AT HIS FUNERAL.

Bishop Ludden Says His Coffin Shall Be a Black Box With No Gilded Nails.

Utica, Oct. 16.—The Right Rev. Patrick A. Ludden, Catholic Bishop of the diocese of Syracuse, is strongly opposed to ostentatious display at funerals and seldom permits priests in his diocese to deliver eulogies over the biers of departed parishioners. In keeping with his sentiment on this subject Bishop Ludden today while delivering brief remarks at the funeral of a relative in the village of Florence, said that when he died there would be no eulogy pronounced at his obsequies.

"I have already made provision," he said, "that when I am laid away it shall be a simple black box, in which there shall be no gilded nails. Neither will there be any funeral sermon preached, for in truth I prefer the prayer of an old lady kneeling behind a church pillar to the finest eulogy that might be pronounced by some of my talented friends."

NICK LONGWORTH SUED.

Served With Paper Demanding $73.75 On His Arrival in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Oct. 16.—Congressman Nicholas Longworth arrived home today to make stump speeches in the municipal campaign. "Welcome to our city," said Constable Brown to Longworth, impressively.

Constable Brown was from Magistrate Lamping's court and while he extended his right hand to the congressman, his left clutched a legal looking paper bearing the inscription "E. E. Ertel vs. Nicholas Longworth, suit for $73.75 for automobile hire."

Congressman Longworth was stumped. The suit was filed by Earl E. Ertel, of Loveland, as assignee of the Gunther Brothers Company. It charges that Congressman Longworth got $73.75 worth of automobile service on September 4, 1903, and has never paid the bill.

The suit is set for trial on Tuesday. Councilman Wes Rippey, Longworth's business representative, says a mistake has been made in the books of the Gunther Brothers Company.

STODDARD BURNS HIS POEMS.

Had His Manuscripts Destroyed the Day Before He Died.

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—It has been discovered by Publisher A. M. Robertson and Ina Coolbrith, the poet, that Charles Warren Stoddard, author of "South Sea Idylls," had destroyed on his deathbed a number of poems written a short time before his death.

Robertson expected to publish the collected poems of Stoddard, who died recently in Monterey, but when he sent for the manuscripts none could be found. Then the poet's housekeeper was questioned, and she said that on the day before he died Stoddard had her make a fire in the fireplace and then he cast into it many manuscripts. Among these were unpublished poems and the originals of many which were printed.

Stoddard had read several poems to Miss Coolbrith and others during his last illness, but these were evidently destroyed by the writer.

Cost Employee $500 to Kiss Model.

New York, Oct. 15.—A jury before Judge Donnelly in the city court awarded Mrs. Lillian Rothschild $500 in her suit against Emanuel Weingreen, a fur manufacturer, for damages because he kissed her so violently the second day she worked for him as a model that she had to bathe her face for some time afterward.

Miss Meta Keller of Mason is visiting with her cousin, Mrs. Edward Maier.

E. W. McGee returned to his home in Brownwood Friday, after visiting friends for a few days.

W. C. Harris returned to his home in Goldthwaite Friday, after being in the city several days prospecting.

GREAT PICTURES GO AND ENGLAND WAILS

AMERICAN MULTIMILLIONAIRE IS AN ART OGRE.

On the National Loan Collection at Grafton Galleries a Help to the Spoiler.

London, Oct. 16.—From time to time the fine picture or other historic work of art comes to public notice in England. Whenever this happens there is a humorously pathetic outpouring of lamentations in the English press, and the precious posses-sion's certain fate is wept over with tears. A transatlantic voyage is once assumed to be its doom.

The celebration of this artistic wake is sad enough when the anticipated falling of one old master, one ancient god, is lamented, but this week there has been weeping lamentation for a multitude of ancient masters. Oddly enough, the gallery in question has been filled entirely with a view to shipping Great Britain keep her art treasures at home.

The trustees of the national gallery have collected a "national loan exhibition" of great works of art and have opened them in the Grafton galleries, here for a year to come they hope to collect entrance fees from the public sufficient to form the nucleus of a fund which will enable them to purchase for the country pictures which otherwise could be sold to those artistic ogres, the American multi-millionaires.

But before the Grafton galleries doors were opened the voice of lamentation was heard in the land, Brittania weeping for her pictures and refusing to be comforted because they were to be sold to American millionaires. The newspapers and reviews, daily and weekly, unanimously declare that the exhibition, instead of helping to keep the treasures at home, is simply collected them in convenient fashion for certain emigration to the United States.

"The national loan exhibition," says the Saturday Review, "is a cry of distress. The trustees of the national gallery invite the public to inspect the collected treasures as though they said, 'Come and look your last. Before long these precious possessions will in the inevitable course of things have vanished from your shores. We are helpless and can do nothing to save them.'"

The Review rejoices that Lewis Harcourt, first commissioner of works, has promised on behalf of the government that works of art will be exempt in future from death duties, but it re-joices sadly, for it knows that this is insufficient. Then comes mention of the "American multi-millionaire," with such wealth as an Englishman can never hope to possess, and the statement that unless the state funds are made adequate "the destination of our pictures is America."

Mr. Harcourt opened the exhibition at the Grafton galleries. He made an interesting speech despite suffragette interruptions. Among the Americans who were noticed admiring the priceless masterpieces in the collection were Mmes. Burns and Harcourt, Cora countess of Stafford; the Duchess of Marlborough and Countess Pappenheim.

GROWING.

To Keep Up With San Angelo Man Must Not Leave Town.

"Well, I am back again and I am having a great time," said W. E.
Casey, from Georgetown, Friday.

"It has been nearly two years since I was here last and it is wonderful how this town has grown. It is utterly impossible for a man to keep up with this city and live in another town, for I have tried it. I have some relatives and friends here and have tried to keep posted on the town, but I have learned that I have been way behind. Why, when I was here about two years ago such a building as that one (pointing to the Shupert building) was hardly thought of."

Mr. Casey is a commission man from Georgetown and is a very interesting talker. He likes to converse on good subjects and about the best thing he has found to talk about is San Angelo.

"I have been coming to this city for a great many years and have been a close observer of its growth. I have found it to be the fastest growing city in the state of Texas. Now

Dr. B. T. Welch of Christoval is spending a few days here.

L. S. Daniel, after being in the city several days visiting, went to Temple Friday, returning to his home.

J. W. Hoch and wife returned to their home in Yoakum Friday, after being here visiting relatives in the city.

Mrs. Emile Vanderstucken and daughter Miss Sophia of Fredericksburg are visiting relatives in the city.

J. D. Turner, traveling salesman for the Moore Milling company of Chillicothe, left Friday afternoon for Blackwell.

Frank Murchison of Eldorado is in the city. He will ship 1106 head of cattle to Oklahoma Saturday.

FAIR.

San Antonio Making Great Preparations.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 16.—
No fair or exposition in the great Southwest will give the same attention to products of the farm as will the International Fair of San Antonio. For months preparations have been under way to make the agricultural section of the Fair complete in every respect, and that is especially to show what may be grown on various Texas soils and how the best results are to be obtained.

It should be understood distinctly that this particular part of the Fair is far from being a "pumpkin show."
It is an educational feature from which every agriculturist, farmer and truck grower may learn a lesson. This monster exhibit will require three large buildings on the fair grounds, each of which will be arranged artistically and displayed to the best advantage so that an inspection of their contents will be a matter of pleasure for the visitor at the Fair.

The agricultural section is one of many great features of the Fair. Low rates will be in effect on all railroads from points in Texas and the Republic of Mexico.

"OLDEST AND BEST"

Confident.
Publishers Press.
Cleveland, Oct. 16.—Mayor Tom L. Johnson is very confident of another election as mayor of Cleveland. He is making a very active campaign, as he always does, and indications are not wanting that he will receive the suffrages of his fellow citizens in sufficient number to continue him in office.

Remarkable.
Publishers Press.
New York, Oct. 16.—Admiral Sir Edward Seymour, who commanded the British squadron which took part in the Hudson-Fulton celebration, is in many respects a remarkable man. He is not only one of England's most noted sea fighters, but is an authority on polar exploration, and many other subjects. He made many friends while in this city.

most sagacious politicians, including Liberal peers of high influence.

Amidst the general uncertainty, however, one thing is quite certain, and that is the activity of the parties. Every step usually taken on the eve of a great electoral struggle, such as the provision of candidates and the supplying of tons of election literature, is proceeding as if the event were imminent.

Mr. Pease, the Liberal whip, said recently when asked if he thought a dissolution was imminent: "I have made no arrangements for the general election. I do not expect it for two years. It is in the lap of the gods. I cannot, however, imagine the Lords taking such an unconstitutional course as to reject the Finance bill as it stands at present."

British law-makers continue to be exercised in their minds concerning the operations, or supposed operations, of the American Beef Trust. In the House of Commons recently, Mr. Bowerman, a labor member, asked whether the president of the Board of Trade had received any official information to the effect that the United States companies engaged in the beef trade in the United Kingdom had lately issued 11,300,000 pounds of new capital to be used in obtaining further control of the Argentine cattle and beef markets. In reply, Mr. Winston Churchill stated that information has been received from his majesty's ambassador at Washington to the effect that the companies referred to have recently raised a large amount of capital, but had no official information which would enable him to confirm the statements as to the exact amount or the purpose for which it is intended.

According to Lady Blount, who does not believe that the earth is round, Peary's discovery of the North Pole clearly demonstrates the flatness of the earth.

"Commander Peary has asserted," said she, "that when he was nearing the North Pole he found that the reflected image of the sun was oval. According to the semi-diameter given in the almanacs, the sun's image measures only about half a degree. Why then should a globe supposed to be a million times smaller than the sun cause the sun's image to be elongated by one-third its diameter?"

"If the earth is globular, can our opponents explain why a portion of the sun was not hidden when it first appeared above the horizon?"

"The Poles are simply magnetic centers in the heavens, around and above which the sun circles in its daily path. I affirm without fear of contradiction, that no proof of a movement of the earth on an axis has ever been adduced."

"The exigencies of the globular theory necessitate the assumption of an axial motion, but the theory is entirely unsupported by the evidence of our senses, and astronomical theory is unsupported by an evidence which will bear examination."

Notwithstanding the many uncanny things which are said to have occurred during the previous visit of Halley's comet, astrologers remain perfectly calm. Mr. Alan Leo, one of the foremost exponents of the science, does not anticipate any dire results from its approach. There are, he thinks, no data to show that its recurrence in the past has been attended with national calamities.

More serious, in Mr. Leo's opinion, is the present passing of the planet Saturn through Aries, the sign which rules England. This occurs in a cycle of twenty-eight years and always causes trouble. "The approaching general election and bad weather," he thinks, "are due to the effect of Saturn passing through Aries." Astrologers believe, too, that the second coming of Christ is near at hand, because we are nearing the end of the two thousand years' cycle. It takes 25,000 years for the cycle of the Zodiac to go round, and at each twelfth division a new teacher is supposed to appear on the earth and the new cycle starts. This time it is believed to be the second coming of the same Spiritual Intelligence.

In the United States and in continental countries, workmen engaged in occupations which soil the clothing condescend to change their attire before leaving the shop or factory to return home. In England, however, especially London, the bricklayer and the painter, and even the chimney-sweep, will cheerfully enter the railway train or the street car uncleaned, and with his industrial glory upon him, and spread desolation among the frocks and suits of those against whom he sits. National habit governs such practices. Mr. Wardec, a Labor member of parliament, has suggested to the government that employers should be induced to follow the example of America and the continent, and provide wardrobe accommodation, where the men could "chanke" before emerging into the public streets.

A further contribution to the romance of lost and forgotten masterpiece is forthcoming from Manchester—close upon the story of the Rubens in the Heaton Park Gallery, which is supposed to be a Vandeyk.

During the last 14 or 15 years there have lain in one of the stock-rooms at the Victoria hotel half a dozen old canvases. Black with age and obscured by dirt, their massive frames chipped and faded, these pictures have long been regarded as so much rubbish.

Commercial travelers who occupied the stock-rooms nailed their show cards on the paintings, which charwomen occasionally secured after the manner of charwomen. The pictures finally came to be looked upon as a nuisance and about two months ago the subject of their removal was broached. Fortunately one of the directors had an idea that there might be something of worth in the pictures, and he suggested that they should be cleaned and restored. His suggestion was adopted, and an artist was employed on the work. That was six weeks ago; now there is a strong probability that one of the despised paintings is a genuine Vandeyk, and that the others are all pictures of considerable value.

A still older picture is one that suggests Correggio and the Lombard school. The subject, like the majority of the older Italian masters, is Scriptural, and represents Christ driving the money-changers from the Temple. This picture has apparently suffered vicissitudes, both artistically and materially. There are suggestions of not very skillful retouching, one figure being obviously out of proportion.

All the pictures have at one time or the other been through Christie's hands. They came to the Victoria hotel from London, and it is supposed that they were once hung in the Freemasons' Tavern.

Mrs. W. C. Endicott, mother of Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, pays an annual visit to this country, and is a very welcome guest at her son-in-law's home at Highbury. Before he was stricken with illness Mr. Chamberlain on several occasions traveled down to Liverpool specially to bid Mrs. Endicott adieu, and in his absence Mr. Austen Chamberlain accompanied her to the steamer. She has just returned to the United States from her annual visit.

Wonderful.

Publishers Press.
London, Oct. 16.—John Singer Sargent, the celebrated American artist, is now known in artistic England as a modern Velasquez. His wonderful portraits of the Duchess of Portland, Lord Ribblesdale, the Ladies Atcham and Ian Hamilton, besides many others, has fixed Mr. Sargent's name as an artist.

Confidence.

Publishers Press.
Berlin, Oct. 16.—Admiral Von Holtendorff has been appointed to the Chief Command of the German High Seas Fleet. He has the complete confidence of the Kaiser and is a man of high qualifications, and should Germany become involved in war in the near future, he would unquestionably have charge of any naval operations that might be attempted.
