

SYNOD TABLES RESOLUTION ON CONVICT SYSTEM

INTRODUCTION OF PAPER ON SUBJECT IS FOLLOWED BY DEBATE WITH INTEREST.

ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT ENJOYABLE OCCASION

Plans aid for gathering next summer at Kerrville—Meeting of Synod comes to a close—San Angelo is thanked.

An effort was made at Monday's session of the Presbyterian synod of Texas to pass a resolution touching on the state convict system, but after a lively discussion it was tabled.

The affairs of the fifty-fourth annual meeting of the Presbyterian synod were finished Monday afternoon, and at 1:10 o'clock final adjournment was taken, after a unanimous vote of thanks had been extended to the people of San Angelo for the hospitality shown the visiting ministers.

The closing session of the synod was a busy one. During the last hours of the session the reports of all the committees were received and adopted. Many matters were disposed of Monday morning.

A committee consisting of Brooks I. Dickson of San Antonio, T. Gallahar of Sulphur Springs, J. P. Robertson of Paris, R. M. Hall of Galveston, T. O. Perron of Sherman and W. S. Hickman of Texarkana was appointed to arrange for the annual encampment of the synod next summer at Kerrville, where it is held annually. There the synod has purchased a ten-acre tract of land situated on the river front, and annual encampments extending over several days are held. A feature of the encampment of 1910 will be Rescuers Hear Human Voices, But Unable to Locate Direction Because of Sharp Explosion.

Publishers Press. Cherry, Ill., Nov. 22.—Although an explosion today created fresh fumes and forced the rescuers to discontinue their work in the St. Paul mine, it is believed that many living men are entombed in another corner, for many rescuers while in the mine in the morning declared that they could distinguish many human voices. They were unable to locate the direction from which the sounds came, but the debris from the last explosion can be cleared away in a few hours and the work may be resumed Tuesday morning.

Throngs of visitors from neighboring cities were at the scene yesterday, but none was permitted to enter the shaft. They carried off bits of coal from the mine as souvenirs.

ANARCHISTS PREACH WITHOUT INVITATION

Nail Preacher Up at His House and They Then Go to Church and FBI HIS Appointment

Publishers Press. Rome, Nov. 22.—A correspondent in Mantua describes an extraordinary scene which occurred in the Cathedral there. The great church was crowded in the expectation that a sermon would be preached by a popular preacher, and to the astonishment of those present, two preachers in place of one presented themselves in the pulpit.

Their astonishment was increased when one of the men commenced to speak of Spain, King Alfonso and the Pope in unmeasured terms, in relation to the execution of Senior Ferrer. Subsequently, the second man expressed himself strongly against Christianity, and only then did the majority recognize that two Mautuan anarchists were occupying the pulpit. Confusion almost amounting to panic ensued, and the archbishop sent for carabinieri, who arrived too late to capture the intruders.

It appeared later that the expected preacher had been unable to leave his house for the reason that the doors had been nailed up.

MARKETS.

Publishers Press. New York, Nov. 22.—Cotton opened easy with a decline of from 5 to 8 points, December being an exception, advancing 4 points. The report of the census bureau at Washington was made public at 10 o'clock, and it placed the amount of cotton ginned up to Nov. 14 at 8,169,737 bales.

May cotton rose to 15.06. The market was irregular about noon. Southern interests were heavy buyers and the prices worked up 10 points. The mid-afternoon offerings were light. MAIL SERVICE OVER ORIENT

FIRST BATCH SENT OUT OF SAN ANGELO MONDAY MORNING.

HITCH IN SCHEME

Close Connection at Sweetwater Prevents Transfer of Fort Worth Pouches to Texas and Pacific.

Monday morning the Orient started carrying mail from San Angelo. For several weeks the people of San Angelo have been anxiously waiting for that time to come. It has come and the people are satisfied.

The mail service over the Orient, though long in getting started, promises to be good. This railroad has given good service in all other ways and it is practically ascertain that that it will do equally as well for the government.

The mail service over the Orient is very beneficial. Mail heretofore going to some parts of Texas had to be carried over very long routes. For instance, in sending a piece of mail from San Angelo to El Paso it left here on the Santa Fe at 2:15 p. m. and never reached its destination until two days afterward. Now that it comes over the Orient, one day's mail gets here the next day. In like manner mail is carried to other points very much sooner. Just now, however, it will be impossible to send mail over the Orient for Fort Worth, as the time between trains at Sweetwater is too close. This will be regulated soon if possible.

Publishers Press. Washington, Nov. 22.—The gunboat, Vicksburg, which was ordered to Nicaragua when the first news of the assassination of the two Americans, Grace and Collins, became known, has arrived at Corinto and is now at anchor in the harbor, according to dispatches received today.

The cruiser, Des Moines, arrived at Port Limon November 18, but will proceed to Greytown, where the Zelayan forces have established a blockade. These battleships were ordered to Nicaragua by the state department, fearing that other American, who now have residence in Nicaragua, may be harmed by Zelaya. He declared that Collins and Grace were aiding in the revolution, which now has the country within its throes.

SAN ANGELO'S FUTURE.

The day is not far distant when there will be a great city somewhere between Fort Worth and El Paso. The Press-News is not blind to the fact that the question of what place will receive this honor is still a matter of doubt. The Press-News believes that San Angelo will achieve this distinction, but the Press-News desires to warn the people of San Angelo that the race is hard, the struggle will be continuous and the end is not to be reached through any avenue of ease.

Admitting that the hope is father to the thought that San Angelo has a destiny concomitant with real greatness, the Press-News desires to admonish the people of the Concho country that they must not trust to the power of hope alone. We must fit our actions to our thoughts. We have got to rise from a solid and enduring foundation, or else after we reach a certain growth our structure will crumble and our hopes shall fall.

Aside from the natural conditions and the fundamental essentials incidental to society San Angelo must put push and vigor, sanity and concentration into her efforts. San Angelo, it is true, is blessed with every natural environment to cause a city to grow here. But so are other places in West Texas. San Angelo has an ideal society. But so have other places in West Texas.

If San Angelo hopes to be the commanding commercial center of the west, this city must lay her plans so as to:

1. Secure more railroads, for transportation facilities are the vitals of substantial growth.

2. Bend every energy toward developing the surrounding country, for no city can hope to live upon itself and no city can grow and prosper except as the sustaining influence of the tributary country warrants.

If The Press-News had its way it would abandon its principles for expediency insofar as this particular project is concerned. It would pass a law prohibiting any man from owning say over four sections of land within a radius of fifty or one hundred miles of this place. Were the tax rate made so high that land in large sections could not be held in rapid idleness, the Press-News believes that an incentive not now the case would be given the owners of large tracts to dispose of them.

The Press-News believes that fully 85 per cent of the country tributary to this city as fertile as the delta of the Nile and under properly inviting conditions would be the homes of thousands of producing farmers, rather than the herding places of merely hundreds of live stock. A steer, let us say for argument's sake, is worth $40 at the age of four years. This steer will require not less than ten acres of land a year to graze it. During the four years, therefore, it is easy to see that the steer has used a total of forty acres of land, and the earning capacity of the steer is only $40, or $1 an acre.

Now suppose that these forty acres had been put in, say cotton. This ten acres of cotton yearly, under normal conditions, would have produced not less than five bales to the acre. In four years the production would have been twenty bales, on the lowest kind of an estimate. These twenty bales, to again invoke a spirit of conservatism, would average $50 a bale, or a total of $1000.

Can't you gather the drift? It is $1000 if we have the farmers, against $40 if we have the cattle.

In other words, in building a city the farmer counts 25 points where the stockman counts one point.

The Press-News doffs its hat to the perless pioneers who peopled this section in the early days and engaged in the cattle raising business. But the Press-News declines to permit this profound respect to the men who have accomplished so much to blind its feelings that the day for the cowman in the fertile areas of the west is over. The cattlemen will not be come impoverished through disposing of his holdings. There is not a single large ranch in the west that will not net its owner a profit almost beyond the dreams of avarice, as compared with the prices paid for the land.

The Press-News appeals to the owners of large tracts of land to get rid of these large holdings. The Press-News also desires to say that when a bird will not fly away when one "shoes" at it, that a well directed stone will cause that bird to take wing. The people have the power of taxation in their hands. This is a power that ought never to be used except in strict conformity with right and justice. But it is a hard matter to say what is right when tens of thousands of land tributary to a place is being held down to where it will produce only $1 an acre a year when it can be made to produce twenty-five times that amount.

ALFRED W. ARMSTRONG

Mr. Alfred W. Armstrong died at his home on East 11th street, Nov. 22. His illness involved severe suffering, which culminated in the extinction of a man with a most happy admirable and lovable character and an energy acutely intelligent in every manifestation, dauntless in all circumstances, unimpaired even by the natural diminishing of bodily strength which comes with a great increase of years. The mainspring of this fine, brave spirit never weakened until it broke. This is neither the place for the moment for a formal eulogy of Mr. Armstrong's true worth; nor again is The Press-News, in its profound sympathy the fit appraiser of his practical achievements and his loyal, never ceasing services to the cause of truth and right.

Out within the great forests of the world there stands among the small trees the mighty oak. Time, in its regular course, sends the disease and frost and clips from its towering branches the tender leaves and with the passing of a day the bark has fluted off, and with the passing of time its identity is lost to those afar. But out, beyond, above there stand to brave the mighty winds and storms its biased limbs. To these branches there come from far and near fowls of every name, which perch in the clear light where, from their place of rest secure, they may apprehend the approach of a dangerous foe.

In the course of time there comes the reaper whose name we call death, and he clips the tender leaves of life from a tried one, and with the passing of a day the body is laid away. But a few years pass and to the multitude that individual is no longer known, but still out, above and beyond the realm of the many there will tower the influence, the character and the experience of such a one.

Pave Chadbourne street.

Judging from the newspaper comment it seems that there will be a demand at an early date in the Nicaragua country for more "Grace and Cannon."

A ship was burned on the sea. When the alarm was sounded, each man of the crew promptly went to his post. There evidently must have been a comic opera company on board.

The same old tale. We have heard it before. Fat fees. "Franklin Ferris of St. Louis, awarded $20,000 for services rendered for conducting a special examination in the Standard Oil suit."

News item. John D. cannot speak. Before Jewell P. Lightfoot gets through with the gentleman we would not be surprised to hear that he had expressed himself of being sorry that he ever spoke.

Now if Superintendent Cousins can teach as much to the teachers as he knows about education, there is no doubt about it, the world will be better by reason of his existence during this generation.

Now comes the statement that "the decree does not order a dissolution of the Standard Oil Company. That is a misunderstanding." We wonder if it is a misunderstanding about the dissolution of the Standard in Texas. If so, please advise.

People do not become rich with the passing of a day, who keep their riches. It is the man who exerts a continuous effort and lays awake late hours at night planning for the future who makes things move and keeps them moving.

It is usually easier to check a man than it is to start him; if you are holding back for fear you will become too enthusiastic in the battle for a greater West Texas, take this as a hint: There will be some one who has interest enough in you to keep you from disgracing yourself. Hit the ball.

CONCHO DRUG STORE

MISSING.

Ithaca, Nov. 22.—Walter S. Knibloe of Fillmore, N. Y., formerly a student at Cornell University, but who was not admitted this year because of an entrance condition, has been missing from his rooming house in this city since October 6 and the authorities have been asked to look him up. His father, William Knibloe, was in the city to conduct an investigation, but so far he has not been able to get track of his son.

The son roomed on Mill street. Other students in the house say that he left on the night of October 6 and has not been seen here since. He took away with him a suit case, but his trunk full of clothes and quite a few effects are still in the room.

Knibloe was a special student in the College of Agriculture last fall and was informed this summer that he would have to remove a condition before he could get into the college again. He came back, but found that it was useless. His father advised him to enter the local high school. There is no record that he ever did so.

JEWS MUST NOT TRAVEL ABOARD AMERICAN SHIPS

That is Those Who Believe in Fidelity to Faith, Relative to Their Food.

Publishers Press.

New York, Nov. 22.—Whatever we may think of the wisdom which prompted the young Jewess who recently landed on Ellis Island, to starve herself to death on the voyage to this country because she could not secure on board ship food authorized by the tenets of her religion, there can be no doubt in anybody's mind that she gave a very commendable exhibition of unswerving fidelity to what she believed to be a matter of principle.

There are days when people are so accustomed to the spectacle of indifference to religion that it comes like a refreshing surprise to see that there are people to whom their religious obligations are so vital that they think nothing of accepting whatever hardships may be involved in fulfilling them.

Giabella Breiner of Komlstat, Hungary, sailed from home on the Holland American line steamship, "Ryndam." When she found after the ship had sailed that Kosher food could not be obtained on board, she determined to fast the entire trip. She ate but little, some of her fellow travelers providing her with scanty morsels which they had brought on board on sailing. It was no wonder that when the nine days' voyage was over, she had to be carried ashore at Ellis Island, owing to her very weak condition, and within a day or two died, literally starved to death.

It is said that relatives in this country at once took charge of her body, which was buried in accordance with all the rights of the Jewish church.

CATTELEMEN ARE NOT TO MOVE

BOARD OF TRADE CONSIDERS PROPOSITIONS.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

Prominent Men Will Wait on Cattle Raisers—President Loudermilk of Farmers Makes Talk.

Fort Worth, Nov. 22.—It has never been the intention of the Fort Worth Board of Trade to allow the headquarters of the Cattle Raisers' association of Texas to go elsewhere on account of its indifference, the members of the organization declare. To prove their words by their works the Board of Trade held a meeting and dispatched a committee to call on the Fort Worth members of the executive committee of the association and assure them that the promise of the Board of Trade to pay the headquarters rental was still binding and that the money is at their disposal.

On the committee to visit the cattlemen are W. D. Reynolds, Judge R. D. Gage, Leon Gross, J. E. Mitchell, H. J. Adams and George T. Stillman. They will endeavor to show the cattlemen that Fort Worth is the logical place for the headquarters of the association, inasmuch as all of the cowmen of the state come here during the year, either to the market or to the National Feeders and Breeders' show, and that it was largely through a feeling of security in holding the headquarters of the association here that quarters of the association here that the matter of rentals was allowed to lapse. They will point out also that their former pledge was deemed sufficient assurance that the rent would be paid, and they express surprise that any of the cattlemen ever suspected that anything else might be suspected.

J. F. Shelton, vice president of the Board of Trade, who presided at the meeting in the absence of President H. T. Edgar, announced that he believed that the whole matter would be easily adjusted and that everything would hereafter work smoothly and without interruptions.

The same committee will confer with President W. T. Loudermilk of the Farmers' union in regard to the payment of the rental of that organization of that organization's headquarters in this city. Mr. Loudermilk conferred with the board in person and when he was asked, for the guidance of some of the members, just what his organization meant to Fort Worth, he said that his office employed four persons regularly; that from 50 to 150 farmers called at the headquarters every week, and that from 4000 to 5000 pieces of mail were sent out weekly from his office. Mr. Loudermilk expressed a personal preference for Fort Worth, on account of its central location—the larger part of the membership of the union being in North Texas; its unexcelled railroad opportunities, enabling him to cover the state with mail matter within twenty-four hours and making it easy for the farmers from all sections to get into Fort Worth, but that other towns were offering the rent for the headquarters to get them moved, and that if Fort Worth did not pay the rent the farmers of the state would demand an explanation as to why the headquarters were retained here and might not be able to see wherein the natural advantages of Fort Worth would offset the advantage of having the rent paid elsewhere.

C. D. Reimers, publisher of the National Co-operator and Farm Journal, the organ of the Farmers' union, spoke along this line, saying that his plant would not be here but for the fact that the headquarters of the Farmers' union are here. As an evidence of what his plant means to Fort Worth he told the Board of Trade that he had sixty-two men on his payroll and that a number of men come to Fort Worth to visit the office who would not come here otherwise. It now appears to be settled that the headquarters of both the cattle raisers and the farmers will remain in Fort Worth.

Correct Time.

Another step in progressiveness has recently been taken by Leffel, the jeweler, in installing a sander, over which the correct time is sent from the Washington Observatory.

Promptly at 11 o'clock each day the Washington Observatory sends the time over this wire. Many railroad men and others, whose business necessitates their carrying the correct time, are taking advantage of this, and they are daily visitors at the place.

ALABAMA'S MODEL CITY INTERESTS STEEL MEN

Capitalized at $500,000, Company Planning to Build City Devoid of O.M. Features.

Publishers Press. New York, Nov. 22.—United States Steel Corporation officials are much interested in the "model city" which it is stated a number of prominent men of Birmingham, Ala., have planned to build in the vicinity of Ensley and Wylam. It is to be a second Gary and a $500,000 company has been organized for this purpose. It will adjoin the property recently acquired by the Tennessee Coal, Iron & R. R. Co., at a cost of $1,250,000 as a site for extensive industrial additions to its Ensley plant.

The Tennessee company has made land purchases aggregating several million dollars. One of the Steel Corporation officials stated: "The new or second model city ought to be an improvement on our Gary town, because we could now do better had we to plan all over again. I understand a delegation of Birmingham capitalists recently visited Gary. We are anxiously awaiting the plans for the new Southern model city."

JEFF PUT UP NO FIGHT.

When Taxicab He Was in Was Stopped For Speeding, Paid His Fare.

New York, Nov. 22.—James J. Jeffries, the pugilist, was riding in a taxicab when the car was stopped at Broadway and Seventh street. The chauffeur, Alexander Clydekerr, of 145 East Forty-ninth street, told the policeman he was wrong about the speed of the car. Jeffries didn't take a hand in any hostilities. The fighter paid his fare and walked away. Jeff was loudly cheered by a large crowd that had collected.

Clydekerr was taken to the West Sixty-eighth street police station, charged with breaking the speed law and disorderly conduct. He was locked up.

ADDRESS AT DIAMOND JUBILIES BY PRESIDENT

Church Work in Africa Will Be Discussed By Great Men From All Parts of Country.

Publishers Press.

New York, Nov. 22.—President Taft has accepted an invitation to address the African Diamond Jubilee Mass Meeting to be held in this city on December 13. This gathering will bring together prominent Methodists from all parts of the United States. Several speakers from Chicago, Denver, Pittsburg, Washington, D. C., St. Louis, Mobile, Wheeling, New Orleans and many more are on the program. This African Diamond Jubilee movement is to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the inauguration of missionary work in Africa under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal church. Bishop Hartzell, who is in charge of the African work, is at the head of the movement. Carnegie hall has been secured to hold these meetings, and the sessions will continue for several days. It is learned that a number of new methods of prosecuting the missionary work in Africa will be among the features coming up for discussion. It is the desire of Bishop Hartzell to get a free expression of opinion of members of the church living in the more western and southern sections of the country upon the church work in Africa.

100 Lots at $50 Each.

The first 100 inside residence lots sold in the new town of Tankers-Lee are $50 each. This is merely a starter; values are sure to advance, and this offer only holds good for the first 100 lots. Every lot guaranteed to be a choice building site; no gullies, branches or mountains. This town is located 13 miles west of San Angelo on main line of Orient and is surrounded by thousands of acres of fertile, productive soil, which is now on the market and will be settled by thrifty, prosperous farmers, truck gardeners and stock farmers.

Remember, we also have some very choice small tracts along the Orient from one-half to two miles of Tankers-Lee at reasonable prices. These tracts are of a heavy chocolate loam soil, covered by mesquite timber, and are ideal locations for homes, gardens, orchards and truck patches. The Orient grade will be completed by January 1, and it will not be long before trains are running through this property.

 Digest What You Eat. Then You Can Eat What You Like.

You once could eat anything you wanted, and your stomach would digest it. But now there's some things which your stomach won't digest. Your stomach absolutely refuses to accommodate you when you eat certain food--so you have been forced by your stomach to eat food which you detested, and pass up those delicacies that you would have really enjoyed.

There is now a way to eat anything you like, if you will let Kodol digest it. Kodol will do this, too. It won't talk back or command, but will go right ahead with its work and digest all the food you eat. Kodol will let you eat anything you like.

Kodol will do exactly what your stomach does, when your stomach is well and strong, and more, when it is tired or out of order.

Kodol is composed of exactly the same juices as found in a healthy stomach, and therefore will do the same work as the stomach, when it is well and strong--the only difference is, Kodol never gets tired--and Kodol is the only digestant today, that will digest all food and do it as completely, as a strong, healthy stomach.

Get a bottle now and have it ready to help your stomach at times when you need an assistant. Kodol is at the nearest drug store.

Weir Mitchell, Dr. William Welch, Prof. Alexander Agassiz, Gen. Horace Porter, Prof. H. Fairfield Osborn and Dr. Ira Remsen have volunteered to serve on an advisory council with Mrs. Dimock and help in bringing about the objects of the new association.

The plan is to erect a building in Washington to be known as the George Washington Memorial Building and to be used as headquarters for every scientific, educational, patriotic, and literary organization in the country. It is pointed out that these societies at present are greatly hampered by the lack of such facilities in Washington and that the erection of such a building to cost $2,500,000 will be in a way a fulfillment of the desire of Washington to promote institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge. For this object he provided $25,000 in his will.

Souvenir certificates of part ownership in the building are to be sent to all who contribute a dollar or more to the fund of $2,500,000. Contributions will be received by Mrs. Dimock at her home, 25 East Sixth street.

SYNOD TABLES RESOLUTIONS ON CONVICT SYSTEM

the organization of a synodical body by the Westminster leagues of Texas.

In the case of J. H. Long and others of Rusk against the Presbytery of East Texas, the committee, J. H. Vinson chairman, decided in favor of the Presbytery.

Several months ago the Presbytery of East Texas refused to sustain the complaint of the Rusk church and allow the pastoral relation of that church dissolved. Rev. J. L. Stitt was then the pastor of the Rusk congregation, and several months later he was removed by the Presbytery and placed in another charge.

The members of the Rusk church objected to the action of the Presbytery and saw fit to file a complaint in the synod.

The report of the committee on the records of all the Presbyteries in the synod was accepted with one exception, that of the El Paso Presbytery. In the records of this Presbytery the committee found several major defects, and the records were remanded back for amendment.

The following resolution was adopted at the close of the meeting:

Vote of Thanks.
 "When the synod was invited to hold its sessions in the city of San Angelo, the angel of the Presbyterian church obtained our consent by such a delightful place that our expectations were raised to a very high degree. And now that we have come and enjoyed the hospitality of the entire city, we adopt the words of the Queen of Sheba and say: 'Behold the half has not been told.' We desire to make mention of the newspapers, the pastors of those churches who have opened their doors to our members, the Marys and Marthas who provided the midday meal, the choir for its music, the railroads for their courtesies, and especially the Santa Fe road for its extraordinary care in providing sleepers, and last but not least, the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Siler, D. D., to whom we are indebted for this most delightful occasion."

This was adopted by a unanimous rising vote.

The next meeting will be held in Sherman on the second Wednesday in October, 1910.

Aftermath.
 That the Synod held in San Angelo was very successful in its motives and the attenders had a very enjoyable time was what Dr. W. C. Hazen, pastor of the Vernon Presbyterian church, declared.

"We transacted some of the most important business during this Synod that has ever been before the body," he said. "The delegates and ministers who took a part in it worked and strived to one end and that was to make the Synod held in San Angelo very effective and far-reaching in its dealings."

"I believe this city has been blessed with the Synod. It, to my mind, has benefited West Texas and San Angelo in many ways. It has shown the people, in one respect, how the Presbyterian ministers and members work in harmony to develop and enhance the teachings of this church."

"Now that it is over, we are taking our departure to our respective homes with the greatest respect for the city and its citizens."

"The people of San Angelo have treated us with all the courtesy that anyone could desire. We are thankful for it. We also are very appreciative for the help the citizens of San Angelo tendered us without the slightest delay. We also feel very grateful toward the San Angelo Presbyterians and members of other denominations for their earnest efforts in helping make the Synod successful."

"Synods have been held in many different cities, but I must say that San Angelo is as good a place to conduct a Synod as any I have seen. I also realize what San Angelo means. It means to become one of the best cities in Texas. If the hard efforts of the citizens are kept up, San Angelo is sure to make a metropolitan city."

MARRIAGE RATE LARGE IN TEXAS

FEDERAL REPORT ON "MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE" SAYS SO.

DECREASING IN NORTH

Every Twelfth Marriage in America Results in Divorce, and Majority Divorced Women Re-Marry.

Publishers Press.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Marriages are increasing more rapidly in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arkansas, and the marriage rate is considerably higher in the South than in the North, according to the federal report upon "Marriage and Divorce," which has appeared in two volumes. The report says marriage is decreasing most rapidly in the Northwest.

Concerning divorces in the United States, the report says the rate is three times as big now as forty years ago, and every twelfth marriage in America results in a divorce.

Desertion is the most common cause of divorces in the United States, adultery coming next, and cruelty third. More divorces are secured in the United States than in any other country in the world. Women secure two-thirds of the divorces, and the majority of the women divorcees marry again.

of this city during the past twenty-five years have figured largely in making San Angelo what it is today.

Mr. Armstrong was a native of Ireland. When but a boy he came to America, and for the past sixty years he had been a resident of Texas. His first residence in Texas was at Houston. He moved in a few years to Caldwell county, later to Abilene and in 1855 he came to San Angelo.

During the past twenty years Mr. Armstrong had been engaged in the abstracting of land titles in San Angelo, and for several years he held the position as manager of the Spence Abstract Company. He is succeeded in the capacity by his son, Leslie Armstrong.

At the outbreak of the Civil war Mr. Armstrong enlisted in the Confederate ranks and saw valiant service throughout the struggle. As a member of a Texas regiment, he participated in several noted events of the war. In fact, his regiment was in the very midst of the fighting.

Always an ardent Christian man, Mr. Armstrong for many years was a steward in the First Methodist congregation of San Angelo.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sallie Armstrong, a daughter, Mrs. F. O. Perry, of San Angelo; Oscar Armstrong, a well known West Texas rancher; Will Armstrong, bookkeeper of the San Angelo Telephone Company; Archie Armstrong, the bookkeeper at the Western National Bank, and Leslie Armstrong, who has been associated with his father in the abstracting business.

The funeral of Mr. Armstrong occurred Monday afternoon from the residence and was conducted by Rev. Dr. Howell, of the First Methodist church. His remains were interred in Fairmount cemetery.

Resolutions.

The following resolutions were adopted Monday night by the board of stewards and the board of trustees of the First Methodist church:

As the official board of the First M. E. church, South, of San Angelo, we are called upon to mourn the loss of our efficient treasurer, Brother A. W. Armstrong, who departed this life on the 22nd day of November, 1909. We desire in this manner to express our deep appreciation of his labors among us by recalling his punctuality and the conscientiousness in his work. His faith in Christ was strong, his life was without reproach, his fidelity to the church unwavering, always with the board in its meetings, his counsel was wise, and his fellowship of an inspiring nature. We shall miss him, yet his influence liveth, for though dead, yet he speaketh. His was a life that we as individual members of the board may well emulate, and as he served the spirit of Him who is the head of the church, so shall he dwell with Him in the church above. May we, as we follow on, join him in that blessed fellowship above.

We commend his wife and children to the comforting grace of God.

MEETING OF COMMITTEE FOR TODAY

ed to order by President Morgan Weaver of the 25,000 club, who introduced Mayor Kirby to deliver the welcoming address. Mayor Kirby did this in a manner quite earnest and with much eloquence. Clifford Braly of Dalhart responded to this address on behalf of the visitors.

On motion of Judge Buie of Stamford W. T. Bartholomew was elected chairman of the conference, Homer D. Wade of Stamford was elected secretary and Lawson O. Dailey of San Angelo was elected assistant secretary.

Chairman Bartholomew explained in considerable length the purpose of the conference and he spoke with great earnestness upon the possibilities of the congress and the ends the conference should reach. After he read the program as published in The Press-News of last Sunday, it was referred to a committee consisting of L. M. Buie of Stamford, J. M. Holcomb of Merkel, Clifford Braly of Dalhart, Richard McCarty of Cisco, C. A. Broome, E. J. Farr, representing Mertzen, to which were added W. T. Bartholomew of San Angelo, W. T. Potter of Merkel, who is president of the Association of Commercial clubs of Central West Texas, for consideration and report.

Before adjournment for lunch was taken George E. Webb of San Angelo announced that rates on the convention basis had been granted by all state railroads for this meeting.

After some further desultory discussion the meeting adjourned for lunch and to permit the committee to take up its labors.

Lunch was a rather elaborate affair, tendered by the 25,000 club of Abilene to the visitors at the new Grace hotel. President Weaver of the 25,000 club presided and after the substantial end of the meal had been loathed after toasts were responded to by W. T. Bartholomew, Richard McCarty, Homer D. Wade, Clifford Braly and others.

Subjects.

The afternoon session of the conference was called at 2:40 o'clock and the report of the program committee was read. This report, in substance, was that the program as far as arranged by San Angelo should be carried out, together with such additions as were under way by the San Angelo committee. In addition to this the committee decided the congress should remain in session three days and that on the topic of uniting the west, W. T. Bartholomew should lead off on the discussion, to be followed in ten-minute addresses by W. T. Potter of Merkel, one gentleman to be selected by the 25,000 club of Abilene and two others to be named later by the chairman.

Hatton W. Summers of Dallas was selected to speak on how to encourage immigration to the west, and on the subject of how to secure needed capital to develop the west the names of H. E. Huff and J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls and W. H. Featherston of Henrietta were suggested as being the proper ones to address the congress.

On how to secure additional railroads in the west the names of D. E. Decker of Quanah and Ed S. Hughes of Abilene were suggested as being the best to enlighten the west and the congress.

On educational improvements the committee suggested that the general committee secure Dr. S. P. Brooks of Waco and Prof. R. E. Cousins, now of Austin.

Dr. Phillips of Austin will be asked to extend his address to cover all the mineral resources of the west.

Senator Claude Hudspeth was recommended as being the proper person to speak on needed legislation in the west and the best means of obtaining it.

Those Who Went.
The trip to Abilene to attend the preliminary conference of the West Texas Development congress was well worth the while. Those who made the trip were: Chairman Bartholomew, C. A. Broome, J. G. Murphy, George Hagelstein, Chas. T. Paul, George E. Webb, A. R. Burgess, C. C. Walsh, M. L. McCain, Jr., Dr. A. C. DeLong, A. A. A. Laseur, J. S. Dabney, E. J. Farr and a Press-Newsman.

The special Pullman car containing this party left here over the Orient Sunday night, and at Sweetwater this car was transferred to the tracks of the Texas and Pacific. Abilene was reached about midnight. The San Angelo delegation was of course the biggest one at the conference, and the fact that San Angelo attended in a special car was an earnest of the interest the people felt in the congress.

"I didn't know about the congress before," said Senator John Bryan of Abilene, "but when I see such men as those composing the San Angelo delegation I know the congress will be a success. Count me down as one who will be present."

Returning from Abilene, the special left there at 4:27 o'clock and arrived in San Angelo via the Orient shortly before midnight.

"I am much gratified at the success of the conference," said Chairman Bartholomew after the conference, and he but reflected the feelings of every man who attended the conference.

On the return trip the question of cost of the congress was discussed at some length, and including the banquet it was figured the cost will not be less than $1500, if the attendance reaches the figure the outlook indicates.

The Abilene delegation desires to make a report of its trip to the general committee and it has several pleasing matters to submit. This meeting of the general committee will be held Monday afternoon at 3:30 in the rooms of the First National Bank.

If They Don't Enjoy Thanksgiving "Spread," Employees Themselves Will Be to Blame.

For the purpose of allowing their employees to fully enjoy their Thanksgiving "spread," the drug stores of San Angelo have united in the agreement to close between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Thursday. Those signing the agreement are the Central, Pioneer, Modern, Concho, City, Owl and Cos-Hart. They will, however, open the tween those hours for anyone for immediate needs.

A. AND M. COLLEGE

One of the most important departments at the A. & M. College of Texas is that of the Architectural Engineering and Drawing.

The courses in free hand drawing include sketching from models, objects and still life in the drawing room and the shops, interior and perspective sketching, drawing from life and the antique studies of architectural detail and interior decoration, rendering in pencil, pen and ink, charcoal and water color.

In mechanical drawing they include Descriptive Geometry, Stereotomy, Perspective, plain lettering, working drawings, tracing, tinting and blue printing. They are all thorough in character and well adapted to the practical needs of the engineer and agriculturist.

Many graduates of the various engineering departments, instead of going into the field, shops or mill, accept position as draftsmen in their chosen line of work and meet with remarkable success and rapid promotions. The College has more demands for its graduates as draftsmen than it can supply.

The salaries of draftsmen in subordinate places range from $75 to $150 per month.

The course in Architectural Engineering is designed to prepare young men for professional work as architectural engineers, the subjects in theory and practice have been selected and arranged so as to afford the training and technical information necessary for the design of a building with due regard to proportion, economy of material and structural safety.

The course of instruction extends over a period of four years. During the Freshman and Sophomore years it is the same as that in civil engineering, comprising general courses in English history, economics, modern languages, military science, mathematics, chemistry, physics and drawing and in the Junior and Senior years, technical courses in Architectural history, architectural design, materials of construction, mechanics of materials, including laboratory practice in testing the strength of materials, stresses in roof and bridge trusses, designs of truss members, masonry structures, sanitary engineering, electric lighting and wiring, heating and ventilation, building construction and structural design.

The rapid development of the West and the marked improvement in the character of architecture in the South have created a very strong demand for men of scientific technical education for the design and construction of buildings and it is the purpose of the courses to prepare young men to fully meet this demand. Prof. F. E. Gelsecke, head of the department, is a graduate of the College and has taken advanced work in Massachusetts and Germany.

Dr. Geo. S. Fraps, State Chemist at the A. & M. College of Texas, has issued the following special bulletin on the comparative value of nitrate of soda and cotton seed meal as a fertilizer:

Cotton seed and meal contain on an average about 7 per cent nitrogen, 1.5 per cent potash and 3 per cent phosphoric acid. It would have a fertilizer valuation of $29.20. Nitrate of soda contains 15 per cent nitrogen on an average and has a fertilizer valuation of $51 per ton. The comparative value of nitrate of soda and cotton seed meal would, therefore, be in proportion of $51 to $29.

Nitrate of soda, however, contains its nitrogen in a completely available form, so that it can be taken up as soon as it comes in contact with the roots of the plants. It is on the other hand, very soluble in water and may be washed completely from the soil by heavy rains falling soon after it is applied. For this reason nitrate of soda is best applied in small doses at it is needed. Applied in this way it gives very good results upon crops which mature early in the spring. Judicious applications of nitrate of soda will not only increase the crop of lettuce, tomatoes, cabbage and similar crops, but will hasten maturity and thereby aid in securing better prices. Nitrate of soda is not so well adapted to farm crops such as corn and cotton and fruit trees for the reason that it is so expensive. Cotton seed meal contains its nitrogen in such a form that it is not washed from the soil and cannot be taken up by the plant until it has decayed and been converted into ammonia and nitrate. This process takes place, however, regularly so that the cotton seed meal would act as a continuous source of supply of nitrogen. It is better suited for crops such as corn and cotton, etc., than nitrate of soda. Even for vegetables a mixture of cotton seed meal and nitrate of soda may give better results than nitrate of soda alone. The fertilizer ingredients of cotton seed meal are not easily lost from the soil by washing.

Thomas slay appears to give good results upon some kind of soil, particularly soils rich in vegetable matter, and those which are acid. It is not offered for sale in this state.

W. C. Welborn, agriculturist of the A. & M. College of Texas, makes the following comparison of certain by-products of cotton seed:

The comparative values of cotton seed meal and of the cake made from the cold pressing process for cotton seed; that is, a cake containing the hulls and meal together, are: A ton of cotton seed, when worked in the usual way, turns out about 800 pounds of meal and 800 pounds of hulls. Therefore, this cold processed cake should have a value about equal to a mixture of meal and hulls in equal parts. If the meal is worth $34 a ton and the hulls worth $8 a ton, a mixture in equal proportions should be worth $21 a ton. I have just consulted some direct analysis of this cake, and find that it averages just slightly better than a mixture of equal parts of meal and hulls, so it should be worth $22 as against $34 for meal and $8 for hulls.

The following will be the graduates in Agriculture in June, 1910, at the A. & M. College of Texas:

NICK CARTER DRAMA PLEASING TO PARIS

Young Hero Triumphs Over Villain in Last Act—Blood Thriller is a Great Hit.

Publishers Press.

New York, Nov. 22.—"Bang, bang, bang!"

"Who are you?"

"Me? Why, I am Nick Carter the boy detective. Ahhhhhh!"

"Our old five-cent friend," Mr. Nicholas Carter, whose galosh work has made him a favorite with the reading masses of the A. T. D., is making a large and mighty hit with the Parisian theater public. He has been dramatized and the poor efforts of Arsene Lupin are made to look like a plugged Lincoln penny alongside of the gilded work of this popular hero.

"Nick Carter" is a five act play by Mr. Alexander Brinson and Guillaume Livot, and it was produced at the Ambigu in Paris as a sort of taster. It made an instantaneous hit and has been running since. The play tells the story of Nick and a notorious criminal named Melele. In some most strange, remarkable and unaccountable manner the criminal puts one over Nick early in the game and it takes four acts for Nick to get even but it finally happens and Melele bites the dust and Nick marries the woman he loves. There is less gun play than in a production of Buffalo Bill's Wild West show and almost as much action. The Parisian press as a whole congratulates America upon the production of such a stupendous dramatic success.

THE BANDITTI OF THE PRAIRIES

BY EDWARD BONNEY

Long, and Birch, after the commission of their contemplated robbery, but as I lay in the deep silence of night, it seemed as if they passed before my mental eye the bloody scenes enacted at the late residence of Miller and Lacey, and in the halls of the lamented Davenport. I felt that in the quiet farm house of the worthy old Jerseyman, similar scenes were about to take place, and it was my duty to endeavor at least to prevent the villains from succeeding in their attempt.

After spending a long and sleepless night and discussing various projects, weighing each in all the bearings I could think of, I at length decided upon one likely to prove successful in preventing this new robbery, and saving the unsuspecting family of the farmer from their danger, and at the same time enable me to capture the wretches.

In the morning I held another interview with Royce, and commenced at once upon my plan.

"Royce, I have long had a plot in contemplation, which, if carried into execution, will make four or five men rich, and the difficulty of getting men to assist me, in whom I can place implicit confidence, has as yet deterred me from executing my project; and I now seldom mention the subject to any one. Fox, however, has assured me that you are a man who may be fully trusted, and I will give you the outlines of the plot, which is, to rob the vaults of a bank containing about eighty thousand dollars."

"If that can be done, it is just the speculation I would like to engage in."

"It can be done with perfect safety. This thing of making small raises about the country is poor business. They are attended with too much risk for the profit they yield. A man who hazards his life and liberty ought to do it for an adequate result. Besides there is no more danger of detection in raising eighty thousand dollars than one thousand. To carry out the plan I speak of successfully, will require four or five resolute, skillful and energetic men. Fox will go with me whenever I say the word, and I want no better man. He is the only one as yet whom I have selected to accompany me in the expedition. From his recommendation, although I am unacquainted with you, I would be willing that you should be one of the number. Then we ought to have one or two more to operate effectually. But at present, I am engaged in this matter at Cincinnati, and must attend to it in preference to any speculation."

"Why not get Long and Birch to make out the number? Then we could go into this bank speculation as soon as you can get your counterfeit paper disposed of."

"I am not sufficiently acquainted with Long and Birch, to trust them in an enterprise of so much importance. I must have men who will stand by me in any emergency, and follow my instructions to the letter."

"We can't find better men for such an operation than Long and Birch. I have known them for a long time, and have been with them in a good many tight places. I never knew them to flinch. If practice is worth anything, they ought to be perfect, for they have been in such business for several years, and have always been successful. As far as my opinion is worth anything, I would as soon trust them as Fox. They are men as good and true as he, and understand the business as well."

"Upon your recommendation, and what I have heard Fox say of them, I think I might safely include them in the number. They must, however, first pledge themselves to follow my counsel in every respect. I have been at much expense and trouble to learn the situation of the vault, and all things connected with the internal situation of the banking house. Do you think they would be willing to engage in the adventure on such terms?"

"Nothing would suit them better. Where is the bank, and how is it situated?"

"It is the South Bend Bank, in the State of Indiana. Were you ever there?"

"No; I have heard of it though. How can we enter the vault, and secure the money?"

"By undermining the walls, and going in through the floor. We can then seize the boxes containing the specie and bank notes, and make off with them."

"How soon will you be in readiness to make this bank raise?"

"If I wait to get through with my present speculation, it will be at least four weeks, but since we have been talking, I have thought of a different plan. You, Long and Birch, and myself are now here together. Fox is within two hundred miles of us. Perhaps I had better return to Cincinnati, get the men at work, filling up and signing these bills, and then return by way of Indiana, where I will pick up Fox; while you and the boys, in the mean time, can make this raise of the old Jersey farmer; then we will all meet at some place, upon which we can mutually agree, and go and rob the bank, while my men are filling the blank bills. How will that suit you?"

"Exactly. We will meet at any place you will designate."

"As this robbery of the old farmer will naturally create great excitement in this vicinity, we must meet at some remote point. However, as this raise of yours is of little consequence compared with my sight on the South Bend Bank, I would suggest the policy of abandoning it, until we have disposed of my operation. You can then come back and make this raise, while I proceed to Cincinnati after my paper, which by that time will be completed."

I can then supply you and the boys with any amount you want, and then we can each go our own way."

Your idea is certainly a good one, I think the boys will agree with us, and abandon the sight they are on for yours. Where shall we meet?"

"When you see the boys, first find out if they are willing to leave their present sight for mine. If they will not, our place for meeting must be far from here. I think Adrian, Michigan, will be a good point, as it is directly on our road to South Bend."

"How long will it detain you to do your business in Cincinnati, go after Fox and get around to Adrian?"

"To-day is Wednesday. I can reach Cincinnati to-morrow, remain there two days, which will occupy the remainder of this week. I will then go from Cincinnati, get Fox and meet you at Adrian next week on Saturday. Will you be there with Long and Birch on that day? If so, I will be punctual to the time."

"We will be there without fail. I will go and meet Long and Birch, on Saturday night; tell them the whole arrangement and advise them to abandon their sight for yours, and we will have sufficient time to arrive at Adrian at the time you propose."

"Then let that be the understanding, and I shall not expect to see you again until we meet at Adrian. I shall not return this way, as it will be much nearer for Fox and myself to go from his father's, in Wayne county, direct to Adrian. You and the boys must do as you think proper about raking down the old Jersey farmer, before you start for South Bend, but you have my opinion, that it would be advisable to defer it. Tell the boys Tom Brown is on hand."

Then taking a social glass of wine with him and Van Sickle, and promising to call as often as in my power, and to furnish Van Sickle with a good supply of the "ready," and wishing each other success, with a hearty shaking of hands I took leave of Berkshire for Columbus, at which place I arrived about the middle of the day.

Believing the plot I had arranged sufficient to place Long and Birch in a situation where I could capture them, the only fears I entertained were, that they might yet decide to rob, and perhaps murder the old Jersey farmer, before leaving that vicinity. I therefore proposed to intercept and arrest them in time to save the family, in case they should make such an attempt, and if not, to seize them on their way to Adrian, before they should cross the State line into Michigan.

After filling the blanks in the requisitions of the Governor of Illinois I proceeded to the office of the Secretary of State, to obtain writs from the Governor of Ohio, for the arrest of Long and Birch. The Governor and Secretary of State being absent, I applied to Mr. Woods, State Auditor, who was authorized by the Governor to transact such business in his absence from the seat of government.

After much difficulty and no little persuasion, I obtained from Mr. Woods the writs necessary for the arrest, not however until I had convinced that honorable gentleman that, if the individuals for whom I held requisitions, were suffered to remain in the neighboring county a few days longer, the inhabitants would be glad to get rid of them on any terms, even if they applied the Lynch law.

TALKS TO ENGINEERS

American Society to Hear Papers Devoted to East River and Other Subways.

Publishers Press.

New York, Nov. 22.—J. H. Bruce and Francis Mason have been secured to describe the tunnel built by the Pennsylvania railroad company for the operation of its trains electrically under New York City at a meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers, which meets in this city on Wednesday, December 1. On December 15 the society will hear papers devoted to the East River tunnel. Elaborate preparations have been made for these meetings and one of the officers of the society told me today a large party of engineers from the Middle West and South were coming to attend these meetings. "We believe these addresses to be of such far reaching importance," said he, "that they are worth going thousands of miles to hear, and since in a day or two these subjects, which involved years to study, are thoroughly explained, you can readily see the vast importance they are to engineers. I believe they will be as important as any ever delivered before the society."

SUNFLOWER LINE OPERATES TRAIN

FIRST PASSENGER OVER NEW ROAD RUN MONDAY.

TRACK IN GOOD SHAPE

At Present Trains Stop at River, But Track Into Miles Will Soon Be Completed.

Loud shrieks of a whistle and the rumbling of wheels propelled by steam between Paint Rock and Miles Monday told the people along the way that the first passenger train over the so-called Sunflower route, recently purchased by the Santa Fe, was plunging across that line.

This train consisted of one Santa Fe coach and an engine belonging to the Miles, Paint Rock & Llano Valley road. It left Paint Rock, rather the Concho river, about a mile north of the town, at 11:45 o'clock Monday morning and made perfect connection with the incoming Santa Fe train at Miles. About fifteen passengers rode on the train from Paint Rock to Miles, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Sims and A. H. Benge.

As the train does not run into Paint Rock, transportation to the river is made in hacks. The track will be laid into Paint Rock by December 20.

Two trains daily run between the two towns. Each makes connection with the Santa Fe train. The one going back does not leave till after the east bound Santa Fe arrives in Miles.

"The coaches now being used by the Sunflower road belong to the Santa Fe," stated D. E. Sims. "It is, I understand, the intention of the road to use its own coaches as soon as it can get them. While only one coach is being used now, there will be a baggage coach added in a few days. The road is in a fine condition.

Trains make fairly good time, better than one would expect of a road for its first trip. The train runs smoothly. Very smooth, I might say, for a new line.

"Sunday Paint Rock was shut off from the rest of the world by a space of about twenty miles, over which nothing but wagons, automobiles, etc., traveled, but now that town is in connection with the outer world by a railroad.

"The building of Paint Rock is wonderful. About six fine rock buildings lately constructed are now ready for use. That is not half the story. About the only way to tell what Paint Rock is doing is to say it is on a boom."

A. H. Benge, who was also a passenger on that train, said that the little city, Paint Rock, was a hummer.

"The sound of the hammer and the buzz of the saw is heard on all sides," he said. "In fact, the hum of of industry now resounds along the high-ways around Paint Rock in harmony and perfect concord."

Steps will be taken immediately to inaugurate a mail service over this road.

ADMIRAL SEBREE TO RETIRE.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Rear Admiral Uriel Sebree, U. S. N., commanding the Pacific fleet, will be relieved of that duty soon and ordered home. He will be placed on the retired list on February 29 next. He has commanded the Pacific fleet since October 8, 1907.

Rear Admiral Giles B. Harber, who will be relieved of command of the third squadron of the Pacific fleet by Rear Admiral John Hubbard, will be promoted to the command of the Pacific fleet, succeeding Admiral Sebree. Admiral Harber will not retire until 1911.

Admiral Sebree was graduated from the naval academy in 1867. In 1873 he was a member of the arctic relief expedition on the steamer Tigress, commanded by Commander Greer. He was also a member of the Greely relief expedition under Commander Schley in 1884. From 1903 to 1904 he commanded the battleship Wisconsin. His next duty was as naval secretary of the lighthouse board, which he relinquished in 1907 to become commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

GRUBBS TELLS OF HIS SCHOOL

SAN ANGELO FAVORED FOR A BRANCH OF HIS INSTITUTION.

HOW IT HAS GROWN

Industrial College Now Located at Campbell Has Experienced Most Remarkable Growth.

Campbell, Nov. 22.—Editor Press-News—The head lines of your article on the industrial school project were misleading in that it was inferred that it was my purpose to move the institution known as the Grubbs Self Help & Industrial College from Campbell where it has been in operation about two years. Realizing the great and growing demand for the training of the youth of Texas along practical industrial lines, I conceived the idea of establishing other institutions of like character located in those portions of the state where the conditions seemed to be most favorable and the demand more pressing. The fact that one of the new experiment stations was located at your place, it occurred to me that the proposed school could be a most valuable supplement to the work of the station, as they would cooperate with each other in the advancement of agricultural science.

In addition thereto such other industries as are adapted to local conditions and interests giving employment to deserving students who desire to work their way in whole or in part. We began our first session at Campbell about two years ago with an enrollment of eleven. The second year the enrollment reached sixty. It is now over 250 in all of its departments and rapidly increasing as the people are made to understand its purposes. Our manual training department is now turning out a $125 suit of mission furniture and other orders are waiting their turn. The domestic science department is also turning out useful articles of commerce, while the work serves as a splendid preparation of those engaged in its performance, for the important duties and responsibilities of life in its various useful industrial phases. The trouble with our educational system has been that it leads the aspirations of the youth away from the farm and the work shop, inspiring in their minds false notions of life, often rendering them unfit for anything except possibly to fill positions which are a badly crowded that the chances for success are most discouragingly small.

Probably twenty-five progressive towns and cities are interesting themselves in the proposition and we hope to have some of the schools ready for work by September 1, 1910.

V. W. GRUBBS.

TO END NIGHT RIDING.

Governor Offers Advance Pardons to Men Who Kill Marauders.

Lexington, Nov. 22.—Governor Augustus E. Wilson is determined to break up the night rider troubles in Kentucky. He has notified all farmers fearing attack to call on him for military aid until the farmers themselves can make preparations to resist the attack. He has pleaded with the farmers to kill any person who attempts to injure their property, offering as a reward a pardon for the homicide.

The farmers who have refused to obey the commands of the night riders and pool their tobacco are taking advantage of the offer of the governor and have made preparations to resist any attack.

Soldiers guarding the dome of Benjamin Longnecker in Mason county have returned to Lexington. They report the Longnecker home a regular arsenal, with three men on guard day and night. Similar precautions have been taken by others in various parts of the state. The Longnecker home was fired upon a week ago and riddled with bullets.
