MAGON IS UNDER ARREST AGAIN

Leader of Socialists in Mexico Is Arrested in California

Los Angeles, Cal., June 15.— Rafael Flores Magon, head of the so-called Liberals or Mexican Socialist revolutionary junta in this city, was arrested on a federal warrant charging him with having violated the neutrality laws of the United States.
At the same time United States Marshal Geo Youngworth took into custody Auselmo Figueroa and Librado Riviera, associates of Magon, against whom similar indictments were returned.

Figueroa is editor of the revolutionary paper Regeneracion.
With Magon he is accused of having engaged men to enlist in the rebel army which has been operating in Lower California.

Prior to the outbreak of the Madero revolt in Mexico, Magon served a term in the United States prison in Arizona for having broken the neutrality laws.
He and three others, Mexican revolutionists, including Riviera and Antonio Villareal, now a colonel in the Maderista army at El Paso, were arrested in this city and at the instigation of the Diaz government were convicted, but they were not turned over to the Mexican authorities as desired.

They did time in the Arizona penitentiary at Florence.

According to officials of the United States district attorney's office bail of $5000 will be demanded in each case. More arrests are expected on indictments already found by the federal grand jury, before the Magons and their alleged associates appear in court. Three of these, according to the federal authorities, may occur today.

Oats, And Then Some

William Dunn of Hermosa, brought to The Times office today a sample of oats that grew on his place. Some of the heads measured from 14 to 16 inches long and the sample standing straight measured 52 inches tall, and seventeen stalks sprouting out from one grain are headed out and well filled. These oats were of the Norway variety.

Mr. Dunn states that he irrigated them from his well. Then some people who claim to know everything say that this water is not good to irrigate with. If you have anything to show bring it along.

ONE MORE CHANGE Third and Last Call

In order not conflict with the protracted meeting at to have the contest until 10 o'clock sharp Saturday night. It will take place immediately after preaching is over. Let every one bear this in mind and make this a grand success

ANALYSIS OF THE PECOS WATER

Can Be Softened For Nine Cents per Thousand Gallons

American Water Softener Company of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, also Pittsburgh Filter Company have sent in reports of water sent them for analysis and methods of treatment. The water sent to the Texas & Pacific Railway was forwarded by that company to Chicago for expert analysis. Reports on three samples sent them are expected daily.

It now appears that while the Pecos City water can be softened largely at a cost of 9 to 11 cents per 1000 gallons, still it will be better to pipe pure soft water into the city, however it is practicable to soften the water here for industrial purposes.
Sentiment, however, in this city seems to be for a good supply of soft water piped to the city.

Anyhow, Pecos will soon have the water, one way or another.

The above was handed to us by Porter A. Whaley, Secretary of the Pecos Commercial Club.

Elect Officers For The En- suing Year

The Pecos Mercantile Company met Monday, June the 12th, 1911, and elected officers for the next year. While we haven't a full report of their last year's business, we understand that it was very satisfactory to the stockholders and they are planning for a larger and a greater business in the future.

Below you will find a list of the officers elected for the next year:

Officers: F. W. Johnson, president, W. D. Cowan, vice president, T. Y. Casey, treasurer and general manager, J. J. Hefner, secretary.

The 42 Club Entertained.

Thursday afternoon the 42
Club met at the home of Mrs.
C. J. Charske and was delightfully entertained by Meedames C. J.
Charske and W. H. Browning.
There were enough members with a few invited guests present to fill four tables. The games were very interesting. Punch was served during the games. At their close ice cream and cake were served. The guests expressed themselves as having had a most delightful time.

Oh! how dreadful, how painful and how annoying it is for a newspaper man to know some thing and then not be able to tell it, even when everybody wants to know it. She says: "Whatever you do, don't tell it," and we promised, but deep down in our heart we were sorry.

Attorney General Urged to Action

Washington, D. C., June 15.—Criminal prosecution of the officers of the Standard Oil Company and the American Tobacco Company was demanded today by Senator Pomerene, who addressed the Senate on his resolution calling on the attorney general to take such legal action.

The Ohio senator declared that the Sherman anti-trust law was specific in its authority to press such a suit against conspirators who restrain trade. He contended that the lawyers' doubts of the meaning of the statute were "in proportion to the size of the fees they receive from their clients," and that the interpretation of the law by the Supreme Court of the United States was clear.

"Now, with the plain findings of fact and conclusions by the court that this statute has been violated," he said, "what reasons can be given by any sworn court official for not continuing his fight against them in order to bring them to the bar of justice? What excuse can any lawmaker or any executive official give to the people of this country for a failure to enforce this law, when they are every day exerting themselves to punish infractions of the law against other transgressors with less money and less influence at their command. A decent sense of self-respect requires the government either to enforce this law or repeal it."

New, But Old Driller

W. M. Hopper, one of the oldest Reeves county drillers, has recently moved down from Toyah and located in Pecos. He has been drilling in Reeves county for the past eighteen years. He is now putting down a six-inch well for Steve Ward on his recently purchased plot on the south edge of Pecos.

The Times joins the Pecos people in heartily welcoming Mr. Hopper among us.

OROZCO MAY BE SHELVED BY MADERO

His Ragged Army Near Chihuahua Continues to Increase Its Impatience.

Chihuahua, Mexico, June 15.—It became known today that influence had been brought to bear at Mexico City to keep Orozco's army out of Chihuahua.

Orozco, who, among a large following of the insurgents, is more popular even than was Madero, is still encamped with his ragged army 30 miles north of here. Meantime all military authority in this zone has been invested in Gen. Villar, the old federal commander and nothing has come from Mexico City to dispel the general belief that Orozco is to be shelved or at least kept in an obscure position.

Orozco confidently expects to enter the city at the head of his troops. Many people here hope he will not, as the presence of 3000 or more armed men would present a problem.

Governor Gonzalez has received no definite word as to whether the federal troops are to evacuate.

At present it is impossible for the federals to move on account of railroad washouts.

A Kitchen Shower

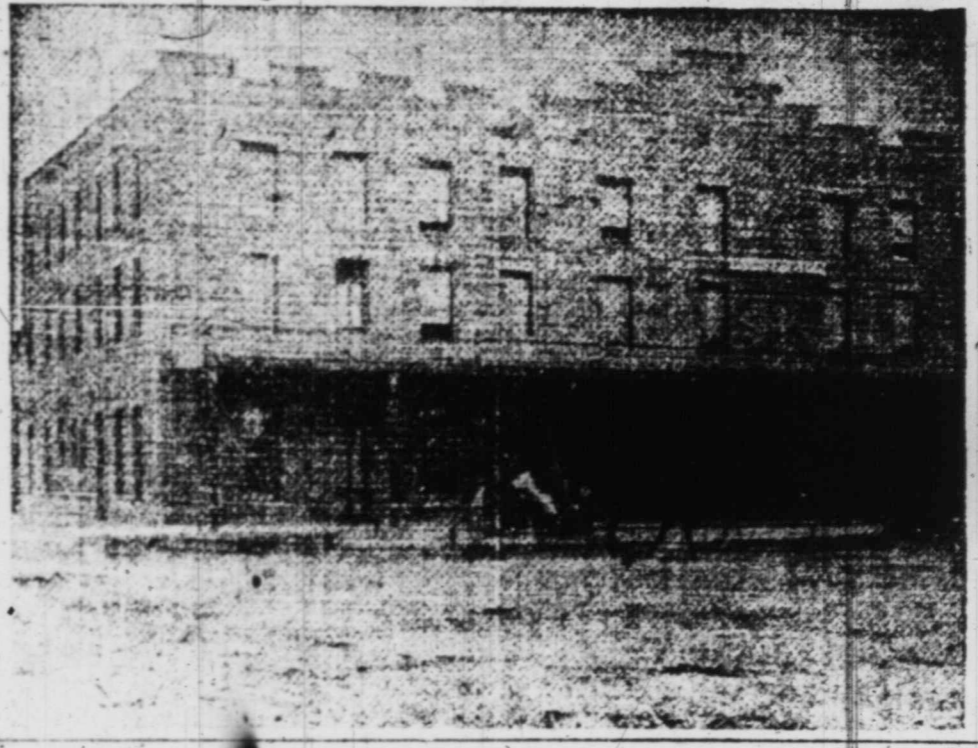

A blue and white kitchen shower was given last Saturday afternoon by Mrs. J. C. Weid, in honor of Mrs. F. C. Carey, nee Miss Pearl Cooksey of this city.

The guests were invited to meet at Mrs. T. J. Sisk's residence where Mr. Weid was waiting with his team and hay rack to convey the party to his suburban home at which place they were hospitably received by Mrs. Weid.

Delicious fruit punch was served in the dining room throughout the afternoon. The guests were soon notified that there were to be no idle hands present and each guest was given white cheese cloth with blue embroidered tery thread and told to make some article that would be of service in a kitchen. Various articles were made such as sash curtains, bags, aprons, etc. A prize was offered the one with the neatest piece of work, but the judges found it so difficult to make a decision that they were forced to select the three best and draw for the prize. Mrs. Casey proved to be the successful one.

A luncheon was served consisting of minced chicken, patties, tomato salad, cross sandwiches and ice cream a la mode.

The drive home in the early twilight was great pleasure. Those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Weid are indebted to them for a very pleasant afternoon.

Why Alfalfa Should Be Milled

There are good reasons why it pays to mill alfalfa. One is that it puts the alfalfa in such condition that it can be and is more thoroughly reduced by mastication, which means more thorough digestion, and as a consequence, more complete assimilation of the nutriment it contains, and a corresponding decrease in waste.

An animal will chew a mouthful of hay just about so long, whether tender or tough, just as the average man will chew a mouthful of tough steak only about as long as he would a mouthful of tender steak—in either case just long enough to coat it with saliva so that it can be swallowed.

To be properly prepared for digestion, food should be reduced in the mouth so finely that the saliva can and does, come in contact with every particle of it. Half the process of digestion takes place in the mouth.

If an animal's food is so prepared that it can be thoroughly broken down in the process of mastication, requiring only the average effort, more of the nutriment will be extracted from it, and less food will be required to produce a given gain.

Experimental feeding tests have shown that properly milled alfalfa will produce from twenty to twenty-five per cent more gain for the amount actually consumed than alfalfa hay.

Alfalfa must be fed in combination with a carbonaceous food to balance it. Corn, barley, speltz, beet pulp, beet molasses and sugar beets "balance" it. When using two or more feeds to make up a balance ration, best results are obtained if they are mixed before they are fed. Alfalfa must be milled to be in condition to be mixed.

If grain is ground and fed to a steer alone, it is not sufficiently masticated and much of it passes through undigested and wasted.

Corn is usually fed to cattle whole so as to compel them to chew the cud, but even then a large proportion passes through undigested and the hogs do not get it all either. When hogs do not follow to recover the waste, as is generally the case in this state, the loss from that form of waste is a big percentage of the food consumed.

When the grain is to be mixed with properly milled alfalfa, it insures complete digestion, the assimilation of the greatest amount of nutriment with least waste, and the greatest gain in fat, flesh, milk, eggs or wool.

It requires five to twenty-five per cent of the energy derivable from the common feeds to replace the animal energy used up in their mastication, digestion and passage through the system. If the food is so prepared that it requires but half the animal energy to carry it through those processes, the saving all goes to gain—and even more—as the tax on the animal's system in caring for and disposing of a mass of coarse and irritating matter is eliminated.

On milled alfalfa, a ruminant will satisfy his appetite in one-fourth the time required if eating alfalfa hay and will have that much more time to leisurely chew the cud and digest his food. And again, self feeders can be used in which to feed the mixed rations—the most economical of feeding. With self feeders, an animal gets what he wants, when he wants it. Several days' feed can be stored in them if built right, so, if care be taken to keep them filled, when a stormy day comes the stock are not so apt to suffer from short rations.

Another very good reason for milling alfalfa is that the animals GET IT ALL. On an average at least one-third of the alfalfa fed out in the form of hay is wasted—not eaten—and the waste of leaves is fully as large in proportion as the waste of stems. That waste is all saved when the alfalfa is properly milled.

The saving of the more than one-third waste when fed whole and the increase of twenty-five per cent in digestibility due to milling—without taking into account the saving of animal energy, and the saving of time feeding—means that one ton of properly milled alfalfa as a feeding value more than equal to two tons of alfalfa hay, and the cost of milling it need not exceed $4.00 a ton.

It is a simple business proposition to so handle feed for stocks as to secure the greatest gain for the money invested. In feeding alfalfa much the greatest gains are made by milling it.
