W. J. Hiles, charged with the murder of Tom Tucker in 1912, and convicted in Pecos on May 1913. Convicted and given 10 years in the penitentiary. The case was appealed and reversed on January 4th, 1914, when a second trial resulted in a hung jury after being out 70 hours. On May 6th, 1914, a change of venue to Ward County was secured, but on first trial the case was continued, on account of the absence of important witnesses, and when called at the second term, 1915, the jury again failed to agree on a verdict. Venue was changed to Culberson County, and at the present term of the District Court at that place the case was again tried and a sentence of 10 years was assessed against him. Hiles' lawyers have already filed an appeal.

HERE TO ORGANIZE BAND

Mrs. Ada Cochran, accompanied by her sister, Miss Era Butler were over from Fort Stockton Wednesday conferring with a number of our bandmen and other citizens in regard to organizing a new band for Pecos.

She is located at Fort Stockton, leading that band and has many fine recommendations from there and other places where she has taught. She is proficient on several instruments and gives instructions on the same.

They will be here again, possibly a week from Saturday, to further arrangements. It is intended to use all the old players who will be the young ladies-etaoin shrdlu shrd join and others will be taken in. It is also expected that a number of the young ladies will also join. Talk for it and work it up.

Watch for further announcements in regard to it.

R. R. Smothers, the Pecos Mercantile Company's head bookkeeper left Thursday on a trip to Marfa, where he goes to check up their wholesale business there during the past six months. He went to Van Horn where he was met by Wes Roberts in an auto. He will be gone several days.

WIRELESS TELEPHONY AN ACCOMPLISHED FACT

Speech Transmitted From Washington to Honolulu, 4,600 Miles Without Wires.

Special to The Times:

New York, Sept. 30.—Wireless telephony from the Atlantic Seaboard to Hawaii, a distance of 4600 miles is an accomplished fact. By the special wireless telephone developments which have been made by the engineers of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and of the Western Electric Company, speech was transmitted last night from Washington to a wireless station near Honolulu. If anything further was need to show the wonderful capacity of these new discoveries by the engineers of the Bell system, this last triumph coming but a few hours after Mr. Vail, the president of the Company, had talked by wireless from Washington to Mr. Carty, its chief engineer located at Mare Island, near San Francisco, is conclusive. The distance over which this wireless communication was held is greater than the distance from New York to London, New York to Paris or New York to many other important points such as Rome, Vienna and Berlin.

The trans-Atlantic wireless telephone communication is assured as soon as the disturbed condition in Europe will permit of tests from this country to there is obvious when it is remembered that all the scientists agree on the fact that it is much more difficult to send the wireless telephone messages across land than across the water. This wonderful wireless telephone message from Washington to Hawaii had to pass over the whole of the United States, a distance of 2,500 miles before it encountered the more simple wireless conditions that exist when sending over large bodies of water. For the purpose of this test the sending was done from the Navy Wireless Station at Arlington just outside Washington. The receiving was done on small wireless antennae, especially erected by the engineers of the Telephone Company, by permission of the Naval authorities, was located at the United States Naval Station at Pearl Harbor.

The message at Honolulu was received by Lloyds Espenschied, an engineer of the American Telephone Company who had been sent there by Mr. J. J. Carty, the Chief Engineer, to take charge of the observation, the successful results of which we are now able to report.

It was learned from Mr. Bancroft Gherardi, the engineer of the plant of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, who is one of Mr. Carty's staff who have been working on this problem, that the results obtained yesterday in talking by wireless telephone from New York and Washington to San Francisco and Hawaii were a culmination of long and very important investigation and discoveries which have been made by the engineers of the Bell system. These investigations have extended over a nearly Spring of this year, as a result of the work already done, the engineers of the Telephone Company talked over a distance of 250 miles, using for the purpose an experimental tower which they had erected near Montauk Point, L. I., and a small tower house for the

NEW MEXICO CONFERENCE CONVENES AT MARFA.

The New Mexico Conference convened at Marfa Wednesday, with Bishop Lambuth presiding.

J. B. Cochran, one of the presiding elders, and the following preachers and laymen passed through Pecos Wednesday on their way to attend: Revs. W. B. Pistole of Artesia, N. M., J. F. McAnally, Elida, N. M., L. L. Thurston, Rogers Circuit, W. W. Turner, Hope, N. M., A. C. Bell, Portales, N. M., J. I. Keller, Lake Arthur, N. M., J. T. Redmon, Claude Station and B. P. Williams, Artesia, N. M.

At the present conference all the preachers were cheerful and seemed to feel that the Spirit of the Lord was going along with them.

BOOKS RECEIVED AT THE PECOS LIBRARY.

Now is the time of year when special stress is laid on entertaining one's self with literature. Summer is a time that when this art is neglected. Now that winter is at hand, the question of how to pass the long shut-in evenings confronts us. It confronts Pecos people the same as other folks, but don't worry them in the least. A well stocked, and well kept library, under the able supervision of Mrs. Looby is at the disposal of all who desire it. And it is well patronized, too. In addition to the many volumes already in the shelves, the librarian reports the recent addition of the following: "Backgrounds of Literature," by H. W. Mabie. A book to bring us in close touch with eight famous authors by telling us of their homes and the scenes amid which they lived, at the same time, giving a discriminating estimate of their literary qualities.

"Texas Under Six Flags," by M. E. M. Davis. This history of Texas is a record of bold conceptions, and bolder deeds. It is the chronicle of the birth of a people, the story of the rise and progress of a great State.

"Are Women People?" by Alice Duer Miller. A collection of Suffrage rhymes.

"Steve of the Bar-G Ranch, by Marion Reid Girardot.

"Two Prisoners," by Thos. Nelson Page.

BUSINESS IS HIS OBJECT

W. M. Huggins of Corsicana, arrived in Pecos Wednesday evening, and that he was met by many of his friends was clearly indicated by the handshaking that was carried on for some time.

Mr. Huggins is a member of the Pecos Oil & Refining Company, and he has come to look into the progress of the Company's interests.

He is well pleased with the outlook for the company. He states to a Times reporter that it is about a year since he was in Pecos, but that he could hardly realize the progress that has been made here since his last visit.

He stated that in and around Corsicana, last year, they could hardly rent their land at any price, that now they are running after them, stating they want to rent; that the people own their own teams and are out of debt, and can furnish everything necessary to work the lands themselves. He says that there is not enough land to supply the demand of renters this year, and that this condition is also true in regard to Southern and Eastern Texas. Cotton was a short crop, this year, he said, but the price is good and will more than make up for the shortage. This condition prevailing all through the Southern states is clear proof that prosperity is here in a measure never before equaled.

T. B. Pruett who recently made a trip to East Texas and up into Oklahoma said that it was a hard matter for the business men there to stop and talk to you.

A CARD OF THANKS.

We take this method to extend our deepest heartfelt thanks to all our friends in Pecos and many other places for their offices of kindly helpfulness and sympathy during the long and painful illness and death of our dear one. Your kindness and sympathizing words and tears assist us to bear our heavy load of grief. May the blessed Lord reward you all.

Lovingly and tenderly yours,
MRS. ANNIE HEFNER,
and Children.

AN APPRECIATION OF T. J. HEFNER

The subject of these lines was born in Fayette County, Texas, in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, and passed to heavenly rest Sunday, October the third, from his home in Pecos, Texas.

Judge Hefner was a high-class citizen, possessed of those qualities of mind and heart that constitute the true chivalrous, loyal Southern gentleman and patriot, one that all the world is glad to call "A true man."

Our friend after enjoying the common school advantages, entered Trinity University in Central Texas, then a thriving institution of higher education, and later took up the study of law, which became his life profession.

In the prime of his young manhood he married Miss Annie Morgan, who was also educated at Trinity University. This union proved to be a most beautiful and worthy illustration of the holy relation. Their lives truly became "One in the Lord." In joy and in sorrow; in gain or loss; in sickness or in health, and in life and death. After years of pleasant acquaintance the writer wishes to state that in his judgment their lives were as beautifully one as is possible in this world. All through the long and painful years of Judge Hefner's severe affliction this mutual devotion grew but the brighter, deeper, and sweeter.

In his family life our brother was a model. His evenings and mornings were spent in the midst of his family where he moved like a king; his wife delighting to honor him, his children loving and obeying him.

Among his fellowmen and in society he bore himself with manly dignity and obliging kindness.

His life was surrendered to Jesus during his active business career, and he was an honored and useful member of the Pecos Baptist Church, in which church he labored as a teacher of the Bible class. His work in that class remains a fruitful memory among the per-

GROWING POWER OF SUBMARINES

Apparently the submarine is yet to play an important part in the great European war. Its feats in the past, though destructive, have not been features of a well organized campaign. But now the Germans, who have made the most use of the undersea boats and who have developed them wonderfully now threaten to send a fleet of these vessels to patrol the sea lanes leading from Canada to Great Britain, in order to cut off commerce and to prevent transports of troops to reach the mother country. The plan is to establish bases of supply on some islands near the Gulf of St. Lawrence which are undefended and which a single submarine could dominate. These being British or French possessions their occupation by belligerents would be entirely justified and doubtless supplies could be delivered there from neutral sources. The vessels then could lie in wait for ships plying to and from Canadian ports and seek to destroy them. Naval officers declare that the scheme is perfectly feasible, and if carried out would be a severe blow to the countries concerned. It might also be extended so as to menace France and Italy. The Germans have already built submarines of a size and strength undreamed of before the war. It is asserted that their latest models have voyaging capacity of 5,000 or more miles from a base of supply, and that one of them actually sailed from Germany to the Dardanelles, where it torpedoed an enemy warship. The craft which attacked and sank the Armenian is said to have been 250 or 300 feet long and it was equipped with guns as well as torpedo tubes. It rose to the surface man by shelling and did not need to torpedo her, although it finally did so. The Armenian was destroyed in accordance with the accepted rules of warfare. There are hints of the construction of still larger submarines, carrying even a heavier array of cannon and approximating small cruisers in dimensions and power. Should this prove a fact the Germans might be able to carry on submarine warfare without any question of violating international law. The huge submarine would not fear to show itself to any merchantman and it could safely enforce the right of visit and search.—From Leslie's

During the lessons one afternoon in a public school a thunderstorm arose, and seeking to lessen the fright of the children, the teacher began an entertaining discourse on the wonder of the elements. "Jimmy," she said finally turning to a bright little youngster, "can you tell me what lightning is?" "Yes, ma'am," was the ready rejoinder of little Jimmy. "Lightning is streaks of electricity." "That's right," smiled the teacher, encouragingly. "Now tell me why it is that lightning never does strike twice in the same place." "Because after it hits in one place once, the place ain't there any more."

IMPORTANT NEWS FROM OUTSIDE.

Here is positive proof of good times and the success possible for an article of honest value, when backed by good advertising in the right newspapers.

If there has ever been any question in the minds of our readers regarding the productiveness of The Times as a business building medium, that question is settled definitely now.

We have just received a big contract for advertising space from the Calumet Baking Powder Co., manufacturer of the famous Calumet Baking Powder.

Year after year at this season, they make their contracts with the leading publications. They advertise in thousands and thousands of newspapers throughout the country and are in a position to know the value of newspaper publicity.

The absolute purity, the unquestioned wholesomeness and wonderful economy of Calumet Baking Powder, all backed by honest advertising in the right medium has succeeded in building for them a tremendous reputation. This year Calumet advertising will be very much different than any of previous years. One of the country's best character artists has created for Calumet a cute little character which will amuse the youngsters and tell the housewives in his own individual way, how to secure the best results in baking.

HEADS AND TAILS.

The visit of Halley's comet recalls an incident that took place many years ago when another of the great comets were visible nightly in the sky. A well-known astronomer and mathematician was on his way home one evening after having spent an hour or two in an observatory, looking through the telescope at the celestial wonder.

Directly opposite him in a car sat a man with a loud voice, whose misinformation concerning comets would have supplied the material for a library, and who appeared to be talking for the benefit of the passengers. The astronomer listened patiently for a time. Then he said in a low tone to the man sitting next to him:

"Our friend on the other side of the aisle reminds me somewhat of a comet himself."
"How so?"
"He is emptying his head to make a long tale."—Youth's Companion.

ONLY INSTINCT.

Little Mary had been on her first shopping expedition with her father. It had been a great experience to her—the entire contents of her rather small purse had been expended in various purchases.

Of course, her father had noticed her disappointments and had decided to replenish her empty coffers, and so give her a pleasant surprise. Coming home by train father awaited a favorable opportunity to slip a right quarter into her purse.

In due course, after her arrival at home, Mary discovered the money and much to the surprise of the father she began to sob.

"Why—oh, why didn't I spend it?" she sobbed.

A little three-year old miss became interested in a peculiar noise and asked what it was. "A cricket, dear," replied her mother.

The teacher asked: "Where did Moses live?"

"What does it say there?" and a boy answered:
"Moses, 4000."

"Now," said the teacher, why didn't you know when Moses lived?"
"Well," replied the boy, "I thort that was his prone number."

sons composing that class. Most readily did he support the church with his means. In his death the church as well as all the citizens of the Pecos country has suffered bereavement and loss.

Soon after coming to Pecos from Breckenridge, Texas, he entered the practice of law under the firm name of Gage, Walthall and Hefner. This combination succeeded well until Judge Hefner was appointed County Attorney, which necessitated his resignation from the partnership.

After serving very acceptably as County Attorney for a period of years his ability and sterling honesty led the people to choose him as their County Judge.

Brother Hefner held this office by re-election for fourteen years. His career as an officer was characterized by wisdom, fairness, and honesty. He was most highly esteemed as a lawyer and public officer.

To brother and sister Hefner were given nine children, three daughters and six sons, all of whom survive him, except Miss Willie, who went to the Father's house several years ago.

Thus has passed from among us one of the most honored and useful citizens of Pecos. A true and faithful "Old Timer" he was, who loved and helped us all and whom we all loved. His it is to dwell forever in peace and joy: ours it is to wait and love and serve until we are called to meet him.

May the sustaining comfort and guiding promises of God direct the sorrowing widow and children all along the waiting years until the Master calls them to a happy reunion.

"No," said the farmer; "you said he was without fault and the horse is stone deaf."

GOOD ROADS FOR TEXAS

San Antonio, Sept. 29.—“The world do move” might be pertinent to be transformed to “Texas do progress.” The second week in September one of the biggest, most significant and successful good road projects ever launched in Texas, and carried to a satisfactory conclusion was consummated in the territory between Houston and San Antonio.

It was desired to arouse the enthusiasm for hard-surfaced roads between Houston and San Antonio. Road advocates of the two cities resolved on a series of meetings, one to be held at every town and village in the territory. The delegations from each of the cities who went out to work were known as at Schulenburg, a town half way between the cities, and held the initial meeting. The parties then worked through the district, and such enthusiasm for good roads as never before was seen, it is asserted was aroused. Now a road is assured within a few months.

Officers of the Texas Good Roads Association including Secretary D. E. Colp, say just such a plan as this is to be carried out in every part of the state within the next few months. Texas is to see such a good roads boosting campaign as never has been thought of before. No section is to be missed and communities have written to Mr. Colp for information as to how the meetings may be obtained.

If Texas obtains a State highway department at the next session of the Legislature the State will get $900,000 from the Federal government for rural post road building and maintenance, conditional that the bill which the Secretary of Agriculture has endorsed is passed by Congress. This money will be distributed in the State to those communities showing the most energy in road building within the next few months, it is asserted.

QUALITY AND AMOUNT OF FOODS CONSIDERED.

Bodily Needs Govern in Securing and Maintaining the Health.

Variety, quality and amount of foods are important to health. They act together both in securing and maintaining the health. They necessarily change somewhat under different conditions of life; the food is to aid the body in living and working effectively. The life of the body itself requires food; the work of the body does, too; The age of the person, the size, sex, the health, the work, the climate, season—all affect both the amounts of food needed. The location and circumstances necessarily affect the food supply of families.

It must be remembered, too, that amounts and kinds of food must not only provide adequately for the body needs but must supply foods that can be used under the conditions prevailing. A child is learning to eat, an adult is using food for work. The aged are losing the ability to use food. The food need of the adult of very active physical life differs from that needed for very active muscular exertion, and mainly in the energy supply necessary. For much manual work a greater amount of heat energy is needed; for a life of little physical activity more digestion food-aid is required. For the aged and childhood easily digested foods are essential. But the power to digest food is going from the aged and coming to the child. The aged are becoming increasingly inactive, with tissues that are worn, but somewhat increased need for body-heat and body repair.

Building foods, heat energy and digestible foods are all needs always. Because some foods contain some of all constituents that build, give energy and aid digestion, a very limited food supply will keep alive those restricted to it. But for vigor and health the food supply need to be plentiful, varied, wholesome and the diet selected in accord with the food needs of those it feeds.

In health the same person under the same conditions of living needs the same food constituents and in the same quantity, but needs to obtain these from a variety of foods. Starchy vegetables are of many kinds, as are also green; so are the fruits, grains, dairy products and animal foods. Though no two foods are exactly alike, a class of foods serve in general the same food purpose.

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING

It seems incredible that there are yet a good many irrigators in Texas who flood furrow crops, but it's the truth. It is bad enough, because it must be done, to flood such crops as alfalfa and smaller grain, and even as to such crops the tendency among progressive farmers and irrigators, is less water and more use of soil-stirring implements.

In the Rio Grande Valley near El Paso, recently, I saw many of the fields completely water-sogged that it will require not only drainage, but years of correct handling to bring them into a good state of health.

I do not know if I have heretofore mentioned the matter in my press service, but alfalfa growers in some sections are learning that a top dressing of acid phosphate increases their yields materially. But they apply to the surface, and much of it is lost by evaporation. This could be obviated by using a disc drill, with added benefit from the cultivation. Less water and more cultivation, by the way, is good for alfalfa as for other crops.

REAL POLITENESS.

A well-known New Yorker, now dead, who during his lifetime bore the appellation of “Silent,” was accustomed to employ various means to deliver himself from bores and time-wasters.

On one occasion when the New Yorker was puttin gin his vacation in New England there was one native so bold as to visit the taciturn man at his bungalow.

“How did you get along with him?” asked some one, when the bold one returned.

“Fine,” said the visitor. “Fellows, I've often heard that that man was a sullen cuss; but I want to tell you that he is one of the politest fellows I ever saw! I hadn't been sittin' chattin' with him no more'n ten minutes before he asked me five or six times to come and see him again!”—Lippincott's.

In Iceland

MOST of us are inclined to associate Iceland with the Eskimo and the reindeer. That is what makes the news of a shipment of Texaco Oils to Reikjavik, Iceland, interesting.

This shipment included a quantity of Texaco Motor Oil, showing how far the automobile has gone to the very rim of civilization, and giving some idea of the extent of Texaco Service.

We are told that Icelanders are careful buyers. They have to be, for it is a long time between boats, and should any mechanical trouble arise, they would have a serious wait for parts or repairs.

That is why they buy Texaco Motor Oil and other lubricants to keep their engines in top-notch condition, and as free from wear as possible.

These same qualities will aid in the efficient operation of your automobile, tractor, ice machine, separator, or any other kind of machine.

The Texaco Agent in your town is ready to serve you.

THE WORD HELL.

A Little Book That Contains Some Startling Information.

A little book selling at only five cents, postpaid, is having a very wide circulation—running up into the millions. It contains some very startling information respecting the meaning of the word Hell. It claims to demonstrate, both from the Hebrew and the Greek of our Bible, that Hell is not a place of eternal torment, but merely another name for the Tomb, the Grave, the State of Death. It affects to show that man was not redeemed from a far-off place of eternal torture, but quotes the Scriptures proving that he was redeemed from the Grave at the cost of his Redeemer's Life and that the Scriptural Hope, both for the Church and the World, is a resurrection hope based upon the death and resurrection of Jesus. The book is certainly worth the reading. The information it furnishes is certainly valuable, far beyond its trifling cost. Order it at once from the Bible and Tract Society, 17 Hicks Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

His reply was that he would consult his attorney. During the day Chief of Police Healy repeatedly said that he was going to enforce the orders of the mayor to the full extent of his power.

WHEN BABY HAS THE CROUP.

When a mother is awakened from sound sleep to find her child who has gone to bed apparently in the best of health struggling for its breath, she is naturally alarmed. Yet if she can keep her presence of mind and give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy every ten minutes until vomiting is produced, quick relief will follow and the child will drop to sleep to awaken in the morning as well as ever. WIRELESS TELEPHONY AN ACCOMPLISHED FACT purpose from private owners at Wilmington, Delaware. Soon after that they talked over 1000 miles in this case using the experimental tower at Montauk Point and an experimental tower erected for the purpose at St. Simons Island, Ga. The results of these tests so conclusively demonstrated the correctness of their work and its possibilities that steps were immediately taken to try distances comparable with those involved in trans-Atlantic telephony and indeed even looking into trans-Pacific telephony.

What the results of these further tests have been is shown by the talks yesterday to San Francisco and Hawaii. Another interesting feature of the tests yesterday was that, in a practical way, the ability to connect wireless telephone systems with wire telephone systems was shown. You have no doubt noted that Mr. Vail in his talk used wire from New York to Washington. At Washington by the special means invented and developed by the engineers of the company, the wires were connected to our special wireless apparatus and to the Navy's wireless tower, where the message went wirelessly to its destination.

Mr. Gherardi, when asked what was the place of wireless telephony in the general scheme of communication, stated that he expected that it would form an important adjunct and extension of the existing and known schemes of communication. By its means communication can be established between points where it is impractical to extend wires. For many reasons wireless telephony can never take the place of wire systems, but it may be expected to supplement them in a useful manner. Wireless telephone systems are subject to serious interference from numerous conditions, atmospheric and others. For many uses the fact that anyone suitably furnished can listen in on a wireless telephone talk would be a serious limitation to its use.

The following is a statement by Mr. Vail: "I do not think that I can better express my views in regard to wireless telephony than to quote the telegram that I have just sent to Mr. Carty, the chief engineer of this company, with reference to yesterday's wireless telephone talk: 'Carty, I want to congratulate you on yesterday's climax in the way of achievements, the greatest in intercommunication that the world has ever seen. To you and the wonderful staff, created by you, the world owes a debt.'"

"To throw your voice directly, without the aid of wires from Washington to Hawaii, nearly 5,000 miles, a greater distance than from New York to Paris, Berlin, Vienna, or Peking, and greater than that between Seattle and Tokio, and of Yokohama, was wonderful, but to send the recognized voice part way over the wire and part through the air was still more wonderful and was the demonstration of the chief use that will probably attach to the wireless as amplifying and supplementing, not substituting, the wire system and bring into conversational communication with ship, islands and places which cannot otherwise be reached.

"Your work has indeed brought us one long step nearer our ideal—A Universal System."

(Signed) THEO N. VAIL.
As will be seen from the above, it is clear that wireless will never substitute or supplant the wire systems but will amplify them and extend their usefulness. It is humanitarian rather than commercial, but it is useful in that it makes conversation possible between places, and between moving objects, that could not be connected by wire. As with the wireless telegraph, it probably never will be dependable enough except as outlined above.

PUSH MATURITY TOO MUCH WATER

There is a phase of soil handling in crop-growing, about which do not hear much. Of course, you know that if we double our yield we correspondingly increase our receipts; but I am afraid it is not plain to us that we often do even better than that, when we double our yield. For instance, the soil procedure which doubled our spring's yield of Irish potatoes, gave us the crop a few days earlier, when the price was higher. Early maturity is an advantage as to great many things, and it may materially hastened by handling larger yields.

That additional potato is much needed for many crops in sandy land timber sections, is no doubt true. But for root-rot, fruit crops, requiring good "up" quality, I am afraid that is not so true. Why is it that potato does not seem to be needed for great many crops in our woods country? I do not know, unless because the old-timer and the Indian before him burned the wood every winter, and the potato for the burned vegetation went into soil.

The Voice of Now

It is the present, the today, NOW in which we are interested. Shakespeare wisely said: "Tomorrow never yet." On any living mortal race set.

It is the printed page which does most intimately and with the greatest detail in the movements of the present. It is THE VOICE OF NOW proclaiming to the world the things that are happening today. The Government of the United States is NOW gravely concerned in certain aspects of the war in Europe and has had to deal on it several serious international problems which are NOW in process of solution. The American farmer is NOW interested in the titanic struggle, for his interests are being affected by it today as will be tomorrow, and he wants to keep in close touch with it NOW.

EVERYBODY is interested in the cotton crop from the time of planting to the days of its harvesting and marketing. They want to know "the NOW" in all that pertains to the great Southern staple they want to know "the NOW" of all other agricultural markets, the latest in modern farming, the facts of the warehousing problem, and also that pertains to the progress of the times in every theater of life. The tens of thousands of men and women who know the Sunday Weekly Farm News know it— "THE VOICE OF NOW," telling in direct and positive tones of what is going on at home and abroad.

HOUSE OF SOUTHERN GOVERNORS

Washington, D. C., September 30
Announcement was made here today that the invitation of Governor Richard I. Manning, of South Carolina, to the Governors of the South to meet in Charleston at the time of the Seventh Annual Convention of the Southern Commercial Congress, to organize the House of Southern Governors, has been accepted by the executives of fourteen states.

"The South," Governor Manning states, "has its peculiar problems. The convention at Charleston will come at a time when questions of vast moment should be deliberated upon and discussed by those who are to direct and guide in the solution of these problems. The question in regard to cotton, its marketing and exportation; the subject of rural finance, with especial reference to long-time loans and short-time personal credit; the commercial advantage presented to the South through the opening of the Panama Canal and the European war—these questions, discussed by the executives of our Southern states at the time of the Charleston Congress, may produce recommendations that may be called to the attention of the people of the South and present to the Congress of the United States the peculiar problems that should receive prompt attention through Federal action."

Governor Manning is being assisted in the organization of the House of Southern Governors by Dr. Clarence J. Owens, Managing Director of the Southern Commercial Congress, who is acting as a temporary secretary.

The governors who have signified their willingness of participating in the organization include those of Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee.

All former Governors and the present Lieutenant-Governors of the Southern States have also been invited to attend the conference.

RECOMMENDED CHAMBER-

LAIN'S COUGH REMEDY
"Last winter I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a bad bronchial cough. I felt its beneficial effect before I had finished the bottle, and I was cured. I never tire of recommending this remedy to my friends," writes Mrs. William Bright, Ft. Wayne, Ind. Obtainable everywhere, at all druggists.—Adv.

AN APPROPRIATE SYNONYM.

"You can't beat an Irishman for wit," says a well-known Washingtonian, "I was in Boston one day last winter and while standing near a men's furnishing store owned by one Doherty, by attention was attracted by a display of shirts and ties which embraced a variety of color far exceeding a Turner landscape, when the sun is red and gold. Every color of the rainbow was represented, and some colors were a revelation to me; I had never seen them anywhere. On a huge yellow card was inscribed the single word: 'LISTEN!'"

PREACHER WAS LAID UP.

Rev. C. M. Knighton, Havana, Fla., writes: "For three months I suffered intense pain in the kidneys and back which at times laid me up entirely. I used 1-2 bottles of Foley Kidney Pills and all the pain disappeared. I feel as if twenty years had been added to my life. Relieves rheumatism, backache sore muscles, stiff joints. Talks With the Boys

By J. L. HARBOUR, IN THE VISITOR.

AN ELEVATOR THAT IS NOT RUNNING.

The students of the high school in Menasha, Wisconsin, chose as unique and significant a motto as ever was chosen by any graduating class: "The elevator to success is not running; take the stairs."

A boy does not have to wear his "thinking cap" very long to figure out the meaning of this motto. He will do well if he allows its real significance to make such a deep impression upon him that he will never forget it. Especially does he have need of remembering it if he thinks that he can elevate himself to success at a single bound. The average boy is apt to be rather impatient. He does not altogether take kindly to the slow and sure method of reaching a desired goal. He wants to get there by means of an elevator that is not running. A few months ago a fellow in his later teens brought me a story that he had written, and he wanted me to tell him what I really thought of it. I am sure that he wanted me to tell him that it was a splendid story and that he was a literary genius; but I could not truthfully tell him this. The story had some good points and proved that the boy had a good deal of creative genius; but it lacked a great deal of being one that any editor would want. The boy showed very plainly that he was disappointed, and I think he was offended when I pointed out some of the many defects in the story. I think that this young fellow was looking for an elevator to carry him swiftly up to the highest pinnacle of success and that elevator is not running. He will have to take to the stairs, and it is rather a long flight of stairs that he must climb. I doubt if he has the patience and the perseverance to mount those stairs step by step. There is no elevator carrying people to swift success in the world of literature. Not long ago a leading publishing house exhibited the ten copies of a story written by a most successful story writer before she finished a copy that suited her. She had not found any elevator in all the years in which she had been writing. The late F. Hopkinson Smith made seven or eight copies of every short story he wrote long after he was one of the most successful of our American writers. If you think that the most successful of our writers have a way of "dashing off" their poems and stories, you are greatly mistaken. The late Elizabeth Stuart Phelps one of the most successful of short story writers once said that she seldom spent less than a month whitening one of her short stories.

Nor is there any elevator running when it comes to reaching the heights in the business world. The average boy may not take kindly to the idea of beginning as a messenger in a bank or an office boy at five or six dollars a week; but you will discover that many of the presidents of banks began in that way, and there are today presidents of great railway corporations who began their railway careers as section hands or as brakemen and then "worked up." They did not ride upon any elevator. It was not running in their day, nor is it running now.

It usually happens that the boy who is most eager to discover the imaginary elevator is the very boy who has the greatest need of taking to the stairs. This is because the boy looking for the elevator and is sure that there is one for him if there is none for the other boy or for any one else in the wide world is the very boy who has need of the slow process of climbing up by way of the stairs. The very fact that he is looking for an elevator is proof that he thinks he is a great deal smarter than he really is. The boy willing to take to the stairs is willing to admit that he has a great deal to learn.

As a matter of fact, I do not know of any occupation or profession in life in which the highest degree of success is to be reached by means of an elevator. I know men of fifty and sixty years who have spent nearly all of the years of their lives looking for this kind of an elevator and have never found it. They are unwilling to take to the stairs. Indeed, it would be of no use for them to take to the stairs now. They are too old for that. One does not climb a long flight of stairs easily when one is sixty years of age, and a man that old who has been looking for an elevator for forty years or more will be sure to feel that he is too old to begin to climb a long flight of stairs.

We hear a good deal in the terse language of our day about men "getting there" in this or that occupation or profession, but you will discover that very few of them are "getting there" by means of an elevator. You will discover that there is a long flight of stairs back of the success of every man. The boy of today is standing at the foot of those stairs. He will be foolish if he turns away from them to look for an imaginary elevator for it is not running. He must start up that flight of stairs with a great deal of courage and high resolution. Not for him nor any other boy is the elevator running that will make it unnecessary to do any climbing of the stairs.

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU DEADLY SICK

Stop using dangerous drug before it salivates you! It's horrible!

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.

COPYRIGHTED FARM AND RANCH-HOLLAND'S MAGAZINE

A few weeks ago a small-town merchant stated to the writer that unless business improved materially during the winter of 1915-16, he would sell out and retire.

He had been in business "at the same stand" for over twenty years and admitted that he was thoroughly familiar with local conditions, having kept abreast of the times in matters pertaining to merchandise embraced in his business.

In answer to my query as to the causes for the steady and apparently permanent decrease in his volume of business he advanced the opinion that buyers expect too much for their money, "not only in quantity and quality of goods, but in service" as well.

In substantiation of this condition he related how he had lost the patronage of one of his best customers because he refused to furnish an operator for a sewing machine bought from him.

He went on to say that the purchaser of the machine, who "didn't have sense enough to properly care for and operate it," expected him to assume this service gratis.

A talk with the purchaser developed the fact that her request for information had been met with such discourtesy that she had decided to trade elsewhere. She had influenced a friend to do likewise.

This incident contains a moral for the merchants of the moss-back class that they cannot afford to overlook.

If a corporation contemplates to spend as much as $25,000 in a piece of construction work, an expert is employed first of all, to draw plans and formulate specifications. Then after these are studied, and often times materially changed in many features, the actual spending of the money is put into the hands of one or more experts.

As a result the corporation gets a dollar's worth for every dollar expended.

Now, a community, or a county, is in a measure little other than a corporation, its citizens the stockholders. And it frequently spends money in big sums for construction work, as, for instance, in its road building. Shouldn't its method of procedure be very similar to that of the real corporation?

That would mean for the community contemplating the building of roads to employ an engineer to survey the roads, make maps, and grades and profiles, and draw up an estimate of the cost. Then a bond issue should be asked for a sum to cover the engineer's estimate and a campaign conducted that would explain every point to every voter.

When the election is carried and the bonds sold, every dollar of the money should be expended under the unhampered direction of an expert or experts. Such business methods beget business results.

CHRONIC CONSTIPATION.

"About two years ago when I began using Chamberlain's Tablets I had been suffering for some time with stomach trouble and chronic constipation. My condition improved rapidly through the use of these tablets. Since taking four or five bottles of them my health has been fine," writes Mrs. John Newton, Irving, N. Y. THE SIMPLE QUESTION.

"Mrs. Simpleton, I'm a plain, blunt-spoken man."

"Yes, I know, Mr. Tartar."

"I never beat around the bush. When I got ready to ask my first wife for her heart and hand, I did not waste five minutes in coming to the point."

"Oh, Mr. Tartar, but don't be too sudden! You know our sex—"

"Mrs. Simpleton, I have called this evening to ask you a question."

"Yes; but—but—but—"

"And I want a plain, plump, answer—either yes or no."

"It's awfully sudden, Mr. Tartar, but I'll—I'll try to—try to—"

"I have known you for three months."

"Yes."

"I don't think I am mistaken in your character."

"Oh, Mr. Tartar."

"Now then, I am to be married to Miss Jennie Jackson tomorrow. Do you want a position as housekeeper?"

Who she revived and sat up he had vanished, and, though she reached out with her fingers for his hair they grasped nothing but emptiness.

HOW TO BE EFFICIENT.

Nothing saps the vitality like a kidney trouble. It causes backache, headache, stiff joints, sore muscles, "always tired" feeling, rheumatism and other ills. To be efficient you must be healthy. Foley Kidney Pills strengthen the kidneys, help them do their work of filtering out from the system the waste matter that causes the trouble. For sale by Pecos Drug Co.—Adv.

The fact that corporal punishment is discouraged in some public schools is what led Harry's teacher to address this note to the lad's mother:

"I regret very much to have to inform you that your son Harry idles away his time, is disobedient, quarrelsome and disturbs the pupils in their studies. He needs a good whipping and I strongly advise that you give him one."

Whereupon Harry's mother responded as follows:

"Dear Miss Jones: Lick him yourself, I ain't mad at him. Yours truly, Mrs. Smith."—Tit-Bits.

A CARLOAD OF NEW FORD AUTOS ARRIVE.

The Pecos Auto Co. of Pecos, and W. B. Thorpe, of Balmorhea, received the first of the week a carload of Fords, five for the former, and three for the latter.

Messrs. Chas. Splittgarber, J. H. Walker, A. V. Johnson, J. H. Wofford and L. A. Gray were in from Balmorhea Wednesday and took out the three for Thorpe who had sold them to Messrs. Wofford, Splittgarber and Dr. Wolverton.

The Pecos Auto Co. furnished one to the Pecos Mercantile Co., and one to M. W. Collie, the Tri-State Telephone Co's. manager. They also sold one to Mrs. A. J. Cooksey at Toyah last week, and Albert Sisk took it up to her last Sunday. Surely the Ford is becoming very popular.

NEW BRAKEMAN ON THE P. V. S. TRAIN.

Tommy Harrison has resigned his position as brakeman on the P. V. S. train and will leave soon for Clovis, N. M., where he will take up his new work as brakeman for the Santa Fe Ry.

Fenton Alley assumed the position this morning which Harrison left. There is a considerable difference in the work—braking—than that to which Fenton has been used to for the past several years—cow punching—but there is no doubt but that he will make good just the same.

We are sorry to lose Tommy from among us for he is one of our very best young men, but The Times joins with his hosts of friends in wishing him well in his new position.

MORE CATTLE BEING SHIPPED TO WEST TEXAS

Cattle are going up all the time. J. T. McElroy of Odessa made a trip to Louisiana and bought 75 carloads and they will be unloaded at Monahans this week. On with the good work. Ten years ago there was nothing to sell or buy but school land, and now Reeves County, is one of the leading counties of the West in the cattle industry.

Reeves and the adjoining counties are on the boom! Prosperity is in evidence here, growing and getting better all the time. Farmers never make a trip to town without bringing a load of produce to sell, if it is nothing more than a bank deposit slip.

THE CHURCHES.

The revival meetings still continue. Evangelist Holsapple is preaching the old time gospel with power. Many are interested in their soul's welfare and are manifesting this interest in the meeting. There are many others who should be concerned. Is it well with thy soul? Would you like to face the judgment of a just God in your present condition? Come, we are striving to help you.

The meetings will continue until Sunday night at least. There will be a special service Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The ordinance of baptism will be administered.

BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS.

Supt. Taggart is making splendid preparations for Rally Day next Sunday. He is being assisted by some of the good women of the church. Everybody is being solicited. Don't fail to be present Sunday morning.

Jno. W. Wilson and Miss Hattie Cloyd of Balmorhea drove up to the parsonage Tuesday afternoon and were married. They were accompanied by Mr. McCutcheon and Miss Andrews.

Another of our good members of the church and noble citizens, Judge Hefner, has been cut down by the grim Reaper and leaves a large number of relatives and friends full of sorrow to await the joys of the resurrection morning.

That was a splendid choir practice last meeting. Let's all attend next Saturday evening at 7:30. We will have some special music next Sunday morning.

The pastor will organize his Busy Peoples' Bible class next Sunday mornin. You join if you are not in Sunday school already.

We certainly do appreciate the hearty fellowship which has been shown us by the numbers of other churches as well as the good will which has been accorded us by all the people in Pecos. May our labors together be owned of God and our residence here be a mutual blessing.

You are cordially invited to worship with us next Sunday, which is our annual "Go to Church Sunday." The members will give you a joyous welcome. Sincerely yours, G. O. KEY.

THOMAS JACOB HEFNER.

"Be ye also ready for ye know not the hour."

It was only last Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock that the citizens of Pecos closed the doors of business houses and their homes and began to assemble in sorrow, sadness, love and respect at the residence of Thomas Jacob Hefner who was at that time lying in state.

The purpose was to pay their last respects to the deceased and to comfort those that were mourning the loss of their dear husband and father who had closed his eyes in death, for which preparation he failed not to make ready.

The services were conducted by Rev. J. B. Cole of Lubbock, assisted by Rev. G. O. Key, who read a lesson from the 11th chapter of John.

After Rev. Cole's very appropriate talk the Masons took charge of the remains and conducted the burial. The remains were followed to Fairview Cemetery by a large concourse of friends where they were interred in the family lot.

The honorary pall bearers who carried the beautiful floral offerings were: Messrs. R. S. Johnson, H. Collier, F. W. Johnson, H. N. McKellar, W. W. Camp and W. D. Cowan.

The active pall bearers were: Elmer Johnson, Max Krauskopf, J. G. Love, T. B. Pruett and T. Beauchamp.

The Scottish kilt as an article of dress dates back to historic times and was originally as far as can be figured out, merely a plaid blanket worn about the shoulders with one end gathered about the loins in cold weather. The mountaineers of the Balkans wear the kilt and students say that the soldiers of the Assyrian kings wore a costume very closely akin to the kilt of Scotland.

The battle of Waterloo lasted eight hours.

The Voice of Now

It is the present, the today, the NOW in which we are interested. Shakespeare wisely says:

"Tomorrow never yet
On any living mortal rose or set."

It is the printed page which deals most intimately and with the greatest detail in the movements of the present. It is THE VOICE OF NOW proclaiming to the world the things that are happening today. The Government of the United States is NOW gravely concerned in certain aspects of the war in Europe and has had trust on it several serious international problems which are NOW in process of solution. The American farmer is NOW interested in this titanic struggle, for his interests are being affected by it today and will be tomorrow, and he wants to keep in close touch with it NOW.

EVERYBODY is interested in the cotton crop from the time of its planting to the days of its harvesting and marketing. They want to know "the NOW" in all that pertains to the great Southern staple; they want to know "the NOW" of all other agricultural markets, the latest in modern farming, the facts of the warehousing problem, and all else that pertains to the progress of the times in every theater of life.

The tens of thousands of men and women who know the Semi-Weekly Farm News know it is "THE VOICE OF NOW," telling in direct and positive tones of what is going on at home and abroad. A. H. BELO & CO. Publishers DALLAS, TEXAS.
