WATER USERS PERFECT PLANS

Projects Will Form Districts to Better Co-Operate With The Government.

In response to a call from Mr. V. L. Sullivan of Fort Stockton, executive committeeman of the Pecos Valley Water Users Association of Texas, a large and representative body of farmers, merchants, and professional men of Grandfalls, Imperial, Fort Stockton, Pecos, and Beunavista met at Buenvista on Saturday, April 29th, at 2 o'clock at the Orient Hotel. There were forty-four representatives of the different projects present when Mr. Sullivan, in well chosen words, extended a cordial welcome. Mr. A. M. Loar of Buenvista was unanimously elected chairman. Mr. Loar stated that the meeting was regularly organized and ready for such business as might be brought before it, and called on Mr. E. D. Balcom, of Pecos, secretary of the Association, to explain the object and purpose of the meeting. Mr. Balcom, who has given this subject much time and careful study, went into every detail of the proposition and submitted his views as to the best means to bring about the best results. He stated that the object and purpose of this meeting was to make an initiative step to organize into districts under the State Reclamation Laws of Texas, in order to give legal status to the different projects on the Pecos River, so as to be able to contract with the United States Reclamation Department for the construction of the Red Bluff Reservoir. Judge W. A. Hudson, of Pecos, president of the Pecos Valley of Texas Water Users Association of Texas, was next called on. Judge Hudson made an elaborate address, both from a business and legal point of view, and showed the wonderful possibilities to be derived from the Red Bluff Reservoir, and was fully of the opinion that the proposition as suggested by Mr. Balcom was the best and most logical course for them to pursue. Mr. John Smith of Grandfalls, Judge O. L. Williams, of Fort Stockton, and Mr. V. L. Sullivan, of Fort Stockton, all addressed the meeting, and each speaker went carefully into the subject, and heartily endorsed the district organization. Chairman Loar then called on each and every one present to express themselves regarding the proposition, and the consensus of opinion was that the different projects represented should organize in the earliest possible time.

A motion was made, which unanimously carried, that the citizens of Imperial and Zimmerman projects meet Saturday, May 13, at 2 o'clock, the Imperial meeting to be held at Buenvista in the Orient Hotel and the Zimmerman meeting to be held at the Zimmerman school house.

Mr. V. L. Sullivan, in a very appreciative manner, expressed the thanks of the meeting for the City of Pecos and the Pecos Valley Commercial Club for the interest it has displayed and the assistance it has rendered both in the past and today, and as the Pecos Valley Commercial Club was represented at this meeting in the person of its secretary, Mr. S. E. Eberstadt, that gentleman was given the floor. Mr. Eberstadt responded, and in well-chosen words, pledged the assistance and hearty co-operation of the Pecos Valley Commercial Club, and stated that to serve the citizens of the Pecos Valley at any time or in any capacity, was a pleasure to his organization.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. E. D. Balcom, Judge W. A. Hudson, Mr. T. A. Ezell, and to Mr. Eberstadt, for their attendance at the meeting.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

The following attended the meeting:

Beautiful Window Display.

Say, have you noticed that beautifully decorated display window at the Brady-Camp Jewelry Company? If not, do not fail to take time and do so.

Window displays are becoming a fad among our business men, and many artistic ideas, as well as novel, are being created. The window in question takes its place among the artistic, and contains a plea that you not forget the boy or the girl who has emerged from the trials and tribulations of school days victorious, and now stand at the cross roads of life. It surely is an occasion that will forever be imprinted on their memories. A loving remembrance will be appropriate.

The display was arranged by Mrs. B. R. Stine, and shows her artistic taste in a high degree.

It is decorated with ribbons of the class colors, and scattered here and there, and tied to diplomas, are presents suitable as presents to the "sweet school graduates" and for the boy also, among which will be found fountain pens, rings, La Vallee's gold knives, dresser sets, gold hat pins, watches, etc.

The display is a good one, and the present appropriate, not a one but that would be appreciated by the recipient.

Adding to Their Buildings.

Mr. Jno. Y. Leavell is adding an addition to the north side of her residence which will be an improvement in looks as well as an increase in rooms, and the work is being done without any disfigurement to the beautiful lawn that surrounds her property.

E. L. Collings is having a screened-in sleeping porch built onto the south side of his residence which will be a great convenience as well as adding to the looks of his home. He is also having a new gallery built on the east side and is remodeling the one on the north side, and when these improvements are completed he will have one of the nicest residences in that part of the city.

Land Commissioner Here.

Land Commissioner J. T. Robison spent several hours in Pecos Saturday, leaving on the night train for El Paso.

He is investigating some irregularities, and if you have not been square with the Land Office you had better get a hump on yourself and make good or call off the deal.

He has been as lenient and favorable with the settlers as the law will possibly allow and thereby deserves the grateful thanks of those who have been having a hard struggle to get along.

Green McCombs is again down from his Guadalupe mountain ranch looking after a bunch of horses which he has below Pecos a short distance. He says the range and stock up his way are in splendid shape.

A. J. Bumgarner is in for a few days' visit with his Pecos friends, from his ranch near Arno and says that his range the cattle and horses, are in good condition.

ODD FELLOWS MEMORIAL DAY

Impressive Ceremony Honoring Deceased Members Held Here Sunday.

Last Sunday was Memorial Day for the Odd Fellows, and the Pecos City Lodge did their duty in a very pleasing and impressive manner.

They met in their hall at about 2:30 in the afternoon, formed into line with four of the members carrying beautiful wreaths, offerings as their token of love and remembrance for the brothers gone on before, they marched to the Christian church where a number of friends were waiting.

Judge Ben Palmer, in a short earnest, touching address, eulogized the Order for its grand noble, and charitable—Love—work that they had done in the past and are still doing among their members and also to outsiders.

They again formed into line and marched nearly 40 strong, to Fairview Cemetery, where they placed wreaths and deposited flowers on the graves of the departed members of the Order.

The graves decorated were: Wm. Adams, T. Y. Moorhead, Chas. Gallagher and Burch Gallagher. The ceremony at the graves was very impressive and at the conclusion, the lodge marched back to their hall.

Congressman Smith Busy.

Word comes from Washington, D. C., that our Representative, W. R. Smith, had a conference with the officials of the Reclamation Service relative to the Pecos River project, and that he is very much encouraged over the outlook. He has submitted the plans of the residents of this section that is embraced in the proposed project for the organization of irrigation districts with a view of co-operating with the government in the work to be done, and in dividing the costs of the improvement. The survey has taken the plan under advisement and will report to Congressman Smith in a few days. It is the impression of all who know anything about the matter that the appropriation will be made within a very short time.

The First Cutting of Alfalfa.

The first cutting of alfalfa for the 1916 season in the lower Pecos Valley of Texas came into market Monday afternoon, May 1st, and was the brightest and prettiest pea-green hay we almost ever saw.

It was raised by J. Lapoo, on the Thomason farm about 3 miles north of town, and he sold something over a carload of the hay to the Leader cash store at $16 a ton and shipped the balance, one car, for which he received $17.

This is one of the earliest cuttings known in this section and was the first shipped from Pecos this year.

Mr. Lapoo has a good show to get five or six more cuttings this year, which will bring him on an average of about $100 an acre.

Lightning Kills Mexican.

In a storm coming up Tuesday evening about 7:30, there was one very bright, and sharp flash of lightning, followed by a clap of thunder. A few minutes Eugene Kite, who lives in the eastern part of town noticed the fumes of burning cloth and going to the door, saw something ablaze not far from his house. He sent his sons to see what it was, and they returned at once stating that it was a man burning up.

Mr. Kite rushed to the spot, pulled the burning clothes off the man and put out the fire, discovering it was a Mexican, and that he was quite dead. The lightning had struck him on the head tearing off the entire crown of the hat he had been wearing, at the same time crushing in the top of his skull. The bolt penetrated the body and ripped off his right shoe.

Mr. Kite notified the proper officers who took charge of the body. At an informal inquest Judge Richburg found that deceased came to his death by being struck with lightning.

It was found that the Mexican name was Francisco Sanchez, the grandfather of Jose Lerma, the Mexican who is now in jail awaiting trial for the murder of Chappo.

Roy Lane has just received another large shipment of the famous Kero Safe lamps and lanterns. Something over 70 were in the shipment to be delivered at Balmorhea, Toyah, Saragosa, Pecos, Patrole, and others points. Roy is a hustler, and there is no doubt but that these lights are the very thing you have been looking for, for these many days.

S. T. Hobbs, one of the popular merchants in the creek country, located at Saragosa, was a business visitor in Pecos the first of the week, and made The Times office a pleasant call.

Power

DON'T overlook this matter of power. It is important. You want an automobile that will carry you through mud, sand and snow, and do it easily. You want a car that will climb hills, that will get away quickly without laboring and straining its every part.

Not all cars can do these things, but you know that the Maxwell can because you have the proof.

When the Maxwell stock touring car set the World's Motor Non-Stop Mileage Record a few weeks ago, it encountered all sorts of unfavorable conditions—rain, mud and hills, over country and city roads—yet it covered 500 miles per day, day after day, for more than six weeks.

Power, plenty of power, unflinching power, is absolutely essential to such a wonderful performance as this.

Let us give you a booklet telling all the details of this record breaking Maxwell car. And let us tell you about our partial payment plan, by means of which you can make a cash deposit and pay the balance while you use the car. Give us the opportunity and we'll prove our case.

A Symbol of Health.

The Pythagorians of Ancient Greece ate simple food, practiced temperance and purity. As a badge they used the five-pointed star which they regarded as a symbol of health. Clean Up.

The physicians and scientists of the world have agreed that the greater part of diseases are of germ origin and practically all are preventable.

They have been able to identify the special agencies that convey the bacteria that produce the most deadly effects upon mankind, such as cholera, diphtheria, pneumonia, typhoid fever, smallpox, infantile paralysis, and other malignant and terrible disorders.

The bite of a species of mosquito produces yellow fever, that of body lice produces typhus fever, the common house fly, bred in filth, lives in filth, and carrying filth on its feet, bears with it deadly germs of every disease with which its feet come in contact.

The stable fly, is the vehicle that carries the germs producing infantile paralysis.

A commendable slogan has been "Swat the Fly," but a more efficacious and grander remedy is to prevent the necessity of "swatting the fly" and that is to destroy their breeding places.

Keep your own premises absolutely clean and sanitary and see that your neighbors keep their places equally as germ-proof, if they do not, report them to the health officers; possibly you may lose the good will of a few persons, but what is that compared to the health and probably the life of your child. The little innocent thing is dearer and sweeter to you than the opinion of every living soul in Pecos, much less that of those whose filthy places have robbed it of existence or rendered it a life long cripple from infantile paralysis.

Oh, ye fathers and mothers, think of your children, whether they be infants in arms or grown men or women with children of their own. Think of all the ills that escape from Pandora's box of filth and institute a crusade of cleanliness that will give more far reaching good than all other crusades that man has yet devised.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Mrs. Ora BeBauchamp entertained most charmingly the members of the Auction Bridge Club at her pretty home in South Pecos, last Friday afternoon at four o'clock. After the usual number of games it was found that Mrs. Hubbard and Mrs. Cap Wilson held the high score. Immediately after the games the hostess, assisted by Ruby Mae Beauchamp, served delicious strawberry ice cream and cake to the following members: Mrs. Monroe Kerr, Mrs. J. W. Moore, Mrs. Clay Slack, Mrs. Hoyler, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Roy Barr, Mrs. G. C. Parker, Mrs. Delbert Hankins, Mrs. Jno. B. Howard, Mrs. S. E. Eberstadt, Mrs. J. E. Starley, Mrs. C. M. Wilson, Mrs. Weyer and the hostess.

Wednesday afternoon the 26th, at three o'clock, Mrs. C. W. Tudor entertained the members of the Merry Wives Club and a number of invited guests. The program for the afternoon: Roll call, answered by quotations from famous orators. The orators studied included James Otis, Patrick Henry, Samuel Adams, George Washington. The paper for the occasion was "Washington's Farewell to Private Life and His Inauguration," by Mrs. Tudor. After the regular exercises, the popular game of 42 was enjoyed. The score cards were of tiny rabbits, and the tally cards were little chickens. After the game the score showed that Mrs. Leard and Mrs. Moore to be winners of the greatest number of games. A tempting and delicious luncheon of fruit salad in tomato cups, sandwiches, dressed eggs, wafers and coffee, followed by strawberries, ice cream and angel food cake, was served. Cute little baskets of mints in the shape of eggs were placed in each table. The ladies attending this pleasant affair were: Mrs. Leard, Mrs. Starley, Mrs. Manahan, Mrs. Rannels, Mrs. Willis and Miss Willis of Kentucky, Miss McMurray of North Carolina, and Mrs. Woody Brown. The club members pres-

The Texas History Luncheon given by the Twentieth Century to the Merry Wives at the home of Mrs. Jack Love last Friday afternoon at two o'clock was the most elegant social affair of the season. Of the 24 ladies present, 18 were native Texans, while the other six represented New York, Tennessee, South Carolina, Georgia, Kansas and Kentucky. After the guests exchanged greetings the double door leading into the spacious and beautifully appointed dining room were thrown open. In the center of the table was a gilded basket of Texas blue bonnets. The place cards designating the chair for each lady were Texas blue bonnets tied with ribbons of red and white Texas colors. Pretty candelabras with white tapers and red shades were placed here and there about the table and above all floated four silken Texas flags, attesting the State pride and patriotism of those present.

A menu most tempting, was charmingly served by the four beautiful young girls, Warren Collings, Jane Looby, Gladys Prewit and Aileen Love. The courses consisted of a fruit cocktail, creamed chicken, French peas, cinnamon apple, Parker House rolls, Lobster salad with wafers, brick ice cream with the red Texas Lone star, and black cake decorated with Texas flags. Mrs. Weyer who acted as toastmistress in a manner most pleasing, called first on Mrs. J. W. Parker, who gave, in an interesting manner, some reminiscences of early Texas history. Next Mrs. H. C. Roberson splendidly entertained with "Facts and Fancies of Early Texas—Franciscan Monks and Early Missions" was ably discussed by Mrs. Fleming. ## Exciting Game Methodists Are Victors.—Ninth Inning Rally Wins.

Last Friday afternoon the Baracas of the Baptist church and the Methodist Sunday school nine clashed on the local diamond, and put up a good and exciting game of ball, one that made old fans thrill during the session. Rarey, who won his spurs with the famous White Sox, was a big item of leverage for the Methodists, but Hicks, helped with good support kept fair pace with him until the first of the ninth, when he joined a Zeppelin crew, letting the Methodists garner a bundle of bingles that carried them to victory.

The line-up was as follows:

Methodist	ab r h po a e
Frame 3b	5 0 1 0 2 0
Ross, W. 2b	5 1 1 2 1 1
Ross Jas, ss	5 2 5 0 2 0
Wadley, M 1b	5 3 3 10 0 0
Rarey p	5 1 3 2 5 0
Sisk cf	4 1 1 1 0 0
Brown lf	4 0 1 0 0 0
Middleton c	4 0 0 12 0 1
Wadley, J rf	3 0 1 0 0 1

Baptist	ab r h po a e
Lyons 3b	5 0 1 1 0 0
Browning 2b	5 1 1 3 1 1
Wheeler c	5 0 1 11 4 1
Grounds 1b	3 1 0 6 4 2
Gardner ss	4 0 0 2 3 1
Hicks, V p	4 1 1 1 0 0
Goode, cf	4 0 1 1 0 0
Prewit rf	4 1 3 1 0 0
Hicks, T lf	4 1 3 1 0 0

In the first inning the Methodists led off. Frame died, short to first; W. Ross went the mill route; J. Ross bingled, but was nailed stealing second.

In the Baptist half Lyons made his debut by fanning; Browning swatted the first offering for a single, went to second on passed ball, stole third and completed the circuit on Wheeler's sacrifice fly to center. Grounds out third to first.

Second inning—M. Wadley flew out to left, and Rarey and Sisk both went the windmill trail.

Rarey proved that he was in his element by whiffing Gardner, V. Hicks and Goode in one two three order.

3rd inning—Brown and Middleton's bats were full of holes and couldn't connect; Wadley got a pass to first; Frame popped to pitcher.

Prewit bingled, T. Hicks ditted, Lyons made it three off Rarey in the same place, scoring Prewit and Hicks; Browning whiffed, Wheeler out on easy one to pitcher, while the big chief made a noble effort to land on three beauts, being a little over or under each trial.

4th inning—W. Ross popped to short who pocketed it; Jas. Ross hit over second, stole the keystone sack, but the habit was so strong that he tried for the look-in come but was killed by Wheeler's peg. M. Wadley fanned.

Gardner laid one down to the pitcher, out at fist; Vernon Hicks duplicated all around; Goode bingled but was left on second when Prewit fanned.

5th inning—Rarey hit and went to third on passed balls; Wadley singled, scoring Rarey, which tied the score; Sisk got a pass to first; Brown out pitcher to first; Middleton made a feeble effort to reach a trio and sat down; J. Wadley bingled; Frame's pop-up to first ended a period of suspense for the Baptist squad.

T. Hicks laid one down the third base line, but it got to first a little ahead of him; Lyons missed three beauts and took his bat to the bench for examination; Browning beat a scratch to first; Wheeler connects for a hit; Grounds died, second to pitcher, who covered first.

6th inning—W. Ross out on pop to pitcher; J. Ross leaned against the willow and shoved one over second between the gardeners for a round trip; M. Wadley connected for a double and scored on Sisk's Texas leaguer; Rarey out short to first; Sisk tallied on Brown's 7th inning—The fans were now wearing broad smiles as this inning started, realizing that the sides were evenly matched, and a well-balanced game is the article the fans will travel a long way to find. M. Wadley windmilled; Frame landed on the marble for a single; W. Ross' fly fell in short's sack; J. Ross swatted the pill for two but Frame was killed at third.

Lyons grounder to second was handled in league style, nailing him at first; Browning, who has hard luck against his old friend Rarey, fanned; the inning closed when Wheeler laid one down the first base line.

8th inning—M. Wadley hit, took second on a passed ball, and scored on Rarey's bingle; Brown out, pitcher to first but Rarey went to third on the play; Middleton fanned again.

Grounds was presented with a pass and he smiled as if he liked it; Gardner's easy one to pitcher killed him at first; Goode died, short to first, but Grounds crossed the platter on the play; Hicks popped to the pitcher.

9th inning—Score tied and blood in the players' eyes. A few of the rooters have lost their hats. Wadley out, second to first; Frame out, fly to deep center. Silence was to be heard on all sides, the horizon for the Methodists was of a dark blue tint. Hicks, however, couldn't stay and enjoy the prosperity, taking his Zeppelin trip at this juncture. W. Ross singled, went to second on J. Ross' swat, and both scored on M. Wadley's double; Rarey landed on a nice one scoring Wadley; Sisk feeling sorry, ended the misery with a pop to second.

Prewit was mad when he came to bat for he swatted the first ball pitched for a single, stole second and took third on Hicks hit; Hicks was safe at second when the smoke cleared, Lyons popped a fly to the guardian of second, and Hicks who hadn't time to get back, was doubled up. Rarey had Browning tied to a post, and struck him out easily.

The final score stood 8 to 5. The Baptist squad, however, are not satisfied, but the Methodists say they can do it twice in the same place, so on next Friday afternoon, May 12th, they again clash, and we may expect even a better game.

All should come out and see the next battle, we guarantee you'll get your money's worth.

Practical Features for Homes.

In planning your home you will find that among the most essential details that demand careful attention are the features that tend to make the entire home comfortable for living, both in the summer and in the winter, the means of ventilation, arrangement of rooms to make the heating simple, etc.

We have advanced some objections to the bungalow and Chalet types for Southern climate, that, because of their flat roofs and low ceilings they were oppressive in summer heat. This is absolutely a mistaken idea and the conclusion of inexperience or possibly is founded on results obtained from living in a so-called bungalow that was improperly constructed.

We frankly maintain that this character of architecture when properly constructed, is by far the more practical obtainable and to substantiate this claim we will endeavor to set forth a few reasons why, if you will apply to your reason, will convince you.

1st. The low ceilings where there is wide eave overhang, permits of splendid ventilation construction to be used in the gables with absolute protection from the weather, a feature impossible in the high, sloping roof houses with narrow roof protection. This allows air circulation between the ceiling line and roof, resulting in a marked relief from sun heat over a house with the close, dark, unventilated attic.

As for low ceilings where the windows reach almost to the full height of the room, a cir-ulation and ventilation is afforded that you must admit is far cooler than a high ceiling where the heat and foul air bank in the top of a room and there remain. This can be demonstrated by taking, as you climb a stair in an open room, note of the fact that as you attain a height on a level with the ceiling line of a room the oppressiveness of the air is very noticeable.

In fact, actual tests made between a low, flat bungalow and the old fashioned cottage with deep roof and closed attic, showed a difference in temperature of from ten to eighteen degrees with the bungalow the cooler.

However, we wish to impress on the prospective builder that it is vitally necessary that the many details that will give this desired effect of ventilation require strict attention in planning and construction. This result cannot be expected if you simply tell your contractor to duplicate Mr. Jones' house or allow your home to be built in a haphazard way. To insure protection on these vital points it is wise to enlist the services of a trained and experienced architect who has successfully battled with these problems of home building.

A SNAKE BITE CURE.

We are in receipt of the following letter, written by Mr. H. H. Jones, the proprietor of Fairview Farm, near Hoban, which will, we are sure interest some of our readers:

Editor of The Times: Dear sir—Some years ago, my father-in-law, the late Dr. Uushaw, advised me to get Echinacea, prepared by Lloyd Brothers, and keep it handy in case of snake or other poisonous bites.

I had no use for it until we came to Hoban, where we found a considerable number of rattlesnakes. I had Mr. Bozeman order me a bottle.

Day before yesterday our little fox terrier, Trixie, was under the house with her two little puppies, when we heard a commotion and found her in combat with a three-foot rattler. She tore the snake into shreds, and in so doing was bitten in five or six places on the nose, lips and tongue.

In fifteen minutes she was unconscious and apparently dying, but I forced some of the Echinacea down her throat and a little later some more, and in an hour she was able to walk about. She died the next day, but she was so small and was bitten so severely, and we didn't know just how much of the medicine to give in this case, that my faith in the remedy is not shaken a bit.

The results from giving it were so quick and unmistakable that I have written this that others may know of a remedy to keep in the home.

It will at least give time to get a doctor. Directions for its use in case of venomous bites or stings are given on the bottle.

It is used internally, externally and hypodermically.

Yours truly,

H. H. JONES.

Chufas.

The Progressive Farmer of March 11, has a very interesting article on the subject of chufas for hogs.

It gives reports of the Arkansas and Alabama Experiment Stations, showing that yields of from 100 to 200 bushels per acre may be looked for.

Terms of pork, from 200 to 300 pounds per acre may be expected from hogs grazing on the tops and rooting for the tubers.

An acre of chufas in some of the tests was rated as equivalent to 50.6 bushels of corn. It is doubtful if the same lands would have averaged as high yields of corn.

A table is given showing the digestible nutrients in mangels, sweet potatoes and chufas, according to Henry, as follows in 100 pounds:

Pounds of protein, mangels, 1.0; Sweet potatoes, 0.8; Chufas, 0.6.

Carbon-hydrates in 100 lbs. of mangels, 5.5; Sweetpotatoes 22.9; Chufas, 9.1.

Pounds of fat in 100 pounds of Mangels, 0.2; Sweet potatoes, 0.3; Chufas, 5.6.

As chufas are indigenous to the Pecos Valley, and are to be found growing wild in the drains and gutters of this city, and in the river bottoms where nothing else will grow without irrigation and labor, they not only grow luxuriantly, but cover ground, it is highly presumable that they will do better, and make larger and more remunerative yields than those given by the Arkansas, and Alabama stations.

In the spring of 1896 Capt. Irvine, for whom the springs about five miles south of Pecos were named, carried a lot of hogs from Grandfalls to Barstow and put them on alfalfa. Some of these escaped from the field and left for parts unknown. Next fall hunters reported that there were lots of wild hogs in the Big Valley, and on investigation they proved to be the hogs and progeny of those that ran away from Barstow.

Vastly increased in numbers and in better condition than those who remained on the alfalfa.

The plant grows to be about a foot in height and is exceedingly nutritious for cattle.

It has been said by Grandfalls farmers that as a milk

Talks With the Boys

By J. L. HARBOUR, IN THE VISITOR.

"I Am Only a Boy."

Not so long ago I was talking to a boy about sixteen years of age, and when I asked him about a certain important matter, he said: "Well, you see, I am only a boy, and of course I do not know much about it."

I liked that reply, and I will tell you why: It proved that the boy had none of the foolish and vaunting spirit of the boy who thinks that he knows it all. It was proof of the fact that the boy had a good fund of that valuable quality we call modesty. The lad in his teens who has a realizing sense of the fact that he is "only a boy" with a boy's limited knowledge of life is a much more hopeful proposition than the boy who thinks that he is a full-grown man while he is still in knee-trousers, and who is possessed with the idea that he knows as much as any man knows. This type of boy is sure to feel that he is possessed of a degree of information far in excess of that possessed by his parents. It is a sad day in the life of a boy when he gets into that state of mind.

The boy who is willing to admit that he is only a boy in the range of his information admits that he has much to learn. He admits that his judgment is immature and that the advice of his elders is worthy of consideration. There is a boy in his later teens in my neighborhood whom the other boys always call "Smarty," because he is so wonderful wise in his own conceit. He has a swaggering air that would be funny were it not so pathetic to see a boy assuming an air of that kind. One is always sorry when a boy is going through the process of making a fool of himself, and that is what this youth is constantly doing. He has a way of saying: "I think" that is calculated to give the impression that what he thinks is final and there can be no wiser opinion than his. He is impertinent in both his manner and in his conversation. I could not imagine him saying, modestly: "I am only a boy." He feels that his boyhood days are far behind him, even though he is just beginning to use the razor. The boy in his first long trousers and who is just beginning to use a razor should feel that the days of his manhood are not far distant. He should also feel that he is still in a state of great immaturity and that in many ways he is yet "only a boy."

It is always a good thing for a boy that can say frankly: "I don't know." Affected wisdom is a poor sort of knowledge and is apt to make one appear ridiculous. Sometimes it is the "wisdom of the fools." It is a form of affectation that is as thin as veneer to cover that in them which is not real. But most people are able to see under the veneer. It does not take a very acute mind to discover the affected wisdom of a boy, when he is trying to make it appear that he knows more than most men. If you boys will keep your eyes open you will discover that the boy who is modest enough to admit that he is "only a boy" will have much more of the confidence and the respect of the people than the boy who wants it to be understood that he knows it all. Not long ago a friend of mine and I were spending the evening in a home in which was a boy of fifteen years who simply made himself most obnoxious by the way he kept what my friend aptly called the "front of the stage" all the evening. This meant that he was constantly in evidence. No one could say anything without this boy giving his opinion in regard to the matter. Once he turned to my friend, a man well along in life, and said to him: "I think that you are mistaken about that."

He seemed to think that all of us were mistaken if it happened our opinions did not coincide with his. I have never had much sympathy with the idea that children should be seen and not heard, but in this instance I could not help feeling that he was a boy who surely would be seen to much better advantage had he not been heard nearly so often as he was during the evening. His boy companions would no doubt have said that he "buted in" constantly. He had gotten far away from the idea that he was "only a boy" and that it would have been well for him to have kept a little more in the background. When we were on our homeward way my friend said: "That boy has a lot to learn; and if he does not begin to learn it soon he will make a failure of his life."

It is a fact that many men make failures of their lives because they are not willing to admit their own mental limitations and are unwilling to acquire knowledge. So it is that I am always glad when I hear a boy in his teen say with modesty: "I am only a boy." There is so much more hope for him than there is for the over-smart boy who is not willing to admit that he is "only a boy" with all of the inexperience of youth to make his own judgment immature and unreliable.

A Costly Mistake.

Too many Texas farmers continue to buy their bacon and lard, and this is shipped to Texas from northern states in the face of the known fact that because of our superior climate and cheaply grown grain and feed crops hogs can be produced cheaper in Texas than in any state of the North or South.

The farmer who is a close observer has a great opportunity to investigate and also observe. In a lifetime he may acquire a wealth of information and get great benefit from his interest and zeal in working with plants and animals. There is no more valuable information than this on character and citizenship.
