The Tri-County Teachers' Institute

Attendance Good and a Deep Interest Manifested by Those in Attendance.

The Tri-County Teachers' Institute of Ward, Culberson and Reeves counties, convened at the High School building, in Pecos, Monday at 10 a. m., with a good attendance of teachers.

The Institute was opened with appropriate ceremonies, the address of welcome being delivered by Judge Ross, after which the routine work was taken up, and has been moving along in a very satisfactory manner, every one attending doing the work assigned them well and to the satisfaction of all.

The attendance of visitors among the people of Pecos has not been what it should have been, owing to other matters absorbing their attention the first two days of the week, but by not being present on the exercises the citizens of Pecos have missed something that is calculated to benefit not only the teachers but parents and students as well.

One of the pleasing features of the Institute were the lectures by Dr. H. Y. Benedict, of the State University. Tuesday night he delivered a lecture at the Baptist church on astronomy to a fair-sized audience. Dr. Benedict is an entertaining speaker and his lecture was highly complimented by his hearers. On Wednesday, at 10 a. m., he delivered a lecture before the Institute on Mathematics, which was highly instructive and entertaining to the teachers.

Those attending are unanimous in saying that this has been a successful institute each and every teacher receiving special benefit from all the sessions, and the expressed the wish the the Tri-County Institute will become a permanent institution for the three counties of Ward, Reeves and Culberson, and be held each year at some convenient and suitable place.

The following is a list of those attending:

Toyah—Mr. B. F. Gregory, Miss Lois Adams, Miss Bess Clark, Miss Marie Lloyd.
Van Horn—Mr. C. Calhoun, Miss Garland Breeding, Miss Dorothy Lomax, Miss Lucy McMillan, Miss Nell Neill, Miss Phyllis Stephens, Miss Molly Thorp.
Pecos—Mr. T. J. Yoe, Mrs. T. J. Yoe, Miss Louise Burnett, Mrs. Yarbrough, Mrs. S. E. Wilson, Miss Carolyn Sullivan, Mrs. Jno. McCasland, Mr. T. E.

The Soldier Boys Honored by Reeves and Loving County Citizens

Fully 2,000 People, The Biggest Gathering Ever Witnessed In the History of the County, Join In Rousing Farewell To Our Boys Who Soon Leave For U. S. Service

Probably not in the history of Pecos has so much interest and profound respect been shown as was exhibited in the picnic and celebration Tuesday given in honor of our boys who go to fight our battles in England and France and against the Imperial government of Germany. The people were there in numbers from Loving county and from every point of the compass in Reeves county.

They began coming in early in the day and by noon were here to the number of something like 2000, according to the very best authority. At least that is the number who partook of one of the best picnic dinners ever spread in Reeves county. There was everything conceivable for a picnic dinner served in abundance and if there be one who was not filled it certainly was because he exhausted his patience waiting for a place and left before he was reached. It was there for him and that of the very best ever spread before a hungry people.

After the dinner hour Judge J. A. Drane made the oration of the day. He made a splendid talk, full of interest and enthusiasm and his talk was well received and liberally applauded throughout.

Judge Ross was master of ceremonies and of course made just tribute to the cause and the occasion.

Prof. Clem Calhoun made a talk on behalf of the boys who go to the front in which he covered himself with glory. Later splendid patriotic talks were made by both Judge Ben Palmer and Judge Jno. Howard.

Judge W. A. Hudson made one of his characteristically pathetic talks to the boys at the conclusion of which he presented each one of the boys who are to go into the training camps with a copy of the following appropriate resolutions:

"Resolutions adopted at a mass meeting of the Citizens of Reeves and Loving Counties, in Pecos, September 4th, 1917.

"In a mass meeting of the citizens of Reeves and Loving counties, at Pecos, Texas, on the 4th day of September, 1917, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, The United States of America is waging a righteous war in behalf of freedom and the right of Self-Government for all the peoples of the earth, having been moved thereto by an adherence to the principles of democracy which are the strong foundations of the Republic; and

"Whereas, The people of Reeves and Loving Counties have contributed and are contributing of their kith and kin to the land and sea forces that fight our battles; and

"Whereas, The valor and virtue of our citizen-soldiers, under the guiding hand of God, have wrought out and preserved our free institutions and our heritage of Liberty. Now therefore, be it Resolved:

Off For Camp Bowie

"Chief" Grounds and "Skinny" Hayslip of Pecos, were with Cos. A and B of the National Guard which passed Pecos Sunday afternoon on their way from Fort Bliss, El Paso, to Camp Bowie, Fort Worth. Jas. F. Ross, Jr., who was in Pecos on a visit to the home folk, boarded the train here and went on with his company to Camp Bowie.

First.—We invoke the blessings of Almighty God upon our country and upon those who lead us, bespeaking for them the light of His wisdom to the end that they may guide and direct with clean hands and singleness of purpose.

"Second.—We re-affirm our allegiance to the Republic and our loyalty to the Government, having unbounded confidence in the patriotism and righteousness of those upon whom are imposed the high duties of administering the affairs of a great people and the heavy burdens of safe-guarding the destinies of a nation at war.

"Third.—To men of Reeves and Loving Counties who are and will be with the Colors, we tender our profound appreciation of their sacrificial service. In whatever sphere of duty they may be placed by constituted authority, they are giving their glorious strength to a struggle that has for its issue the liberation of the world from the thralldom of militarism and our own much-loved land from the menace of foreign invasion and internal strife.

"Fourth.—We pledge to our boys our unremitting care for their comfort and our abiding confidence in their courage and patriotism. We deeply regret the stern necessity for their going and will await their home-coming with affectionate admiration. In common with all our people, we hold in highest esteem the men who offer their all that Freedom may live, and ours shall be the duty of perpetuating with solemn pride the record of their heroism.

"Fifth.—There can be no higher privilege than that of defending our common country. To those who serve us thus, there shall, in the hearts of a grateful people, be erected a monument more durable than brass. We bid our boys God-speed."

The Red Cross Society made each of the thirty-eight boys a present of a "Comfy Bag".

At night all those who cared to were invited to the court-house where a dance was enjoyed until the small hours, Ren Briscoe, Jack Hubbs, and Taylor Gardner furnishing the music. This was well-attended and most heartily enjoyed.

It was a glorious day, one participated in and enjoyed by parties from every part of both Reeves and Loving counties. There were no "slackers" here on that occasion and none who were derelict of their duty when it came to giving the boys a glorious day and a hearty farewell and "God speed the day when the war is over."

If there was a single thing to mar the happiness of anyone on this occasion The Enterprise man failed to note it. It was a grand affair and one which will not only be remembered by the boys who go to the front as one of the bright spots in their lives, but also by the people who helped make the day a pleasant one for the boys.

Teachers Entertained.

The Parent-Teachers' Association entertained the teachers of the Institute Wednesday evening on the beautiful lawn at the home of Judge and Mrs. W. A. Hudson with a watermelon feast. Besides the feast of the abundant supply of the most delicious melons procurable, the informal social hour was no small consideration for it gave our people an opportunity to meet and mingle with the cream of the land who are the cultured pedagogues.

Tobe DeRacy Injured.

Tobe DeRacy was brought in from the ranch north of Pecos Sunday, suffering from injuries sustained when horses rode by himself and W. C. Hudson fell on him.

Examination disclosed that aside from minor bruises, his worst injury was from a bad cut near the base of the skull. Since the accident the boy suffers lapses of memory, at times not even recognizing his parents. These peculiarities, however are of short duration, caused, the physicians say, by the severe blow, and in time will cease as the wound heals.

A feature of the affair was the presence of mind displayed by the Hudson boy. They were having a race when Tobe's pony stumbled and Dub seeing he was going to fall and that his horse would stumble over him, sprang from his saddle. When the spill came both animals piled on Tobe, and Dub, seeing he was sore hurt, made him easy as possible and went for help. Not finding any one at several places where he went, he left notes, appraising them of the accident and location, until finally he found a phone and informed Mrs. DeRacy of the accident. She in turn notified their oldest son, Ross, who was up the river, and he, in company with Dr. Moore left for the De Racy ranch, where they found the boys at home and Tobe being made as comfortable as possible by Dub who had, by toting him a while and leading his horse, had got him to the shade of the porch.

Instructions in Regard to Mail for Soldiers in France

Rules That Must be Followed in Sending or Receiving Mail From Europe.

From the office of the Third Assistant Postmaster General, at Washington, on August 10, instruction in regard to classification, condition, rates of postage, etc., applicable to mail to and from the United States Expeditionary forces in Europe were consolidated as follows:

(a) All mail matter originating in the United States or any of its possessions for transmission to soldiers and others, including civilians, connected in any way with the United States Expeditionary forces in Europe, and all mail originating with those forces for transmission to the United States or its possessions, is subject to the United States domestic classification, conditions, and rates of postage.

(b) Parcels of fourth-class or domestic parcel-post matter to and from the forces in Europe must not exceed 20 lbs. in weight. The eighth zone rate of 12 cents for each pound or fraction thereof is chargeable on parcels subject to pound rates. Parcels may not be registered, insured or sent C. O. D. Every parcel must bear the sender's name and address, which should be placed in the upper left hand corner of the address side, and it is of the utmost importance that such parcels be securely packed and wrapped fully and plainly addressed, as indicated below, and have proper postage prepaid thereon.

(c) United States postage stamps only are valid for the prepayment of postage on matter above described, provided that the stamps in use in the Canal Zone and the Philippines are valid for the prepayment of postage on such matter as originates in those possessions.

(d) Mail intended for the members of the expeditionary forces in Europe should bear the name and address of the sender in the upper left corner and be addressed in the following manner: 1. Name of addressee; 2. Official designation of unit or organization to which addressee belongs; 3. The words "American Expeditionary Forces." Under no circumstances should the location or station of a military organization be included in the address on mail for any member of said forces.

(e) In order to prevent delay in dispatch and secure the prompt delivery of mail addressed to the expeditionary forces it is important that the postage be fully prepaid. To this end postmasters are requested to give the matter the widest publicity and advise patrons to hand in at the post office mail addressed to such forces in order that it may be weighed, rated and have the full amount of postage affixed before the sender leaves the office.

(f) Letters to soldiers, sailors, and marines who are members of the expeditionary forces in Europe, which are indorsed in the manner set forth in paragraph 2, section 406, P. I., and R., or which in lieu of such indorsement bear the postmark of the United States Army Postal Service, may be dispatched without prepayment of postage to any place in the United States or its possessions and only the single rate of postage shall be collected on delivery.

(g) Unwrapped and unaddressed copies of magazines intended for soldiers and sailors of the expeditionary forces, when mailed by other than the publishers are subject to the postage rate of 1 cent a copy regardless of weight. Magazines to be accepted for mailing at this rate must have printed in the upper right corner of the front cover the following: "Notice to Reader:—When you finish reading this magazine place a 1-cent stamp on this notice, hand same to any postal employee and it will be placed in the hands of our soldiers or sailors at the front. NO WRAPPING—NO ADDRESS."

(h) When unwrapped and unaddressed magazines, prepaid 1 cent postage each, which bear the notice above prescribed, are handed to a postal employee or deposited in a post office by others than the publishers for mailing to soldiers and sailors of the United States expeditionary forces in Europe, the postmasters of the first class will dispatch them in accordance with instructions sent them by letter. Postmasters at offices of the second, third and fourth classes shall put up the magazines in packages labeled "Magazines for soldiers and sailors of the United States expeditionary forces," and dispatch them to the post office set opposite their respective states in the list given in paragraph (h), article 22, of the August, 1917 supplement to the Postal Guide. Postmasters at the offices named in such list will, on receiving the magazines treat them in accordance with instructions sent them by letter.

(i) Postal Money-Order Service for expeditionary forces—Money orders may be issued on domestic forms and at domestic rates payable at the United States mail agency in France. Payment will be made promptly at headquarters of the agency or at branch assigned to the military unit to which the payee belongs. In drawing orders the office of payment should be designated as "U. S. Army Postal Service," and in the coupon the name of the payee should be followed on the next line by the regiment and company, or other organization to which the payee belongs. Money orders will be issued by the agency under office number x900, and the name of the office as "U. S. Postal Service," followed by the number which designates headquarters or the branch. For example, the name of the issuing officer or an order drawn at headquarters will appear at the top of both order and coupon, and in the impression of the M. O. B. stamp as "U. S. Postal Service No. 1." The postmarking stamp of mail matter forwarded from the agency will bear a similar designation.

(j) Registry Service for Expeditionary Forces—Postmasters should refuse to accept for registration letters containing money or other valuables. Important papers which can be duplicated may be accepted for registration but patrons should be informed that indemnity will not be paid for loss of registered mail. The public should be warned that it is not safe to inclose currency in letters under any circumstances and that money orders should be used for transmitting money to the members of the expeditionary forces.

A. M. DOCKERY,
Third Asst. Postmaster Gen'l.

People Speak Well of Chamberlain's Tablets

"I have been selling Chamberlain's Tablets for about two years and heard such good reports from my customers that I concluded to give them a trial myself, and can say that I do not believe there is another preparation of the kind equal to them," writes G. A. McBride of Headford, Ont. If you are troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial.—Advt.

A Wilful Waste.

Frankly we are discouraged. In the face of all the newspapers have published admonishing the people to practice conservation the officers of Mt. Pleasant the other day deliberately broke 500 pints of more and less good whisky, permitting it, as one Mt. Pleasant editor disgustfully remarked to "form a branch across the paved square to the gutter and make its way to a sewer outlet over one hundred yards away." On the heels of this wilful waste the government announces that there shall be no more made after 11 o'clock on the night of Saturday, September eight. The Northeast Texas Press Association was scheduled to meet at Mt. Pleasant within a week or two, but unless the editors of that city bestir themselves and dam the sewer we move that the meeting be changed to Mt. Vernon. Charley Devall wouldn't let a thing like that happen on the eve of a press meeting.—Leonard Graphic.

"SAVE THE WASTE AND WIN THE WAR"

Red Cross to Equip Five Cars For Emergency Work.

The American Red Cross authorizes the following: The medical advisory committee of the Red Cross war council has just decided to equip five laboratory railroad cars, which will be prepared for emergency work against possible outbreaks of epidemics in cantonment camps in this country.

Each car will have a staff of five or more experts and will be so stationed at various cities that any cantonment can be reached with one of these laboratory cars within 24 hours on receipt of request from Federal or State authorities.

The United States Public Health Service has such a mobile laboratory unit, and Surg. Gen. Rupert Blue said the Red Cross cars would prove of the greatest assistance in the control of civilian sanitary districts. The plan has also been commended by the Surgeon General of the United States Army and Navy.

Safe Remedy for Children

Chas. Baker, Brownsville, Tex., writes: "For years I have used Foley's Honey and Tar and found it especially efficient for bad colds of my children. I recommend it to my friends as a safe remedy for children as it contains no opiates. It is certain to bring a quick and lasting relief." Stops coughs. For sale at Bozeman's Drug Store.—Advt.

Our Illiteracy

There are said to be 5,000,000 illiterates in our population. While education does not mean everything, it means much. Illiteracy is well considered a menace to our national life. Education pushes back the horizon of the individual. It is the instrument of power in his hands to aid him as a bread winner. It contributes to the stature of his being. It enlarges the source of his enjoyment. It is a little less than a disgrace to the nation that there are so many who can neither read nor write. While it is true that many illiterates have come to us from foreign lands, it is also true that many have grown up in our own country—and are growing up in our midst today.

Ignorance is one of the problems with which the American people are confronted today. There should be a pressure of public opinion and a united public effort brought about with the one idea of wiping out the disgrace. Each community should see to it that every child of school age is under instruction. Increased efforts to enforce compulsory education in every city where there is a foreign population should be made. Increased effort to induce those of adult age to enter night schools and retrieve something lost in their youthtime, should also be made. We should wipe out illiteracy. As a country and as individual communities we will be the better for it.—El Paso Times.

A Spectacular Ride

A man who travels for the Bull Durham tobacco people, covering his territory in a flivver, reached the city about 12 o'clock in a somewhat spectacular manner. At a point about midway between Sherman and Denison his car caught fire, presumably from the exhaust pipe. His efforts to subdue the blaze were unavailing and he decided to run on to the city if he could make the machine hold out. When he drove down main street the top, seat and floor of the car were burned away, but the plucky driver had inverted a water bucket for a seat and came down the thoroughfare at a lively clip leaving a streak of fire in his wake. He hurriedly drove around to the Central Fire Station and got immediate relief when the boys unlimbered their chemical apparatus. The engine of the car was little damaged and fortunately the gasoline tank did not explode.—Denison Herald.

After a week or two in the awkward squad the average recruit acquires a chin-up and look-every-m-a-n-square-in-the-eye address that does more to impress the observer than patriotic pleas and preparations.

Dress and Food Conservation.

First let us do justice to the dog. He is a peculiarly devoted and useless animal—a grateful recipient of human affection and a good flea carrier. In certain breeds and places the dog is of some advantage. The Eskimos employ him as a draft animal and shepherds find him a good protector of sheep. As a bloodhound he is an efficient tracker of men, as a pointer he is of some assistance to sportsmen. In the main, however, and as he is generally known, the dog is a nuisance, a pest and sometimes a menace. As a household acquisition he has robbed more than one child of the right to enjoy human affection. As a cuddled plaything of some childless woman's whim he has consumed the substance that might have saved more than one starving tot. As a carrier of disease and death he has compelled the state to maintain institutions and employ experts for the preservation of human life. As an eater of food he contributes not a little to the high cost of living and the limitation of supplies. In nine out of ten cases he is an economic drain on the community. In nine out of ten cases he is only an excuse for failing to do things that ought to be done. In this hour of stress and of shortage his worthlessness and cost of upkeep becomes singularly apparent. When one considers the sufferings in Poland, Belgium and Serbia, it becomes very difficult to justify the vast sums of money that are being spent for dog bread in this country. When one thinks of the thousands of babies that are dying every day for want of the bare necessities of life it is hard to tolerate the love and finance that are being squandered on poodles. When one sees poor people counting their coppers so desperately in trying to provide a half decent meal it is impossible to believe that we are warranted in supporting several million curs.—Houston Chronicle.

And then we have a number of patriots who would come nearer keeping the wolf from the door if they would spend more time doing manual labor and less time discussing the government.—Ex.

Will Be Repaid for Their Work

Nobody can afford to be sick with the cost of living at the present high mark. It is cheaper and more sensible to prevent sickness than to pay doctor's bills. Take Foley's Honey and Tar in time to check colds, to stop coughs and relieve croup before serious illness attacks a weakened constitution. For sale at Bozeman's Drug Store.—Advt.

Luck?

What is luck? It is the element of chance and chance is the mother of circumstance. If a man is standing on the railroad track and he doesn't get off, and the train hits him—why they call that bad luck. If he does jump off and the train misses him, why they call that good luck. One man will walk right into a gambling house and lay his money down, and loses it, and calls it bad luck. Another man walks into a savings bank and puts his money there and leaves it. He is called lucky. Forget that lucky stuff. You can waste enough time kicking about bad luck and wondering why is you don't have good luck go out and get a job and go Easy Street. You are your own luck—it's in your head Exchange.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE IS SKIN WHITENER

How To Make a Creamy Beauty Lotion For a Few Cents

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice thru a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.
Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.—Adv't.

Brother Bloys' Work Never Been Equalled

Camp Meeting Trustees Pass Resolutions in Tribute to Work of Founder

At a business session of the Bloys Camp Meeting Association the trustees passed a set of resolutions in connection with the death of Brother Bloys and the erection of a monument in his memory. The resolutions and pre-statement were as follows:

Gathered together in our annual camp meeting for the year 1917, the Bloys Camp Meeting Association desires to place on record its sense of irreparable loss in the death of the Rev. W. B. Bloys, D. D., its revered founder and former leader.

For 30 years Brother Bloys was a familiar figure in these mountains. As a man he was respected and lived in multitudes of homes, and on many of the trails, all over this country.

As a minister he was trusted and honored by people in all walks of life without regard to church lines. His fine Christian character, his sympathetic and brotherly spirit, his unflinching readiness to help and to encourage, his strong faith in God and the Gospel, gave him an influence for good over this country which we believe has never been equalled by another.

This camp meeting is the fruit of his untiring labor, his faith and his prayers. His love and zeal drew around him and under his leadership others like minded with himself, and with their cooperation the work has gone on with ever widening influence for all these years. And now that he is gone from us, our hearts are sore with grief, but we bow in trusting submission to the wise and loving will of our Heavenly Father.

We offer the following resolutions as expressive of our feelings under the shadow of this loss:

1. We extend to the family of Brother Bloys our sincere sympathy in the heavy bereavement which has come to them. We sorrow with them, but their sorrow must be keener and deeper than ours. To us he was brother, friend and minister; to them he was husband, father, support and stay. In such a trial we can only commend them to the all-sufficient grace of God which alone can sustain.

2. We consecrate ourselves anew to the task in which his heart was enlisted, and in which he was our long-time leader. To this task, the building up of the kingdom of God in the world, we pledge afresh our lives, our property, our children, our all. By the grace of God we will strive to be true to the faith, to the ideals, and to the hopes which inspired the life of our brother, and to follow in his footsteps, as he followed in the footsteps of the Master.

3. We feel that we owe it to the memory of Brother Bloys to erect on this camp-ground a suitable memorial, in the form of a stone or marble shaft, which shall stand here in the years to come as a silent but effective witness of our love for him and to our faith in his Lord and as a constant reminder to our young people and to all who shall come after, of the value and glory of a life devoted to the service of the kingdom.

4. We also desire that copies of these resolutions may be furnished to the family, and to such papers as may be thought best.

"SAVE THE WASTE AND WIN THE WAR."

A Half-Billion-Dollar Cotton Crop

Notwithstanding Texas has suffered one of the worst drouths in its history, it will not fare so badly, in an agricultural way. Judge Ramsey of the Federal Reserve Bank, speaking doubtless in the light of advices from the correspondents of that institution, expressed the opinion the other day that this year's cotton crop will be something like 3,250,000 bales, and that it will sell for about $450,000,000. This estimate is evidently meant to include the value of the seed. Judge Ramsey may be a little sanguine in his estimate of the size of the crop; particularly will it be thought so in those counties and sections where the yield will be so little as to be hardly worth the picking, even at the high price at present. But if there are counties that will gather the smallest crops ever known to their residents, there are other counties, though fewer of them, which will make one of the largest crops their residents have ever known. Without having had a rain in eight or ten months, Texas has had far more local showers during the crop-growing season than it is accustomed to, and as a consequence the condition of the cotton crop is more diverse and presents wider contrasts than has probably ever been known by any one whose memory does not reach back forty or fifty years.

But even if the crop should turn out no more than three million bales—and the most pessimistic would admit that it would be a conservative estimate—it will bring a cash return equal to that of a six million bale crop in ordinary times and prices. And Texas, of course, has never grown a six million bale crop, and only once or twice a crop that was two-thirds that size. One sees, therefore, that despite a disastrous drouth, the like of which not many of us recall, the financial consequences of it will be nothing like calamitous, nor even serious for the State as a whole.

But that phrase "the State as a whole," always significant has a much more qualifying value than perhaps ever before. In some favoring years Texas may be a veritable ocean of prosperity, and yet one who with a strong glass surveys its vast expanse, would find it dotted with many islands of adversity. These islands are more numerous and of a larger area this year than probably ever before. There are sections and counties for which this will be the leanest harvest in twenty years, and other sections and counties for which it will be the fattest, both in respect of size and value of the crops. Indeed, there are not a few counties in which this same contrast presents itself. The lack of uniformity was never so pronounced as it is now. From the cotton prosperity, which the State as a whole will have, of course, a large deduction will have to be made for the loss of the corn and feed crops, a loss more general than that of the cotton crop and in many sections quite as nearly total. Of course, this loss, while it will be only a deduction from the prosperity of those who will make a good or a fair cotton crop, will fall with irresistible weight on the ones who have lost their cotton. But these are local and individual misfortunes of the situation. It remains true that the State as a whole will be able to weather one of the worst drouths it has ever known, because of the extraordinary cash return which a somewhat less than ordinary cotton crop will bring.—Dallas News.

Kidney Troubles Attack Pecos Men and Women, Old and Young.

Kidney ills seize young and old. Often come with little warning.

Children suffer in their early years—Can't control the kidney secretions.

Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain. Women worry, can't do daily work.

Men have lame and aching backs. If you have any form of kidney ills

You must reach the cause—the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys—Have brought relief to Pecos people.

Pecos testimony proves it. John F. Grogan, Oak St., Pecos, says: "A younger member of the family suffered for a long time with kidney weakness. The kidney secretions passed too frequently and often could not be controlled. There was also a lot of complaint from a weak and sore back. I had heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I got a box at the Pecos Drug Co. The first box seemed to help and continued use made a cure. There has not been any complaint for quite a long time, and I can sincerely advise anyone to get Doan's Kidney Pills for weak kidneys."

The impeachment trial of Governor Ferguson, which was taken up Monday in the State Senate is still in progress and will likely continue for several days.

Another annoying feature of the war may be found in the fact that there are something like 23,000 single women in the United States paying income tax—and European titles are compelled to stay at home.—El Paso Times.

Stockmen and farmers generally are admonished by the government to lend a hand in increasing the supply of steaks and chops. Texas farmers with an early start in getting together a small bunch of meat animals can answer "Ready!" and profit accordingly. Speed up each small farm to where a few head of meat animals can be finished for market annually. Every little bit helps.—Star-Telegram.

The Russians have abandoned the great sea port of Riga, and are fleeing toward Petrograd. This retreat of the Russians is said to leave the way open for the Germans to capture Petrograd. There is already talk of moving the Russian capital to Moscow. If the Germans take Petrograd the probability is that the people of that country will get together and organize an immense army to eject the intruders.

It is known to only a few, but nevertheless, it is true, that Major Thos. H. Bomar, the 75-year-old veteran of the "Lost Cause", was the first of the elderly men of this portion of the great moral vineyard to do his bit. True to the State Rights doctrine for which he fought in the 60's, he offered through the Governor of his State and commander-in-chief of its forces, to do his duty whatever it may be. As General Lee wrote to his son, "Duty is the noblest word in the English language. Do your duty; heroes can do no more, gentlemen can do no less."

When times are at their worst you will hear the average moss-back exclaim that it is no time to vote more taxes on the poor. This statement is a false one from at least two standpoints. In the first place heavy taxes were never voted on the poor in this county, for if a man be really poor, how are you going to make his taxes heavy? And, as a rule, they are always willing to pay and are ready for more taxes when it is in a good cause. In the second place, when times are hard that is when bonds should be voted, if ever, for the purpose of not only improving the community, but of relieving the money stringency. Why not quit listening to the false reasoning of those who never really had the interest of the community at heart, and vote for the road bonds on September 15th.—Cisco Round-Up.

The leaven of political revolution is at work in Germany, a peaceful revolution, probably; but none the less a revolution. The leader of the largest political party in the Reichstag notifies the government that it is allowed "four weeks to mend its ways," under the rather cryptic threat that the necessary "steps" will be taken to compel amendment if it shall not be brought about voluntarily meanwhile. An abandonment of the political censorship is—no requested—but demanded, and finally, God's vicegerent over Germany is raked roughly for having presumed to determine the Empire's attitude with respect to international politics without consulting the representatives of the people. All this would have been lese majesty before the war; now it seems to be merely a manifestation of patriotism. The difference is immensely significant as a symptom of the feeling of the German people. A good many people think the President is highly quixotic in demanding the democratization of Germany as a prerequisite to peace negotiations. Possibly so; but there is much evidence to suggest that he has attacked the most vulnerable point in the defenses of the General Staff.—Dallas News.

Good, desirable rent houses are almost as "scarce as hen's teeth" in Pecos. The editor and wife have been asked many times in the past two weeks if they had moved into their new home recently purchased from Will P. Brady. The public are hereby notified that they have not, but hope to next week. Mrs. Jones is finding it a difficult task to secure a desirable residence to move into, and as soon as this good family vacate "we'll be thar."

It is not probable that the New Era editor will be called upon to say what to do with Turkey after the war is over. But at any rate we wish to declare that no peace arrangements will suit us which do not provide for the pulling of the last tail feather and the chopping of the old bird's head off. Turkey has been guilty of every form of black, heinous and terrible crime. She is too infamous to breathe the atmosphere of a world inhabited by human beings. With all the enlightenment and civilization with all the humanity and the Christianity of this age, there is no excuse for a nation murdering innocent babes and carrying pure young women into a captivity far worse than any form of death. The newspapers tell us of ten thousand being taken away for foul uses; ten thousand tender, God-created girls to be placed at the mercy of the foulest dogs that hell ever unleashed. It was because of conditions like that brave boys from Marfa and across the sea that brave boys country, have been called to the colors. No community is safe with a mad dog in it, nor is the world safe for decency and life, with a vicious, brutal monstrosity like Turkey running at large. The sacrifice we are going to have to make, as a people, is a tremendous one, but in the end it will be worth it all. If the wealth of America and the blood of the flower of American manhood will redeem the earth from the black scourge of Turkey and Germany, it will be gloriously spent.—Austin Callan in the Marfa New Era.

Maj. Bomar Offers Services to His Country.

The following communication will be read with pleasure by the many readers of The Enterprise who are warm friends of Major Thos. H. Bomar. While the Major is getting rather old in years he is still a young man and has as much patriotic blood running in his veins as the very best of us. The communication follows:

Governor's Office, Austin, Texas, April 28, 1917. Major Thos. H. Bomar, Pecos, Texas, Dear Sir:

In the midst of the present unusual pressure and character of his public duties, it is not possible for the Governor to give personal attention to his correspondence. Hence I am taking the liberty of acknowledging receipt of your good letter of the 26th instant, and of saying that the Governor very much appreciates your patriotic offer of services to your country in this hour of need. You may be sure that if the time should come when your services will be required, the Governor will be glad to avail himself thereof. When the scout reports you mention have been received, I shall take pleasure in referring them to the Governor for his reading, as I have done in this instance with your letter.

Extending the Governor's best wishes, I beg to remain, Yours sincerely, JNO. L. WROE, Secretary to the Governor.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 3.

Whereas, the long continued drouth in the western portion of the state during the past two years has imposed burdens so enormous upon the people that it is deemed wise that the payment of interest due and soon to become due to the school fund may be postponed to the advantage of the state, the school fund and the owners of the land; and

Whereas, the Commissioner of the General Land Office has heretofore under similar conditions, exercised a discretion in postponement of the payment of interest until conditions improved and it appearing that such postponement was for the best interest of all concerned; now therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Texas, the House of Representatives concurring: First. The Land Commissioner of the General Land Office is hereby authorized to use such discretion in the postponement of forfeitures of sales of school land for non-payment of interest as to his judgment may seem best, and especially is he authorized to defer forfeiting sales on which interest is due to November 1, 1915.

Second. It is the sense of the Senate and the House of Representatives that the discretion heretofore exercised by the Commissioner of the General Land Office in the matter of forfeitures of the sales of school land for non-payment of interest on account of severe drouths in the school land territory was sound, wise and greatly to the interest of the State, the school fund and the owners of the land, and we hereby commend him for said acts.

DAYTON, HUDSPETH, HENDERSON.

Readers of the above will see that the matter of forfeitures for non-payment of interest is left squarely up to Land Commissioner Robison. He has already stated in a message to County Clerk Vaughan "There will be no forfeitures in 1915." This will be good news to the people of West Texas who are just at this time sorely pressed on account of the unprecedented drouth.

Draft Number 258

I hate war. I hate the suffering it brings to those who go and those who stay. No one appreciates better than I the depression that comes to a man when he realizes that his country is at war and that it is up to him to do his part. No one has a clearer conception of what the future may possibly hold for such a man.

But though I hate war, I am no pacifist. I realize that in the lives of nations, as in the lives of men, there comes times when to submit is not only intolerable but may prove ruinous.

America tried to keep out of this war. We stood to one side and saw Belgium ravaged, and France overrun, and even the smaller Balkan nations crucified. And then we realized that there is a wild beast loose among the nations. We realized that we must fight Germany over there in Europe with help—or fight later here, alone. When America realized that thank God she took her stand beside the allies determined to prove to the world that in this just cause, we too, are proud to fight.

In this war, each of us has to play a part. Those of us who can, must fight. The rest must give. Not with reserve, nor stingily but openly, freely, willingly, give until it hurts.

It has been given to these United States to be the deciding factor in this world struggle of democracy against autocracy—and God helping us, Democracy shall not perish from the earth.—Gregory Farm Blotter.

A letter from Attorney Clay Cooke states that they reached Eureka Springs safely, although he and his good wife had encountered roads all the way through Oklahoma almost impassable on account of the heavy rains. They will either sell or ship their car and return by rail and are expected home this week.

Baird Star: Some Congressmen, very few, we are glad to know are so child-like and simple that if our country does have to enter the war in earnest they would have our soldiers use blank cartridges lest they injure some of the enemy. Why not do like the Chinese do, and arm our soldiers with tom toms and stink pots. The tom toms to make the noise and the stink pots to make the enemy sick. Would not La Follette and W. J. Stone make heroic figures charging the enemy with, say La Follette beating a gong and Stone armed with the latest improved Chinese stink pot? The great danger with these two men in the army is that they might use their ancient Chinese weapons on their own men at the front, just as they are doing in the Senate now.

State Press approves of the scheme entirely. Not because of the damage that Senators Stone and La Follette might do to the enemy with their tom toms and stink pots, but rather on account of what the enemy would surely do to Senators Stone and La Follette. The country would be well rid of them. Disloyalty is bad enough when confined to irresponsible vagrants and anarchists who are subjects to the punishment of civil law. But it is immeasurably worse when it is found in places that are supposed to be high places; and that consequently guarantees the occupants a certain immunity from punishment. Treason is defined as the giving of "aid and comfort to the enemy." Judge then, what we should call the words of such men as Stone and La Follette. We are in the war. We are in it wholeheartedly, and with a firm determination to wage it to that point of success where we can dictate terms that will in the future guarantee to the peoples of the world the undisturbed pursuit of life, liberty and happiness. Nothing can be so no-tent toward the winning of this war as that it be firmly borne in on the German people that we shall not turn aside in our course by fifty-fifty policies or premature peace terms. To allow the German people to believe this is merely to nerve them for a continuation of the struggle. To dispossess them of that notion might so enervate them as to make a victorious peace before even America's armies are thrown into the caldron. And yet the speeches of La Follette and his ilk—reported, we may be sure, triumphantly and in full in the German press—are doing more than any one thing to assure the Germans in their hope that the United States is but halfheartedly in the war. Those speeches, consequently, are going to be paid for by America with the blood of her sons. They should not be tolerated by the people of this country. The question of freedom of speech, even in Congress, has ceased to be academic. It has become vital. Every ill-advised word must be paid for in lives and in sacrifice. The only question is how long the American people will continue to allow the pacifists and the malcontents to abuse their patience.—State Press in Dallas News.

Mrs. Holdman Passes Away

Mrs. Caroline Holdman, the mother of Perry Holdman, residing on a farm north of Pecos, died at her son's home Tuesday, at the ripe age of 84 years.

To no sickness or disease was her death attributed. Balmorhea News Items (From Toyah Valley Herald)

E. D. Balcom was out last Friday from Pecos with some prospectors.

One of the heaviest rains of the season fell last Saturday between Verhalen and Saragosa, and for 3 or 4 miles was running a regular river along the railroad right of way. From what we can learn it did not cover a very large scope of country.

Chester Jack, Troop H 17th Cavalry, stationed at Douglas, Arizona, spent several days here this week visiting the family of Henry T. Lavelle.

Johnnie Wilson and wife left Monday for Pecos, their future home, he having accepted a position as bookkeeper with the Pecos Auto Co. We wish them well in their new home.

The Presbyterian people are making an effort to buy or to build a manse for their pastor and have him stationed at Balmorhea. The Presbytery meets next month and they will make all the final arrangements to put before that body.

Jerome Dolezal, who has been connected with the Tri-State Telephone Co. as lineman for some time, and recently joined the signal service, was notified last Friday to report for duty at El Paso at once.

Prof. C. E. Whitehead came in yesterday and will get things in readiness for the opening of school Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Patterson entertained the members of the Presbyterian church last Friday night, at their home.

The new school catalogues, for the Balmorhea Public Schools, is off the press and ready for distribution. It contains the course of study, rules and regulations, and several illustrations of scenery near Balmorhea. You can get a copy by calling on V. E. Pruett, secretary of the school board or at the Herald office.

A. V. Johnson left last Friday night for El Paso, where he made application to enter the Medical Corps of the U. S. Army, to be examined, and we learned that he passed the examination all right. He was joined by his wife at Pecos Sunday and they will drive through to Ohio, in their new Buick Six, and he will then report for duty at some point in the east, probably New York, and the next time we hear from A. V. he will probably be "somewhere in France."

W. M. Taylor came in from his Guadalupe Mountain home and truck garden Wednesday night. Mr. Taylor has a garden high up in these mountains—to be exact, just 7500 feet above sea level. The place is about 135 miles northwest from Pecos. In former years he has hauled his "garden sass" 130 miles to Toyah and peddled it there. While in Toyah Mr. Taylor and the editor became close friends and this trip to Pecos was "just to see John and his family" and to see for himself how the editor, wife and son were getting on and incidentally to bring along some of those most delicious fruits and vegetables for ye editor and square himself for reading matter for another year. Mr. Taylor will soon be 70 years young and is now as spry as a kitten and has already made more than 600 miles in his vegetable wagon in less than a month.

O. J. Green purchased all of the load left after the editor was supplied. These vegetables and fruits are as fine in appearance, size and flavor as any that ever grew anywhere and those fortunate enough to get some of them will certainly want more.

Mr. Taylor says that it has been dry in his section this year and the rains have been spotted and not altogether plentiful at that.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Oates returned Tuesday from an overland trip to Fort Worth and other East Texas points.

Death of Mrs. Manning.

Mrs. Mary Manning died at the sanitarium Monday afternoon at about 4:30, September 3, 1917, where she had undergone an operation Tuesday of last week, the only hope that she might be restored to health, but her frail condition was such that she could not survive.

Mrs. Manning was born in Texas, near Fort Worth, in 1853; she was married to John G. Manning in 1871, to which union were born six children, four of whom survive her, Mrs. Sid Floyd, of Midland, Mrs. Tom Harding, of Fort Worth, and Mount Manning, of Lordsburg, N. M., all of whom were present when the end came, and another son, Hayden Manning, who is in Canada. There are eleven grandchildren living.

Mrs. Manning was converted and joined the Methodist church in early life, and has always lived a devoted Christian life, in fact, her life convinced those with whom she came in contact that her Master and service to Him was first in her life. She was a Bible student, had a conception of the great truths found therein not given to every one; was a regular attendant at Sunday school, and to the Missionary Society and was always at her place at the mid-week prayer meeting when her health permitted. Love for her church was devotion itself and wielded an influence for good that can never die.

Deceased had lived in Pecos for twenty-five years and had endeared herself to every one by her unselfish life in deeds of kindness and words of encouragement and sympathy to the depressed and sorrowing. She was charitable, gave freely of her means, in fact, was generous to a fault.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at her neat little cottage home in the north part of town amid sorrowing loved ones and a large concourse of friends, for all who knew her loved her. Her pastor, Rev. J. H. Walker, assisted by Revs. H. L. Magee and C. S. McCarver, conducted the service and paid beautiful tribute to the life of this good woman, and admonished those present to emulate her life as she had followed Jesus.

Interment was made at Fairview Cemetery beneath a mound of beautiful flowers, a silent tribute to the love and esteem of friends. Our friend is gone, but as we looked upon her peaceful face, we realized that her soul has moved on into a greater peace, and that her life is already unfolding in a greater and more glorious service in the presence of the God who made and loveth all and to whom The Enterprise commends the sorrowing loved ones.

Then and Now

A farmer objected to paying a dealer $99 for a buggy that his father had got 20 years ago for $50. The dealer informed him that his father had paid him 300 bushels of corn for the $50 buggy, and offered to give his customers in exchange for 300 bushels of corn the following: A $90 buggy, a $75 wagon, a $20 suit of clothes, a $20 dress for his wife, a $2 dress for the baby, a $5 crib for the baby, a $3 box of cigars, $10 worth of gasoline, and $15 worth of lubrication oil.

The farmer paid the $99. All of which proves that the farmer of today, though he pays more for some things in money, really pays much less for them in the products of his land.—Big Springs Herald.

FOR CARE OF POULTRY

Hints on Proper Diet and the Importance of Clean Poultry Houses.

No more important work for poultry can be done than preparations for planting fall and winter green crops for your fowls. Everything that can be done for winter eggs should be done. Eggs are scarce and high often in winter and those who do what they can to increase the yield from their flock are fortunate.

Land should be selected near the poultry yard on which to plant crops to supply green feed for the poultry. If possible select strong land and land that is convenient. Then determine the crop or crops that will likely give the most food and the best food.

The legumes are best provided they grow well. Of these may be mentioned burr clover, crimson clover and the hairy vetch. These are annuals and may be planted for one season's grazing. If desired, biennials, such as red clover, sweet clover, mililotus alba, may be sown. Alfalfa is a most excellent crop for fowls.

Of the non-legumes the small grains are good. Rye, wheat, oats, barley, emmer—all make good feed for fowls. Dwarf Essex rape is also planted for fowls as well as farm animals. Few plants are hardier than rape and few will yield more tonnage per acre where the soil is rich.

A good combination that the writer has used is rye and the hairy vetch. A bushel of vetch per acre sown in well-prepared soil early in September will under reasonable conditions make excellent feeding ground for chickens.

The fowls should not be neglected. The time has come when attention must be given to the feeding and care of hens if they are expected to be profitable. Sowing winter crops is one way to prepare.

One of the advantages of the colony house system of poultry raising is that the birds have ample opportunity to find animal food, such as bugs, worms, grasshoppers, etc. This is a very necessary part of the diet if you are raising poultry for eggs. If you have movable houses for the flock, place the houses near fields likely to harbor destructive insects; this will protect the corps and at the same time provide the necessary animal food.

If your flock is penned up, do not neglect the meat constituent of the ration. Beef scraps or meat meal is sold as a by-product from packing houses. But another source of meat supply may have been overlooked in your town: the local butcher. If you have a flock of considerable size, it will pay you to get a good bone cutter and buy the meat scraps and green bones from your local butcher, cut them up and feed them to your birds.

Fresh lean meat is undoubtedly the best kind of animal food. Lean meat furnishes the protein so necessary in the egg laying ration and without which fowls will not maintain their customary health and vigor. Another source of fresh meat is from rabbits, the killing of which will reduce the number of crop destroyers.

Whitewash on the poultry house will change the appearance of the poultry yard and give some protection to the walls of the building. A good coat of whitewash will also cover crevices and other hiding places of mites.

It is a good plan to give the poultry house a good coat of whitewash at least once a year sometimes it will be advisable to whitewash it twice a year, fall and spring. It does not require much time to whitewash the poultry house—the shade trees may be whitewashed after the whitewash is prepared and the cost is almost nothing.

The government formula of making whitewash is highly recommended. The formula was called "government" probably from the fact that it was made and used first by the army officials when post and buildings, etc., at barracks were whitewashed.—Farm and Ranch.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.—Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days... I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go... I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. My life was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle... I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui. Try Cardui today.

Hundreds of dollars are being sent out of Abilene every week for printing that could be done at home. Those people who send their printing away should not complain at others for patronizing the mail order houses.—Taylor County Times.

And Abilene is not the only city and Taylor is not the only county where this practice is carried on to an extent that is gross injustice to the county papers which yearly donate free of charge and in gladness spirit many dollars worth of space and many hours of time that is taken from their own business to boost and build the reputation of country which they represent. LIFT YOUR CORNS OFF WITH FINGERS

Tells How to Loosen a Tender Corn or Callus So it Lifts Out Without Pain.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called Freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.—Advt.

German People Believed They Were Attacked

Paris, France, September 2.—President Wilson's note being virtually addressed to the German people, there is more than usual interest in the latest account of the German people's condition and feeling as related by an army nurse named de Winne, a Belgian, who had just returned after thirty-four months of captivity in Germany. As a nurse he enjoyed special favor and visited Munster, Soltau, Hanover, Gotingen, Dusseldorf, Cologne, Aix la Chappelle and Karlsruhe. With regard to the spirit of the Germans, he said:

"The Germans believe hard as iron that Germany was attacked and is only defending her existence. Not only do the people repeat this, but intellectuals, doctors, and officers to whom I spoke are so convinced of this that they are ready to make the greatest sacrifices.

"Why did not your country let us pass through?" asked one doctor, "then you would not have been a prisoner and your country would have escaped the horrors of war."

"We wished to keep our given word," I answered. "We defended ourselves when attacked."

"But your country was conspiring with England and with France," he retorted.

"So one wonders when some particle of truth will penetrate minds so obdurately closed. I never met a German who was not convinced of German victory. But many note with fright that the blockade and economic situation are ever postponing peace.

"This has made them conciliatory.

"The English are detested; the French are admired for their courage; the Russians are despised as savages. As for the Americans, the Germans maintain they will be no help to the allies from a military point of view. But they feel more terrified at the universal reprobation they feel is rising against Germany. The working class rail against the military classes, the Prussians and the crown prince, but believe that the emperor desires the end of the war by a peace of conciliation, but is thwarted by the crown prince and military leaders."

When asked if a revolution is possible, he replied:

"I dare not say, but I can say that in no town that I visited have I discovered revolutionary symptoms."

Philanthropy.

The war has enormously increased the already large crop of philanthropic societies. Every such organization calls for a long list of officers, a paid secretary and paid assistants, a large amount of expensive literature, and in some instances a magazine. To meet the expenses of this publicity there is a steady solicitation of the public for funds. Many a busy person, appealed to by the commendable causes that are represented, will ease his conscience by a generous contribution and the permission to use his name on the list of vice-presidents. All societies have an imposing list of vice-presidents, which give weight to their appeals. The multiplication of societies, even when for good purposes, means the support of an organization and officers at a cost out of all proportion to the work done. In an editorial upon "Charity As a Profession," the New York World pointed out that in that great city 4,000 people were making a living in social work supported by private philanthropy. One worker receives $10,000 a year, eight receive $5,000 each, and the salaries of 758 clerks aggregate $859,000 annually. Our criticism is not that the causes represented are always unworthy of support, but that the thing has been overdone, that the middleman is too big an item of expense in philanthropy.—Leslie's.

He who practices the good he does not try to preach is more popular than he who preaches the good he does not try to practice.

Troubles

We were just about ready to blame the kaiser with all our troubles until we came to Marfa. Now we are forced to include others. Having read so much about "The City of Lights" we never expected, on coming west, to have to grope in the dark with a candle. But such has been the case.

It is a little inconvenient, when you depend on electric power to run your machinery, to be without "juice". That is like trying to keep buttermilk customers satisfied after your cow has gone dry. You are about as helpless as an American army would be in the midst of the European conflict fed on rice soup and armed with elm clubs.

The illuminated city has not been illuminated; the power has failed to produce. After having fallen down a flight of stairs two or three times because the wind whipped out our candle, and having had to go back to the old method of picking type out of a badly mixed case, we know whereof we speak. But we are not censuring the management of the light plant; we realize that the company would give the service if possible. When a cow gets in a bog hole and can't get out, why she just can't get out, and that's all there is to it, and it would be folly to fuss at the poor brute. We are going to have satisfactory service after a while, and we must patiently wait for it. In the meantime, we must ask the indulgence of our readers. We are doing the very best that can be done until the plant gives down the wherewith milk more freely. New machinery is to be installed and excellent service is promised.

We do not want to find fault with anything or anybody in Marfa; we never saw a town or a people we liked better. After being back in the hot east, where they fine you for "jay-walking" where everybody talks cotton "craps" and they haven't any enchaladas, it is good to be here. Maybe we had better reconsider, after all, and blame old "Bloody Bill." Yes, that's exactly what we'll do. So here goes: Gott rouse mit Villum, muerto a los Alemanes, dadviski glumski el bochas, no likee the kaiser. Hurrah for the city of lights; love thy neighbor as thyself and pay your subscription.—Marfa New Era.

Austin Callan, the writer of the above, would like to knock just a little. He had a knock coming and he used the gracious opportunity. But he has common ordinary horse sense, and looks at misfortunes in a sensible way. He knows the light plant was doing its best to produce the product for which it was paid. He also knew the kaiser should have a punch in the nose and this was the opportune time. Callan is a good newspaper man and "sabe's the burro," and here's wishing him success, which is sure to come his way.

Fame Is Fickle

Popularity is fickle; even the ancient Romans had a proverb that the distance from the Capitolian hill (where victors were crowned) to the Tarpeian rock (where traitors were executed) was but short, and things have not changed materially in our day and time. Not long ago the people were expecting the impossible things from Edison; he would take care of the submarines, and he had an invention that would destroy any army within twenty miles, etc. Of course Edison never had any claims like that, but there were plenty of hopeful souls to make them for him, and now that the war has been on a few months and nothing superhuman has been done by the great inventor these same folks are beginning to cuss him and call him a four-flusher. Such is the glory of this world! Let the man distinguish himself, and admiring friends straightway try to make some kind of an idol of him, but they are going to throw mud at him the moment they discover he is human like the rest of us.—Quanah Observer.

It doesn't take much to make the whole family happy if it is the kind of family that isn't expecting too much to start out with.

Experience The Best Teacher.

It is generally admitted that experience is the best teacher, but should we not make use of the experience of others as well as our own? The experience of a thousand individuals is more to be depended upon than that of one individual. Many thousands of persons have used Chamberlains Cough Remedy for coughs and colds with the best results, which shows it a thoroughly reliable preparation for those diseases. Try it. It is prompt and effectual and pleasant to take.—Advt.
