SPRING MOVEMENT OF CATTLE HEAVY

San Angelo, Texas, April 4.—What is expected to be the heaviest spring movement of cattle from West Texas since before the drought, if not in ten years, began Friday and Saturday with the shipment from Monument, Irion County, and from San Angelo of forty-nine cars of cattle, carrying 1,389 head.

T. C. Rutledge, inspector for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association, announced Saturday that 500 cars have been ordered for use on the Orient Railroad between Alpine and San Angelo—stretch of 227 miles—while the Santa Fe will use 150 cars in transferring herds from points between Sterling City and Paint Rock. These 1,050 cars will carry an average of thirty animals to the car, or 31,500 head.

Ivey Johnson of Ardmore, Ok., on Friday shipped thirty-four cars of aged steers, 997 head in number, over the Orient from Monument to Scullin, Ok. The cattle had been pastured in Irion County for several months.

James Callan of Menard, a former president of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association, consigned ten cars of 3-year-old steers from this city to Blackland, Ok., over the Santa Fe. There were 242 animals in the shipment.

Marvin M. Douglas of San Angelo, formerly of Ardmore and a partner of Ivey Johnson, shipped five cars of aged steers, 150 head in number, from San Angelo to Scullin, Ok., over the Santa Fe. These cattle had been pastured on J. Willis Johnson's ranch, near the old Fair Grounds, east of the city.

About one-half the cattle to be shipped from this territory during April and May were brought here for the winter from the Middle West, the other half represent cattle that were purchased here last fall by out-of-the-State buyers for spring delivery. All the stock is in fine shape due to the excellent range, and will require but little feeding before going on the market.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

Prepared for The Enterprise By The First National Bank in St. Louis.

"The Economic World" reports that the Saving Bank Association of the State of New York has recently procured figures regarding the movement of their deposits in 1920 from 635 mutual savings institutions in all sections of the country except the Southern States, where savings banks of the strictly mutual type virtually do not exist as yet. The reports indicate a more rapid rate of increase in savings deposits during the past year than has occurred for a good many years past. The aggregate deposits of the 635 institutions at the end of 1920 are found to have been $5,635,389,904, a gain of no less than 9.30 per cent over the total deposits of the same institutions at the end of 1919. The 410 reporting banks in the New England States had aggregate deposits at the end of 1920 of $2,112,637,421, an increase for the year of 7.53 per cent. The total deposits of the 198 reporting institutions in the Eastern States on December 31, 1920, were $3,186,580,900, a gain for the past twelve months of 10.78 per cent. Twenty-one mutual savings banks in the Middle Western States showed an increase of deposits to the amount of $10,851,938, the rate of gain being greater for the Wisconsin institutions, namely 25.66 per cent. The rate of increase in deposits shown by mutual savings banks in the Pacific Coast States was 6.99 per cent, the gain in California being 6.07 per cent and that in the State of Washington 12.48 per cent.

Attention to the great interest in Mexico and its opportunities for investment of capital but warns its members against those who would take advantage of that interest to mislead the public. Alluding to the fact that the United States is being flooded with requests from unofficial and probably unauthorized persons to be permitted to furnish information as to opportunities for investment of capital, for a fee, the management of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, after urging those seeking information as to Mexico to address either the Mexican government or the American Chamber of Commerce at Mexico City, says: "Information of the sort indicated should and no doubt will be willingly given without cost, as it should be. If the Toyah Basin Chamber of Commerce can afford to issue free, a daily bulletin for the purpose of living information as to the resources of the territory it covers, the great Republic of Mexico or even the Chamber of Commerce of its cities should be able to supply the world with information without making a charge for it." The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is right in the matter.—Toyah Basin News.

CLOSE OF SCHOOL

We hardly realize that the close of school is so near and yet it is. We hardly realize that within the next six weeks the senior class of 1921 will be gone, and we juniors looming on a new threshold. We are looking forward to the commencement and graduating exercises with great pleasure for we feel that it is going to be imprinted on our minds. We are anxious to see the honor students, anxious to see every senior with a diploma in their hand.

BE RID OF THAT ACHE

If you are a sufferer with lame back, headache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend? Mrs. John DeRacy, Pecos, gave the following statement October 28, 1915: "I was troubled for a long time with my kidneys. My back was weak and lame and hurt me with a dull constant ache. I was tired and languid and had dizzy spells and headaches. Black spots often seemed to float before my eyes. I was also bothered with my kidneys acting irregularly. I heard a lot about Doan's Kidney Pills and decided to try them. I got some at the Pecos Drug Co., Inc., and it only took two boxes to cure me. I haven't been bothered since."

LASTING RESULTS. On April 7, 1919, Mrs. DeRacy said: "I haven't needed Doan's Kidney Pills since I commenced them in 1915 for the cure they gave me has lasted. I have been in fine health."

The railroads may find that it is a case of the "Goose and the Golden Egg," if they persist in keeping freight rates at figures which make it impossible to ship farm, garden, and orchard products so that the producer can realize a profit.

The re-election of Alfred Tinally as president of the Sunshine Oil Corporation, as well as the entire list of directors, is a just tribute to the faithfulness of these officials who have kept the Sunshine on its feet and kept the work of development going in spite of the stress of hard times and the hard sailing in getting money, which with many other companies over the country were forced to suspend operations for a time. Mr. Tinally has kept things going and now has the Sunshine Corporation, in the judgment of this editor, in better condition than at any time since its organization. While by their deal with the Federal Service and Development Co., Inc., has reduced their acreage, they still have acreage enough to make every stockholder all money they will need and settles the question of finances so far as the five deep-tests are concerned, which should prove the territory. From that time on those owning Sunshine stock should be in clover so to speak. The president and directors have made good or else they would not have been returned.

BEATING THE SQUEEZERS

A Romance

A romance of high finance has just come to a happy end, with our well-known fellow citizen, Henry Ford, in the role of the hero.

It is something more than six months since the other automobile wizard, Durant, got into difficulties with his General Motors company. The business slump came, and Durant found himself in great need of ready cash, which was only forthcoming when Morgan and DuPont came to the "rescue," and incidentally took the company away from the said Durant.

During the recent winter, it suddenly dawned on Ford that he also would need big credit pretty soon. Inventory on his enormous stock of material showed heavy loss because prices had fallen after he had purchased. The farmer had been hit hard and sales of autos dwindled. Big bills were falling due. In the spring thirty-five millions must be paid for taxes, etc.

Ford's immense profits were tied up in his great plants, in huge stocks of materials, and he certainly didn't have enough cash in hand.

Now arrives the ready little New York financier. Oh, certainly, New York's financial district would lend Henry a hundred million! Henry played with them awhile and then turned the proffer down; he wanted to own the business himself for awhile.

Well, things didn't pick up and there was another offer. Ford heroically declined and then, in February, sales started to be brisk. Faster and faster they came, and in March the Michigan wizard sold 30,000 machines. This saved the day.

Henry will have enough cold cash this spring to pay his debts and all taxes. And hereafter, we opine, he'll be careful we have plenty of coin ahead for emergencies.

A GREAT AMERICAN

The other day the King of Italy, the members of his ministry, the American ambassador and many other notables, gathered in Rome and unveiled a marble bust of a plain American citizen, David Lubin.

Thirty years or so ago David Lubin was a small shopkeeper in Sacramento, California. Lubin saw the need of accurate information concerning markets and crop conditions to help gardeners and orchardists and farmers; guide for market opportunities, knowledge upon which to base amount, character, variety of what was to be raised. He conceived a plan for a great information bureau.

The idea grew slowly at first, but presently it became an institution in California. Then the rest of the country saw it big, and Lubin's crop information bureau became nation-wide. Later Lubin started in to make it world-wide.

Lubin died recently in Rome, head of a world-wide organization such as he had dreamed of. Every civilized nation in the world contributed to the information he gathered and distributed, and supported his enterprise with funds willingly given to the organizer and director of the International Institute of Agriculture.

But world-wide information concerning markets and crops is not the end of it all. It was merely a great start. Lubin planned also for correct and scientific distribution of foods grown on this earth and slowly that will follow. Some day, grateful producers and grateful consumers will place Lubin's name on the pinnacle with the greatest who have lived.

The rebuke which was administered to the three would be toughs who occupied front seats (for awhile) at the Rialto last night should be a lesson not only to them, but to other young men, which will never be forgotten. The conductress gave them a sound, genteel warning without mincing words that their rough stuff "would not be tolerated" and the management of the Rialto wasted no time in escorting them up the aisle to the front exit amid cheers from a crowd of the best people of our town. The management is to be congratulated on their elimination from the large audience gathered to enjoy one of the finest musical productions ever presented to the people of Pecos. They will probably never realize the disgrace which attaches to being bodily thrown out of a theatre for conduct unbecoming a gentleman but the majority of our better people who saw this act performed do, and hail with delight the turning point when people who cannot or will not be decent are barred from marring the pleasure of our good people.

JUSTICE FOR WEST TEXAS

Gov. Pat M. Neff certainly did spill the beans when he vetoed the West Texas A. & M. bill. That was the last straw that broke the camel's back and put practically the entire West Texas in arms, so to speak. The editor was born in Texas fifty-three years ago and is some Texan and proud of his State but is really ashamed and chagrined that the people of East and South Texas should be so ungrateful and that the people of West Texas should stand for it so long as they have. The legislature got by with their failure to re-district the State and give West Texas a just and fair representation in the legislative halls of State, but not without a sting which was as poisonous as the bite of a rattler, but when the Governor vetoed the West Texas A. & M. bill he stirred up a real hornets' nest and now the people all over West Texas are talking a division of the State. The Star-Telegram, which is a friend of West Texas and for justice and right to each section of the State sums up this question in its leading editorial as follows:

The wave of indignation which has swept over West Texas as a result of Governor Neff's veto of the West Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College bill is not surprising. It is precisely what any man knowing the situation would expect. Nor is it surprising that talk of a division of the State should spring up spontaneously in several different places on the same day and that a movement with that purpose in view should actually be started. There are many patriotic citizens of West Texas who have felt for a long time that nothing like justice for West Texas and the Panhandle would ever be obtained without a division of the State. People in other sections of the State are wont to smile at the idea and make fun of it, or they talk about the blood that was shed at the Alamo and declare that the division of the State would be a sacrilege. But when an examination is made of the amount of taxes that has been paid into the State Treasury year after year by the 120 or more counties west of Fort Worth, and a comparison is made of what those counties and the entire section receive in return from the State, one can easily understand why many of those who have been paying such taxes do not regard the question of a division of the State either as a joke or as a sacrilege. When added to this it is considered that the State has not been reapportioned into Senatorial districts in twenty years, and that West Texas is not given anything like an equal voice in the affairs of the State, the wonder is that the people of that section have remained so patient under such conditions. The regular session of the Legislature adjourned without reapportioning the State in spite of a clear Constitutional mandate to do so, and now Governor Neff's veto comes on top of that as an additional indication of the indifference with which West Texas is regarded at Austin. Is it to be wondered at that some of the West Texas people are beginning to think of a separate State?

If we do not warm to the idea of separate Statehood, it is because we regard such a suggestion either as a joke or as sacrilege. It is chiefly because we recognize the practical difficulties in the way of such a movement. Texas could not be divided without the consent of Texas, and the consent of Texas means the consent of the Texas State Government—the Texas Legislature and the Texas Governor—or by a vote of a majority of the people of Texas. In the latter case the vote would have to be authorized by the Texas Legislature. It is to be feared that Congress would not grant the right of "self-determination" to West Texas in spite of the treaty provision that Texas may be divided into five States. Least of all would a Republican Congress look with favor upon the creation of a new State that would be more than likely to send two new Democratic Senators to Washington. But aside from all this, under the treaty and under the Federal Constitution, the Texas Legislature would have to act upon the matter and if we cannot get even common justice from that body it is not to be expected that it would co-operate in a movement to divide the State.

The present situation cannot be permitted to continue, however. It is a situation that ought to be intolerable to a liberty-loving and justice-loving people. The truth is that too many people in West Texas do not realize the situation. And because they do not realize it, too many of them are indifferent to the whole matter. What is necessary, first of all, is for the leaders of West Texas to awaken these indifferent ones of their own people to the situation. It is about time that this condition under which West Texas pays taxes for East Texas politicians to spend as they please should be changed. It will never be changed so long as West Texas continues to bear it in the manner that it has born it in the past. There are patriotic Texans in every section of the State who will help to change it if the people of West Texas act together to bring the truth to their attention. If there are those even in West Texas who do not realize the situation, what must be the case in other sections of the State. A movement for a separate State is more likely to divide the people of West Texas than to have any other result. But a movement to get justice for West Texas, and an educational movement to acquaint the whole State, some West Texans included with the extent of the existing injustice, will unite West Texas and raise up friends for justice throughout the State. Governor Neff's veto is only an incident. But if it will serve to awaken West Texas to the fight ahead of them, it will perform a service of which the Governor never dreamed.

Some of the world's foremost geologists have been in Pecos. All of them say that Pecos is destined to be another Tampico; that it will in all probability be the world's greatest oil field; that the LAURA WELL of the SUNSHINE-FEDERAL INTERESTS will flow over the top in another hundred feet; that it will be a gusher, and that there is no doubt of it.

WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

Are you waiting for more evidence to persuade you? If so you are likely to wait until it is too late.

WHAT HAVE WE FOUND?

The sample of oil at our office taken from the bottom of the Laura has been seen, handled and tested by hundreds, and all have the same opinion; Tampico formation and a gusher near.

THE GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY AT PECOS

We have thousands of Acres in the Pecos Field. We were here first and procured gilt-edge oil leases on lands selected by us before anybody else ever thought of Pecos. Wire us if you wish to make an investment. Make known to us how much acreage you want and what price you wish to pay. Better spend a few dollars on a wire and save money, do not wait for more news. The news is already as big as all outdoors.

PECOS IS THE BIGGEST OIL PROPOSITION IN THE OIL WORLD TODAY

We are answering many wires and we will answer yours. We are placing those who have confidence in us, in the cream of this great oil field. Our time is yours and no matter how large or how small your order we will give it the same careful consideration.

No Worms in a Healthy Child All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 5c per bottle.

RESULTS OF THE TRI-CITY MEET HELD AT PECOS APRIL 1 AND 2 From The Whirlwind. The Tri-City literary meet was held at the First Baptist Church, Pecos, Texas, Friday evening, April 1. The first contest that took place was the Junior girls declamation contest. The results of this contest were: Ruth Rawlins, Fort Stockton first; Ruth Alsop, Barstow, Second. The next contest was the Junior boys' declamation contest. The results of this contest were: John Manna, Pecos, first; Irish Humphries, Saragosa, second. The next number on the program was a piano solo by Willie Ruth Hinds. This was enjoyed by everyone present. The senior girls declamation contest was the next contest. The results of this contest were: Julia Magee, Pecos, first; Jewell Burior, Fort Stockton, second. The next contest was the senior boys' declamation contest. The results of this contest were: Lyle Wilkerson, Fort Stockton, first; Balser Hefner, Pecos, second. The next number on the program was the girls debate. The question was "Open Shop." The Fort Stockton Debaters were: Sarah Rowells and Maurine McDonald who supported the negative. The Pecos debaters were: Mary Ellen Coon and Zorena Todd, who supported the affirmative. The judges awarded the Stockton debaters first place.

RESULTS OF THE TRI-CITY TRACK MEET HELD APRIL 2. The first event Saturday morning was girls' tennis. Sidney Lawrence from Fort Stockton played with Mildred Carson, Pecos. They played three sets. Mildred defeated Sidney in all three sets. After lunch was served the visitors at the school building the races took place.

THE ELIMINATION FOR THE COUNTY MEET. From The Whirlwind. Friday night, April 8th, the final elimination contest will be held at the school building, beginning at seven-thirty. The contest will be held in Junior girls, Junior boys and Senior boys declamation. The winners of this meet will represent the Pecos school in the county meet which will be held at Toyah, Saturday night, April 9th. There has been quite a bit of interest shown in declamation this year and as a result the quality of the declamation work is superior. The public is invited to attend this elimination contest and as many as can are urged to go to Toyah Saturday night. As has been our custom in the past there will be a small fee charged at the door, which will be used to defray the expenses of the winners in the county meet when they go to the District meet at Midland. Children ten cents, adults fifteen.

The spelling contest will be had during the week. Since the change in the rules the Spelling contest consists in spelling three hundred and sixty words in one hour. The cause of the change of the rules was perhaps due to the difficulty which the officials of the Interscholastic League fund in eliminating by oral spelling.

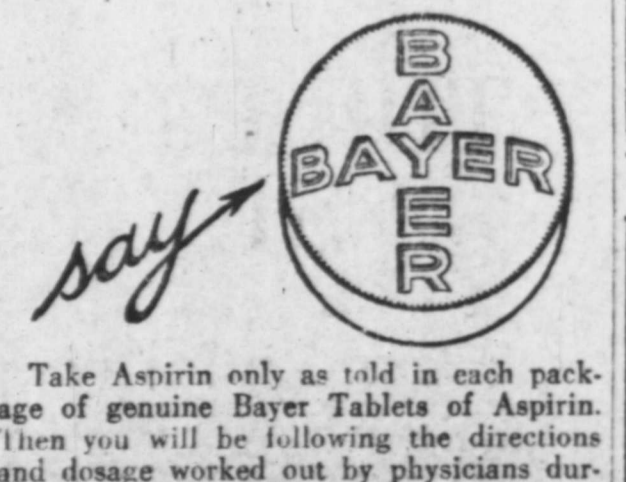

Pecos high school will be represented in the County and in the District meet by a debating team, each of boys and girls. Saturday night at Toyah the two teams will debate each other. It is against the rules for the boys to debate the girls, but due to the fact that no other team is entering in the county and as there is plenty of time after the other contests for the debate, we are having the debaters to debate for practice. Toyah will be a good place in which to debate the subject this year. The question is "The Open Shop Movement in Texas." and as Toyah is a railroad town the affirmative side will have a task.

From the showing of the two teams of the Tri-County meet last week we believe that our debaters will give a good account of themselves when they get to Midland.

Corrected to April 6, 1921.

The following drilling report was compiled and furnished The Enterprise by W. A. Bennett, and is accurate, according to best information, and will be of much interest to the public.

Table with columns: Company, Well, County, Sec., Township, Block (Depth), Remarks. Lists drilling activities for various companies in Reeves County, including well depths and current status.

The above list does not include many shallow wells in the Toyah field, and only those in actual operation in the Pecos Valley field. I know of no oil field that at the same stage of development (20 months) that had so many active operations, and the fact that migratory or seepage oil has shown to a remarkable amount proves beyond question that the big pool is here, and it is certain that some of these operations, which may be anywhere from 2500 to 4000 ft. Grant Oil Company, Pecos County, putting on power to pump 29 wells on one line.

Judge J. A. Buck returned this week from a visit to his mother in Mississippi. Judge Buck says that he believes the reconstruction days have hurt the people of West Texas less than in Mississippi, and that owing to the rains and general depressing conditions of that country he cut his visit short. He says that he will never go east of the Pecos to make his home and that Reeves county still looks good to him, although he intends making a trip to California at an early date to see that country but intimates that he will probably finally settle in El Paso.
