PECOS VALLEY WATER USERS ASS'N GATHER DATA

ELECTION IS REVOKED, JUDGES ARE INFORMED

Austin, July 10.—Acting Secretary of State Payne late Tuesday officially notified the county judges in the 251 organized counties of the State of the action of Acting Governor Davidson in issuing a proclamation revoking and annulling the proclamation heretofore issued by Governor Neff, calling a special election of July 28 to vote on the highway amendment to the Constitution.

Payne sent the notices by mail, inclosing a copy to each county judge of the Davidson proclamation and requesting that these county officials notify each precinct in their respective counties that the election has been called off and not to make any preparations for holding the election.

"I find it to be a fact that the proposed amendment was not sent to the newspapers for publication until June 4, 1922, and that no publication of said proposed amendment was had until after said date," said Acting Governor Davidson in his proclamation. "Making it impossible to secure publication beginning at least three months before the election as directed and commanded by the Constitution and for that reason the election would be futile and of no effect to accomplish an amendment to the Constitution."

COMMISSION FIXES GAS RATES EQUITABLE TO ALL

The Kansas state public utilities commission recently adjusted gas rates in that state on a basis which the regulatory authorities believe will be more equitable to all consumers.

Instead of a flat rate such as is in effect in most parts of the country, the Kansas commission established what it calls a three-part rate and which has now been installed practically throughout that state.

The commission's investigation and inquiries made by regulatory authorities in other states has disclosed that a considerable percentage of customers are furnished with service at an actual loss to the companies, and that this loss must be made up by the average customer. Invariably these surveys revealed that the customers of the working class used more gas than such customers as the families of business and professional men.

Then, too, there is another class of customers, such as physicians, dentists, lawyers, meat markets, grocery stores and the like where the monthly consumption of gas is far below the average and some months use no gas at all. The cost of carrying this class of customers on the books of the company is not enough to pay for the expense of giving them service, to say nothing of a return on the money invested for their benefit, the commission found.

In order to eliminate this discrimination the Kansas commission has established rate schedules which provide for a customer charge, a demand charge and a gas charge.

The commission in its order defines these three charges in the following manner:

"The customer charge consists of the expense of bookkeeping billing, collecting, setting, removing and repairing meters, instituting complaint service, office rent, meter reading and other expense and a part of the fixed charges on the physical property. The aggregate of these various customers' expenses will be identical for all customers, regardless of whether they use gas in small or large amounts or no gas at all. The customer charges has often been incorrectly referred to as the expense of reading the meter, but this is only a minor item.

"The demand charge consists of that part of the company expense incidental to providing and maintaining a production, transmission, and distribution system of sufficient capacity to render service as required. The principal elements in this cost are the fixed charges among which are interest, taxes, and depreciation on the necessary plant and part of the operating expenses of the physical property. The demand charge is distributed among the customers in proportion which is contracted for by customer, and hence in the proportion which each customer contributes toward the creating of the total demand expense.

"The gas charge is that part of the cost of producing, transmitting and distributing the gas which is in proportion to the amount of gas handled. It represents the cost of the gas plus a certain proportion cost of maintaining a transmission and distribution system. In other words, it is the cost of the commodity delivered, as distinguished from the cost of the service."

SPELLING LISTS BEING PRINTED

Approximately 130,000 spelling lists are being printed by the University of Texas Press and will be ready for distribution among the school children of the State on September 1. These lists have been compiled by Roy Bedichek, director of the University Interscholastic League, and will be used in preparation for the annual spelling contest conducted by the League.

E. B. CHANDLER CALLED BY DEATH

E. B. Chandler is well known to many of the readers of the ENTERPRISE and some of them, it is understood, have been accommodated by him in the way of loans, hence the following notice of his death will be of interest to them as well as regretted also. Those who know him held him in the highest regard. The following special news item from San Antonio in the Dallas News under date of July 9, tells something of his career:

E. B. Chandler, financier, real estate man and philanthropist, died at his summer home in Gloucester, Mass., Monday at 9:30, according to a telegram received by E. B. Chandler & Co. He was ill for only a few days.

Mr. Chandler was president and one of the founders of the San Antonio Country Club, president of the Associated Charities, president of the San Antonio Water Supply Company and one of the founders of the "Fifty-Two" Club, composed of prominent San Antonio men, who were born in 1852.

Mr. Chandler was born May 25, 1892, in Connecticut and came to Texas as a young man, shortly after taking his degree as civil engineer. He first settled in Uvalde, where he was a school teacher and surveyor of ranch lands for owners who had acquired unmeasured property and desired accurate data for filing to secure title. During this period he began his policy of investment in Texas lands.

In later years he was a liberal contributor to charity and an active philanthropist. He is known to have partially or wholly supported many young men and women of this city, although he never mentioned this side of his life publicly and in most cases only the benefited know of his generosity.

Mrs. Chandler died Dec. 24, 1922. She was survived by a sister, Mrs. Fred J. Johnson. Mr. Chandler is survived by a sister in Connecticut. His brother, Arthur Chandler, of Newark, N. J., died several years ago.

BALMORHEA SCHOOL

The following efficient teachers have been elected as faculty for the next school term: Miss Alice McKimie, DeLeon, Tex., Superintendent; Mr. Kilpatrick DeLeon, Principal; Miss Gussie Burnett, Abilene, sixth and seventh grades; Mrs. Oscar Ward, Balmorhea, fourth and fifth grades; Mrs. Mary Miller, Pecos, first, second and third grades. The school is fitted with modern conveniences for a class in Domestic Science, but the teacher for this department has not yet been selected. The school maintains a well equipped teachers' department for their homes, furnished for light housekeeping. Both the school house and teachers are lighted by electricity furnished by a Delco system recently installed.

THE A. B. C. CLUB

The F. U. N. Club has been reorganized under the name of the A. B. C. Club. There is practically little difference in the objects and intentions of the two organizations, which can be summed up as having an enjoyable and all around good time. The first meeting was held Wednesday night at the residence of Miss Sunny Wadley in honor of Kathleen Kite, of El Paso, who is visiting Miss Sunny, and who was a former resident and schoolmate of the members. The club, in a body, adjourned to the grounds of The Free Entertainment Club's picture show and enjoyed six reels of one of Pathe's best releases. The club and guest adjourned for refreshments after which a bunk party was held at the Wadley residence. All hands were astir the next morning at five o'clock, bathing suits were donned and a pleasant trip was taken to the Alamo swimming pool for a plunge. Breakfast was prepared on the grounds and the party returned about eight o'clock.

At the business meeting, the following officers were elected to serve for the year: Janie Drummond, president; Bobbie Bowie, secretary and treasurer; and Relia Kiser, reporter. The following are the charter members of the club: Janie Drummond, Bobbie Bowie, Beatrice Bowie, Lorena Furr, Sunny Wadley, Myrtle Rublen, Betty Watson, Florena Vaughan, Callie De Racy and Relia Kiser. Kathleen Kite was elected an honorary member and the following young ladies will be presented for membership at the next meeting of the club: Viola Ward, Billie Clyde Reinhardt and Veva Rhodes.—BY THE REPORTER.

Editor's note: When the ENTERPRISE solicited the interpretation of the dark and hidden mystery of the abbreviations "A. B. C." the club reporter, who handed in the above, took on an expression which registered mysticism. She indignantly replied that the meaning was a profound and sacred secret, known only to the members of the club. When the ENTERPRISE suggested the enigmatical letters might stand for "All Be Caught" the young lady vanished.

Mrs. C. D. Barkman and daughter, Miss Grace, of Texarkana, are here spending the summer with the family of H. C. Bryan, they being old friends.

Flight of Refugees from Mt. Etna

A sad sight in a little town at the base of Mt. Etna in Sicily, showing a village which was later completely destroyed by a torrent of lava from the volcano. As this exclusive photo was taken, the ashes were falling, women and children were fleeing and military police were making effort to remove inflammable materials.

G. OF C. MERGER BRINGS ENTIRE WEST TEXAS TOGETHER

Amarillo, July 10.—The Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce has been merged with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and district offices of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be maintained here with a district manager in charge. The consolidation agreement was signed by Sam M. Braswell of Clarendon, president of the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce, and A. B. Spencer, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce today in this city.

The agreement was reached at a meeting of the committee of the Panhandle-Plains organization with Spencer and in substance is:

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is to maintain a district office in Amarillo with a district manager in charge here;

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce assumes the assets and liabilities of the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce. All paid-up members of the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce are to be received as paid-up members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for the current year.

The entire membership of the bodies are to be merged into the West Texas Chamber of Commerce so that the work of the two organizations may go forward more efficiently on a more economical basis.

The officers and directors of the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce heartily endorse and pledge their unqualified support to the new and biggest West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and feel that this merger means a quicker and greater development of the resources of West Texas.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce extends to the new members the same efficient service that they have always received from the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce with added facilities of the combined organization.

TRAMPING OVER THE COUNTRY

Thos. V. Goodwin, age 24, passed through Pecos Tuesday on his way to San Diego, Calif., and Mexico City. He calls himself the "New England Rover" and if he has a home at all it is probably Portland, Maine, as that is the city he claims to hail from. He travels afoot when he does not catch a car ride and carries the regulation army pack on his back. He states that he is traveling on no wage, but for the love of and interest he has in the geography of the country, preferring to get his information first hand. The study of birds, animals and rock formations is in his line. He states that he has traveled eighteen years, starting out at the age of six with his father. He is a husky looking young man and as the ENTERPRISE editor looks at the matter is just a common tramp and should be located somewhere where his energies could be of some service to humanity.

ATTORNEY BURGESS TELLS CITIZENS HE BELIEVES EARLY SETTLEMENT OF DIVISION OF WATERS OF PECOS RIVER PROBABLE

The members of the Pecos Valley Water Users Association of Texas had an all-day meeting Monday. Besides the membership of the association, Engineer V. L. Sullivan and Attorney Burgess, both of El Paso, and the latter attorney for the association, were in attendance. As the ENTERPRISE understands it, the meeting was for the purpose of collecting data to be placed before the Commissioner selected by the Federal Government, the governors of New Mexico and Texas, whose duty it is to decide the matter of an equitable and just division of the waters of the Pecos river between New Mexico and Texas. These commissioners are: For the United States, C. T. Pease, engineer for the U. S. Reclamation Service; for New Mexico, Richard H. Hanna of Albuquerque; for Texas, R. E. Thomason of El Paso.

On Monday evening a meeting was called by the president of the association at the old Johnston Cafe building which was attended by members of the association and citizens of Pecos at which Major Burgess explained the whole situation, setting forth the object, the hopes and progress being made toward the success of the Red Bluff project which is to store flood waters for the irrigation of lands in Texas now in cultivation with insufficient water for that purpose, and other lands to be put in—totalling some 150,000 to 200,000 acres of as fertile land as there is in Texas.

After a few remarks by President J. G. Love, Major Burgess was introduced to the audience. He stated that the first thing to be done was a settlement of the division of the waters. Without this, there is little possibility of securing money with which to construct the dam and little excuse for its construction.—He outlined the progress already made along this line and believed that the commissioners would meet within ten days for the purpose of investigating the matter and gathering testimony upon which they could base a just decision. He believes these commissioners will meet probably as high up as Fort Sumner, N. M., and make a survey of the Pecos river and its irrigation projects to a point somewhere below Grandfalls, taking evidence and holding sessions among other places at Carlsbad and Pecos.

Major Burgess explained that really the citizens along the Pecos river both in New Mexico and Texas were neighbors and friends and each were and should be glad of the success of the other, and all either party desired in this matter was a just and equitable division—in other words New Mexico wants all that is justly hers and Texas ditto. There is just so much water available in the Pecos river—not by a long shot enough to irrigate all the tillable land adjacent to its waters in either

The verdict of the jury returned in the Good case was as follows:

"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty of murder as charged in the indictment and assess his punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for 26 years—T. J. Richardson, foreman."

While the jury deliberated throughout the day Saturday a phonograph on the fourth floor of the court house played continuously. A favorite record played a number of times was "I need thee every hour."—Star Telegram.

VENUE CHANGE GRANTED GOOD

Lubbock, July 10.—Cases Nos. 594 and 595 of the State of Texas vs. Tom Ross and Milt Good, respectively, for the killing of H. L. Roberson at Seminole on the first of April, this year, were Tuesday transferred to Taylor county by order of District Judge Clark M. Mullican and it is believed that they will come to trial in the term of court that convenes in Abilene next Monday.

The defense made a strong plea for bail, claiming that the verdicts of 35 years in the case of Tom Ross and 26 years for Milt Good for the killing of W. D. Allison made bail obtainable, but the judge overruled the application and ordered Sheriff Johnson to deliver the prisoners to the sheriff of Taylor county in time for the trial.

IT RAINED

The rains Monday night and since this week, while not heavy at many places, were of great benefit to the entire country. In a way the rains were more general than any to fall in this section in months, yet there are many places where it either did not rain at all, or was so light that it did little good. However, that may be, it did rain over a large territory and this country as a whole is in better condition as to moisture than it has been in many moons.

Stockmen feel sure since it has rained over such a large territory that it will not stop until in reality we will have rains all over this section of the country.

State, so when even one acre foot of water is given Texas just that much is taken from the available supply of New Mexico with the exception of flood waters below their projects. Therefore all either party can ask for is just what belongs to them and it is believed this commission is fully competent to decide this matter to the satisfaction of a great majority of the fair-minded people of both states in the district using the water.

A matter of great concern to our people is that Major Burgess believes that it will not take more than two weeks for the commissioners to review the testimony and probably not more than sixty days for them to come to a decision and be ready to make a report. Then if a great majority of those interested appear to be in favor of the report the legislatures of the two interested States will be asked to ratify the report and then it will be necessary for Congress to also ratify the agreement before the matter is finally closed. But, in case it appears that a majority of those interested do not concur in the report and the legislature of either state fails or refuses to ratify then it will be necessary to file suit and carry it to the Supreme Court of the United States before an adjustment can be made. This, says Major Burgess, would not only stop further development in Texas but in New Mexico as well until a decision is reached and that might be ten years or even longer. In view of this fact he believes that either State would be justified in giving something which at first appear to them to give the other a little advantage. An adjustment of the matter at an early date would help materially in the development of the lands in both states which would be benefited by these waters.

As the years come and go and our people of these United States learn more of the advantages of irrigation the more they become interested and it is doubtful if there ever was a time when the heads of our government were more alive to the advisability of creating irrigation districts than at the present time, and they are putting probably more thought, energy and money into these projects than at any other time.

Major Burgess is a logical and forceful speaker and has done much toward bringing about a quick settlement of the division of the waters of the Pecos river which appears to be coming to a head at an early date and in a very satisfactory manner to all parties concerned. He is the right man in the right place and his talk indicated that all he or his people would as for or desire was a just division and he believed the present commissioners would give that and that only.

ATTORNEY GENERAL KEELING TO MEET WITH COMMISSIONERS

A message has been received by J. G. Love, president of the Pecos Valley Water Users Association of Texas, to the effect that Attorney General Keeling will be present in person at the first meeting of the commissioners who will settle the question of the division of the waters of the Pecos river between New Mexico and Texas, and will also send one of his assistants to continue with the party.

Major Burgess, after the meeting here Monday, visited the Grandfalls section and was much pleased with the looks of that part of the country.

Owing to pressing business of one of the commissioners they will not meet until after the 22nd.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Pecos Mercantile Company the early part of the week the following officers were elected: W. D. Johnson, President; A. G. Taggart, Vice President, Treasurer and General Manager; J. C. Wilson, Secretary. The same directors who held last year were re-elected.

A change of the fiscal year was made, the year ending June 30 having been set as December 31st, at which time another meeting will be held.

At this meeting no dividends were declared.

PECOS FIELD OIL NEWS

The oil news of this week stands as it did last week so far as the ENTERPRISE is informed.

The balance of the pump and piping for the Bell well has not arrived. Work on the Ramsey No. 1 has stopped until a fishing tool arrives with which to catch the casing which holds the spear and tools.

Joe Barkman of Leary Mercantile Co., Leary, Texas, is spending his vacation in Pecos with old friends, H. G. Bryan and family.

"MADE IN TEXAS" WEEK MEETINGS

That Texas is gradually developing into an industrial state is brought out in a statement just made by G. M. Knebel, Executive Vice-President of the Texas State Manufacturers' Association, with State Headquarters at San Antonio. He said in part: "Texas is in the lime light today as possibly it has never been before. Our great foundation is agriculture and will continue so to be for years to come. Texas has a land area of 262,398 square miles, with a population of 4,663,228, which is only about 18 people to every square mile of territory. We have on deposit in Texas banks $844,554,000; the value of our farm crops according to the 1920 Census was $1,071,527,000; during 1922 we produced in Texas 116,670,000 barrels of petroleum; over 3,000,000 bales of cotton; 158,037,000 bushels of corn, oats and wheat. We have over 6,000,000 cattle; 2,862,000 sheep, and 2,326,000 swine. Texas has a railway mileage of 16,000 miles. The total assessed Texas property value is $3,380,000,000. Our common school expenditures are over $30,000,000 annually. Every citizen of the state is proud of his citizenship, and the eyes of the world are turning towards Texas and its unlimited possibilities.

"To those not informed, little would be thought of Texas as a manufacturing state, however, we lead all Southern States in the total value of our manufactured products, which according to the 1920 U. S. Census amounted to just four thousand dollars less than one billion dollars, or to put it in figures—$999,996,000.

"In order to remind the people of Texas of the importance of our manufacturing industries, the Texas State Manufacturers' Association will inaugurate during the early fall, a state wide movement to be known as "Made in Texas" week. Gov. Neff will be requested to issue a proclamation calling for a State wide observance of the week. "Made in Texas" week will open at high noon on a Monday with blowing of all sirens, whistles, etc., in every town and city within the state of Texas. In many Texas cities Trade parades will be held featuring Texas made products or home industry products. All Civic, Business and Luncheon clubs will be requested to cooperate by furnishing speakers on the subject of Texas industries and made in Texas products, during the weekly meetings. Manufacturers, jobbers, dealers and retailers will be requested to make special displays in show windows, and throughout their places of business of Texas made products, and to instruct their sales people to pay special attention to the sale of Texas made products; and to feature "Made in Texas" week in their display advertising.

"Outlines of program will be furnished every community within the state, and this can be changed in any way desired. It is of the greatest importance that every community stand back of its industries and those of the state as a whole, by paying more attention in placing contracts and making purchases to Texas made products. There are some 150,000 people employed in the industries of Texas, and for the future industrial welfare of the state these workers should have constant employment. We can expect our State to grow along industrial lines in the same proportion as we stand back of our industries, for it is then that new capital will seek investments within our State. We should learn to live at home, support our home merchants, professional men, builders, contractors, architects, engineers, and convert our raw materials into the finished products, consume what we need in the State, and sell the balance to feed and shelter the world. Every citizen of the State of Texas will be expected to give his active support and cooperation to this state wide movement, not only during "Made in Texas" week, but now and every day in the year."

While the past week in the watermelon trade was one of steady reductions to a level at which the increasing supply could most easily move into consuming channels, fluctuations were not excessive, except in some State markets which reduced fully $1.50 per cwt. in the wholesale channels of trade. In National markets the reduction in jobbing range was from 50-75c per cwt., though in Western markets, which were heavily patronized by Texas shippers, the price shaving was nearer in line with the cut in State markets. As this week closed, wagonloads of Tom Watsons, averaging 30 pounds, brought Bellville growers 90c per cwt., and Irish Greys of the same average 80c per cwt. Texas retailers paid $2.50 and $3.00 per cwt. for large stock, with carlot sales in consuming markets to slotters mostly for $2.00 per cwt. Nationally the jobbing range varied from $2.50-3.00 in Kansas City to $2.25-2.75 in Denver, with the Chicago carlot market absorbing Texas 30 lb. Tom Watsons for $4.50, and 28 lb. average Irish Greys for $3.70.

So far this season the tomato movement totals but 843 cars and the commercial movement will not last many more days. Last season this state shipped 1844 cars, when the last movement had rolled, and it is altogether to be expected that this season will be closed out 800 cars below that.

But as recompense for the short crop, and for the hardships which beset the growing season, markets this year were more than satisfactory. With the exception of a brief period while the peak movement was on, cash buyers bid briskly for all offerings, and a comparison of prices prevailing this season and last presents such wide variations as the following: Carloads fob cash track six basket carriers, this season $3.70, last $1.15-1.25. Four basket flats of pink unwrapped this year $1.40-1.60, last 30-40c.

Consuming markets were equally as satisfactory, and though the past week, with homegrowns on many state markets, and liberal receipts in National markets, some reductions were affected, good pink and ripe unwrapped fours in St. Louis had no difficulty in finding a demand for $1.35-1.40, and turning unwrapped fours $1.25-1.40 in Chicago. North Texas markets were up to $2.25 for turning unwrapped fours Saturday in sales to retailers, and with a shortage of homegrowns, markets looked good for further advances.

Scattered cars of white potatoes were loaded out during the week, totalling in all but 6 cars and bringing this season's movement up to 747 cars. A few cars of onions also rolled, but hardly enough to be consequential. The first straight car of peaches was listed as an East Texas offering during the week.

OLD FRIEND WRITES THE ENTERPRISE EDITORS
H. T. Mitchell, formerly blacksmith at Toyah, but now living in El Paso and elsewhere for the past few years, writes the ENTERPRISE in part as follows, enclosing a check for two dollars for a year's subscription. While the letter is personal, the many friends of the family in this county will be interested as was the editor and family and the ENTERPRISE takes the liberty of reproducing the letter in part which follows:

"I came to Clint (Texas) the first of last March, and have been expecting ever since to order your paper. It has been so long since I have read the home news I have almost forgotten the subscription price. We being old friends and neighbors, I can't resist telling you and Mrs. Hibdon about my daughter, Vera, and her family. They stopped over in El Paso with us about the middle of May for ten days' visit, on their way to Los Angeles expecting to make that their future home. Her family now consist of four—herself, husband, and two bright little girls, the oldest three years and the baby about six months. These are the only grandchildren I have and it sure does make me want to go to California."

GIGGLE AT THIS
The captain of a disabled ship at sea, during a severe storm, went amongst the passengers and attempted to prepare them for any emergency. He knocked on a stateroom door and when told to enter, put his head in the door and announced to the young flapper sitting there busily engaged addressing picture postcards: "Miss, I think I had better tell you that we're in rather a precarious position. We have just lost the rudder off the ship."

Flapper: "Oh, that's all right, captain. No one will notice, I'm sure. It's under water and don't show anyhow."

TEXAS MARKET NEWS GIVEN BY RADIO

Austin, July 9.—Texas Radio Market News Service issues the following review of fruit and vegetable trade of the week ending July 7:

With the slackening of the East Texas tomato movement the past week, as this deal draws to a close, watermelons assumed the rank of major importance, with brisk loading in South Texas and in the Bellville-Cat Springs and Peters neighborhoods, and the loading out of the first cars from the Hempstead shipping station. For the season to date, Texas points are credited this year with 1109 cars, or an increase over shipments a year ago to the same date of nearly 50 cars. This is all the more interesting when it is considered that the Texas season this year started 30 days late and with a handicap of three to four hundred cars in favor of last season to overcome. But while this State's movement the past week practically doubled shipments in the corresponding week a year ago, movements from less than half those of the previous season. To date the United States is credited with but 8,719 cars against 21,924 last year. Texas quality so far this season has been splendidly satisfactory, and the carrying power of the Tom Watsons has been all that could be desired. Some difficulty has been encountered with the Irish Greys, however, which have shown considerable transit delay.

While the past week in the watermelon trade was one of steady reductions to a level at which the increasing supply could most easily move into consuming channels, fluctuations were not excessive, except in some State markets which reduced fully $1.50 per cwt. in the wholesale channels of trade. A few cars of onions also rolled, but hardly enough to be consequential. The first straight car of peaches was listed as an East Texas offering during the week.

Offers Billion for U. S. Merchant Fleet

John W. Slack, President of a manufacturing plant at Silver Creek, N. Y., offers the government $1,051,000,000 for the entire U. S. merchant fleet. "Too much," says retiring Chairman Lasker. It is hinted Henry Ford had a hand in the bid, although Mr. Slack will neither confirm nor deny the report.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

Prepared For The Enterprise By The First National Bank in St. Louis.

Tobacco production for both the month of May and the first five months of this year has increased considerably over that of a year ago. Cigarettes and cigars lead the way. Cigarette production for May being 5,556,494,293 or 27 per cent more than May, 1922; cigars 575,915,851 or a 10 per cent increase over May, 1922; manufactured tobacco (pound) 32,996,629 or an increase of 1 per cent; while snuff increased less than 1 per cent in May, 1923, over May, 1922, with a production of 17,814,440 pounds.

For the first five months of this year cigarettes, cigars and snuff led the way. Cigarette production being 25,289,524,672 or an increase of 32 per cent over the same period of last year; 2,749,413,544 cigars which is an increase of 10 per cent over 1922. Production figures for snuff show an increase of 8 per cent or 17,814,440 pounds, while manufactured tobacco only increased 1.3 per cent with 158,654,103 pounds.

Comparing the above figures with those of 1921 we find that the increase in production of tobacco has been maintained for the last several years, as cigarette production for the first five months of this year compared with 1921 production shows an increase of 23 per cent and snuff production shows an increase of 26 per cent over 1921.

DOES ANY ONE KNOW JOHN D. MARSHALL?

The Editor, ENTERPRISE, Pecos, Texas.
Dear Sir:

We are endeavoring to locate John D. Marshall, who is said to have gone to Poplar Bluff, Missouri, to Pecos or vicinity many years ago.

We believe that Mr. Marshall can give us information concerning the accidental death of a youth named Charles Smith, who lost his life by drowning in the vicinity of Poplar Bluff, about 1900.

Yours truly,
JOHN J. DWYER,
Attorney at Law,

SAYS CALOMEL SALIVATES AND LOOSENS TEETH

The Very Next Dose of this Treacherous Drug may Start Trouble

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION NEEDED TO REJUVENATE THE SOUTH, DECLARES EDWARD T. FRANKS

The South is on the eve of a mighty industrial development, declares Edward T. Franks of Owensboro, Ky., member of the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

"The traditional mistake of the South in the past has been to ship its raw materials away to other sections of the country to be manufactured," says Mr. Franks.

"The Southern Railroad recently issued a directory showing that there are now 15,643,811 spindles in operation in the Southern States. This represents 43.21 per cent of the total for the entire Nation.

"Thus, in the year 1900, the total number of spindles in operation in the South was only 1,570,000, in comparison with 12,814,000 in the North. In the year 1880 the number of spindles in the South totalled only 561,000 in comparison with 10,092,000 in the North.

"During the year ending July 31, 1922, new spindles numbering 244,669 were installed in the South, while only 83,301 were installed in other parts of the country during the same period.

"Similar industrial development has been accomplished in the South in the last few years in the tobacco and steel manufacturing industry. Wherever we have seriously attempted the task of manufacturing our raw materials at home, success has been enormous."

"The key to Southern success in manufacturing, according to Mr. Franks, lies in two steps: (1) The utilizing of unused water power; and (2) the intensifying of the skill of Southern labor by vocational education.

"The South has enough water power going to waste to operate every factory and spindle in her States," declares Mr. Franks. "We are superbly endowed by nature to be a manufacturing center, but we have neglected our advantages. Water power development should be the foremost consideration of our industrial leaders.

"Again, the South has the advantage of possessing a great reservoir of intelligent, Anglo-Saxon labor. We have only to give vocational training to our workers, to develop the most highly skilled man-power of any section of America. This is an urgent problem for our public schools.

"The United States Census of 1920 shows that 14,700,000 of the 31,600,000 farm population of the country reside in the South, or 46.5 per cent of the total, says Mr. Franks.

"Contrast this with the statistics of farm valuation: With 46.5 per cent of the farm valuation, the thirteen Southern states report only 28.9 per cent of the national live stock and crop output. Our farm property values are only 20 per cent of the values for the Nation as a whole. Our farm land values are only 19.6 per cent. The value of our farm buildings is only 20.2 per cent. The value of our machinery and equipment is only 18.6 per cent. The value of our live stock is only 24.5 per cent. The value of our live stock slaughtering is only 18.6 per cent of the national total. The value of our live stock products is only 16.1 per cent. The value of our crops products is only 33.7 per cent.

cation of the agricultural crisis. "In 1909, the annual fertilizer bill for the thirteen Southern States amounted to $69,603,453; By 1919, this figure had increased to $205,710,409. The fertilizer bill for the entire United States in 1919 was only $326,399,800. Almost two thirds of the total was used in the South. Exhaustion of the soil is becoming an imminent problem in many sections of the South.

"While we were thus increasing our use of fertilizers at this unprecedented rate, the productivity per acre in the principal Southern crops were either standing still, or declining, during the same ten-year period. Our corn crop in 1909, according to official United States Census statistics, showed a productivity of 16.1 bushels per acre, in the thirteen Southern States. In 1919, despite the lavish use of fertilizers, the productivity had barely increased to 17.7 bushels per acre.

"Our cotton crop in 1909 showed a productivity of 165.5 pounds per acre. In 1919, it showed only 167.5 pounds per acre. "In the case of our tobacco crop there was an actual falling off. In 1909, the figures show a productivity of 767 pounds per acre. In 1919, the productivity had dropped to 683 pounds per acre.

"It is indeed an unhealthy condition for any region when its fertilizer bill trebles itself, while its production stands still or declines."

"By setting up vocational instruction, in the public schools, the Southern States can take a long step toward regaining their agricultural supremacy," he declares. "Today the South is in the grip of a condition which has increased our acreage and decreased our production per acre. The purpose of Vocational Education will be to decrease the acreage and increase the production per acre.

"By improving the human element on our farms, we make possible a far-reaching economic development. Vocational education would bring to every community the knowledge of scientific methods of soil cultivation and animal husbandry. It would repay itself in dividends of increased output, and farm prosperity.

"Already, the vocational schools set up under the provisions of the Federal Smith-Hughes Act have demonstrated the economic worth of such training. In all of these schools, every pupil is required to put in six months per year of supervised or directed practice on an actual farm. The lessons which they learn in the vocational school are faithfully applied. Books have been kept upon the crop yield which these student farmers have obtained. They show that the vocational pupils produce a yield far in excess of the average yield per acre of the farmers of the State.

"In the Southern States this fact has been shown strikingly in the case of the major crops of corn, cotton, and tobacco. "The Yearbook of the United States Department of Agriculture has published estimates of the crop output of 1921. Take corn! For the year 1921, the value of the output per acre of corn on the farms of the thirteen States of the South averaged $11.50. In those same States, the average output per acre of the vocational pupils was $27.50. Vocational instruction meant an increase of $16.00 per acre, over the old methods. Had the same productivity per acre been shown for the South as a whole, as was shown by the vocational pupils, there would have been an increase in the value of the 1921 Southern cotton crop of $846,804.00.

"The same result was shown in the case of tobacco. The yield of tobacco per acre on the farms averaged $95.00. The yield of the vocational pupils per acre averaged $190.00, or a productivity of $95.00 per acre greater. Had the same productivity per acre been shown by the farmers as was shown by the vocational pupils, the increase in the Southern tobacco crop for 1921 would have aggregated $114,157,000.

"On these three crops alone, vocational education shows a possibility of increasing the annual income of the South to the amount of $1,594,721,000! Certainly, here is a program which it behooves the South to consider seriously.

"There are some spots in the South which are doing exceptional work in increasing production, through vocational education, Mr. Franks announces. He has recently visited several of the Southern States and has found well organized vocational instruction being conducted in many communities, with gratifying results. Unfortunately, this condition does not prevail for the South as a whole. There are great stretches of territory which have not yet awakened to the economic import of the vocational education program.

"There is a brilliant industrial future before the South, which only waits upon the rebirth of agriculture," asserts Mr. Franks. By increasing production through intensified vocational training, and by utilizing the wasted water power to keep the manufacturing of its raw materials at home, the South can soon become the garden spot of America. The first step in such a program, according to Mr. Franks, is to develop federally-aided vocational schools on an adequate scale in all of the Southern public school system.

ALBUQUERQUE EDITOR GIVEN TERM IN PRISON Albuquerque, N. M., July 5.—With a sentence of from twelve to eighteen months of hard labor in the state penitentiary over him, Carl C. Magee, editor of The New Mexico State Tribune, who was found guilty of criminal libel of Justice Frank W. Parker of the State Supreme Court, Thursday continued his attack on the alleged State "machine" which he says railroaded him to prison.

Magee has appealed his case to the State Supreme Court. Magee was formerly an Oklahoma criminal attorney, who came here some years ago on account of his wife's ill health.

NEW DORMITORY TO BE BUILT AT SIMMONS COLLEGE

Abilene, July 9.—Plans are going rapidly forward for the new dormitory for men at Simmons College to replace Cowden Hall, erected in 1907 and destroyed by fire in the spring of 1922. Work on actual construction will begin this fall.

The new building will be the last word in modern dormitories, and something new in the western part of the country in this line. Costing approximately $150,000 and accommodating 125 men, it is to be built on the plan employed by English universities and many of the eastern colleges in their residence halls for men. The rooms will be grouped about five different entries; there will be three rooms for every two men, and a bath to every two suites of rooms.

Each suite of rooms is to consist of two single bedrooms and a study. The building will be three stories high and fireproof.

A feature of the campaign to raise funds for rebuilding the dormitory is the fact that the alumni and ex-students of the College at the recent commencement gathering took over the work of raising money, as a special work of their organization, and have launched a campaign on the basis of college loyalty. A field secretary was employed who began work July 1 and pledges and checks are already coming in from the ex-students. According to officials of the college this cooperation on the part of the alumni has helped make possible the replacing of Cowden Hall.

HUNTER GOES DOWN CLIFF TO SHOOT MOUNTAIN LION

Government hunters engaged in predatory animal control work sometimes have to perform feats sufficiently thrilling for the movies. Charley Miller, a cooperative hunter under the Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture, recently brought in the famous old White-river lion in the Arizona district, having made his catch under unusually difficult conditions. This mountain lion, which was thought to be a jaguar because of the size of his track, was reported at the White-river crossing by cowmen who had suffered through his depredations.

Miller has a pack of wire-haired terriers, and these were at once put on the trail of the lion, which never before had been hunted other than with hounds. The lion took to the cliffs immediately, and there tried to whip the dogs out as he had whipped several other packs. The little terriers would not yield, however, and even followed their quarry into a cave on the side of the cliff. When he found that charging the dogs, two or three times did not scare them off the lion went back into the den.

Miller then arranged that another man with him should let him down over the face of the cliff by means of a rope. Dangling in front of the opening to the den, Miller shot the lion and then dragged him out. Having secured the prey, the hunter was then pulled to safety at the top of the cliff. The lion, which was probably one of the largest ever killed in the State, had been very destructive to live stock in the general neighborhood of White and Black rivers.

SLAUGHTER URGED AS UNIVERSITY HEAD

Austin, Texas, July 6.—J. W. Slaughter of Houston is being urged to members of the board of regents for election as president of the University. Since 1921 he has been director of the Houston Forum, which is the department of public welfare of the city of Houston. In 1919 he was at Rice Institute, giving the Sharp lecture course on civics and philanthropy. Before that he served various colleges throughout the country. He received his B. A. degree from Lombard College and a Ph. D. from Michigan University. There is a movement under way to have Dr. W. S. Sutton, present acting president of the University of Texas, to continue in that capacity for the entire scholastic session of 1923-24 and not elect a permanent president until some time next year.

BY THEIR FRUITS YE SHALL KNOW THEM

The fruits of the Constitution of the United States are liberty, equality, justice, educational and commercial opportunity, freedom from oppression, right to worship God as one pleases, the right to happiness and its pursuit in one's own way and pleasure, provided that way and pleasure injure not one's neighbor; the fruits of the Constitution of the United States are the ideals of America.

Probably the Constitution isn't perfect; it is the work of human hands and brains. But it is far too perfect to be "inkered with" without very careful thought, and soberly, solemnly, fearfully. The United States will not permit a memorial to be placed in the Amphitheater at Arlington until the man it commemorates has been dead at least ten years; time must be the test of his fame, not emotion. Yet it is emotion, and not time, or thought which begets most of the many proposed amendments to the Constitution.

Governor Albert C. Ritchie, governor of Maryland, and president of the Maryland Bar Association, wants to see one more amendment which would require that no future amendments be ratified by any state legislature unless at least one house thereof is elected after the amendment has been proposed and unless the act of the legislature in ratifying the amendment be subject to a referendum to the people of the state.

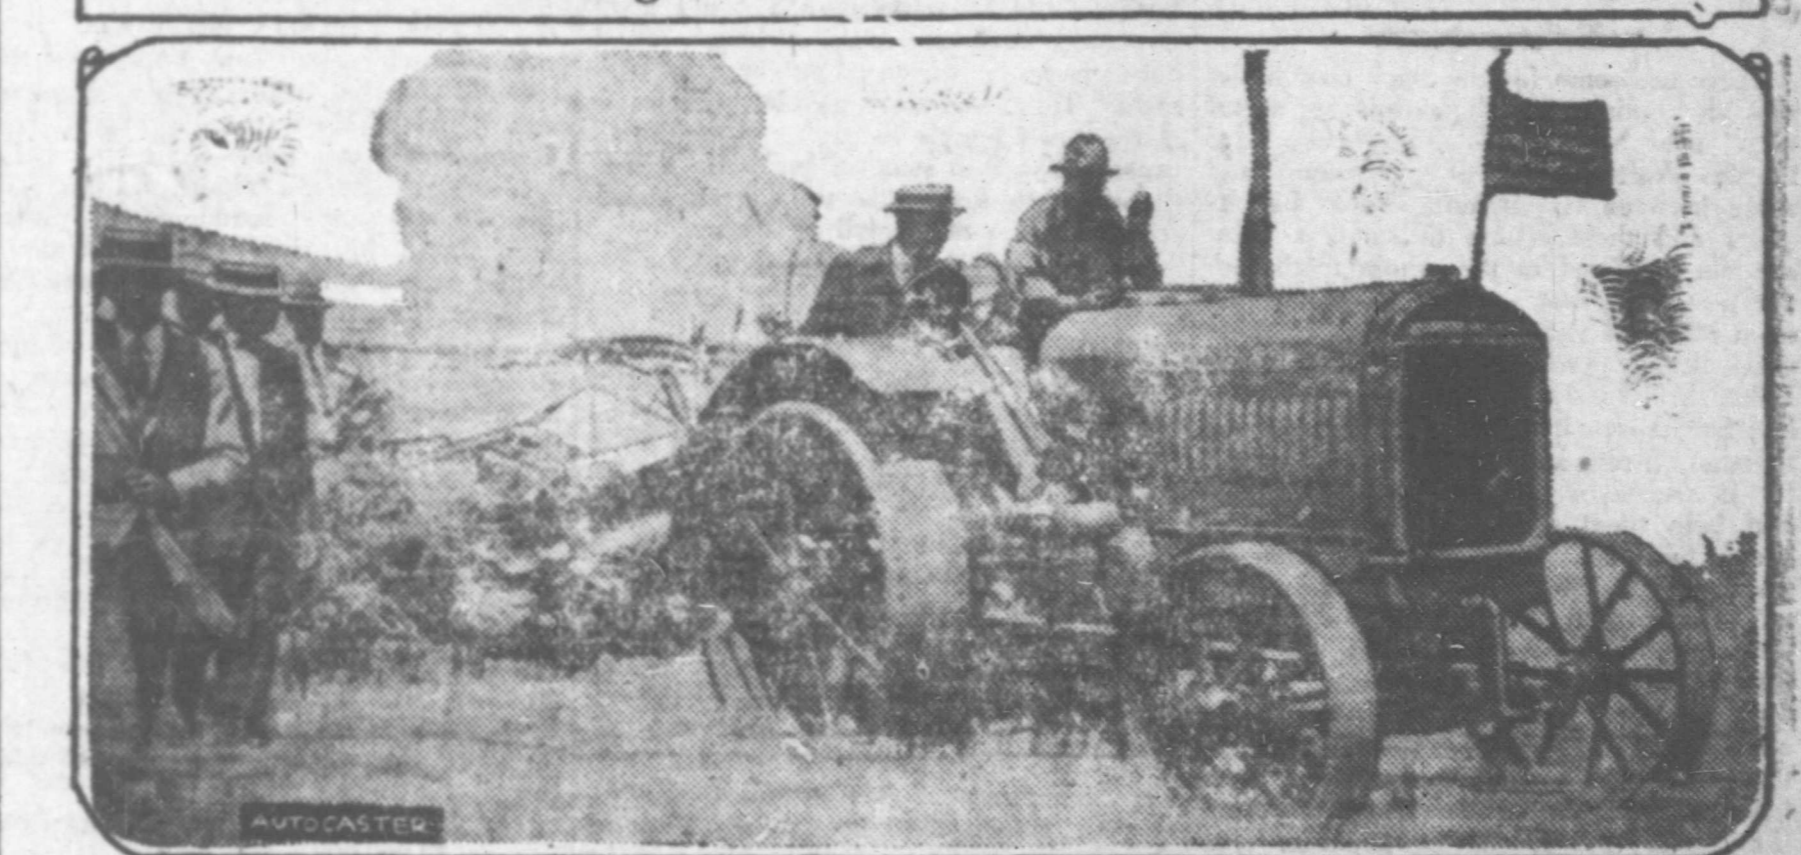

Well meaning men and women all over the country propose dozens, hundreds of amendments to the Constitution. They have the zeal of the reformer, and in their hands is a torch of fervent love for people and for country. But a torch can burn as well as give light; it is for us all to see that unskilled hands do not hold that torch too close to the document which makes this country what it is. There are other remedies for ills than constitutional amendments.

The fruits of the Constitution have been ripe, and sweet. Let us consider carefully before we attempt to graft new species on the vine planted so firmly by the founders of this Republic.

MA'S ALWAYS RIGHT Teacher: "Willie, what is an 'average'?" Willie: "It's something a hen lays on." Teacher: "Explain, please." Willie: "Well, I can't explain it—but I know our old leghorn hen lays on an average of three eggs a week, so ma says."

The sensible and fair-minded people of the town know that the ENTERPRISE editor has never "slurred" the fireboys and has never refused to spend of its money, newspaper space and energy in any cause in which they were interested. With the other kind the editor has not the time or inclination to argue.

The devil must feel the greatest satisfaction when he has so distorted the mind of man that the latter employs his time arraying one neighbor against another, causing only contention and strife where there should be little or no excuse whatever for anything but a kindly feeling. There could be no more undesirable citizen than the one who occupies his time and talents in an effort to pick trouble out of something which was meant for good.

There are some few in every community who do nothing much except to spend what little brains and energy they have in an effort to create confusion and strife between its citizens. Pecos has its quota and their efforts to carry a point are not confined to the whole truth, but the best and most sensible people of the town refuse to listen to such rot. In these times when practically our whole population are sorely feeling the depression and hard times it behooves us all to stand together, throw away the hammer, and as far as within us lies, boost our neighbors and help them all we can to bear their heavy burdens. This is a poor time to knock any business, enterprise or individual—really, there is no good time for such action by any party who has the best interests of the town, community, or fellow citizen at heart. It is construction and not destruction that is needed and every well regulated community must have in order to forge to the front—and those who are of the construction type are the ones who make the town go despite the frantic efforts of the other class. Let's all pull for Pecos and our fellowmen.

While so much is being said just now in the daily and weekly papers of the State with reference to the publication of the joint resolution amending the State Constitution, it might not be amiss to call attention to the matter of the publication of the delinquent tax list which has just been completed in a local contemporary. While this publication was made at nine cents per description, or just sixteen cents below the legal rate fixed by law some forty years ago when first class printers could be had for nine dollars a week, the amount claimed and allowed by the county commissioners before the publication was completed, the sum amounted to $188.91. *But the question which arises is whether the publication is legal and will hold water. In the matter of the amendment the law provides for the publication of the notice so many days before the day of the election. In the case of the tax list the law provides, if the writer is not wrong in his opinion, that the list shall be published for four consecutive weeks and not for two or three weeks and then skip a whole week and into almost the middle of the following week. The question arises, is the publication of this tax list any more legal and binding than is that of the constitutional amendment?

Last year the editor of the ENTERPRISE paid into the coffers of the county taxes to the amount of $16.22 and is this year, like probably three-fourths of our taxpayers in arrears. The arrears will be paid in due time, provided the editor can raise the wherewith—if not, neither city nor county will lose since there is at least enough property, if sold under the hammer, to pay them and with at least enough over to buy the family a first-class ticket to Barstow. But who has time to argue with a gentleman—or lady—who acknowledges they have not made ten dollars per week for the past two or three years and who is capable of earning a $40 per week salary? Let's all talk about the fine cotton crops and good prices and the prosperity which will prevail in the fall at marketing time. Besides in all probability both the Ramsey No. 1 and the Bell wells will be flowing ers that time and in that case we can all pay our taxes and then some. Let's look on the bright side at least for a while. It can do no harm. Things could be worse for even those in extreme circumstances.

WRITE YOUR CONGRESSMAN
 Mr. E. L. Harp, of Toyah, has written Hon. Morris Sheppard, U. S. Senator from Texas, in behalf of the Red Bluff irrigation project. Mr. Harp submitted his letter to the editor of the ENTERPRISE, not for publication, but for any suggestion as to additional data. The letter, in the opinion of the editor, covered the ground completely as to the advantages of the dam completely to the arid districts of the State. It is desired by those interested in the project, that letters be written by taxpayers and voters to our members of Congress soliciting their vote and influence in passing legislation in the interests of the project. All good citizens should be interested in the progress of agriculture, and when the elements do not provide sufficient moisture, artificial means should be resorted to.

Mr. Harp operates a well appointed ranch north of Toyah, which will not be benefited by the dam, but he has the farming interests of Reeves, Culberson and Ward counties at heart and his personal plea for the farmers of this vicinity is well worth emulation and copy. Letters from the constituents to our congressional representatives will have weight, and a personal plea to Morris Sheppard or Claude Hudspeth, Washington, D. C., in support of the Red Bluff dam will direct attention and share with a favorable consideration.

PRAYER OF A KNOCKER
 Lord, please don't let this town grow. I've been here for thirty years and during that time I have fought every public movement. I've knocked everything and everybody. I have done all I can to keep this town from growing and never have spoken a good word for it. I have knocked hard and often. Whenever I saw anyone progressing and enjoying himself, I have started a movement to kill the business or stop the fun. I do not want the young folks to stay in this town and I will do all I can by rule, law and ordinance to drive them away. It pains me, O Lord, to see that in spite of my knocking this town is beginning to grow. Some day I fear I will be called on to put down sidewalks in front of my property and who knows but that I may have to keep up the streets that run by my premises. This, Lord, would be more than I could bear. It would cost me money, though all I have made has been right here in this town. Then, too, more people might come if the town begins to grow, which would cause me to lose some of my pull. I ask, therefore, to keep this town at a standstill. Amen.—Stephenville Tribune.

CALL ON GOD.
 There are really a lot of men in the country not so helpful as our fellow-townsmen, I. Sparks. The other day he stopped the ENTERPRISE editor and engaged in a conversation—stopping the editor from his labors at the office when the latter felt he could ill afford to spare it—but it was a helpful talk he made and the writer was glad he had been detained. The conversation ran something like this:

Once I had a friend who was young, bouyant and prosperous. He later contracted tuberculosis and not only lost his health but his money. The friend, telling something of his troubles to Mr. Sparks, stated that he actually "cursed God." Mr. Sparks informed him that he knew not God and was only cursing the devil after all. Had he known God he could not curse Him. Later the friend had mind enough to size up the truth of the statements and did know God and worshipped Him. If we could all learn that it is really the devil who helps us into trouble and God who helps us out—only when we trust Him and ask Him as does a child its father—the world would soon cease to contain the joy-killers and all would be well. Few of us place the cause of our troubles—either with our fellowman or our Maker—at the source from which it comes.

Most of our troubles are imaginary and could be corrected easily if we were only bright enough to see the devil working both within ourselves and our fellowman. Probably not one person in a thousand but calls on God when he knows the end is near. If it be well to do this then why not even better when in any sort of trouble to ask for His direction and guidance. The world would be better if it were wiser.

SWIMMING-DANCING PARTY
 Mrs. Woody Browning entertained a number of friends last Saturday in honor of Mrs. Scudamore, with a swimming and dancing party at the Alamo Play Grounds and her home. About seven o'clock that evening the party went to the Alamo Play Grounds by cars, where some played a few holes of golf, and others took advantage of the bathing facilities. A delightful picnic lunch was laid out on the tables and all fell to in a hearty manner, entirely demolishing the salads and sandwiches which were so tastefully made by the ladies. Afterwards, the entire party drove to the home of Mrs. Browning, the Victrola was started up, and dancing completed the evening's entertainment. Just before midnight the party broke up, and with many thanks to their hosts for a very enjoyable evening, the guests repaired to their respective homes.

Those present were: Mrs. Scudamore, Mr. and Mrs. Prickett; Mr. and Mrs. David Tudor, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Browning, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williams, and Mr. Ralph Sparks.

You can tell ENTERPRISE printing. It's just a little better than the rest.

OUR OWN FAULT
 Every day brings its new murders in Texas. Short sentences, mistrials and no sentences at all are the real things of which murders are made. It is said that a famous Texan followed a man to Canada. He inquired if there were many killings in that section. He learned that there had been five murders in that city and five hangings had followed. Needless to say this man went back home and waited a couple of years until his man came back to Texas, where he killed him and was acquitted of the crime.

The law prescribes that cases shall be tried in a certain way. A court is justified in seeing that the law with regard to trials is in the main followed, but no court is justified in throwing a case out of court on technicalities, which in the very nature of the case have no more bearing upon the real issues involved than the color of the pants the murderer wore the day of the killing.

Until Texas juries make up their minds to put some value upon human life in Texas by making the punishment equal to the crime—until Texas courts of both low and high degree conduct cases in these courts so that mistrials, even on flimsy technicalities, will be impossible, then only will Texas cease to have more homicides than all the rest of the nation combined. A year ago Governor Neff pointed out that human life was cheaper in Texas than in any part of the civilized earth. It is the only place in the world where men would rather go to trial for murder than for rustling a few cows.

Needless, pitiless, wanton killings stagger on in Texas like drunken sailors running amuck. In nearly every trial the plea of self defense is raised. Probably this is a justifiable plea—for where human life is cheap—it is easily taken. It is because we know that human life is held in little regard that we fear for our own lives.

But human life should be one of the most precious things upon the face of the earth. Men have done great deeds of valor to save a human life. A great profession has developed upon the fact that human life is worth saving. And in America the medical profession has reached the highest stage of any country of the world. The responsibility for the unreasonably trivial regard in which human life is held in Texas rests upon the people of Texas. Juries and courts express largely our own indifference to the real value of the life of one of our fellow Texans.—San Angelo Standard.

THE COTTON OUTLOOK
 A dispatch from New York says that a factor in the steadying of the cotton market on Friday was "a report from Washington that acreage figures published in Monday's bureau report did not take into account any abandonment, which item would be given in the December annual report." There is little doubt that department figures this year, being so much above private estimates, will be a subject of controversy throughout the season.

"Without going back over the record of the past two seasons and the frequent extensive changes made by Washington in figures previously issued, the conclusion seems warranted that no such area is under cultivation in the South as the trade is led to infer from the recent July report."

If this is true, then crop news from now on will be chiefly bullish in influence and the assurance of a profitable price for the coming crop become absolute. The department placed the Texas acreage at 14,000,000 acres, which is nearly 1,500,000 acres more than the previous record of "acres harvested."

There has been replanting in Texas, and some abandonment, but it is hardly true that the abandonment has been so great as to make very material difference in the crop.

If the estimate of 14,000,000 acres is to be discounted only by acres abandoned since the report was compiled, it can be safely said that the acreage planted and now growing is greater than has ever been planted and growing at this time of the year in any previous season.

This is not to say that the estimate for the entire South is nearer the truth than private estimates would indicate. The situation in practically every cotton growing state except Texas is such that there could be great discrepancy between the Government report and the actual condition without any material error as to Texas.

A statistical estimate for Texas, issued since Monday's acreage report, forecasts the Texas crop at 3,900,000 bales, and this is based upon the estimate of 14,000,000 acres planted. Certainly that is not an extravagant estimate of probable yield—though it is little more than a guess—if as much as 14,000,000 acres are at present planted.

With favorable conditions from now on it is not improbable that such an acreage will produce in excess of 4,000,000 bales. In view of the fact that a good price is assured, it will pay the farmer to save every ounce of cotton possible, and in consequence it can be expected that extraordinary effort will be made generally to keep down the destruction by pests to a minimum and to bring the per acre yield up to a maximum possible under weather conditions. In any event a good crop, comparatively speaking, is absolutely assured in Texas, and a profitable price for it is certain. This means that no matter how far wrong the Government's acreage report may turn out to be, the chief effect upon Texas will be to brighten the prospect. The task ahead of the Texas farmer now is to make as much cotton as possible, for the assurance of a good price is so certain that extra effort toward this end will be fully justified and very profitable.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved — Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity,—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use. In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water,—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—Adv.

TOVASCO
 Nature's Finest Fertilizer

It is prepared from a natural mineral deposit.

It contains unretorted, inoculated sulphur, activated gypsum, and lime in proper proportions to apply to soils.

The unretorted, inoculated sulphur in TOVASCO is considered superior to sulphur which has been cooked, or melted, in mining, allowed to set hard as brimstone, and then pulverized.

The activated gypsum in TOVASCO is in process of conversion into active sulphur compound, therefore is unlike ordinary gypsum. It is not inert, but is inoculated with bacteria that produce this transformation.

LOVING WINS PECOS VALLEY BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Loving engaged in a slugfest on Thursday in their game with Pecos to decide what team was champion of the Pecos Valley, as they piled up a total of 17 scores before the game ended, while Pecos only got 8.

Early in the game Loving took the lead and batted like fiends at different intervals of the contest. Pecos would change pitchers in an effort to stop the lads from the lower Valley, but to no avail.

Buck Montgomery pitched for Loving and had his fast ball working good and kept the hits scattered while he was given good support by his teammates.

Probably the most consistent hitter on the Loving team is Manager Watson, who always slammed the ball out each time he came to bat.

The Loving team is deserving of the distinction of being champions of the valley and the result of the contest is pleasing to the public in general as Loving has a bunch of clean sports on its team. Since Carlshad was unable to win many fans who live in this city were enthusiastic boosters for Loving.—Carlshad Current.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON

Mrs. Ira J. Bell entertained Thursday morning with a bridge party followed by a luncheon at her beautiful home in West Park Addition. The beauty of the already attractive rooms was enhanced by bowls placed here and there of shasta daisies, Pecos grown. There was also a patriotic idea evidenced in the table and tally card decorations of U. S. flags. There were six tables of players and in the games club high score was won by Mrs. Max Krauskopf and guest high score by Mrs. Dean Wolf. At twelve o'clock, Mrs. Bell, assisted by her niece, Mrs. Mabel Beauchamp, served a delicious two-course luncheon to the following guests and club members: Mrs. Harry Anderson, Mrs. H. C. Ferris, Mrs. John Baker, Mrs. Will Hudson, Mrs. Dean Wolf, Mrs. Arthur Scudamore, Natchez, Miss., Mrs. Len Bell, Mrs. Ethel Reynolds, Mrs. L. P. Kelley of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Mabel Beauchamp, Mrs. W. H. Browning, Jr., Mrs. M. W. Collie, Mrs. J. A. Drane, Mrs. J. B. Howard, Mrs. H. B. Prickett, Mrs. Walter Browning, Mrs. M. S. Hudson, Mrs. Max Krauskopf, Mrs. J. W. Moore, Mrs. H. C. Roberson, Mrs. H. C. Russell, Mrs. Clay Slack, Mrs. David Tudor, Mrs. R. E. Williams, Mrs. W. W. Dean and Mrs. Bell.

STOPPED HIM

Staying over in a small town awaiting the next 24-hour train out of the place, a smart-aleck traveling man went out to the baseball game and all through the contest roared long and loud for the neighboring town team. He centered his attack on the home-team pitcher, finally yelling: "My, oh, my! how wild he is—why, he couldn't hit a barn door." "Never mind, brother," said the pitcher, "you're not too good yourself. You missed a train yesterday."

ORCHID COLLECTORS PAY HEAVY TOLL OF DEATH FOR PLANTS

London, July 7.—Orchid collecting, of all occupations, has the highest death rate. Men often give their lives for one orchid. An orchid hunter tells about it in the Daily Express as follows:
"Fancy that plant being worth 150 pounds! exclaim visitors to the Chelsea Flower Show, as they pause to glance for a moment at the new orchid, odonio crispum solem, with its stiff, snowy petals spotted with maroon. 'Fancy paying all that money for it!'
"But orchids are paid for with human lives as well as with gold. Of all occupations in the world, orchid collecting has the highest death rate. A few years ago, eight orchid hunters, who were working in Madagascar, dined one evening at Tamatare. They arranged to have another reunion dinner the next year. When the appointed day had come seven of them were dead. The eighth was in a hospital, and stayed there for a year, then sailed for Europe with permanently broken health."
"That was unusually hard luck, but every orchid collector knows of many such cases. A collector, a German, who jeered at an idol in a Madagascar jungle village, was soaked in oil and burned to death."
"You are always on the brink of the grave while you are orchid hunting. Invariably these bizarre, quaintly contorted little blossoms lurk in the unhealthy depths of the jungle, where fever, snakes, great cats and ambushed savages with pointed darts combine to wreak vengeance on him who violates their privacy."
"But orchid hunting is a man's game. We've all got to die one day, and at all events, we see to it that we do live first. We are up against the real raw stuff of adventure, and we do not know the meaning of boredom. If today we have drawn blank, tomorrow we may find a rare Dendrobium growing in a mouldering skull at a hill-tribe's burying ground, or another treasure or two clustering like mistletoe in a cleft at the top of a 90-foot tree which our axmen have brought crashing down through the mangroves and lianas."
"It is a glorious gamble—while it lasts."

REV. AND MRS. H. B. COGDWELL ARE VISITING IN PECOS

The Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Cogdwell and child came in Saturday from their home in Graham, where he is pastor of the Methodist church, for a visit with the parents of Mrs. Cogdwell, the Rev. and Mrs. C. S. McCarver. They expect to return home about Wednesday or Thursday of next week and will be accompanied as far as Plainview by the Rev. and Mrs. McCarver who will stop for a visit with a daughter there. Later they will visit another daughter in Amarillo and before returning will probably have visited in the homes of all five of their daughters. The many friends of these venerable old people wish for them a most delightful summer's outing. The Rev. and Mrs. Cogdwell are making the trip in their beautiful new Buick touring car.

Later: Forms on press, and informed that Cogdwell is just plain pedagogue and no "Rev." at all. A good man and a good paragraph is thereby ruined.

BLUE IS COLOR OF HAPPINESS, ASSERTS COLLEGE PROFESSOR

Chicago, Ill., July 7.—Red is conducive to excitability and nervousness. How obviously unwise it would be, then, to allow a victim of neurasthenia to occupy a red room.
So philosophizes Prof. A. J. Snow of the department of psychology of Northwestern University, who has prepared a book called "The Book of Happiness."
"Blue, on the other hand," comments Prof. Snow, "has the opposite effect. It is conducive to calmness and serenity. It quiets the nerves instead of exciting them. How much better for sick rooms."
Prof. Snow made an exhaustive study of the effect of colors upon the human system before his book was compiled. He holds that every color exercises a corresponding characteristic human emotion.
In the case of children, he adds, it is important to consider carefully the ornamentation of their sleeping room nurseries. Habits of quietness and happiness formed in childhood, the professor holds, will mean much in later life to the young man or woman whose early color environment has been scientifically thought out.

Prof. Snow insists the hall bedroom should be brightened by a happy color scheme if the young business man is to function effectively and harmoniously.

"Suppose we have a room off a hallway with only one small window," muses the psychologist. "The room naturally is rather dark. It is important to select a yellow for the background, which would make the room comparatively light and the supposed strain to the eyes due to the yellow color would be less fatiguing than that due to darkness."
Prof. Snow warns against too much eye reactions in the gray colors, which, he avers, are not "amiable colors." He decries mixtures of decorations in a room or apartment not conducive to a happy reaction on the eye. Gray reactions are likely to cause ill temper or other unpleasant emotions not calculated to promote family peace, the professor asserts.

BIRTHDAY AND BUNK PARTY
Little Miss Lucille Slack was at home to a few of her friends Monday night with a bunk party. The little girls arrived at seven o'clock. About nine o'clock ice cream and cookies were served. They played games and had music. Next morning at eight o'clock the nicest breakfast was served.

Those who had the pleasure of enjoying this good time were: Mildred Rublen, Jewel Bush, Adelaide Johnson, Virginia Belle Trot, Georgia Johnson, Jewel Holbeck, Helen Thurston.

This was Lucille's twelfth birthday and was a surprise to her friends as they were not apprised of the occasion until after all had arrived. They wished her many returns of the happy event and hope to enjoy other bunk parties with her.

RESOLUTIONS
Whereas, in view of the many favors extended to the department by the management of the Rialto Theatre, the Pecos Volunteer Fire Department feels itself indebted to said management, and desires to go on record as giving voice to the gratitude it feels; and
Whereas, the said management of the Rialto Theatre, by donating the entire proceeds of the feature picture "The Third Alarm," has placed us further in its debt, and in return, we hereby pledge our support, as individuals, to the Rialto Theatre and bespeak from our people a patronage consistent with the fine cooperative spirit this institution has manifested toward every worthy cause sponsored by our people; and

Whereas, in view of the recent opposition to this department by some, we feel that we should the more strongly endorse the management of the Rialto Theatre; therefore, be it
Resolved, that our appreciation for the recent donation of $32.65 be given expression through the columns of the Pecos Enterprise and Pecos Cusher, our local newspapers, and that these resolutions be published therein, and that a copy be made part of the Minutes of this department.

REJOICES THAT HE LEAVES NO FORTUNE TO HIS CHILDREN

"I rejoice that I have no fortune to leave you, my dear children." This is an extract from an unusual will that expresses a philosophy of life that might well be pondered by many fathers who are laboring to leave their children rich.

The document, which was published in the American Review, was written four years ago by a famous Hebrew scholar and author, Dr. Joseph Krauskopf, Rabbi of the Temple Keneseth Israel, Philadelphia, who died June 12.

He was founder of the National Farm School, organized to increase the interest and employment of the Jews in agriculture, and was also the author of a Service Manual and Service Hymnal for the use of Jewish congregations.

Among the passages in his will that embody the thoughts of this great humanitarian upon life and immortality are these:

When in 1876 I decided to enter the study for the Jewish ministry, I knew that I had chosen a life-calling which, Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati, to even if successful, would yield little more than a respectable living. Experience has proved that I judged right. Beyond my home, my library and household effects, and the few thousand dollars invested, which sum represents for the most part matured endowments from life insurance policies, I own nothing.

I therefore have no worldly goods to bequeath to you, my dear children. And I would not have wanted it otherwise. I believe I have done my full duty towards you in having afforded you a good education and in having set before you the example of a life consecrated to labor and earnest striving after the higher ideals. Even if Providence had chosen to bestow a fortune on me I would have regarded myself as having been entrusted with it solely as custodian for the benefit of others, rather than as a personal possession to be used by me and by my family.

Too often have I seen a father's fortune become the undoing of his children, and rather than expose you to such a risk I rejoice that I have no fortune to leave to you, my dear children. You have received the necessary education and the home stimulus necessary to enable you to hew out for yourselves a useful career, without the aid of an inheritance. With far less advantages to begin life's career than you have enjoyed, I have managed to make my way in life from my twelfth year. And I have seemingly been all the stronger for it. The consciousness that whatever fortune you shall have or whatever honorable position you shall occupy is of your making will some day become to you a source of supreme satisfaction. And let whatever encouragement I have given toward attaining that end be one of my legacies to you.

Rabbi Krauskopf bequeathed all his property to his wife, with the following comment:

While I have no regret that I have no possessions to leave to my children, I sincerely wish that I had more to leave to you than it has been my privilege to accumulate. But for your economical management I would not have had even that which I have. With the withdrawal of my salary upon my death, with only the interests upon my small investments, and whatever royalty may accrue from my publications, it grieves me to say that I will have little to leave. It will certainly not be possible for you to live in the manner in which you have lived. But with the household grown smaller, your independence and thrift will stand you in good stead, and should nothing unforeseen happen you will, I am sure, manage to maintain yourself in a manner worthy of our past position.

Dr. Krauskopf expresses the hope that some philanthropist may in the near future erect on the grounds of the National Farm School a library building and equip it to meet the school's needs. He says: Should, however, my summons come before such a building is erected, I trust that the board of directors of the National Farm School may find the means of reproducing on the grounds of the above named school, the architecture of my own library at No. 4715 Pulaski avenue, Philadelphia. Into this building, when erected, shall be placed my own books, in the same order, shelf by shelf, which they occupy at my own home.

All the moneys and investments remaining after the death of my wife I desire turned over to the board of directors of the National Farm School, to be set aside by them as a special fund known as the "flower and fruit fund," and the interest of which is to be devoted to the distribution of flowers and fruits to the needy sick, irrespective of race, creed and color, and also, if deemed advisable, for the purchase and setting aside of additional land by the National Farm School as hereinafter suggested.

I sincerely trust that this fund may become the nucleus of a much larger one, and that it may be devoted sums which at the present time are invested in floral tributes, on coffins and graves, where they are of no benefit to the dead, and of little or no cheer to the living. By contribution to the flower and fruit fund more honor would be paid to the dead and the living would be better comforted.

I trust that the flower and fruit fund may some day become large enough to make possible the purchase of additional land for the farm school, and setting such land aside for the special benefit of the debilitated poor for a week or fortnight's recreation by them during the summer. Or by working such land by such of those who may have a chance to restore their lost health by out-door labor.

The copyright of Dr. Krauskopf's Service Manual and Service Hymnal is bequeathed to the Reform Congregation Keneseth Israel. He speaks of the long time that has elapsed since the books were prepared, as if the changing needs of the times, and says:

Let no reverence for the author of these books stand in the way of making such change, abridgment or substitutions as may be required by future religious needs of the congregation. I had but the good of the congregation at heart when I wrote them. If the good of the congregation requires it, there must be no hesitancy even to set them aside completely if they no longer answer the desired needs.

Consenting, in deference to what he knew would be the wish of the congregation and the students and faculty of the farm school, that his funeral services should be held from the Temple instead of from his home, Dr. Krauskopf gave these directions:

While recognizing that the right to deal with my remains belongs to the chief mourners, I nevertheless hope that their views may coincide with those I hold, namely, that no display be connected with the obsequies, that the coffin remain closed, that there be no floral offerings, no eulogy, no crepe or other signs of mourning in the Temple during the funeral or after.

I look upon death as the portal to another life, to the more important of the two. I do not regard it as the end of existence. I believe that the soul passes on to advance upon the work here begun and for which it was created.

While I have not done all the work I wanted to do, nor performed that which I did as well as I should have liked to have done, still I feel that I have done nothing for which either my family or my friends need mourn, or wear the trappings of sorrow. If mourner's garb have for its purpose to serve as a reminder of bereavement, I do not think that my dear ones will require such reminders. If I may not be remembered without outward tokens of mourning, then will I not deserve to be remembered at all.—Commerce and Finance.

TEXAS U. HONOR ROLL MADE UP Austin, Texas, July 13.—Approximately four hundred students out of 3093 who were enrolled at the University of Texas during the spring term have their names on the honor list given out by Dr. H. Y. Benedict, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. This number includes only about ten per cent of the student body, and the official honor roll as given out by the dean each term is intended to commend those students who have attained high scholastic records.

In making up the list, account is taken of grades made and the number of courses passed by each student, so that both quality and quantity of work are given due consideration in constructing the honor roll.

Jewell B. Cowan of Pecos had the distinction of having his name on the spring term honor roll.

SHERIFF'S SALE

RICHARD LLOYD JONES SAYS

Heed Your Call

The first object in life is to find one's self. No man is equipped to make good until he has found his own road to service. The impulse to do a noble deed and to be honored by men is the key to aspiration. In every disappointed heart there lurks this latent desire. Every man is looking for his chance and man's fixed place in the world rests with his capacity to see his chance and seize it. He who resists the call to do the high and noble thing lives to regret. A power above men placed before each man a worthy work to do. The world measures him by his treatment of that call. If he dodges it the world thinks little of him. If he accepts it he is esteemed. When the voices in Domremy came to Joan of Arc she did not close her ears or curb her conscience because she had sheep to tend. There were others who could fulfill that duty but there was none that could rise to the needs of France. When Jenny Lind heard the call to make the world glad with her song she left her knitting for others to do that she might sing. Cincinnati left the plow only that he might serve his country better than by making furrows in the field. He who feels the call to preach is untrue to himself if he holds himself to the plow, but he is untrue to himself who deserts the plow which he can handle to the good of himself and to the good of man and attempts to preach without a call. The world is just as much in need of good salesmen as of good singers. It is a high art to be a true and useful merchant or manufacturer. Before every man there is at least one road open to the high work of helping his fellow men. It matters little if that call be behind the counter or behind the plow, behind the pulpit or before the lathe. He who finds the road to human service and takes that road is he who responds to THE CALL.

Poem by Uncle John

WHEN the average man fronts up to a hill, he aspires to level it down; when he views the broad valley—calm an' still, he mars its face with—a town! If he sees a stream in majestic flow, to nourish some languishin' flower, he'll conjure some intricate trick, ya know, to steal an' harness its power. . . . When the average man once fixes his gaze on the forest-monarch's heft, he's sure to connive in a dozen ways—till a stump and the leaves are left!—If he runs up against the granite cliffs, of a gorgeous mountain height, —he'll calculate the number of bits, that can fetch its heart to the light! When the average man—in a wonderful realm, inspects the immaculate plan, he loses no time in search for the helm,—to change its course—if he can . . . but, after his pygmy forces is spent, an' his eagle eye grows dim—an' his form, with the ashes of earth is blent, what credit re-ounds to him?

RICHARD LLOYD JONES SAYS

A Keen Conscience Cultivates Success

Conscience gives us courage when we respect it. It doth indeed make cowards of us all when we defy it. Conscience is the battlefield of passions, the court before which reason pleads. The voice of conscience was never silenced without retribution. No man knows a greater glory than the testimony of strong, clear conscience. Conscience is the pedestal on which stands character. Weaken the pedestal and the figure it holds will cease to stand erect. Conscience is to the soul what constitution is to the body. As the magnetic needle points to the pole, so does the trained conscience point the way to duty. It is the compass that directs you to the right road. Bend it and it directs you to the wrong road. Much bending breaks. Broken, you become as lost as if alone on unknown seas. Conscience commands and demands. "Do your best" is its request. "Follow all the light you have and all the light you can get," is its requirement. Your conscience covets your confidence. It cannot grow strong without it. When you weaken your conscience you change its power from courage to cowardice. Your conscience is your present honest opinion of yourself. Only when conscience is gone is hope gone. Conscience breaks its silence only in solitude. It works for you and with you directly—never indirectly. You can find it through no one but yourself. Credit is the script of conscience. It is the foundation of trade. No market can prosper that does not stand upon its firm foundation. And it each day's work with your conscience that at the dawn of each new day you may face the world untroubled. A keen conscience cultivates success.

Poem by Uncle John

I've learnt to be contented with the way the good Lord made me; I can't believe that anything he ever done was wrong; I wouldn't own an appetite that ever disobeyed me, and—while I wobble sometimes, I have allers got along. I never harbor notions, when they act the least suspicious, of tryin' to oozle in between my better self an' me. . . . But, take a disposition that is vain, or avaricious,—most any brand of foolery can put 'em up a tree! I can't indulge an impulse, when my conscience don't approve it; there's allers hidden danger, clost around the safety-zone; To overcome my meanness, I determine not to love it, for the devil is a feller that it pays to let alone. . . . There's follies in the feminine that cirklate around me; An' freaks in masculinity, which pester me a heap,—but if I retain my innocence, as when my mother found me, I couldn't dread Perdition if its hole was twice as deep!

Etiquette

What & When to do it

By A. Leda

Any questions on etiquette will be gladly answered in this column if addressed to Aleda, care of this newspaper.

Crossing Streets—(1) When a boy is walking with a girl should he always help her across the street or just when a vehicle is approaching? (2) Who should get on the trolley car first, the man or the woman? (3) Does the same rule apply when leaving a car?

Henry R. V. Minn.

Ans.—Yes, a young man should always offer his assistance to a lady at a crossing. Just touching her elbow with his hand is courteous and is sufficient. (2) The woman. (3) No. The gentleman leaves first—this in order that he may help the lady off.

Hat Etiquette.—In a letter I am asked some questions on hat etiquette. The letter reads, "upon entering the theatre or movies when should a man remove his hat? (2) Is there any special place a man should put his hat during the performance? (3) Should one wait till outside the theatre to put it on again? (4) What is the hat etiquette in an elevator? Thank you.

Ans.—A gentleman should remove his hat as soon as he enters the lobby of a theater where the tickets are sold. (2) Yes. Under the seat there is usually a rack for men's hats. (3) Yes. (4) If a man is in a private elevator such as an apartment house, hotel, department store, etc., whether there are ladies present or not, he should always remove his hat. However, if it is a business elevator the man (regardless of any ladies present) need not remove his hat.

HELPFUL HEALTH HINTS

Sty on Eye.—A poultice of fresh tea leaves moistened with water will usually cure a sty on the eye. Another cure which is said to be good, is a gold wedding ring rubbed gently on the sty. . . .

Light Hair.—If you have light hair and wish to keep it so, put a little lemon juice in the last rinsing water. . . .

Iodine.—After using iodine do not bandage the effected part. It will cause a severe burn.

HELPFUL HINTS

By A. Leda

Mrs. Housewife: This newspaper will publish "Helpful Hints" in this form at regular intervals. We suggest you clip this column and paste it in your recipe book.

Sewing—If you will wind a piece of adhesive tape around your forefinger when sewing, it will save you having a pricked finger.

Cleaning Piano Keys—Kerosene will clean your oilcloth table and shelf covers, while alcohol rubbed on piano keys will make them bright and clean. . . .

Woolen Clothing—Cutting lint, hair and fuzz from woolen clothes is not an easy task. However, it can be made one if a rubber sponge is used. Moisten the sponge with water and squeeze almost dry before using. . . .

Grease on Stove—If grease is spilled on the stove, sprinkle the place with salt. This will prevent an odor of burning grease. . . .

Seeding Dates—Seeding dates is a very sticky job, but if one would wet their hands in cold water, there would not be the least difficulty. . . .

Reviving Leather—To revive the luster to your leather chairs, or whatever you wish, use the white of an egg with a small sponge. . . .

Washing Woodwork—When washing woodwork, cold water is very preferable to warm. This because it does not soak in the wood as much and therefore dries more quickly. . . .

Threading a Needle—When threading a needle, try cutting the thread on the slant, instead of straight, and see how much easier it is. . . .

Keeping Silver Clean—If you wrap your silver in parafine paper it will look like new at the end of a summer. . . .

Attaching Window Shades—New method of attaching window shades, is with the use of adhesive tape. Use tape an inch wide. This is much easier and better than hammer and nails. . . .

Washing Copper and Brass—Put some vinegar and salt in the water when washing copper and brass and see how they will shine.

On the Second Every Second

Human wants are constant and continuous. Food, clothing, shelter, and their infinite subdivisions are daily needs.

There is not a clock tick that does not register a million human desires.

The newspaper is the closest thing in the world to the people's daily wants. It is an expression of the ever-pressing desire for news.

The advertiser who uses the weekly newspaper reaches people with his message at exactly the right moment.

Somewhere, with some person wanting something, newspaper advertising registers every second of the day.

It brings buyers and sellers together because it brings the right message at the right time.

There is no advertising medium so close to the people as the newspaper.

The Pecos ENTERPRISE IS A GOOD PAPER

PERSONAL

Miss Kathleen Kite of El Paso is the guest of friends in Pecos.

Mrs. S. E. Wilson made a business trip to Sweetwater the early part of the week.

Mrs. Lester Eddins of California is visiting relatives in this part of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cavett returned last week from their vacation, spent in California.

Miss Alice McKimie has been appointed Superintendent of the Balmorhea school for the next term.

Mrs. Jim King and children returned home last week from a visit of several weeks with relatives in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Lester Eddins of California and Mrs. Sully Icard of the ranch are the guests this week of Mrs. Joe Hollebeke.

W. D. Johnson of Kansas City was a Pecos visitor this week and in attendance upon the directors' meeting of the Pecos Mercantile Company.

Mrs. Ab. Odell and Mrs. Benton McKemie, of Balmorhea, were visitors at the home of Mrs. Mary Miller, of North Pecos, for a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dryden and Miss Francis Blayne of Abilene, left Tuesday for their home after a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Vickers and family.

The Rev. C. A. Johnson has recently purchased a Ford car that he may not in the future be handicapped in any manner either in the fishing or hunting game, and he is a lover of both.

Chas. Weinacht, one of Toyah Creek's most prosperous farmer ranchmen as well as one of our early settlers, was visiting Pecos friends this week. Mr. Weinacht has been a reader of the ENTERPRISE for years.

D. W. Bozeman and family loaded up and left Wednesday via automobile for an outing of camping and fishing on the Llano river. They will also visit relatives at Waco and other points before returning home.

Miss Mary Lillian Rogers, of Artesia, N. M., is here visiting Miss Velma Gentry. Miss Rogers has been tendered many courtesies by her hostess and friends and expresses her appreciation and pleasure of an enjoyable visit.

Mrs. W. H. Drummond and sons, Druce and Tote, are at home from El Paso. The many friends of the family will be glad to know that Tote who has been ill for some time, is getting along splendidly and will now soon be on his feet again.

Mrs. Tom McClure and Mrs. Oram Green and children have returned home from a month's sojourn in El Paso. Their sister, Mrs. R. M. Hughes of De Leon, who was with them in El Paso during the last week returned with them also.

Mrs. Brack and children returned home Tuesday from a visit with relations at Snyder. They were accompanied home by her mother, Mrs. Kelley, and brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley and baby of Snyder, who will be their guests for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Manahan, Miss Jane Dean, and Miss Lucille Prewitt, went up to El Paso last week to take advantage of the clearance sale bargains being put on by the big stores up there. Chas. has returned home to business. The ladies went on to Cloudcroft for a visit.

Judge and Mrs. Jas. R. Harper of El Paso are the guests this week of Judge and Mrs. John B. Howard. Judge Harper is Chief Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at El Paso. He and Judge Howard and others composed a fishing party on the Pecos river and proved their skill as anglers by landing a splendid catch.

Mrs. Roy Wilcox and baby son, who have been visiting relatives in Oklahoma for the past two months and Mrs. A. E. Wilcox and grandson, Jo. Roy Smith, who went to Oklahoma for a short visit and to accompany them home returned last week. They report a very delightful visit and an abundance of fruit and vegetables in that country.

Mrs. W. L. Ross and sons, George and Bill, and daughter, Miss Callie, arrived home this week. Mrs. Ross, Bill and Callie visited in Fort Worth for the past month and George, who was in the A. & M. College the past year, joined them in Fort Worth and they all made the trip through the Plains country in Mrs. Ross' big touring car, and report a most enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Vickers and daughter, Miss Floy, and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dryden, and Miss Frances Blayne of Abilene, Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Johnson, A. G. Ashworth and Frank Wilson, constituted a fishing party on the Pecos river Monday and Tuesday night. They do not report very much success although there were some old time fishermen in the party.

The residence section north of the T & P tracks has been wired for electric lights, and the current was distributed Wednesday of this week for the first time. The residents highly appreciate this modern convenience. The thirteen cent gloom which has permeated this section since the Indians named the Pecos river, has been obliterated and north Pecos will find a location on the map.

C. M. Haughton was over from his farm near Barstow the other day and stated to the editor that he had never had a finer prospect for a bumper cotton crop. Since then a fine rain fell in that section and in case he got his portion the bumper crop is doubly assured. Here's hoping the entire farm makes a bale and a half to the acre and the price remains up until the last lock is gathered, ginned and marketed.

Sheriff Kiser, accompanied by two of his daughters, Mae and Stella, with the Misses Mary Mount, Blanche, Bowie and Delma Alexander, made a camping trip to the vicinity of the Davis Mountains this week. Sheriff Kiser keeps a large car, fitted with all the conveniences of a camping outfit, which does duty for his three very estimable daughters and their friends during vacation. The car has made several interesting trips this summer and the guests always return with reports of a glorious time. Miss Delma Alexander left the party at Marfa, where she will attend school next term.

Uncle Bill Kingston and son, Lee, were in town today from their Davis Mountain ranches. Uncle Bill has about recovered from his serious illness when an operation was necessary, and is looking about as good as ever and feeling good, too. In conversation with him relative to Pecos water, he stated that years ago when his first flour mill was drilled in in Pecos, he was sitting on a log near by watching the drillers. The ENTERPRISE swallowed all but the log part of it and in calling his hand on this phase of the conversation he admitted it might have been a cross tie. At any rate his many friends all over West Texas will be glad to know that he will soon be as well and strong as ever. As to Lee, he is looking as well fed as ever and grows handsomer every day. They state that all the mountain country in their section was blessed with fine rains this week.

Chas. Alexander and family of Dublin, and Mrs. Frank Smith of California left yesterday for their homes after a visit with their mother, Mrs. J. C. Alexander, their brother, F. W. Alexander and family, and sister, Miss Fannie Alexander.

Sid Lasley of the dry goods department of the Pecos Mercantile Company returned the forepart of the week from his annual vacation which he spent in Dallas. He reports having had a most delightful trip and believes Dallas the best town in Texas. "It's a real city," he says.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Bowles had as guests this week his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bowles, his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Hub Bowles, sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stephens, and sister, Mrs. Mabel Duvan of Uvalde. They left Thursday for Big Spring where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Seth Lewis before returning home.

Judge and Mrs. J. B. Howard entertained with a picnic party at the Alamo Play Grounds Monday evening, in honor of Judge and Mrs. Jas. R. Harper of El Paso. The principal part of the menu was fried chicken which was cooked on the grounds, a la camp. About sixty guests enjoyed the occasion.

Dr. D. R. Peveto, city missionary for the Baptists at Houston Texas, visited in the home of Rev. J. M. Garner, local minister, Thursday of this week. He and his family had been to El Paso on a vacation and stopped at Pecos to visit with their friends, the Garners. The party left Friday morning for Houston, going by way of Big Spring in order to take advantage of the Bankhead Highway as far as possible.

WILL LEAVE ON BUYING TRIP FOR EASTERN MARKETS

Harry Hinkle will leave the latter part of the week for the Eastern markets, where he will purchase for the Pecos Mercantile Company their fall and winter stocks of dry goods and clothing. Harry is hard to beat in his line, and as manager of the dry goods department of this, one of the best stores in West Texas, has made a phenomenal success. He is a splendid fellow and the ENTERPRISE, along with his many other Pecos friends, wishes for him a most delightful trip and a safe return home.

HONORS MOTHER

Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Hibdon, and John Hibdon, Jr., were the guests at a dinner party Wednesday given by Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Palmer in honor of the birthday of their mother, Mrs. Ben Palmer. It was a fried chicken dinner with all its accompaniments and was prepared to a queen's taste. The table was elegant in its appointments and was centered with the beautifully decorated birthday cake with the lighted candles surrounded with ferns and sunflower blossoms. Mrs. B. H. Palmer is one of Pecos' most charming young matrons and is accomplished in the finer arts as well as a practical homemaker and an adept in cooking. Mrs. Palmer, Sr., is gentle and refined and is greatly loved and revered by all who know her. The guests were unanimous in wishing her many returns of this very pleasant occasion.

IN MEMORY OF

"LITTLE BILLIE GENE" He is gone, your baby, Mother; why, no Mother's soul can know; And Grandmother's heart is torn with question—why was he born but to go? Why did God give him to you for a time that seems a day. Then when he twined baby fingers 'round your heart, called him away?

Who knows what may lie behind it? Dear Ones, God knows what is best. Yet by night and day you feel him close against your loving breast. And each fibre of your being wails in protest, yet you know It was best—God in His mercy thought it best for him to go. —By Mrs. Weinacht.

STILL-BORN

There was born at the Morrison Sanitarium to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Eddins Saturday, July 7, a son, still-born. Funeral services were held Sunday morning at 9 o'clock by the family pastor, Rev. C. A. Johnson, and burial was made in Fairview Cemetery. This is the second son these good people have lost at birth. The ENTERPRISE joins with their many friends in deepest sympathy.

T. E. L. PICNIC

On Thursday afternoon a happy crowd gathered at the Alamo Play Grounds for a picnic occasion. The T. E. L. Class of the Baptist Sunday school were the promoters. They were kind enough to invite their husbands and families. Some sixty persons were in evidence when lunch was served and it was some lunch, too. Somebody has fewer chickens in his yard, as a result, for fried chicken was plentiful. No one wanted for anything to go with the chicken either, for it was all there. Everyone reported a good time and the men are all anxious to know when the T. E. L.'s are going to repeat the ordeal.
