REDUCED RAILWAY RATES TO THE FORT WORTH JUBILEE

"Howdy, friend."

It is the official greeting to be used during the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee in Fort Worth Nov. 11 to 14. Entertainment will be free and everybody will be royally welcomed. This is the word that is being passed by the executive committee in charge of Jubilee arrangements.

Reduced railroad rates have been granted for the celebration by Texas passenger agents. The rates are: One and one-third fare for round trip from all points within 166 mile radius of Fort Worth; one and one-fifth fare from all points in Texas outside this radius.

Tickets will go on sale Nov. 10 and are good on all trains reaching Fort Worth on or before the morning of Nov. 14. They expire Nov. 15.

Eager response to plans for entertaining people by the thousands is coming to the various committees. C. C. Miller, chairman of the music committee, receives applications for entrants in the band contest daily. The Gainesville band of 149 pieces is the largest musical organization to enter the contest so far.

Three mammoth parades are in a state of preparation. One will be a military parade of veterans and soldiers of all the wars which have taken place during the several generations just passed. A big automobile parade will also be staged during the Jubilee, with showings of late models in all the types of cars. The schools, public and private, will parade in costume on the last day of the celebration. A big general picnic, with basket lunch will be another unique feature of the Jubilee.

The business district of Fort Worth will be gaily decorated. Plans for a huge welcome arch, featuring a picture of General Worth, for whom the city is named, and for other festive designs in incandescent lights are in preparation, and the banners and flags of all nations will fly in the air.

The old anvil which rang forth the joy of the city in 1856 when it won its contest over the county seat has been located, and will be beaten during the celebration. The historical committee is finding other precious relics imbued with the spirit and legends of Fort Worth and Texas, and all will be displayed. This committee has also located a granddaughter and great granddaughter of Major Ripley Arnold, commander of the old military fort upon which Fort Worth was founded. These descendants of Major Arnold now live in Fort Worth and will have parts in the Jubilee program.

MAJOR BOMAR TO CELEBRATE HIS EIGHTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY

Should he live until Sunday, November the fourth, and the chances are very good that he will survive many months and probably years thereafter, Major Thos. H. Bomar will have arrived at his eighty-first mile-post since on that day he proposes to celebrate the eighty-first anniversary of his birth at his home at Sixth and Maple Streets, Pecos.

Neat invitations have been printed and will be mailed to friends in due time.

The Major is quite feeble now, but he is still as chivalrous as in his younger days.

ATTEND ANNUAL CONVENTION OF EASTERN STAR

The annual convention of the Order of Eastern Star was in session this week at Amarillo. It is estimated that about 2,500 were in attendance.

Among the ladies from Reeves county to attend are: Mrs. J. C. Love, Mrs. G. C. Parker and Mrs. William Robinson.

Mrs. Love and Mrs. Robinson (the latter of Toyah) left Pecos Sunday afternoon and went via Sweetwater. Mrs. G. C. Parker who had been in attendance upon a Baptist convention in Dallas last week, went directly from there to Amarillo.

PRESBYTERIANS OPEN CAMPAIGN IN TEXAS

Several cities have named dates in the state-wide movement for Christian education now being conducted by the Presbyterians of Texas for $1,350,000 for their schools and colleges. Word has been received at headquarters in Dallas that the Presbyterians of Houston have decided to launch their campaign on November 8. On November 16 there will be a dinner to the church officers at which time the plan of campaign will be explained. On Sunday, December 2, the churches will be occupied by visiting ministers and special sermons will be preached on Christian education. The intensive canvass among the members will open on December 4 and the campaign will close on December 13. This is the first of the large city campaigns in the Texas movement.

Bryan Presbyterians will open their campaign on November 24 and the dinner to church officers will be held on November 27. Tyler will open on November 3 and the opening dinner to officers will be held on November 9. Campaigns are now being conducted in Navasota and Paris and will close in both places next week.

There will be city campaigns in about 45 of the cities and towns of Texas in addition to the work in the smaller churches conducted by the field division.

ADAMS-RHODES

R. B. Adams of Midland, district court stenographer, and Miss Veva Rhodes of Pecos surprised their many friends on Wednesday of this week when he came to Pecos, secured from our county clerk the necessary papers and the services of the pastor of the M. E. Church, South, of Pecos, the Rev. L. L. Thurston, who pronounced the words which made them one.

The writer does not know Mr. Adams other than he is court stenographer for District Judge Charles Gibbs and is said to be a fine fellow and is painstaking and efficient.

Mrs. Adams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rhodes and completed the high school course at Andrews after which she attended Midland College for two years. She is a most estimable young lady and will make their home life comfortable and pleasant.

The ENTERPRISE with the many other friends of this happy couple wish them bon voyage on their matrimonial barque.

BRIDGE CLUB ENTERTAINS AT HOME OF MRS. WILLIAMS

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williams was the scene yesterday of much merriment by those of the Bridge Club who enjoyed a very delicious one o'clock luncheon, after which six games were played, in which Mrs. Jno. B. Howard won high score and was rewarded with a leather score pad. The consolation prize of a dozen score cards went to Mrs. Max Krauskopf.

This elegant home had been elaborately decorated in keeping with the Halloween season.

Earlier in the season the Bridge Club had divided into two sides in which those making low score were to entertain those making high score, and this very delightful social occasion is the result of the ending of the contest and pays the debt the losers owed to the winners.

It is said to have been a most delightful and elegant affair which will not soon be forgotten by those participating in this happy event.

DISTRICT CONVENTION OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH

A district convention of the Christian church, which comprises the territory east as far as and including Monahans, El Paso on the west, and Marfa and Alpine on the south, will convene in Pecos on Saturday night and continue through Sunday and Monday.

It is expected that large delegations will be present from each church within this territory.

PECOS C. OF C. PLANNING ON COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE

At a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce this forenoon it was decided that this organization sponsor a community Christmas tree which will be held not only for the benefit of the townspeople but for those of the surrounding country as well.

The president, D. W. Bozeman, appointed a committee of two from each of the various six church organizations of the town to further work out the details of the adventure. Since there is not a building in town which would hold the crowd which will in all probability participate in this festivity, it is expected that the big Christmas tree, which will hold gifts for every person of the town and surrounding country—no matter the race or color—will be placed on some convenient vacant lot.

More details of this event is promised the ENTERPRISE next week.

ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION

Extensive preparations are being made by the Reeves and Ward county school children for the Armistice Day celebration. The different school orchestras are playing the scores of the patriotic songs. Twenty-four good performers played for the children to sing at Barstow last Wednesday morning. The gathering will be held at the Pecos Methodist church on Sunday evening, Nov. 11. A large attendance of school children is expected. An orchestra of at least fifty pieces will play the songs and patriotic music. Hon. J. A. Drane will deliver the oration; the high school glee club will sing; Miss Ruth Gibson will read; and either Rev. Johnson of Pecos or Rev. McClure of Fort Stockton will have charge of the exercises. At least 450 school children will be in attendance, besides the orchestra.

MAX KRAUSKOPF KILLS EIGHT-FOOT RATTLER

The Sunshine Oil Corporation, after in the neighborhood of three years of hard labor and the expenditure of something like four or five hundred thousand dollars, abandoned the Laura well and this week Roy I. Biggs, who held a mortgage on the buildings, sold them at forced sale.

The place has been abandoned long enough now for the houses to have become the habitation of snakes and bats. Justice Max Krauskopf and others were out there this week inspecting the buildings with a view of purchasing and here is where the snake story comes in. In one of the buildings lay a monster, rattler, which, according to Max, was as large around as his leg and eight feet in length. It was certainly a monster. Max secured a long gaspise with which he slew his snake-ship.

PECOS GIN TURNS OUT 950 BALES

By the time the sun sets in the west this evening, if nothing unforeseen occurs to prevent, the Pecos gin will have turned out this season 950 bales of cotton. The yield this year will be much larger than was at first expected. Should the frost hold off for two or three weeks longer, much more of the late cotton will mature. The price is ranging around 30 cents and is putting our cotton planters on easy street.

THE WEATHER

Thursday morning clouds in the north began to form and the wind coming from that point of the compass began to get rather raw. Many donned overcoats and some remarks were heard to the effect that it "looks like rain, sleet and snow, each." While it is still cloudy and cold neither a rain, sleet, snow, nor even a frost last night, came. After sunset last night it turned warmer, but is colder again this morning and fires are very comfortable.

Miss Lorena Furr, of Toyah, was a visitor in Pecos this week.

CONSOLIDATED CLUBS WILL GIVE PROGRAM AT PECOS FRIDAY

On Friday afternoon a meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Cavett with a committee from all of the clubs in Pecos. It was decided to hold a community social at the school house on Friday, November 2, starting at 7:30.

The purpose of this social is a school benefit and to promote a better spirit of cooperation between the clubs, the school and the public in general.

The Barstow orchestra, assisted by the Pecos orchestra, will play. A number will be given by each of the following clubs: The Twentieth Century; The Merry Wives; The Glee Club; The Keeping Up Club; The Mothers' Club; The Home-Makers' Club; and Mrs. H. H. Johnson's kindergarten class will perform. In connection with all this there will be a musical number between each club stunt. It will be a whole evening of fun with refreshments afterwards.

Twenty-five cents for adults and fifteen cents for children of school age, will be charged at the door.

Everyone in Pecos and surrounding towns are urged to be present to see a splendid program and help swell the school fund.

The program follows:

BEAUTIFUL DISPLAY WINDOW AT THE PECOS MERCANTILE

Floyd Brownlee, manager of the hardware department of the Pecos Mercantile Company, is not only a courteous gentleman and fine salesman, but he last week proved his cunning as a window trimmer. In this window which indicates the fall or hunting season by the gorgeous display of dead leaves and hanging branches, may be seen the entire camping outfit together with a generous display of firearms and ammunition. Another and most important feature of the display is that of the animals and birds to be found in this immediate section—and all of which are trophies of the hunt of our local sportsmen. Two large eagles, one ready for the flight and the other with outstretched wings, a pheasant (not found here), the coyote, numerous mounted deer heads with antlers which should satisfy any real sportsman and last the big black bear.

The display is a most delightful one and gives a pretty good idea of what you may expect to bag during the hunting season provided you are a good marksman and hunt at the right time and in the right place.

BAPTISTS EMPLOY E. L. HARP

The local Baptist church has employed Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Harp to train and direct their choir. The Harps will give one night each week to training and practice with the choir and will direct it on Sundays. The church is to be complimented on being able to secure such able help. We feel sure this will add greatly to the local work.

WEEK OF PRAYER TO BE OBSERVED

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church are arranging a program for the week of prayer to be observed about two weeks from now. They are expecting to make the occasion more than usually attractive and helpful, and advise the ENTERPRISE to say that a full program will appear in these columns next week.

SUIT TO LAND TITLE IS BEGUN AT AUSTIN

(Dallas News)

Austin, Texas, Oct. 22.—Proceedings to have the courts construe the act of 1919 in reference to land forfeiture requirements were instituted Monday in the Supreme Court in the form of a motion for permission to file petition for mandamus in the name of Weaver Bros. to compel the Land Commissioner to reinstate the sale of a section of land in Yoakum county. The land was canceled for nonpayment of interest and subsequently sold to Anna Simmons of Fort Worth. The latter sale is attacked as void on the ground that cancellation had not been legally made.

The exact point involved is in the allegation that the Land Commissioner failed to comply with the 1919 act in not advertising the land as forfeited after forfeiture and as for sale following the forfeiture. It is conceded that he advertised his intention to forfeit the land, as is the general policy of the Land Department, but that no advertisement was made after actual forfeiture. This failure is alleged to be fatal to the forfeiture and that the account should be reinstated.

This raises a most important question for the first time. Should the court sustain the contention made by Weaver Bros., thousands of forfeitures and subsequent sales of the same land would be rendered null and void and the old accounts would be subjected to reinstatement.

It would cause a commotion in the West, where the forfeiture notices have been the only advertisement without any after forfeiture. It would disturb hundreds of titles and the outcome is awaited in the West with intense interest.

Senator W. H. Bledsoe of Lubbock and Percy Spencer, Mayor of Lubbock, were here Monday as attorneys in the case and filed the motion for leave to file the mandamus petition. Motion for leave to file the petition for mandamus has also been filed in the Supreme Court in a case styled Gilbert Herndon vs. J. T. Robinson, Land Commissioner, et al., in which is sought an order compelling the Land Commissioner to reinstate Mr. Herndon as owner of a tract of land in Lynn county, which, it is alleged, was forfeited by the Land Commissioner for nonpayment of interest and sold to W. C. Wooten of Tarrant county.

The question involved is the same as in the Weaver case.

MAYOR B. A. TOLIVER RETURNS FROM MEXICO

Mayor B. A. Toliver returned Thursday morning from a two or three weeks' visit to Tampico, Mexico, where he has property. He states that while there he saw Clint Lanier who is drilling oil wells and prospering; that Clint has bright prospects for the future and is in a fair way to become a rich oil man. He also met Fred Hall, a former Pecosite, who is prospering, making lots of money and keeping in the straight and narrow path. He has a splendid job and is making good.

Mr. Toliver says Mexico is still unsettled and will be so until the general election is over next year. Nevertheless, that country is in a fairly prosperous condition.

ENGINEER SULLIVAN AT RED BLUFF

Vernon L. Sullivan, engineer for the Pecos Valley Water Users' Association of Texas, its president, R. H. Gray, and necessary help struck camp at Red Bluff reservoir site the early part of this week where they will do some surveying and make locations for other core drill tests which will be made there for the purpose of ascertaining the location of any faults which might cause the leakage of water caught in the reservoir.

T. L. Cowden, who lives about 25 miles south of Odessa was in Pecos yesterday on his way to Carlsbad, N. M., to see his grandfather, who is ill.

NEWS OF THE PECOS AND FORT STOCKTON OIL FIELDS

TOYAH-BELL

A new tool arrived a few days ago for the people who are so religiously working on the Toyah-Bell well. It looks as if it would now be only a matter of a short time until they will be rewarded for their efforts to clean out the well. Gas is very strong, oil all over the rig and tools, and lots of oil in the hole, which is the objection.

The management at this operation are leaving no stones unturned to get results.

THE BELL WELL

All of the past week has been spent by the crew at the Bell well in fishing for tools—tools having been lost in the hole when drilling line parted.

As is usual with fishing jobs a great deal of time has been lost in the delays caused by awaiting the arrival of necessary fishing tools and accessories, but it is believed that everything essential to the removal of the tools is now on hand, and the drilling crew under the able supervision of Mr. Wesner of the Wesmer well in Culberson county are expected to get them out in short order.

But sixteen feet of the plug in the bottom of this well remains to be drilled out after tools have been recovered. Work is going on at this well day and night.

FORT STOCKTON FIELD

(Fort Stockton Pioneer)

The Quinby No. 1 well on section 19, block 140, T. & St. L. railway survey, has completed setting 12 1/2 inch casing to the 1300 foot level and resumed drilling.

The Southern States Lease & Production Company well on section 103, block 3, T. & P. railway survey, is drilling in a red rock formation at the 865 foot level.

Setting casing in Quinby No. 2 well to the 700 foot level, on section 592, G. C. & S. F. railway survey, is practically completed and drilling will be resumed immediately.

On account of material failing to arrive for the erection of the derrick for Quinby No. 3 well, on section 6, block 114, G. C. & S. F. railway survey, work on the rig is temporarily delayed.

According to an Associated Press dispatch from El Paso, quoting Frank T. Pickerell, vice president of the Texon Oil and Land company, the Benedum-Trees interests, which controls the Trans-Continental Oil company, have purchased the Santa Rita oil well and the two drilling offset wells, together with 10,000 acres surrounding the wells. Mr. Pickerell is quoted as saying that the consideration in the deal amounted to over a million dollars in cash.

IMPROVEMENT IN GROCERY DEPARTMENT

H. C. Ferris, manager of the grocery department of the Pecos Mercantile Company, has this week caused considerable improvement to be made in his department. All the front is now open so that nothing blocks the outside light from entering and showing off the stock. The refrigerator has also been moved. The change is a very commendable one and not only shows off the stock to better advantage but saves considerable on their light bill since they had to burn lights therein on cloudy days in order to see.

Mr. Ferris is up to date and courteous, and has greatly improved the appearance and conveniences in that department since he took charge.

The fact that Wm. Kerr was recently tendered an appointment at West Point is very gratifying to his friends and an honor not only to himself but to Pecos as well. The many friends of the family extend congratulations and hope the young man may successfully stand the examination which will in 1924 make him a full-fledged West Pointer.

TEXAS MARKET NEWS GIVEN BY RADIO

Austin, Texas, Oct. 26.—The State Department of Markets and Warehouses in co-operation with the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics issues the following weekly summary:

FRUITS and VEGETABLES—Sweet potatoes have become increasingly plentiful and State markets generally reacted with easier tones and lower price levels. Quality is reported good. The smaller vegetables generally maintained the even tenor of their ways with the exception of peppers and okra which during the week suffered considerable price cutting. Texas Kieffer pears took a 25c advance under a good demand. The following are representative prices being paid as this week opens, in sales to retailers of Texas: Beets, home grown mostly, 50-75c per dozen bunches; carrots 50-75c per dozen bunches, or 4-5c per lb.; green onions 60-75c per doz. bunches; beans 8-10c per lb.; cucumbers 8-10c; eggplant 4-5c; okra 4-6c; Kieffer pears $1.50-2.50 per box; peppers 5-6c per lb.; blackeyed peas 3-6c; radishes 40-50c per doz. bunches; squash 5-7c per lb.; mustard 40-50c per doz. bunches and sweet potatoes, Porto Ricans, $2.50-3.00 per cwt.

PEANUTS of the new crop were beginning to come forward more liberally and were in good demand during the week at 15-25c per lb., according to size, with old nuts bringing 20c.

PEANUTS of this season's crop have also started to market. Farmers offerings of Spanish No. 1 are at present bringing 13½c per lb. and No. 2's 10 1-4c.

POULTRY and EGGS—A steady market has prevailed in poultry and egg circles and little price fluctuation is noted. Hens are bringing farmers from 16 to 19c with some markets quoted up to 20c; fryers are wanted from 20-22c per lb. and roosters 5-7c. Thirty dozen cases of eggs ruled from $9.00 to $9.20 for fresh candled offerings. While there is as yet but little purchasing of turkeys by dealers, considerable country trading is taking place. A price of 18 to 20c per lb. was reported as opening. This compared with 25c at approximately this time last year.

HAY—Southeast Texas markets quote choice alfalfa at $33 to $34 a ton in carloads delivered, with No. 1 bringing $31-32.50 and standard $28-30. The trend of the alfalfa market is upward due to the shortage of choice hay as a result of the damaging rains of September. Johnson Grass in the same markets brought $21 per ton for No. 1 and $19 per ton for No. 2. Best quality prairie hay found an outlet at $11.50 with second quality at $9.50.

WE NEED YOU—YOU NEED US
 Where is the man within trading distance of Deming who in case he were trying to sell the farm would not mention that the property is within so many miles of Deming? He would go farther and tell his prospect that Deming is a fine town with good stores and excellent churches and schools. He would mention the population and comment on the type of people. Why would he do this? Because he knows his farm is considered more valuable because it is situated near a good town. And if the Deming business men should plan to sell his business he would not fail to mention the fact that Deming is in the midst of one of the best communities in the whole state and he would comment on the progressiveness of the farmers in the community. All of which goes to prove that the farmer and the business man are interdependent. When the farmer hurts the business of the Deming merchant he hurts the value of his own property. When the Deming merchant fails to do all in his power to make for the prosperity of the farmer he makes his own property less valuable. Pulling together all the time is what pays. It pays in dollars and cents and it pays in satisfaction and peace of mind.—Deming (N. M.) Headlight.

THIS WEEK

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Henry Ford's public message to Mr. Weeks, Secretary of War, will interest politicians and farmers. Ford invites a libel suit by his blunt statement that Weeks is selling Muscle Shoals piecemeal to prevent Ford's producing cheap fertilizer there for farmers, thus interfering with the fertilizer trust, which practices extortion notoriously.

Ford's talk is blunt. Every real newspaper in the United States will print it. Weeks accused of destroying what might be made "the greatest munition plant on earth, our greatest assurance of victory, in case of war," to keep Ford from giving cheap fertilizer to farmers.

President Coolidge knows that this statement by Ford will be discussed in every farm house in the United States, and believed by 999 out of 1,000 farmers.

After this attack on Weeks, Ford will be bound to enter the 1924 election as a candidate against the Republican party, and let farmers decide between him and the Republican administration. Ford couldn't possibly do less.

It's an interesting situation for Mr. Coolidge, also for Mr. McAdoo.

The sane decision that ninety per cent of the people who own Muscle Shoals would advocate would let Ford take the plant and show what he can do about his promise to supply cheap fertilizer and send cheap power 200 miles in all directions.

Any Republican who thinks that Ford would poll a small vote as an independent knows little about politics or the present mood of American farmers and workmen.

Secretary Weeks won't sue Henry Ford for libel. He'll ask Congress to investigate Ford's charges. This shows a Christian spirit, for no charge could be more serious than Ford's accusation against Weeks.

Ford, who rapidly passes from one cage to another, like the boy at the Zoo, now announces a plan to let his employes share in the profits of his railroad.

He will help them buy profit sharing certificates in installments from their wages. They may get their money back any time, but must keep their certificates, not sell them, "unless to fellow employes."

Whatever you may think of Henry Ford, you must admit that the problems of this country would be simplified and the security of those that have money increased, if other big employers understood as Ford does the handling of workmen.

"Milk from contented cows" is a well-known, ingenious motto. "Work from contented workmen" ought to be the employer's motto. Contented cows can't kick or buck.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has given $500,000 to the Zoological Society, promising to duplicate that amount. E. S. Harkness gave $100,000, the estate of Mrs. F. F. Thompson $50,000.

The work of the Zoological Society is done scientifically. It does not merely collect elephants to amuse children and monkeys to rebuke men. It carries on admirable, permanent, scientific work. In days to come not one of the specimens in the Zoo will be left alive on this earth. All will have gone to join the carnivorous dinosaur, great auk and the dodo. This is the time to gather information.

Mr. Francis O. French, who has William H. Vanderbilt for a cousin, and other rich folks, having lost his money in Wall Street, starts driving a "checker" taxicab. His home is one furnished room, "although his family has houses in New York, Tuxedo, Newport, and Paris."

The society reporters weep over this, of course. But, rich parents that spoil children, please notice that this young man's first day of real education will be his first day on that checker cab. He will learn that if you don't steer straight, you will be bumped. And as he counts up his day's profits, he'll realize that a dollar means something.

THE PANHANDLE-PLAINS OF TEXAS AND OKLAHOMA

The Panhandle-Plains region is composed of 38 counties in Texas and two counties in Oklahoma, known as the Panhandle of Oklahoma.

Less than 25 per cent of the tillable land in the Panhandle is in a state of cultivation, though each year hundreds of progressive families are arriving in the Panhandle to secure homes. No section can boast of a larger body of tillable land than is found in the Northwestern (Panhandle) section of Texas. Acres, even millions of acres of land—rich tillable land—may be found in one body. It is possible to plow a furrow 100 miles long without a stop.

When this land is seeded it is very prolific. For this reason, together with many others, homeseekers are turning their eyes toward the Texas Panhandle—the country which, without a doubt, offers an opportunity to every man who is willing to work. There is sufficient farm land in the country now, which is idle, to furnish a home for 100,000 farmers and then each farmer will have more land than is customary in the average farming community of America.

This territory contains approximately 20,000,000 acres of land, ranging in price from $15 to $100 per acre, and when figured out the average price per acre settles approximately at the $25 mark.

Climatic conditions are very favorable in the Panhandle for farming and stock raising. The high altitude, the rich nutritious native grasses, pure water and freedom from many diseases, insure a pre-eminence in the breeding, raising, and fattening of cattle, hogs, sheep and other livestock, while its wheat belt is famous the world over and its feed crops are sufficient to support its immense livestock production, with a surplus for shipment.

Figures obtained from the last Federal Census show that with only one-seventh of the total area of the state we produce one-sixth of the cattle raised in the State, nearly one-third of the wheat and almost two-thirds of the kafir and maize. Contrast this with the fact that less than 25 per cent of our tillable land is under cultivation, that nearly 98 per cent of our land is tillable and that we have an average of 5.4 population to the square mile, as against 17.8 in the whole State.

Owing to the fact that many Panhandle counties are very sparsely settled, it has been impossible in the past to make great improvements in the way of roads, public buildings, etc. However, the roads and public buildings, as a rule, are above the general average. During the past two years many counties have begun campaigns for improvements. Hundreds of miles of first-class roads will be constructed within the next few months. Public buildings are being enlarged and remodeled, and when the low tax rate is considered, together with the small number of tax payers, it will be noted that officials have never been extravagant.

The climate is an invitation to those who would like the pure joy of living and living long for no more healthful locality will be found.—W. N. Blanton, in The Progressive Farmer.

CORRUPT POLITICS

Election came round and Liza said her man was going to vote for the Democrats. She was asked why he had made this decision. Liza said it was because the Republicans had offered him more for his vote than the Democrats. "But, Liza, one would think that would be the very reason he would vote the Republican ticket." "No, ma'am!" she replied, "that proves for sho' that the Democrats is the leas' corrupt."

"DOLLAR BILL"

"Howdy, Bill; glad to meet you. I have a mission to perform, Bill, and I am going to start you on the mission right now."

"Here, Brother Jones, is that Dollar I borrowed from you; accept my thanks." TEN hours later: "Well, Dollar Bill, you are back again; tell me where you have been during the day."

"Well, to begin with, Mr. Jones paid me to the doctor in payment of his bill—the doctor gave me to the office boy for wages—the office boy gave me to his mother, and she paid her bill to the butcher; the butcher paid me to a lady for two chickens and the lady paid her bill at the grocery store—the grocer gave out in change to a Chinaman, and paid a bill he owed for starch."

The grocerman paid me to the office boy for wages due and he gave to his mother who paid me to laundry woman for the week's washing, and she paid me to the man for coal, so you see I changed hands a dozen times to and am good for as many more every day in the year, provided you get me off early in the morning, give me a chance to help everyone of their bills and return to you every night; but if you hide me away there will be no bills paid and you will be blocking the game. Let me go and the first thing you know you will all be out of debt and happy ever after.—Anon.

SHERIFF'S SALE

The State of Texas, County of Reeves: By virtue of a certain Alias Order of Sale and Execution issued out of the Honorable Justice Court of Precinct No. 7, Dallas County, on the 9th day of August, 1923, by A. C. Florey, Justice of the Peace of said Court, against H. C. Roberson, for the sum of One Hundred Eight and 25-100 ($108.25) Dollars and costs of suit, in cause No. 13986 in said Court, styled Sears Roebuck and Company versus H. C. Roberson, and placed in my hands for service, I, E. B. Kiser, as Sheriff of Reeves County, Texas, did, on the 8th day of October, 1923, levy on certain Personal Property, situated in Reeves County, described as follows, to-wit: One Economy Gasoline Engine, five horse power; and levied upon as the property of said H. C. Roberson. And on Tuesday, the 6th day of November, 1923, at the Court House door of Reeves County, in the town of Pecos, Texas, between the hours of ten A. M. and four P. M. I will sell said Property at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said H. C. Roberson by virtue of said levy and said alias order of sale and execution.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Pecos Enterprise, a newspaper published in Reeves County.

Witness my hand, this 8th day of October, 1923.

 Sheriff, Reeves County, Texas

LOYALTY TO THE HOME TOWN

One of the biggest words in the English language is Loyalty, loyalty to your friends, loyalty to your government, to your home, your church, and in particular, loyalty to the community in which you live. It's the spirit that we ought to engender, for in spite of everything on earth, the town is just what you are. If you are a tightwad, old close-fisted miser, short sighted, never have a vision longer than your nose, live alone for profit, God have mercy on that town where you live. It does us good to meet a man who is brim full of loyalty for his home town, backs up and fosters every movement for the betterment of the community, never knocks, always smiling wet or dry, hot or cold, he's rearing to go. We think that the dearest thing on earth is a dead newspaper man, he fairly stinks as he walks down the street, never has a dream or vision, his paper looks like a last year's almanac, full of patent medicine ads, and if he should happen to write an editorial squib, it's like a carcass on the roadside, you have to hold your nose to get by it, else you become contaminated and stinketh yourself. And the next dearest thing on earth is a dead merchant, one that stands in his store door with a sour grin on his face, one of those hard time looks that would make the devil laugh for joy, it stops the clock of progress, clogs the wheels of do, hangs the spectacles of hard times on the sky of hope, and O golleys it gives one the blues to converse with him. Yes, everything is out of gear, there ain't no money in the country, and the whole push is staged for a fall, high taxes and short crops is his daily song, sung to the tune of a funeral dirge. Ask him to buy space in the county paper, and he will turn to a kinder of a sallow green, and how mournfully he will sing his old song of hard times and scarcity of money. And say you fellows that are crying about hard times, just ought to slip down to the Albany postoffice and look in the rear, it's piled to the ceiling with merchandise from Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco and Houston and Sears-Roebuck. Yes, they read the big fat ads in the daily papers and catalogs, and always the fish. Loyalty to the home town, get up and fight for it, talk about it, brag on it, toot your horn about it far and near, praise everything about it that is good, join the booster gang, roll up your sleeves and do battle for the old home town. We have in mind a small town in Texas, one of the liveliest and biggest little towns in Texas, notwithstanding that it has grown up under the shadow of one of the largest cities in the south, just sixteen miles away from the big city, and a concrete road links the village and the city, but nary a bundle of goods does that small town buy down at the big city. They have a live chamber of commerce, and this institution has fostered the spirit of buy at home, and this spirit is so strong that one dares not go away from home to buy goods. A man or woman walks into a store and calls for a certain article, if they do not have it in stock the merchant will say just wait a moment and we will get the article; no, no, don't allow anybody to go out of town to buy anything, hair pin, steam engine or what not, and that spirit of buy at home is so strong that they will black list any one who goes to the big city to buy anything whatever. Every man and woman and child is a booster for that town, stands behind every movement, back up the school, the church, city council and chamber of commerce, etc. And say folks, they tell us that a knocker can't reside in that town and do business, no, there ain't no place for the old tightwad. It's said that it is the only town in Texas where the merchants fuss at the newspaper man because he will not give them more white space in their ads, and every mother's son of them advertise, else they are boycotted, and it is a noted fact that it is the liveliest country weekly in Texas, although four big daily papers are printed right at its door steps morning and evening. Say, up there on Main Street there is a billboard with this writing on it—LOYALTY TO YOUR HOME TOWN, and we wish to God that some folks in this town would read it, and get it burnt into their craniums. Let's start a campaign for home loyalty. Let's start a campaign for buying at home. Let's

FINANCIAL REVIEW

Prepared For The Enterprise By The First National Bank In St. Louis.

The latest monthly figures issued by the Statistical Bureau of Silk Association of America—those for September published during the first week of the current month, indicate that our imports and distribution of raw silk have not felt the effects of the earthquake in Japan and destruction of raw silks, and of the conditioning and export facilities of that market. This condition is due, no doubt, to the fact that large quantities of raw silk were already on the water destined for this country when the disaster occurred. This country's imports of raw silk, consequently, show no considerable falling off as compared with the earlier months of the present year, while consumption by American manufacturers during the month was only slightly less than the average deliveries for the past year. Of course, a period must soon come when all raw silk in transit from Japan, at the time of the earthquake, will have reached this country and imports and deliveries to manufacturers will show substantial reductions. It is hoped, however, that arrangements can be made to bring raw silk from Japan through Kobe and consequently lessen the time that the American silk industry is to be deprived of raw silk.

According to figures issued by the Silk Association for September, consumption of raw silk by our manufacturers totaled 26,929 bales, a decrease of 19 per cent from the consumption of 33,547 bales for August, and a decrease of 7,283 bales from the total consumption of September, 1922. Import figures for the month indicate that our imports declined 20 per cent, amounting to 28,837 bales as compared to 36,092 bales imported in August. Imports for September, 1922, amounted to 38,492 bales. Stocks of raw silk in New York warehouses during September show a slight increase in contrast to the decrease of imports and decrease in consumption. Stocks during September this year amounted to 27,367 bales at the end of the month compared with 25,450 bales on August 31, and with 36,795 bales on September 30, 1922. The stocks on hand consisted of 21,093 bales of Japanese silk, 345 bales of European silk, and 5,929 bales from other countries.

BITTEN BY CENTIPEDE

Morgan, a well known local negro, was bitten on the right hand last Friday by a centipede four inches long as he caught the articulated animal in picking up a chunk of wood preparatory to building a fire in the Davidson branding pens. The wound was treated with coal oil and creosote; and excepting for a slight swelling and a lingering pain, Morgan suffered no inconvenience. He made a full hand all day and is still going strong. We personally thanked Morgan for demonstrating that the centipede's bite is no more dangerous than a wasp sting. He promptly disavowed any pleasure in being "the experiment."

Because of the popular belief that the bite of the centipede is fatal and that in each of its reputed hundred legs reposes a poison which rots out the flesh of a person over whose bare feet, arms or back it happens to crawl, we point to Morgan's experience as complete refutation of the age-old slander against the animal, and append the following excerpts from a letter from a professor in the University of Hawaii, which, it will be observed, not only denies the deadly bite of the centipede but assigns it a usefulness which might be utilized to guard one's sleep in districts where mosquitoes do abound. The excerpts follow:

The centipede, abhorred enemy of the residents of Hawaii, really is a friend, according to University of Hawaii investigations, because he subsists mainly on other pestiferous insects, chiefly mosquitoes and cockroaches. The results of the investigation showed that the centipede is not vicious and is retiring in disposition except when he is attacked or thinks he is. Then he has fairly potent means of defense in the feelers of his fore feet, with which he inflicts his "bite." But his bite is no more serious usually than that of a bee or wasp, the university said.—Alpine Avalanche.

PAY NO HEED TO FORECASTS OF NEXT WINTER'S WEATHER

No credence should be given to newspaper predictions of weather conditions for long periods in the future, even though such forecasts purport to come from the Government. A case in point is a recent prediction in a Boston newspaper to the effect that the "coming winter will be the coldest and snowiest winter in history" in New England.

The Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture absolutely disclaims any responsibility for such a statement. The bureau does not attempt to issue predictions even of a general character for weeks or months in advance. The subject of forecasting for seasons or considerable periods ahead has long engaged the attention of meteorological scientists, but thus far no laws of sequences have been discovered whereby long-range forecasts of a reliable character can be made.

Reputable meteorologists throughout the world agree that the science has not advanced to the point where it can be done.

If you want a home paper, one that places Community or Public Service above all other considerations so far as it is good business to do so, you have something more to do beyond subscribing for it. Help by giving it all the printing you must have done which the paper's job service is able to handle.—Alpine Avalanche.

Very few people, apparently, know what is due their home paper. In many instances they use the home paper only as a convenience. When they have a hurry-up job that the mail order house would not handle for twice the price the local office asks, they give it to the home paper, but in nine cases out of ten the home business man will ask the home paper for a price on 500, 1000 or 2000 copies and because the mail order house will give him a lower price on a 25,000 or 50,000 lot, the job goes to the mail order house. Again the local man rarely considers the free publicity given by his home paper which the out-of-town office would not give if he could and could not if he would.

The ENTERPRISE has for several years printed the Whirlwind for the Pecos Public School and only for a trifle above cost of material and labor. It is now giving the same school a full page every week "free gratis for nothing." In order to show in a meagre way their appreciation for this service cheerfully given, it is understood they only last week let the contract to an outside firm for the printing of the commencement invitations and cards, and, if our informant be correct, at a much higher price than the same identical job could be had for at the ENTERPRISE office.

The ENTERPRISE is not censuring those of the high school who have this matter in charge. How could they be expected to do otherwise when the Pecos Chamber of Commerce sends to Arkansas for tickets for its trade days? The money for both of these jobs is gone from Pecos forever. In another place in this paper will be found an article entitled "Dollar Bill," which will give ENTERPRISE readers a slight idea of what the several hundred dollars spent for these two jobs alone had it been spent with local printers with ample facilities for turning out the work, would have meant to the people of Pecos. If these dollars had followed the precedent of "Dollar Bill," which they in all probability would have done, there would in all likelihood have been five or ten thousand dollars' worth of accounts settled and dozens of lowest of our citizens would have felt at ease and would have a better feeling toward his neighbor.

Gentlemen, you just simply can't build a town that way. A town divided against itself must fall. It cannot grow and prosper any more than a "house divided against itself," etc. As this writer sees it there is one way and only one way to pull poor old Pecos out of the ruts and put her in the class of real live prosperous towns, and the Pecos Chamber of Commerce could do nothing which would benefit more than to help solve the problem, viz: Quit the mail order houses which never contribute one cent to your taxes or to anything else which tends to help your city or county. Start at home and give all your work to your home town people at a living wage. Then go out after the public and educate them to the fact that it is wise for them to do likewise. "In union there is strength," "Divided we fall," etc., are very good thoughts for our people and should be used as slogans by every citizen of the county who has the best interests of his town and county at heart. Let's get right with each other and for once use just a little grain of common sense and be just a little less selfish and see how that will work for a time. Doing this it is the prediction of the writer that we will hear considerably less of hard luck stories and our people will return to the optimistic view of things, pay their debts, and become prosperous.

With plenty of water available by the Red Bluff reservoir there will be many truck farms along the river and then our people will prosper as never before.

Those of other sections who have a keen foresight should secure acreage under the Red Bluff reservoir site sufficient for a nice farm before work actually begins. Now is the time before the price is advanced.

Pecos Valley farmers, although short on water for irrigation during the growing season, are gathering splendid crops—many of them much more than they had expected. The high price being paid for cotton will bring most of them out of the kinks.

As a farming country the Pecos Valley of Texas cannot be surpassed when we have the water. There are many crops which may be grown here profitably, and no place where a big yield of cotton is more certain. The Red Bluff reservoir is certain of construction and that will settle the water question. Come to the Pecos Valley.

GRAVES AT FAIRVIEW IN BAD CONDITION

The ENTERPRISE is informed that several graves in Fairview cemetery are in a very dilapidated condition. Several have sunken until the stones on both ends have fallen in and in some instances the dirt has receded almost to the top of the coffin.

The ENTERPRISE does not know if there is a cemetery association here, but it does know that the people of Pecos will get busy and look to a better care of the city of the dead when they are made aware of the facts as related to the ENTERPRISE this week.

Our people should see to it that no grave in either of our cemeteries is neglected, and no doubt they will.

WASHINGTON MEMORIAL

A nation lives or dies as its patriotism waxes or wanes. Any movement, then, which increases love of country, veneration for its principles, admiration of its great men, respect for its laws, and honor for its flag, is a patriotic movement.

On November the first the cornerstone of the magnificent memorial to Washington, the Mason, will be laid at Alexandria, Va. While the erection of a great temple, commemorative to George Washington, the Mason, is essentially a Masonic movement, this project must nevertheless be considered as of the highest importance from the standpoint of the increase of patriotism. Washington has been honored by his country in a great stone shaft and the naming of its capital for him. His remains lie near his home, which is kept in perfect order for the veneration of visitors by a society of women. As a statesman, a wise counselor of policy and national act, he is honored and quoted above all who have helped guide this country on its course. But there is room for more monuments to impress upon our youth, our visitors, our immigrants, ourselves, the debt we owe to the great man whose vision was so clear, whose common sense was so great, whose love of the struggling young nation was so strong that it has permeated our entire national life.

Washington loved Masonry. He was Master of his Lodge. He was no mere lodge member; he worked at the Craft. He believed in it, labored for it, quoted it, lived its principles.

What Washington found good, no lesser man can afford to ignore. It is, therefore, most fitting that when the Masons of this country unite to honor him, the country as a whole evaluate their great building for what it is; not only a tribute to the man and Mason, but a great stimulus for patriotism, the creation of a new National Shrine, where generations yet unborn may stand and absorb some of the inspiration which was Washington's, and by which this country has grown from small beginnings to be the greatest nation in the world.

AS THE PUBLIC WILL SEE IT

Governor Walton of Oklahoma may be as bad or worse than the Klan leaders and Klan sympathizers of that State claim, but it is a little strange that the outside public never heard of these charges until he began to enforce the law against mob outrages in Oklahoma.

The Klan may—and probably will—impeach Walton and throw him out of office, because the Legislature seems to be strong enough to carry out their designs against the Governor and, furthermore, they may indict and convict him of various crimes before Klan controlled courts, but if they do it will hit the Klan a death blow in other States, because the public will realize that the Invisible Empire is strong enough to destroy any official, even a Governor of a Sovereign State that dares to interfere with the Invisible Empire that takes the law into its own hands.

True, this might be an error, so far as the case of the Klan vs. Walton, in Oklahoma, is concerned, but that is the way people outside of Oklahoma are liable to view it. The old adage that "Whom the Gods would destroy they first make mad," seems to be on the road to verification in Oklahoma.

We have read of repeated outrages by hooded mobs in Oklahoma for two years or more, but heard of no convictions until Governor Walton was elected, not even any serious effort to protect the people by enforcing the criminal laws of that turbulent state.

One thing noticeable is that the king-pin leaders, who are fighting Walton, are the very men who tried to defeat Walton for Governor. Some of them boast of their Klan membership and that is why many people, who are unacquainted with local conditions in Oklahoma, sympathize with Governor Walton. To them Walton stands for the civil and criminal laws of our country, the Visible against the Invisible Government instituted by self-constituted Lynch Courts.

If the Invisible Empire is stronger than the Lawful Government of Oklahoma, and prove it by impeaching Governor Walton, as they have started out to do, it will put on notice every loyal, natural, one hundred per cent American in all other states, of the danger to civil liberty and the destruction of our Government, founded by our fathers to protect life and property, that lurks in the ranks of the Invisible Empire.

"By their fruits ye shall know them." Judged by this Scripture, the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma aims at destruction of all government and lawful officials that oppose the Klan.—Baird Star.

It occurs to the ENTERPRISE that the Star has some very good argument in the above. The people should rule and the laws should be enforced by the people.

"Judge" pays a fine tribute to a small-town editor who, despite threats and persecution by the Klan, dares to denounce mob tyranny. "We hear a lot of the heroism and self-sacrifice of our Christian missionaries to darkest Africa and other far places," writes our grave and gay contemporary. "But what about these missionaries of enlightenment to our American bush, these occasional country editors with the courage to hold aloft the torch of freedom and fair play in the lair of the hundred percenters? They can't cow their enemies with threats of gunboats. They have no powerful denominations behind them bringing pressure to bear on Washington, no boards of foreign missions paying their salaries. They risk not only their lives but their livings. And for what? Whoever hears of a newspaper man going to heaven?

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved — Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity, purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water,—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—Advs.

The National Industrial Conference Board recently has made public the results of a study of the cost of government, national, state and municipal. It finds that the total number of persons on the payroll of the public is 3,400,000, consisting of 2,700,000 supposed to be engaged in needed public work, and 670,000 pensioners.

Such persons on the payroll of the public receive $3,500,000,000 a year and the pensioners $3,200,000,000.

The result is that the annual cost of payments to government employees and pensioners is $91 for every person employed in a gainful occupation, and $34 for each man, woman and child in the United States.

The National Industrial Conference Board computed that in 1913-14 the national income was $34,800,000,000, and that about 6.5 cents of every dollar of such income was required for tax purposes; that in 1921-22 the national income had risen to $53,800,000,000, and the amount taken for taxes out of each dollar had risen from 6.5 cents to 14.3 cents.

In 1922 the number of persons employed in the maintenance and operation of Class 1 railroads and large switching and terminal companies was 1,645,244. Statistics are not available for the number of persons employed in the operation of the smaller roads, but it is probable that the total employed on all railroads and all switching and terminal companies will not exceed 1,700,000. It is interesting and instructive to note that 1,000,000 more persons are engaged in conducting the affairs of the government than are required to maintain and operate all of the railroads of the United States. What number of employes would be upon the government payroll if it should take over and operate all railroad properties?

The cost of government has passed the danger point. It is high time a halt were called upon government expenditures and taxation.—The Earth.

72-YEAR-OLD SAILOR EMBARKS FOR BOSTON

ASTRIDE TRUSTY STEED
W. H. Goss, of Pecos, Texas, aged 72 years, will embark Saturday afternoon for Boston astride a 1,500-pound horse. He expects to reach his destination in 100 days, provided good weather prevails and there are no violent northeastern gales.

Mr. Goss has owned his mount ever since the animal was a colt. The horse is now at Ysleta, where it was left by Mr. Goss after a ride from Pecos.

Mr. Goss will embark for the long voyage at the Chamber of Commerce building and from that point will tack along the Bankhead Highway to Memphis. Other ports he will touch along the route will be Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

Prior to going in for a ranch life, Mr. Goss was a sailor in the United States navy. He spent something like 44 years before the mast, during which time he visited all the important ports of the world.

He was born at Danvers, 18 miles from Boston, and is making the trip back there, on horseback to show easterners it can be done.—Last week's El Paso Times.

William H. Goss, of Ochoa, N. M., is planning to mount his bronc next Wednesday afternoon and ride away to Boston. He expects to negotiate the journey in 100 days and, after his visit in that section, to ride back on the same steed.

Mr. Goss is 72 years old and he wants to show the folks back east that riding a horse some 5,000 miles is his particular kind of meat.

Prior to going into the ranching game, Mr. Goss was a sailor in the United States navy. He expected to get under sail on board his horse last Saturday, but the sailing date has been changed to Wednesday.—Tuesday's El Paso Times.

FRENCH SAVANTS DISCOVER GERM FATAL TO HOUSE FLIES

Paris, Oct. 16.—Doctors Roubaud and Des Cazeaux described to the Academy of Sciences how after years of experimenting they have found a cork-screw like germ which they are persuaded is that of measles. They stated to the assembly of savants that now that the germ has been found it is only a question of time before the malady will be definitely stamped out.

Professor Vincent announced the discovery that house flies are subject to fatal sickness, the germ of which he has also found. He declared that the propagation of this microbe, which is harmless to the human species, will result in the extinction of the fly wherever used.

Twenty cases of complete cure of cancer, several of them of 12 or more years' standing, were submitted to the academy of surgeons by Dr. Guiter, Paris specialist in the treatment of cancer by radium.

Dr. Guiter stated that all of the patients suffered from cancer of esophagus.

"We are a race of beings created in a universe where law reigns. That will forever need all the repetition and emphasis which can be put on it. Law reigns. It can neither be cheated, evaded, nor turned aside. We can discover it, live in accordance with it, observe it, and develop and succeed; or, we can disregard it, violate it, defy it, and fail. Law reigns. It is the source of order, of freedom, of righteous authority, of organized society and a source of industrial success and prosperity. To disregard it is to perish, to observe it is to live, physically, mentally, morally, spiritually. It is the principle that requires respect and reverence for authority. It is not sought for the benefit of those who may temporarily represent government or any other example of authority, but for the benefit of the individual himself."— President Coolidge.

States recognize the importance of the interstate road, and build it, often wholly from state funds. Counties build their own roads and sometimes local roads, although many such are enterprises constructed by a community of less size than the county.

State roads and interstate roads usually join. Some state roads may not have good connections across a state line, but as a general rule they do; indeed, many interstate roads become truly national in scope, and become known by their national name, as the National Old Trails Road, the Lincoln Highway, the Lee Highway, etc.

It is the argument of those who believe that the United States should go further than Federal aid, and become the original constructor and permanent maintainer of truly national roads; that, just as states build state roads, counties build county roads, and communities build local roads, so should the nation build the main interstate trunk lines; that there are roads which truly serve the whole nation, which should be built by and

ORCHESTRA CHORDS AND DIS-CHORDS

The delusive reasoning that a child six or seven years of age is too young to commence the study of music is practically dispelled by the performance of many youngsters who occasionally appear in public recitals to the credit of themselves and their instructors. Efreim Zimbalist, one of the greatest violinists of the world, who will play in El Paso Tuesday, commenced the study of music at a very tender age. He was chosen as first violinist in grand opera at the age of nine. We learn from the El Paso Times he "occupied this important chair at such an early age in the Rostov Opera in Rostov-on-Don, Russia. And it was not because his father happened to be the distinguished conductor of the orchestra and opera, for the elder Zimbalist was the first and most exacting master Efreim ever had. It was at the instance of the older musicians that the father finally consented to entrust his son with a post among the first violinists."

The ENTERPRISE has been informed that the reason many more Pecos applicants are not registered as students in the study of orchestra music is that the people of Pecos have been fooled too often by the fly-by-night, incompetent band instructors, whose side line has been the sale of instruments on which they realized from 25 to 60 per cent of the purchase price. When business along this line slumped, the instructor disappeared and the parents and friends of the student were left to hold the bag. The Pecos brass band has been re-organized several times with ultimate failure as the result. Pecos is not the only deluded town on the map; they are scattered from Maine to the Pacific Coast. A small town brass band which has held its organization together for a period of two years is as much of a national curiosity as a woman tourist who does not wear khaki pants. A prominent member of the Shrine band of El Paso is authority for the statement that it is a hard matter to keep up its full quota of members. An orchestra is different. If the membership dwindles to a piano and violin there is something left to add to, and even the remnant will always have an entree to the leading social circles of the town. There are no commissions paid to the instructors of the Toyah, Barstow and Pecos orchestras, and if there are any discounts on the retail prices of instruments, the buyer gets the benefit of them.

This community should be proud of the fact that the man who made the Toyah orchestra what it is, who is making the Barstow organization into an efficient, balanced orchestra like the Toyah orchestra, who is whipping the Pecos beginners into a semblance of a musical organization, is a composer. Not only can he teach music and direct bands and orchestras, but he can compose. His best known composition is the "King of Nations" march, which has been played by many famous bands all over the country. In fact, Mr. Harp himself directed the famous "Kilties" band in this march, the regular director turning the organization over to him for that selection. Add to this the fact that both Mr. and Mrs. Harp are finished musicians on all orchestra and band instruments, the people of this community have a rare opportunity to learn music from superbly capable people at a cost so reasonable that anyone can afford it.

A common mistake of beginners, after they are able to make the majority of notes fairly well, is to pick up some popular piece of music and attempt to play it. They fail to beat time on it, and consequently are playing time entirely by ear. By doing this, they are merely setting themselves back a little, destroying several weeks' of hard work. Of course, we know those scales and practice exercises get mighty tiresome, but they are the foundation upon which your musical work is being built, and as such, should be laid with care. There is no short cut to musical success. Hard work and conscientious effort make the accomplished musician.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of Toyah citizens who are supporters and boosters for the Toyah orchestra, was held in the schoolhouse auditorium last week. The object of the meeting was to discuss ways and means whereby Mr. and Mrs. Harp might be relieved of the financial burden connected with the progress and morale of the organization. The meeting was harmonious on all questions presented and the attendance composed of the majority of the best citizens of the town. A. O. Harris was elected president; Tony Bruce, vice president; and Gage Van Horn, secretary and treasurer. An advisory committee was appointed consisting of the president, L. Harkness, A. W. Hosie, Joe Crow and Mrs. M. A. Grisham, to whom all matters of importance will be submitted, and all disputes and complaints amicably adjusted. It was the consensus of opinion that it was a great hardship and expense to Mr. and Mrs. Harp to give their services to the orchestra rehearsals without compensation, and a monthly salary was unanimously voted them. The good people of Toyah recognize the services given the public by the orchestra, as also the publicity of Toyah broadcasted to the musical world.

When the cornets and clarinets play from song books, the players are obliged to transpose the printed music and play it in a different key. Almost all the songs are written on the staff and De Witt Black of Barstow is not only transposing at sight on the clarinet, but can play the melody an octave higher than the staff. There are not many professional clarinet players who can do this nicely.

Twenty-four well trained students and other members of the Barstow orchestra played the marches and patriotic songs for the school last Wednesday morning. There is probably not another school in Texas which can produce such a combination for their opening school exercises.

Mr. A. O. Harris of Toyah is master of the string bass section of the Toyah orchestra. Mr. Harris, like many others of the Toyah orchestra, has been in the service of the T. & P. railroad company for years and is considered one of the company's most valued employes, as well as a good musician that the orchestra would hate to lose.

Another rehearsal of the Pecos orchestra was held last night, and all showed that they had been working hard on their orchestra work. While the beginners still don't work in unison as they should, this will soon be ironed out, and we freely predict that by the first of the year real music will be played by everyone.

The advanced players of the Pecos orchestra worked on a few marches and a couple of andantes last night. While they all fell down on a part here and there—with the exception of E. L. Harp, violin, and Ernest Harp, trombone—on the whole they did well for the first time. Those who can handle the pieces played last night will play for the Parent-Teacher program next Friday.

The players and visitors at the rehearsal last night were given a real treat when Ernest, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Harp, played trombone for them. Especially was this a treat during the trombone solo "Solitude." Ernest has been trained by his father who, we must all admit, is the "pollywog's larnyx" on that instrument, and Ernest himself has been crowding his father for honors on the trombone. With the beginners Ernest plays violin, and he is just as much a beginner on the violin as any other member of the orchestra. So, even if he takes the honors with the trombone, all of you have an equal chance with him on the violin.

M. A. Roberson, trombonist, has a hard row to hoe. His work calls him out of town so much of the time that he cannot get all his lessons in, and cannot come to rehearsal when it is held all the time. But that doesn't seem to stop his remarkable progress. Last night he played the marches and andantes exceptionally well, and we have no fear but that he will acquit himself creditably at the public appearances of the orchestra.

Hereafter Pecos orchestra rehearsals will be held on Saturday night at the same times as formerly. This will give several of the opportunity to appear that cannot come on a school night. The lessons will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Harp on their regular day—Thursday. So don't forget, Saturday will be the next rehearsal night. Everybody come.

Howell Johnson, cornetist, with only three lessons to his credit at this time, is playing like a veteran. Very, very few false tones are struck by him, and his time is excellent. Howell played every exercise last night, and always came out correct. If anyone wants to know why he has made such remarkable progress, ask Mrs. Harp.

Beverly Vaughan, one of the orchestra's best junior violinists, favored the members last night with a solo of "America." Little Miss Vaughan plays exceptionally well, and takes an honest delight in her accomplishment. We are looking to her to keep the string section up to par.

A very worthy school boy has agreed to exchange a little work at the orchestra studio for music lessons. He makes a good fire for Mr. and Mrs. Harp in the morning, carries fuel from the school house and in other ways makes himself handy. He cannot leave school to attend to the stove when it needs coal and boys who come to take lessons during the day are requested to kindly look after it and if it needs coal to replenish it.

One of the prominent teachers of the school, who has been connected with it for a long time, informed the ENTERPRISE that for the short time the orchestra class has been organized she has noticed a vast improvement in the conduct of the boy music students, and also an improvement in their grades. Association with people who love music has a lasting influence on the morale of young boys. This has been noticeable at Barstow and Toyah and reflects one of the pre-eminent advantages of the musical art.

GET A JOB

Of the graduating class at Harvard this year ninety-odd announced their intention of entering "business." The next largest number, eighty-nine, said they expected to become lawyers.

And so on down through the list of white-collar occupations. Not one, so far as we recall, said he was going to be a dirt farmer or a bricklayer or an iron worker or a seaman. Not one, apparently, has the imagination and temerity to burst through the paper hoop of convention and enter upon the adventure of a manual trade, however highly paid at the outset or bright with prospects.

The richest man in the world started as a telegrapher, the greatest novelist as a sailor. And what about the ironmasters who began as puddlers, the builders who began as carpenters, the bootleggers who began as fishermen? We venture to say that manual toil has been the cradle of more genius than ever came out of colleges, and of more great fortunes, also, though one doesn't hear about it in baccalaureate sermons.

This country could get along famously with a third as many salesmen and journalists and lawyers and stomach specialists; but unless the young men who are flooding through our colleges today show some inclination soon to do more necessary work of the world we shall be forced to importing hunkies again to do it for us. Why don't our distraught pedagogues, instead of seeking with feeble protests to stem the enormous tide of American youth that has set toward college, try guiding their growing output of graduates into more useful, the more adventurous channels indicated. Such a course if successful would add immensely to the dignity of labor, it would mitigate our labor shortage and it would greatly increase the proportion of men in our population to white-collar slaves.

Let the girls have the polite jobs; they seem bound to get them anyway.—Editorial in Judge.

THE CHURCHES

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Church of Christ meet every Lord's Day at eleven o'clock, Barstow, Texas.

METHODIST CHURCH

A cordial invitation is extended to you and yours, dear reader, to attend services in the House of God next Sunday. I'd be glad to see you at the Methodist church, but am anxious that by any means you will attend somewhere.

At the Methodist church you are offered Sunday school beginning at 9:45 a. m., followed by preaching at 11:00 o'clock. The subject of the sermon is "Jesus, Help For a Needy World," (special music), which suitably follows last Sunday morning's sermon on "The World's Need of Jesus." And that reminds me to say that that occasion was well attended and the sermon well received. As one result a fine young man takes stand with the people of God in a very satisfying way.

Our evening services are suspended in favor of the District Convention being held at the Christian church.—L. L. THURSTON, Pastor.

BAPTIST CHURCH

There will be all regular services at the Baptist church Sunday. We had a full house at both preaching services last Sunday, and the spirit was great. Three professions and additions to the church was Sunday's record. Suppose we work and pray for even better results this Sunday. The Sunday school continues well beyond the two hundred mark and the B. Y. P. U.'s have been forced to organize a new one to take care of the numbers. Come Sunday. All are invited.—J. M. GARNER, Pastor.

SOFT PEDALING DADDY

"Betty, what have you been doing to this ink?" asked mother.
"Oh, nothing, Mom," replied our Betty. "I only put a little water in it to make it weak as I was writing to Daddy and there was something I wanted to whisper to him."

SUL ROSS ELEVEN CHRISTENED "LOBOS"

Alpine, Oct. 27.—At a "pep meeting" of the student body of Sul Ross College, before the clash with Pecos on the coming Saturday, held in the college chapel, the football squad was christened "Lobos." "Rangers" ran a close second in the contest.

The "Lobos" were invited to the stage, and the men were introduced to the audience by Donald Church. Following the introduction, loud cheers greeted each "Lobo." Misses Beth Cotter and Lois Estes were chosen sponsors for the team, and Roy Hickman and Owen Lincecum were elected yell leaders.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT

All the little folks of the first, second and third grades are doing nicely. The first graders have caught on to school by this time, and are doing all that is asked of them. The second grade is selling pencils to get themselves pencil sharpeners out of school, while during the day they work. The third is still plugging along, trying as always to toe the mark. Some of the little boys of the lower school are being handled too roughly by the larger ones when on the school grounds, they complain. Answer—this will make them men.

FIRE COMES INTO USE AGAIN

For a few weeks now the old fire has been feeling very good. Everyone hopes that there will be enough of it later so the building will not be cold. As far as we know, there will be no such trouble this year, but no one is assured of it. Blur-r-r-it's getting cold is getting to be the watchword.

HISTORY IV EMBRACES WIDER SCOPE THIS YEAR

The History IV course for this year has been made much more difficult so as to deserve a whole credit. The state outlines for the work many new readings and reports, and as a whole it is very deserving of the whole credit that it gets. Each month a theme and reports of books read have to be handed in before the grade goes on the cards. The map work, also is much more difficult, but Mr. Norman has the maps that were ordered in the history room now, and the source work along this line is not so difficult. The class is well up with the work, though, and seems to be doing well.

WHY NOT PLAY DOMINO FOOTBALL?

The rage now is domino football. It is interesting, difficult, and scientific to be sure. Why don't you get up a game? If you know how to play real football, it will be very simple to make touchdown after touchdown. It is played on a field laid out like a regular football field on a piece of cardboard, and with a set of dominoes. They are grouped on each side of the fifty-yard line, shuffled and then turned up one by one by the player that kicked off, to see if the aggregate numbers on the ones turned up will make ten yards. If so, you have made first down, and are entitled to another shuffle, and so on until you march down the field for a touchdown. There are kicks, drop kicks, field goals, and runs, fakes, forward passes, all woven into the game which makes it an interesting as well as partially scientific game. It is certainly an up-to-date game, and worth trying.

When told how easy it was to start a fire in the school building, George responded that he knew it couldn't be done because he had tried it.

Mr. Dean—Howell, stop laughing at me.

Howell—I'm not laughing at you.
Mr. Dean—Well, what else is there here to laugh at.

Howell—"Time and tide wait for no man."

George—"Yes, and they won't wait for you either."

PECOS HI BEATEN BY SUL ROSS LOBOS; MAKE 6 TO 6 TIE WITH MARFA

Friday of last week all the football players of the Pecos Hi team went to Alpine to match their wits and strength with the Sul Ross players in a game of football. The start was made at about 9:00 o'clock. The roads were rough; the ride long and tiresome. They went straight through and arrived at Alpine at near 6:00 o'clock. They were treated royally given lodging and spent the night in comparative peace, except for occasional grunts, howls, and yelps, which aroused the inhabitants. The morning before the game, which was played Saturday, was spent in various endeavors, including sight seeing and apple swiping to the heart's content. The game was called for 3:00 o'clock, but did not get in progress until 3:20.

The Sul Ross Game

By the time 3:00 o'clock arrived, all the players of both teams were suited out, and on the field with the purpose of going through a light work out. Before they came on the field, however, the teams were weighed, and it was found that Pecos averaged 140 pounds, while Sul Ross tipped the scales at 158. The game began at 3:20 with the Lobos defending their goal. Pecos began an offensive that showed wonderful results for so light a team. The Sul Ross line was broken regularly during the first and second quarter. Cowan and Moorehead made fine gains, and the team marched toward a touchdown, but lacked the punch to put it over in the half. Pecos actually outplayed the heavier team in the first period, making nine first downs to eight for Sul Ross. Sul Ross scored in the half, but failed to make extra point, and when the whistle blew, the score was 6 to 0, favor of Sul Ross.

In the second half, the fact that Alpine had the heavier team began to tell. Pecos became wearied, and were unable to hold the line. All the Sul Ross backs made repeated gains through the line, and gradually pushed toward a touchdown. When the kickoff came the same thing was repeated and the score ran up to 40 points. The little Pecos team fought gamely, and never once showed that they wanted to give it up, but kept in the game in spite of certain defeat. Alpine tried the aerial route for gains during the last period, and made one touchdown as a result of a pass. The game ended at about 5:30 with the score 40 to 0 in favor of Sul Ross. When the boys had dressed, and were ready to start for Pecos, it was found that it was too late to try to come in during the night, and the night was spent in Alpine. Comments on the game by both teams showed that no hard feelings resulted. Wheat, a Pecos High School football product, was a star of the game for the Lobos. This was the first real game for the mountaineers, and they showed the fact that they had good coaching, and lots of practice.

The Game With Marfa High

The next morning after the fray with Sul Ross, it was not thought that Pecos would tangle with Marfa, but Coach Norman decided that the expense, worry and tangle of another trip could be avoided if Pecos could be matched with Marfa Monday, so after repeated attempts during the morning, and finally a trip to the little city, a match was made with them, which was played Monday at 2:45.

Marfa kicked to Pecos. Pecos showed that they were a match for the school, and returned the ball rapidly down the field. The Marfa line held well, but end runs resulted in good gains. No touchdown was on the counter when the quarter ended, but in the second Pecos put one over, but failed to get point. Score 6 to 0 favor of Pecos. The half ended without further scoring by either team.

In the second half, Pecos continued to gain. Twice they were within inches of a touchdown, but Marfa added a few pounds of punch to their play and held them for downs. Once Cowan broke away for a 40 yard run around end. In the last quarter when the ball was in the possession of Pecos, the center threw over the back-field man, Pecos recovered and fumbled, Marfa recovered and fumbled, kicking the ball toward the Marfa goal, Pecos recovered again, and then Marfa recovered and ran two yards to the touchdown. This was in the last three minutes of play. The touchdown was not the result of good football. Marfa failed to get point, and the game ended in a tie, 6 to 6.

After the game, Pecos was entertained royally, and were sorry to have to leave, but did so on Monday evening. They arrived during the night. No player was hurt on either of the three teams. It was a profitable trip all the way around.

GOSSIP OF THE WEEK

That "Yes We Have No Bananas" thing is about to die out in high school, and that "Barney Google" thing is about to do the same—nix. They float over the heads of everyone with their merry tunes, and are produced by young and old. Parodies as well given and compounded as any October poem, are becoming the thing, and before long everybody will have to cut down on them if they do not wish to go crazy.

Tales of apples. That's what the boys that had the pleasure of skipping to Marfa told. On top of the mountains they are grown, and they are surely good, if you can believe what they tell you. Of course, this is only gossip, but just the same there may be something to it. Vague tales of how bravery was vanquished by the sound of big boots tramping into an orchard are always floating around, and one never knows what to believe.

Last Tuesday was gossip day. All over the school ground floated the sound of voices telling of the experiences during the last Saturday, Sunday and Monday. They originated with the gridders and have never entirely ended yet. All about that guy that was a bad fellow, the big husky that played in the backfield, the night in a hotel at Alpine, and everything goes the rounds, and comes back again to go around again. There's no telling when they will stop.

In English this week everyone is trying to think of something pertaining to Hallowe'en and they don't seem to be able to do so. When the crucial moment comes they fail, and everything goes floeey. Poems on Hallowe'en are due by Friday, some even by Tuesday, and other kinds of write-ups come in. They always do about this time.

Speaking with or without permission is getting more and more difficult now. The teachers are putting a ban on all kinds of gossip. You must specifically state what you wish to talk about when you want to talk at all.

Jimmy made quite an impression in the study hall last Tuesday when he told the students of that awful fellow that lives on the way from here to Alpine. He is some bad guy. Jimmy happened to be reading at a table (he was sitting on it) when W. D. happened to lean on it also. It was more than the table could stand, and it collapsed. There was a row about it to hear Jimmy talk. The feller's dog made a leap at Jimmy and ripped.

The men that carry the pigskin for Pecos should have a rest for the next few weeks now. There are no games scheduled until Fort Stockton comes to Pecos the 3rd of November. It is a welcome rest, too. Two games in three days and both of them regular games, too, is not easy for anyone, and they deserve a day or two off. When Stockton does come through! My goodness! What won't they get. Start right now and get up pep for the game, everyone.

There were many absent pupils when the study bell rang Monday. All the football boys were absent, and a few of the girls, from various reasons. The football boys played Marfa Monday instead of Friday, so they were not back in school until Tuesday.

HIGH SCHOOL RADIO BUGS

They are getting very prevalent. They chastise the teachers, fool them and everything else. They are so many that concerted resistance does no good whatever. They are the cause of many failures at the end of the month, and the source of hours of enjoyment until three in the morning. They become more enthused daily, and daily do more for the great art of radio. They are the heart of science in the High School. They are the source of many magazines circulated at great cost around the study hall, and read under many a malignant eye. They are the reason for so many discussions on the school grounds, which lead to very valuable discoveries and information. They hold intercourses no matter at what expense in the school hours, and care not for consequences, if they gain the end desired. They care not for the regular study hour, and flirt with certain ill health (so they are told) by their repeated late hours. They are the minority in the school, but they are growing to be the majority. They are the best fellows in the world, and no one questions it! They are everything, to say the least, and should not be bothered.

When we started out this year, we had great hopes—we were going to do this, and to do that, and so forth, but if we fall down with this what will be the good of the good start? The students, and the faculty, all made resolutions to make the best year of all. The word must be kept, the resolve continue to work, and we must move on as was intended at the beginning. It will avail nothing, if we do not do as was planned. The school spirit, the new endeavors, the better work, the better representation, must continue. We can make it the best school year if we try, and to try our very best we must keep the new year resolutions, as if they were really the only thing in our lives.

Now let's do try. Remember all the things you started out to do this year. Think back, and get the facts that were to be put in this term, and then start right now to make them work. "Any dead fish can float downstream, but it takes a live one to swim upstream." Be a live one and always go forward by keeping the new year resolutions new, and if you do, it is a fact that this will be the best year of all. When you have carried out all that was planned, do some more planning and always continue to go forward, always.

John: "See that feller going along here?"

James: "Yes, what of it?"

John: "He's as tight as a banjo string with one exception."

James: "What's the exception?"

John: "Banjo strings get loose in wet weather."

ROOF OF SCHOOL BUILDING BEING REPAIRED THIS WEEK

One, two, three, four, goes the sound of the hammer overhead. No more leaky roofs is what it is pounding out. Ever since Tuesday it has been under way; it is no disturbance at all, and surely lends a pleasant air to everything. No inspection has been made, but they have been told to go right along and do their best. I am sure they will.

The Assembly period was ably conducted last Monday by Mr. Dean. He called on all pupils to sing, which they did with a vim while Mr. Dean looked on. Mrs. Brooks led the singing. Miss Howard did the playing. The old songs to be given the 11th were rehearsed. It was a very profitable assembly period for a gay Monday morning, and we all thank Mr. Dean heartily for it.

It's too bad but there's no joke in the paper this week about Miss Corley. No one is original enough to make up one, and they just don't happen every week.

Mrs. Cole has lost her grade book. There is much speculation on where it is gone, but it will be found some of these days, and when the day comes we will know where it has been.

HALLOWE'EN POEMS

In the English classes this week all members are composing October and Hallowe'en poems. Some of the amateur poets have already handed their selections in. They are very good for the greater part; show much work has been given to them; and merit a great deal of praise. Some of the best are printed below. Of course, as they were not due and many were not even seen before all the material was handed to the paper, and therefore, what follows will not fully represent the English classes, but it should give you a fair idea of the class of work they do. Also, they have been selected more for originality than any other phase.

The Hallowe'en Party

The party began quick, pleasant, and quick all right,
At eight was it when it started on Hallowe'en night,
And when in came Jimmy, things got pretty rough,
As he ate everyone's fresh cream puff.

When all of a sudden the door opened quick,
And readily hopped in mischievous Dick.
He wore a three foot cap on the top of his head,
And the costume he wore was of bright, shiny red.

And then in came Mary without a beau,
Followed by Elsie escorted by Joe,
And in flew a streak of real dark black,
Which turned out to be only mother's tomcat.

And after the company had all gone home,
And the witches and goblins had ceased to roam,
And I had gone to sleep in bed,
I still dreamed of the awful deed.
—Bobby Dean, Freshman.

The Wonder Month

When first the leaves began to fall,
And geese from North begin to call,
When the tip of the sage is turning brown,
And the nights are long with never a sound,
We say 'tis fall, October is here,
The wonder month, the best of the year.

The leaves turn red and gold and brown,
And like little ships go sailing 'round',
They fall on the house tops and in the lane,
And go sailing on, ne'er returning again.
The leaves are gone, October is here,
The wonder month, the best of the year.

The bluebird, the redbird, the martin, and jay
Are all going south till a warmer day.
The horse, the cow, the sheep, and the goat
Must prepare for the winter a warmer coat.
Indeed 'tis fall, October is here,
The wonder month, the best of the year.

Even the clouds on a winter day
Make the sky more beautiful in the sunset's ray.
And a wee little voice way down
In the heart of hearts, the whole world round,
Seems to whisper to us: October is here,
The wonder month, the best of the year.

—Eleanor Biggs, Senior.

THIS IS EXAMINATION WEEK— STUDY

This week is examination week. Much depends on it. Studying is required in all things to pass this week in a graceful order, and not have it result in a riot of "D's" and "C's" or something more disgraceful. When it is over about half of the work of the month is over, and everyone is ready to start new. It most certainly means study, though.

"That beats me," said the fish as the junior applied the strap.—adp.

NEW SONG BOOKS ARRIVE

When Mr. Harp came to the study hall last Thursday week, he brought with him the new song books with which the students are to sing the Armistice Day songs, and practice further for the year. Mr. Harp led the student body in all the unfamiliar songs; gave them pointers on the singing of them; and put them through a fine program in general.

Ever since the day they came everything else in a musical way not in the song books has been abandoned, and all the time each morning given to singing is spent on the Armistice Day songs. Last Wednesday Mr. Norman made a complaint that the boys were not helping in the singing as they should, and therewith brought them up before the study hall, lined them up in rows according to classes, and put them through several songs just to prove to them that they could sing if they tried hard enough. It was very pleasing to the girls, to be sure, even more so than to the boys, unless they thought maliciously of the punishment they were inflicting. The budding young musicians of the high school are getting more numerous every day, and they all have an opinion as to the musical future of P. H. S. Every week they have something to say in the paper.

FOOTBALL

The Pecos Hi "Tarmavvies" waited until Wednesday to get under way for the flirt with Fort Stockton. A light workout was received Wednesday evening, and the rest of the week was spent in real tough stuff. They show the spirit all right, and have plenty of pep.

They want a name by which they may be known. What shall it be? Mr. Norman has had the high school president to appoint a committee composed of basketball girls and football boys that have actually contended in games and have letters. Anyone having a suggestion about naming the athletic teams of Pecos school, please hand that to the committee. Everyone has to call the team a different name every time they address them so they won't get used to a certain one and not know their real name when it comes out.

Miss Corley in Latin: "If I should say, Bobbie, 'Go to the office,' what case would you use with the preposition 'to'?"

Bobbie: "The staircase."

In geometry Mr. Norman directed Katherine to run around a triangle. "I can't," answered that worthy, "Bobby chewed up my tennis shoe."

"Charles, you must use common sense when answering questions."
"But, Mrs. Brooks, that's all right, but that's got too common."

You can tell ENTERPRISE printing—it's just a little better than the rest.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

THE WORLD'S BEST SALESMAN

The Home Town newspaper as we know it in North America is the world's greatest salesman.

Every day, everywhere, it is carrying the great message of commerce, bringing buyer and seller into profitable contact.

The sales it makes per year total in the billions.

Its customers are in every home, every office, every farm.

Its cost per sale is less than any other salesman, for not only is it the world's greatest salesman in VOLUME but also in EFFICIENCY.

The biggest problem in merchandising today is high selling costs. Newspaper advertising, sent on the job of looking for sales where buying habits offer profitable opportunities, is the surest means of keeping down this vexatious item.

Merchants of Pecos, we are offering you the services of the World's Greatest Salesman every week in the year.
