BIG BEND HIGHLAND HEREFORD ASSOCIATION

Puts Over Two Successful Sales; One At Decatur, Ill., And At Indianapolis, Ind.; Will Be At The Royal, Kansas City, Mo.

The American Hereford Journal in its November issue made the following report on the two sales made by the Highland Hereford Breeders Association with headquarters at Marfa, Texas:

Cornbelt Likes Texas Feeders
The beef makers of the Cornbelt like the kind of cattle produced by the members of the Highland Hereford Breeders' Association of Southwest Texas. This was evident at the association's first auction sale of the season, held at the farm of J. G. Imboden & Son near Decatur, Ill., Oct. 18, when 1,604 head of feeder calves and yearlings sold for a general average of $35.67. Whether the prices for these cattle were high or just fair depends upon the point of view, the buyers called them high, but justified them upon the ground of the superior quality of the cattle. The consignors of the sale considered them fair and were well satisfied with this, their first sale east of the Missouri river. All of the cattle went to buyers from the three states of Illinois, Indiana and Michigan.

The attendance was large and represented a number of states. During the forenoon the cattle were inspected in the pens and without a dissenting voice, the visitors pronounced them better than they had expected to find them. The bulk of the offering consisted of calves that had been taken from their dams ten days previous to the sale and loaded for their 1,700 mile journey from Marfa, Tex., to Decatur. There was a chilly rain the night before and their coats were rough and they did not take a good fill. Nevertheless sample lots weighed the morning of sale day showed that the shrink between Marfa and Decatur was only 50 pounds a head. When they were loaded at home the calves average 462 pounds and the yearlings 676 pounds, they were all in good condition, and the evidence of good breeding which they exhibited in color, marking and conformation elicited much favorable comment.

The visitors had a practical demonstration of the feeding qualities of the Highland cattle at the opening of his sale. A load of these cattle, bred by F. A. Mitchell and purchased as calves at the American Royal show at Kansas City last year, and now being fed by Imboden & Son for the International show, was brought into the ring. The quality and finish of these cattle were much admired. They gave the prospective buyers a good idea of what they could expect if they bought in the sale.

It was not what could be called a snappy sale. The buyers were conservative, notwithstanding it was evident that they liked the cattle and buy went away empty-handed because they could not make up their minds to meet the competition of the more courageous bidders. Fred Reppert, the auctioneer, was more patient than is customary with him and gave the crowd plenty of time to appraise the cattle. Lack of facilities for weighing the animals in carlots, necessitated their being sold at so much around. Twenty-five and fifty cent bids were common, showing the caution with which the buyers acted. The heaviest individual buyer was A. G. Seyfert, Danville, Ill., who took 177 head. In comparing the prices paid for these cattle with the prices at the markets due consideration must be given to the fact that the freight was paid on them to Decatur, and that here were no commission charges assessed against the purchasers.

The following members of the Highland Hereford Breeders' Association accompanied the shipment to Decatur: W. B. Mitchell, president; A. C. Easterling, secretary; T. C. Crosson, Frank Jones, T. C. Mitchell, G. T. Mitchell, Richard Merrill, Milton Gillett and Lee Fisher. The Highland Association is preparing to exhibit about 1,500 head of calves and yearlings at the Royal Hereford Show at Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 12-19. These cattle will be sold at auction at Kansas City, Nov. 17.

The following shows the consignors and purchaser of each lot and the price paid per head.

Lest We Forget

ON this day the Nation has been called to honor the Unknown Dead—those who made the Supreme Sacrifice. On this day Arlington, a city of our Nation's dead, will witness a grand gathering, when the body of the Unknown Soldier will be laid to rest. He will not hear the words of eulogy, the martial music, the boom of cannon, neither will he feel the banks of flowers heaped above his resting place.

A Proclamation

By the President of the United States, a Proclamation.
WHEREAS the Congress of the United States by a concurrent resolution, adopted on the 4th day of March last, authorized the Secretary of War to cause to be brought to the United States the body of an American, who was a member of the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe, who lost his life during the World War and whose identity has not been established for burial in the Memorial Amphitheater of the National Cemetery at Arlington, Va., and

Whereas the remains of this unknown American to be brought to the United States, in pursuance of said concurrent resolution, will be buried in the said Memorial Amphitheater at Arlington on the 11th day of November next; and

Whereas these remains will be representative of all unidentified American dead who in the World War gave their lives in their country's cause; and

Whereas it is desired that grateful recognition of their loyal devotion to country and of sacrifice should be appropriately shown with due solemnity by their God-fearing and patriotic fellow countrymen; now

Therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, President of the United States of America, do hereby call upon all devout, patriotic citizens of the United States to pause from their accustomed occupations and labors on Friday, the 11th day of November next, from 12 o'clock noon to two minutes past that hour, for a period of silent prayer of thanks to Giver of All Good for these valuable and valorous lives and of supplication for His divine mercy and for His blessing upon our beloved country.

Furthermore, I hereby direct that the national flag be displayed at half staff upon public buildings of the United States and all stations of the army, navy, and marine corps throughout the world, as well as upon all American embassies, legations, and consulates from sunrise until sunset on November 11, 1921.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done in the District of Columbia this 30th day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and fifty-sixth.

WARREN G. HARDING,
By the President:
CHARLES E. HUGHES, Secretary of State.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PUTS ON BUYER'S WEEK

Sale Days By The Town Merchants, Acting by Request of President, To Start The Wheels Of Industry

Acting on the suggestion of the President that the Chambers of Commerce throughout the country organize Sale Days among the merchants in their respective communities and thus create a rapid turnover of merchandise already in store, and so that merchants might be enabled to buy more and cheaper goods the Chamber of Commerce arranged with the local merchants to put on this sale beginning Nov. 14th and ending Nov. 19th. To this end this issue of the New Era is known as "Buyer's Week Special Edition". Read every line on every page, especially the advertisements of our different merchants. They are advertising some very attractive prices for Buyer's Week—Help them and help yourselves.

Remember that Marfa's Big Co-operative Cash Sale lasts only one week.

Why Buyer's Week
Because many thousand dollars worth of merchandise from a tooth pick to a Cadillac automobile is offered at unheard of low prices for one week only.

Because merchants have to make a profit to stay in business—and cannot prolong a sale at prices representing a big sacrifice longer than one week.

Because the most representative merchants of Marfa have banded themselves together to put on a great cash sales campaign and offer many attractive bargains the public will appreciate and cannot afford to overlook.

Because only on a cash basis could the merchants of Marfa give to the people of all this section the remarkable bargains that are being offered—your cash never was worth so much. A real sale can only be put over by offering high grade merchandise at a great reduction. This is being done—values in every line are such that the merchants expect thousands of out of town people to come in and take advantage of this sale.

Because the merchants are co-operating with each other to give the people of West Texas values in merchandise that perhaps will never be duplicated—Moreover they are cooperating with the President of the United States in his request that merchants move their stock even at big losses to enable them to buy more and thus get the factory wheels of industry started to relieve the unemployment situation by giving the six million jobless a chance to find employment in the factories.

Remember the prosperity of one enterprise or individual helps others to live.

MR. AND MRS. ORGAIN ENTERTAIN

One of the most delightful entertainments given in Marfa for some time was the reception on last Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Orgain to their many friends in their beautiful home in Mitchell Heights. The invitations were issued for the hours from seven to ten and scores of Marfa citizens came in response to enjoy the hospitality of these gracious hosts.

The reception rooms were decorated with bronze chrysanthemums, autumn leaves, and asparagus ferns, with a bank of foliage hanging above the French doors leading from the reception room to the dining room. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. M. R. Mahon and Mrs. J. W. Pool and each in turn passed along the receiving line, being welcomed by the host and hostess and those assisting in the entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Orgain, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mead, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson, Mr. H. O. Metcalfe, and Mr. W. B. Mitchell were in the receiving line. The guests were then escorted by Mrs. Ben Penett into the smaller reception room where cherry punch was served from a large punch bowl presided over by Miss Francis Mitchell and Miss Earline Petross. Around the punch bowl was a mound of meringue, with rainbow tints, brilliantly lighted with an electrical effect of many colors. The dining room was decorated with huge yellow and white chrysanthemums, and from the chandelier there fell about the serving table a shower of meringue, with rainbow effect. A two course luncheon was served, consisting of chicken salad, peas in patte shells, wafers, ice tea, yellow and white brick ice cream, reception squares and yellow and white mints. Mrs. R. R. Smith, Mrs. Charles Pruett and Mrs. Joe Rosson were in the dining room, with Miss Nell Wilson and Miss Lorene Settle serving. Mrs. E. R. Mabry, Mrs. Ben Pruett, and Mrs. T. C. Crosson assisted the hosts in receiving the guests in the reception room. During the entire evening instrumental and vocal music was rendered by Misses Katherine Mitchell, Mattie Mills, Lillian Peace, and Elbertine Williams. Many pleasing selections were rendered and the frequent encores evidence the guests' appreciation of these talented young ladies. Miss Helen Joyce and Miss Bessie Clinton Orgain were at the Edison and many selections were played during the evening. Over a hundred guests called during the evening and were the recipients of the delightful entertainment provided by Mr. and Mrs. Orgain.

1400 HEREFORD CALVES FROM THE BRITE RANCH

Mr. W. A. Johnson of Snyder, Texas, has just finished shipping to his ranch near Snyder 1400 head of pure bred Hereford calves which he purchased from the herd of L. C. Brite at 6 cents per pound weighed at the Brite ranch. This is probably the highest price paid within the state this year, but considering the quality of the calves purchased, is a bargain.

Mr. Johnson is an old timer but up to date cattleman. He attended roundups, as a cowboy, on the Concho and Colorado rivers of Texas as early as '79. He built up and owned one of the most famous Hereford herds of Texas, but owing to declining health, disposed of it and leased his ranch several years since, but has now fully recuperated in health and the lease on his ranch having expired he decided to restock, but instead of putting in 30 years' time building up a herd as was his previous experience, he decided to buy the best obtainable to start with. Mr. Johnson visited the Brite ranch about two years ago, looking the cattle over, and knew where to come to find what he needed.

Mr. Johnson is an expert judge of cattle and has proven his ability not only as a breeder but is a recognized authority on feeding and finishing beef cattle for market. He captured "first" for a series of years at the Fort Worth Stock Show on cattle of his own breeding and feeding.

Mr. Johnson selected a car of steer calves from the Brite herd which he intends to finish for show and cordially invites all those who are raising the "just as good" kind to meet him at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show next March in friendly competition with a sample of their herds.

Anderson's Gift Store

The insert picture above is that of Anderson's Gift Store. This is one of the most attractive stores in Marfa, having recently had a new front put on, with two finely finished windows, and a Big Street Clock which is both ornamental and convenient, gives it truly the appearance of an up-to-date Jewelry Store.

It has been the policy of Anderson's to especially feature higher grade gifts, and they have steadily pursued this attainment, to so model their business, to shape their policies, and buy merchandise, that their store may definitely fit the Gift Needs of the people of this community. With this conviction they selected the trade name for their store, "Anderson's Gift Store" and adopted as their slogan "Gifts That Last". The name was taken because their store is essentially a Gift Store, though they sell many things that are not necessarily Gifts, still most everything that they sell make very appropriate gifts. The slogan "Gifts That Last" has been used by Anderson's for seven years, and was adopted for the reason that Gift pieces that they sell are the kind that endure through the years, and even generations to come and reflect joy and happiness to both the giver and the receiver throughout their life-time.

Though the floor space occupied by this store is small still by seeing the wonderful line of diamonds, watches, jewelry, cut glass, silverware, china, stationery, leather goods, ivory goods, and high grade novelties of every description, one is led to realize the truth that from a standpoint of volume in merchandise it is one of the big stores in this community. At this time Anderson's is reputed to be the largest exclusive jewelry and gift store between El Paso and San Antonio.

Not only does Anderson's Gift Store carry a very large stock of High Grade goods, but they also maintain a repair department that is second to none. Mr. S. E. McMath, who has been associated with Anderson's at various times for the past seven years, and who has the past year been with McNoel's Jewelry Co. of San Antonio, is in charge of this department. Mr. McMath is a skilled workman of known repute. He is an engraver far above the average. In a word, he is not a man of ordinary ability; but when a job goes out from their repair department, you have the satisfaction of knowing that it has been done by an artisan of skilled ability.

Their store has grown rapidly, and their patrons are by no means confined to Marfa, but the Jewelry Store of Anderson's is known throughout this big country west of the Pecos. People of Marfa and throughout the towns and country adjacent to Marfa have come to recognize the store as the place to obtain high grade gifts. This favorable condition exists mainly because Mr. Anderson believes in the policy that a store owes a public debt of gratitude, for its custom, and courtesy in every instance is nothing less than a debt that must be paid. They believe that a merchant has no more claim for commendation for the fact that he is accommodating and courteous to his patrons, than does a man have a right to lay claim for commendation because he supports his family. Then too, their stronghold has been built up because of the fact that they deal only in high grade and dependable merchandise, and realize that a jewelry store must be operated on the basis of confidence. Again, people like to buy gifts where they know that not only are they buying dependable goods but that they will be neatly and attractively wrapped and packed for presentation. In fact these little things are what count in building a business worth while.

It manifest that they believe in progress, for they have kept moving forward, and the interior of their store shows that they have progressed. With beautiful fixtures, all electric lighted, makes for them a neat store, with attractive goods, and attractively arranged and displayed.

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!

Has anyone seen or heard of Kano Ahtawath and his wife Kano Ruth Neb? These people should have arrived in Marfa about Wednesday of last week for the "Killum Carnival". Since these people are strangers in this country and do not speak the English language much anxiety has been caused by their delay. All hotels and lodging places in Marfa declare that no people by such a name have registered at their places. If anyone sees or hears of Kano Ahtawath and his wife please notify any member of the Missionary Society for they wish to show these people all due respect since they are people of nobility and prominence from the province of Timbaktu whence they came.

The Killum Carnival given by the Young Peoples Missionary Society for the benefit of the home missions will take place during the Buyer's week, Tuesday, November 15. Everyone who wants an evening of real fun and recreation should come to this carnival for all kinds of amusements will be furnished. Balloons, confetti, whistles, walking canes, popcorn, peanuts and other things that go with carnivals will be sold there. Plenty of good music will be furnished as they will have two orchestras. And good eats—hot chocolate, coffee, tea, home made cakes, pies and sandwiches will be sold at unusually low prices.

And last but not least comes the big attraction of the evening. "The Twelve Booths"—Don't fail to see each and everyone.

Be sure and see the "Smallest Baby in the World." This child is very remarkable for he only weighs eighteen ounces. He is very bright for his age, seldom cries, and has never sucked his thumb, very friendly to strangers, and extremely fond of his nurse.

At the Killum Carnival is your chance to see Hell with perfect safety and ease of mind. No doubt everyone would like to explore this much dreaded and interesting place—but not so much as to have to go to that place for any length of time. Enter this booth and explore Hell's nooks and corners, and get a peep into its mysterious dark caverns and passages.

Listen girls, of course this is between you and me, but be sure and see the Beoneo Busto Rider. He is a young, dashing handsome boy, not married, and at present has no girl. Here's your chance, look your prettiest, make wicked baby eyes at him, and perhaps one of you will capture him.

What makes girls leave home? Many parents have asked themselves this question. Enter this booth and you need never worry over this problem again.

The renowned and well known Babe Ruth will make his appearance at the carnival. Just a few words of warning beforehand—"don't arouse his anger" or you may become aware of the fact that he does not confine his blows to base balls alone.

Anyone who will not enjoy himself at this carnival will be hard to please.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

The President Has Designated Nov. 24th as Thanksgiving Day.

"That season has come when, alike in pursuance of a devout people's time-honored custom and in grateful recognition of favoring national fortunes, it is proper that the president should summon the nation to a day of devotion of thanksgiving for blessings bestowed and of prayers for guidance in modes of life, that may deserve continuance of divine favor.

"Foremost among our blessings is the return of peace and the approach to normal ways again. The year has brought us again into relations of amity with all nations after a long period of struggle and turbulence. In thankfulness, therefore, we may well unite in the hope that Providence will vouchsafe approval to the things we have done, the aims which have guided us, the aspirations which have inspired us. We shall prospered as we shall deserve prosperity, seeking not alone for the material thing, but for those of the spirit as well, earnestly trying to help others, asking before all else, the privilege of service. As we render thanks anew for the exaltation which came to us we may fittingly petition that moderation and wisdom shall be granted to rest upon all who are in authority in the tasks they must discharge. Their hands will be steadied, their purposes strengthened, in answer to our prayers.

"Ours has been a favored nation in the bounty which God has bestowed upon it. The great trial of humanity, though, indeed, we bore our part as we are able, left us comparatively little scarred. It is for us to recognize that we have been thus favored, and when we gather at our altars to offer up thanks we will do well to pledge, in humility and all sincerity, our purpose to prove deserving. We have been raised up and preserved in national power and consequence as part of a plan whose wisdom we cannot question. Thus believing, we can do no less than hold our nation the willing instrument of the Providence which has so wonderfully favored us. Opportunity for very great service awaits us if we shall prove equal to it. Let our prayers for direction in the right paths. Under God our responsibility is great; to our own first, to all men afterward; to all mankind in God's own justice.

"Now, therefore I, Warren G. Harding, president of the United States, hereby designate Thursday, the 24th day of November, to be observed by the people as a day of thanksgiving, devotion and prayer, urging that at their hearthstones and their altars they will give thanks for all that has been rendered unto them, and will pray for a continuance of the divine fortune, which has been showered so generously upon this nation.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the seal of the United States of America.

"Done at the capitol of the United States the 31st day of October in the year of our Lord 1921 and of the independence of the United States 146.

He Knows His Folks.

Here are some random observations of a man who has visited and studied a good many small communities: If you read your local paper you will not miss much that is happening around home. There is no use saying that you wish your town had a paper like one in the other town, for the other fellow there is saying the same thing. The man who reads his local paper thoroughly is usually a pretty good citizen and has it all over the fellow who does not. Local papers, when all is said and done, do more to uphold the institutions of this state and country than any other known contributing force in the world's work.

Random Observations.

This isn't a country publisher talking, but the editor of a farm paper: The metropolitan daily will bring to one's doorstep the news of the world seen through the spectacles of the city editor, but it is the editor who lives in the heart of the community who is able to reflect the sentiment of the local group. He alone is the true interpreter of events as they affect the small town and the farming community that immediately surrounds the town.

CATTLE THIEVES USE AUTO TRUCKS, U. S. AGENT SAYS

Automobile trucks are in use by sheep and cattle thieves now in the Big Bend country, according to William McClure, prohibition agent on duty at Del Rio. Mr. McClure is here this week to attend court.

Ranchmen along the border have become alarmed at the great increase recently in thefts of livestock, Mr. McClure said. A number of men believed to be members of a gang operating in that district have been apprehended, but the cattle and sheep men continue to report losses from their ranches.

Tire tracks found in the vicinity of where sheep, cattle and goats have been stolen have convinced ranchmen that the thieves are operating on a big scale, and are using automobile trucks.

Although it has not formerly been the custom to brand sheep and goats in that section, ranchmen are now branding these animals on the flank with hot irons just as the cattle are marked. This is in addition to marks usually cut in the ears of sheep and goats.

Mr. McClure said that, although it is suspected that Mexicans are assisting in the thievery, the ranchmen have reason to believe that the ring-leaders are Americans. An organization of cattle and sheep men of that vicinity, for mutual protection has been planned.—El Paso Times.

SENATOR VEST ON THE DOG

Senator Vest once dropped into court in a little Missouri town where a man was suing his neighbor for shooting his dog. The lawyer for the prosecution persuaded Senator Vest to speak on behalf of his client, and this is what he said: "Gentlemen of the jury: The best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw a stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our head. The one absolutely unselfish friend that a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side.

He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer; he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces he is as constant in his love as the sun on its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him, to guard him against his enemies. And when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by the graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his ears sad, but eyes open in alert watchfulness faithful and true even in death.

HANS BRIAM

did the sale at Decatur, Ill., Oct. 18. It was estimated that there were 3,000 people at the sale. The buyers came from Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Kentucky. The 1,200 calves and 70 yearlings sold from $7.60 to $10.15 a hundred, making the general average of $8.45.

Gov. Warren T. McCray opened the sale with an optimistic talk on the value of Herefords in the feedlot as marketers par excellence of chap feeds on the farms in savory meals to satisfy the epicure and feed the millions. The governor then proceeded to back up his judgment with his money by buying the top consignment of 70 steer calves $10.15. Thirty-five head of steer yearlings consigned by J. B. Gillett & Son went at $9.00 and $8.85 was reached three times—twice on two lots of 50 steer calves each from the F. A. Mitchell herd, and once on 40 steer calves consigned by A. A. Murray.

The offering was good, showing fine breed character and quality. These calves, despite their long shipment were in fine condition and will give gratifying results. The demand grew better as the sale progressed and finished strong. Ed Reppert did the selling with the assistance of Carl Gartin in the ring and John G. Imboden and A. C. Easterling in the box. Secretary Easterling had overlooked nothing to insure a successful sale. The list of sales follows:

LET US RETURN TO BETHEL.

"The body of a young soldier killed in France was recently brought back to his home town. The local paper, after a few words of kindly tribute said: "Outside of the American Legion escort there were only twenty-two people at these services. One of these was a stranger, a traveling man, who presumably was a veteran. It was a busy day in town and the farmers were in the midst of harvest, but there might have been more present to honor our heroic dead."

Measured in time, we have journeyed only a little way since Armistice Day, 1918. But otherwise the distance we have gone since then seems far indeed; farthest of all, perhaps, in the difference between the spirit of then and now.

Then we had that tremendous consecration to an ideal which had led Americans to undreamed-of peaks of service and sacrifice. This consecration had been expressed at home in an overflowing generous response to calls for funds, in untiring personal effort, in all manner of unselfish acts. That spirit had enabled us to overcome the impediments created by our own prior sloth and indifference; to raise, prepare and transport a great army that decided the war. With the exception of a few shameless slackers and profiteers, we were all lifted to a higher scale of thought and action at that time. And while that exalted mood was upon us, how often it was said: "This is going to mean a better world to live in, a world freer from tyranny and selfishness than it ever has been."

This conviction was honestly spoken and just as honestly believed—then.

But today let's forget the war—the popular chord. The world conflict is a thing taboo in conversation; there is a ban on war stories in the magazines because people don't care for that kind of reading. It has taken three years to get decent treatment for some of our wounded. The funeral corteges of the returned war dead pass down the streets—and business goes on as usual.

Perhaps it is only natural to want to forget the war. The lean grim days were none too pleasant, and life's brighter memories are the ones we ordinarily like to cherish. But in forgetting the war it would appear we have also forgotten the splendid purposes, the unselfish impulses, the fine optimism that enabled us to overcome the dangers and difficulties then and which would enable us to overcome also our trials and perplexities now. We seem to have lost the power to marshal our better selves.

Now the old secret dealings of the diplomats again pass almost unchallenged. Politics goes on with its usual partisan hagglng. Labor and capital have resumed the old quarrels. "Profiteering" is a bitter word often applied when men speak of coal or rents or retail prices or numerous other factors of everyday life. A prohibition amendment is me by unprecedented disregard for law and established rights. This, that and the other group seem striving to secure or retain special privileges that work to the disadvantage of our people generally.

Yes, we have journeyed a long, long way from Armistice Day, 1918, even as Jacob of old journeyed away from Bethel. It was at Bethel, you recall, that Jacob had his vision of promise and vowed that he would follow in the ways of the Lord. He was in a strange land and with an uncertain future before him then. When the days of plenty came Jacob forgot Bethel and stooped to deceit and cunning. But the troublous times came again, foes were about and the way once more looked dark. So it is recorded that the vision came again, and Jacob gathered up his household and all that were with him and said: "Put away the strange gods that are among you. And let us arise, and go up to Bethel and I will make there an altar unto God, who answered me in the day of my distress."

On the coming Armistice Day a conference of nations will seek means of disarmament and peaceful adjustment of war-breeding problems. Would that we could summon again for this deliberation a portion of the whole-hearted zeal and unselfishness and high purpose of those other days!

Like Jacob, we have had our vision but have wandered far from Bethel. It is time to return.—Country Gentleman.

REQUEST MORE TROOPS TO STOP BORDER RAIDS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—Disorders are beginning again on the border.

Complaints that Mexican cattle thieves are raiding across the Rio Grande up and down the river are reaching Texas Congressmen. The cattle rustlers are particularly active now in the vicinity of Marfa.

The congressmen are complaining because the Mexican government is not preventing the raids and are also grumbling because the American government does not seem to be able to prevent the raids by use of United States troops.

Mexicans Raid Ranch
Representative Claude B. Hudspeth received a report that Mexicans had raided the Tigner ranch near Marfa, and driven off a number of cattle, sheep and goats.

Hudspeth went to the state departments and protested to official about the situation.

He asked that the state department complain to the Mexican government and that the department ask the war department to provide more troops and better military protection in the Marfa section.

Promises were made by the officials that the matter would receive immediate attention.

LAW AND ORDER

Within the last week our Sheriff J. E. Vaughan has made at least 20 arrests for various offenses, and has been instrumental in causing about 20 undesirables to leave the city. Marfa is beginning to be known as a clean town in more ways than one, and the sheriff deserves much praise for the manner in which he is bringing about law and order in our community. Without question the best people are back of him in his efforts.

Mrs. A. John and family of Shafter were Marfa visitors last week.

NORMA TALMADGE

Never said she did her shopping at the 5 and 10 cent stores. We've no doubt she would if she wanted to—but she doesn't. If she lived here in Presidio, Jeff Davis or Brewster counties, she would certainly do her shopping at the Bailey Novelty Store. Portuguese word "casta".

The word "caste" we learn is from the Hindu word "rank", and was borrowed by the Indians from the Portuguese word "casta".

A peep into the show windows and stock of the Bailey Novelty Store, will convince anyone that the reference to it as the store of "caste" and individuality, is merited, and as is usual "A Woman in the Case" is the store.

Their lady buyer, (Mrs. Bailey), spares no expense in making regular and special trips to the various markets to buy, up-to-the-minute items in Art Goods and Novelties, having in mind at all times the individual tastes of her thousands of friends and patrons, who have by their loyal support and patronage, made this store an "institution".

Since this is a fact—a brief history of the evolution of this enterprise will no doubt prove interesting reading to many.

The Bailey Novelty Store opened for business in May, 1911, with but a few hundred dollars stock of merchandise, and in ten years, thro' the liberal support and generous patronage of the good people of Presidio, Jeff Davis, Brewster and Pecos counties, this business has grown and prospered until it is now known to carry the most varied and complete stock of high class Art and Novelty goods to be found anywhere between San Antonio and El Paso.

It has been said that to Success—It's a clear, straight road, but you mustn't do any "Skiddin'".

Their courteous and obliging clerks, fair prices, and a square deal to everyone has prevented the "skiddin'" and success is evident in their place.

Mrs. Bailey has just returned from the Markets in California, where she selected a wonderfully varied line of Oriental Art Goods and fresh Novelties that have arrived and are now being unpacked and placed on sale.

A hearty welcome is extended to everyone to the Store of "Caste".

We receive new goods of all lines every week at Milady's Shoppe.

CASNER MOTOR COMPANY

Is one of the largest Automobile concerns in the State of Texas. The owners are J. E. Casner, N. L. Casner, R. S. Casner. They came to West Texas in the Pioneer days of the Automobile industry and started to build an organization that any country or town would be proud of.

They have the largest and best equipped establishments to take care of the service on cars they sell in the whole West Texas. The Casner Brothers believe that there are two ideas that answer for their success and that is good Automobiles at a fair price and good service on the cars they sell at a fair price. They have one of the largest stocks of automobile parts in the whole country and it is a settled fact that this is one of the biggest talking points in favor of their cars that can be had, because the best car in the world will break down sometime and the car owner never has to wait until the parts come from the factory. They have them in stock.

They sell the Dodge, Buick, Hudson, Essex and Cadillac a line of cars that have a standard used or second hand value wherever you go which is another strong talking point in favor of their line of cars.

The Meeting Ground of Town and Country—
The Home Town Paper

THAT great part of non-city America which we call the country is in reality town and country. Sometimes the people of the farms have felt that the people of towns did not understand their problems any more than did those of the big cities. But there has been a common meeting ground for all in the home town paper. It has chronicled the activities of the village and of the farms and of the cross roads. It has told of the visits of the village banker and his family and of the farmer and his family, of the new pavement in the village and the improved highway in the country. No publication ever was more entitled to be called "a slice of life" of the people than the home town paper. Week after week, year after year, it has ministered to the natural craving for the homely, intimate news of the countryside, the kind of news which no big city paper can furnish. Now the country newspaper is to have a "week" all its own. The thousands of country papers the nation over have got together to observe "Subscribe for your home town paper week" November 7-12. It is a week for all who love country and village life and "just folks." If you have let your subscription lapse, renew it. If you are a newcomer to the community, subscribe. If you are far from the old home town, make sure that at least once a week you can live again the joys of other days through the visits of the home town paper.

Buyer's Week—Nov. 14 to Nov. 19.

Home Papers Week ends Nov 12.

The American people have been called upon on Nov. 11th to offer at noon a silent two minute prayer.

When the body of Americas Unknown Soldier killed on the field of France is laid to rest at Arlington this day at noon, let us pray.

The following timely article and very appropriate to Buyer's Week is from the Bastrop Advertiser, one of the oldest papers in Texas.

All of these talks on trading at home which have appeared in the past six weeks have dwelt on the benefits to be obtained from money kept at home. They have recounted how money spent with local merchants helped to pave the streets, to build public monuments of civic pride, they have told how the home spent dollar helps to educate the children of the community and improve the schools; they have shown how the spent dollar is donated by these home town merchants for all home boosting campaigns such as good road organizations, chamber of commerce activities, get together clubs, church socials, women clubs, bazaars and everyother kind of home activities. They have shown how you, the spender of the trade at home dollar are benefitted by your own far-sightedness. All of these benefits to be gained by the spender have been pointed out and are all the gospel truth. A community which keeps just as much of its money at home as possible will have more of the benefits pointed out than will the community which sends the greater portion out of town, thus denying the local merchants the opportunity to make a fair return from his enterprise. But the purpose of this talk is to show that the home merchant is entitled to your trade because of the service rendered you and your town.

The most important phase of this angle of the trading at home proposition is that of credit and the obligation of the credit buyer to the merchant who advances the credit. The mail order general merchandise houses do not want the business of this county except on a cash basis. If you have not the money to pay for the goods you buy at the time you order if they do not want your trade. True, some of these houses have what they call a credit plan which allows you to pay a per cent of the purchase price of your order at the time you send it in and then make them regular monthly payments until the amount is paid. The plan is alright and, in some cases might prove of benefit to the buyer but a sufficient addition is made to the cash price to pay for the collection of these monthly payments and the customer pays for the privilege. On the other hand the local merchant often carries the former from one harvest to the next, and this credit is not on the dollar down and a dollar a week plan. If he home merchant is willing to sell his stock to his neighbors and to his friends on long time credit then he is entitled to the cash trade of those same neighbors and friends. If you have cash to spend give the home merchants first chance to supply your need and then when you need credit you will not be ashamed to ask him for it.—Bastrop Advertiser.

THE FARMER DIED LAST

W. J. Bryan recently uttered these words that ought to be read by every citizen as well as by every farmer. His subject was: "The Farmer Dies Last."

Mr. Bryan said: "In a fight to the death the farmer will die last. If big business thinks it can bleed him without limit it had better consider his resources. When it comes to the pinch he can stand squeezing better than any other class. Food is the first necessity and he can feed himself. He can raise all he and his family need, but if he raises no more than he needs the rest of the people will starve. The farmer's surplus supplies the world. Suppose the surplus fails—

"The farmer can raise the material necessary to clothe himself and family—wool, cotton and silk, but if he raises no more the rest of the people would go naked. It is the farmer's surplus material that clothes the world—suppose that surplus fails?

"Farmers can, if necessary produce their own fuel. He can raise his own wood; he can burn cobs and even corn if he must, but what will become of the railroads when the farmer neither buys nor sells?

"What will become of the packers when they have no meat to pack? And what will become of the grain gambler when there is no market grain to gamble on? What will become of the little stores when the farmer ceases to trade? And what will the wholesalers do when the little stores close? And what will the manufacturers do when the wholesalers go out of business? And what will the clerks in the stores the workers in the mills, and the railroad employees do when business stops? What will all the people do when nobody needs them? What go to work with their hands and wring a living from Mother Earth—that is the last resort as it was the first.

"Will the middleman continue to lord it over the producers of wealth, will they learn that they must serve if they would live, and serve for reasonable toll? The flower that blooms in beauty on the stem should not despise the roots that do their work in the dirt. The roots will live when the flower fades—tenace for new flowers, season after season. So will the farmer, he draws milk from Nature's breast and Nature will protect him as a mother protects her child. He will not be last to die in the struggle for existence. But why this conflict? Why not love and brotherhood and cooperation? Why not work together for the commonwealth? Why not justice to all?—Alpine Avalanche.

MARFA METHODIST CHURCH

Preaching in this church at 11 a. m. and 7:15 p. m. next Sunday.

Our Young People's Orchestra will play at both services.

At the morning hour for public worship, the pastor of the church will preach on "The Widening Sovereignty of Christ." A Missionary sermon to be preached by request of the ladies of the Missionary Society following their Week of Prayer.

At 7:15 o'clock The Rev. C. S. Harrison, Pastor of the Baptist Church will fill the pulpit of the Methodist Church. So the Baptist and Methodist congregations will worship together in the Methodist church and our good Brother Harrison will preach.

The pastor of our church at Ft. Davis has a very sick wife and will not be able to preach there Sunday so at the request of our Presiding Elder, two of our good laymen, Judge Mead and J. C. Orgain will be in charge of the Ft. Davis community service at 11 o'clock and J. L. Henson will preach at Ft. Davis at night.

Mead and Orgain are not posing as "preachers" but they are loyal laymen who love the church and believe this involves service for the Kingdom. What Protestant doubts that our laymen, everywhere should be doing just this sort of thing? The extension of The Christian Religion has been marked by three notable periods; according to Dean Hodges: "The time of the Martyrs, the Time of the Monks, and the time of the Methodists." "The Christian church was begun by laymen; the apostles were laymen; it has ever since owed its growth to the cooperation of laymen. The Monks were lay orders. The Methodists won their victories by lay preaching. As, also the early Christians. (See Acts 8:14)

A live Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. The best Epworth League in the El Paso District at 6:15 p. m. Hear Harrison at 7:15.

COUNTRY PAPER GUARDS NATION

Rises Promptly and Capably to Every Emergency.

IS NOT ALWAYS APPRECIATED

Cements Interests of Mass of Population—Avoiding Sensationalism, in Its Clean Wholesomeness Is Its Appeal to Best Class of Citizens—Country Press a National Power.

By WRIGHT A. PATTERSON.

The country communities—the village, the small town and the small city—are the backbone of the American nation. They are the communities to which the nation turns in time of distress and emergency. They are even more than the backbone of the nation. They are the bulwark of our modern civilization. Just at the close of the World war, Mr. Balfour, foreign minister of Great Britain, said to the writer in London that the entire civilized world must look to the small towns of America to preserve for the world the civilization that it had taken centuries to build, because the small towns represented a substantial solidity that the tremendous upheaval of the war had not affected, and it was only such a foundation that would preserve the structure of civilization.

The cement that keeps the people of these country communities together, working and thinking along uniformly sane and safe lines, that makes of them that "substantial solidity" on which world civilization can rely for a foundation, is the country press—the village, the small town and the small city newspaper.

Country Paper Wholesome.

The country newspaper goes to its readers devoid of that sensationalism that is so prominent in the metropolitan papers. It carries to its readers the news items that represent the joys and sorrows of their friends and neighbors, and keeps the hearts of the people of the community beating in unison. It goes to its readers with that sane and kindly advice on local, state, national and world problems; advice that is the result of thought and study beside the hearthstones of the nation, and not in the selfish marts of trade or the brightlights of city frivolity. It goes with the influence of a known and respected member of the community—its editor back of its every word, its every opinion. It goes to a people, the people of the country communities and the farms, that are more capable of thinking along sane, unselfish and practical lines than are those who are surrounded by the selfish and many times evil influences of the large cities.

But the influence of the country newspaper goes far beyond the community in which it is printed. National legislators in the halls of congress realize that this influence is a power to be reckoned with. That when the country press speaks in unison on any national subject it is but voicing the sentiments of that mighty force the people of the country communities, the people in whose hands, says Mr. Balfour, rests the destiny of world civilization.

Fights for Entire Country.

The country press represents and fights for those things that are of value to the country communities, realizing that in doing so it is fighting for those things that are best for the nation and for the world. It works and fights to uphold the country community, to prevent its falling a prey to the selfish greed of the cities. It champions the business, the social, the educational, the agricultural, the industrial interests of the country community not from any selfish angle, but from the broader viewpoint of national good.

Some three or four months ago there was before Congress a bill on which the press of the country was divided. The magazines, the big national weeklies, the farm press and the metropolitan daily papers were on one side and the country newspapers were on the other side. The passage of the bill would mean creating an opportunity for a later centralization of the merchandising of the nation in a few large cities with a consequent injury to the small cities and towns, and to the people of these cities and towns and the farms surrounding them. The country press fought for the defeat of the bill, and in the end the members of the committee in whose hands the fate of the bill rested listened to the country press because they realized that the welfare of these country communities represented the best interests of the nation as a whole, and the bill was killed.

During our participation in the World war the country press stood staunchly and unselfishly back of the nation. It did nothing to create dissension among the people during the time of emergency, but it did carry to its readers a continuous message of patriotism and national unity. In each community it wiped away much of factional lines, and created an atmosphere of intense Americanism that welded the American people together regardless of place of birth or ancestry.

Value Not Always Understood.

But the people of the cities do not always understand the value of the country press. With the increased demand for war supplies there came a demand for a decrease in the consumption of the ordinary needs of peace time. Among the things the consumption of which must be cut was paper. A city man was at the head of the department that regulated the use of paper, and he felt it advisable to so limit the amount of paper available for the country press as to seriously cripple all of these papers, and to have entirely closed many of them. It was the privilege of the writer to present the case of the country press to this man, and it did not take him long to see that the government could not afford to in any considerable degree cripple an institution that represented so much of national good as did these country newspapers.

Country Press Deserves Well.

The country press deserves well of the people of the nation, and especially of the people of the country communities. Individually these papers may not be large in size as compared with the city papers, but quantity is not the measure of their value. They are worth both directly and indirectly far more than their subscription price. For that price they bring to you each week the news of your friends and acquaintances. To those who have left the country home to go either to the city or to some other country home, the country newspaper is a welcome weekly letter that keeps them in touch with friends and former associates. To those at home it carries the news of their friends and neighbors. It records the births and deaths, the marriages, the comings and goings of those in whom you are interested. It furnishes the medium of publicity through which work for a better and stronger community is maintained. It voices the consensus of opinion of the community to the representatives in the halls of the state and national legislatures. It is the paper of, for and by the people of the villages, the towns and the small cities.

No country paper worthy of the name ever seeks the support of the people of its community on any other ground than that of giving more than full value for all that it receives. You aid yourself, your community, your state and the nation when you support and read your own "Home Town Paper."

A FINE OLD HOME PAPER

(Tune—A Fine Old English Gentleman.) These magazines with gravures and all these works of art, Are very well for city folks who live by dint of mart;

But give me first and foremost, I hold it is the prime— That fine old home town paper—one of the good old time.

The printin' isn't perfect, the ink's not uniform,

The type is set by hand perhaps,—considerably overworn,

The dear old press—I know it well— it's covered o'er with grime—

But it prints that old home paper—one of the gold old time.

I look for it each week as regularly it comes,

And when the postman brings it in, I drop all other chums,

I drink it in, from start to fin, ridiculous and sublime,

That fine old home town paper, one of the good old time.

Smith's cat may have some kittens;

Jones is putting in new pumps,

My girl chum has got married and the kids have got the mumps,

Jack Wiltsey's built a lean-to, Johnson's roses upward climb

Oh! I love the old home paper, boys, one of the good old time.

Back to Town Crier

How many residents of any small community have ever considered what might happen if there were no newspapers? Just previous to "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week," which is to be observed the country over November 7-12, is a good time to recall the plight of Macon, Mo., not long ago, when fire put the Chronicle-Herald out of business for two weeks.

According to The Publishers' Auxiliary, the old town crier, relic of many years back, was yanked from his hiding place, dusted off, and put back on his job, with a jangling bell, a megaphone, and a fog-horn voice only a little worse for long disuse.

It may have been a novelty for two weeks. But think of a community without printers' ink, compelled to get its announcements of auctions, sales, court sessions, births, marriages, deaths, epidemics of sickness, dog ordinances, board meetings, commencements, tax notices, advertisements of help and situations wanted, accidents, and the rest, through a shouted word like that of the ordinary train announcer in a city depot. The town crier was a romantic figure in his day, but few towns would like to return to his ministrations now.

When one thinks of the temporary plight of Macon, and that it might become the permanent handicap of many towns, it is well to think of supporting the local paper.

"WHEN I WAS A BOY"

Now and then every Man Turns over the Pages of the Picture Book of Memory, and goes on turning until he comes to the earliest Picture of all, that present him as a Boy. In many households today, real Picture Books are kept.

Fond Parents are Preserving Photographs of their Children Growing up and in Days to come they and their Children will have the Visible Biography to Recapture "Childhood's Sunny Hours." Many a Mother would rather sacrifice every other book in the house, than part with that Collection of Pictures. We may all have Pictures in our Heads. Among those we like the best are those of the Irresponsible existence we had before we were restricted by a Sense of Duty and Destiny and the Solemn Responsibility of Life.

We look now at the Men and Women as old as we are and, as we clasp hands and the eyes meet we are saying to ourselves "Can this be the child I used to know? Can this be my Playmate of Countless Adventures? How long ago that was. I wish I had my life to live over again; I should do so much better with it."

The regrets are unavailing. We cannot go back. But the thought is not mournful. If we could live again the Years that are past we might have done worse. Each period of life has its own rewards and satisfactions. Nature mercifully adjusts her compensations. There is a Happiness of Childhood; there is a Happiness of Age. To realize in maturity that we are serving mankind, that we are helping to bring in the better day, may bring to us Pleasure that is far above the thoughtless Gayety we knew when we were young.

We cannot reverse the calendar and the clock, yet we may keep the spirit of youth--its hope, its enthusiasm, its optimism. If we cannot go back to childhood, our childhood may go forward through the years with us. It profits nothing to talk of the "lost illusions" of youth and bemoan the forfeited chances. It is ours to take what is left us and make the most of it, rejoicing that the best of what we had when children is ours to the very end of our lives.

Respectfully,

GEORGE H. WALKER
