

County Agriculture Agent's Column
By A. R. Grote, Jr.

HOPPERS HATCHING

Farmers of the county are being urged by this office to start control measures against millions of grasshoppers that are hatching now.

Poison bait put out now to kill the young hoppers can prevent a lot of damage to row crops.

Grasshoppers infestations were large last season and the hatch this spring points to another big year for the insects. An early start on grasshopper control is being encouraged now because the insects, as present, are young and easy to kill; they are bunched together now after the hatch and therefore very little bait will kill them; and they are still on the edges of fields and have not, as yet done any damage to row crops.

The county mixing station in the basement of the courthouse opened last Monday with the following farmers receiving material: G. H. Johnson, Clyde; A. R. Kelton, Baird; and D. Young, Baird. They reported large numbers on their farms, so you who haven't made a check on the grasshopper infestation on your place, might be wise to look-out for them.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

Many farmers and pecan growers have been concerned about a condition on the pecan trees known as phylloxera, which are tiny insects showing up now on pecan leaves.

The sign that growers are asking about is the small, wart like growth on pecan leaves. That growth, is the crown, or gall, in which the small white insects grow. Phylloxera actually do not do a great deal of harm to Texas pecans, since they have many natural enemies that keep them down.

A nicotine sulphate and liquid lime sulphur spray is used to kill the insects. My advice is to merely "let the insects ride" until next spring, since it is too late for effective spraying, and spray next spring as the buds begin to unfold.

Another disease that will reduce your pecan production is rosette. This is a nutritional disease characterized by yellowing of the leaves, shortening of the internodes and finally the leaves and shoots die. Rosette is very easily controlled by 2 or 3 applications of solution of 2 lbs. of zinc sulphate in 100 gallons of water or 1 to 2 lbs. of zinc sulphate for each of diameter of the tree trunk can be distributed evenly under each tree and disked in, provided the soil isn't alkali; or several teaspoons of zinc sulphate into the trunk of the tree with an auger and bit.

One of the methods of applications of zinc sulphate should be applied now to the trees suffering from the disease.

HARVEST WARNINGS

As a precaution against the further spreading of undesirable weed seeds, and particularly the bind weed, or often spoken of passion vine, all combines should be thoroughly cleaned before going into clean fields. This is especially important with combines coming in from other counties and communities. There is some bind weed, often spoken of as cause it is very difficult and expensive to eradicate on account of its extensive and deep root system, all precaution should be used in preventing its spreading.

Combines that have cut rye and vetch, or been in wheat fields that has some rye in them should be thoroughly cleaned before entering another wheat field. Rye is the curse of millers and you will be docked in price when you go to market with your wheat if it has rye in it. With increased planting of rye and vetch in the county the possibilities of rye infested wheat fields increases and all precautions should be taken to prevent it getting mixed with wheat.

Farmers who do not own their own combines should insist that those coming in have been thoroughly cleaned.

The machines should not be cleaned in fields or on the highway as there is danger of seed germinating and the plants spreading from these spots.

A vigil look out must be kept for grasshoppers. There has been 56 lbs. of poison (sodium flour-sulfate) distributed this week. This is 30 lbs. more than was distributed the whole season last year.

Those receiving poison Wednesday were: Leo Clinton and Y. C. Wilson. Help your neighbor control grasshoppers by joining in on distributing poison.

Fandangle At Albany, June 26-28

Seeking to preserve and to glorify some of the fabulous and colorful history of Old Fort Griffin, frontier settlement of the late 60's, Robert E. Nail will present the "Fort Griffin Fandangle" in Albany on evenings of June 26, 27 and 28, with a cast of 300 actors and all the flourish and gaiety of the old time songs and dances.

A "youngish looking" man in his early 30's, Robert Nail wrote plays when he was nine years old, presenting them in his Backyard Theatre in Albany to the youth of the neighborhood, only a block from the Fandangle setting. Believing in good music, good plays and good books, Nail was graduated from Albany High School, on to Lawrenceville school and to Princeton University where he was a student of high honors, but he would not let anyone know it. Even while at Princeton his play of Princeton life, "Time of Their Lives," was written, produced and directed by him while president of the Theatre Intime of that celebrated New Jersey University -- he was class of '33.

Practices for the Fandangle started last October and now he is hard at work on the job, ably supported by Miss Alice Reynolds, New York artist and musician, who has collaborated in Fandangles prior to the war. In 1940 they needed two new songs for the show, and turned them out with perfection. Returned college students, artists, painters -- most of them young men returned from World War II -- are on the staff of the Fandangle, a non-profit organization with Executive Committee composed of Joe B. Matthews, Guy Caldwell, Watt R. Matthews, Jack Farmer, Thomas L. Blanton, Jr., Jim Nail, G. P. Crutchfield and Merrick Davis. Robert E. Nail is General Manager and Director and Ollie E. Clarke is Secretary-Treasurer.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE SCHOOL

There will be no flies on the Veterans Vocational Agriculture class of Baird this summer. One hundred-twenty pounds of powdered 50% DDT was purchased through the county agent and distributed to almost every member of the class.

On May 20, the class was shown several kinds of wheat on Buster Hatchett's farm. With as many as three different kinds of wheat, growing side by side in one field, the differences are readily discerned. When he harvests the crop, Mr. Hatchett will carefully check the yield from the different kinds of wheat. This experiment should prove of great value to all interested in wheat growing. Our thanks to Mr. Hatchett for showing us his place.

Through the courtesy of the Purina Ralston Company, Mr. C. R. Fry showed pictures to our class on May 29, demonstrating "Which, When, Where and How" to use DDT. The picture showed the varied uses of DDT, the different types, and the way that DDT affects the fly.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Austin of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Austin of Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Pruitt of Abilene visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bryant Sunday afternoon.

AMAZING INDIFFERENCE TO DEATH

One of the most amazing attitudes in the present era is the public indifference to deaths on our highways. Nearly 30,000 persons are killed each year and apparently the great American people like the idea and are perfectly willing to pay the price for speed.

The Baird Star has urged time and time again that officials in every section of the nation investigate every accident. Drivers responsible for accidents should not be allowed to menace the public. Moreover, in addition to the helpful campaign of education now underway in most states, high officials should require regulation and inspections of all motor vehicles in order to ban defective vehicles from the public ways.

If the states, and those interested in state's rights, fail to provide adequate safeguards for the public and permit the present death rate to continue, it is inevitable that a demand will arise for Federal control of interstate traffic, which will affect every individual crossing state boundaries. Such regulation seems necessary to obtain adequate protection on the highways.

It will be of little avail to cry out against the surrender of state's rights and to deprecate the enlargement of the Federal bureaucracy unless the states make the roads reasonably safe. The public demand for relief against so many avoidable accidents will not take into account theoretical squabbles over the method necessary to get results.

The states are on trial in the matter of highway safety and if they bestir themselves and provide effective regulations and inspections, the problem can be solved without Federal activity.

SUGAR SUPPLY INCREASES

The end of the six-year sugar shortage is in sight, according to the experts.

The next month should disclose whether prospects for bumper sugar production are sound. By the end of June, Government economists will be able to paint a reliable picture of the world situation.

Increased production is expected in Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Hawaii. Sugar-cane crops in this country are expected to be normal and the sugar crop looks fair to be one of the largest in history.

If these optimistic forecasts prove to be accurate, the housewife may find restrictions on sugar removed before October 31, when legislative authority for regulation expires.

BUILD UP THE GUARANTEE FUND

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, created in the depression years of the Thirties, collects an assessment of one-twelfth of one per cent on insured bank deposits and has piled up a surplus which approaches $1,000,000,000.

A bill has been introduced in Congress which would cut this assessment rate in half, repay the United States Government's capital funds subscribed, amounting to $239,000,000 and then suspend the collection of assessments as long as the surplus remains above $1,000,000,000.

While it is perfectly natural for bankers to suggest that the assessment be reduced and for many financial experts to agree with the idea, it should be remembered that the purpose of Federal Deposit Insurance is to assure the solvency of bank accounts up to $5,000, and that if a need arises in the future, comparable to that of the early Thirties, $1,000,000,000 would not be enough to make good on the guarantee.

We think that the banks of the nation should not worry unduly about the assessments they are paying. In return, they have the assurance of deposit insurance, which maintains confidence in banking institutions. This confidence will be somewhat diminished if there arises in the public mind a suspicion that, in another great depression, the guarantee fund will not be sufficient to make good the insured deposits.

BIG WHEAT CROP

A huge crop of wheat, expected to exceed 1.3 billion bushels, means that the United States will have plenty of wheat for export and that the growers will make some money.

However, there are difficulties in the way. Freight cars and grain bins will be taxed in the harvest-time congestion. Storage facilities are not adequate and it is quite likely that wheat will be piled on the ground, in school houses, old churches and anything else that will hold grain.

With many nations in the world anxiously awaiting food for their semi-starved populations, the big crop in this country should be a life-saver. Something like 400,000,000 bushels will be available for export, which compares with around 75,000,000 bushels in the late Thirties.

The billion-bushel wheat crop is about to be taken for granted. Whether it results from the Government's guarantee on wheat or represents a permanent production level is uncertain. It is a certainty, however, if the crop continues to be of this size, some export market will have to be found.

"BLACK" MARKET IN AUTOS

The automobile dealers in Philadelphia are trying to find a way to wipe out practices that are diverting thousands of new automobiles to used car lots and the export trade.

The complaint of the Association is that individuals have placed multiple orders, immediately resell the cars to dealers willing to pay bonuses from $100 to $1,000 above the list price.

This is an interesting item and tells of a condition that exists, to some degree, throughout the nation. Apparently, despite the end of price control, there are something like black markets in the automobile trade.
