THIRD SPRAYING NEEDED TO KILL CODDLING MOTH

Farmers in Plainview Country Combating Disease and Insects With Plenty of Pep.

Yesterday afternoon Professor Ohlendorf, of the State Department of Agriculture, addressed a number of farmers at the Court House. The manner in which the farmers are fighting the coddling moth and tree diseases in the Plainview country with a view to not allowing them to get a hold in this section, is gratifying to Professor Ohlendorf, but he states that the first spraying is not all that is necessary and urges diligence in looking after the extermination of pests.

Professor Ohlendorf instructed a company of Plainview farmers and orchardists at the orchard of Mrs. L. W. Dalton as to the best methods of spraying to prevent the coddling moth. It was found that a majority of the trees were too far advanced in fruitage to permit spraying the solution used into the calyx of the apples, but Professor Ohlendorf thought spraying at even a late stage of development might do good in the prevention and destruction of the pest.

Two pounds of arsenate of lead in fifty gallons of water is the solution recommended for spraying. This arsenate tested about thirty per cent. The per cent test of the chemical is required by law on the label of the container.

The Department of Agriculture, under whose auspices Messrs. Neill and Ohlendorf work, recommends the use of a high pressure pump and spray nozzle with large openings. Force on the spray is essential to success in getting the poison into the calyx of the fruit.

Regarding the grape-leaf hopper, Professor Ohlendorf says there has been devised no efficient way of eradicating this pest. He recommends, however, leaving the sprouts on the vines near the base until the top growth has been well developed. This theory is based on the assumption that the hopper stays in the foliage and grass near the vines, and will attack the base leaves first. Then when the upper leaves have developed the lower shoots can be removed.

In speaking of the control of the coddling moth, Professor Ohlendorf said:

Control of the Coddling Moth.

"The coddling moth, or apple worm, is one of the most serious pests that apple growers in this section have to contend with. If no attention is given to this insect, the grower need not be surprised to find that most of his apples are wormy. However, there are methods by which we may control this pest and reduce the injury to only a small per cent of the crop. Systematic spraying has proved successful in checking the work of the moth.

"In order for us to know how best to combat this insect it is necessary for us to know something about the life history of the insect.

"The insect passes the winter in the larval stage in cocoons which have been spun in some protected place, such as crotches of the tree, crevices of bark or any rubbish near the tree. About the time the apple is in bloom these larvae pupate and emerge as adult moths two or three weeks later. The moth is small, having a wing expanse of about three-quarters of an inch. Its color is grayish brown, the front pair of wings being crossed by gray and brown lines with a large brown spot on the outer end. This moth flies about at night, and consequently it is not readily noticed in the day time.

"Shortly after emerging the moth

PLAINS ALFALFA PLEASES CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. MAN

"Happily Disappointed," Statement of D. G. Cahoon Relative to Plainview Country.

"I am happily disappointed," said D. G. Cahoon to a representative of The Plainview Herald this morning. Mr. Cahoon is the district representative of the department of natural resources of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and has offices in Kansas City.

"I had expected to find here wide areas of range land, such as is seen in other sections of the Plains. I am pleased to note the surprising development this immediate district is undergoing. Especially do I congratulate you on alfalfa land. In Canada the culture of this plant is profitable, even after the expense of inoculating the land has been met. I understand inoculation is not necessary in the Plainview district.

"This is indeed interesting," said Mr. Cahoon. "I must confess I am surprised. Why, I had no idea of finding anything of this nature. You know, I am reminded of the statement of a friend who said that alfalfa was a hog's heaven. F. D. Coburn, of Kansas, once said, 'Cast your alfalfa before swine, and your wife will wear pearls.'

"That is as good a stand as you need see anywhere," he said when he saw the splendid alfalfa at the Garwood farm.

Mr. Cahoon found A. M. Kruger, the truck and garden specialist, an interesting conversationalist and an informed man in his line. He asked this question, "Mr. Kruger, what do you consider the most profitable crop that can be raised in the Shallow Water Belt?"

"Hogs and cattle," was the response. "Feed is easily raised and is inexpensive, and I know of no country where livestock does better."

Mr. Kruger has planted some thirty thousand cabbage plants. It is planned to plant on the hundred-twenty-acre tract more alfalfa. In fact, there is now alfalfa coming up with a grain crop. Asparagus, rhubarb, onions, lettuce, celery, mustard, radishes—in fact, all kinds of vegetables are being cultivated on the farm. A nice young orchard and a vineyard, just planted, occupy part of the farm, near the residence. This vineyard will be one of the best in the country, all varieties of grapes being planted.

H. V. Tull has one of the prettiest wheat fields in the entire district, and it has never been irrigated. The stand is almost perfect. Joe Kelleher, three and one-half miles northwest of Plainview, is said to have a very pretty field of wheat, too.

The acreage of wheat in the South Plains shallow water district has been increased this year, as has all of Texas. It is interesting to note that the Department of Agriculture of the United States has issued a statement of the crop forecast for the coming season, and that Texas is accredited with an increase, forecasted, of course, of over seven million bushels of wheat. The entire United States will increase its yield about eight million bushels, is the report, indicating that Texas would have the greatest increase. And Northwest Texas is the seat of the wheat-farming industry.

In the Aiken district wheat is exceptionally good. A good stand of fall wheat is found in all sections of the South Plains, however, and the prospects for a bumper crop of breadstuffs are flattering.

Mr. Cahoon left this morning for Kansas City. Before leaving he said: "I have been in no more promising section than the Plainview district. It has been a surprise from start to finish. Nowhere have I seen more optimistic, hospitable people. I like Plainview's 'glad-hand.'"

PLAINVIEW GIRL WINS APPROVAL AS PRINCIPAL.

Miss Marie Gidney Plays Part of Duke in "Louis XI" at Fort Worth.

The Dallas News has the following to say relative to the production of "Louis XI" by the students of Our Lady of the Victory Academy, of Fort Worth. Miss Marie Gidney is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Gidney, of Plainview.

"The audience that witnessed 'Louis XI,' as presented by the students of Our Lady of the Victory Thursday night, showed its high approval by frequent applause. Above one hundred and fifty students made up the cast, each one conducting herself with the poise of an experienced professional.

"One of the most effective scenes was that in the forest. From far in the distance gayly dressed peasants came dancing from a beautiful shrine of the Virgin, banked with flowers and glowing with numerous lights. The procession seemed to have no end. What seemed to be several hundred singing children made the auditorium filled to capacity, ring with the beautiful melody of the Faust waltz music. Upon this merry scene came the soldiers of France and Burgundy, followed by the elegantly robed French knights and finally by the feeble, tottering king, bowing his acknowledgments to the homage of his subjects.

"Misses Marie Gidney as the heroic duke, Mamie Lillie Ricks as the sarcastic doctor, Loyola Devaney as the saintly monk, and Marie Fleming as the cruel Tristram, won well-deserved applause. The jeweled velvets of the Fifteenth Century were most becoming to Misses Callan, Flynn, Corder and Barnhart.

"The training of this drama was done by Catherine Oglesby, who interpreted the difficult role of Louis XI, the wicked and hypocritical king."

"CAN SELL OUR KINGDOM FOR A MESS OF POTTAGE"

"The Price of a Kingdom" Subject for Dr. O. L. Halley's Sermon to Wayland Class of '15.

Sunday morning Dr. O. L. Halley preached from his pulpit the commencement sermon for the class of '15 of Wayland College. His subject was "The Price of a Kingdom." Dr. Halley told of the failure of Saul and the subsequent separation from kingly power. "Willingness, preparation and perseverance will enable us to become kings of our bodies, our intellects, of the financial world, the political world, and kings in the spiritual world," he said. "But, like Esau, we can sell our kingdom for a mess of pottage and no effort, however great, on our part can win it back."

In the evening, from the same pulpit, Rev. R. A. Highsmith spoke to the undergraduates on "All Things Are Yours." He said, in part:

"All things are yours; whether Paul, or Apollas, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come, all are yours, and ye are Christ's and Christ is God's."—I Cor. 3:21-23.

"All things are yours, not in a physical or material sense, nor in the sense that you have a deed or title to anything in the universe, for this is a purely selfish attitude, but in a deeper and more spiritual sense.

"Paul and Apollas and Cephas are yours. That is, the truth which they brought is yours. Why should any man say I am of Paul or accept the truth of Paul to the exclusion of the other two? All truth is yours, no matter whether spoken by Paul, or Apollas, or Cephas, or James, or Christ, or Luther, or Wesley, or Herbert Spencer, or Charles Darwin, or any other individual. The man is only an incident, but truth is the main object. We should never close our ears to truth merely because it does not come through the political party or religious dogma to which we may subscribe. The Christian man may not bear the truth, for Christ himself proclaimed himself as 'truth.'

"The world is yours." This is difficult for us to comprehend in this materialistic age of individual ownership. And yet the world is yours. You may go out in the night and look into the starlit sky and say 'This is mine.' No man can rob me of this heritage. You may stand on the summit of Pike's Peak and, as you view the hills and mountains, the beautiful panorama stretched out before you for fifty miles in every direction, you can claim this as your heritage. As you stand beside the mighty Niagara and watch with awe that torrent pouring over its ledge of rocks into the chasm beneath, you can exclaim in the depths of your soul, 'This world is mine, this soul-thrilling scene is mine, and no man can take from me the richness of this experience.'

"The secrets of the world are yours. A little boy sat by the side of a teakettle, as thousands of boys have done, and caught the secret of the teakettle, and today the power of steam has revolutionized the commerce of the world. Benjamin Franklin, as he saw the lightning flash across the heavens, said 'This secret shall be mine,' and he flew a kite into the heavens and drew down the electric current from the clouds, and today that current carries our messages around the world. Thus have Burbank and Edison discovered the secrets of the world.

"Life is yours. You may make of your life what you will. You may, in so far as your capacity will permit, be a Napoleon, conquering a world to satisfy your thirst for personal glory, or a Gladstone, before the Parliament of Europe pleading for the rights of his people. You may be a woman whose highest ambition is to lead a poodle at the end of a gold chain, or a Clara Barton, giving your life to suffering humanity. You may be a captain of a submarine who sends to the bottom a defenseless ship loaded with women and children, and then listen with bellish glee to the groans of the dying, or you may be the captain of a life-saving station, sacrificing yourself in rescuing the victims from a watery grave. You may use your life in selfish attainment in bringing death, misery and war, or use it for the benefit of humanity, bringing to

TWO TORPEDO SHOTS FROM GERMAN SUBMARINE SEND TRANS-ATLANTIC LINER DOWN.

DR. PEARSON'S BODY FOUND

Body of Wife of Syndicate Head Has Not Yet Been Found, Is Advised Vice Received Here.

The body of Dr. F. S. Pearson, head of the Pearson Syndicate, has been recovered, according to advices received at the office of the Texas Land and Development Company in Plainview. Dr. and Mrs. Pearson were passengers of the Lusitania, which was sunk by a German submarine. Late messages state that the body of Mrs. Pearson has not been found.

No single event of the present war has so stirred the United States as has the sinking of the Lusitania, one of the largest passenger steamers afloat, by a German submarine. It is estimated that fifteen hundred were killed.

Superintendent Dodd of the Cunard Company stated, "The only problem now is to identify the nameless dead." This statement of the official shattered every hope that there might be other survivors.

So far as can be ascertained, about seven hundred persons escaped when the Lusitania took her fatal plunge, after having been struck by a torpedo from a German submarine.

Lord Mersey is to conduct an inquiry into the sinking of the vessel, according to the press reports, and until it begins official opinion as to how the Lusitania came to be caught and why so many lives were lost will remain a secret.

The general unofficial opinion is that several German submarines were assigned to the task of attacking the Cunard liner, and that they maneuvered her into a position where she could not escape. Passengers say that for some time before the first torpedo was fired the Lusitania had altered her course, and they ascribe this to the fact that one of the German submarines had shown herself, sending the big liner in the direction where the other underwater craft were waiting to strike with their deadly torpedoes.

These submarines, naval experts believe, are of the latest type, of probably 1,400 tons, and much more powerful than any possessed by other navies.

Beyond anger at the Germans, the catastrophe has had no effect on the British people. Steamers are arriving and departing as usual.

Passengers Reassured.

The heavy loss of life on the Lusitania was due, in the belief of rescued passengers, to the fact that some officers, at least, reassured them after the first torpedo struck home that the Lusitania would remain afloat. Preparations, it is true, were made to launch the boats, but before this could be done a second torpedo hit the steamer and she listed so badly that the crew could only work the boats on one side of the ship.

Another factor was the extreme confidence of the passengers themselves in the infallibility of the water-tight compartments. According to a steward, they would not believe, even after the second torpedo struck, that the ship could go down, and realized their terrible position too late. Then it was that many jumped into the sea, a few to be picked up, the great majority to perish.

Others, including many of the first-class passengers, were in the cabin at the time, and they went down with the ship. The Lusitania was not in the British Navy list for April among the merchant vessels commissioned as naval auxiliary craft, and the officials of the Cunard Company deny that she ever was used for that purpose.

Washington Is Waiting.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9.—The American Government is quietly waiting advices from the embassies at London and Berlin containing such information as they are able to obtain concerning the sinking of the Lusitania.

WARREN SAYS HE INTENDED TO BE FIRST IN CONTEST.

Is Satisfied With Committee's Report and Still Sings Praises of the Plainview Country.

Through the Plainview papers, The News has received notification that our write-up of Plainview and the Panhandle Press Association has been awarded third prize, carrying with it a five-dollar cash consideration, Miss Ida E. Hall, of the Glazier Review, securing first prize of $25 and J. P. Chambers, of the Snyder Signal, drawing second money—$10. Following The News, in the order named by the awarding committee, are P. H. Loomis, of the Slatonite, at Slaton; C. W. Warwick, of the News, at Canyon; Mrs. A. C. Richardson, News, McLean; L. G. Waggoner, Chief, Miami. We confess that it was our intention to secure the $25, but we are well satisfied with the committee's report, and consider ourselves fortunate to be placed as high as third in this line-up of splendid Panhandle writers. The prizes were awarded by the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, which is one of the liveliest organizations of its kind in Northwest Texas, and the advertising benefits derived from all this publicity not only proclaim their progressiveness, but will undoubtedly be "worth the money" to Plainview and surrounding territory.

My Best Recipe

A Column of Practical Household Hints by the Best Housewives on the South Plains

One Way to Cook Asparagus.
Take one large bunch of asparagus. Cut all tender part into one-half-inch pieces. Put on in granite pan and boil until well done, and allowing water to boil down pretty well (never pour off). Add salt to taste, a cup of good cream, lump of butter, and let come to boil. Then have ready three hard-boiled eggs chopped fine; add and stir lightly, and serve.

2—
A Few Household Hints.
Use coal oil for cleaning sinks.
Use a little coal oil in water used for washing windows, lamp chimneys or mirrors.
Save all scraps of butter, and put in a can or tin cup. Have a nice new 2-inch paint brush to keep in it, and use in spreading on buttered toast, greasing bread, etc.
When you have vegetable or fruit stains on the hands, take a little tartaric acid, place in the palm, moisten with a little water, rub hands, and see it take all stains off.

Strawberry Puddings—Individual.
Four cupfuls of soft stale bread or cake crumbs, two and one-half cupfuls milk, two whole eggs and one white, two level tablespoonfuls sugar, a little grated lemon rind, one-half teaspoonful vanilla, fresh strawberries.

Time of preparation and baking, thirty-five minutes.

These puddings are easily digested and very nourishing.

Grease small custard cups and fill each about three-quarters full with the crumbs. Beat the whole eggs and the white together without separating; add the sugar, the milk, the flavoring, and a pinch of salt. Pour the mixture carefully over the crumbs in the cups, filling them to the top. Now stand the cups in a shallow pan half full of water and bake in a moderate oven about twenty-five minutes, or until set.

When cold, turn them out on a pretty dish, garnish with berries (or other fruit in season), and serve with the following sauce:

Ice Cream Sauce—Yolk of one egg, one cupful whipped cream (one-half cupful before whipping), one-quarter cupful confectioner's sugar, one-half teaspoonful vanilla. Time of preparation, five minutes.

Beat the yolk until light; add the sugar and beat again. Add the whipped cream; mix carefully, and add the vanilla.

Keep in the refrigerator until serving time. This sauce is equally delicious to use with other puddings.

W. R. McCluskey, wife and little daughter returned home Thursday from their trip to Kansas City, Fort Worth and other points.

Rev. Foster, pastor of the church at this place, is expected to be here next Sunday, after an absence of six weeks. Mrs. Ott was shopping in Hereford Thursday.

P. D. Vore was a county seat visitor Friday.

S. W. Downs seems to be lost. He started to Plainview Thursday for goods for M. E. Cleavinger's store, and at the present writing he has not been heard from.

Frank Thomas, who has been visiting here since Christmas, has returned to his home, in Hannibal, Missouri. Ray Gehres went to Hereford Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham, accompanied by Mrs. Geist and Miss Nova Whit, were shopping in Dimmitt Friday.

Miss Beatrice Vore, who has been teaching school near Hereford, returned home Saturday, via Dimmitt, after teaching a very successful school. We are very glad to welcome her back to Spring Lake.

O. C. Axtell, who has been attending court in Amarillo, returned home Friday.

A large audience gathered at Sunny Side school house Wednesday night to witness the closing day of school. A very fine entertainment was rendered by the pupils, after which Judge Kerr, of Dimmitt, and J. C. Gilbreth, of Sunny Side, gave addresses. Miss Addie Hodges, of Dimmitt, who has been teacher for this term, deserves great credit for the work she has done.

A gift to please those you would favor with a mark of your personal esteem—your portrait. Nothing could be more appropriate.

KANSAS CITY STOCK MARKET IN DETAIL.

KANSAS CITY STOCK YARDS, May 7.—Liberal receipts of cattle at leading markets this week stopped the advance on killing grades temporarily, but since Tuesday strength has reappeared, and every indication points to higher prices. The week is closing 10 to 25 cents higher than Monday, and slightly above close of last week. Stockers and feeders are 25 to 50 cents lower this week, but apparently the decline has been checked, and dealers look for a recovery, because of the strong inquiry from the country for young cattle. Although killers have had access to more cattle this week than usual, they have shown more interest in the choice grades, and have bought freely of all grades.

Straight heifers brought $9.10 here this week, and mixed yearlings $9.15, highest prices paid anywhere around the market circle, Chicago stopping at $8.75, St. Louis at $9.00.

Bulk of native steers are quotable at $7.70 to $8.15, and Westerns sold to killers yesterday at $8.15, similar to $8.00 steers on Wednesday, bulk of Westerns now worth $7.80 to $8.15.

Quarantine receipts are small, mostly cake- and meal-fed steers at $6.75 to $7.40.

Good stock steers are selling at $7.00 to $7.65 this week, and feeders $7.50 to $7.85, a few steers around $8.00, which is an entirely new set of quotations. Country demand is keeping the yards pretty well cleaned up, and stronger prices are looked for next week.

Hogs are slipping the last two days, top price today $7.35, bulk of sales $7.15 to $7.30, receipts 5,000 head. Order buyers paid up to $7.47½ yesterday, which was 12½ cents above top elsewhere in the West, and packers allowed them to get half the supply before getting into action, and were prepared to pursue the same heroic tactics today had it been necessary. Lighter receipts are expected next week, as a good many feeders cleaned up this week preparatory to devoting their whole attention during the next two months to making a corn crop and harvesting wheat.

Sheep and lambs are in light supply, and prices are worth up to $10.35, choice Arizona spring lambs up to $10.50, Texas and Arizona muttons $6.75 to $7.65, fat Angora goats today at $5.35, Angora brushers worth $4.25 to $5.00, straight-haired goats $3.70 to $4.00 as brushers, fat ones $4.75 to $5.00.

KRESS LEAGUE SOCIAL.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hamilton, one mile east of Kress, last Friday evening the Kress Epworth League gave one of the most enjoyable socials of the season. About twenty Leaguers met at the parsonage and enjoyed a hay-ride to and from the social.

Many interesting and amusing games were played, and at a late hour delicious refreshments of cake, fruit and punch were served. All departed with a word of thanks to the hosts for a pleasant evening. The crowing of the roosters told them of the lateness of the hour when they arrived home, a tired but happy bunch.

Among those present were Blanche, Roger and Mattie Scheihagen, Elva and Irvin Hinshaw, Rose, Laura and Marcus Stryker, Francis Linn, Vera Beck, Florence Gaylor, Nettie and Ferd Moore, Ruth Overley, Roy and Maude Skipworth, Henry Atkins, DeWitt Griffith, Earles O'Neal, Geo. Householder, Estelle Cates, John and Roy Wood, the host and hostesses, Manly Hamilton, Mrs. Geneva Boney and Miss Mattie Hamilton, and the chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Taylor and Rev. and Mrs. B. Y. Dickinson.

WEST POINTERS TAUGHT RIGHT OF SECESSION.

Hon. C. K. Lee, of Fort Worth, in transmitting to W. J. Battle, President of the University, for the University Library a very rare book, published in 1829, and used as a text book in West Point when Robert E. Lee and other noted Southern generals were students in that institution, says:

"I am sending you by express 'A View of the Constitution of the United States,' by William Rawle, of Philadelphia, edition of 1829.

"I procured this volume after several months' inquiry of law book houses all over the United States.

"I have had reprinted and fastened inside the cover of this volume a report of the Historical Committee of the United Confederate Veterans, made at the annual reunion May, 1914, concerning this treatise on the constitution, and reviewing evidence and data absolutely establishing that this book was used as a text book by the United States government at West Point during the period when the major part of the prominent Confederate leaders attended that institution as wards of the government.

"The report further quotes from Rawle's work showing, as the quotations unquestionably do, that Rawle, himself a Philadelphia lawyer, raised in the city where the constitution was framed, taught unqualifiedly that the states had a right to withdraw from the Union.

"Every son of the South who honors the memory of his forebears should know these important facts.

"Yet I think that very few of them do, for out of the large number that I have talked to about this matter, young and old, I have found only two who did know them, and these two were men who attended the Confederate reunions quite regularly.

"The people of the South are not interested longer in the right of secession; they have long since accepted the logic of the result—that the United States is a nation and not a confederation.

"They are interested, however, that their forebears who fought and died in defense of the right of the states to secede shall not go down in history as traitors or rebels.

"I hope this volume can be so placed in the University library that every young man or young woman fortunate enough to attend that institution may have his or her attention called to this report and this volume."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address P. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. gist and everybody's druggist—has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason—Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs 50 cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition. —Adv.

Non-Stop Service

You can imagine what it means to run a natural gas plant, pumping gas to four or five towns for their light, heating, cooking, etc. Those towns absolutely depend upon the continuance of the service.

Should a breakdown occur they would be in darkness and cold, with little or no means available for relief.

Of course the machinery of such a plant is of the very best, but the operation of that machinery depends quite largely upon the lubricating oil used.

A poor lubricating oil, by allowing the cylinders of the engines to score, might cripple such a plant for days and even weeks.

are particularly successful under such requirements of service. They have performed in these non-stop service plants in such a way that the results are hardly to be credited.

Texaco Quality and Service make this success possible—the Quality which makes the Red-Star-Green-T Oils in your town valuable for all purposes. Be sure you have Texaco and you can go ahead with perfect confidence.

PROSPERITY SMILES ON THE LONE STAR STATE.

Texas is in good shape. Just a trip through any part of the State will prove this.

Every travelling man who comes into Plainview remarks on the flourishing condition of the State. The cotton situation last year set the farmers of the eastern and central part of Texas back, but they have learned the lesson of diversification and the necessity of deserting a one-crop system. The want in some sections occasioned by short crops demonstrated to Texans the economy of growing as much of the food consumed as possible on the farms.

Travellers from other sections marvel when they see the vast expanses of wheat and alfalfa on the South Plains, and nowhere is this seen in more profusion than in the areas intensively developed around Plainview.

Texas is in good shape, and the cream of the entire domain—the Plainview country—is as flourishing as ever.

Uncle Sam sees prosperity in Texas. He has investigated. We have before us the report of the United States Department of Agriculture relative to Texas. The forecasted increase in production of wheat in Texas is equal to the forecasted increased production of the United States. The eight million bushels, estimated increased production for 1915 for the United States, is only a few hundred thousand bushels in excess of the forecasted increase in Texas.

Rye is 95 per cent of normal in Texas; in the United States 89.8 per cent. Meadows are 97 per cent normal, compared with 89.8 per cent for the Nation. Pastures are 98 per cent, compared with 87.2 for the United States.

Texas received two cents per bushel more for her wheat today than the average for the United States; for her corn 19 cents more; for her oats 3.6 cents more; for her potatoes 61.5 cents more, and for her cotton the average.

Prosperity smiles on the Lone Star State, and her farmers are reflecting the good spirit.

CHINA'S BELATED AWAKENING.

(From The Kansas City Star.)

In 1912, shortly after the Chinese Republic was established, an American Christian missionary, Mr. Arthur Judson Brown, published a very interesting book called "The Chinese Revolution." Its tone was certainly hopeful of what China was to become through its new republican forces, as witness:

"Chinese individuals are being welded in the fires of modern life into a Chinese nation. Old China memorized Confucian classics; new China studies modern science. Old China was a loose aggregation of individuals; new China is developing national unity. Old China was helpless in international affairs; new China is becoming a world power."

That seems rather pathetically hopeful in view of what is transpiring in the Far East today.

It may be that Japan has seen these new aspirations working out—in fact, a new China—and is trying to forestall them. One of the Japanese demands now is that "If the Chinese government in South Manchuria or Eastern Mongolia employs advisers or instructors, for political, financial or military purposes, the Japanese government shall first be consulted."

In this connection, the military possibilities of a Chinese nation are thus outlined by the author quoted above:

"I cannot close this chapter without reiterating my conviction that the individual Chinese is one of the most virile, industrious and self-reliant men in the world. Unaided he overcomes obstacles and makes his way where many other men fail. He has lacked heretofore national spirit; he has not been willing to make sacrifices for the common good. China, therefore, has been weak and helpless in international affairs as compared with the compact and united Japanese and with Western governments which are able to mass their national resources for aggressive purposes.

"But if these individual Chinese are inspired with a national spirit, if they realize that in union is strength, then, with the weapons of modern warfare in their hands, and moving, not as individuals, but as a united country of 433 million people, they will become one of the mightiest powers that the world has seen. This inspiration with a national spirit, this fusing of individualism into the unity of a majestic nation, is now taking place."

If China has seen this need of national strength and national preparedness to resist aggression, she may have seen it too late. But certainly her plight of weakness and unpreparedness is not too late to teach other nations the unpacific folly of being weak when others are strong.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING PROVING SUCCESSFUL.

Carrizo Springs Woman Sends Out Dollar Hampers of Vegetables to Consumers.

Co-operative marketing is proving successful in East and Central Texas in a few experiments. One woman, Mrs. W. F. Lancaster, of Carrizo Springs, is sending out to customers a family hamper of vegetables for one dollar. She selects the kinds, and customers are finding the scheme satisfactory. The producer realizes that the success of his scheme depends entirely on the satisfaction given, and service must be his watchword.

TREES ARE NOT INJURED.

Jeff Pippin Says Prospects for Bumper Fruit Crop Encouraging.

The fruit trees of the South Plains were not injured by the little cold snap Friday evening. Jeff Pippin keeps closely in touch with the fruit industry in this section, and he stated this morning to a representative of The Herald that the crop was not injured in the least. The only thing affected by the cold weather was potato slips, and that damage is only slight.

"I have been in this section a good many years, and it is my opinion that we will have the best fruit crop ever harvested in the Plainview country," said Mr. Pippin.

RAY HAS FINE STRAWBERRIES.

Through the courtesy of J. W. Ray a representative of The Plainview Evening Herald saw his splendid strawberry patch this morning. Mr. Ray has planted the Klondike and the Lady Thompson varieties. The stock was set out last year. Just now the vines are full of blossoms and green fruit.

Mr. Ray says he knows of no better country for growing strawberries than this. They require very little attention and are among the most wholesome fruits.

Jeff Pippin advises that strawberries be planted in the shade, under the trees. The Klondike variety he considers best for this section, as the vines grow upright and support the berries, holding them off the ground.

IMPORTANCE OF HEALTHY KIDNEYS.

Plainview Readers Should Learn to Keep the Kidneys Well.

The kidneys have a big work to do. All the blood in the body is coursing through the kidneys constantly to be freed of poisonous matter. It is a heavy enough task when the kidneys are well, but a cold, chill, fever or some thoughtless exposure is likely to irritate, inflame and congest the kidneys and interrupt the purifying work.

Then the aching frequently begins, and is often accompanied by some irregularity of the urine—too frequent passages, sediment or retention. Thousands testify to the wonderful merit of Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy for the kidneys only, that has been used for kidney troubles 50 years. You will make no mistake in following this advice. It comes from a resident of this locality:

Mrs. S. G. Mitchell, Tulla, Texas, says: "One of my family was afflicted with a lame back that made it almost impossible for him to attend to his work. Doan's Kidney Pills cured him, although other medicines had failed."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mitchell recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. Adv.

The rose room of the Westbrook hotel was a beautiful setting for a six-course bridge luncheon given by Misses Mamie Lily Ricks, Marie Flynn, Cecelia Barnhart and Marie and Daisy Gidney Friday afternoon in honor of the seniors of Our Lady of Victory Academy.

SPRING CLEANING HINTS.

"Now is the time to begin the fight against disease," says Dr. O. M. Ball, Professor of Biology at the A. and M. College of Texas. "If you want to insure good health in your family during these spring months you had better begin now to clean up. Cut the weeds and rake and burn them. Fill up the water holes, drain the ditches. Mosquitoes, flies, and other pests and disease lurk in these places. Don't let trash accumulate on your premises. Not every one can have a beautiful home with splendid grounds, but all can keep the premises clean.

"The mosquito and the fly are death dealers. Much of the spring sickness is due to the work of these winged pests. The best way to insure against these disease spreaders is to destroy their breeding places. They multiply rapidly. They breed in weeds, long grass, empty cans, trash piles, ditches, and flies especially in old manure piles. A little oil and a little lime with a little work in spring cleaning beats a big doctor bill."

The Car, That 38,000 Happy Owners Have Given the "Rough and Tumble" Acid Test of Real Automobile Owners' Wear

An automobile on the road for 18 months in constant, every-day use by an owner ceases to be a designer's theory.

It becomes—either a great automobile success;

Or it becomes—a great automobile failure.

Multiply one model by 38,000 and give each one of these 38,000 automobiles day in and day out rough and tumble road wear, and if this car stands up and delivers, it has become one of the rare great automobile successes.

And that is the Maxwell success today—that is exactly the "Acid Test" that the Maxwell has passed through, and that is why the Maxwell is the most talked about automobile that is built today.

The Maxwell automobile is today one of the very few great automobile successes the world has ever known.

And this is the car we urge you to see. This is the car that you owe it to yourself to see. We want to tell you about its hill climbing triumphs. We want to tell you about its speed and endurance records. We want to show you and add up for you every one of its new features.

lays its eggs on the leaves and twigs near the fruit, and sometimes on the fruit. These eggs are about the size of a pin head, and are almost transparent. Probably in from five to twelve days the small larva or worm hatches out of this egg and starts crawling about in search of food. When it finds the young apple it immediately begins feeding. It is thought that at least two-thirds of the worms enter the apple at the calix end, the others entering at the sides and stem end. They work their way into the core of the apple and there feed until they have reached their full growth, which will take from two to four weeks. Then they come out at the side of the apple and look for a place to spin their cocoon, pupate and change into a moth. They usually find some protected place in crevices of the bark, or among rubbish near the tree, where they undergo these transformations. About two or three weeks after pupation the moth emerges ready to lay eggs for a second brood, and with this the same life cycle is repeated, as is probably with a third brood. Very likely the larvae of the third brood are the ones that overwinter and produce the next season's moth.

"We see, then, that the life cycle of one brood extends over a period of from six to eight weeks, depending probably to some extent on the temperature and weather conditions. However, the periods of the later broods overlap to such an extent that it is difficult to tell just at what time the majority of worms of one brood do hatch out.

"Now, in spraying for this insect the most important point is, to make the first spraying thorough and at the right time. This spraying should be given immediately after the petals have fallen and before the calix cup of the young apple closes up. Thus we will get a sufficient amount of poison into the calix end of the apple to kill all the worms that start into the apple at this point, and, as has been stated, the greater per cent of the first brood worms enter at this point, we may thus be able to destroy so many of the first brood that the danger of injury from later broods will be greatly decreased.

"A second spraying should be given about two weeks after the first, so as to have abundant poison all over the tree when the first brood hatches out.

"The time for later sprayings should best be determined by observation, giving them at the time when the majority of the later broods are hatching out. A third spraying, to kill the second brood, may be given approximately seven weeks after the second spraying, and another one for the third brood probably the same length of time after the third spraying.

"The poison to be used is the arsenate of lead, using approximately two pounds of the poison to fifty gallons of water. The strength of the poison varies with the different brands, but directions are usually given on the containing vessel, which ought to prove satisfactory if followed correctly. As the poison does not dissolve in water, but is merely held in suspension, it is necessary to get a thorough mixture and keep the spray stirred constantly. A rather coarse spray is preferable, and should be applied with great force, a pressure of from 100 to 250 pounds being desirable. The first spray should be directed, if possible, downward upon the tree, as well as from the sides, as this is most likely to fill the calix cups.

"Besides these methods just given, additional practices are carried on in connection with the spraying. The winter quarters of the insect may be destroyed by clearing up all rubbish near the trees and by keeping all loose bark off of the stems and branches of the tree. All dried-up apples on and under the trees should be destroyed, as these are often found to contain the over-wintering worm. A strip of burlap may be wrapped around the trunk to trap the insects that go into pupation. This burlap should be examined every ten days during the late spring and summer, and all the worms pupating under it may thus be destroyed.

"Now, we see from the above discussion how important it is for everybody to spray against this moth. For the man who does not spray is merely breeding up the insect that will trouble his neighbor who is spraying. After a section is once infested by this pest it is far better for the grower who does not intend to spray his trees to go ahead and dig them up than to leave them there as a breeding ground for the moth which will during the summer produce a second and third brood upon neighboring apples, and thus always necessitate fighting these later broods."

It was a blustery March evening, but inside the cozy sitting-room of the Browns all was cheery and bright.

Mrs. Brown stepped to the telephone. Her husband smiled—for he knew the pleasant custom for years had been to call the daughter, in the distant village, each week.

The New York-Washington Automobile Road Record Broken by a

Franklin "6-30"

9 Hrs. 9 Min. From New York to Washington Breaking the Previous Record by 2 Hours and 32 Minutes

This proves beyond the question of a doubt the efficiency of the Franklin Air-Cooled Motor. Only three short stops, averaging 10 minutes each, were made on the run.

The car left the New York Ferry at 12:01 noon, April 25, 1915, and arrived at the Municipal Building, Washington, D. C., at 9:10 p. m. the same day.

Not a mechanical trouble of any kind developed; no tires were changed, patched or repaired.

Short stops were made at Trenton and Wilmington for gas, oil, and lunch only. The car was not touched.

David S. Hendrick, of the D. S. Hendrick Company, Inc., local agents for the Franklin Line, drove the car. The observers were Howard Fisk, automobile editor of the Washington Star, Ed. B. Terry, president of the Columbia Transfer Company, and H. E. Duckstien, automobile editor of The Washington Post. The observers have signed an affidavit to the effect that the car made the run in the elapsed time of 9 hours and 9 minutes without making repairs or adjustments of any kind and without changing or repairing tires.

The Franklin was taken off the salesroom floor and driven to New York on Sunday in 10 hours, 41 minutes. It was taken out of the garage the next morning and driven to Washington in 9 hours 9 minutes.

The car used was a regular stock Franklin 6-30 touring car, which sells for $2,150. Top, windshield and all regular equipment was carried throughout the entire distance. No special preparations were made.

Considering that on a run of this kind an automobile is put to the supreme test--240 miles over the road at a steady gait--no chance for the motor to cool or the bearings to rest--no slow downs for rough roads--the springs have to take the bumps--the working parts in continual motion--we feel justified in stating that

The Franklin 6-30 Touring Car Is Supreme

Hupmobile
CAR OF THE AMERICAN FAMILY

Ask the Woman Who Drives

One woman who drives a Hupmobile, spoke for all others when she said: "I feel when I am driving the Hupmobile as though I were a part of the car—or as though it were a part of me."

She meant, of course, that the Hupmobile responded immediately to every impulse or direction she gave it.

She meant that it is always as easily and completely under her control as her own movements.

She meant that she always feels safe and sure and secure, because she always knows exactly what the Hupmobile will do under any and all circumstances.

A woman knows, for instance, that the Hupmobile motor will not stall—and because it can not, therefore it's safest.

She knows the turning radius of the Hupmobile is remarkably small for a car of its length. That makes it easy to handle.

With a wheelbase of 119 inches, the Hupmobile will circle in a 40-foot street.

The motor is so flexible that she gets along with a minimum of gear shifting.

The steering is so easy that a child can guide the car almost without effort.

The driving seat is made with a scientific regard for her comfort—with a high, restful back, and the seat cushion tilted at precisely the right angle.

She gives no thought to emergencies which might require repairs, because she knows that repairs are so few and far between that they can safely be forgotten.

The Hupmobile is always a source of pleasure to the woman who drives—or the woman who rides.

That's why in every Hupmobile home there's a woman who is a Hupmobile enthusiast.

Let us give the Hupmobile merit-test at your convenience.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst."

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE DOCTOR

OSTEOPATHY

WHEN a machine breaks down, when a part gets out of adjustment so the machine won't do the work it should do, what is done? Why, that's simple. A machinist simply puts the part that is out of joint back where it belongs, so that it will work in co-ordination with the rest of the machinery. Then everything is right. The machine does the work it should do.

The body is simply a machine. Every part of the body is delicately balanced and co-ordinated with every other part. So long as this co-ordination lasts the body does the work it should. Then a man is well. But let one part get out of adjustment and the man is sick.

Then, what's the proper thing to do? Why, simply take the hands as the machinist does with his machine and work the unadjusted part into its proper position. Of course, that's logical.

The body has one advantage over the ordinary machine. For the body can rebuild and mend itself, with the proper help. Once the unadjusted part is put back in position it is not necessary that it be riveted there. The body itself will make the mend. There are no bolts to drive.

The Osteopathic doctor is the machinist of the body.

Close friends of President Wilson are pointing to parts of the speech made several weeks ago to the Daughters of the American Revolution as indicative of his policy, wherein he said:

"There are many tests by which a nation makes proof of its greatness, but it seems to me that the supreme test is self-possession, the power to resist excitement, to think calmly, to think in moments of difficulty as clearly as in moments of ease—to be absolutely master of self and its fortunes."

them 'life, beauty and joy.'

"Death is yours. We are accustomed to think of death as that 'frightful monster of hideous mien' in whose iron grasp we must all some day surrender. But the Christian can say 'Death, thou art mine.' To the Christian man death is not the conqueror, but the conquered, and he can say 'O death, where is thy victory? O grave, where is thy sting?'

"Things present are yours. 'We are the heirs of all the ages through the foremost files of time.' All things past are yours. The great inventions, discoveries, artistic productions and literature are ours. The works of Homer, Pliny, Shakespeare, Browning, Tennyson, Longfellow and Goethe are our heritage from the poet. The musical productions of Mozart, Beethoven and Weber are ours. 'We have a rich heritage left us by Plato, Socrates, Kant and Heyel. So we have reaped a heritage from Angelo and Raphael, from Burbank and Edison, from Luther and Wesley. The Bible itself is a heritage and the richest inheritance of past ages. Truly 'We are living, we are dwelling in a grand and awful time, ages upon ages telling to be living is sublime.'

"Things to come are yours. We know the heritage of the past, but we know not what the future holds in store for us. And yet the future is ours as much as the past. The future is ours as an opportunity; the future is ours for development; the future is ours for contemplations. We can read upon the pages of history the story of the past, but John, the beloved disciple, has pulled aside the curtains of the future and given us a glimpse of what is to be. With him, we may dip into the future as far as human eye can catch a glimpse of the world and the wonders that are to be.

"I stood last week in the Scottish Rites Cathedral in Dallas and listened to the singing of 'The Holy City,' accompanied by the greatest pipe organ in the South. Not only was the song sung and played, but illustrated in scenery upon the stage of this magnificent cathedral. At first was shown the City of Jerusalem as it is—the beloved city, the revered city, the holy city. But as beautiful as was this scene, how much more glorious was that of the New Jerusalem—the Holy City—let down out of heaven as a bride adorned for her husband. As I watched this scene, under the blaze of a thousand varied shades of light, I said to myself, 'This is my heritage from God,' and I alone can rob myself of the richest heritage known to man.

"Young men and women, all things are yours if you develop the soul capacity to receive them. But to do this you must be unselfish and altruistic; to do this you must be high minded, noble hearted and thoroughly Christian. Only through Christ can you receive the heritage of God. It has been said to you of old times, 'Hitch your wagon to a star,' but I say unto you, Hitch your wagon to the Star of Bethlehem, and you will traverse the starry constellations above to the very throne of God."
