TWO ROBBERS HOLD UP JOHN MEISTERHANS, THE COBBLER.

Awaken Sleeping Man With Flashlight and Thrust Gun at Him.

Wednesday night two robbers entered the door of John Meisterhans's living room and roughly awakened him. A flashlight in the hand of one of them blinded him. Flourishing a gun, the robbers commanded him to sit up and raise his hands. John obeyed, and they took from under the pillow his trousers. About a dollar and seventy cents was secured from the large pockets, but fifteen dollars in currency tucked into his watch pocket was overlooked. John also had other money, but a search by the robbers through his trunk and around the room failed to reveal it.

John says he wishes he could have secured his gun from under the pillow. "I don't want to be shot with no gun in my hand, but if I could have got my gun I would have blazed away at him, even if I knew he would shoot me," John said about the affair. And those who know John know full well that he meant just what he said.

The door to his room, and the door to his shop are never locked. He is honest and believes other people as a rule are honest, and the idea of locking doors has, never appealed to him.

It is the opinion of John that some amateur, would-be robbers held him up. He says that the odor of liquor was heavy on their breath.

PLAINVIEW'S WEED CROP.

Plainview has weeds along her streets and on her vacant lots. They're unsightly and unhealthful. We have become so accustomed to seeing the weeds that they do not impress us with their unsightliness. We saw them when they first appeared in the spring, and their daily growth was too slight to be impressive. We've become accustomed to them and don't notice them.

But how about the stranger in our midst? It's just like inviting a stranger into our homes when we have allowed its corners to become filled with cobwebs and bits of trash when we invite the stranger to a weedy town, and just as disgraceful to the town as trash in the home is to the family.

"Plainview needs its weeds cleaned up. Pacific Street and the vacant lots on it are a disgrace. Plainview is a good town, a live town, and does almost anything it attempts—we're alright, but we ought to keep the corners cleaner. We can look the stranger in our midst in the face with better grace when we do it. And we'll have better health, too.

Cut the weeds before the seeds mature. Incidentally, that suggestion that Plainview plant alfalfa on its vacant lots to keep weeds down isn't half bad. Wichita, Kansas, is pleased with its experiments along this line.

GERMANS ARE ADVANCING IN GALICIA IS REPORT

MACKENSEN WILL TAKE LEMBERG SOON UNLESS RUSSIANS SHOW REVERSAL OF FORM.

DR. GERHARD TALKS OF BRYAN

Difference Between Former Secretary and President Not Confined to Lusitania Note, He Says.

LONDON, June 17.—Lemberg seems to be in danger again. The Austro-German rushing in Galicia has been resumed. Berlin and Vienna lay claim officially to progress along the entire southeastern front.

Mosciska, twenty miles to the east of Przemysl, has been captured from the Russians.

Mackensen Pushing On.

General von Mackensen, according to dispatches, has given himself a fortnight in which to capture Lemberg, and it would seem that at the rate his and co-ordinate forces are going forward this time limit will be ample if the Russians are unable to initiate a stiffer resistance than they are showing now.

The capture of 122,000 Russians and a great number of guns from June 1 to June 15 is reported by the Austrian War Office, while Berlin's report gives the German General, von Mackensen, credit for the capture of 40,000 since June 12. Whether the latter are included in the Austrian official estimates is not made clear.

Military observers at Petrograd express the belief that 2,800,000 Germans and Austrians are operating against the Russians in the East. No one so far has attempted to say with any exactitude how many Russians are under arms to oppose the immense force, but early in the war Russia's potential powers for recruiting were placed high up in the millions.

Italians Reach Defenses.

Battles of a rather minor character, but with strategic points as their objects, are being carried on by the Italians against the Austrians along the Austro-Italian frontier. The Italians have now come up to the previously prepared and powerful defenses of the Austrians on the Isonzo River, and with the superior artillery which Italy possesses, heavy fighting may be looked for in the near future.

The latest Zeppelin raid on England has created hardly a ripple of excitement. Aircraft protection was one of the subjects discussed today in the House of Commons, William Joynson Hicks urging a marked increase in this branch. He said that London might soon expect a serious raid, and added that at one time more than five Zeppelins of the latest type were over the English coast.

The Undersecretary for War, H. J. Tennant, besides giving assurances that bigger aeroplanes were under construction, said that since the beginning of the war the number of machines had been increased tenfold and the number of men engaged in this branch fivefold.

Americans Want Peace.

LONDON, June 17.—That the differences which have arisen between the United States and Germany will be peacefully settled, is the prediction of Dr. Anton Meyer Gerhard, who is en route from the German Embassy at Washington to Berlin to explain the situation to the German Government. The interview was obtained by a newspaper representative when the United States, ship on which Dr. Gerhard embarked, touched at Christianand, Norway.

His statement follows: "The conflicting views existing between Berlin and Washington regarding the Lusitania affair rest on a misunderstanding, and will be settled peacefully," Dr. Gerhard is credited with saying.

"The conflict between President Wilson and Secretary Bryan is of old origin, and arose from quite different causes than the Lusitania affair. The breach was rendered inevitable by the independent procedure of the President, who rejected the counsels of his responsible minister and drafted the latest American note to Germany according to his own ideas. As President Wilson framed this reply to Ger-

TEXAS HAS GOOD COAL OUTPUT.

Mines Nearly Two and a Half Million Tons in 1914. Valued at Almost $4,000,000.

The amount of coal produced in Texas in 1914 was 2,323,773 short tons, valued at the mines at $3,922,459.

The coal production of the State is nearly evenly divided between lignite and bituminous coal, the balance being slightly in favor of the bituminous. With the exception of the production in 1913, the production in 1914 was the largest on record, according to figures compiled by C. E. Leshner, of the United States Geological Survey. The total production in 1914 was less than in 1913 by 105,371 tons, or 4.34 per cent, in quantity, and $336,461, or 8.54 per cent, in value. Most of the decrease in tonnage was in the lignite output, which in 1914 was 1,105,613 tons and in 1913 was 1,181,156 tons, a difference of 75,543 tons, whereas the output of bituminous coal—1,218,160 tons in 1914 and 1,247,988 tons in 1913—decreased but 29,828 tons. In value, however, the bituminous coal decreased much more than the lignite.

The decreased production of both bituminous coal and lignite in 1914 is attributed to the great increase in the production of petroleum in Texas and Oklahoma, which, because of its drop in price, after a record-breaking production, has displaced a considerable amount of coal and lignite as fuel, both on the railroads and in the industries.

The coal mines of Texas were not entirely free from labor troubles in 1914, as 220 men were on strike during the year, with an average of three

Send for The Cook's Book By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill It's FREE

Our instructions to the famous editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine were: "Get up a book of recipes of the things people like best. Find the best way to make and bake each one. Then write it out so plainly that even an inexperienced housewife can't have a failure."

"The Cook's Book" was the result. Some of the 90 recipes were originated, many of them were improved upon, and all were personally tested by this best known authority on cooking in America, and she tells so clearly how she made everything that one cannot go astray.

While some of the cakes and pastry are elaborate enough for any occasion, the recipes are all thoroughly practical and call for no expensive and unusual ingredients. In addition to telling how to make them, the book is beautifully illustrated in colors showing how to arrange and serve the dishes appetizingly.

More than half a million of "The Cook's Book" are now in use in American households. Yet the demand is constantly increasing. Many send for two or three at a time to give to friends or young housekeepers. Don't depend on borrowing one from a neighbor—have one of your own.

How to Get "The Cook's Book"

In every 25c can of K C Baking Powder is packed a colored certificate. Send us one of these certificates (paste it on a postal card if you like) with your name and address plainly written, and "The Cook's Book" will be mailed free of charge. Only one book for each certificate.

days each of lost time.

Most of the lignite produced in Texas is mined by hand, and of the bituminous coal produced nearly one-half is shot off the solid. The use of mining machines has not made much progress in the State, and those that are employed are in the bituminous mines. The quantity of coal shot off the solid in 1914 was 612,158 tons, or 26 per cent of the total.

Washing plants have been installed at the mines at Eagle Pass in order to improve the quality of coal sent to market. In 1914 the quantity of coal washed was 23,604 tons, which yielded 19,440 tons of cleaned coal.

THE USE OF INVISIBLE INK.

Germany Now Uses Methods Employed by U. S. in Days of the Continental Congress.

A continuous stream of information, requiring little speed in its delivery, goes out by English mail ships to neutral countries; not in sealed packets addressed to German embassies or consuls—not even addressed to any German name—but inconspicuous personal letters to individuals.

These letters, following the forms used in France, cannot be detected by the English censors. The German Secret Service does not bungle its affairs. With the greatest ingenuity it prepares personal letters in a variety of forms; precisely the sort of letters that come in thousands from Europe to America on the fast liners.

It is thought that some of these communications to German embassies in neutral countries have been written in invisible ink under a personal letter of no consequence. This method was used by the American Government before there was any cable service.

The first agent sent by the Continental Congress to France communicated in this way with the American Government. His letter, it appeared, was simply a note directed to an individual, showing that he had arrived safely in France and giving some trifling details concerning his passage and health. Under this, in invisible ink, was an official communication directed to the American Government, giving a list of the troops and munitions of war that the French Government would send to the aid of the American Colonies, advising the Continental Congress how it should act with respect to certain foreign countries, and notifying it of the imminence of a general European war.

This communication, of the most vital importance, did not appear until the sheet of paper, on which a harmless personal note was written, was treated with chemicals.

It was shown at the trial in England of Otto Luz that this method of communication is now in use by the German Secret Service; but it is more likely that the German cipher dispatches, in general, follow the plan of the simple personal or business message—such personal notes as are written every day by one individual to another, and business messages such as are constantly cabled between Great Britain and the United States.

E. C. Fain returned yesterday from a business trip out of the city.

SKEE BALL IS THE LATEST.

The New Kind of Bowling Is Very Popular in New York.

New York Letter to the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Skee ball is the newest thing here. It is no relation to a highball or anything that comes in a long glass. Instead of a drink, it is a game. Skee ball is a modified form of bowling, and is played on an alley about thirty feet long. Midway down the alley is a slight raise. When the ball hits this it takes a flying leap and lands in one of the nine cups at the end of the alley. The most difficult cup counts the highest. If all the balls go into the cups you can make a score of 50. It costs only a nickel to roll the balls, and there are no pin boys.

MAUDE MULLER UP TO DATE.

By MYRTLE MIDDLETON POWELL.

The farmers out the Plainview way Have beat Maude's methods making hay.

No more do maids in briar-torn gown And graceful ankles bare and brown

Rake the grass on a summer's day: They've found this method doesn't pay.

No more does the judge ride down the lane On a chestnut horse—'twould give him pain!

His coming's heralded from afar In the newest model motor car.

The stream that flowed from the road-side spring Is now too tame. The well's the thing.

Through the meadow the water flows; The ditch controls the way it goes.

The water insures alfalfa hay. The old grass meadow doesn't pay.

A farmer from the State of Maine, Seeing all this water, said, " 'Tis plain

'They've conquered here the fear of drouth; I'll buy a farm and move down South.

"I like this kaffir and milo maize And this clover patch for the pigs to graze.

"With cattle and sheep and alfalfa hay, There's no reason why farming here wouldn't pay."

And he watched them cut the alfalfa field, And figured on how much 'twould yield.

And "Would it were mine," they heard him say; "'Tis great to farm the Plainview way."

Not so, however, his better half; At all his tales she'd only laugh—

And viewed with manifest alarm— His new-made plan to sell the farm!

"To live in Texas?" No, not she! To such a plan she'd never agree.

She'd "heard too many harrowing tales Of wolves and rabbits and snakes and snails;

"Of cowboys and Indians and bad men bold; Of summer's drouth and winter's cold.

"That he'd been hoodoo'd by some land man's tale; They were most of them frauds and should be in jail."

So the farmer sighed with a secret pain, And knew his dream had been in vain.

And took up his burden of life again On his worn-out farm in the State of Maine.

But oft he dreams by the chimney fire Of that Western land of heart's desire.

And oft he sees in the flickering blaze A Texas ranch where the cattle graze;

Sees the fattening porkers, alfalfa fed; Every one of them thoroughbred.

And in dreams again he lives that day When he watched them cut alfalfa hay.

'Tis too bad for the farmer and too bad for the wife; If she'd come, too, and look she'd say "This is the life!"

She'd see for herself that the bad men bold Have vanished and fled as a tale that is told;

And we'll bet she, too, would be willing to stay And start all over—the Plainview way.

INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE OF AGRICULTURE, ROME.

One of the most noted agricultural organizations in the world is the International Institute of Agriculture, at Rome. Almost all the countries of the world, without distinction of religion, race, language, or political constitution, have united for a work of education and peace, which they maintain and direct by means of permanent delegates appointed by each of them and deliberating in common like an international parliament. The object of the work is to defend and promote the agricultural interests of the entire world.

The idea occurred in the mind of Mr. David Lubin, of the United States. He communicated it to the King of Italy, who, in the year 1905, made it his own and recommended it to the consideration of his government in a letter to the Prime Minister. On receipt of this letter, the government of Italy invited the States to an international conference in Rome. Most of the States responded readily and the result was the establishment of a permanent International Institute of Agriculture.

The management of the organization is entrusted to a general assembly and a permanent committee, the supreme authority being vested in the general assembly. As a rule, this assembly meets every two years, at Rome, and is attended by delegates appointed for the purpose by the different governments.

"The man who is always wondering what his neighbors think of him would be surprised sometimes to learn that they seldom think of him."

"FOR FARMERS, NOT FAKERS."

Not for fakers—not for fakirs—but for farmers! For the men who support themselves and their families on the produce of the soil and have a surplus left to swell the wealth of the country, is the Hale County Fair. In it will be represented the most aggressive and at the same time the most important interests of the county. Our rural population is engaged in nothing but farming—agriculture and general stock farming. The wealth of our county is produced on the farm. The interests of the town and of the country are one, and there is nothing which will cement them more closely than the county fair.

Educational and instructive exhibits and lectures, and plenty of wholesome amusements for diversion, have been planned by the directors.

Every farm in the county should have an exhibit at the Fair.

Every boy and girl who lives on the farm should be thinking now of the Fair and planning to enter an exhibit. The County Federation of Clubs is working on a list of premiums especially for the boys and girls.

"For farmers, not for fakers," the Hale County Fair will represent the best of Hale County's material interests.

FLY GUILTY OF MURDER.

Dr. Crumline, of the Kansas State Board of Health, discovered the murderous character of the fly in keeping a monthly record of infants who died from diarrheal diseases.

He found that deaths increased as flies multiplied. In January, the season of no flies, deaths were only thirty-five, while during July and August, the season when flies swarm in greatest numbers and carry most filth and germs to the baby's bottle and the baby's lips, the deaths of little children soared to 176.

This is enough to make us think. The baby does not know the danger of allowing flies to crawl over its food. It cannot protect itself. Isn't the baby's health of enough import to make us wage a ceaseless war against the fly?

He is a carrier of bacteria and filth and a destroyer of health.

Merely that more babies die in fly-time from diarrheal diseases does not prove that flies are the cause of death, but is further evidence that they contribute to the toll of death.

Swat the fly, and keep everlastingly at it!

WHY THE MANAGER GOT THE LARGE SALARY.

A certain man owned machine shops in each of two large cities. One of them was in charge of "Tom" as manager and "Dick" as assistant. One morning early the owner appeared. Dick was on the job, but Tom not yet down. When questioned, Dick gave the impression that the manager was often late, and that he ran the office mostly, worked longer and harder than Tom—and yet Tom got four times as large a salary as he did, which seemed hardly fair.

Across the street they were unloading some machinery. "I wonder what they are unloading over there?" the owner said. "Why, we know those people well," Dick replied. "I'll go over and find out."

Upon returning, he said: "It's a very heavy welding torch."

"What kind is it?" he was asked.

"I don't know, but it will take only a minute to find out." And he hurried across the street. Returning presently he said: "It's an X. Y. Z. make."

"What did it cost?"

"I'll find out."

"Four hundred dollars," was his response when he returned.

"Thank you, Dick."

Soon Tom came down.

The owner said: "Tom, they're unloading a machine across the street. Will you find out what it is?"

"Certainly, sir," Tom came back with this report:

"It's a welding machine, X. Y. Z. make, of very heavy material and costs four hundred dollars. It is alright for the purpose the other firm wishes it, but it is too large and the expense of operating it too great for the work our shop is doing."

Thank you, Tom."

After a while the owner went over to Dick's desk and said:

"Dick, you had to go across the street three times to find out about that welding torch. You noticed that Tom went over only once—and came back with more information than you obtained in three trips. You're a good man, Dick, but this may illustrate one reason why Tom's salary is so much more than yours."

FORCING PLANTS WITH CARBONIC ACID GAS.

Experiment and study are making horticulture one of the exact sciences.

During the past few months extensive experiments have been conducted by scientists, and remarkable results have been secured in increased growth among greenhouse plants by charging the confined air with an excess of carbonic acid gas.

In one experiment the yield of tomatoes was practically doubled and the yield of cucumbers increased 12½ per cent by the carbonic acid treatment.

The New International Encyclopedia Year Book states that in using the carbonic acid gas treatment in a commercial-sized greenhouse, treating a compartment of forty cubic feet with 158 quarts of pure carbon dioxide twice each day, at seven a. m. and twelve m., 24 to 152 per cent increased growth was shown. A compartment the same size, not treated with the gas, was used as a check.

These experiments as a whole indicate that the carbon dioxide content of air and of organic manures should receive more attention as an important plant food.

ABILENE 62—TERRELL 33.

Abilene wins the big figures over Terrell in her key rate for fire insurance, but we don't approve of that kind of figures. Think of it! Abilene people must pay insurance on a basis, of a 62-cent key rate, and the people of Terrell have gotten their key rate down to 33 cents. Something ought to be done to secure a lower rate for Abilene, and that something should be done at once. In the more than 20 years the present owners have had charge of The Reporter we have paid out for insurance almost the value of the entire plant. Suppose we could have bought the insurance at one-third less?—we might have owned an automobile by this time! Who knows?

The above is respectfully referred to our city fathers, who are always seeking some way to help the people of Abilene.—Abilene Daily Reporter.

Many of the towns of Texas are waking up to the fact that they are paying more money in fire insurance premiums than is necessary. Few have too much insured, but slack fire-prevention ordinances and inefficient fire-fighting equipment makes the hazard great, and the insurance premiums in keeping with it.

During the past year Plainview's city council has taken steps in the direction of fire prevention and improvement in equipment so that the key rate has been reduced from 72c to 54c, and other reductions are in sight.

SWAT THE FLY.

When he rouses you at dawn
From a rare and rosy dream,
To the table follows you,
Dipping in the jug of cream,
Swimming in the coffee cups,
Stealing sugar on the sly,
Skating on the butter plate,
Swat the fly.

When he seeks the kitchen, there
Over pots and pans to roam,
While the damp and soapy sink
Is his happy little home,
Swarming on the meat and fish,
Skipping traps and poison by,
Swat the fly.

When he finds you on the porch,
In a hammock, full of bliss,
From the sweetest girl on earth
Just about to steal a kiss,
And he buzzes in between
In a manner far from shy,
Turning joy to sudden wrath,
Swat the fly.

When he's crawling on the floor,
When he's sailing through the air,
When he's droning on the pane,
When he's tangled in your hair,
When he's roosting upside down,
On the ceiling smooth and high,
Swat the fly.

HOGS AND REVENUE.

A Plainview man took a carload of classy porkers down to Fort Worth last week. There were sixty-eight of them, and he topped the market. When his hogs had been weighed the buyer gave the Plainview man a check for $2,437.74.

That is something to think about—nearly $2,500 for one carload of hogs! This Plainview man's example ought to be an inspiration to other Panhandle farmers.

Such cases as this convince the Daily Panhandle that, as it has often said, the country must be developed if Panhandle towns are to grow. Pigs will aid the growth of the country, and, in passing, we can't help being optimistic about the opening of the Amarillo packing house.—Daily Panhandle.

The Fort Worth markets have become among the most dependable in the country. The prices paid are seldom under Kansas City or Chicago.

Hog raising is destined to be one of the best paying industries in West Texas, and the South Plains will keep the lead it now has. There's no discounting the fact that plenty of alfalfa every season and assured grain crops will give the Plainview country an edge over all other parts of the Southwest. There are being shipped from Plainview and contiguous territory thousands of dollars' worth of hogs each week. If a good market can be afforded nearer the center of the industry in West Texas, unquestionably it will have ample supply of raw material.

The Jitney Gas and Oil Company has been organized. It will operate in Williamson County. There are 150,000 shares of stock at 5c each.

Chicago is walking and riding in ice wagons and "jitneys" as the result of a strike affecting 14,000 street car employees.

In Greece the war party, including followers of M. Venizelos, who recently resigned as premier on account of his policy in favor of war on the side of the allies, won out in the elections in Athens and throughout the rest of the kingdom.

To the marriage of the daughter of Speaker Champ Clark an invitation was extended to all Missouri to attend. Individual invitations were not sent. The Dallas News cartoonist very forcibly suggests the question, "What if They All Accept?"

A special session of the Legislature of Louisiana has passed a bill making the business of sugar refining a public utility, and has passed a rigid anti-trust law, provided for a constitutional convention subject to the ratification of the voters.

"OPPORTUNITY."

Recurrence of opportunity is shown in the careers of many men, who failing to seize one opportunity, took advantage of the next. Opportunity awaits us all, limited only by our capacity for execution. It is always offering itself. The man who can recognize opportunity and has capacity for doing and will act, is the man who will succeed. The man of poor vision fails to see the detailed beauties of nature. The beautiful flowers appear a mere blur to him. The man with keen vision sees the detail with exactness. The flower is the same, the capacity for seeing different.—From The Plainview Evening Herald. Reprinted in the Dallas Evening Journal, June 15.

THE "IDEAL" NEWSPAPER.

The New York Evening Post has been trying to find out what constitutes an ideal newspaper, and in pursuance of that object has awarded a prize for a description of what it terms "that elusive—not to say unthinkable—entity." Of particular interest in the article is the calling of attention to the ever-increasing power of the right-thinking press, popularly supposed to have reached its summit and begun a descent with the passing of Greeley, Dana and other editors "of the old school."

"Three institutions there are which exercise a most cogent influence upon how the American public thinks," says the Evening Post's essayist. "They are the public school system, the Christian Church and the press of the country. The schools never reach more than 20 per cent of the population at one time, and even to that portion of the public which they do reach their sphere of influence is limited. The appeal of the church is probably even less universal, as census figures indicate that at least 60 per cent of the populace have no expressed religious convictions of any sort. This leaves a scant 40 per cent who may attend church once in a while—once a week at most—while the press is preaching to all the people, every day, week in and week out. For by far the greater majority it is the only educator, and its influence upon all classes is a fact so evident as to need no demonstration."

Is not this a reasonably clear exposition that the American press, in its more important manifestations, is very true, and that one can point to no individual publication and say, "Here is the ideal newspaper"? It is perhaps fortunate that such is the case; the field is open for zestful originality instead of dull imitation. There are papers to meet the demands of each class, and of every class, of specialized interests and of all interests. The "freedom of the press" is no wider than the people demand and permit.

not through their laws, but through their patronage. A newspaper's power exists because of the approval of its readers, and it has no influence whatever when this approval is withdrawn. A newspaper which through a period of years holds the unwavering trust of the people, is at least making an honest effort toward idealism.—Kansas City Journal.

"Miss Falba Reed was at the piano as Miss Olive Reed sang 'O, Lovely Night,' and she also accompanied Mrs. P. N. Bishop, of Waco, sister of the bridegroom, who sang the nuptial selection. Entering to the wedding march, little Miss Jimmie Mae Gregory, who was ring bearer, preceded the bride and bridegroom, and upon reaching the altar, the Rev. Duncan performed the ring ceremony. The bride was attired in a gown of wisteria silk, with trimmings of real lace and chiffon, and carried a bridal bouquet of white rosebuds.

REV. F. M. NEAL

Interest in the protracted meeting being held at the First Methodist Church by Rev. F. M. Neal, conference evangelist, and the pastor, Rev. J. W. Story, continues.

Large crowds are in attendance every evening, and the morning services are well attended. Professor Huckabee is leading the singing, and his solos are particularly pleasing.

Last night Rev. Neal preached on the sin of idolatry. "Whenever you let anything take the place of God—whether it be the love for a prize yielding, Hereford, Polled Angus, Gallo-way, Holstein, or a Jersey 'dogie'—you are guilty of the sin of idolatry," he said. "Seek ye first the kingdom of God." The neglect of things spiritual for things temporal and material is one of the most common sins of the age.

GOLD DEPOSITS IN ALASKA.

United States Geological Survey Investigates Prospects in Iditarod-Ruby Region.

Though it is the purpose of the United States Geological Survey to extend its investigations to all parts of Alaska, it sometimes happens that it is impossible to do geologic work in advance of actual mineral discoveries by the prospector. The Survey, however, attempts to follow up the reported new discoveries of valuable minerals by surveys and investigations as soon as means permit. A report on work inspired by the discovery of gold in the Innoko district in 1906 has been issued by the Survey as Bulletin 578, and is entitled "The Iditarod-Ruby Region, Alaska," by Henry M. Eakin.

The investigation sees to have developed the fact that geologic conditions favorable to the occurrence of auriferous deposits are repeated in many places in this part of Alaska, a fact that augurs well for the future of the mining industry in this region, notwithstanding the fact that the workable gold placers thus far developed are limited to comparatively few small areas.

STACK YOUR GRAIN.

Unless some unforeseen calamity should occur, the wheat crop this year will exceed the phenomenal crop of last year, and will probably be more than 700,000,000 bushels of winter wheat alone. This means that the threshing outfits, railroads, elevators, etc., will be crowded to the utmost and a great part of the grain will stand in the fields for weeks. Therefore, it should be stacked.

Stacking will save grain and straw, which otherwise might be spoiled in wet weather.

Stacking will put grain through a complete sweat, which will improve quality.

Threshing from the stack requires less help than shock threshing, which will equalize the cost of stacking.

Stacking furnishes good storage with absolutely no cost which would prevent glutting the market at any one time.

The grain must be removed for early working of the soil. Stacking makes it possible to plow following harvesting. Early plowing is one of the greatest factors in increasing the yield. Discing the land early is the next best thing.

A Plainview man took a carload of classy porkers down to Fort Worth last week. There were sixty-eight of them, and he topped the market. When his hogs had been weighed the buyer gave the Plainview man a check for $2,437.74. That is something to think about. Nearly $2,500 for one carload of hogs. This Plainview man's example ought to be an inspiration to other Panhandle farmers.—Amarillo Panhandle.

That carload of hogs was brought to marketable weight by the infusion of a few acres of alfalfa and a few acres of maize. These acres were probably planted and cultivated by one man, at the expense of his own labor and the accompanying "overhead" charges, including the board and clothes of his family. Perhaps after all the deductions were made he had only a few hundred dollars of actual profit. But in the meantime he lived comfortably, was a good citizen, sent his children to school and took a man's part in upholding the laws and morals of his community and State. That is the real life. That is success. That is the gratification of a normal and honorable ambition. And it is not patented or copyrighted. Anybody is at liberty to follow the recipe. The hogs were needed. They contributed to the food stores of the people. The man who marketed them performed a useful public service and prospered himself simultaneously. Nobody can do better than that. It is the natural, manly and right thing to do—to get one's living by useful service—to shelter one's family by personal enterprise. When we contrast the scheme of life as pursued by the Plainview citizen with the schemes of some other the advantages in favor of the former immediately appear. He does not harangue his neighbors from the vantage point of the street corner or through the public prints in a vain effort to convince them they are oppressed and misgoverned and wronged, either by their duly chosen servants or by "capitalism." He does not count the minutes in his workday and demand that all others shall conform, thereby reducing the common output and enhancing the price. On the contrary, he thinks ahead, takes advantage of every good hour for work, brings his fields to fruition and, in due course, takes his hogs to market. Then he does it all in upholding the laws and morals of his community and State. That is the real life. That is success. That is the gratification of a normal and honorable ambition. And it is not patented or copyrighted. Anybody is at liberty to follow the recipe. The hogs were needed. They contributed to the food

KANSAS CITY STOCK

MARKET IN DETAIL.

KANSAS CITY STOCK YARDS, June 14.—The Kansas City cattle market held steady to strong in the face of weaker prices elsewhere. Here the run was moderate, being about 2,000 less than a month ago, and about the same as a year ago. Quality, however, was well suited to local and shipping needs, carrying enough finish to interest the special trades and at the same time enough medium beef to make up the rack and file for killers' use. In the finished classes of heavy, mediums, and light weights, sales were reported at $8.75 to $9.15, the latter price being paid for a load of 779-pound steers and heifers mixed. Western steers sold at $8.25 to $8.75.

On the quarantine side, sharp competition was evident, and prices ruled strong to 10 cents higher. About 19 carloads were on sale. Steers brought $6.50 to $7.65.

The supply of stockers and feeders was short of requirements, and prices ruled strong to 10 cents higher, and, quality considered, the highest this year. Inquiries are increasing from Eastern states. Last week an Illinois feeder took a carload of 735-pound steers and heifers, mixed, at $8.80.

Packers here are having trouble to keep the hog market down to Chicago's level, and last week they paid more here than in Chicago. Today they started to line up the market by taking off 25 to 30 cents, but in that they were not fully successful, and their purchases averaged as high as at the lake market. Shippers paid up to $7.75, and packers' droves cost $7.25 to $7.50, compared with $7.15 to $7.50 in Chicago.

Increasing supplies in the East and lower prices sent spring lambs off 50 to 75 cents, making a break of $1.25 in the past four days. The top price today for springs was $10.35. Sheep were off 15 to 25 cents.

Official receipts, Kansas City, today were 6,500 cattle, 13,000 hogs, and 7,000 sheep.

Watson & Morrison, of Plainview, had two loads of Hale County hogs on the Fort Worth market Monday.

Saturday Vega celebrated with a big picnic the anniversary of the removal of the county seat of Oldham County from Tascosa to Vega.

ALL NATIONS INVITED TO INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS.

Spreading Knowledge Concerning Better Farming Methods Object of Exposition.

To attend the International Dry Farming Congress at Denver, Colo., the Department of State of the United States has issued invitations, through its diplomatic corps, to all the foreign nations.

The purpose of this exposition is the spread of knowledge concerning better farming methods, especially in regions having light or irregular rainfall; and primarily the teaching of conservation of moisture through scientific tillage methods.

Dry farming and irrigated farming are practiced in the Plainview country. Hale County made a creditable showing at the International Dry Farming Congress at Wichita, Kansas, last year, and the exhibit was prepared "on the spur of the moment." Already plans are laid to send the cream of the exhibits at the Hale County Fair to Denver, and the wise farmers of this section are preparing now for their individual exhibits.

FORMER PLAINVIEW PASTOR PREACHES ON SUNDAY CLOSING.

Rev. S. A. Barnes, of the Ervay Street Methodist Church, Dallas, and formerly pastor of the Methodist Church here, is quoted in the Dallas Evening Journal of Monday as follows: "Vile citizenship, degraded womanhood and immoral manhood is the sure result of the desecration of the Holy Sabbath," declared the Rev. S. A. Barnes, pastor of the Ervay Street Methodist Church, in the first of a series of sermons on "Sabbath Observance" yesterday morning at the church.

"Is the end of the Sabbath physical?" he asked. "If so, then let us throw open the city to physical enjoyments. Is the end of the Sabbath educational? If so, instruct your libraries to issue books, and, through the means of municipal ownership, pave the way for literary accomplishments and studies on that day. Is it social? If so, let us sanction dancing parties and other forms of social life. Is it commercial? If so, open our big business establishments and let there resound through this city the hum of giant machines and the strenuous activity of a busy day. "No. The Sabbath is none of these. It is for the worship of the spiritual and religious.

in the time of man's innocence—Eden. And it is the basis upon which the moral life of all time must rest. The Bible is full of the divine origin of the Sabbath."

Kratzer & Bohannon

First Door North of Alfalfa Lumber Co.

To Prospective Land Buyers:

I have about 2,000 acres of very fine irrigated and irrigable lands in the demonstrated Shallow Water Belt near Plainview, Texas, the biggest irrigation well in the county for sale, high class improvements, of all kinds, about 200 acres of alfalfa, three 200-ton silos, about 1000 acres in cultivation; first-class residences, barns, sheds, tools of all necessary kind, the best improved and most conveniently located stock farm in Hale County for sale.

Forty four head of high-grade Percheron mares from Colorado; a registered Percheron stallion, one of the best. A registered blue-ribbon jack, about 500 head of hogs, etc., all of which go with the property; 1668 acres of this land is in one body. About 600 acres subject to irrigation from wells on the property; 4 1-2 miles S. E. of Plainview, district school on the property. This 1668 acres will be sold as whole or subdivided to suit purchasers; no cash payment demanded. Will be sold on twenty years time.

The Syndicate, the Texas Land & Development Company, object to my advertisements and through their objections I have received a telegram from citizens of Plainview. For the information of prospective purchasers, I quote below their telegram and my reply, which states my position:

"Dr. R. R. White,
Hotel LaSalle, Chicago, Ill.

A number of your ad boards are up on main roads as follows: "See Dr. White's irrigated farms before you buy, nearer town for less money; no cash payment required, twenty years time." These signs are demoralizing the handling of prospectors by the Syndicate and we feel that in justice to them and the Plainview District that it would be wise for you to so change the wording of them that it will not interfere with the handling of prospectors in this territory. In making this suggestion we have only the best interest of the Plainview District at heart. We hope you can see Mr. Ayers while in Chicago and make satisfactory wording for the sign boards.

Knight, Slaton, Anderson, Hughes, Lancaster, Garrison, Gidney."

"Anderson, Gidney and Others,
Plainview, Texas

Have no fight to make on Syndicate; appreciate their development, but realize they are not prompted by philanthropic motives, it's a business proposition. My purchases ante-dated theirs. I paid real money of my own for my property and improvements. My lands are for sale and I feel that this is the year to sell them. By right of priority of ownership I have the right to advertise and sell and propose to make an aggressive campaign to that effect. I am prepared to subdivide, improve and sell my lands on a credit. If no prospectors come to Plainview except through the Syndicate efforts I would not so advertise, but fortunately there are others and its to these others that I want to sell. I would like to comply with the request of my friends but my interests suggest that I aggressively endeavor to make such sales as I may legitimately be able to make. — R. R. White."

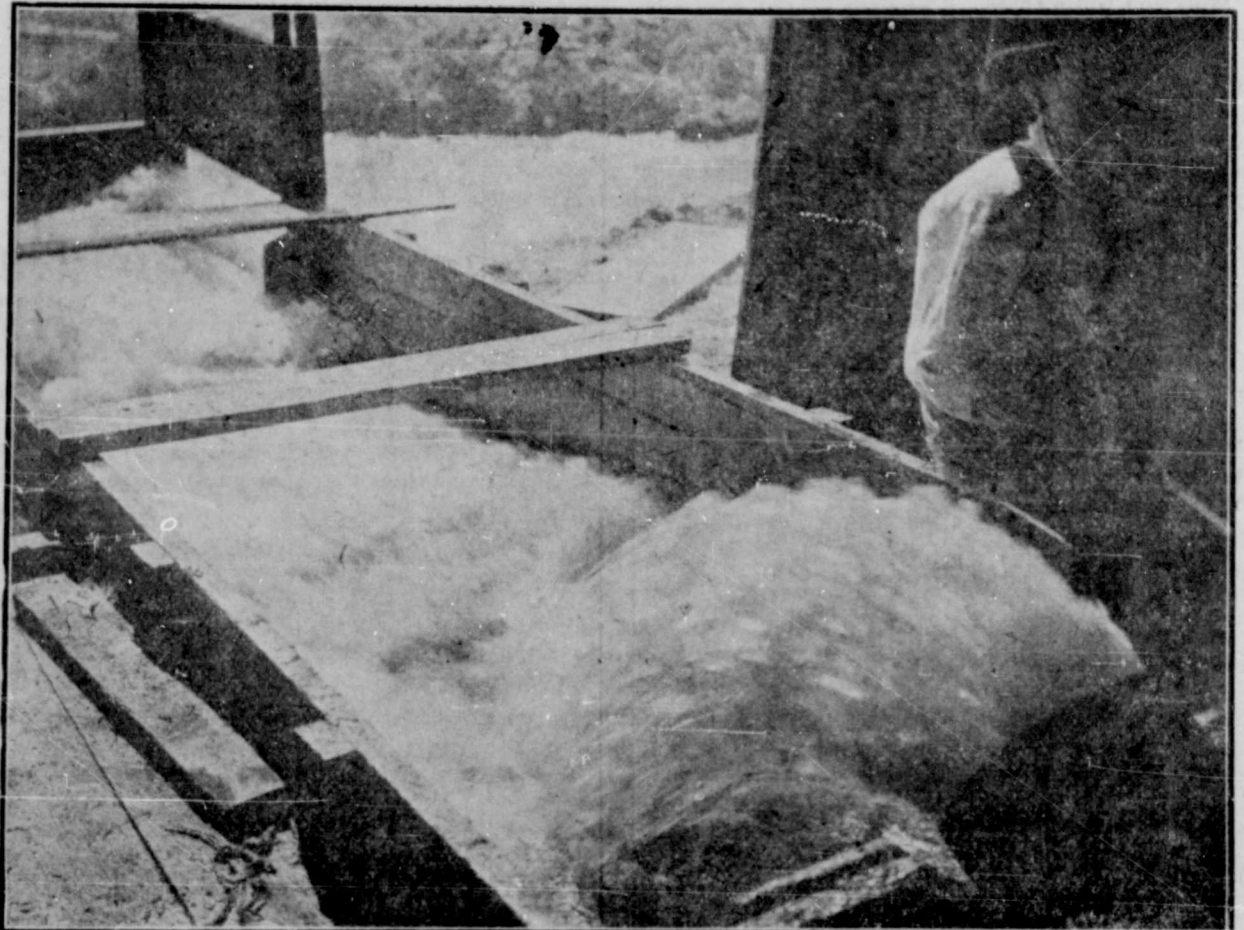

I do not want to sell to anyone who is under obligations to buy from the Syndicate. I am opposed to any unfair means, but I do want to sell to anyone who wants to buy and who is not under obligations to the Syndicate.

I dare say I have spent more real money of my own in the development and therefore in the advertising of the Plainview country than any individual associated or connected with the Syndicate and I feel that they are going too far in trying to prevent me from such legitimate advertising as I may deem proper.

If you want a cracker-jack stock farm, fully equipped with stock and implements; near enough town to take advantage of the colleges for the larger children and a school on the property for the smaller ones, buy the 1668 acres; if you want a smaller farm, irrigated and improved to suit you, I will sub-divide it. If you want to go further out near the Aiken country, I will fit you out with an improved, irrigated farm first-class and to your liking at $85.00 per acre. Arrangements can be made to buy any of this property without any cash payment, twenty years time and moderate interest. If you are under financial obligations to the Syndicate, I will not sell to you unless you first discharge in full your obligation to them.

See Dan White or any reputable real estate agent in Plainview, who will receive a reasonable commission from me if he sells you this property. My business interests elsewhere prevent me from giving the property any personal attention, therefore, I desire to sell it. Buy this on a basis of paying itself out and perhaps double your money within five years.

ANSLEY KNOWS PLAINVIEW COUNTRY AND TALKS IT.

B. T. Ansley knows the conditions existing in the stock-raising business in the Plainview country. That's his business and his hobby, and years of study of the game has given him knowledge of it. The Daily Panhandle, of Amarillo, reports an interview with Mr. Ansley as follows:

"An instance of the market value of the Red Duroc hog is found in the exhibition on Plainview streets of a male and a female whose combined weight exceeds 1,500 pounds.

"B. T. Ansley has returned from the Plainview vicinity, and declares that that region is rapidly becoming a hog-breeding center. The thoroughbred strains include the Red Duroc, the Poland-China, the Hani White, the Berkshire, the Tamworth, and the branch of the latter porcine family known as the "Belted Hog," whose distinction race mark is a broad white belt encircling a black body.

"In immediate Plainview vicinity there are now probably five thousand Pedit hogs—the most popular of which, so far, is the Red Duroc, which, in the last two years, has spread its family over many different localities of the Southern and Central Plains, with an ever increasing breeding demand.

"The values of the blooded breeding hogs of the Plainview region will probably approximate two hundred thousand dollars, while the cost of the hog-breeding farm improvements and handling facilities represents tens of thousands of dollars.

"Talking of hogs is, of course, suggestive of alfalfa, of which the Plainview vicinity has this year about ten thousand acres, equally, perhaps, divided between shallow well water irrigation and rainfall raising.

"The irrigated product is cut five times per season, with an aggregate yield which probably exceeds 1½ tons per acre, while the rainfall product is cut three times and returns an aggregate average of a ton per acre.

"The Plainview region has a great alfalfa future—both as irrigated and rainfall planting can be practically indefinitely added to."

PROSPECTIVE UNIVERSITY STUDENTS SHOULD READ NEW BOOKLET.

We have lately received from the University of Texas a handsomely illustrated booklet of 20 pages entitled "Why Joe Harris Came to the University of Texas." It is neatly and attractively gotten up and is intended to give the prospective student a clear idea of just what he may expect if he matriculates in the University of Texas. The introduction gives the purpose of the booklet in the following words:

"Joe Harris went to his father's business from high school. He was sixteen years old. During three years he traveled much, and he was making good. Last October Joe expressed his opinion that the State University was extravagant, and that it was the loitering place of a lot of easy-going fellows. This statement was challenged by a former schoolmate of the boy, who had spent three years at the University.

"The young men became intensely interested. As a result of their discussion a wager was made—Joe was to come to Austin and investigate the University. If what he said was true, Tom Carter agreed to quit school; on the other hand, Joe said that if Car-

MY CONSCIENCE.

Sometimes my Conscience, says he,
"Don't you know me?"
And I, says I, skered through and through,
"Of course I do.
You are a nice chap ever' way,
I'm here to say!
You make me cry, you make me pray,
And all of them good things that away—
That is, at night. Where do you stay
Durin' the day?"

And then my Conscience says one't more,
"You know me—shore?"
"Oh, yes," says I, a-tremblin' faint,
"You're jes' a saint!
Your ways is all so holy-right,
I love you better ever' night
You came around—'tel plim daylight,
When you air out o' sight!"

And then my Conscience sort o' grits
His teeth, and spits
On his two hands and grabs, of course,
Some old remose,
And beats me with the big butt-end
O' that thing—'tel my closest friend
O' that thing—'tel my closest friend
'Ud hardly know me. "Now," says he,
'Be kerful as you'd orto be
And allus think o' me!"

The self-same busy little fly
Is surely no nonentity,
Although on top of currant pie
He loses his identity.

And still this self-same little fly
Is mighty hard to stop

For that's no place to swat.
—Geneva Free Press-Times.

And, having got his fill of pie,

The pesky little busy fly

And when he's filled himself with milk
His wings begin to flutter;
He rises from his lacteal bath

If the first man, with primal vim,
Had swatted the first fly,
We should not now be seeking him
To swat him in the eye.

But that first fly, in years remote,
Begot his millions more;
The millions multiplied in turn,
And now there're flies galore.

HOW TO KEEP FLIES OFF LIVESTOCK AT LIGHT EXPENSE.

This is fly time. Livestock is harassed by flies, and deaths are frequent when flies are worst. Dr. R. P. Marsteller, of the Department of Veterinary Science at the A. and M. College, tells how to prevent flies, in the following formulas:

Formula No. 1.
Fish oil, one hundred parts; oil of tar, fifty parts; crude carbolic acid, one part. Apply with small hand spray. One application will usually last for two days.

Formula No. 2.
Fish oil, three parts; kerosene, one part. Apply with small spray pump.

Formula No. 3.
Crude carbolic acid, nine parts; fish oil, ten parts. Apply with a cloth or sponge that has been dipped into the liquid and then squeezed partly dry. If it is rubbed in it may cause blistering.

COMITY VALUATIONS NEARLY FOUR MILLION.

LITTLEFIELD, Lamb County, Tex., June 17.—The Commissioners' Court of Lamb County has been checking over the Tax Assessor's assessments for 1915. The total valuation will be approximately three million eight hundred thousand dollars, a substantial increase over last year's totals. Crops are very fine and conditions in the county are satisfactory.

WILSON SAYS READ THE BIBLE.

Woodrow Wilson says: "I am sorry for men who do not read the Bible every day. I wonder why they deprive themselves of the strength and of the pleasure. It is one of the most singular books in the world, for every time you open it some old text that you have read a score of times suddenly beams with a new meaning. There is no other book that I know of which this is true; there is no other book that yields its meaning so personally, that seems to fit itself so intimately to the very spirit that is seeking its guidance."

ter's estimate of the place was correct he was going to the State University for a college education.

"Joe's letters home are printed in this booklet. They will interest you."

E. J. Matthews, Austin, Texas, is registrar and has charge of the lists of those to whom the booklet will be sent. Application to him will secure a copy.

GASOLINE KILLS ANTS.

A Canyon City man claims that by pouring a quart of gasoline in an ant hill and lighting it, all the ants will be killed. In nine days the operation should be repeated, to kill ants hatched from eggs still fertile. Three applications, he says, will rid the hill of ants and larvae.

PREPARING GRAIN-BINS.

Farm and Ranch.

Let no chances be taken with grain after it is threshed. It would be a misfortune to risk threshed grain in the open field in sacks under leaky roofs or in pens where rats have access to it. The value of wheat and oats is too great to permit any of the grain to be wasted if it can be saved.

There is always considerable anxiety in waiting for the thresher. Some less is apt to occur in the fields, even when the weather is favorable. But when there are rains and storms the grower may be pardoned for his nervousness.

All preparations for threshing should be made before threshing is begun. By making plans and having arrangements concluded before the work of threshing is begun there is far less danger of loss.

Unless the wheat and oats are to be marketed as soon as threshed it is best to have a grain bin ready to take care of the crop. Even when the grower expects to market soon, he does not know what a day may bring in weather. Consequently he can well afford to be on the safe side by providing a grain bin. When seed wheat and oats are to be saved, or when wheat for home use or feed oats are saved, the grower had best have a grain bin.

The kind of bin is a question that each grower must settle. Original price, durability and efficiency in saving the grain will be the principal points to consider in selecting the bin.

Metal bins are growing in popularity. They are movable, secure against rats, convenient, durable and comparatively cheap. All that is necessary to do when the bin is delivered is to set it up and store the grain in it, as it needs no building nor expensive labor. Furthermore, the metal bin may be used for other purposes when not full of grain.

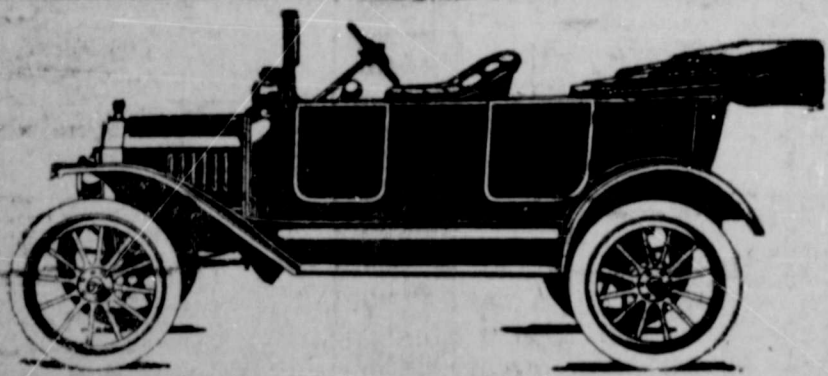

No man wants to be dependent upon the weather or the markets. All want to use their own judgment in selling. This cannot be done unless there is a grain bin secure against waste and deterioration.
