MAYOR DORSETT MAY VETO MEASURE COUNCIL PASSED

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION ARISES OVER STREET SPRINKLING AND NIGHTWATCHMAN.

WILL PAY BOUNTY ON RATS

Refer Matter of Street Crossing for Central High School to Committee of Two.

The session of the City Council last night was a rather turbulent one. The aldermen voted to buy the street sprinkler and employ a man to sprinkle the streets of the business district at the expense of the city. Heretofore private subscription by the merchants has cared for this expense. Action was taken also to have the city employ a nightwatchman, whose salary has also been raised by private subscription. A petition from the merchants of the town asking the city to relieve them of the burden was responsible for the action of the aldermen.

Mayor Dorsett stated this morning that he was taking under advisement the matter of vetoing the measure passed by the council. The matter of finances for other improvements needed now, or soon to be needed, has caused the Mayor to take this stand. Improvement in the septic tanks for the removal of sewage will be needed at an early date, Mayor Dorsett says, and he wishes to have funds in the treasury to care for this improvement when it becomes necessary. During Mr. Dorsett's administration as mayor the city has been able to meet all accounts promptly, and its credit is accepted throughout the section at par. The Mayor is proud of this record, and wishes to keep the city out of debt as far as possible.

"We have paid out some five hundred dollars for mules, have purchased a wagon for the use of the city and hired a man at a salary of fifty dollars a month in order to keep the town clean," said Mayor Dorsett. "In addition to that out of the general fund we have expended two thousand dollars cash and contracted obligations for six thousand dollars, to be paid in annual payments, for the new fire truck. It seems to me that this is enough to spend in one year, when the city has only about twelve thousand dollars a year in taxes. I know that the septic tank for the disposal of sewage will need enlarging, and believe we should have the money in hand for doing this when the time arrives for it to be done, and I believe that time is not far away. The tank backs up water and overflows now when the sewers are flushed.

"Of course, later on the city might be better in shape to take up both of these propositions. At least one ought to be enough to assume now, and I would prefer the street sprinkling, for the most people are benefited by it. The people of the country, too, receive the benefit to an extent."

Will Pay Bounty for Rats.

The matter of paying a bounty for rat scalps was brought to the attention of the council by the Civic League, and the council voted to pay a bounty of one cent for every rat killed within the corporate limits of the city of Plainview. Further, they have remitted by official action the tax on all genuine rat terrier dogs, to further assist in the crusade for the destruction of the rat pest.

Investigate Walks for School.

Through a petition from the Civic League the matter of the condition of the approaches to the Central High School Building was brought up and referred to a committee composed of E. H. Humphreys and W. R. Simmons. The League is asking that concrete street crossings be placed at the Central High School Building. The grounds have been heavy with mud during the early spring rains, and it has been almost impossible for the school children to get to school without encountering mud and water.

A further petition that the council take some action to induce the placing of seats on the courthouse lawn was referred to the Young Men's Business League.

Current bills were allowed. Three cars of tourists passed through Plainview Saturday morning en route to San Francisco to the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

SID WILLIAMS WILL HOLD A MEETING FOR BAPTISTS

W. A. Brown With Celebrated Harp Will Lead Music; Has Been Here Before.

Rev. Williams is known throughout the Southwest as a forceful preacher and soul winner. He will be assisted in the meeting by W. A. Brown, who has made for himself a reputation with his unique song service. He plays a harp and sings. It is stated that he has been in Plainview before in meetings.

Hailey to Preach on "Mother."

Sunday morning will be Mothers' Day at the Plainview Baptist Church. A special program has been arranged for the Sunday School. Special music adapted to the theme is in preparation. Rev. O. L. Hailey will preach on "Mother."

The evening service will be evangelical.

JUDGE CARTER IMPROVING.

Judge J. M. Carter is improving. It was thought for a while that injuries sustained when he fell late Friday on a walk up town were serious, but he is better today.

HARRY WEST TAKES OWN LIFE WITH .38 PISTOL.

Coroner Frye Returned Verdict That He Met Death From Gun Shot From Own Hand.

This afternoon, at the I. O. O. F. Cemetery, the remains of Harry West, age thirty-eight, who took his own life Sunday afternoon at the Elk Cafe, where he worked, were interred, under direction of A. A. Hatchel, of Paxton & Oswald. The sermon was preached by Rev. O. P. Kiker.

The deceased leaves a wife and other relatives at Deming, N. M. She wined that she could not attend the funeral.

The dead body of West was found about three-fifteen Sunday afternoon at the Elk Cafe. There was a bullet hole in his head and a thirty-eight caliber revolver lying near. Two wounds, cuts, were on his face.

Coroner S. J. Frye returned a verdict that the deceased had met death from a pistol shot wound, from his own hand. L. D. Griffin was appointed administrator for the deceased's estate.

Today L. D. Hopkins, arrested on a charge of adultery, was tried in the county court and pleaded guilty. He was given the minimum fine, one hundred dollars. Hopkins is being held for violation of the Mann act, jurisdiction over which the Federal courts have.

Placing the Burden Where It Belongs

The City Council has acted wisely in taking from the merchants of the town the expense of street sprinkling and of providing a night-watchman.

These are both of community interest and benefit. Every citizen of Plainview has occasion to be on the streets of the business district, and any steps taken to make this section more comfortable is a benefit to all, and not alone to the merchants.

Every property owner in the business district receives benefit from the nightwatchman. Heretofore the merchants alone have been paying for this service, and some of the property owners, right in the heart of the city even, have not contributed. The merchants of a town are easily accessible, and often people feel that they can force them to assist in any enterprise by advancing, consciously or unconsciously, the fact that they trade with the merchant and that this places him under obligation to them. The merchant will be the first one approached for contribution for any cause.

To say that the business men should keep up the street sprinkling or nightwatchman because they are most benefited is no more sound than to say that a citizen should build the street in front of his house and maintain it, because he is most benefited; or that the people in the section of the town most accessible to the water or sewer mains should pay for them.

Taxation is for the purpose of raising revenue to be expended so that the majority benefit most from it, and a distribution of expenditure for water and sewer mains, street maintenance and construction, street crossings, fire protection, police protection and general conditions of sanitation and comfort is just and equitable.

It is none the less the city's office to provide police protection by night than by day. The city marshal spends the greater part of his time in the business district because he is needed most there, and this does not imply that he should be paid by the merchants alone.

Sprinkling the streets is of benefit to a majority of the people, and not merely to the merchants who have stores.

BAPTIST LAYMEN VISIT MATADOR AND HALFWAY.

People of Matador Say They Are Looking to Plainview to Lead Way in Education and Religion.

C. L. Glenn, of the Wayland Heights Addition, moved to Plainview on account of the good schools. Sunday he took with him to his old home, Matador, a company of laymen, who addressed the people of Matador on topics of interest. A laymen's organization was made and a constitution and by-laws similar to those of the Plainview Baptist Church were adopted. In the party were C. L. Glenn, T. W. Sawyer, A. C. Hatchell, R. M. Erick and Jas. D. McGowan.

The people of the Matador country are looking to Plainview as the center of religion and education for the South Plains area. They are loyal to Plainview's good schools and appreciate the wide-reaching work of her churches.

LEO M. FRANK WILL NOT BE HANGED, BUT GOES TO FARM.

Governor Slaton Commutes Sentence, Thereby Saving Atlanta Man From Gallows.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 24.—Leo M. Frank, whose death sentence for the murder of Mary Phagan was commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Slaton, began serving his term on the state prison farm a few hours later. Officials took Frank secretly by automobile and train from the Atlanta jail. Soon afterward Slaton issued a long statement giving his reasons for commuting the sentence, which was to have been executed tomorrow. When the decision became known in Atlanta, crowds gathered down town. Within three hours the demonstration had resulted in the calling out of two troops of the police force. An order followed closing all drinking places. At Marietta, the former home of Mary Phagan, Governor Slaton was hanged in effigy. The inscription on the dummy read: "John Slaton, Georgia's traitor governor."

National Guard Called Out.

At eleven o'clock tonight sixty Georgian National Guardsmen arrived at Governor Slaton's country place, near the city, and formed a cordon in front of the gate. The Governor proclaimed martial law for a distance of a half mile on each side of the house, and instructed Captain, Cheron to order the crowd of about seven hundred men and boys in front of the estate to disperse.

OBREGON MAY BECOME CHIEF OF THE CONSTITUTIONALISTS.

Villa's Right-Hand Man, Too, Has Left Mexico for Boston, Massachusetts.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—General Venustiano Carranza, original leader of the Mexican Constitutional movement, is face to face with a situation that may eliminate him as a factor in Mexican politics, unless he yields to the dictates of his commanding general, Alvaro Obregon, and other high officers in his army.

Official advices today revealed that four of Carranza's Cabinet Ministers had resigned and that General Obregon was insisting on their retention, as well as the dismissal of the members to whom they were opposed.

Marines May Not Be Landed.

Word also came to the American Government that General Jose Maytorena, the Villa-commander in Sonora, objected vigorously to the possible landing of American marines to rescue Americans in the Yaqui Valley, indicating that he would regard such action as a hostile invasion. Inasmuch as Maytorena promised to send troops to the region to protect foreigners, the American Government, which had decided to land marines only if absolutely necessary, it is understood, will consider the incident closed with the arrival of the Maytorena troops.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—General Felipe Angeles, artillery expert and right-hand man of General Francisco Villa, has left his chief and is now in the United States en route to Boston, Mass., to visit his family.

Officials here were unable to throw much light on the reasons for the departure of Angeles at a time when his services to Villa in the military campaign would seem to be vitally needed. One explanation advanced was that Angeles was coming to the United States to confer with some of the many prominent Mexicans who have been living in exile, taking no part in the revolutionary activity, but who lately have been planning to form a coalition with some of the forces in the field to enable them to get "the active moral support" which President Wilson announced in his recent statement the United States soon would give some group unless the warring factions could agree among themselves.

Permanent Break Probable.

Enrique C. Llorente, Washington representative of the Villa-Zapata Government, said he had heard absolutely nothing of the movements of Angeles. The Carranza agency gave out a statement pointing out that Angeles probably never would return to Villa's standard. The statement was as follows:

"The Constitutionalist agency is informed that General Angeles and his staff arrived in Juarez Friday night, and it is reported that Angeles intends to take refuge in the United States. Part of his staff is in El Paso and part in Juarez, but, according to the message, all declare they will not return to the front. They are keeping themselves secluded from all except their intimate friends, and all admit that the recent defeat at Leon was a virtual annihilation of the Villa soldiers and that Villa's days are numbered."

PANHANDLE MEDICAL SOCIETY IN PLAINVIEW NEXT MONTH.

Notice of meeting of the Panhandle District Medical Society has been sent out by Dr. J. J. Crume, of Amarillo. Dr. Crume is secretary and treasurer of the association. The Panhandle District Association includes twenty-six counties, and the meeting will be held in Plainview July 29 and 31.

REVIVAL WILL CONTINUE ALL THIS WEEK AND PART OF NEXT.

Interest in the Methodist revival continues. Sunday evening Rev. F. M. Neal preached to the largest congregation the Methodist Church has accommodated for several months. There have been eighteen conversions and nine accessions to the church. Rev. J. W. Story stated this morning that the meeting would continue through this week and possibly part of the next.

RUSS ARE RETREATING ALONG GALICIAN FRONT

TEUTONS AND AUSTRIANS TAKE TRENCH AFTER TRENCH FROM RUSSIANS.

ALL SOURCES CONFIRM REPORT

Germans Now as Near Lemberg As They Were Paris Last Fall; Are Confident of Success.

VIENNA, June 21, via London, 4:40 a. m.—The Russians have been in general retreat since 3 o'clock this morning along their entire front, after having been forced out of their positions on the Werezycs River, a short distance to the west of Lemberg.

German Official Report.

BERLIN, June 20, via London, 4:20 p. m.—The armies under General von Mackensen are continuing their advance upon Lemberg, the Galician capital, after capturing Grodek, and have taken Russian trenches, one after another, along a front of almost twenty-four miles to the northwest of the city, where the Muscovites are making a desperate stand, according to a statement issued today at the headquarters of the German army staff. The communication follows:

Eastern Theater.

"Russian attacks against our lines about Szawle and Augustowo were beaten off.

"Our advance in small divisions resulted in the capture of advanced positions of the enemy near Budbrzyskiel and Zalesie, each of the Przasnysz-Myszyniec road.

Southeastern Theater.

"South of the Pilica, troops under General von Woyrich have taken several advanced enemy positions during the last few days.

"The armies under General von Mackensen have taken the Grodek position. Early yesterday morning German troops and the corps of Field Marshal von Arz commenced an attack upon strongly entrenched enemy lines. After stubborn fighting, lasting until after noon, enemy trenches, one behind the other, almost along the entire front extending over a distance of twenty-four miles north of Janow (eleven miles northwest of Lemberg), Risputa and Obedynski and southeast of Rawaraska (thirty-two miles northwest of Lemberg), had been stormed. In the evening the enemy was thrown back behind the high road to Zolkiew north of Lemberg and Rawaraska. Under pressure of this defeat, the enemy also is weakened in his communication. Between Grodek and Dniester marshes the enemy is hard pressed by Austro-Hungarian troops.

"Between the Dniester marshes and the mouth of the River Stry the enemy has evacuated the southern bank of the Dniester.

Western Theater.

"North of La Basse canal and north of Arras we repulsed several partial attacks with sanguinary losses for the enemy.

"In Champagne a French division, which attacked after blowing up a trench, was shot down by our fire. French operations against our outposts in the forest of Parroy led to local attacks, in which we maintained the upper hand.

"In the Vosges Munster was heavily shelled by the French. Renewed enemy attacks in the Fecht Valley and south of that point failed.

"An enemy aircraft, one of a squadron, which dropped bombs on laeghem in Flanders without doing damage of military importance, was shot down. Another enemy aircraft was shot down near Vouziers, in Champagne."

LONDON, June 20, 10:35 p. m.—After seven weeks' battling across Galicia, during which the Russians have been thrown back more than 150 miles, the Austro-Germans are today as close to Lemberg as were the Germans to Paris after their first dash across France last fall.

Never, perhaps, since before the battle of the Marne have the Teutonic allies appeared so confident of success. Having failed in their original plan of crushing France and then turning to Russia, they have reversed the order of their strategy and now, judging by the expenditure of life and ammunition in

How to Treat Pellagra

By JOSEPH GOLDBERGER, Surgeon in Charge of Pellagra Investigations; C. H. WARING, Assistant Surgeon, and DAVID G. WILLETS, Technical Assistant, United States Public Health Service.

Since the publication of the communication on the Cause and Prevention of Pellagra (Goldberger, Public Health Reports, September 11, 1914), a large number of inquiries have been received asking for detailed directions as to the treatment and prevention of the disease. As it has been impracticable to reply to these as fully as appears desirable, it was decided to prepare and publish a brief summary of our conclusions as to the nature of pellagra, and with these as a basis to outline the treatment and means of prevention.

On taking up the study of pellagra, one of the first and most insistent questions that confronted us was that of its communicability. Our studies, the general tenor of which was briefly indicated in the letter published September 11, 1914, and the details of which will be embodied in our completed reports, have led us to conclude (1) that pellagra is not a communicable (neither infectious nor contagious) disease, but that it is essentially of dietary origin; (2) that it is dependent on some yet undiscovered fault in a diet in which the animal or leguminous protein component is disproportionately small and the nonleguminous vegetable component disproportionately large; and (3) that no pellagra develops in those who consume a mixed, well balanced, and varied diet, such, for example, as furnished by the Government to the enlisted men of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps.

Treatment.

DIET.—The experience of reliable observers has over and over again shown that we have no specific medicinal treatment for pellagra. At the same time, we find that even the earliest students of the disease make mention of the value of nutritious food. The early observers were led to feed their patients because they found that, as a general thing, the disease occurred then, as it does now, mainly in the poor and the badly nourished. It was not and is not a rare observation, however, to find individuals suffering from pellagra who, to all outward appearance, are perfectly well nourished. Such observations, naturally enough, gave rise to doubts and to skepticism as to any essential causative relation between undernourishment and pellagra. Indeed, such observations justify the inference that pellagra is not a disease of malnutrition, provided that by undernourishment or malnutrition we mean no more than is ordinarily understood, as some degree of starvation.

The comparatively recent studies that have definitely established beriberi as a "deficiency" disease, a disease of "undernourishment" or starvation in a sense hardly dreamed of before, have given a new and added significance to the more recent studies of nutrition and have opened a practically virgin field to the student of epidemiology and therapy.

"If now we consider pellagra as a fault of nutrition ("undernourishment" or "starvation") in this new and special sense (that is, as in some way analogous to beriberi or scurvy), we at once get a new and more sympathetic tolerance for the reports of beneficial results not only from the use of "nourishing" food alone, but also from those reports of unusually favorable results following the administration of this, that, or the other form of arsenic or other medicine. For on closer inquiry it will be found that in those instances where there seems to be reason for believing that the favorable results claimed for this or that drug appear to have a substantial basis in fact, the credit usually claimed for the medicine alone must, to say the least, be shared by the modification in the diet that is invariably found to have been made. Recurrences in such instances are not rare and not hard to understand when one reflects that, having gotten well, the natural tendency is to go back to one's ordinary diet, and this usually the winter diet, to some of the characters of which we will again refer.

On the basis of the foregoing conclusions and in the light of the general considerations presented, we would recommend that so long as clinical evidences of pellagra are manifest the patient should be given and urged to take (if necessary tube fed) an abundance of fresh milk, eggs, fresh lean meat, beans, and peas (fresh or dried, not canned).

We are not to be understood as saying that all cases will, or can, in this or in any other way be saved. We fear that there will always be patients who even in their first attacks are, and will be, beyond hope of recovery.

MILK.—Fresh milk alone or in alternation with buttermilk should be given freely. It is probably the most valuable single food, and adults should be urged to take not less than a pint and a half to two pints in 24 hours.

EGGS.—Fresh eggs should be allowed freely. In addition to the milk and meat, an adult should take not less than four eggs a day. In certain of the severer forms it may be necessary to give the eggs in the form of albumin water, preferably with lemon or orange juice.

MEAT.—The meat should be fresh lean meat. Whether all fresh meats are equally valuable in treatment we do not know; future studies will have to determine this. Our experience has been with beef alone. This may be served as scraped beef, as a roast, or as steak. Where mastication is painful, meat juice may be given instead. An adult should be urged to take at least a half pound of lean meat a day in addition to the milk, eggs, and legumes. It may be necessary in some instances to work up gradually to the point where these quantities can be taken.

LEGUMES.—We have been much impressed with the favorable results following the use of beans and peas alone. The beans and peas should be fresh or dried, not canned. A palatable pea or bean soup should be prepared and should be given freely. In addition to or in alternation with the soup, the beans or peas should be served and eaten in any one of the other well-known forms.

In cases presenting marked gastro-intestinal symptoms, the diet of the patient may be limited to the foregoing articles. It may here be emphasized that diarrhea is no contra-indication to the full feeding.

In cases presenting only moderate, or no gastro-intestinal symptoms there may be added, in restricted amounts, oatmeal, rice, and barley as cereals, potatoes and onions as fresh vegetables, fresh or dried (not canned) fruits, and wheat or rye bread or biscuits.

As long as symptoms of pellagra are perceptible, we prefer to exclude all corn products; not that corn is not a wholesome and nutritious feed, but because the occurrence of pellagra is commonly though by no means exclusively associated with the consumption of a diet in which corn forms a disproportionately large part. Similarly, a reduction in the amount of other carbohydrate articles, such as the heavier cereal breakfast foods, molasses, jams, or starch, should, we think, be ordered, if, on analysis of the patient's pre-pellagrous dietary, some such articles or combination of articles appear to have formed a very conspicuous portion of the diet.

After all symptoms of pellagra have disappeared corn and other starchy foods in moderation and guarded with an abundance of milk, meat, or legumes and preferably with all of these, may unhesitatingly be allowed.

MEDICATION.—As has already been sufficiently indicated, we have no medicine that has any specific value. Tonics may, of course, be used and may at times be helpful, but as a rule they are not needed. Special disturbing symptoms, particularly pain and insomnia, should be treated on general principles.

For the gastro-intestinal symptoms the best treatment is the diet.

It is of vital importance to conserve the appetite. Anything that interferes with this must be regarded as injurious.

REST AND NURSING.—We consider rest in both body and mind as important, if not essential, in all cases, but particularly in the severer forms. The patient should be carefully guarded from fatigue and depressing influences of all kinds. Specific and detailed instructions should be given as to diet. In the severer forms food should be ordered, like medicine, to be given at stated intervals. This requires careful and intelligent nursing.

CLIMATE.—In the acute stage it is advantageous to protect the patient from the sun. A change of climate is valuable in proportion to the degree and character of the change of diet it involves. It is not essential, for the correction in the diet may equally

Baking Helps

Learn to Regulate the Heat of Your Oven

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and keep an even surface. Have your oven moderate at first, until the cake is fully risen; then increase the heat, so as to brown it over quickly. Extreme heat stiffens the dough. If you stiffen the outside of the cake before the rising is complete, you stop the rising process. Then the leavening gas, forming inside, will bulge up the center, where the dough is still soft, and spoil the shape of the cake.

NOTE.—Biscuits or other pastries made from stiff dough, that are cut into shapes for the oven, bake in a hot oven. This is because the cut surfaces of the dough do not sear over, but rather leave the pores open, allowing the leavening gas to escape and the heat to penetrate readily. Small ovens cool quickly; therefore they should be made several degrees hotter than a larger oven, and the less the door is opened the better. Do not attempt to bake bread and pastry together. Bread requires prolonged, moderate baking—pastry the reverse.

Have a strong underheat for baking powder preparations, especially pastry.

These are only a few of the many baking helps found in the K C Cook's Book—a copy of which may be secured by sending the colored certificate taken from a 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAGUES MFG. CO., Chicago.

well be made at home.

Prophylaxis.—The prevention and eradication of pellagra will depend essentially on the substitution of a mixed, well-balanced, varied diet for the restricted, one-sided diet that the individual will be found to have consumed prior to the development of symptoms.

In a very large proportion, possibly as much as one-half, of the non-institutional cases in the United States very little change, if any, in the diet available to the individual is called for, the point of chief importance being to correct the dietary eccentricity of the affected individual. As a rule, however, in order at least to increase the "margin of safety," some modification is highly desirable; some reduction in the amount of the corn ("flakes," grits, meal), or other starchy foods (cereals, syrup, starch) entering into the family diet should be insisted on.

Perhaps the most important change in the diet that we would urge is that which relates to the animal and leguminous protein component. An increased consumption of fresh (lean) meat, of fresh milk, of eggs, or of the legumes (beans and peas, fresh or dried, but not canned) and, preferably of all of these, is considered essential to give proper balance and to prevent the "fault" in the diet. The cheapest and most readily available of these are the legumes, and the poor, especially the poor of our South, should be instructed and urged to include them in, or materially to increase the proportion in which they enter into, their daily diet, especially during the late fall, winter, and spring months. There is reason for more than a suspicion that the introduction of, or the increase in, the legumes in the daily

WHEN PRESIDENT WILSON pressed the button to open the Panama-Pacific Exposition, the electric impulse that was flashed across the Continent started a great Busch-Sulzer-Diesel Engine in the Palace of Machinery. Texaco Urso Oil is the only lubricant that has ever been used on this splendid machine.

Knowing that this engine would attract great attention, the builders took particular pains to secure the best possible accessories for the production of maximum efficiency. Their choice of

was made after numerous tests.

Though the Diesel Engine is a new prime mover, it has received so much attention and study from the Lubricating Engineers of the Texas Company that we are able to lubricate it efficiently and economically, and we hold the leadership in this particular class of lubrication.

This is a fair example of Texaco Service, the service which means that we can give you an oil exactly suited to any condition of speed, heat, or pressure, for steam engines, gas engines, turbines, ice machines—anywhere a piston moves or a wheel revolves.

We invite you to get in communication with our nearest office and let one of our representatives show you the Red-Star-Green-T products of quality.

A LAND WITHOUT A SWIMMING HOLE.

The Fort Worth Record is offering free swimming lessons at the pool of the Y. M. C. A. to boys of Fort Worth over eighteen years of age who do not know how to swim.

Everyone should learn how to swim—especially every boy. It is an art easily acquired, is the best of sport and often the possession of the art is a means of preserving life.

There's not a place for the boys of Plainview to learn to swim. There's not an accessible swimming hole for miles. We have been blessed with section after section of fertile land and oceans of water underground, but no large reservoirs or creeks afford places of sport and recreation for the youngsters.

The Plainview boys are missing all the fun of the old swimming hole. There're lots and lots of grown-up men—the big boys—who would like to take a good plunge in cool water these hot days.

Can you think of anything more pleasant than a refreshing dip and swim in a clear pool of "ninety-nine and ninety-nine-hundredths per cent pure" water from a South Plains well?

Would't a good natatorium in Plainview be a profitable investment?

THE MARKETING PROBLEM.

One of the problems the Plains farmers are having to face is that of marketing. It is a demonstrated fact that the co-operative plan of marketing produce is the most successful. In order to have a steady market there must be enough truck and produce to supply the demands. For if an order is given during the season for products raised in a section and the producer cannot supply the order, the next one will be sent elsewhere. By having an abundant supply confidence in the shipping point is maintained. An individual cannot raise enough to supply a good live market, and pooling produce offers a ready solution to this problem.

The expense of maintaining an efficient manager and salesman when distributed over the business of several men almost loses its identity as an overhead cost, whereas it would be prohibitive for a single shipper.

A canning factory in connection with a warehouse for marketing is feasible, in that the surplus produce can be preserved for future sale.

This idea occurs: There should be a good sale for beet pickles during the winter months. In the Plainview country beets are grown with light cost and the canning of this vegetable and storing the product until winter sales open might be profitable.

An exceedingly interesting bulletin, "Successful Marketing," was issued this week by the Extension Service of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College. It gives the experience, not of some remote section, but of the East Texas Fruit and Truck Growers' Association, of Jacksonville. It is a concrete example of the successful marketing organization. Copies may be had on application to the Director of Extension, Clarence Ousley, College Station, Texas.

This pamphlet might prove immensely valuable to the growers of this section.

PROTECT MILK FROM THE BACTERIA-CARRYING FLY.

Flies are possibly the most dangerous bacteria carriers which are likely to come in contact with milk. These scavengers may convey the germ of typhoid fever or other contagious diseases from the sick room or excreta to the milk. Typhoid epidemics have been caused by flies spreading the germs. Milk and other food should be guarded from flies as rigorously as you would avoid exposure to disease.

Several years ago an epidemic of typhoid fever broke out in Plainview. The precautionary measures taken since that time have kept our town remarkably free from the disease. As a matter of fact, this section has become noted for the excellent health-producing environment, and is remarkable for a town of five thousand.

To swat the fly, and keep forever at it, is one of the best preventive steps that can be taken against disease.

Rev. M. B. Johnson, President of Seth Ward College, returned last night from an automobile trip over the Plains in the interest of the Methodist college.

Gordon Jordan, of Tulla, spent the week-end in Plainview visiting friends and relatives.

The supreme luxury of mechanical travel is perfectly exemplified in the King Eight, and the real meaning of flexibility is at last revealed to you. Here is a car that runs as easily and smoothly as an "electric"—in fact, one can scarcely believe it a "gas" car. This super-car eliminates the mechanical presence in motoring—the "Magic Rug" of the Arabian tale is truly yours in a King Eight.

Heretofore, eight-cylinder cars have been sold by European makers for from $5,000 to $12,000. It remained for the King Motor Car Company to put the Eight in the popular priced class, and, in offering Model D to the public it is adequately living up to its reputation as a pioneer in American motor car construction. Left side drive, center control, Cantilever Springs, en bloc motor, are all King innovations, lately adopted, or now being considered, by a majority of the country's leading motor car builders.

At these institutions a modification of the dietary alone along the lines indicated will, we believe, be followed by the complete wiping out of the disease. In this connection we may say that we have knowledge of an institution where this has actually happened. The occurrence of 75 cases of pellagra at orphanage "B. H." in the spring of 1913, following apparently milder outbreaks in 1911 and in 1912, led to a modification, along the lines above mentioned, of the diet of the affected group of children, the outbreak having been strictly limited to the boys and girls belonging to one of three groups into which the inmates were divided. Not a single case is known to have developed this year (spring and summer, 1914) among a total of 234 of the children of this orphanage. We have reason to believe that this is not a unique experience.

At asylums for the insane, the problem, though essentially dietary, is complicated and greatly obscured or masked by the varying demeanor of the different mental types, resulting in more or less marked eccentricities of diet that are difficult if not well-nigh impossible to wholly prevent. This applies more particularly to those types of individuals (dements) whose mental condition leads to apathy and indifference, necessitating a special care which in the overcrowded and undermanned institution can not be given them.

At nearly if not quite all of these institutions the diet may be said to be adequate, though in some, at least, an increase in the animal and leguminous protein component and a reduction in the carbohydrate (corn and molasses) components appear highly desirable. On this point we expect to hear warm protest from asylum officials. We expect to be informed that we must purely be wrong, for at such and such institutions, where an ample allowance of fresh meat is made, there is nevertheless an excessive prevalence of pellagra. We do not know how much meat is "allowed"; indeed, we have no wish to doubt that an "ample allowance" is actually made. From personal observation, however, we know that some, at least, of the inmates do not get an "ample allowance." The little that they do get on their plates they do not always eat, at times perhaps because of a delusional or other dislike for meat, or by reason of its having been stolen from their plates by another inmate (a "stealer") or, in those who must be specially fed, because the feeding is not properly done.

At asylums for the insane not only should a mixed, well-balanced, varied diet be furnished, but measures must be taken to see that the individual patient actually eats it.

We have several times been assured, and it is not infrequently reported in the literature, that diet can have no causative relation to pellagra, because in such and such a case the patient, usually a member of a family in excellent circumstances, had a rich, varied diet.

We have investigated a number of such cases and have found that though there may indeed have been a rich, varied diet on the family table, the patient, by reason of some personal idiosyncrasy, did not actually eat it. In other words, it is assumed in such instances that the diet of the family (or the institution) is the diet of the individual, an error that is responsible for much of the misconception and confusion in current discussions of the role of diet in the causation of pellagra.

To have a good, rich, mixed, well-balanced, and varied diet "on the family table" is one thing; to eat it is quite another. The former is perhaps greatly to be desired, but the latter alone, we believe, will prevent pellagra.

Plainview : : : Texas

To Prospective Land Buyers:

I have about 2,000 acres of very fine irrigated and irrigable lands in the demonstrated Shallow Water Belt near Plainview, Texas, the biggest irrigation well in the county for sale, high class improvements, of all kinds, about 200 acres of alfalfa, three 200-ton silos, about 1000 acres in cultivation; first-class residences, barns, sheds, tools of all necessary kind, the best improved and most conveniently located stock farm in Hale County for sale.

Forty four head of high-grade Percheron mares from Colorado; a registered Percheron stallion, one of the best. A registered blue-ribbon jack, about 500 head of hogs, etc., all of which go with the property; 1668 acres of this land is in one body. About 600 acres subject to irrigation from wells on the property; 4 1-2 miles S. E. of Plainview, district school on the property. This 1668 acres will be sold as whole or subdivided to suit purchasers; no cash payment demanded. Will be sold on twenty years time.

The Syndicate, the Texas Land & Development Company, object to my advertisements and through their objections I have received a telegram from citizens of Plainview. For the information of prospective purchasers, I quote below their telegram and my reply, which states my position:

"Dr. R. R. White,
Hotel LaSalle, Chicago, Ill.

A number of your ad boards are up on main roads as follows: "See Dr. White's irrigated farms before you buy, nearer town for less money; no cash payment required, twenty years time." These signs are demoralizing the handling of prospectors by the Syndicate and we feel that in justice to them and the Plainview District that it would be wise for you to so change the wording of them that it will not interfere with the handling of prospectors in this territory. In making this suggestion we have only the best interest of the Plainview District at heart. We hope you can see Mr. Ayers while in Chicago and make satisfactory wording for the sign boards.

"Anderson, Gidney and Others,
Plainview, Texas

Have no fight to make on Syndicate; appreciate their development, but realize they are not prompted by philanthropic motives, it's a business proposition. My purchases ante-dated theirs. I paid real money of my own for my property and improvements. My lands are for sale and I feel that this is the year to sell them. By right of priority of ownership I have the right to advertise and sell and propose to make an aggressive campaign to that effect. I am prepared to subdivide, improve and sell my lands on a credit. If no prospectors come to Plainview except through the Syndicate efforts I would not so advertise, but fortunately there are others and its to these others that I want to sell. I would like to comply with the request of my friends but my interests suggest that I aggressively endeavor to make such sales as I may legitimately be able to make. —R. R. White."

Knight, Slaton, Anderson, Hughes, Lancaster, Garrison, Gidney."

I do not want to sell to anyone who is under obligations to buy from the Syndicate. I am opposed to any unfair means, but I do want to sell to anyone who wants to buy and who is not under obligations to the Syndicate.

I dare say I have spent more real money of my own in the development and therefore in the advertising of the Plainview country than any individual associated or connected with the Syndicate and I feel that they are going too far in trying to prevent me from such legitimate advertising as I may deem proper.

If you want a cracker-jack stock farm, fully equipped with stock and implements; near enough town to take advantage of the colleges for the larger children and a school on the property for the smaller ones, buy the 1668 acres; if you want a smaller farm, irrigated and improved to suit you, I will sub-divide it. If you want to go further out near the Aiken country, I will fit you out with an improved, irrigated farm first-class and to your liking at $85.00 per acre. Arrangements can be made to buy any of this property without any cash payment, twenty years time and moderate interest. If you are under financial obligations to the Syndicate, I will not sell to you unless you first discharge in full your obligation to them.

See Dan White or any reputable real estate agent in Plainview, who will receive a reasonable commission from me if he sells you this property. My business interests elsewhere prevent me from giving the property any personal attention, therefore, I desire to sell it. Buy this on a basis of paying itself out and perhaps double your money within five years.

SEALY TUFTLESS MATTRESS

This wonderful mattress is made in Sugar Land, Texas, the heart of the finest cotton land in the world. The long, white, springy cotton, the choicest of the Brazos Valley, is blown into the mattress by a pneumatic process, where the long cotton fibres interlace and intertwine, forming one huge batt, which is just sufficiently resilient to conform to every curve of the body. You owe it to yourselves to provide the most comfortable place to sleep. The SEALY will last twice the time and give twice the comfort of any other mattress. It gives universal satisfaction, yet costs no more than any other pure-cotton mattress.

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU DEATHLY SICK

Stop Using Dangerous Drug Before It Salivates You! It's Horrible!

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of Doan's Liver Tonic, and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today, and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Doan's Liver Tonic tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards. —Adv.

POSITIVE PROOF.

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Plainview.

Because it's the evidence of a Plainview citizen.

Testimony easily investigated. The strongest endorsement of merit. The best proof. Read it:

Mrs. T. R. Alexander, Archer and Slaton Sts., Plainview, says: "I suffered from a feeling of distress in the small of my back and was languid in the morning. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from the Long Drug Co., removed the trouble and strengthened my back."

Mrs. Alexander is only one of many Plainview people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask DISTINCTLY FOR DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mrs. Alexander had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address P. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. LITTLE TALKS BY THE
DOCTOR

OSTEOPATHY.

What is disease? Is it an external something that gets into the body?

When it is zero weather, and the temperature in your house drops to 10 degrees above, you fire up the furnace and make the thermometer soon run to 70 degrees F. Do you have to keep the windows and doors open so the heat in the furnace can drive the cold outdoors? No, it is not done in this way. It is just a changed condition of the air in the house from cold to heat.

Thus it is with disease of the body or any organ or part of the body. Deranged function, or insufficiency in function due to an insufficient supply of good blood and nerve-energy to the part—this is disease.

The Osteopath gets at the cause of the poor blood supply and insufficient nerve-energy, giving Nature a chance to restore to a normal condition. The diseased organ or part of the body is changed from an abnormal to a normal or healthful condition.
