G. S. FRAPS SAYS KAFFIR AND MILO ARE BEST FEED

State Chemist Gives Comparative Feeding Value of Indian Corn and the Sorghum Grains.

Many people from the corn-belt states have an idea that Indian corn is the best feed that can be used. It is known that kaffir and milo maize have a very high feeding value. These feeds, too, are cheaper than Indian corn. The Herald is in receipt of a special communication from the Extension Department of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, wherein G. S. Fraps, State Chemist of Texas, is quoted as follows:

"Kaffir corn chops contain in 100 pounds 7.0 pounds digestible protein, and it has a productive value of 18.2. Corn chops contain in 100 pounds 6.5 pounds of digestible protein and has a productive value of 20.6. These are average values. It is seen from this statement that kaffir chops are somewhat more valuable in protein and about 10 per cent less valuable in fat-producing power than ordinary corn. As the price of kaffir corn is decidedly less than 90 per cent of the price of corn chops, kaffir corn chops is more economical feed stuff. Since the grains of kaffir are small and hard and may escape mastication and digestion, it is always advisable to grind them before feeding, or else to feed them as chops.

Milo chops have very nearly the same composition as kaffir chops and very nearly the same feeding value, although, according to average composition and digestibility, they have slightly more feed value. Thus milo chops have a digestible protein content of 6.7 pounds in one hundred pounds of productive value of 19.1, or 7 per cent less than grain."

Mr. Ousley, director of the Extension Department, calls attention to a bulletin, recently issued by the A. & M. College, on "Rations for Fattening Cattle," by John C. Burns, head of the animal husbandry department of the college. It gives simple directions for fattening cattle in Texas for market, and discusses the feeding value of various feedstuffs produced on Texas farms, including silage, kaffir milo and feterita. Mr. Ousley will mail copies of the bulletin to any applicant for it to him, at College Station, Texas.

Drainage One of Plainview's Very Pressing Necessities

Again we are reminded that Plainview needs a practical drainage system.

North Pacific Street has water standing on it today, and tomorrow it will be badly cut up. A crown can't be maintained on a road when water stands on it.

For days yet there will be unsightly puddles around the hitching racks at the Court House. The insular possessions of the Fulton Lumber Company are accessible this morning only at the newly constructed concrete docks along North Pacific Street.

Wading water over their shoe tops is no new experience to children attending the public schools. Some of them seemed to enjoy the tickling sensation of cold water halfway to their knees this morning, but it's a decidedly dangerous pastime for this season of the year. It's an open invitation to pneumonia.

Travelling men are renowned for their chronic critical attitude. They demand the best wherever they are; but there was foundation for the loud knocks Plainview received this morning when pedestrians to the depot were forced to wade six inches of water on the sidewalks and to detour eighteen inches of water over the crossing of the street parallel to the railroad, and walk through mud and water to the platform.

Poor old Lake Plainview! She's groaning under her load today. From a mile and a half west of town water has been pouring down the draw over the flower beds and walks.

Honestly, Plainview needs a drainage system.

LAST NIGHT'S RAINFALL AMOUNTED TO 2.13 INCHES

Telephone Reports Indicate That Rain Was General Over South Plains Country.

Two and thirteen hundredths inches of rain fell at Plainview last night.

Reports by Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone Company tell of rains at Lubbock, Crosbyton, Lamesa, Hale Center, Kress, Floydada, Lockney and Olton. There was only a light rain at Amarillo, but south of Potter County the rain was heavier. A downpour of perhaps three inches is reported from Happy.

In many parts of town this morning water flowed over the sidewalks in swift streams, following the heavy rain about six o'clock.

Coming at this season of the year, before all crops have been harvested, a loss in feedstuff is anticipated.

Mr. Roos employs seven workmen in the shop at present, and expects to add three others upon the completion of the extension. A feature of the shop, he says, will be the Ford section, equipped to care exclusively for Ford cars.

RUSS WIN A STRIKING EAST GALICIA VICTORY

PIERCE LAST LINE OF AUSTRIAN DEFENSE ON STRIPA; TAKE RIGHT FLANK POINT.

AUSTRIAN BASE IS TAKEN

Politically Important, Since Austro-German Forces Had Been Concentrated to Impress Roumania.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 13, via London, 4:30 p. m.—Another striking victory has been won by the Russians on the southern front in Eastern Galicia. They have pierced the last line of Austrian defenses on the Stripa River and took by storm one of the strongest points on the Austro-German right flank.

This achievement of the Russians, following their successes reported on the Dvinsk front, shows a continuation of the recent strong offensive movement north of the Roumanian frontier. The position they stormed was a hill to the east of the village of Giavoranka, on the right bank of the Stripa, thirteen miles north of Buchach.

Austrian Base Taken.

This fortification was constructed scientifically and was of great strength. From this base the Austrians had prepared to strike at the Russian left flank extending toward Pinsk. The Russian successes around Kolka and Chartorjesk, however, enabled them to obtain a footing on the left bank of the Styr, which seriously menaced their opponents.

Having thus completely secured the Rovno district and the road leading into Volhynia and the marsh region, the Russians occupied strong positions along the rivers Olychka, Styr and Ikwa and Sereth. They prevented the Austrians and Germans from entrenching, as they seemed disposed to do, and warded off a blow aimed at the Russian right wing.

By careful reconnaissance the Russians prepared a counter offensive. Reaching a series of entanglements and trenches, they drove out the Teutonic forces from their positions, seized a considerable number of prisoners and widened the breach sufficiently to enable cavalry to engage in energetic pursuit. The cavalry seized the supply trains and threw the Teutonic rear into confusion. Between 2,000 and 3,000 prisoners were captured by the Russians.

A Political Victory.

The War Office estimates that upwards of three divisions of the Austrians were disorganized. It characterizes this success as a tactical, strategic and political victory, asserting it will compel General von Linsingen to regroup his forces on the whole front, which will affect operations in the entire southeastern district.

Greatest importance is attached here to the political significance of the Russian accomplishments in Eastern Galicia, inasmuch as large Austro-German forces had been concentrated on the Galician front apparently to impress Roumania.

Simultaneously with this movement, the Russians are developing their operations around Dvinsk. Some time ago the Germans were within artillery range of the city, but they have now been driven back a distance of nine or ten miles on the northwestern and southwestern fronts. At Lautzeshei, northwest of Novo Alexandrovsk, Russian artillery dispersed the Germans. North of the immediate Dvinsk district, the Russians drove back the Germans a distance of three miles.

Teutons Lose Heavily.

Efforts of invaders to reach Dvinsk along the highway from Novo Alexandrovsk have cost them enormous losses and caused them to turn to the roads leading in from the northwest, where there are open spaces three miles or so in width between the lakes forming the gateway in the direction of the city. Foreseeing a serious menace at this point in case the Russians reach their rear, the Germans concentrated strong forces and heavy artillery in that region. Nevertheless, the Russians regard the concentration as largely precautionary, and expect the chief attack will continue from the direction of Novo Alexandrovsk.

Comparative quiet prevails along the front of 125 miles from Lake Bogenzky to the southern terminus of the Oginski Canal.

PRESIDENT AND NAVY HEAD AGREE NEW FLEET NECESSARY.

Program Includes Acquiring of Dreadnoughts and Other Vessels During Next Five Years.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Fifteen to twenty fighting ships of the dreadnought and battle cruiser type, with a proportionate number of seagoing submarines, coast submarines, scout cruisers, destroyers and auxiliaries—enough to make a new American fleet—is contemplated by Secretary Daniels for recommendation as a five-year building program for the United States Navy.

President Wilson and Secretary Daniels have discussed informally the needs of the navy, and are agreed that in order to be adequately prepared for defense the present strength of the fleet must be almost doubled in the next five years, with the addition of many of the latest type of fast and powerful fighting craft.

Details as to numbers have not yet been worked out, but the idea of fixing a ratio for a continuing program over a period of five years is the basic principle upon which the general board of the navy and Secretary Daniels now are planning their recommendations. Another conference between the President and the Secretary will be held Friday, at which the total number probably will be fixed.

The five-year naval program when completed would add, in addition to dreadnoughts and battle cruisers, nearly a hundred submarines, about seventy destroyers and several scout cruisers and a proportionate number of fuel and hospital ships.

An important part of the program, too, will be a proposal for a large increase in personnel. Appropriation for at least 8,000 additional men will be asked for the first of the year to make up present deficiencies, and an adequate number will be sought to man the new ships built in the five-year period.

The total cost of the proposed program for the first year according to present plans, is estimated at nearly $248,000,000, or about $100,000,000 increase over last year.

Just what construction should be provided for the first year has not been determined.

PLANTING WINTER WHEAT.

Reports are to the effect that grain drills have been started in various localities of the Southwest. It is said that considerable wheat will be planted this fall. The general idea is that prices will go higher and that there is a chance for next year's crop to bring even higher prices than this has so far brought.

The time for sowing winter wheat varies according to location. The safest plan is to sow at a time that is considered early for that location. In the Southwest the best time for sowing is from October 1 to November 1. The time selected should be when the ground is in excellent condition made so by early preparation.

The amount to sow may vary from four to seven pecks. Five pecks is about the average in this country. The average for the United States in the winter-wheat area is 1 1/2 bushels per acre, in the spring area 1 1/4 bushels.

The drill should be carefully regulated and the seed used should be heavy, sound and clean. Much depends upon a good stand, and too much attention can not be given to the details of sowing. If the land is in good condition one inch is deep enough to cover the seed.

SPECIAL RATES DURING OCTOBER COCHRANE'S STUDIO

Every small farmer who has the land that will grow wheat and who lives within reach of a roller mill should plant at least enough wheat to make his own bread. This adds an element of safety in farming and will reduce the expense of living. As every farmer knows, there is too much difference between the cost of flour and the price of wheat, due to the many expensive details in handling. When the farmer grows the wheat and has it milled bread is apt to be cheap. It is much cheaper than growing cotton to buy bread.

There is another reason why winter wheat should be sown where there is any chance for it to do well. The land will be occupied during winter and less plowing and planting will be necessary in the spring.

In case winter wheat should fall for any reason, the land may be planted in oats, corn, kaffir, milo, Sudan grass or any other crop planted in the spring.

A reasonable amount of grazing will not injure wheat if done in good weather. The land will also be benefited to some extent by the wheat as a winter cover crop.—Farm and Ranch.

YEAR WITHOUT A SUMMER.

If weather, like history, repeats itself every 100 years, 1916 will be summer-less. The year of 1816 followed the Napoleonic wars, which stirred all Europe and ended in the Battle of Waterloo, in 1816, just as the decisive war will probably be fought in Belgium this summer. The year was without a summer or growing season, and prophets predict next year will be like the weather of 100 years ago. In 1816 January was so mild that fires were used only for cooking. There were a few cold days, but none that were wintry. February also was not unusually wintry. March was windy, but not cold. New England farmers did most of their plowing in this month. April brought promise of a nearly spring, but as the days grew longer snowstorms came and ice and snow covered the landscape. By May the temperature was like mid-winter. Buds were frozen off of trees. Ice an inch thick formed on lakes and ponds. Leaves dropped off of trees, leaving gaunt trunks that looked like bleak December. Farmers, after replanting their corn several times, finally gave up in despair.

June was the coldest month of roses ever experienced in this latitude. Frost and ice were as common as buttercups and daisies should have been. In Vermont the snow fell to a depth of ten inches, and the remainder of New England, Ohio and Pennsylvania were covered, and heavy wraps were worn. Farmers worked in mittens. Women knitted woolen socks. The climax came June 17, 1816, when a blinding snow fell so deep that entire flocks of sheep were marooned and perished. July came in with frost and snow. There was ice an inch thick on the Fourth. August also was treated to the unseasonable temperature. At Burnet, near London, there was a snow storm on August 30. September, however, saw this surprising year resume natural weather conditions. That month and October and November were much the same as the ordinary autumn season. In December winter set in in approved fashion, and 1817 found things back in their normal order.—New Philadelphia Advocate-Tribune.

ALFALFA SILAGE.

Some interesting and valuable experiments have been made by the various experiment stations with alfalfa silage. It is known that the last cutting of alfalfa may be very difficult to cure. It is also well known that in general alfalfa does not have enough sugar to form acid needed as a preservative for keeping silage in the best palatable form. For this reason the silage is not as palatable as that made from corn, kaffir, sorghum, etc.

The experiment made by the Nebraska experiment station will be interesting in this connection. Briefly, it was as follows:

In September, 1914, the Nebraska agricultural experiment station constructed six small silos having a capacity of about one ton each. These were filled—one with corn, one with Black Amber cane, one with alfalfa and three with alfalfa-cane mixtures in the proportion of one part alfalfa to two parts cane, equal parts of cane and alfalfa, and two parts alfalfa to one part cane, respectively. The sorghum cane contains a higher percentage of fermentable sugars and makes up the deficiency of the alfalfa in this respect.

These silos were opened in August, 1915, after having been filled for nearly a year. The silage in all except the one containing only alfalfa was found to be in perfect condition. The silage made from one part cane and two parts alfalfa was just as good as that containing larger proportions of cane. The silo which was filled with corn contained, at the time of opening, normal corn silage. The moisture content was 67.25 per cent and the total acidity 1.61 per cent, expressed as acetic acid. These figures are normal for corn silage. By means of electrical resistance thermometers temperatures in this silo were recorded for several weeks after filling. These agreed very closely with temperatures taken in one of the large silos at the experiment station. These facts would seem to indicate that the quality of silage is in no way related to the size of the silo.

The amount of acid in the cane-alfalfa mixtures was less than that in the corn silage. The silo containing corn gave a silage carrying 67.25 per cent moisture and 1.61 per cent acid, calculated as acetic acid. The alfalfa two parts, cane one part, mixture gave a silage of 62.13 per cent moisture content and an acidity of 1.30 per cent, calculated as acetic acid. The lower acid content in the alfalfa-cane mixture is a desirable quality.

Alfalfa two parts, mixed with cane, one part, makes a highly desirable silage. Silaging alfalfa with cane in the manner here described is recommended as a means of saving the last crop of alfalfa when conditions are such that it cannot be made into hay. Whether or not it will be profitable to silage alfalfa is a question which can only be answered by the farmer himself under the individual conditions.—Farm and Ranch.

"HOW TO GET SICK."

For the benefit of those who revel in good health, Dr. S. R. McKelvey, secretary of the State Board of Health, has compiled a bulletin, "How to Get Sick." A summary of the bulletin follows:

"By hurrying through your meals and gulping down a lot of poorly cooked, unchewed 'brickbats and mortar' by way of soggy biscuits and fat meat that would defy a goat's stomach."

"By never smiling at meals, but by wearing a frown and trying to make the rest of the family miserable."

"By overeating and underexercising, by constipation, intemperance and excesses, by everlastingly hurrying, worrying, fretting, stewing and straining to keep up appearances."

"By sleeping with the windows closed and by staying indoors all the time."

"By drawing more out of your physical and nervous bank account every day than you restore."

"By always reading medical books, medical ads, and trying to diagnose your own case, especially if you didn't have any case to start with."

"By taking every old medicine recommended by your friends and neighbors."

"By telling everybody else how badly you feel and trying to outpace them in their petty ailments."

"By enjoying poor health—yes, just that. There are a few people one occasionally meets who really enjoy poor health. They feel bad when they feel good, because they are just sure they are going to feel worse afterward. Are you one of them?"

Shurter, announces a new edition of the bulletin entitled "Woman Suffrage," as follows: "This bulletin was originally prepared primarily for use by schools in Texas belonging to the University Interscholastic League during the year 1912-13, the question for the inter-scholastic debates that year being, 'Resolved, That women in Texas should be granted the suffrage on equal terms with men.' The general demand for the bulletin has been such as to justify the issue of a new edition. This bulletin will be mailed free to citizens of Texas upon application. To those outside the State the price is 15 cents."

OUR WEALTH IS FEED.

If the great South Plains could produce no feedstuff it would be a barren, uninhabited waste. Hale County would not be the Mecca of progressive farmers, if it were not for the fact that we produce abundant feed crops, which, with our excellent climatic conditions, make livestock raising profitable.

The wealth of this section is produced mainly in the form of feedstuff, which in turn is either sold as grain or on the hoof.

The South Plains farmer should conserve this wealth. An unusually heavy crop of feed has been raised this year. It has not all been harvested yet. Much of it is in unprotected shocks, or lying on the ground.

Now, only the bright maize and kaffir is going to be sought on the open market by the buyers. The black, tarnished grain will not be wanted. The grain crop should be protected. It should be conserved. Feed is too valuable to be wasted. South Plains farmers should protect the crop already harvested and that which will be gathered later on. It's his wealth.

When kaffir corn and milo maize is of such immense value as feed, its waste on any farm is foolhardy.

G. S. Fraps, state chemist of Texas, says: "As the price of kaffir corn is decidedly less than ninety per cent of the price of corn chops, kaffir corn chops is more economical feed stuff."

The price of kaffir corn and milo maize will improve if the farmers who raise it will try to protect the grain and keep it in the most marketable condition. Money expended in barns and storehouses is capital well invested. German farmers of Southwest Texas, one of the most thrifty class of farmers Texas has, are making money out of their farms. It is seldom that one of them fails. You can almost pick the farms of Germans in that section by the barns. This building is always large and commodious and economically but strongly built.

Conservation, the watchword of the past quarter-century, is applicable to South Plains farms.

THE MOTOR CAR AN ECONOMIC FACTOR.

Often it has been argued that the automobile is responsible for the high cost of living and that it is an expensive luxury.

The automobile is here to stay. It is filling a long-felt want in our system of economy of speedy and cheap transportation.

It is not an uncommon thing to see the small car bearing a travelling salesman and his samples through the country. He does not have to wait for trains when in a town, but can complete his business and proceed to the next town.

The automobile is filling a need on the farms of many of the more prosperous farmers. Paul D. Sargent, acting director of the Office of Public Roads, has this to say of the importance of automobile transportation to the farmer, and particularly to such farmers as rely on sales of garden or farm produce in near-by towns: "In moving products of all kinds from the field to the consumer it is clear that the reduction in transportation charges is most imperative on the country road. During the past ten years remarkable changes in highway transportation have been brought about by the introduction of the motor vehicle. The motor car was first regarded as an expensive luxury, but it has now become an economic necessity."

The motor vehicle is the most potent influence that has reached the road problem since macadam. The adaptability of the motor car and motor truck is almost unlimited. The farmers of the West and Middle West have been quick to see the advantages of quick and cheap transportation, and sales of motor-drawn vehicles have been heaviest in these sections.

On the South Plains the motor car has played an important part in the development of the country. Plainview itself has the reputation of having more car owners than any town of its size in the West. There are hundreds of farmers and ranchmen in this section who are making the automobile a dividend-paying adjunct.

GEOLOGY OF THE GRAND CANYON.

Bulletin of United States Geological Survey Describes Vast Wonders of Nature's Handiwork.

Ever since Powell's daring boat trip down the Colorado, in 1869, geologists have known that the walls of the Grand Canyon display one of the most remarkable and instructive geologic sections in the world. At first glance the impressive feature of that section is the great thickness of nearly horizontal strata through which the river has sunk its bed—strata ranging in age from Carboniferous at the top, on the brink of the chasm, to Cambrian at the base.

The United States Geological Survey has published as Bulletin 549 a report on the geology of the Shinumo quadrangle—the Grand Canyon district—by L. F. Noble. Although the bulletin contains considerable lithologic and stratigraphic material that will scarcely interest those who are not geologists, Dr. Noble has very properly remembered that the people as a whole have unusual claims to consideration in any publication dealing with the Grand Canyon, and has skillfully supplied a setting to this more strictly scientific work much vivid description and lucid explanation, which will help all those who take more than a transient interest in what they see to understand one of the most impressive and significant of the inanimate works of nature.

By far the most interesting scenic ground in the quadrangle is Powell Plateau, on the north side of the canyon. To the geologist the views from this plateau are encyclopedic. The rocks that are visible represent in turn nearly every geologic age, and the sequence or order of deposition of each series of beds is apparent at a glance. Every great geologic process is illustrated. Perhaps the most impressive record of all is that of uplift and erosion. This record, registered in what the geologist terms "unconformities," or breaks in the regular and continuous process of sedimentary accumulation, shows that for vast periods rocks, instead of being formed, were being washed away by rain, streams, and waves, leaving a worn surface which later sank beneath the sea and received new sediments. The later periods of geologic history are recorded in the removal, by erosion, of vast thicknesses of strata and the production of the surface of the region in its present aspect. The panorama is probably the most complete geologic revelation in the world.

A copy of Bulletin 549 may be obtained free on application to the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

GOVERNMENT GRAIN-SAMPLING DEVICE IS FREE FOR ASKING.

Is Simple and Effective and Requires No Power to Operate; Can Be Used to Sample Coal, Flour, Ore, Etc.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—A simple and new device for sampling grain, seeds and other material is fully described in Department of Agriculture Bulletin No. 287, "A Device for Sampling Grain, Seeds and Other Material." This device was developed by specialists of the Department primarily to meet the demands of grain and seed dealers and laboratory workers for a method of securing a reliable sample of grain or seed from a larger portion of the material to be examined, graded or analyzed. The construction and the process used in the device have been made very simple, and yet are such as to insure reliable samples. The device does not require power of any kind, as its principle is the distribution by gravity of the material to be sampled over a cone, which is provided with separate ducts in a way to insure thorough mixture of the grain. The device also can be so arranged that one-half of the sample can be used for testing and grading, and the second half provided for the seller or buyer. It can also be used for blending two or more streams of wheat or other grain in one or more sets of rows in a mill. The device also can be used for sampling flour, meal, feeds, coal, ore, or any other material of like kind, or to mix or blend and divide two or more streams of unlike material, and yet provide a thorough mixture of all the kinds of material.

This bulletin can be supplied to grain samplers and others interested free upon application to the Editor and Chief, Division of Publications, U. S. Department of Agriculture, as long as the Department's supply for free distribution lasts.

KANSAS CITY STOCK MARKET IN DETAIL.

KANSAS CITY STOCK YARDS, Oct. 11.—Good beef cattle advanced somewhat last week after Monday, and closed the week fully steady. There was a strong demand for feeders, and they made a slight gain for the week. Plain stockers remained steady. Receipts after Monday were moderate, giving the market a chance to recuperate. The Eastern embargo against live stock from Chicago is still on, and Eastern orders continue to help the market here on beef cattle. Stocker and feeder shipments to the country from here last week were 42,000 head, largest of the year.

Receipts here today are 34,000 head, market steady to 15 cents lower on stockers and feeders, of which two-thirds of the supply consists, and killing grades largely 10 to 20 cents lower.

Panhandle fed steers reached $8.75, and grass beef steers from Texas $7.25. Fourteen cars of Mr. Burnett's feeders, from Canadian, Texas, sold at $7.50, 1,089 pounds average.

Colorado consignments were liberal, embracing beef steers at $6.65 to $7.00, feeders at $7.00 to $7.15, cows $5.40 to $5.90. A five-car drove of Colorado feeders brought $8.00 here last week, and a car of show feeders from Durango brought $8.15.

A car of Colorado hogs sold here today, big old sows, at $7.90, five stags included. These were shipped from Fowler, Colorado, to Denver, and re-shipped to this market, at a good margin above Denver bids.

Thirty cars of cattle arrived from Baker, Oregon. This train fed only twice en route, once at Montpelier and again at Cheyenne, making the run from Cheyenne to Kansas City in 35 hours, over the Union Pacific cut-off, from Gibbon. This string included beef steers at $7.25 to $7.40, cows at $5.50 to $6.50.

Sheep receipts today were 14,000 head, market strong. Fat ewes sold at $5.75 to $6.00, Utah and Colorado lambs at $8.60 to $8.75, Arizona ewes weighing 106 pounds at $6.00, feeding lambs from all the Western range states at $8.00 to $8.25, breeding ewes from Utah $5.75, young New Mexico breeders $7.00, Colorado feeding ewes $5.00, breeding ewes $6.00. The end of the range shipping season is apparently in sight, and packers are feeling the shortage this year keenly, one of the big killers here stating that the kill of his house for the fall season at all the markets was nearly 50 per cent short of last year. Packers expect strong prices during the next three months, because of shortage, and feeder demand will continue strong as long as any feeders or breeders are available. Prospects ahead look good for shippers.

INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE BIBLIOGRAPHY IS READY.

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS, Oct. 14.—The subject for debate in the University Interscholastic League for 1915-16 is "Resolved, that a constitutional tax of one mill, equitably apportioned, should be levied for the support of the State institutions of higher education in Texas, and that supplementary appropriations by the Legislature should be prohibited."

A compilation of references upon this subject and also selected arguments on both sides of the question, they will visit with Mr. Vaughn's by the Extension Department of the University of Texas. The question being a live issue in the State, sufficient copies of the bulletin were printed to take care of the demand not only in the schools where the question will be debated, but also of the requests of general readers who are trying to keep posted on public questions.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Vaughn left yesterday morning for Lubbock, where they will visit with Mr. Vaughn's brother.

Two Favorite Shotguns and the Steel "Speed Shells"

"Dope" on shooting is plentiful. And shooters know where the right dope comes from—and that it leads straight to Remington-UMC.

THE Remington-UMC Pump Gun and Autoloading Gun—these are the shotguns of today. Adopted everywhere, for use in the field and over the traps—shot by more of the men who are setting the pace in the sport than any other make of guns in the world.

In the matter of Shells—where is the sportsman who does not know the Remington-UMC "Speed Shells," Steel Lined—all the drive of the powder kept back of the shot, and showing results that flatter any make of gun?

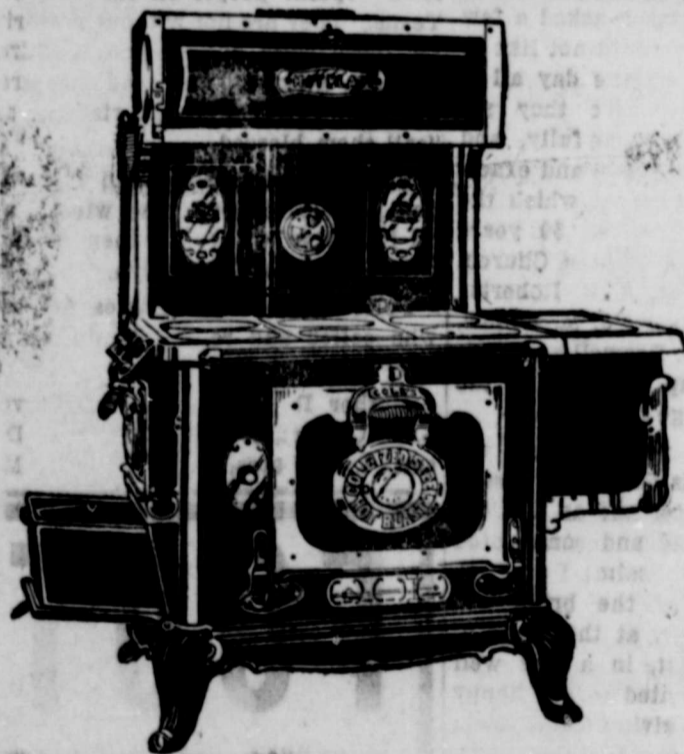

For the right dope—see the Remington-UMC Dealer. He displays the Red Ball Mark of Remington-UMC—the sign that his store is Sportsmen's Headquarters of the town.
