PLAINVIEW, TEXAS, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1916

RAILWAY RATE CASE IS AGAIN POSTPONED

CHAIRMAN FEARS HE MAY BE IN CONTEMPT OF FEDERAL JUDGE IN SITTING ON CASES.

DISSENTION IN COMMISSION

Earle B. Mayfield Believes Opinion of Attorney General Is Correct Explanation of Commission's Relation.

Again the hearing of the rate case involving the removal of differential rates on the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway and the Crosbyton and South Plains Railway has been postponed. Delegates from various interested towns were ready to leave Monday, when telegraphic communication from Austin informed them of the postponement. A. G. Hinn, of Plainview, is spokesman for the South Plains territory, and Judge J. E. Lancaster, P. J. Woodruff and F. F. Hardin are a committee from the Y. M. B. L. to assist in presenting the case. No reason was assigned in communications from the commission for postponement of the rate cases in question, but the following excerpt from a special release to the Dallas News explains the reasons for postponement:

"AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 9.—Sixteen of the thirty-four cases on the September docket of the Railroad Commission set for hearing next Tuesday will not be called and are indefinitely postponed. They bear on the present rate situation, and Chairman Allison Mayfield has declined to sit in a hearing of them, as he fears he might be in contempt of Federal Judge Pardee's injunction order. The eighteen remaining cases, practically all of which are local and routine, but include some rate matters, will be called.

"Commissioner Earle B. Mayfield disagreed with Chairman Mayfield on the stand taken by the latter and insisted that all cases be tried. An opinion given by the Attorney General's Department at the request of Chairman Mayfield was that the injunction order did not affect the Railroad Commission in the trial of rate cases, but this did not change the chairman's attitude.

Explains Position.

"In explaining this position, Commissioner Earle B. Mayfield said:

"Speaking for myself, I will be ready and willing to try every case on the docket Tuesday morning. The opinion of the Attorney General, who is our legal adviser, states that the commission is in no wise restrained by the injunction issued by the Federal Judge over in Georgia from trying any of the cases on the September docket. For the Railroad Commission of Texas to do anything else than to proceed with its docket, especially when the Attorney General advises us we can legally do so, is nothing but a surrender to the railroads."

"The opinion of the Attorney General's Department, which was written by Assistant Attorney General Luther Nickels, and directed to Chairman Mayfield, is as follows:

"We are in receipt of your letter of this date submitting a list of cases set for hearing before the commission for September 12.

"With respect to those cases, you propound the question as to whether or not the consideration of any of them by the commission at said time would violate the terms of the recent Federal injunction or restraining order.

"We do not think that the restraining order in any way interferes with the consideration of any of these matters by the commission. Our reason for this conclusion is that the order of the court and the restraining order issued thereon do not enjoin the commission from such action. I assume that you have a copy of the restraining order issued by the Clerk of the United States District Court, which writ contains copy of the Judge's order. By reference thereto you will see that the order of the court restrains the commission, Attorney General and others "from filing and prosecuting suits against the plaintiffs, or either of them, for failure or refusal to put into effect circular No. 5060, etc."

"The writ as drawn by the clerk also deals alone with the filing and prosecution of suits against the railroads and restrains the same. This writ, of course, is a measure of the things prohibited at this time, and the commission is not prohibited from doing anything not embraced within the writ."

WAYLAND'S ENROLLMENT BETTER THAN LAST YEAR

Orchestra and Football Team Offer Students Activities Other Than Class Work.

Wayland College has enrolled one hundred and sixty students to date, and others will be affiliated later. The enrollment represents an increase over the same time last year of approximately twenty-five per cent.

An innovation at the college this year is the organization of a band and orchestra. Professor Crabb will enroll in one or the other all students who are taking music, and is very enthusiastic over the prospective success of the organizations.

A big squad is out each evening preparing for the football season. Coach Thomas has about completed his schedule of games, the first of which will be staged at Lubbock during their fair, on September 30. Arrangements have about been completed to have Clarendon play here on Thanksgiving Day.

MYERS RETURNS AS GENERAL MANAGER OF THE T. L. & D. CO.

United Fruit Company Does Not Own "Syndicate"; Officers Are Mutual Stockholders, However.

A reorganization in the Texas Land and Development Company has been effected in the past few days. C. J. Hubbard, of Boston, has become president of the company, succeeding H. I. Miller, of New York. C. F. Meyers, formerly general manager, is now vice president and general manager. The same financiers who have been behind the proposition retain their stock, but the largest stockholders now have the active management of the enterprise. Mr. Hubbard and his Eastern associates controlling the company.

The Chicago sales department, of which W. S. Ayers was the head, has been discontinued. There has been no change in the policy of the concern other than this. From this time on all sales will be local. The improvement plans of the company with reference to opening new farms will be the same, however. The recently adopted policy of not improving property until sale has been made will be continued.

The report was current in Plainview several days ago that the United Fruit Company had taken over the holdings of the stockholders in the company. This is not true. The report arose from the fact that Mr. Hubbard and associates are officers of the United Fruit Company, but the Plainview enterprise is an entirely separate proposition.

Mr. Meyers states that the company's financial condition is stronger than ever as a result of the reorganization.

Klinger and Co. L. Party Search Rio Grande Country

Sanderson, Texas, Aug. 28, 1916. Wednesday, August 24, while I was on guard and was making my rounds visiting the guards, the sheriff stated that he was wanting a man of our men to go with him to the river to look for two of the Texas Rangers and one ranchman, who had been gone for nine days and had not been heard from, and at the time they left they had stated that they would only be gone three days. I hunted up Lieutenant Brown and reported the facts to him, and he agreed to send thirteen men and himself; and, of course, I went as sergeant.

We left Sanderson Thursday afternoon at 2:15—eleven men horseback and five men riding the wagon, which was loaded with provisions and horse feed. That afternoon we traveled 21 miles, according to the sheriff's information, reaching the place at which we camped at 7:30 o'clock.

By the time we had unsaddled and fed our horses it was dark. Then we cooked supper, which consisted of bacon, coffee, and some bread that we had taken along. Riding that distance we naturally were hungry and relished it very much. Then we turned in, and sure did sleep until daylight, when we got up and cooked breakfast, which was some more bread, bacon and coffee. We then fed our horses, those that had not wandered off during the night. As soon as we had had breakfast, several of the men went to hunt the horses that had strayed, and the rest of us went on ahead. It was almost 9:30 o'clock before they caught up with us. By that time there were very few of the men who had any water in their canteens, and when he reached the first place where we could get water they all drank and watered their horses. Then we went on, reaching our destination, which was Harrell's ranch, at 10:30. At this place we found one of the men, the ranchman, who was supposed to have been lost. He had returned the day before, and stated that the Rangers had gone on to Marathon, Texas.

The sheriff then, in order to give the boys who had never been to the river a chance to see what it was like, said that we would go on that afternoon, while we were at that place. Several of us, including Lieutenant Brown, took a bath in what is known as the San Francisco Creek, which was running at that time, on account of the rains in the past few days.

After our bath we cooked dinner, which consisted of coffee, bacon, potatoes and bread. At this place we also shot two of the mules. We left there at 1:15 for the river, the man who we were hunting for, or, rather, who we started out to hunt, going along as guide, as he was better acquainted with all the trails.

HIGHLY SPECIALIZED STOCK FARM IS TO BE IRRIGATED

Dr. W. R. Ferguson and Robt. J. Clark Have Long Lease on Close-In Farm of R. M. Ellerd's.

Dr. W. R. Ferguson and Robt. J. Clark, of Hale Center, have contracted with Reuben M. Ellerd to lease his 122-acre farm one mile from the Court House, at the south end of Broadway, and convert the same into a highly specialized stock farm.

The new lessees have designated the farm as the "Plainview Hog and Dairy Farm," and a requirement of the lease is that it be stocked with registered Duroc-Jersey swine and dairy cattle. The lease runs for ten years, with the privilege of renewal.

A complete irrigation plant will be installed and the engine, in addition to pumping, will be used to run an alfalfa and feed mill. The cream from the dairy cows will be shipped and the skimmed milk fed to the hogs.

A house and barns will be built on the place for the accommodation of Mr. Clark and his family, who will have charge of the irrigation. Dr. Ferguson has purchased the Shepard house, two blocks south of the square, and is moving his family there today.

The lease goes into operation January 1, 1917, but provides that improvements are to begin September 1, this year.

Dr. Ferguson has been a practicing veterinarian at Hale Center, and Mr. Clark has had charge of the Robert Alley farm irrigation for four years, having had eight years' practical irrigation experience in irrigation work in Colorado before coming to the Plainview country.

WOULD DEMONSTRATE IN THE COMMUNITY CENTERS

DR. HARE, COUNTY AGENT, WISHES CO-OPERATION OF TEACHERS AND PATRONS OF SCHOOLS.

WANTS AN ADVISORY BOARD

Will Select Fields Near Social Centers and Show Best Methods of Cultivation.

To have a demonstration farm near each community center in Hale County is the plan of Dr. R. F. Hare, county agricultural agent. Yesterday he outlined the plan at Hale Center, and hopes to be able to have one of the first demonstration farms in that neighborhood. In commenting on the plan, Dr. Hare said today to a representative of The Herald:

"The children of today will be the farmers of tomorrow. They are often more ready and eager to receive instruction than some of the older people, who have 'struck their rut' and feel that they cannot get out of it. On the other hand, the work of the children often develops interest in the parent that they would otherwise never have.

"It will not be possible to obtain the support of the community without the co-operation of the teachers. If one good teacher in each school in the county will assist us in getting the students interested in club work and in the development of scientific agriculture, we will feel that much has been accomplished.

"It is our plan to have an advisory board, which will work in each community with the agricultural agent and the owner of the field. The selection of a farm in the community should be made by the county agent, with the assistance of the committee. The farmer or farmers must carry out on a measured acreage such methods as are outlined and mutually agreed upon. It is preferable that the field be near the school house or other center of the community, where it will be accessible and where the most people can see it. It is also better to have the field on a farm now being worked, so that tools and teams will be easy to get.

"The demonstrations on these fields may be along the lines of field crops, horticulture, soil improvement or livestock. However, the livestock experiments will be largely confined to feed pens for some time."

In this connection, Dr. Hare stated that he is planning to begin feeding experiments with L. A. Knight and Jim Cox in the near future.

There is being conducted now at Garwood farm, west of Plainview, experiments on soil improvement. Dr. Hare is responsible for these experiments, having interested Dr. Zerbane in furnishing fertilizers free of cost for the experiments.

The nature of the plan makes development of it slow, but Dr. Hare hopes to have the demonstration plots in every community, and urges that those who are interested and desire to have such a plot in their community see him and talk the proposition over. His office is in the Commissioners' Court room.

HALE CENTER SCHOOL OPENS WITH ALL-DAY EXERCISES.

Professor D. H. Stovall, Formerly at Lakeview, Will Be Principal This Year.

The Hale Center public schools opened yesterday, with a school rally. The Mothers' Club served an excellent dinner in the yard. Professor Dudley Stovall, who taught last year at Lakeview, is principal of the Hale Center school this year. His assistants are Miss Pool, of Coleman County; Miss Ethel Tubbs; Mr. H. E. McCabe, of Lakeview, and Miss Nell McGuire. C. T. Springer, E. H. Arden, J. H. Reed, F. J. Nettler, T. F. Mounts, Dr. W. R. Ferguson and N. M. Akesson are trustees of this progressive school.

Dr. R. F. Hare, county demonstration agent; Mrs. J. L. Landrum, of the State Department of Agriculture; Mrs. R. F. Hare and H. S. Hilburn attended the opening exercises. Excellent talks, outlining the plans for the girls and boys in their winter club work, were made by Mrs. Landrum and Dr. Hare.

The Hale Center schools will have a much larger enrollment this year than last, owing to the settlement of new farms in that section.

MANNERS IN A DEMOCRACY.

From The Outlook.

Democracies are suspicious of accumulations of any kind, whether of civilization or of money. They distrust banks and manners—the first because they mass savings instead of distributing them; the second because they are regarded as the expressions of conservatism, the signs of privilege. As a matter of fact, civilization is necessarily cumulative. It is capitalized experience. It involves leisure to try experiments, to invent new methods, to embellish and beautify that which is built on foundations already laid, without the massing of capital which banks represent, vast enterprises imperatively demanded by modern conditions would be impossible. The fact that banks are sometimes oppressive gives no more ground for indiscriminate condemnation than does the fact that the law of cause and effect sometimes bears with cruelty on innocent persons.

But, while the typical American has the root of good manners in himself, it must be confessed that as a Nation Americans are decidedly lacking in some of the finer qualities of human intercourse. This is true in spite of the fact that there are whole sections of the country in which courteous manners are very general. Manners in the South, for example, are better than manners in the North or in the West. The New York Times reports that a Western school superintendent recently introduced two hours a week instruction in manners, and nearly lost his position. He was too far in advance of his time and his locality. There are very few subjects which can be so effectively taught as the practice of good manners; and they ought to be taught, not as a matter of book instruction, but as a part of every school exercise. Very much depends upon the teacher who furnishes the atmosphere of the school room. There are teachers in whose presence the use of good English becomes instinctive, and who bring into all the relationships of their pupils courtesy, kindness and consideration. Slovenliness is for too prevalent in this country, and bad English is one of its most unattractive forms. Directness, simplicity and sincerity are not artificial; they are the characteristic qualities of the best English, and they are also the special qualities of good manners. The rude man lacks social language just as much as the man who uses slovenly English lacks the ability to express himself freely and clearly.

Not only are good manners not undemocratic, they are more essential in a democracy than in any other form of society; for, instead of being mere social conventions, they are the expression of respect for the dignity and integrity of others, and that is the very soul of the democratic order. In a society in which every man and woman is free to think, to speak and to act, there is far greater necessity for self-imposed restraint than in a society in which people are kept in their places by a force imposed from above. Political freedom is only the beginning of freedom, and many intelligent and not unsympathetic foreign students have said that there is less personal freedom in the United States than in any other country of first rank; that the pressure of public opinion here is tyrannical and does not tolerate freedom of individual opinion. Democracy has its dangers quite as much as absolutism, and its tyranny may be quite as oppressive. The ruthless disregard of privacy in this country is one of the forms which this tyranny has taken on, and the invasion of privacy is one of the worst forms of bad manners. Respect and consideration for others is a prime necessity in a crowd, which is always in danger of becoming a mob.

There are, fortunately, various signs of the growing recognition of the fact that good manners, instead of being undemocratic, are the evidence of a finer civilization. In all the higher forms of business, courtesy is as necessary as ability or character. It was the absence of this quality years ago in the bearing of many railway managers toward the public which contributed greatly to stirring up public antagonism. Now, on many railways, employees are warned that rudeness will be met with prompt dismissal, and that courtesy will be counted among the qualities which lead to promotion. The rudeness which makes local travel in some large cities so disagreeable is largely induced by passengers. There are many rude conductors, but it is idle to criticize them so long as they themselves are treated with gross discourtesy.

Lowell said that we were the most public-schooled and the least educated people in the world. If the practice of good manners is made a part of the instruction in the public schools, Americans will take a long step toward a real education.

PETERSBURG RAISING BONUS FOR PROPOSED RAILROAD.

PETERSBURG, Texas, Sept. 9.—There is a fine season in the ground and there are prospects of a railroad in the near future, which means that our little burg is coming to the front.

There was a citizens' meeting last night to begin to raise the bonus required by the railroad promoters. Today some of our much-interested men are out in their autos working up the bonus.

The union meeting closed Sabbath evening. The heavy rains during the week interfered some with the attendance, but the services were appreciated by those present. There were nine accessions to the Methodist Church.

Professor Lane has just closed a successful singing school, at the Baptist Church. We learn from some of his pupils that he is a fine instructor.

Miss Raye Fowler, from Plainview, is a guest in the home of her sister, Mrs. R. W. Elliott.

Miss Ola Moon, who has been suffering from a bruised limb, is improving, and hopes to soon be able to resume her duties at the store.

Charlie White, from Kirk, New Mexico, is visiting his parents and other relatives here.

J. B. Gartin and E. C. Dean have gone into the land business. Their office is in the post office building.

School opens here Monday, the 11th, with Professor Bull as principal.

The Needlecraft Club met Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. L. C. Claitor, in the regular social and business session. An informal program was rendered, which proved a pleasant finish to the meeting. The club was pleased to entertain, as their guest for the afternoon, Mrs. Lee Armstrong, of Plainview. Grape sherbet and cake were served by the young ladies of the club, Misses Annie Hughes, Alice Wiese, Evelyn Claitor and little Frances Wiese. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Marcus Gregory, September 21st. Let all try to be present.

Ed White is building a nine-room residence, near his old home.

One of the most pleasant events of the season was the picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mat Gregory on September 8th. It was given as a birthday celebration to Frederick Wiese, Lilburn Claitor, Jr., and Miss Annie Hegl. The bountiful supper was spread on the ground, under the moonlight sky, and all were merry and happy. It was an occasion long to be remembered.

M. P. Garner and wife, of Canyon, visited W. F. Garner and family from Friday to Sunday.

SILAGE FOR BEEF CATTLE.

The value of the silo in fattening cattle was strongly emphasized by Indiana station. In this experiment substantial gains were made on the following ration:

- 2.5 pounds cottonseed meal.
- 4.4 pounds clover hay.
- 14.4 pounds shelled corn.
- 27.7 pounds corn silage.

When silage was fed the cost of gain was one-half cent a pound less than with dry feed and the increase in profits amounted to from $3 to $8 per steer. The cottonseed meal gave much better results than oil meal and tended to produce firmer flesh with silage.

Where there is not an abundance of grazing when cattle are fed, the silo will be almost indispensable to economy in feeding. The amount saved in feeding silage will soon pay for the silo. It helps utilize the coarse feeds, and it takes the place of green pasture when this is not available.—Farm and Ranch.

STRAIGHTENING MUDGUARDS.

A bent mudguard will sometimes be the lot of the most careful driver, and it is hard to find a shop where it can be straightened. If it is not very badly injured you may straighten it yourself with the aid of a little patience and a flat wooden mallet wrapped with a cloth. Prop a small block of wood under the guard and keep it underneath the part you are hammering. Flatten out the ridges first and then work around to the other parts. I have seen guards straightened in this way so that you would never know anything had happened to them.—September Outing.

$1.60 a Year; 75c, 6 Months. Advertising Rates on Application.

West Texas Dental Society is to be the guest of Plainview Friday and Saturday.

Every man takes care that his neighbor shall not cheat him. But a day comes when he begins to care that he does not cheat his neighbor. Then all goes well. He has changed his market cart into a chariot of the sun.—Emerson.

There is an excellent opportunity to be offered the parents of Plainview Friday evening at the Methodist Church, when members of the West Texas Dental Society will discuss, in terms which the layman can understand, the care of the teeth. Special emphasis will be laid on the importance of school children keeping their teeth in a healthy condition. Every parent and as many of the children as possible should hear these talks.

A "SCRAP" IN THE AIR.

There is dissension in the Railway Commission of Texas. The chairman fears to proceed with cases involving rates, believing that he may be held in contempt of a Federal judge. Another member dissents, and wishes to proceed with the hearings.

There's a nice problem in the status of the State Railway Commission as regards the Interstate Commerce Commission, in particular as to which has suzerainty in fixing intra state rates. In the clash, Earle B. Mayfield sees that the life of the Texas Railway Commission is at stake; if certain rulings, affirming cases in which the I. C. C. has fixed intra state rates, are sustained it would make the Texas Railway Commission a nonentity. Earle B. Mayfield believes the State commission should have dominion over intra state business of the railways. It appears that an interesting fight in which more than two may participate is brewing.

FIXING THE RESPONSIBILITY.

An interesting question of responsibility presents itself to the people of Scranton, Penna. It is a mining town and one of the rapidly growing cities of that section. The city proper is located over rich deposits of coal. The mines have run underneath the city, and now streets occasionally fall in, there are lateral slides in the land, changing property lines radically, and many buildings, with vacuity as a base, have fallen in. School buildings, and armory and other buildings in which the public gathers, have all but collapsed, and yet there has been little loss of life.

The coal miners contend that the property owners who bought the lots and waived their right to the coal have no recourse, all improvements on the surface being at the owner's risk. The courts have upheld this contention on the general principle that "he who builds his house over a volcano must take the consequences." The Engineering News, without questioning the legal precedent for the ruling, states that the injustice to property owners is obvious. It says: "In plain words, the coal operators or lessors have sold something that they have reserved the right subsequently to destroy without compensation to the purchaser. Specific instances of injustice and the distressing results to small property owners are numerous. Many a laboring man has had his life's savings practically annihilated."

The city has interested itself, having established in 1914 a Mine Cave Bureau. Close watch is kept on underground development of the mining companies, and in some instances the cavities either have been filled by the city or required by it to be filled by the mining companies. Just what can and should be done to fix responsibility for loss by reason of the mine caves is a problem that is interesting Scranton.

our lines and set them in the river, thinking that we would catch some of the fish that are there, but when we went to look the lines over Friday, or rather, Saturday, morning, we found that the river was about a foot higher than it had been the night before, and, as it was muddy, we naturally caught no fish. After we had eaten our supper and set our lines, we pitched our camp as best we could in the dark. Of course, as all that we had to do was to unroll our blanket rolls, undress and crawl into our blankets, it was no trouble to make our beds. After a night of twisting and turning, also picking what loose stones and gravel that would insist on crawling under our blankets, it finally became light enough for us to see to get around.

Motor News of General Interest

CAPITAL-TO-CAPITAL TOUR UNDER WAY.

The United America Tour, sponsored by J. Walter Drake, president of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation, in the interests of good roads and planned to include in its itinerary all State capitals, has covered the entire North Atlantic seaboard and is now heading west.

The tourists report good weather and fair road conditions. Notwithstanding many conferences with Governors, receptions, and the taking of motion pictures consumed much time, the tenth day of the tour found the party in their tenth capital, Montpelier, Vermont.

The car used, a five-passenger Huppobile, has stood up to its task well. Much hilly country has been traversed, but nothing that has presented the slightest obstacle. In fact, the longest daily run of the tour thus far was made between Portsmouth, N. H., and Montpelier, Vt., a distance of 207 miles, over both the Green and White Mountain ranges. Ten- and fifteen-per-cent grades were common.

Bearing credentials from the National Highway Association and with Logan Waller Page, U. S. Good Roads Commissioner, acting as official starter, the United America Tour left Washington, D. C., Monday, August 28th. Annapolis was the first capital visited. Harrisburg, Pa.; Dover, Del.; Trenton, N. J., and New York City came next. A loop through New England took in Boston, Augusta, Portsmouth and Montpelier.

From Montpelier the tour starts west to Albany, then Buffalo and Cleveland, on the way to Charleston, W. Va. After visiting the capitals of Kentucky and Indiana, the tour car will come by way of Toledo to Detroit, where a big reception is planned to bid the party godspeed on the far western lap of its journey.

West of Chicago the general objective will be the extreme Northwest, by way of the northern tier of states. By cold weather the tourists will be on the sunny Pacific slope, from which they will return to Washington, D. C., by a southerly route.

Through the courtesy of the Department of Interior, the Capital-to-Capital pilots carry permits to enter and take motion pictures in all National Parks. On the route are Yellowstone and Yosemite. A detour will be made to take in the Grand Canyon.

Commenting on the success of the United America Tour, Tour Manager J. S. Patterson said: "I am astounded at the number of people who besiege me with questions concerning our routes. I had no idea that the touring bug was so busy. The Capital-to-Capital idea makes a hit. Many with whom I talked will follow our route through the North Atlantic States this fall, and a host more plan to pick up our western trail next season."

CATCH ALLIGATORS WITH FORD; IS NOT USED AS BAIT, EITHER.

Catching alligators by means of a Ford car, used not as bait, but as motive power, is a new sport recently introduced near St. Petersburg, Fla. Two boys, Joe and Dan Davis, have recently specialized in alligator catching, and having succeeded in hooking an alligator 9 feet 10 inches, minus a considerable section of his tail, they coupled him up with a Ford car and dragged the saurian from his watery home to the pen where he now rests a captive.

This particular alligator had evidently engaged in a hand or claw battle in his earlier days, which accounts for the missing section of his tail.

This is the third alligator the Davis boys have caught by means of their Ford, the other two 'gators being four and six feet long, respectively.

THE LIMITS OF POWER.

Many a man who froths at the mouth over the sped demon who races his automobile along the streets and highways, at the financial magnate who runs amuck in cornering beef or cotton or wheat, will himself buy the most powerful rifle the market affords and go out hunting over the farms of a well settled country, without a thought that his bullets shoot far beyond what he can see or control. He will buy an automatic shotgun that will fire six shots at every bird he sees if the bird doesn't fall before the magazine is shot off—and he will scatter that shot frenziedly to two or three of the four cardinal points of the compass, reckoning not in his delirium that there may be men or domestic stock within range.—September Outing.

GO OVER FARM AUTO.

"Just after harvest is the time to go over the farm auto and put it in shape for fall and winter use," says G. W. McCuen, motor specialist for the agricultural engineering department of the Ohio State University. "By removing the oil from the crank case at least once every spring and fall one can be sure that the crank case is free from sediment. The motor can be cleaned by washing it with kerosene. The differential and transmission will only give the best service when properly oiled, and the exhaust valves will give no trouble when they are kept well ground," he states. Mr. McCuen recommends the use of a high-grade cylinder oil; such oil will have the least carbon deposit.

KANSAS CITY STOCK MARKET IN DETAIL.

KANSAS CITY STOCK YARDS, Sept. 8.—The market lost its edge Wednesday, and the advance of the first of the week has mostly disappeared. The 2,000 cattle received today sold slowly at barely steady prices, but everything was cleaned up. Indications favor a heavy run next week, although grass is greening up in the grazing sections, and owners are prepared to hold, hence a moderate run Monday would be no surprise.

Beef Cattle.

Well finished beef steers sold at $10.25 to $10.90 this week, and appear to be on a safe footing, although owners of some good-sized droves are getting anxious to turn them into money. Kansas has shipped more freely this week than any other section, steer sales ranging all the way from $6.85 to $9.60 from the central zone, with some South Kansas and Oklahoma steers at $6.00 to $7.75. Osage-wintered steers at $7.75 today, common Oklahoma-grazed Mexicans this week at $5.00 to $5.35. The Panhandle country has had very few cattle here this week, cows at $5.40 to $6.10. Colorado and the West had a few shipments, steers at $7.00 to $7.85, cows $5.40 to $6.40. Kansas grass cows sold at $5.35 to $6.35, grass heifers up to $8.50, top veals $11.25.

Stockers and Feeders.

Demand for light-weight stockers has been strong, and not quite enough cattle have been here to fill it. Most of the stockers sold at $6.40 to $7.25, a few up to $8.00. Feeders have been more plentiful, and close the week lower than the best time Tuesday, a fair demand for feeding steers up to $7.50, a few fleshy cattle bought up to $8.35, and one lot of near-finished steers to a feeder buyer at $9.00, 1,344 pounds average. Stock cows sold around $5.50, stock heifers up to $7.50.

Hogs.

Receipts have been very light, and the market is higher, 5.00 head here today, top $11.10, bulk $10.75 to $11.05, heavy hogs up to $11.00, which price is the top paid by packers. Order buyers have been active all week and small killers are the main prop under the market. However, packers clean everything up when they get into action. The strong demand gives no chance to depress prices, even though receipts are running liberal for the season.

Sheep and Lambs.

The market is 50 cents higher on lambs the last two days, top Utahs and Idaho at $11.00 today, receipts 5,600 head. Natives sell up to $10.25, the native season about over. Feeding lambs are 25 to 40 cents higher, $10.25 the common price the last three days for good Western feeders, weighing around 55 pounds. Packers' sorts are very light, as receipts are below their requirements here, and buyers are hard pressed to secure sufficient killing material. Sheep are 15 to 25 cents higher, yearlings worth up to $8.25, wethers $7.75, ewes $7.25, breeding ewes $7.00 to $9.00, feeding ewes $5.00 to $6.50. J. A. RICKART. Market Correspondent.

FORD CAR HAULS STAGE WITH 40 MEN TO WORK.

Over in San Luis Obispo, Calif., they are putting in a natural gas line. The transportation of workers was a problem until a Ford runabout arrived on the scene. Now forty workmen dispose of themselves as comfortably as possible in, around and on top of an old stage coach and the Ford, undismayed by the load, hauls coach and men to and from their work. It is just one more instance of the resourcefulness of a Ford in universal service and of the staunchness and sturdiness of this car.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today, and tomorrow and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels. Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless so give it to your children any time it can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards. -Adv.

Children's Shoes

How Often Have You Said—

"I wish I could buy shoes that would give my children good wear." It looks as if I had to buy a pair every month.

Children are hard on shoes

What more can you expect from a strong, healthy boy or girl? It's good for them to run and jump. The thing for you to do is to buy them a good strong shoe, one that is made of solid leather, and good leather; too.

It's more important for children's shoes to be made well and made of good, solid leather than for grown people's.

We know this and this is why we sell the famous "Star Brand" Children's Shoes.

They are made of leather throughout. The heels, counters and insoles are all leather. They are full vamps, too.

They are put together in the strongest manner possible, which insures the wearing qualities.

If there were better shoes than "Star Brand" we would buy them. We have looked at nearly every representative line on the market and we haven't found one in which we have the same confidence as we have in "Star Brand" line.

Every shoe is made of solid leather.

Bring your children to our store and let us fit them up with a pair of "Star Brand."

"Boy Proof" School Clothes

The Hercules School Clothes for boys have stood the test of many a lively Plainview lad. They have made good after repeated years of trial with this live store. Had they not shown their superiority we would have sought something better for boys long ago. The fact that we continue to acclaim them the best is evidence of their wearing qualities.

Every piece of goods which enters a Hercules suit or overcoat is of the same high standard which we have insisted upon from the manufacturers whose lines we handle. They are made with the thought in mind that a school boy will be a school boy, that he is hard on clothes, and that he must have something just a little bit better than the ordinary if he is to remain a friend of Hercules.

Send your boys in today. They will receive the same courteous consideration as they would if accompanied by their more exacting parents.

Velvet and Velour Hats Predominate this Fall

Velvet and Velour hats are the dominant note in the new Hat Fashions for Fall, and many fascinating styles await your coming with intermediate sizes in first place. Head sizes will be worn somewhat larger and shapes will be worn low over the brows and with much less tilt than usual. In fact, many of the newest models are intended for wear straight across the brows.

For shape ideas the Paris makers have taken the models familiar to us in portraits of Napoleon and of George Washington as a basic inspiration. Thus, brims are flattened back over the crown in front and drawn out into extreme points at the side, or else they are folded up in true Continental fashion, with sharp angles.

In such models the crown is practically a negligible feature, so far as style is concerned. We have hats to suit all purses, at $5.00 and $10.00
