HERNAN TALKS ON NEW CANADA-TO-GULF ROAD

LIVE GOOD ROADS CLUBS ORGANIZED AT ABERNATHY, HALE CENTER AND PLAINVIEW.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPT. NEEDED

We Should Have Roads That "Start Somewhere, Go Somewhere and End Somewhere."

An enthusiastic meeting was held this afternoon, in the District Court room, in the interest of the Puget Sound-to-Gulf Highway, which is fostered by the National Highway Association. E. J. Hernan, assistant director-general of the National Highway Association, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., spoke at length of the advantages of good roads and in particular of the advantage of correlated national highways. Mr. Hernan is making a survey of the route of the old Colorado-to-Gulf Highway, which it is proposed to retain on the Puget Sound-to-Gulf Highway, which is known as the National Park Highway to the National Highway Association, since it passes through the national forests and parks. The proposed route will connect Canadian points, Seattle, Washington, and other Northwest Pacific Coast points with Corpus Christi, Texas.

In opening his address, Mr. Hernan said: "It was my pleasure this morning to tour the irrigated district east of Plainview in company with Mr. M. D. Henderson, of your city. I want to say that the people of Plainview have cause to be optimistic, if any people on God's green earth have. There is here the greatest possibility of development of any section of the United States I have seen."

Continuing, he took up the history of highway construction in the United States, mentioning the first great national highway, built under Federal aid and supervision, the old Cumberland Road, seven hundred miles long, extending from Washington, D. C., to St. Louis, Mo., and built at a cost of $10,000 per mile. He told how through neglect the roadway had been allowed to deteriorate.

"There is enough money wasted on unnavigable rivers in an effort to make them navigable to build good highways over the Nation," he said with emphasis. "The wasteful policy of the Government in attempting internal improvement of this nature is one of the greatest jokes of the Twentieth Century." This money which is wasted should be applied to the improvement of the public highways of the country, is the speaker's opinion.

"The National Park Highway, known as the Puget Sound-to-Gulf Highway, is today only a myth," said Mr. Hernan, "but it is a possibility. By concerted action, co-operative effort of all the people along the route, it can be made a reality."

Passingly, he referred to the content and purpose of the Shackelford-Bankhead good roads bill, which has already become law, upon the signature of President Wilson. Texas' appropriation from that fund is approximately $4,500,000. But one of the provisions of the bill is that there shall be in each state a state department of highways, before Federal aid can be secured. Two states of the forty-eight, Indiana and Texas, do not have such departments. The importance of the creation of a department which will be a governing head of practical and theoretical road-building knowledge was emphasized. The National Highway Association and the Texas Good Roads Associations are bringing pressure to bear on the members of the Texas Legislature in an effort to influence them in passing such laws as will create the department.

"As the condition now exists, our State (referring to Texas) is represented by no unit larger than the county in road building. There is no concentrated State unit," he said. "What we need is roads that start somewhere, go somewhere and end somewhere. Kentucky was the first state to have a highway department. The counties which were progressive enough to co-operate with the state engineer of roads are now the wealthiest counties in the state. It would be a shame for Texas not to receive this Federal appropriation, which means

CLASSES FOR ALL STORES IN THE WINDOW CONTEST

Three First Prizes Offered by Herald During Nationally Advertised Goods Week.

As announced in Tuesday's Herald, International Window-Display Week will be fostered in Plainview by The Evening Herald during the week of October 9th to 14th.

This movement is not local. During the week announced there will be displayed in store windows by merchants all over the United States and Canada goods which have become nationally famous through newspaper advertising.

We want the merchants and dealers of every kind to join us in this co-operative movement, because it means more business for the progressive dealers who fill his windows during that week with nationally advertised products which he has for sale. It won't cost much more than a little time, and it will attract public attention and effect sales.

Our subscribers know and appreciate these articles. Let everyone who passes your store during that week know that you handle the goods.

Everyone knows how magnificent was the display of the local merchants in March when The Herald fostered Window-Display Week. The customer found shopping easy and therefore a pleasure. The merchant found an increased interest and increased sales resulting from his efforts. Already Plainview has been given favorable advertising in the trade journals as a result of its efforts to dress its windows last March.

This time the plan of awarding prizes and judging will be somewhat changed. All dry goods, clothing, and tailoring stores will be judged in one class; all grocery, confectionery and drug stores and barber shops in another class, and all hardware, furniture, automobile, racket and other stores will form another class. It should not be necessary to offer extra inducements to add to the value of such displays, yet The Herald is pleased to announce that it will award a single first prize in each of the three classes named of $10 in cash.

The awards will be placed by three disinterested judges, using the score-card system in judging the individual windows. The basis of judging will be as before. One hundred per cent will constitute a perfect score. Of this amount, "Sales Pulling Power" will count for 50 per cent; "Ability to Attract Attention" will score 25 per cent; "Beauty of Display," 10 per cent; "Originality of Design," 10 per cent, and "Attention to Details," 5 per cent.

Each dealer agreeing to enter the contest will be furnished with window display cards announcing that his window will contain a special display. The discriminating shopper is urged to look for these announcements and watch for the display when made.

Plainview Boy Tells of Life On U. S. Steamship in China

The following letter from Gratz Hunter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hunter, gives interesting accounts of his life on the U. S. S. St. Helena:

"April 22. "We have been in Shanghai, China, seven months today, and I am rather glad we are leaving for a while. I do not know how long we will remain up-river. The ships are pretty well scattered now. The Elcano went down the coast to Foo-chow, where the fighting is going on. The rebel soldiers have been looting the town; so the Elcano made a hurried trip.

"I played baseball Saturday—the first time in three years. The game was played between the U. S. S. Brooklyn and Helena. It was an exhibition game at St. John's College. Its purpose was to interest the Chinese students in baseball. There was quite a blow-out, and Shanghai society was out to view the first game of the season.

"The Helena's team had not been organized yet, and only had the candidates out twice to practice, while the Brooklyn's team was already heavy with this season's victories at Manila. Her batteries have played together for three years, and she conquered Manila's best team. We got beat 7 to 1. We expect to get better if we can get more practice."

LIEUTENANT CARL BROWN IS TRANSFERRED TO VALENTINE

Lieutenant Perdue of Company I, Fourth Infantry, Takes Lieutenant Brown's Place at Sanderson.

Sanderson, Texas, Sept. 17, 1916.

Another week has gone by, and now for a few lines in regard to what has happened in camp the past week.

Thursday was General Inspection Day. This detachment was inspected by Lieutenant-Colonel Murchert and Major Hill, and while we have not yet received the report from headquarters in regard to the result, yet the inspectors before they left complimented us very highly on the cleanliness of our equipment and the manner in which we executed the different foot movements. They did not put us through the Manual of Arms, or (even if I do say it myself) they would have complimented us on that also.

Lieutenant-Colonel Murchert stated to Lieutenant Brown in the presence of the detachment, that it was indeed a pleasure for him to inspect a bunch of rifles such as we had, as they were the cleanest bunch that he had inspected in a long while. He even had to take his knife and hunt around the screw heads and places where the woodwork was joined to find dirt—and then failed!

Thursday night Lieutenant Brown received a wire ordering him to report at headquarters (Marfa, Texas) for temporary duty. I heard last night that he had been sent to Valentine.

Lieutenant Brown left here Friday morning at 7:40, and Lieutenant Perdue arrived at 11 o'clock the same day to take his place.

Lieutenant Perdue advised the company, or, rather, this detachment, that Lieutenant-Colonel Murchert had told the captain that this detachment had made the best showing of any command in the entire Fourth Regiment, and that instead of this detachment looking to the headquarters of the company as a model, it was up to them to take us for a model. Some record for this little bunch of "rough necks," as that is what this bunch has been called ever since the company was divided, on June 29th!

Cook W. D. Hinds and Private Nash returned from their furlough this week, and they report that the Plainview country sure is some good-looking country. No doubt about that at all, for it sure did look good when we left, and no one has forgotten.

Sometime ago I found a Sunset Magazine of 1912 issue in which our friend, Z. E. Black, had an article. Among the illustrations was one taken from the northwest corner of the square. I tore it out, and whenever I speak to anyone around here and they ask what kind of town Plainview is, I show them this picture and explain the changes that have taken place since it was taken, in 1910. There is only one reply—"That sure must be some town!" and naturally I always reply that it sure is and that it will always be some town.

Wednesday our teamster, Cornell, left for Plainview on a furlough, to be gone seven days, so I suppose by this time that he is indeed enjoying himself in Plainview.

During the past two weeks a great deal has been said about what would be done with the Fourth Regiment; but at present there has been nothing received that was official, so we are doing duty at the same old place.

The health of this detachment remains the same as it was last week. Wednesday Sergeant Dunaway was transferred to Marathon for duty, and Sergeant Dishon was transferred here.

Yours truly,
W. J. KLINGER.

The Olympic Barber Shop was a complete loss. Its value was approximately $2,500. The fixtures were only partially insured.

The Olympic Picture Show, valued at $4,000 and insured for $750, was a total loss.

A three-course luncheon was served by the defeated ones, assisted by Mrs. Greer, Miss Lula Bailey and Mrs. Allan Waddill. Poe Greer, as captain of the "Blues," offered the welcome toast, which was responded to by Frederick Weise, in behalf of the "Whites." Games and music, with conversation and merry jokes, made the evening one long to be remembered—even if Poe Greer's car did "went dead" on him when he was taking his "best girl" home (a few miles out of town, when it was pouring down rain).

Courtesy is a business asset. It is a mark of good breeding. Even the discourteous like to have courtesy shown them.

Members of the canning clubs of Texas are learning an art which will not only mean more economical, but also better living in Texas homes. There comes the report from Temple, Texas, that one girl has already gathered over 600 pounds of tomatoes from a tenth of an acre of ground, which she cultivated herself. All this yield has been used fresh on the family table, preserved or sold. In the preserving line she has canned 169 jars of fruits and vegetables. The monetary value of the products, according to the schedule whereby the girls estimate the value of their products, is $51.55—one-third what the same goods would cost on the retail market, and very much superior.

DRIVING NECESSITY DEMANDS EFFICIENCY.

Efficiency is the one thing the age is most seeking in industry. We are reminded of the man who had for three years walked to the railway station on business each morning. One day while walking through a by-path, which would across a vacant lot, he was in a hurry, and the few extra steps meant much to him. He cut the corners of the winding trail to save time. The next morning he decided that it was shorter to go straight across out of the beaten path. He counted his steps. He found that it required only 78 to cross the lot in a straight line, the shortest distance between two points. He counted steps the old way. An even hundred steps were required. He was only 78 per cent efficient in crossing the lot. He had blindly followed the beaten path each morning at a cost of energy sufficient to take twenty-two steps.

This is an almost insignificant illustration of efficiency, except for the lesson that it gives.

We are much less efficient than we can be. We do many useless things just because it has been done by us and by others before. Efficiency means getting out of "the old rut."

And we often fail to see the possibilities of real efficiency until necessity forces us to it. The same saving could have been affected before, but we did not feel the driving force of necessity.

Huge piles of cane pulp left at the sugar and syrup mills have hitherto been wasted largely when burnt, for there is little fuel value in this waste. The scarcity of paper of all kinds has caused an unprecedented investigation into the manufacturing possibilities of various waste materials. True, this investigation had been going on before the paper market demanded a new source of supply, but not as aggressively.

Food For Thought

The wisdom of the wise and the experience of ages may be preserved by quotation.—Benjamin Disraeli.

Defeat is only a reason for exertion. We shall do better next time.—Washington.

Little minds are tamed and subdued by misfortune, but great minds rise above them.—Washington Irving.

Censure is the tax a man pays to the public for being eminent.—Swift.

The slander of some people is as great a recommendation as the praise of others.—Fielding.

Misunderstood! It is a right fool's word. Is it so bad then to be misunderstood? Pythagoras was misunderstood, and Socrates, and Jesus, and Luther, and Copernicus, and Galileo, and Newton, and every pure and wise spirit that ever took flesh. To be great is to be misunderstood.—Emerson.

Hate no one; overturn a man's wrong-doing, but do not overturn him, unless it must be done in overturning the wrong.—Lincoln.

A man's good breeding is the best security against other people's ill manners.—Chesterfield.

WAYLAND COLLEGE NOTES.

The rules were suspended for the B. Y. P. U. social at Miss Claudia Quisenberry's Friday night.

Reverend W. B. Davis, association evangelist, conducted the chapel services Monday morning. His talk was enjoyed by all.

Friday evening President Farmer delivered an address and Professor Crabb gave a violin solo to the Dental Association, at the Methodist Church.

The first-year Spanish class has enrolled forty-four. This number being too large for one teacher to do personal work, the class has been divided into two parts. President Farmer considers it a most pleasing embarrassment for the classes to get too large.

Miss Sarah Wayland, a pupil of Professor Crabb, played a simple violin solo in chapel after having only three lessons. She was applauded by all.

Ten new students have enrolled this week.

Reverend T. B. Haynie, of the Presbyterian Church, conducted the chapel exercises Wednesday morning. His talk was appreciated by all.

Wayland and the High School played a practice game Tuesday evening. Great interest was shown on both sides.

A. C. Hatchell, nominee for District Attorney, delivered an address to the student body Thursday morning. His talk was to the point, it being on the art of living.

Miss Dorothy Hutchings, former pupil at Amarillo, of Miss Zeigler, gave a piano solo in chapel Thursday morning after Mr. Hatchell's address. She was applauded by all.

Several new pupils have entered school this week, among whom are Miss Leta Lesley, of Dallas, and Miss Faye White, of Carbon.

Professor Crabb is organizing a splendid basketball team, which he expects, after considerable practice, to cope with all West Texas.

The football boys are practicing daily. New men keep coming in, and soon they expect to be able to put up some interesting games with other teams.

The literary societies met on Friday, with good attendance and interesting programs. Much good is being realized from these societies. More and more members are becoming interested in the work. A number of new members were added Friday to the rolls. These societies are instructive as well as interesting, and all pupils are urged to join one or the other as soon as possible.

Short-Time Farm Loans Explained

Being an Exposition of the Purposes and Aims and the Administration of the New Federal Loan Act

The Herald carried in a recent issue a digest of the Federal Farm-Loan Act. Beginning in this issue there will appear on Fridays installments of a series of four articles on short-time farm loans, prepared by the Office of Information of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

I. Personal Character and Short-Time Farm Loans.

Bulletin No. 409, "Factors Affecting Interest Rates and Other Charges on Short-Time Farm Loans," by C. W. Thompson, Specialist in Rural Organization, U. S. Department of Agriculture, gives the following discussion of the bearing that the borrower's personal characteristics have on his ability to obtain short-time loans on satisfactory terms:

"The borrower who is known to be a man of honesty and integrity and who shows ability and judgment in the conduct of his farm business will ordinarily command the confidence of his banker and obtain credit on terms relatively favorable for his class of loans, whereas the individual who is uncertain in his personal character, erratic in his judgment, and irregular in his business habits will be considered a less desirable risk and, if he obtains a loan at all, usually must pay a higher rate of interest. In any case, if credit is to be extended wisely it is just as important to discourage its use among those who can not be trusted as it is to grant credit to trustworthy borrowers who will use the borrowed money profitably and repay it promptly.

"Often times the borrower may be honest and upright in his intentions, but may fail to appreciate the importance of being prompt in meeting his obligations. Possibly he thinks that a few days after the date of maturity is soon enough to make payment, and that a little delay is unimportant. He may not stop to consider that extra work and expense are involved when notice must be given of overdue paper, or that bank examiners do not take kindly to notes that are overdue.

"Again, the business ability and business habits of the farmer are tested when the banker asks for a statement of the borrower's business. This information is needed by the banker as a basis for intelligent rating. If the borrower is in the habit of keeping accounts and can explain the nature of his resources and liabilities, and thus indicate accurately his financial standing, the wisdom of granting a desired loan as well as the proper terms thereon, readily can be determined. On the other hand, if this information is lacking, and the banker is in doubt about the safety of a particular loan, he is likely to charge up his uncertainty to the borrower's account in the form of a higher rate of interest.

"The requirement that a borrower shall submit a statement of his business is being applied by bankers in their dealings with merchants and manufacturers. Accordingly, business men in general have become more or less familiar with this requirement, and are prepared to furnish such a statement whenever it is called for. Some bankers, in inaugurating a similar plan in connection with their farm-loan business, are supplying farmers with especially prepared blanks, or rate sheets, on which the farmers furnish the desired information."

Miss Effie Murphy will leave tomorrow for Belton, where she will attend Baylor Woman's College.

HEAVY ENROLLMENT IN TEXAS UNIVERSITY INTER-SCHOLASTICS.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 20.—Professor E. D. Shurter reports that during the first two weeks of September two hundred and thirty-four schools had enrolled as members of the University Inter-Scholastic League, when only three registered during the same time in September, 1915. Last year the total of members in the League was 1,296 schools, from 140 counties. For this year he expects something like two thousand schools, from probably 175 counties. During the past two weeks fifteen lecturers from the University have visited county institutes in the interest of the Inter-Scholastic League and other activities of the Department of Extension.

Hereafter the work of the League in debating, declamation, essay-writing, spelling and athletic contests will be closely allied to what former Director Ellis called "Schoolhouse Meetings," where individual communities meet for the purpose of discussing questions of common interest involving the social and economic welfare of each community. Under Dr. Shurter's plan, as followed from the beginning, each school will have its local contests, the winners of which will go to the county contest; the winners of the various county contests will meet in a district contest, and the winners of the district contest will come to the University of Texas May 3rd and 4th, 1917, for the finals. During the last two or three years nearly a thousand teachers and friends have met at the University each year to cheer for their representatives in spelling, debating, declamation and the various forms of school athletics. "Of course, ownership of the League is vested in the school children of the State," said Professor Shurter today, "and I am glad that they are fast realizing this fact and coming into the League."

PLAINVIEW BOY TELLS OF LIFE ON U. S. STEAMSHIP IN CHINA.

again. They sure are prepared there for seaman invasion!

"Well, Canton is the place you read about so many people living in boats, and it sure looks true, for I never saw so many boats in all my life before.

"There are no picture shows here fit to go to, and no theaters at all. Our movies aboard ship cost us $25 a show, so we only have one about once a week.

"I was ashore on liberty day before yesterday afternoon, and walked and walked trying to see the place, but it was too big. There are no street cars and very few 'rick-shaws.' While Mac and I were walking along the river bank, we saw a big junk going up the river propelled by a large stern paddle-wheel. As we saw no smokestack, or could hear no engine, we were naturally curious to know what made the wheel go round. So, being from Missouri, we proceeded to investigate, and found that it was worked on the old tread-mill system, and the power was supplied by slaves. The fellow at the wheel held a long whip, and we could see scars on the backs of the men where they had been whipped. Upon inquiring ashore as to the compensation they received for this. We found out that they receive $12 Mexican currency a year and chow (meaning board). We were told that they eat nine times a day, but their food consists of nothing but rice, and there isn't much staying power in that. The rice puts 'bay windows' on them, but 'they' do not denote strength.

"We also saw several merchant junks which carry silk, and all of them had about five cannons, for protection from pirates, which are quite plentiful around here—but holy smoke! I think those guns were made about 1600 B. C.! They sure were antique.

"We get liberty from 4 p. m. until 8 p. m. There is nothing here to do but wait and see what the rebels are going to do. We are trying to get up two baseball teams off the ship to play one another, as there is no one else here to play. This certainly is the worst hole we ever dropped into!"

"August 4.

"Well, Plainview beat us on the celebration of the 4th, but I am pretty well satisfied, as I won first prize in the running broad jump. The prize was a seven-jewel watch. I only had to jump twice. I won at 17 feet 6 inches.

"You people had some fireworks that night, I notice, but we have excitement enough now. The federal troops are trying to take Canton. The gunboats defending the place lie about one-fourth mile up the river from us. The defending force numbers 15,000 and the enemy 11,000. They do their hardest fighting at night, and you can see the rifles flash, and when the boats fire you can see the shrapnel burst, and altogether it is sure exciting!

"The other afternoon we were standing on the forecastle watching the battle, when ping! and something hit the stack. We were all looking at the dent made by the bullet, when—bang!

—one struck alongside of the bunch. Talk about sheep scattering! One second 50 men in a bunch talking, and the next no one on deck at all!

"The battle has been going on ten days, and last night was the first night that they didn't make us keep below decks.

"We were going to land the other night, and I had orders to stand by the searchlight, which is situated up on the mast, and, believe me, you could hear the the stray bullets singing by—but man! it sure was a magnificent sight to watch the battle from aloft. The defending force had a shore battery on the starboard side of the river (the fighting was on the left side), and that was composed of two six-inch guns, and they sure did roar, and when the shell burst you would have a sure-enough Fourth of July celebration all at one time. I can hear them firing now.

"Lung, the defending general and governor of this province, wants to be independent, while General Li represents Peking. Li says that if Lung don't surrender within a week that he (Li) is going to burn the town. Lung says he won't surrender and that before he would he would turn Canton over to his 'Honam' priates for loot. And if he does we will have to protect 'Shameen' (the white settlement) from the raids, and you know what drunken soldiers are, especially these ignorant Chinese.

"My only kick is that if we land I may not get to go, for I will have to stand by and keep the searchlight going all night.

"Well, anyway, I will let you know how it comes out.

"Oh, yes! We get no liberty, but have a baseball party, which plays by the Standard Oil works, about two and one-half miles from the line of fire. But this afternoon one of the fellows got his arm broke from a stray bullet, so I guess we won't go there again for a while!

"They use dum-dums out here, also soft-nose bullets. One of our hospital men went over to the field hospital to help the Red Cross and to get some experience in surgery, and he said that the soft-nose bullets did awful damage; that out of his lot of 197 there were only two that lived, for the others were literally torn to pieces.

"Hot! It is now 122 degrees, and we have registered 125 degrees today, at 1 o'clock.

"Will let you know soon what we do. Must close now and run the movie machine.

"With love to all,
"GRATZ."

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Crashes Into Sour Bile Making You Sick, and You Lose a Day's Work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your drugist and get a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful, and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose your day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tonic instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition. -Adv and ambition.

Upon motion of O. M. Unger, a permanent Good Roads Association was organized, following Mr. Hernan's speech. Chas.
