STATES RATIFY SUFFRAGE BILL

Wisconsin and Michigan Amendments for Women Voters

PLANS ARE BEING REALIZED AND COMPLETED ARE HARD AT WORK

Everything is working smoothly and rapidly for the great Fourth of July celebration in honor of the boys who wear the uniform.

The committees are all on the job, the ranchmen have promised to assist and everybody is enthusiastic.

Some of the outside attractions are still to be heard from, but some are definite.

The meat will be barbecued on the vacant lots belonging to J. H. Slaton, on North Broadway. It will be brought piping hot and placed on the tables, which will be arranged outside and all around the court house square.

The Amarillo Elks will cross bats in the afternoon with the local Elks and a game is planned between Matador and Clovis for the morning.

This celebration is going to be the biggest thing ever pulled off in Plainview. Visitors are expected from all over the surrounding territory and everything possible will be done to honor the returned soldiers.

Trying to Stir Up Trouble

It is persistently reported that several itinerants have arrived in Plainview who are showing evidences of Bolshevism.

They refuse to work at prevailing wages, saying they intend to wait until the wheat harvest begins, when they will work if they can get $7.50 to $8 a day. They are sowing seeds of discord, arguing that harvest hands should organize and refuse to work for less than such wages, and if their demands are not granted to tie up the harvest at a critical time.

Their coming here is seemingly to stir up trouble. It is liable to react on their heads in a very serious way, if they persist in their propaganda.

Commissioners' Court

Commissioners' court met Monday of this week and adjourned Wednesday. Among other matters brought up, a jury of view was appointed for a new road to be opened up southeast of town. The jury comprises W. F. Brooks, W. J. Johnson, H. E. Landis, G. M. Phillips and W. B. Seaman.

The resignation of Chas. W. Slagle, tractor engineer was accepted.

Residence Destroyed by Fire

The residence owned and occupied by Jesse DeLaha was almost entirely destroyed by fire about six o'clock Wednesday afternoon. When discovered the flames were beyond the control of the fire company.

Some insurance was carried.

Gone to Meet Capt. Anderson

Mrs. J. C. Anderson and Mrs. Austin Anderson are in Waxahachie visiting Miss Mary Bullard, from there they will go to Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark., to meet Capt. Austin Anderson, who has returned from France.

Heavy Rains

Passengers coming in yesterday morning from the south reported heavy rains below Lubbock. Between Ralls and Cone the down pour very nearly resembled a waterspout.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses were issued this week by County Clerk Jo. W. Wayland to Hugh Allison Lattimore and Miss Mattie Smith.

J. S. Stanfield and Miss Ida McGlasson.

New York, June 10.—Ratification of the suffrage amendment by the legislatures of Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan with Governor Smith's call for an extra session in this state to act on the amendment caused jubilation at the headquarters of the national woman suffrage association here tonight. News of Governor Smith's action followed close on the receipt of telegrams by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the association, from the executives of Kansas, Iowa, New Hampshire and Minnesota promising similar action.

Governor Allen of Kansas telegraphed that he had issued a call for a special session on June 16 and that he believed unanimous favorable vote would be recorded.

Governor Harding of Iowa wired that he had no doubt the amendment would be adopted at the session of the legislature which will meet in January 1920.

GRAY COUNTY SEAT REMAINS AT LE FORS

Pampa, June 10.—Gray county voters decided to retain the county seat at Le Fors in a special election held today, Pampa lacking 46 votes of getting the necessary two-thirds majority. Four hundred eighty-seven votes were cast for Pampa, 312 for Le Fors, and 1 for Allenreed, totalling 800 votes. Eight alleged mutilated ballots were reported thrown-out at McLean and there at Pampa.

Several score of voters here tonight signed a statement pledging themselves to support no candidate from Lakertown, Le Fors, McLean, or Allenreed for any public office. The signers also asked that the pledge be preserved and presented to them before each election hereafter as a reminder as well as to have it published once every six months in the Pampa News.

Good Oats Crops

The oat crop as well as the wheat seems to be coming to the front on the Plains. "The finest oats I ever saw," said one man who had just returned from the territory south of here.

Elks Victorious

The games Wednesday afternoon between the Floydad team and the Elks resulted in a score of 4 to 5 in favor of the Elks. Batteries were Jay for the Elks and Willis for Floydad. Bating honors went to Wylie Brashear and O. C. McDaniels.

A large crowd witnessed the game who good naturedly cheered both sides.

INDIANS TO AID IN ATTEMPT TO STOP OUTRAGES

Officers Hold Conference With Yaquis Indians in Arizona.

Nogales, Arizona, June 9.—A conference between United States government officials, army officers and Yaqui Indian chiefs in this state was scheduled to open tonight at Mesquite, Arizona, with prospects of an agreement being reached which would materially assist in putting an end to Yaqui depredations in the state of Sonora, Mexico. This announcement was made tonight. It was stated that vigorous opposition would be brought to bear on the movement said to be under way to have Yaquis in Arizona deported to Mexico, it being argued that if this be done conditions in Sonora only will be made worse, since there is little work there for the Indians and further disorders would result.

It is understood the Yaquis in Arizona are willing to assist the United States government officials in running down Yaquis smuggling arms and ammunition into Mexico. Among those who were instrumental in bringing about, and those who were expected to attend the conference opening tonight are: United States Consul E. Dyer and Vice-Consul Charles Doherty of Sonora; Lieutenant Robert Ecott Isreal, military intelligence officer of the sub-district of Nogales; Lieutenant Sutter of the military police; Captain Capron, constructing quartermaster, who employs a number of Yaquis, and Judge J. C. Underwood, who operated mining properties on the Yaqui river for many years, and who is regarded as a close friend of the Indians.

HOUSE PASSES RAILROAD BILL

Hugh Appropriation Measure Is Approved After Debate by Vote 305 to 4

Washington, June 10.—By a vote of 305 to 4 the house today passed the bill authorizing an appropriation of $750,000,000 for the railroad administration's revolving fund. Democratic members urged a larger amount, but did not press any amendment for an increase, while republicans declared the fund would be sufficient until later in the year when future needs would be known. The measure now goes to the senate where leaders plan early action.

FEDERAL TROOPS CLASH WITH THE VILLA BANDITS

Skirmish Near Jaurez; Feeling at Jaurez Now Very Intense Is Report

Jaurez, June 11.—With advance forces of General Felipe Angeles reported at San Augustin, 16 miles east of Jaurez, and midway between this city and Guadalupe, 32 miles east, where it is claimed the revolutionary leader has a large force of men, a battle for the possession of the port city is expected during the night or early tomorrow.

At 4:15 o'clock this afternoon a skirmish was reported a few miles east of Jaurez between Mexican federal and some Angeles men, probably a scouting party. Two detachments of 100 men each of Mexicans fedrals immediately left on a reconnaissance.

Enter the Bride

Miss Pattie Dalton, a June bride elect, was honored Tuesday afternoon with a miscellaneous shower given at the Brashear home 304 East Fifth street by Mrs. Rosella Rushing and Miss Georgia Brashear. The rooms were decorated in pink and white cut flowers artistically arranged.

After the arrival of the guests, Miss Dalton entered gownned in lavender Georgette Crepe. Her blond beauty heightened by a black picture hat and a cossage bouquea of pink rosebuds.

Following a game of forty-two little Dorothy Rushing and Evelyn Rose Brashear entered with wagons laden with gifts for the popular bride, who received them with exclamation of surprise and pleasure, for all brides love pretty things.

The wee maids, one of them is just two years old, were dressed in pink and white and their wagons were garlanded with the same colors. After this, the important part of the affair, Miss Ruth Neal gave a piano solo and Miss Georgia Brashear sang "Dear Old Pal of Mine" with Mrs. Roy Lipscomb accompanist. The hostess selected this particular song as a tribute to the long friendship between Miss Dalton and herself, a friendship which commenced in childhood.

With minature baskets of mints as favors a dainty two course luncheon was served to the guest of honor and Mesdames W. J. Clinger, G. C. Hughes, Beulah Scudder, Roy Lipscomb, Wallace Settoon, Wiley Brashear, Misses Lula Blair and Ruth Neal, Marie Gidney, Celestine Harp, Mary Gilbert, Lacy Dalton, Irene Lamb, Josie and Lula Goode, Myrtle Vincell, Anna Simms, Kathleen Joiner, Esther Kimble and Elzela Perdue.

Miss Dalton, whose marriage to Mr. Jack Vaughn of Springfield, Mo., is announced for the evening of June 25 has a host of friends in the city and the function of Tuesday afternoon is one of several to be given in her honor.

MEN ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY IDENTIFIED

CAR STOLEN AT FORT WORTH; STORE ROBBERED AT ROTAN CHARGES ALLEGED

From reports received from an official in a position to know of the depredations of the three young men who were arrested by the Lamb county sheriff, and landed in the Plainview jail last week on charges of burglarizing Donohoo-Ware Hardware Co's. store in Plainview, and stealing a car from an Olton party. The boys names are Bill Mullins, Lee Leslie and Crawford Bridges, and are said to all live at Fort Worth.

Dr. Mullins of Fort Worth, father of Bill Mullins, one of the boys, was here yesterday, looking into the matter on behalf of his son.

A message from the detective department at Fort Worth alleges that the super-six Hudson car, which he boys were traveling in, was stolen from that city on June 6, and the owner of the car is expected at once to come to Plainview and claim same.

The sheriff of Fisher county arrived here yesterday and identified the guns, which were the property of the property of a hardware concern at Rotan, which was burglarized recently.

The boys are still dumb on the subject of their exploits, but it is certain that six charges of burglary and theft are lined up against them: Two charges in Fisher county, two in Hale and one each in Tarrant and Lamb counties. It seems that these three young men started out on a general tour of the country and were overhauled by the sheriff of Lamb county, after successfully pilfering all along the line from Fort Worth to Olton.

At this time no bond has been granted and the young men are domiciled in the Hale county jail, where they will probably remain until the August term of district court convenes.

COMMUNITY WELFARE MEETING ON MONDAY NIGHT

Will Be Held on Court House Lawn at 8:30 O'clock—All Are Urged To Attend

The community welfare meeting which was postponed on account of the storm last Monday night is scheduled for next Monday night at the court house at 8:30 o'clock.

Everybody is urged to come, as the welfare of the youth of the nation is of vital interest to all. The committees will give their reports and definite arrangements will be made at that time for carrying on the work.

The committee on athletic courts canvassed the town Thursday morning and tried to see personally everybody and girl who cares to use the courts either for tennis or basket ball. Any of the young people who were not interviewed can signify their co-operation by communicating with any member of the committee, so Mrs. Geo. Saigling said this morning.

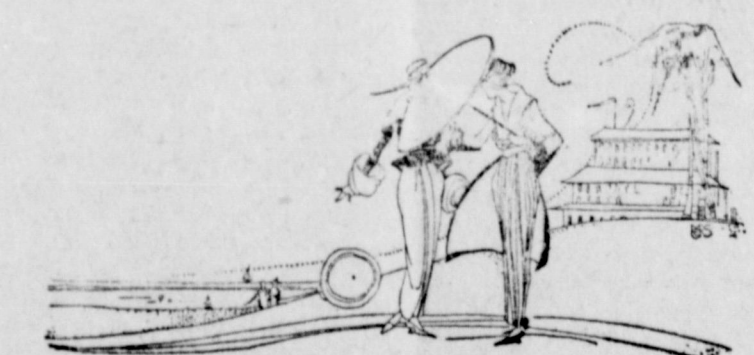

The athletic committee is composed of Mrs. Saigling, chairman; Mrs. Gordon Lang, Mrs. E. E. Robinson, Mrs. J. M. Malone, Mrs. W. C. Long, and Miss Jo Glibert.

Nothing will be required of those who wish to use the courts, except a personal equipment. Any mother who will act as supervisor of one of the courts may also notify any of the above mentioned committee.

EIGHT MEN ARRESTED CHARGED WITH THEFT

Amarillo, June 12.—Sunday night the Ford Hospital on 10th and Jackson streets, was burglarized, 11 casings and 13 inner tubes taken, together with $3.00 in silver from the cash register. The police department was called to make an investigation, which led to the arrest of John Reafan and Ed Tucker employes at the L. and M. Transfer barn; the men being in the act of removing the goods from the hiding place. It seems they had hid the casings and inner tubes among the hay in the attic and had a buyer on the ground to take the goods when they were caught.

Six men were arrested Tuesday, for being implicated in stealing about $1,400.00 worth of hides from the L. and M. barn, where Bob Bonner had them stored. The hides were taken a few at a time, and sold or shipped away. These men are in the county jail awaiting trial. As yet no bond has been made by any of them.

A minister in Indiana says every man should pay his wife at least $175 a month for being a good wife. Another instance of the high cost of loving.

The Slatonite has just added a linotype machine to its equipment. The Slatonite is one of the newest small town local papers on the Plains. The News congratulates it on the evidences of prosperity.

Of course it may be said that we should not "butt-in" to something that is none of our business, but we must protest against so many Plainview brides marrying fellows who live elsewhere. The News is strong on patronizing home industry.

The Childress Post has just celebrated its thirteenth birthday anniversary. We often disagree with Editor Thomas on his politics, but he is a fine fellow and is publishing one of the best and most prosperous weekly newspapers in Northwest Texas.

From all accounts, the Garden of Eden was a very pretty place, and was a delight to the heart. But, even if it was all that, it had nothing on the Plainview country this year, for here every vista is as beautiful as an Eden and pleaseth the eye and heart of man.

Trouble is brewing among the members of the "Loaf-a-Lot" club that offices on the corner of the square. So many "scientific" retired farmers have moved in from the country and joined the club that they may have the balance of power and capture all the club offices at the next election.

After considering the matter thoroughly, the editor of this great moral guide of the Plains has come to the conclusion that the evil is not with the women who wear peek-aboo waists, short skirts and spider-web hosiery, but rather that the evil is in the evil minded men who gaze with evil eyes at them. If a man don't like to see women dress as they do, let him put on a blind bridle.

In Tuesday's News was an article by Miss Lillian Peek of the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, pointing out that wearing of high-heel shoes by girls and women is very detrimental to their health. We urge that every woman read this article carefully, for its argument is conclusive and should be heeded. Any fashion that is detrimental to the health should be done away with.

We are against the use of profanity, but we are always going to spread the mantle of charity over the man who curses an obstreperous mule, or the printer who uses strong language when the linotype gets out of order or the "delivery" on the big press refuses to deliver. Why should a man be expected to get full-up and risk an explosion when he has a safety valve at hand?

The custom inaugurated by the members of the Melvin W. Callendar Bible class of the South Avenue Methodist church of Wilkinsburg, Pa., of observing Fathers' Day by the wearing of a dandelion, was observed again this year by the class. The class adopted the dandelion as their emblem for the reason that it will never be commercialized and that it is symbolic of the fathers for the reason that no matter how often trampled upon the petals always bob up unruffled and untarnished.

Texas will not have the honor of being the first state to ratify the woman's suffrage amendment. The legislatures of Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan ratified it Tuesday. The Kansas, Iowa, New Hampshire and Minnesota legislatures will be called into special session at once to ratify. Despite the fact that the foreign, liquor and tallow-dip element in Texas voted against equal suffrage, the women will be voting everywhere in the United States within a year. Reforms never go backward. Reforms are always progressive. Right and justice always prevail in the end.

Charles M. Schwab, the steel king, is a fair player. He says if we are going to have prohibition then all should do without liquors. "If we are going to have prohibition then the rich men of the country should not be permitted to store their cellars with wines and whisky." The steel king would compel all the people to ride the water wagon—the billionaire as well as the laborer. His point is well taken. If this is to be a dry America it should be dry to the bone. There should be no special privilege class. All the people should be treated alike. There should be one law for all and the same law for the rich that governs the poor.

Both houses of congress this week voted practically unanimously for the government to return all telegraph and telephone systems to their owners, and completely cut loose from all control of them. It is the general opinion of congressmen that the taking over of the wire systems was absolutely unnecessary and one of the greatest blunders of the war. Operation of the wire systems was a dismal failure, and the dictatorial manner in which the people were treated has caused the democratic party to lose hundreds of thousands of supporters. The quicker the railroads are turned back to their owners, the better it will be.

In February the News stated that it had during January received more new subscribers than in any month during the eight months of the present editor owned paper (barring contests.) We can now state that February, March, April and May each showed increase over January. The News is the fastest growing newspaper on the Plains. The people of Hale county are showing their appreciation of the News as never before. The News publishes the most local and county news. The News has a clear, independent, fearless editorial policy—it speaks out on the issues of the day—it speaks for the people—it does not toady to "prominent citizens" or remain silent for fear of loss of patronage. These are some of the reasons why the people of Hale county are flocking to the News.

Former Congressman Bob Henry of Waco has rushed into print to declare how much gratified he is that his old district voted against woman's suffrage, and thus "vindicated my views." It was only by a scant majority, however, and did not vindicate his views very strongly. Besides, why should a man be gratified because his people are a bunch of pikers who do not want to deal justly with their women folk; who are so backward and moss-covered that they are afraid to allow their mothers, wives, sisters and daughters to have a voice in the government? While speaking of "vindicating my views," in 1916 the people of Texas, when Bob Henry was a candidate for U. S. senator, refused to vindicate him by a majority of about thirty or forty to one, and thus he passed out of office and retired to private life, where he will likely remain for all time if he continues to hold "my views."

A wheat harvest of 1,300,000,000 bushels in the United States is forecasted by the federal agricultural department. This is by far the greatest crop of wheat grown by any nation since farming began. Bumper crops of corn, oats, barley and all other cereals will be harvested in this land this year. America is the granary of the world. This one year's crops will be ample to feed every stomach in both hemispheres. It will be ample to satisfy every mouth the world around. The American farmer is the savior of the world. He is the provider of the world. He is the greatest force of the world for civilization. The American farmer is not a Bolshevik; he does not believe in destruction of property and the abrogation of property rights. He does not believe in the destruction of the church and the home. He is for God, country and home, every day in the year, and every year in his life. Without the farmer there would be no civilization, in fact, humanity would soon cease to exist. In legislation, the needs of the farmer should be set above that of all others.

One of the cardinal tenets of Bolshevism is "internationalism"—the breaking down of all nation lines, the elimination of patriotism. A more chaotic condition could hardly be conjured up. Patriotism—the love of native land—is a foundation stone of civilization and human happiness. "Be there a man with soul so dead that he has not said, 'This is my own, my native land.'" The man who is not proud of his nation, his state, his county and his community is a very sorry citizen. He is not worthy of the esteem of his neighbors. He has a serious void in his make-up. He is a misfit anywhere and everywhere his lot may be cast. The man who is not ready if needs be to lay down his very life for his country is indeed a craven. The editor of the News is one of the proudest mortals that ever drew breath—he is proud that he is an American, the greatest and best nation that the sun has ever shown upon; he is proud he is a Texan, the greatest in the galaxy of states, and that his forebears fought back the Mexicans and Indians and made such a great commonwealth; he is proud he is a citizen of the Plains, where the best citizenship of the world lives, and where the man who works and does his duty is prosperous and happy. It is indeed a great boon to be a Plainview, Hale county, Texas, American citizen.

BRITISH GREED

In March 1918, the British forces were being hard pressed from Ypres through Cambrai to a junction with the French in front of Amiens. All along the long line their forces were being hard pressed by the legions of the Kaiser; "fighting with their backs against the wall," as Field Marshal Haig described their desperate situation. The winter before—1917-1918—the population of the "Right Little, Tight Little Isle," was reduced to a condition that bordered on famine, due to the activities of the German submarines, which situation could only be relieved by—and was relieved by—the shipment of 80,000,000 tons of wheat from the United States, the people of the United States consenting to the use of wheat substitutes for bread in order that the British people might not starve. To still ease the distressing situation, thru Food Administrator Hoover, President Wilson established the "common breakfast table," and the American people consented without grumbling, or caviling about the price. Still later, Lloyd George, with tears in his eyes, sent his now historic wall across the Atlantic for men to save the situation. "Drop," he cried, "all other preparations and send us men!"

We responded. We sent them the men—first, at the rate of 250,000 a month; then, 275,000 a month; and finally at the rate of 300,000 a month—until our army in France, when the armistice was signed, numbered 2,225,000 men.

—And what was our reward for this hitherto unheard-of military feat? Only that every man we sent to Europe in British bottoms, our government was taxed by the British shipping authorities, with the apparent consent of the British government, $150 for each soldier carried, or $10 more than the price of a first-class passage on an ocean liner!

There was gratitude for all the United States had done to save the situation for England, by preventing the occupation of the French and Belgium Channel ports by the Germans, and thus saving the disintegration of the British Empire! It was England's own immortal bard who wrote: "The poorest service is repaid with thanks;" and "Thanks to men of noble minds, is honorable meed." The United States received neither the thanks nor the meed of praise that was its due. Which proves beyond peradventure, that England no longer lives in the chivalric Shakespearian age, but in an age in which greed has been commercialized and the God of Lust and Avarice placed upon a pedestal to be worshipped by all men.

Poor, morally decadent, Old England—Texas Republic.

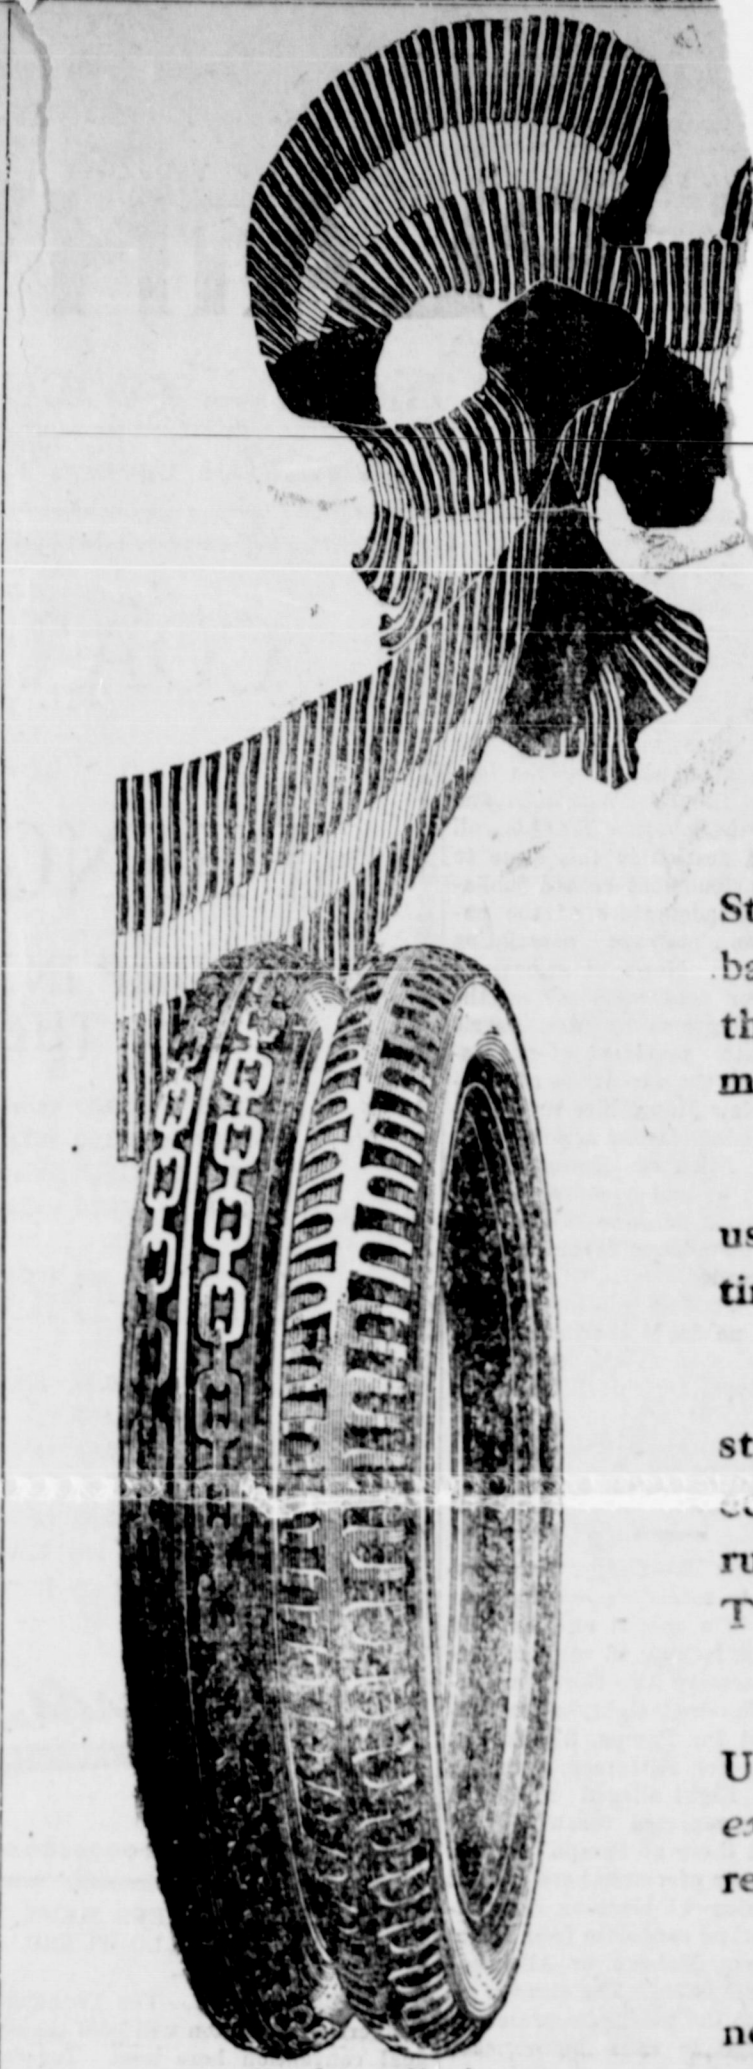

DEPORT THE MALCONTENTS

It is a significant fact that practically every agitator and nearly all the members of the I. W. W., Bolshevik and other revolutionary elements in this country is a foreigner, and many of them were run out of their native countries for some act of cussedness or criminality. Most of them are moral degenerates. All of them are as chock full of devilishness as an East Texas tick is of blood.

These foreigners begin to sow seeds of revolution, destruction and pessimism as soon as they arrive in this country. Nothing in this country seems to suit their jaundiced minds. They want to change our laws, rules and manner of living. They demand that our whole theory of government be remodeled.

They preach anarchy, destruction of property rights, destruction of the home and of the church.

They preach that it is right and proper to kill any person who opposes their propaganda. They argue that it is right to send bombs through the mails to men who oppose or prosecute them. They have sent bombs through the mails and have planted bombs in the homes of government would make them nervous to slip up to a creek and find water in it. We'll bet a dollar to a doughnut that this last scare has made a decided change in their domestic life. Anyhow a friend told us recently that Jess bought his wife a new dress every week and cooked breakfast every morning and that Ben Smith was doing all the washing, wouldn't dare to let his wife hoe in the garden and had promised her a trip to the mountains this summer. What is the matter with these South Plains scribes anyhow?—Miami Chief.

He has interests down in the oil regions that promise in time a million dollars—though it may be a long time until the million comes. A man has offered him $50,000 profit for his leases, stock, etc. The question is, should he close out something that is worth a million dollars for one-twentieth of its value, or is it better to wait and get the million? In the meantime he needs the fifty thousand. Oh, my—trouble, trouble, trouble.

Dry Farmers Should Build Silos
 Every dry farmer on the plains would do well to construct a number of silos and store up a sufficient supply of silage during years of plenty to tide over the times of drouth which are certain to come. Thus the silo is the balance wheel for dry farmers, giving the business stability and insuring against failure due to drouth. The special advantage of a silo is that the feed may be stored over several years without much loss from decomposition and the expense of maintaining it is not great. Any type of silo desired may be used, but the pit form is the most cheaply constructed. Other foods suitable for balancing silage should also be grown.—Field and Farm.

The brewing interests have given up hope that congress will repeal the war-time prohibition on beer and wine, for the six months from July 1 to January 1, and have made an appeal direct to President Wilson to issue a proclamation declaring the law void. It is hardly likely that the president will do any such thing. Why should the wet districts of the nation be allowed a spree of six months before the constitutional amendment becomes effective? Why should a snake be allowed free movement in the front yard for another six months before being killed? Why allow thousands of sober soldier and sailor boys who must pass through the parts of New York and other wet states to be tempted into drinking intoxicants?

THE INTRUDER

By AGNES G. BRIGAN.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

Harry was going to New York on business, and this would be Janet's first opportunity to visit her home, since marriage. The one difficulty was in leaving the new apartment vacant in winter. Janet was afraid that the water pipes might freeze, and it would be impossible to leave Nancy, the parrot, in the cold rooms.

However, Harry departed upon the morning train, and as she was leaving upon a later trolley, Janet sat at the telephone, considering whom among her friends would be willing to care for her troublesome pet. Just in the midst of her problem the telephone rang with a sound of promise.

"Hello, Janey," called a tone of peculiar sweetness, "you will never guess who this is, so I'll tell you. Your old college sister, Theodora; and I am on my way home from a trip with Nell Truesdale. Could you keep me over night? We want to go to the theater."

Janet's brain worked busily. "Come out right now," she replied. The two girls had written of their wandering trip to the homes of various old school friends. There would be much of interest in the city that week. Perhaps she might be able to persuade them to stay and keep house in the apartment during her absence; a mutual exchange of accommodations, the new experience for the girls, care for her plants, and pet. So when the girls came all was quickly and satisfactorily arranged. Joyously her friends escorted Janet to the trolley.

"You can rely upon us," they assured her, "we will keep the gas going in the furnace, and have everything in the apartment for your comfort."

HOW TO TRAP SUCCESSFULLY

Two Ways of Taking the Wary Mink—Snare Into Which "Erer Fox" May Fall.

If a mink makes a hole through a snowdrift he will use it again and a trap set in it will catch him.

After cold weather sets in, when setting in shallow water for mink, choose a place where the current runs swiftly and is not likely to freeze up.

When trapping foxes use a No. 2 double spring trap. This style of trap is known as "the fox trap."

If you wish to be real foxy and cunning yourself, try setting three traps, one in an old path without any covering, and one on each side, skillfully covered. The fox will give all his attention to the uncovered trap and by going around it may step into one of those on the side.

It is not much use to try to trap foxes or any other such wary animal without a good scent.

An ear of corn stuck in the mud near a trap makes an excellent bait for coon.

One of the best places to look for coon signs is in a cornfield.

Marie's American Anthem.

In far away France little Marie, aged six, visited the Red Cross hospital near her home every day, and became very popular with the convalescent American soldiers there. She soon became very good friends with the soldiers and they delighted to teach her scraps of English. When they sang she joined them in their American songs. One day, in Marie's school, teacher asked her class the title of America's national anthem. The class looked blank, until Marie, with a flash of inspiration, jumped to her feet and announced, "Hall! Hall! The Gang's All Here," in quaint, rolling English.

Heating the House.

The proper temperature for various rooms of the home are as follows: The living room should be 70 degrees, no more. It should be occasionally aired so that it does not become close, but the doors should be kept closed into the hall. The dining room and kitchen should be heated to 65 degrees. Most kitchens rise higher than that. The bedrooms should be heated not at all, except for the little time that the occupants use them for dressing. The bathroom should be made as warm as you choose and the halls should be given no special heat, as we are always exercising when we are going through them.

Clever Engineering Feat.

Bisecting long boats so that they could be taken through the Welland canal was considered an interesting feat a short time ago, but this has been surpassed, according to the Popular Mechanics Magazine. The Charles R. Van Hise, a 10,000-ton boat, was wanted for Atlantic service. It had a 50-foot beam, whereas the canal is only 44 feet wide. The boat was cut in two and each half was turned on its side in order to be taken through the locks. Floating in this position each section cleared the lock sides by just 8 inches.

Thinks Many Will Fly.

The principal of one of the chief American schools for airplane mechanics thinks that flying is going to be the next great American amusement. He reminds us that our aviation corps has contained a great many young men of large wealth who have shown themselves good sportsmen. They can afford to buy and maintain their own machines and, having become accustomed to a speed of a hundred and fifty miles an hour, will find the ordinary modes of travel tame.—Youth's Companion.

MASKED VICTORY

By MONA DORR.

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Fred Osborne laughed as he lit a cigar. "But my dear Stewart, I don't want to marry simple little Della. She is a nice girl, but hardly my choice."

"Give that girl the advantages of those city dolls, and she would outshine them all," answered Stewart. "If I were younger I'd not be encouraging you."

A young girl passing through the corridor stifled the cry which rose to her lips as she heard the remarks of the two men.

She hurriedly entered her room, and, throwing herself on the bed, broke into sobs.

Miss Boynton (her hostess) had invited her, and other guests, to spend the week end at her beautiful country residence.

As she lay there, a plan suddenly formed in her mind; and hastily rising and bathing her eyes, she crossed the hall and knocked at the door.

"Come in," called a melodious voice. "Do sit down, I want to chat with you." Then as she noticed the girl's red lips, "Why, Della, what's the trouble?"

As Della confided her plan, the girl smiled and nodded from time to time. "Just you wait!" cried Beatrice Lang. "We'll make them take notice," and she gave Della a big hug. Then they settled down to discuss the great secret.

The girls were very busy the next few days, planning for the masquerade ball, which the hostess was giving to close her entertainment.

At seven o'clock that evening Della entered Beatrice's room, and seated herself in a chair (placed for her) in front of the dressing table.

Beatrice first pulled the lace cap from her friend's head, revealing a mass of beautiful golden curls. This she piled up on the girl's head; then catching up a lovely pink gown, she passed it to her and told her to hurry into it.

Della took from a box a pair of pink satin slippers, and silk stockings, and putting them on, stood up for her friend's inspection.

"My dear!" exclaimed Beatrice. "No one would ever know you," and she turned the girl to the mirror.

"I'll do," she laughed, as a rosy flush spread over her face.

"Do!" Beatrice snapped. "If everyone doesn't pronounce you the belle of the ball I'll miss my guess."

She then picked up a mask and placing it over the girl's face, gave her a push saying: "Now, run along."

Meanwhile Della had reached the ballroom and was immediately claimed for the first dance, which was then about to commence.

As she whirled about, her eyes fell on a familiar figure.

"Who is that stunning-looking girl with Jack Morrill?" asked Fred Osborne of a youth standing near.

"Don't know," was the answer. "She is a beauty. But one can't recognize any of the girls in these confounded things they're wearing."

"Aren't you masking?" Beatrice was asked as she appeared.

"No," she answered. "I must be away in a short while."

Della was in her second dance, when a young man entered the room. He was rather effeminate, perhaps, but decidedly good-looking. Wandering about he at length came up to Fred Osborne.

"By Jove! What a beautiful girl!" he ejaculated. "Can you tell me who she is?"

"I couldn't," said Fred.

In some way the stranger so maneuvered that Fred obtained only the last two dances.

By this time his anger had reached the boiling point; but to all questions regarding the young man, Della answered by a light laugh.

At 11 o'clock came the call to unmask; as Della drew hers from her face, Fred looked at her in astonishment.

"Why! It's little Della," he cried. "Yes, little Della," she returned. "But do look who is claiming your attention."

Fred turned and confronted the stranger, who had so puzzled him. Then, as his eyes rested on the face for a moment a hearty laugh broke from his lips.

"Well, Miss Lang," he cried, "that was one great joke on me."

Someone then spoke to Beatrice, and Fred drew Della out to the beautiful gardens.

There, in the lovely moonlight, he asked her to be his wife.

"But," the girl followed his question by another, "do you forget a certain conversation you held a short while ago?"

Fred thought for a moment, then said: "You can't mean the day Stewart and I were talking?"

"That is just what I mean," said Della.

"My dear," cried he, "will you forgive that thoughtless remark? For I tell you truly, I did not intend Stewart to have the impression you have formed."

"Darling," he continued, "won't you say 'yes,' and let me win forgiveness for the speech?"

He drew her gently to him, and as he looked into her eyes found his answer, even before her lips formed "yes."

If friends of Della Osborne speak truly—according to Fred's idea—there never was a more beautiful girl than his beloved wife.

Are You

AN ANT or a GRASSHOPPER?

You remember that story of the ant and the grasshopper. The ant, in the summertime, filled his storehouse for the coming winter, while the grasshopper, poohooing all advice and words of warning, hopped the merry summer away and almost froze the next winter—you remember.

You will also recall the bitter experience you went through during the winter 1917-18 when coal was high and almost impossible to get. Do you want to go through it all again—possibly worse? The best, the friendliest advice we can give you is to

Buy Coal NOW Before It Goes HIGHER

Read what J. D. Morrow, general director of distribution for the Coal Administration, says:

COAL FAMINE NEAR!

Consumers Must Enter Market Now to Avert the Danger.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, May 21.—The United States will be in the grip of a coal famine in sixty or ninety days and prices will be in excess of the highest war-time prices unless consumers immediately enter the market with huge orders. This prediction was made today by J. D. Morrow, general director of distribution for the Coal Administration, attending the National Coal Association Convention here today. Lack of fuel orders, a grave labor situation, curtailment of production and insufficient railroad facilities were given as causes for anticipation for the famine and high prices.

Read what E. J. Wallace, formerly the Official Advisor, St. Louis Fuel Committee of U. S. Fuel Administration, says:

"Government charts show that in the last few months the output of the mines of the country has fallen over a hundred million tons below normal, showing a 23 per cent drop. This means that this refusal to buy regularly is being carried to such an extent that the bulk of the coal above ground in the country must in the near future be consumed. When that happens fuel consumers are going to realize as early fall comes on that they must have a fresh supply of coal; and they are going to have unlooked for difficulties in obtaining it, because this urgent demand will probably begin about the first of July, when the whole country will start shouting for coal at one and the same time in anticipation of the coming fall and winter's needs and with coal bins practically empty."

Don't wait until next fall or winter to order your coal. You may not be able to get it at any price then—you can't afford to take the chance.

AID OF WAITRESS

By IRA E. ROGERS.

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

While Barbara waited for her order she glanced shyly at the young man in khaki sitting opposite her at the table, and her blue eyes beamed approval. She had never seen a more kindly or intelligent face, she told herself, and she knew he would be brave, too, when the occasion should arise. She began to wish she knew him.

The waitress had been bustling about the table, and Barbara, looking down suddenly, noted to her surprise that a plate containing two orders of rolls had been set directly between her place and that of the young man. When the full significance of this struck her she became horrified. It was evident that the waitress thought that they had come in together. Oh, if she could only catch her eye! But the busy little waitress seemed to look at everyone but her. Why hadn't she gone to the place where she usually went at night and not ventured into this restaurant? The young man was absorbed in a paper and apparently had not noticed the waitress' mistake.

When hours had passed, according to Barbara's feelings, the two orders were brought in and placed before the young man. He looked up with a start; but it was only a fraction of a minute that surprise mastered him. Then he started in to serve Barbara as if it were an every-day occurrence. "It's best to pretend we came together," he said in a low voice, after the waitress had hurried away to other patrons.

Barbara acquiesced shyly. After a few moments her diffidence wore away and she suddenly found herself chatting with the young soldier in the most unconventional way. She felt a twinge of regret when the dinner was over and they had to go their separate ways. He had taken no advantage of their strange meeting, and they parted as they had met, strangers.

In the days that followed Barbara thought much about the young man in khaki. His kindly dark eyes seemed to follow her wherever she went, and she often caught herself scrutinizing a crowd with a hope that she might see him again. She had not entered the restaurant where they had met since that night. Although she had passed it many times she did not have the courage to enter.

One evening, about a month later, Barbara decided to go to see Grace Lincoln, a girl acquaintance, who lived out of town. In the course of the evening she related her strange experience, and when she had finished Grace laughed immoderately, a great deal more than the occasion would seem to warrant.

Before Barbara took her leave her friend said, with a twinkle in her eye, "I want you to come out next Tuesday night. My cousin from Wilton is coming to visit us for two or three days, and I would like to have you meet him. I'm sure you'll like him. You'll come, won't you?"

Barbara promised that she would come. Ordinarily she would have gone home delighted, but now she did not feel pleased at the prospect of meeting Grace's cousin. What did she care about seeing him?

When Tuesday evening came she took a train for her friend's house, and it was a little before eight when she arrived there. Grace came to the door in answer to her ring, meeting her with a burst of delight. "He's come, Barbara; and I know you'll like him."

Barbara smiled unconcernedly. As they entered the living room a tall figure in khaki who had been sitting before the open fire rose and came forward. The girl could hardly believe her own eyes. She was ashamed of herself, for she was blushing furiously as Grace introduced her to her cousin; but Richard Young soon put her at her ease and it was not long before she was chatting with him as she had at the restaurant. He did not once allude to their former meeting, and for this she was very grateful. Just before she left Grace drew her aside a moment.

"Richard has been trying to find you ever since that night," she said. "He told me all about it—he and I have always been like brother and sister. I never had an idea that you were the girl until last week when you were out. I said you would like him," she added, with a roguish glance, "and by the way things look I guess—"

"He's very pleasant," broke in Barbara, her face burning with blushes. Grace said nothing more but smiled knowingly.

Barbara was pleased when Richard Young offered to see her to the train, and as they walked along together she felt as if she had always known him.

"I'm going to call on you tomorrow evening," he announced boldly as the train rumbled into the station. "Provided, of course, that you want me to come."

"Yes—I want you to come," Barbara shyly answered him.

The next evening Richard told her that he had been called, and that he expected to go away the following week.

"When I come back I want someone I know to be waiting for me. Do you think she will, Barbara?"

And Barbara answered softly, "I know she will, Richard."

STRINGENT LAWS PASSED TO BREAK UP AUTO THEFTS

Unlawful to Sell Car That Has Had Engine Number Obliterated or Removed

Stringent laws passed by the recent session of the Texas Legislature are evidence that the lawmakers are determined that a check be put on automobile thefts in Texas. County Tax Collector J. C. Terry is in receipt of a copy of a mandate which takes effect on July 1.

Among other provisions the bill provides that it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to sell or offer to sell a car that has had its engine number obliterated or removed. In such case the owner shall make application to the State Highway Commission for a new number and the application must be accompanied by an affidavit attesting the ownership of the car. The Commission is to keep a record of the issuance of new numbers, disclosing the name and address of applicant, trade name and model of vehicle, the year it was made and the number assigned.

The law says further that it is illegal to make application for a State license or for the county tax collector to grant the license in case the engine number has been removed or obliterated. The applicant for license must present receipt for registration from the Commission, granted upon application for new number.

Further provisions make it unlawful for one to offer to sell or trade a motor vehicle without having in actual physical possession, the tax collector's receipt for State license. This receipt must be endorsed to the transferee and it is illegal for him to neglect to demand and receive same.

As a further protection to car owners the bill requires that the sale or trade of a second hand motor vehicle must be evidenced by a duplicate bill of sale, one to be kept by the transferee as evidence of his ownership and the other to be filed or recorded with the county clerk.

A well bound record must be kept by every person or persons engaged in the business of repairing cars in any manner, even painting. Entries must be made showing the engine number, make, model and in fact a comprehensive description of every car repaired or for which parts are furnished, provided the charges for such repairs or parts exceed the sum of $1. His record is to be open for inspection by peace officers at all times.

LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezeone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off. When Freezeone removes corn from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

Why Suffer?

Mrs. J. A. Cox, of Anderson, W. Va., writes: "My daughter . . . suffered terribly. She could not turn in bed . . . the doctors gave her up, and we brought her home to die. She had suffered so much at . . . time. Having heard of Cardui, we got it for her."

CARDUI

"In a few days, she began to improve," Mrs. Cox continues, "and had no trouble at . . . Cardui cured her, and we sing its praises everywhere. BUTTERMILK'S GLO-RIOUS TRIUMPH

From the day that Bacchus broke up the pleasures of the gods with a ten-day's jag, strong drink has cursed the earth, says J. H. Lowery. It has sent men who were entitled to three hot days and a front seat at the moving picture show at night to dismal dungeons, where there is never a chance to shy a glance at peek-aboo waists and open-work hosiery. It has reddened the eyes of women who had red on their lips and cheeks in their courting days, and who, had they been able to keep the redness in the right place, might have married a lieutenant or an oil magnate. It has sent children to bed hungry and empty, who by the laws of inalienable rights, were entitled to have sought their couches as full as a balloon and cried with stomachache until morning. But in spite of the deadly work of rum, all efforts to break its power proved futile until this humble scribe discovered the long-hidden secret that the only way to destroy the power of rum is by substitution. Give the toppers something that tastes better, and makes the drinker feel better, and they will turn from intoxicants even as an Arkansas boy with a chill on him turns from the sunny side of a fence to a furnace.

The discovery, like most great discoveries, was made accidentally. I saw a boy trying to take a bone from a dog, but the canine resisted and showed its teeth fiercely; finally the boy tossed a chunk of meat to the dog, and then, with a wag of its tail, the cur surrendered the bone without a sign of protest and gave attention to the meat. With this great idea burning in my brain, I set about to find a beverage that tastes so much better and makes the drinker feel so much better than rum, that the person who once tries it will never again seek exhilaration at the flowing bowl; and my labors were gloriously rewarded, for verily I found the restorer of nerves and bodies in the delightful acidulated lacteal fluid, the wonderful product of the churn, the snow-white beverage known from sea to sea as BUTTERMILK. Immediately the star-eyed goddess of reform began to move with stately tread. Men who once shook with delirium tremens now teach Sunday School classes, women who moped about in dirty kimonos now walk the streets in hobble skirts that fit as closely as a cigar wrapper fits a cigar. The saloons of Dallas and other Texas cities, where once the juice of the still and the brew of Gamberinus poisoned the minds and wrecked the bodies of men, are now dispensaries of the delightful fluid that builds hope in the heart; the soda fountains, where once women and children fractured their nerves with harmful sundaes and frappes, are now meccas at which the weak and the ill, the nervous and the heavy-hearted, find comfort and solace in the flowing goblets of buttermilk.

To be sure this reform and this reformer were fought viciously; all great reforms and reformers are. The great "interests" spread the report far and wide that a man choked to death on buttermilk at Mineral Wells, Texas. A Texas editor, who never in his all life tasted anything milder than a dry Martini, swore buttermilk made him drunk. Billie Bryan tried to have grape juice made the official beverage of our party; others exploited sorghum beer, pot liquor and other concoctions with hope of turning men from the only true beverage, the nectar of the churn. These things hindered and harassed for a time, but in spite of a venal press, and predatory wealth—in spite of foes from without and foes from within the temperance ranks, the delightful fluid went on conquering and to conquer, until now we are only a few days from a nation as dry as the Buttermilk goes to the couch of suffering, banishes pain and drives the fever from the blood. It takes the shake out of chills and the hook out of hookworms. It is the only specific for lagrippe, that awful composite of icebergs and chili pepper, Siberian blizzards and hell fire which came to us from benighted Russia, dipping its bill, as it came, into the crater of Vesuvius, the glaciers of the Arctic and the hot beds of anarchy, and inflicting such complexities of disease that no victim has ever been able to say whether he was too hot or too cold, too full or too empty.

Buttermilk appeared to Lillian Russell and Maxine Elliott and taught them the way to real beauty by developing bust and rounding form, and reddening cheeks and removing freckles. It enables them to take a new husband every few years, and to hold scores of admirers on their waiting lists.

TRY IT! SUBSTITUTE FOR NASTY CALOMEL

Starts your liver without making you sick and can not salivate

Every druggist in town—pour druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs but a few cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.

LEMONS MAKE SKIN WHITE, SOFT, CLEAR

Make this beauty lotion for a few cents and see for yourself

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to whiten the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way: Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces or orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.

He says the bible bears him out in his contentions, for after the children of Israel had passed over the river Jordan and were subduing the Canaanites, they subsisted on rabbit meat, and its 83 per cent nutriment, enabled them to knock out the Jebusites and Hittites. It is also contended that Samson in his youth ate rabbits, and he grew quite strong, and also popular with the ladies. Chronic Constipation

Perhaps you have never thought of it, but this disorder is due to a lack of moisture in the residual matter of the food. If you will drink an abundance of water, eat raw fruits and take lots of outdoor exercise, you may be able to eventually overcome it entirely. In the meantime use the most mild and gentle laxatives. Strong and harsh cathartics take too much water out of the system and make a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are easy and pleasant to take, and most agreeable in effect. Give them a trial.

Will Tilson is Some Farmer

Will Tilson of the Bellview community is a bachelor, and it is too bad that he has not been as successful in courting as in farming, but maybe after we publish this story some good-looking girl will set her cap for him, and capture him.

One day last week he brought in one load of maize heads, containing a little more than two tons, for which he received $83. Another day he brought in two loads of threshed maize, which he sold for $225.00, or $2.80 per cwt. Another day he sold seventeen hogs, all of them less than twelve months old, for a total of $689.31.

And, that is not all. This year he has in 250 acres of crops, of which 240 acres is in wheat, which he put in by himself with less than $10 paid out for extra labor, and it was put in right and promises as good yield as any wheat in that community.

This shows what a farmer can do on the Plains if he mixes brains and muscle and knows how to farm.

The Doctor Away From Home When Most Needed

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Disease like pain in the stomach and bowels, colic and diarrhoea require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life.

Seventy-Seventh Birthday of Mrs. B. T. Ansley

Misses Rebecca and Della Ansley honored the seventy-seventh birthday of their mother with a dinner Wednesday at noon.

Out of town members of the family were expected, but could not come because of muddy roads.

An elegant dinner was served and many remembrances offered at the shrine of one who has lived a long and useful life.

The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ansley and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Westcoat, and Mr. and Mrs. Caswell Franklin.

Shower for Miss Josephine Keck

A miscellaneous shower was given Wednesday afternoon for Miss Josephine Keck, a bride of the month, by Mesdames John Elliott of Kress and Mrs. Albert G. Hinn at the home of the latter, 1005 West Eleventh Street.

Roses, pink and red were grouped in the living room, while nasturtiums and yellow poppies predominated in the dining room, the whole making a beautiful setting for the event.

After Miss Keck was enthroned in a white covered and rose wreathed chair, a musical program was informally given. After a piano solo by Mrs. Tom Carter, Mrs. Mildred Buchheimer Doland sang "I Hear you Calling Me Caroline." This was a collection by the ladies' quartette composed of Mesdames Doland, Lloyd Mayhugh, John Elliott and Albert Hinn.

Miss Lula Blair Neal then gave a pianologue with her sister, Miss Ruth Neal accompanist. This was one of the features of the afternoon and was a poetical sketch of the bride's life interspersed with appropriate verses of popular songs. Mrs. Doland sang a second solo "Somewhere a Voice is Calling."

And then the noise of an approaching automobile was heard and in came a miniature car in which was seated a wee bridal couple, Stanley Myers and Virginia Hinn. Bows of white ribbon and a choice assortment of old shoes adorned the suitcases and traveling bags piled behind. The little couple were dressed in conventional style and acted the part to perfection. Slowly the car toured the room passing the sign "On to St. Louis," until they finally reached the number "4914 Forest Park Boulevard, St. Louis. There they were met by a maid in dainty cap and apron, Mrs. John Elliott, who kindly assisted in unpacking the charming array of presents contained in the aforesaid baggage.

Refreshments were then in order. Misses Electra Anderson and Fannie Goode served pink brick cream and angel cake to the forty odd friends of the hostesses and the bride-to-be. Pink rose buds were the plate flowers.
