REPUBLICAN VICTORY WAS UNDEFEATED

VIRTUALLY COMPLETE RETURN SHOWS HARDING WILL HAVE 404 ELECTORAL VOTES

New York, Nov. 4.—Virtually complete returns from the whole country today showed Senator Harding probably would have 404 votes in the Electoral College and Cox 127. New Mexico and Oklahoma appeared to have gone republican.

According to these figures, Harding carried the following states:

Arizona 3, California 12, Colorado 6, Connecticut 7, Delaware 3, Idaho 3, Illinois 29, Indiana 15, Iowa 13, Kansas 10, Maine 6, Maryland 8, Massachusetts 18, Michigan 15, Minnesota 12, Nebraska 8, New Hampshire 4, New Jersey 14, New Mexico 3, New York 45, North Dakota 5, Ohio 24, Oklahoma 10, Oregon 5, Pennsylvania 38, Rhode Island 5, South Dakota 5, Tennessee 12, Utah 4, Vermont 4, Washington 7, West Virginia 4, Wisconsin 13 and Wyoming 3, a total of 404.

Cox carried Alabama 12, Arkansas 9, Florida 6, Georgia 14, Kentucky 13, Louisiana 10, Mississippi 10, North Carolina 12, South Carolina 9, Texas 20, and Virginia 12, a total of 127.

Flat Heels and Broad Toes

Austin, Texas.—They are wearing 'em with broad, round toes and flat heels at the University of Texas. Because they like 'em?

No, indeed. But, because it is the ukase of Miss Eunice Aden, director of the gymnasium for women. Wearers may abhor such footwear but not so Dr. Oscar Davis, State Health officer.

"I would like to see every woman and girl in Texas thus shod," he declared. "There would be fewer flat feet, fewer pelvic organs out of place and better spines among the women if grotesque shoes were abandoned everywhere and I can not say too much in praise of this ruling."

It is to be hoped that each University student will preach the gospel of sensible shoes to her community so that the movement will be as far-reaching as its importance justifies. High-heeled shoes destroy the balance of the body, contract the tendons of the heel and throw too much weight on the ball of the feet. The custom of wearing them is quite as silly as binding the feet of Chinese women.

Health Hints

To cure is the voice of the past; to prevent the demand of the future. An ounce of screening is worth a pound of malaria medicine.

A tooth brush every day will slay the germs in the dentist's face.

Negligence, indifference, lack of information, false economy—not the Lord—make the death rate large.

Where cleanliness leads health will follow.

A safety-first suggestion.—If your child complains of sore throat, don't send him to school—send for a doctor.

You study scientific farming to raise bigger and better crops. Why not study better baby hygiene to make your baby bigger and stronger?—State Board of Health.

Harvesting Maize With Combine

We are informed that some of the farmers in Hale county are harvesting their row crops with combine harvester-threshers. The combine cuts four rows at a time and threshes the grain as it goes. We are told that the grain harvested and threshed in this way is making an extra good sample.

Legion May Build Home

The Ray Blakemore Post of the American Legion is contemplating building a home in Plainview. The Legion membership is rapidly increasing and it is thought the proposition can sooner or later be put over.

Mrs. Barnes of Hale Center spent the week end with her daughter, Fannie Mae, at Cousins Hall.

Warren Burton and Raymond Shook of Plainview were visiting friends in Canyon Sunday.

Robert Gober of Abernathy, a former student, visited friends here this week.—Canyon News.

Plain Truth

Merchants should be told the truth. If they don't believe it they should be told again and until they do believe it. You can sell anything if the people know you have it for sale.

Mr. Boone, cashier at the Santa Fe station in Floydada, was married Sunday to Miss Ruth Brown of that city.

By a majority of 128 to 2 the people of Canyon have voted bonds with which to pave the business district.

WANT THRESHING STOPPED IN EAST PLAINVIEW

Citizens Petition City Council to Prohibit Same, As It is a Nuisance

There was a petition before the city council at its meeting Wednesday night, signed by the citizens and property owners in the east part of town, asking the council to prohibit the threshing of maize and kafir heads and other grain in the eastern part of town, declaring that it becomes a nuisance and breeds disease.

The matter was referred to the city attorney for an opinion, as to what can be done.

However, the council thinks that it would not be best to forbid threshing in the city limits just now, as it would be unhandy to the elevators and cause them considerable expense in hauling grain. The matter will come up at another meeting of the council as the petitioners are determined that it shall be stopped, so they declare.

ELECTION NOTES

Champ Clark, for many years speaker of the house, was defeated for re-election to congress from Missouri.

William J. Bryan declares that "President Wilson laid the foundation of the disaster and Gov. Cox completed the structure."

In California the amenable prohibitionist Japanese from owning or leasing agricultural land was adopted by a three to one majority.

Harding and Culbertson carried El Paso county, though the county democratic ticket was elected.

The party prohibitionists are gratified over the election of Harding, as they like his stand on prohibition better than that of Cox.

Alf Taylor, republican, was elected governor of Tennessee. He is a brother of the late Bob Taylor, the lecturer, who served several terms as governor of the state.

Scott Ferris, who defeated Senator Gore for the democratic nomination in Oklahoma, was defeated by a republican.

Origin of Word Booze

"Booze," a general term for intoxicating liquor, first became a synonym for whiskey back in the year 1840.

In that year occurred the celebrated "log cabin and hard cider" campaign of W. H. Harrison for the presidency. After he had been nominated by the Whigs his opponents sought to belittle him by describing him as a man who lived in a log cabin and drank hard cider. His friends succeeded in turning this in his favor. A log cabin carried on men's shoulders and followed by cheering crowds was made a prominent feature of political rallies.

In the heat of the campaign one E. J. Booz had quart whiskey bottles made in the shape of a log cabin. On the roof of the cabin were the words "E. J. Booz's Log Cabin Whiskey." The liquor became fairly popular and soon drinkers got in the habit of designating it simply by the name of "booz," calling for a "bottle of booz" or "some booz."

Thereafter the term came to be applied indiscriminately to intoxicating drinks in general.

Bryan Wants Wilson to Resign

William Jennings Bryan says President Wilson should resign at once, which would make Vice President Marshall president. Marshall should appoint Senator Harding secretary of state, and then resign so that Harding could automatically become president by the time congress convenes the first Monday in December, in order to start at once the carrying out of the republican program.

Burned Kafir Heads for Fuel

During the recent cold wave one or two Hale county farmers are said to have burned kafir heads for fuel. They were out of coal and have plenty of heads, which are cheap. However, except in an emergency, burning feed is a very wasteful policy, as a ton of coal at $17 will furnish more heat than possibly ten tons of maize or kafir heads at $12 a ton.

Made Best Insurance Record

R. H. Knoohuizen, A. E. Boyd and L. B. Morris of the firm of Knoohuizen & Boyd, insurance specialists, left yesterday for Denver to attend a conference of Reliance Life Insurance Co. agents, as guests of the company. This firm made the highest score, by writing the greatest amount of insurance during a certain period.

Woman Elected to Congress

Miss Alice M. Robinsor, republican, was elected to congress from the Muskogee, Okla., district. She operates a cafeteria. Her election was unexpected even by her friends.

The federal public debt was reduced $25,000,000 during September.

PROVIDING THE STAFF OF LIFE ON THE PLAINS

Plains' Wheat Acreage Reducing the Pastures—Keliehor's Successful Methods

(By Wm. Deelittle, Staff Editor of Farm & Ranch, who recently visited Hale County.)

"The Plains is the breadbasket of Texas." That is the claim set up by J. E. Keliehor, one of the big wheat growers of Plainview. Whether this claim can be substantiated is probably a matter of opinion, but the fact remains that the Plains are producing great quantities of wheat. And the production is increasing year by year as more sod is broken, cutting down the size of the pastures and increasing the size of the wheat fields. A whole section in wheat is not an uncommon view.

Many Methods Followed

There are yet many opinions of wheat men around Plainview. Some believe the land ought to be sown every year; others believe it ought to be sown every other year and summer-fallowed the off-year; others still believe that wheat should be worked into a general farming scheme and still others believe it pays to raise nothing but wheat. There are many other methods of preparation of the land, some believing that it pays better to disc than to plow deep, though I saw very few of this opinion.

It may be that in the next decade the wheat growers will all agree upon the preparation and treatment of the land, and it may be that, like other communities throughout the South, one will continue to believe one way and another another way. At least all fields are making wheat now and each grower is not worrying about what the other fellows are doing.

Summer Fallowing Practiced

J. E. Keliehor had 1,000 acres in wheat this season with an average production of sixteen bushels. One quarter section made 5,850 bushels. This quarter was summer-fallowed last year. During the summer it was listed and re-listed. In August it was leveled down and sown between September 10 and 20. It was used as a winter pasture for 150 calves and some cows; an estimated pasture value of $2,000.

Mr. Keliehor believes this one year's "resting" will increase the wheat yield for two or three years. He says that in ten years, land summer-fallowed every other year will average twenty-five bushels per acre. By summer-fallowing this often the wheat will produce four times as much pasture; will produce as much wheat, and will take less seed and labor. The land will also be ready for seeding and no delays will be occasioned. By catching and holding the summer rains, the wheat will have more moisture. He sums up his views thus:

Making Bigger Yield

"Summer-fallowed wheat crops are as sure in West Texas as cotton is in the best black land cotton county in the state. I have been raising wheat here ten years and have never known summer-fallowed land to fall under ten bushels and have seen it go over forty several times. Only one year did it go as low as ten bushels, and that was in 1918."

This grower raises the hard Turkey Red, which tests from sixty to sixty-three pounds to the bushel. He sows no spring wheat. He is not bothered with labor shortage, as plenty of men go from the cotton fields, attracted by the $5 a day, with board included. All of his help is day labor, Mr. Keliehor taking the entire risk himself, and getting the profits. Some of the men who work for him go off and buy places of their own, and others drift back to the other parts of the Southwest.

Other Crops Grown

Wheat is not the only crop on the Keliehor farms, the owner believing that all the eggs should not be put in one basket. There are from ten to fifteen acres of dry alfalfa on each of the five farms. On these fields he keeps around 200 hogs, Duroc-Jerseys. Twenty breeding sows are in use, and the pigs run on wheat and alfalfa and are finished on kafir and maize at around ten months old. The spring litters are sold off in December and the fall pigs in September of each year. Wheat, alfalfa and hogs make a combination hard to beat on the Plains, this man with many years of experience believes.

To get the advantage of the winter wheat pasturage, he buys calves in December and runs them on the wheat all winter, marketing them in the spring. He sells some to the cattlemen on the Plains and others to the stockyards as stockers.

Previous Crops Better

One should not think that this year was an unusually good one for the wheat men and women of the Plains. It was not. Last year was almost

DARBY AND TOWERY WERE ELECTED TUESDAY

DARBY LEADS BY THIRTY-EIGHT AND TOWERY'S PLURALITY IS 100

While the official returns in Tuesday's election are still unavailable, yet the unofficial vote shows that W. D. Darby was elected by thirty-eight votes, and B. H. Towery has a plurality of 100 votes over his nearest opponent for tax collector. The commissioners' court will meet Monday and canvass the returns of the election.

In Hale county for president the unofficial vote is: Democratic 1,453, republican 304, American 16, Socialist 24.

For governor: Neff 1136, Cluberton 257, McGregor 34, Rhodes 15. No black and tan republican votes were cast in the county.

Mr. Keliehor last year on 1,000 acres, made 25,000 bushels, or about 50 per cent more than he made this year. The same ratio held true all over the Plains. Wherever I speak of the yield this year, the reader should take it as an average year, for the yields, year after year, will not vary far from that of 1920.

It might be well to say that Mr. Keliehor is a bachelor and lives at a hotel in Dallas. Whether he has been too busy to look after matrimonial matters or has some other reason, I did not inquire.

Mr. Keliehor treats all his seed wheat with the formaldehyde solution, using one pint of formaldehyde to forty-five gallons of water. He puts a little wheat in a wagon bed, sprinkles on the solution and stirs until every grain is wet. This process is kept up until the bed of the wagon is about half full. A sheet is then spread over it and it is permitted to stand till morning. In this way the fumes will kill all the germs. The following morning the wheat is uncovered and stirred again until it is dry. By using this process, the wheat has no smut.

Bradford Cox, who lives seven miles from Plainview, believes in growing wheat and nothing else. He does not own a mule or a horse; tractors and automobiles do his power work. The milk cow is the only kind of livestock on the farm.

This year he had planted 400 acres and went above the average for his section and got twenty-five bushels per acre. Last year he got thirty-three bushels per acre. In the thirteen years he has been growing wheat in Hale county, he has averaged twenty bushels, with a failure only in 1917. He says he can make some money with a twenty-bushel average but at the present cost of production wheat must bring not less than $2.50 for the grower to make a profit. He sold some of his wheat for $2.55; the other for $2.65.

Mr. Cox "rests" his land every third year generally, though he does not follow an exact system. If he can get to his land early, he plows deep. If he is late he uses the disc instead of the plow.

Fred Weyl makes wheat a part of a crop rotation. He had some land this year which made fifty bushels to the acre, but it had been in alfalfa for a few years previous. He is a believer in listing land fairly deep, though he says discing some years is all right. He uses both tractors and teams.

Mr. Weyl keeps from forty to 100 head of registered Hereford cattle and breeds for breeding stock. He has never exhibited at the fairs, but will probably begin showing in the future. His herd bull is a brother to the great $27,500 Repeater.

The cattle work into the wheat scheme admirably. They run on the sod pastures in the summer and the wheat pasture in winter. Little or no feed is given. On one field of volunteer wheat last winter he kept the cattle, and then made eighteen bushels of wheat this summer. The straw is placed so the cattle can eat it, and it is very effective as a filler.

Sheep Good Plains Crop

One of the best examples of the moderate acreage farmer is T. Hall Brown, four miles south of Plainview. On his farm of 725 acres, he grew between 400 and 500 acres of wheat, with the rest of the land devoted to grazing and growing feed for stock. He gets a good yield of grain, the wheat this year averaging around fifteen bushels.

Mr. Brown fed out fifty head of stock cattle last winter. He bought last summer 275 sheep, and got eighty fall and 240 spring lambs. The whole herd ran on a 200-acre pasture, with about forty acres of alfalfa and alfalfa. He believes sheep one of the best crops for the Plains. The dry alfalfa is also a good crop, affording a half ton of hay last year in addition to the grazing.

Fifty acres of the farm are in

TRACTOR SURVEY FOR HALE COUNTY

Green Machinery Co. Has Sent Out Questionaire to Farmers Asking Several Questions

One of Plainview's leading tractor dealers, the Green Machinery Co., have letters out with question coupon attached asking for information as to tractor owned and operated in Hale county and the work being done with them. This is a good move and will no doubt have a favorable bearing on improved tractor service for tractor users of this county. However, it is urged that it is very necessary that all question coupons be promptly filled out and returned in order that the information may be accurate.

The information asked for is very comprehensive, and includes the following questions:

Do you own a tractor? If so, what make? What size? How long have you owned tractor? During this year how many acres, approximately, have you plowed? Discd? Drilled? What is your estimated cost for fuel and oil per acre for breaking land? Do you believe in tractor farming for this country? Give names of neighbors who are tractor owners.

RECORD MAJORITY IS GIVEN HARDING

Seven Nat. Ohioans to Be Elected to Presidency—Coming to Texas

Marion, Nov. 3.—Warren G. Harding awoke today to find himself voted president-elect of the United States by the largest majority ever given any presidential candidate.

He is the seventh native Ohioan to be elected president, all republicans. The Hardings will rest today. Tomorrow night Marion will stage its big celebration in honor of the senator's election.

President-elect Harding and his wife expect to leave Marion Friday or Saturday for Point Isabel, Texas, six miles from the Mexican border, for a two weeks' rest.

The site in Texas was chosen by Edward Scobey, former Ohioan and personal friend, who owns a ranch in the vicinity. After two weeks at Point Isabel, it is likely that the senator will cruise in Central American waters and possibly inspect the Panama Canal. The question of free tolls for American vessels going thru the canal may be fought out in the Harding administration and the president-elect hopes to get a first hand grasp on the situation before going into the White House.

Mrs. Anderson's Brother Dies

J. H. Jennings, brother of Mrs. J. C. Anderson of this city, died at his home in Lubbock very suddenly Saturday night, from a brief illness of pneumonia. The funeral was held in Lubbock Monday afternoon. Mrs. Anderson, Dr. Anderson and other relatives from here being in attendance.

The deceased was born in Mississippi in 1846, and moved to Caldwell county, Texas, in 1851, where he lived until five years ago, when he moved to Lubbock and engaged in the ranching business. He was a member of the Primitive Baptist church.

Man Killed By Train

This (Saturday) morning's south bound passenger train is said to have killed a man when it struck his car at a crossing near Canyon. We have been unable to learn the name of the victim.

sorghum cane to fill the silos. Twenty-five acre are devoted to maize.

He buys young pigs, runs them on alfalfa and finishes them on maize and barley. He tried brood sows, but believes he can make more money by buying pigs. He also grows oats and other small crops.

Mr. Brown is an example of the successful man in a new country. He came to Plainview several years ago from Tennessee with a wife and five children, and practically no money. He went to work and bought a farm and began raising the crops he thought were suited to the country. He now has his place paid for, which I learned from other sources, he values at $125 an acre. He also has a few thousand dollars invested in livestock. Some of the citizens of Plainview point to Mr. Brown as an example of what any man with forethought, energy and determination can do.

As the virgin soil around Plainview is broken, wheat will take more and more acreage. At the same time it is not to be the only crop or possibly the main crop. As the irrigation wells are brought in and more of the land is put in alfalfa, and new crops, wheat must give way. But wheat is one of the important crops and the growers are learning how to handle it to the best advantage. It is one of the things which is making, and will make, the Plains even richer than they are now.

PANHANDLE-PLAINS GRAIN DEALERS ARE HERE TODAY

WILL SHIP GRAIN TO PACIFIC COAST ONLY ON INSPECTOR'S CERTIFICATES

At the Plainview district meeting of the Panhandle Grain Dealers' Association here this afternoon it was unanimously decided that Panhandle dealers will sell grain to Pacific coast and Texas points, other than Galveston, only on Amarillo or Plainview inspection. As similar action was taken at the Amarillo district meeting recently, the action is now binding for all Panhandle grain dealers. It is thought that this will mean a great saving of money and trouble to Panhandle shippers who have been inconvenienced by accepting destination inspections. It was pointed out that many buyers at grain markets in Texas and California refused to accept the inspections of the Federal licensed inspectors at Amarillo and Plainview. Panhandle shippers have suffered great losses on declining markets by contract buyers refusing shipments on the strength of destination inspections.

The association also adopted a resolution to ask the government to set a government standard for the grading of wheat, and other sorghum crops, so that same can be sold from inspector's certificates.

It was also decided to make war against smut and weevils in grain, and will urge farmers to treat their wheat before planting.

About fifty grain dealers from over the Plains were in attendance at the meeting.

COULDN'T MAKE LIVING ON SIX SECTIONS

James Oswald Has Been in Hale County Thirty Years—Came from Georgia

James Oswald came to Hale county thirty years ago, having arrived here Oct. 4, 1890. He was from Southeast Georgia, and came by way of Amarillo. At that time of course there were few settlements on the Plains, and Plainview was a small crossroads village of two of three stores.—R. C. Ware being one of the merchants.

Mr. Oswald begun ranching on six sections of land near Whitfield, northeast of Plainview, and continued in the business for fifteen years, when he decided he could not make a living on so small a place as almost four thousand acres of land, so he sold out and moved to Plainview. He and Wayne Paxton conducted a furniture store here until a few months ago, when they sold out to the Donohoo-Ware Hardware Co. They have been successful in business, and are rated as well-to-do.

John Oswald, brother of James, came to Texas earlier and located at Cleburne, some years later moving to Plainview.

Rice Growers in Hard Shape

Guy Speed has returned from a stay of several weeks in the Beaumont coast country, in Louisiana and in Navarro county. He says the rice growers of the coast country are in bad shape this year. Though they have raised big crops, they are losing $14 a bag, this year is $5, and the cost of growing and marketing is $6 to $8 a bag. They are very much down in the mouth. It is the same way with the cotton growers of Central Texas, he says, they have a tremendous crop but the price is so low they will make no profit.

Of course Senator Harding will make a good president, for he is a good newspaperman.

Anyway, Cox and Roosevelt made a heroic campaign. They were well worthy of the support of the democrats.

Who said the women would not vote if given the ballot? Millions of them voted Tuesday, and it did not make them one whit less womanly.

Texas has 1,708 banks with combined resources of more than $1,414,920,000. There are 552 national banks, 694 state banks, and 192 private banks in the state.

Statisticians who have recently devoted their attention to the cotton crop have variously figured that the Southern cotton growers have produced the 1920 crop at a loss of from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000, present prices considered.

We understand that every member of the bunch on the corner of the square is vehemently against the proposed compulsory labor law. It would be a rare and interesting sight to see some of the bunch actually laboring. But, alas, we feel that it is a sight we will never see.

W. J. Bryan showed up rather badly during the campaign. He sulked in his tent, and did not make a speech for the democratic ticket during the campaign. A man of his calibre should have risen above the disappointment of not having had his way at the San Francisco convention.

While we regret that Texas is to have one republican congressman, we are glad it was Carlos Bee who was defeated. Bee was elected two years ago over Slayden, following a telegram from President Wilson declaring that Slayden was not a friend of the administration. Slayden was one of those several congressmen butchered by the administration. Bee is a brother-in-law of Postmaster General Burleson.

Floyd county's row crops are so abundant this year that they are said to be sufficient to feed the live stock for four or five years.

America is the greatest and best country the sun ever shone upon, and Americans are the best and most liberal and broad-gauged people that ever lived. After an intense political campaign in which each side attacked the other viciously, the republicans won. Just as soon as Gov. Cox learned the result he wired his congratulations to Senator Harding and assured him of his support as an American. Cox is a good loser. Americans are good sports and good losers. They grapple and figuratively speaking roll in the dust—but after the election they get up, brush the dust off, shake hands as friends, and forget about the matter. Foreigners say they are unable to understand this American spirit; that in their countries partizan hatred is deep-seated and resentful. Vox populi, vox Dei, or something of the sort, means the voice of the people is the voice of God. Let the majority rule!

The federal reserve bank board declares the country is steadily and safely getting back to normal, and will in no long distant time almost fully recover pre-war conditions. This recovery is reported to be without much hurt to anybody. The price of farm products has shown the greatest reduction, and the farmers are losing more than any other class, and only by increased harvests have their losses been offset. Many manufacturers' articles have declined in price, on account of surpluses accumulated on the manufacturers' hand because the public balked at the high prices and refused to buy. This has caused some factories to close down or reduce their output, throwing quite a number of workers out of employment, a few of whom have accepted lower wages in order to continue working. Quite a number of manufacturers, especially those making paper and printing machinery, have not only maintained their high prices but have been able to increase them. But, it is evident that the country is settling down toward normal, and within the next few months most everything will be on a lower level.

Coffee now leads as the favorite drink of the people of the world. Three billion pounds was used during the past year. Holland is the greatest coffee-drinking nation on the globe. Using 15 1-3 pounds per capita annually. The United States comes next with 14 pounds, an increase of 40 per cent over the year before. Three-fourths of all coffee is grown in Brazil. Coffee is indeed a great beverage, especially for breakfast. The French of Louisiana knew best how to make it, but with a percolator anybody can make delicious coffee.

HAD LOTS OF FUN

Mr. Goslington's Experience That of Many Others.

Who Wouldn't Feel Pleasure at Having to Secure Larger Safe-Deposit Box for Liberty Bonds and Other Valuables?

"I never would have thought it," said Mr. Goslington, "but I've had to get a bigger safe-deposit box."

"Before the great war I had a modest check account, and a little fund stowed away in a savings bank for emergencies, but no safe-deposit box, large or small. I had no use for one, I had no stocks or bonds to keep in one; but when the war came and we all began buying Liberty bonds it was different. I didn't want to keep even the little bonds that represented my initial investment lying around in a bureau drawer or stored away in a trunk, so I rented a safe-deposit box. I had often read the advertisements of the safe-deposit companies telling of how little you could get a box for, and from that on up, pleasant reading always, suggestive of wealth and coupon cutting, and that sort of thing, and now the time had come when I needed a box myself; and it was a very pleasant reflection. I guess you know the size box I took."

"Still, I thought that box would be plenty big enough for me. I hadn't many bonds to put in, you understand; but, do you know, as soon as I got the box I found that I had some other things that really belonged in it; insurance policies and some other papers and documents that were of value to me for financial or other reasons; and so while the bonds didn't begin to take all the room I soon found that my little box was packed so that I had to crowd the cover down to get it to close."

"And I will admit that the safe-deposit experience was a lot of fun to me. It was a real pleasure to me to have my box politely hauled out for me from its deep pigeon hole in the safe-deposit vault; and it was a pleasure to be shown to a cubby hole with a door that I could close, and where I found a desk and pens and ink and paper and shears and coupon envelopes and so on; it was a pleasure to be a safe-deposit customer, and I certainly did smile when I used those shears for the first time, cutting off coupons."

"Then the time came when, as I bought more bonds, and what with the other stuff in it, the box was so full that they had hard work to crowd it into its pigeon hole and hard work to pull it out, and then I simply had to buy a bigger box, and that was fun, too."

"Of course, you know I did not now buy a large safe, or a room with shelves around to store my bonds on; nor did I have to hire a scissors sharpener to keep my coupon shears sharp so that my clerks would not be delayed in cutting the coupons. I may come to that, why not? Stranger things than that have happened to other people, and I don't know why they might not happen to me. But meanwhile it was a satisfaction to me to reflect that I had at least outgrown the little box, even though for the time being I might be able to get along nicely with one just the next size bigger."—New York Sun.

Jazz.

Those of us who have fancied that our "jazz" originated in Uganda or among the Igorrotes are, according to the latest news, quite wrong. Le Matin of Paris maintains that the jazz band idea originated in Paris 120 years ago. "In those days as well as now," it says, "people did not know what to do to amuse themselves; so they made a noise. Those who had a great taste for noise went to the concerts of the cat orchestra. There were 20 cats with their heads in a row on the keyboard of a harpsichord. The performers by striking the keys worked a device which pulled the cats' tails, causing a caterwauling which—" Le Matin feels would leave us Americans little musically to desire. Is this an attempt to discredit us at the peace conference?—The Review.

Tribute to the Lilac.

The lilac has no place in mortuary annals of man. It is not a flower for the graveyard. It is a flower for the freshening of thought, the lightning of life and the creation of the ideals of living. It is the flower of all others that belongs to the home and to the heart and to the years that are gone and the years that are to be. Happy the wall where the lilac blooms! Happy the window through which is wafted the lilacs' fragrance! Brief the period of the flowering of this bloom of all others in the liking of all who love that which is old-fashioned and that is ever new.—Baltimore American.

Aerial Motorcycle.

A machine which may be used as a motorcycle on the road, or as an airplane in the air is the invention of a Swiss engineer. Fitted with a 30-horsepower engine, a flying speed of 56 miles per hour is attained, while immediately the machine touches the ground an automatic arrangement stops the propeller, enabling the machine to run as a motorcycle at a speed of 40 miles an hour. The outstretched wings collapse when not in use in the air, so that the machine may be

A GREAT SPORT

At last I've given up all hope
 Of getting rich in oil,
 And now I think the proper dope
 Is getting down to toil.

For first they lose the drilling bit,
 Down in the depths of earth.
 Then after it, with fishing kit,
 They go, for all they're worth.

But now the fishing tool: have met

The same sad fate below;
 But wait!—a brand new fishing set,
 And after all they go!

Now fishing-fishing tools are lost,
 The hole is filling fast,
 While upward mounts the drilling cost
 As long as cash will last.

My lovely shares I fain would sell;
 My mind is filled with doubt;
 They're putting more into that well

Than ever will come out.

And thus it goes, from bad to worst,
 A fishing game for fools;—
 They fish for all the suckers first,
 And then they fish for tools!

CHURCHES

Nazarene Assembly In Annual Session

Wednesday morning, at 9 o'clock, Dr. J. W. Goodwin, general superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, called the ninth annual session of the Hamlin District Assembly to order. The roll was called and corrected, and the various committees elected, after which the assembly began to hear the reports of the pastors and evangelists.

Unlike many churches, we are not lacking for new preachers. At this assembly there will be no less than a dozen preachers licensed.

At each evening service there has been a great evangelistic service, conducted by the General Superintendent and visiting ministers. A fine congregation has been in attendance each evening.

The assembly is being held in the First Christian church during the week. On Sunday however, the services will be held at the Mae I theatre. The morning service will begin at 9:30 o'clock by an old-time love feast. At 11 o'clock, General Superintendent Goodwin will preach. At 3 p. m. the ordination service will be held, when several will be ordained, and a number of Deaconesses consecrated, after which a great educational rally will be held in the interest of our district school, led by President London.

The night service will begin at 6:30 by a devotional service. Following the devotional service the newly elected district superintendent will preach. Let Sunday be made the greatest religious day Plainview has ever had.

NEW DAY AT HAND

World Sees the Dawn of Universal Democracy.

With the Downfall of the Turk and the Hun Santa Sophia Will Be Restored as a Christian Temple.

Among the happy rejoicings of these victory days we are inexpressibly glad that the war did not end until the unspeakable Turk was well started down the toboggan of defeat toward the bottomless pit, writes Dr. Charles Edward Locke. It is a mighty triumph for democracy. With Jerusalem and Damascus in the hands of the Christians, and with Constantinople no longer desecrated as the capital of a filthy Mohammedan, the foul Turk is now getting his long-delayed deserts. Constantinople was named for a zealous Christian prince. It was made the imposing headquarters of the Greek church, and a beautiful temple which is so stately and gorgeous that this proud builder on the dedication day exclaimed: "O Solomon, I have surpassed thee!"

But in 1453 the city was captured by the sacrilegious and infidel Saracens, and for 465 years it has been the center of Moslem worship and propaganda. It is beautifully situated on the western slopes of the Bosphorus, and looks out upon the picturesque Marmora. Justinian's minister grand was transformed into a Moslem mosque. All the altars and crosses and frescoes and insignia of Christianity were ruthlessly removed, and for nearly five centuries, instead of the worship of the most high God resounding beneath a wonderful dome which Michael Angelo said was like a part of the heavens brought down to earth, it has been the scene of Mohammedan mummeries and semi-pagan idolatry.

With the victories of this war no longer languished, Santa Sophia will be restored, and once again the praises of Christ will resound through sanctuary and cloister; and the marvelous fresco of Jesus and his disciples in the high dome, which for centuries has been concealed behind the incrustations of a detestable Moslemism, will once again utter its inspiring and artistic messages to reverent Christian worshippers. The overthrow of the Turk is not only a triumph of democracy, but it is likewise a mighty victory for the truth and justice which are interpreted to the world by the gospel of the Son of God and the Son of Man, Jesus Christ of Nazareth.

Until the savage Prussian Hun appeared the Turk had conferred upon him the ignominy of being the most brutal degenerate of all human history. A religion of lust, re-enforced by the bloody scimiter, the Turk cut his way through human bodies to an ignoble place of power in Europe and Asia and his murderous hate venting itself on the defenseless Christians, and especially, upon the innocent Armenians.

With the collapse of the Turkish government, "the Dardanelles will become a highway for the commerce of the free nations of the world, in place of a waterway held by pirates;" the Balkan terror comes to an end, and the ignoble crescent fades out of sight before the increasing effulgence of the blazing cross of the Christ of truth and freedom.

The years have waited long for the tremendous historic events which are now being enacted in bewildering succession. It was only yesterday that there were four powerful autocracies that seemed so entrenched in opulence and might that the centuries would not overthrow; but today, Russia, and Austria, and Turkey, and Germany, have all fallen, and great has been the fall thereof; the twilight of the kings has deepened into night, and the dawn of universal democracy is already reddening the eastern sky with premonitions of the new day of the people; and the harbingers of the morning are shouting on all hilltops and in all languages, "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land and to all the inhabitants thereof."

Old Bells Will Ring for Peace.

The six old bells of Westminster abbey are being restored and augmented to take part in the celebrations that will follow the signing of peace. The old bells are of great historic interest. All except the treble were cast at the old Whitechapel bell foundry—the tenor, weighing 1½ tons, in 1738, the fifth in 1593, the fourth and second in 1743, and the third in 1583. The treble was cast probably at the end of the thirteenth or the beginning of the fourteenth century, and must therefore have rung out to celebrate the great victory over the Spanish armada in 1588. Whitechapel foundry, which has been working continuously since 1570, has been entrusted with the restoration work and the casting of the new bells. The connection of the old firm with the abbey, after nearly 350 years, is thus being continued.

1st. That plaintiff is now and has been for a period of more than twelve months prior to the filing of this petition, an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and has resided in Lamb county for more than six months next preceding the filing of this suit; and that the defendant's, J. Herein fail not, but have you before said court, on the first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

LIVER TROUBLE

Black-Draught Is The Best Medicine This Lady Ever Used. Says It Is Only Medicine She Gives Her Children.

Cherry Village, Ark.—In telling of her experience with Thedford's Black-Draught, Mrs. Lottie Ellis, R. F. D. No. 1, this place, said: "I used Black-Draught as a laxative, also for headache, torpid liver and indigestion. It is the best liver medicine I have ever used and is the only medicine I give my children.

"I feel like it has saved me a lot in doctors' bills, for when the children complain of feeling bad or have a cold, I just give them a good dose of Black-Draught and they soon get all right. It certainly cleans the liver and clears up the skin and they are soon out, well again. I wouldn't be without it for anything."

Seventy years of successful use has made Thedford's Black-Draught a standard, household remedy. Every member of every family, needs, at times, the benefit that Black-Draught gives in helping to cleanse the system and to prevent or relieve the troubles that come from constipation, indigestion, and a lazy liver.

To keep well, your stomach, liver and bowels must be in good working order. To help keep them that way, take occasional doses of Thedford's Black-Draught. Thousands of homes are never without it.

For sale by all druggists. The genuine has the name, Thedford's, on the label. Insist on getting what you ask for.

Story of a Dog.
"Marathon races in the woods will never become universal for the reason that speed and stamina like that of Buell Crannell's dog are not universal in the four-footed hunters," says Warwick S. Carpenter, secretary of the conservation commission. "Mr. Crannell lives at West Glens Falls, and while hunting near there recently his dog picked up a fox track. The dog was picked up next day near Cranberry lake, more than seventy miles away.

"Accounts do not state whether the dog was still going strong or whether he might have taken the fox back to Mr. Crannell, but simply that identification of the dog was made by the conservation commission license tag and that Mr. Crannell went after the dog.

"The moral of all this is that if one owns a dog good enough to run a fox through two counties she should surely be protected by an identification disk."—New York Times.

Salutes.
Some clever Englishman, commenting on French politeness, once remarked that when a Frenchman bows, two-thirds of the bow is to himself. That may be true, and we have to admit that even the other third is quite a fraction more than most Anglo-Saxons offer.

Saluting is the same proposition. A snappy salute pulled by a buck to the most second of second lieutenants draws heavy interest; and the colonel who jerks his hand a few centimeters from his still affixed cigar is only insulting himself and the army.

If some privates were a little more polite to themselves, the saluting trap never would be sprung and the joke would all be on the other side of the military fence.—Stars and Stripes.

"Yes—"
"And I immediately bought tickets."
"You were disappointed?"
"Yes, all I saw was a lot of men in diving suits."
"But what did you expect in an aquatic exhibition?"
"Girls in bathing suits, at least."—Youngstown Telegram.

Saved Venus de Milo From Huns.
M. Heron de Villefosse, the eminent French archeologist, whose death has just taken place, was for many years head of the Greek and Roman sculpture department of the Louvre. Twice in his career he had to superintend the removal of that priceless art treasure the Venus de Milo to a place of safety—in 1870, and again in 1914. In each case the same enemy was concerned. Heron de Villefosse was seventy-four years old.

The wages of the saw mill workers in Georgia and Florida have been cut 25 per cent, effective Nov. 8. This put common labor at $2.50 a day.

Remarkable!
An amorous young man met a mathematically maid at the Christmas dance. He was as keen on flirtations as she was on problems, and he asked her, in the conservatory, to tell him her age.
"How old am I?" replied the girl.
"Well, when I am as old as my sister was when she was as old as I will be when she is twice as old as I then was I will be twice as old as I now am."
The young man, eager to please, looked at her in polite astonishment and exclaimed:
"Never!"

WOMAN EARNED HER LIBERTY

Unlooked-For Suffering Endured by Stowaway Who Was Making Her Way to Freedom.

Gone was the Bosphorus and in its place we saw the leaden waters of the Black sea. From the porthole of Josef's cabin we could distinguish many miles west of us the coast line of the country in which White had spent three years, according to Capt. Alan Bott's "Stowaways, Inc." in Asia. Feodor soon left us, for he had to bring other stowaways to the light of day. From every concealed cranny of the vessel men and women, almost as light-hearted as ourselves at deliverance from the Turks, were coming into the open.

One of the stowaways, a passportless woman whom the aged captain was taking with him to Odessa, did not rejoice for some time. As hiding place for her the old man had chosen a deep locker in his chartroom on the bridge. There she had remained for the last two days. Now, Rosa, the kitchen wench, knew nothing of the captain's lady. That morning, not wishing to send her own particular stowaway—a Turkish deserter with coal-blackened face, untrimmed beard and decidedly odorous clothes—back to the bunks, where he had spent the previous day, she thought of the locker as a temporary home. Dumping him inside the locker, she fastened the lid and ran back to the kitchen. The Turkish deserter landed with some violence on the captain's lady and both received a bad fright as they clutched at each other in the darkness. Yet the lid could not be removed from the inside and the woman's screams were unheard outside the little room. The air in the unventilated locker grew more and more stuffy. Finally the woman fainted. The Turk, tired after a long spell of cramped wakefulness in the bunks and the kitchen, composed himself philosophically and went to sleep.

AGED MAN CLAIMS RECORD

New Hampshire Nonagenarian Still Able to Swing Ax Both Lustily and Expertly.

Friends of Frank Mozrall, ninety, of Franklin, N. H., claim that he is the champion woodchopper of his age in the New England states. Despite his near approach to the century mark he is able to swing an ax with the best of the choppers of the New Hampshire woods, those who know him best say.

Mr. Mozrall was formerly a hotel man. Since his retirement a favorite pastime of his has been to walk a distance of five miles from the home of his niece to a wood lot and there chop wood. It is claimed that he cut almost five cords of wood in a week, which is considered a record for a man anywhere near Mr. Mozrall's age.

Mr. Mozrall helped to build the first bridge path from the Profile to the summit of Mount Lafayette, and was one of the best-known guides in the mountains years ago. He has guided some of the best-known people of the country in their explorations of the White mountains. It is only recently that he has come into fame as a wood-chopper.

Mr. Mozrall's memory is most excellent and his general health is exceptionally good for a man of his advanced years.—Boston Post.

Synthetic Vinegar and Acetic Acid.
Acetic acid is now used in great quantities in making acetate of cellulose for airplanes. Before the war this was obtained by distilling wood, but it no longer suffices. A synthetic way of making acetic acid was discovered and now the price is much lower than it used to be.

The process is simple; it calls for the production of acetic aldehyde by a reaction of water with acetylene, and the oxidation of the aldehyde gives acetic acid.

Three French companies are now using this process and La Nature says they bid fair to drive the distillers of wood out of the field, even planning to produce a synthetic vinegar that shall be much cheaper than the natural article.

Strong Plea.
The local scout executive had visited the school for the purpose of organizing a troop. He talked to the boys for a time and then taught them several yells, some for their school and some for the principal, all of which made a decided hit with them. A few days later they asked their teacher to invite him back, but she refused, pleading that their time was needed for their regular school work. Another few days and their request was repeated, only to meet with the same refusal and the same excuse.

It was almost a week before the subject was again mentioned, and then the genius of the class did it.
"Say, Miss W—," he began, "don't you feel like you would like to be yelled for again?"

WHAT ABOUT FALL PRICES

Will goods be more plentiful or again scarce? Will prices be higher or lower? Will qualities be better or not? Those and similar questions are in the minds of most of the public today.

As progressive merchants, we aim not only to supply wanted merchandise, but to assist our customers in buying to their satisfaction. The market, right now, is flooded with cheap goods, you can buy all you want. Much has been offered us that we would not have—merchandise of inferior quality and mediocre workmanship. There are of course reasons for this flood of cheap goods on the market. One is that there is always more low grade than high grade goods (although of late such of the former has been offered at high prices). There are always more ordinary than skilled workmen, they work faster but with less care.

In addition to this much of the less well made merchandise which succeeded in getting a foot hold in the higher priced ranges when the scarcity of better qualities was most acute, will not be accepted now in these ranges by the better merchants. That has forced it back to the lower price-range and means better qualities at the better stores, in all ranges.

But good quality—just as skilled labor—is worth the price. The economy as well as the satisfaction of buying the best is as marked as ever. We will continue to supply the best qualities for the many who want good merchandise, and every price at Carter-Houston's will represent the utmost possible value in style, quality and workmanship.

You will find moderate prices at our store, but merchandise only such as is of satisfactory quality. Our policy this season—more than ever—is assured values, the best possible at each price.

KING OF ALL "RAINMAKERS"

Secret of Success of Solly Greencup, Who is Well Remembered in the West, Was Simple.

Given an ingenious mind and an eye to business, a live man can make money out of almost any old thing.

Perhaps you remember the extraordinary success scored some years ago by Solly Greencup, the rainmaker. If not, you can read his record in a portfolio of newspaper clippings collected all the way from Nome to San Diego, from eastern Oregon to western Kansas.

Solly Greencup, indeed, occupied for a while a position unique in the annals of meteorology. Scientists might doubt and cynics might scoff, but whenever Solly went after the rain clouds he always got 'em. Moreover he didn't work on "the heads-I-win, tails-you-lose" principle of some other rainmakers. Solly Greencup, when he once decided he could produce rain in a given district, always backed his opinion with hard cash. If he asked the farmers to put up $1,000 for an inch of rain, he put up another $1,000 himself as a forfeit in case he failed. And he always won.

Greencup never explained his methods. All the farmers wanted was the rain. All Greencup wanted was the money. With the result both were satisfied. His apparatus consisted of a bag pole, an electric battery, a kite with a metal tail and an air balloon filled with a mysterious gas. If scientists demanded the reason for these contrivances, he shook his head and smiled.

Sometimes Greencup would have to stay a long time in a locality before he could find the exact combination necessary to coax the wet forces into action. Sometimes he had to confess that the dries were too strong for him. But as soon as he posted his forces and set up his apparatus, the desired moisture followed in a few days.

Once in Elsinore valley he gave the ground a good soaking for a paltry $2,500, thus saving a $1,000,000 grain crop. Of course he made a tidy fortune, yet at the time no one considered his charges exorbitant. And everybody admitted he was a good sport. As he grew wealthy Greencup never gave himself frills nor assumed the title of "professor." These things were afterward remembered to his credit.

A few years ago Greencup went permanently out of the rainmaking business. In a street car accident he lost his left foot, which had to be amputated above the ankle. After that for love or money he refused to experiment with the weather.

When the secret of his success was finally revealed some carping moralists called him make-believe. He never claimed, like another famous personage, to be in partnership with the Almighty. But at least he had done something that nobody in the world had ever done before.

He had capitalized a corn.

Big Private Telephone Exchange.

The size of the private telephone exchange grows with the erection of every hotel or office building of any considerable proportions. The largest ever constructed is that of a New York hotel which has been recently opened to the public. It occupies 3,165 square feet of floor space, having an operating room 110 feet long by 15 feet wide, a terminal room 30 feet long and 25 feet wide, a restroom 22 feet by 15 feet and a locker and wash room 30 feet by 14 feet. The operating force consists of one chief operator, one assistant chief operator, eight supervisors and 110 attendants. The switchboard consists of twenty-three positions. Thirteen positions are equipped with teleautographs used for paging and announcing only. The switchboard has a capacity of 2,240 extensions and 150 trunks. The hotel has telephone service in each of its 2,200 rooms, and there are forty public telephone booths served by four switchboards connected with the main switchboard. The following gives some idea of a few of the items which make up part of the telephone system: 60 fuses, 1,170 condensers, 2,400 relays, 5,350 lamps, 3,500 jacks, 750,000 soldered connections, 7,926,000 feet of wire.

WANTED—Green and dry hides at L. D. Rucker Produce Co.

Again. On the night of armistice day a negro trooper met some hilarious Frenchmen. Next morning he was before his captain, charged with intoxication.

"Young man," scowled the captain, "you've got a mighty good record, and I'm sorry. Have you any excuse to offer for this outbreak?"

"I ain't got no excuse, please cap'n," said the culprit, "but I've done got a good reason."

"A reason," exclaimed the captain, "What is it?"

"Well, cap'n, I dunno de English fo' it, but de bunch I met las' night called it 'enore.'"

Concrete Baffled Bandits.

At the time of the Madevo revolution, in 1910 the various railways of Mexico were beginning to use concrete in the making of culverts, and it is understood that most of the concrete culverts and bridges built at that time have withstood the bandits' attacks and other injuries, while the wood and steel structures have been destroyed.

We have a letter from W. E. West, who lives west of Tulsa, saying that he and his wife are at Palm Beach, Fla., to spend the winter, and want the News changed to that place.

J. E. Nance returned Friday night from a trip to Indiana, to see a sister eighty years of age whom he had never seen before, and only recently learned of her whereabouts. She was sick and he went to visit her. She was somewhat better when he left. He says politics were sure hot in that doubtful state.
