The Trade Excursion "put the town on the map" in ten counties, and cannot fail to help us in the months to come.

The Texas senators split their vote on the emergency tariff bill Wednesday. Culberson voted as a democrat against it; Shepard voted like a republican for it.

Ten million soldiers died under European skies in the world war and 5,500,000 men were disabled in that war. If nations are civilized, if the men who rule or make the laws of nations are civilized, why shouldn't they force general disarmament?

The Plainview Trade Excursion will be fondly remembered by the children of the ten counties visited, for thousands of toys, souvenirs and other novelties were distributed. Standing in with the children is a good investment, too, for they will grow up, and become home owners and buyers.

Sitting in an automobile with your arms around a woman other than your wife is dangerous past-time, at least E. B. Altner, oil man of Shreveport, La., found it to be so. Wednesday night, when his wife discovered him and shot him. She served him right. The married man who has "affairs" with other women deserves to be perforated with bullets.

The coal dealers are urging people to buy coal now, so there will not be a coal famine next winter. Those who are smart will buy their coal during the summer months, while the price is cheaper, the grade is better and prompt delivery can be made. Next winter there may be a shortage through strikes, railroad tie-ups or continued bad weather. Buy coal in summer so you won't be cold in winter.

There are 101,000 more farms cultivated by tenants in the United States and 24,000 fewer farms operated by their owners now than ten years ago, according to a preliminary announcement of the United States census bureau. In this period there has been a net gain of 88,000 farms. The rate of gain in tenancy in the last decade has about kept pace with that of the two preceding decades, notwithstanding the fact that the last ten years was the most prosperous period the American farmer has known.

The United States is to be "unofficially" represented on the reparations, and other boards that are operating under the Versailles treaty between the allies and Germany. The republicans by easy stages are adopting the foreign principles laid down by President Wilson. In time almost his entire program will be adopted. The republican senate hated Wilson because he tepped on their dignity, and by their stubbornness and hatred have kept the world in a turmoil for several years. They put politics before patriotism.

Gov. Neff has appointed three women to places as regents of state educational institutions—Mrs. H. J. O'Hair of Coleman, State University; Mrs. J. C. George of Brownsville, A. & M. college; Mrs. E. P. Turner of Dallas, State C. I. A. It happens that the editor of the News is personally acquainted with each of these women, especially the former two. They are very bright and energetic women, who have for years given freely of their talent and time to church and club work and in the promotion of the uplift of their communities and the state at large. The appointments are very able ones, and will greatly redound to the benefit of higher education in Texas.

According to Washington advices, the new fiscal year will find more than 80,000 employees on the government pay rolls in the national capital. Before the war there were 27,000 federal employees in the District of Columbia. When the armistice was signed the number exceeded 100,000. Number of government workers outside the capital exceed 350,000. This is 150,000 more than in normal pre-war years and brings the total of all workers to about 636,000. It does not include the army of employees not under civil service rule. Uncle Sam is the largest employer of labor in the United States. Department clerks in Washington City have the seven-hour day, and get two months' sick leave and vacation pay for the employ of one year.

It is said that congress will put the lid much tighter on the sale of intoxicating liquor. That's the time. Forty-six of the states voted for ratification of the national prohibition amendment. Two voted against it. The American people want bone-dry prohibition. They are opposed to "rulings" by department chiefs that permit the sale of liquor for any purpose. John Barleycorn should be killed as dead as Hector. Congress knows its duty, and we understand will enact legislation that will make miserable the life of the bootlegger and the illicit still operator. The bootlegger and the still operator are the lowest down class of citizenship the nation has—and the man who buys bootleg liquor is not much better. Besides, the person who buys bootleg whiskey is flirting with death. A bootlegger will not scruple at putting wood alcohol into the liquor he sells.

IT WAS WORTH WHILE

Nearly two hundred Plainview business men and citizens spent three days traveling nearly six hundred miles, visiting ten counties and twenty nine towns, on the Trade Excursion.

They entertained the people at each stop with a concert and a talk and distributed souvenirs and advertising matter. They preached optimism, cooperation and good-fellowship, and boosted for Plainview.

It was a hard trip, made mostly over new roads, rough and dusty.

Was it worth while?

We think so, for according to the 1920 census these ten counties have a population of 53,495, and every person of these heard that a big bunch of Plainview boosters were on a tour of this section, and that Plainview is a progressive, live-wire town, well worth visiting, for pleasure or to trade with its merchants.

Many thousands of pieces of advertising were distributed, most of it of the novelty kind, and this, too, will have its effect.

The daily newspapers of the state have given and the weekly newspapers of the towns will give much publicity to Plainview on account of the excursion. You know "It pays to advertise."

Yes, the excursion was worth while and will prove so in time. All such things contribute to the upbuilding of the town and the county, and unless we are willing to contribute our money, give our time and encourage such enterprises we cannot expect to build a greater town or see our county develop as it should.

Keeping Plainview before the people of the state and nation has borne good fruit in times past, and it cannot afford to let up in any way, for a town either goes forward or goes backward, it cannot stand still.

IDLE RUMORS DANGEROUS

A baseless rumor or idle gossip can and does often cause lots of trouble. This was the case Wednesday, when somebody started the report that the Security National Bank of Dallas, one of the largest banks in all Texas, was in a failing condition. Hundreds of small depositors began to make a "run" on the bank to draw out their deposits. The report was absolutely false, and the other banks of the city, the federal reserve bank and the wealthy mercantile firms at once put hundreds of thousands of dollars in the bank on deposit to pay anybody who wanted his or her money. The bank kept open several hours longer than regular banking time so that everyone who wanted to could get his money. The run was stopped, and at night there was several hundred dollars more on deposit in the bank than in the morning. A bank is a quasi-public institution, and for one to falsify brings demoralization of business in the community and causes much distress to many people. People should be careful in accepting rumors against banks. Under the present national and state banking laws there is hardly any chance for a depositor to lose any money from the failure of a bank. The national banking laws and inspections are very strict and the state guaranty fund absolutely protects all deposits in state banks.

Plainview continues to build. Fully a dozen new homes are now under construction.

NOT MERE OUTWARD SHOW

For I desire mercy, and not sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings.—Hosea vi. 6.

Will Divide Slaughter Estate

The ten heirs of the C. C. Slaughter estate, one of the largest ranch holdings of the Southwest, were in Lubbock the past few days for the purpose of getting to work on the division of this property. The Slaughter estate has a ranch in Hockley and Cochran counties with many thousands of acres under fence. Besides this ranch, the estate owns a large ranch in the Soash country and several smaller ranches in other sections of the state. The biggest property holdings owned by the Slaughter estate we are informed, is located in Old Mexico. When this property is divided among the ten heirs, each will receive 28 sections out of the two ranches, located in Hockley, Howard and Borden counties.—Lubbock Avalanche.

The Chippewa Indians want the government to reimburse them for the white horses they have long since moved in on. And why not? A note he Chippewas as dear to us as the Columbians?

THE U. S. ROYAL CORD

A famous tire—and a famous tread. Acknowledged among motorists and dealers alike as the world's foremost example of Cord tire building. Always delivering the same repeated economy, tire after tire, and season after season.

The stripe around the sidewall is registered as a trade-mark in the U. S. Patent Office.

How you can measure tire value in 1921

"Any U. S. Tire is a universal full-money's worth."

OFTEN it's surprising the number of different tire views that come out in a chance talk at the curb or in the leisure of a friend's garage.

Almost every day you come across the man human enough to believe he can outguess the cut-price tag on "job-lots," "discontinued lines" and "surplus stocks."

His opposite is the hard-pan car owner who sticks year in and year out to a standard brand as the only rational economy.

Many will remember the scarcity of U. S. Tires last year.

A hardship at the time, but a benefit now. There are no U. S. Tires to be worked off—no accumulations—no forced selling of any U. S. brand—no shipping of tires from one part of the country to another to "find a market."

There are 92 U. S. Factory Branches. Each one gets its share of U. S. Tires. There is a broad, constant, even distribution of U. S. Tires always going on from these Branches to the dealer.

Buy a U. S. Tire anywhere—in a community of 500 people or even less—and you get a fresh, live tire of current production—with all the original service and mileage the factory put into it.

The owner of a medium or light-weight car stands on equal ground with every other car owner.

Any United States Tire is a universal full money's worth—backed up with a leadership policy of equal quality, buying convenience and price for everybody.

"WHO RECEIVES IT?"

A New York financial publication in a discussion of freight rates and prices tells of shipments of garden truck sent from Florida, California and Texas to the Chicago market.

A Texas producer of cabbage was paid $7 per ton. Cost of transporting it to Chicago was $26.30 a ton; total amount received by the Texas producer and the railroad for hauling the ton of cabbage was $33, or at the rate of 1.67 cents per pound. On the same day cabbage retailed in Chicago for 7 cents per pound, equivalent to $140 per ton, or $106.70 per ton more than the producer can carrier received for his service.

On the same date also a Texas producer of onions received $42 per ton for white onions. The freight bill to Chicago was $29.64 per ton, making the total amount received by producer and railroad $71.64 a ton or 3.58 cents per pound. At this time white onions retailed in Chicago at 10 cents per pound or $200 a ton.

Another instance cited is that of a grower of spinach in Texas who was paid $5 per ton. The cost of transportation to Chicago was $30.36 per ton, making a total of $35.36 per ton or 1.77 cents per pound which the grower and carrier combined received. At the same time the retail price of spinach in Chicago was 15 cents a pound, making $300 a ton, $226.26 per ton more than producer and railroad received.

This is an indicated profit, less local handling charges, of more than 700 per cent and the Chicago Railway Age, responsible for all the figures, made the inquiry, "Who receives it?"—Ft. Worth Record.

The government has awarded Randall county a big 50-horse power Holt Caterpillar tractor to be used on the Caterpillar tractor to be used on the weights ten tons and will pull most anything that can be hitched behind it. The government gave 75 of these tractors to Texas.

Killed in Airplane Accident

Abilene, Texas, May 8.—A mechanic named Carson and Miss Margaret Pearson were killed and Lieutenant E. A. Locking was seriously injured today when an airplane piloted by Carson fell at a local aviation field.

Lieutenant Locking is said to be in a serious condition. He served during the world war in British Royal Air Service and has 2,000 hours of air service to his credit. The aviator had made his home in Temple and Abilene since coming to America from Yorkshire, England.

Prices on Deere Implements Reduced

Following the reduction in the price of steel made by United States Steel Corporation, Deere & Co. announce a reduction of 10 per cent in the price of plows, cultivators, spreaders, disc harrows, corn planters, mowers, sulky rakes and other implements.

"At the present price of hides the farmer tells us that the carcass is not worth skinning," notes Rex in the Excelsior Springs, Mo., Call, "but the shoe makers say the customers are still worth it."

J. A. Sneed left this morning for a business trip to Fort Worth.

This Tree Deadly to Flies?

Washington—Fly swatters and screens will be relegated to the junk pile if the United States department of agriculture finds merit in the fly-killing properties claimed for a sapling grown from the seed of a Kentucky coffee tree by the late Prof. George F. Holmes of the University of Virginia. The sapling has been sent here by the university for a test of the alleged properties and with the hope that the seeds will be distributed throughout the country to exterminate the pests.

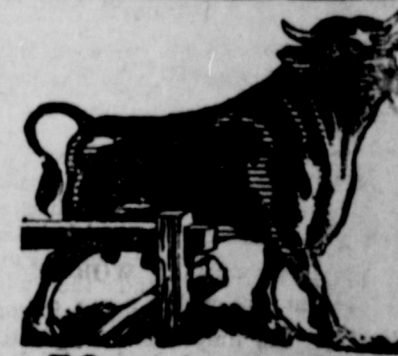

Professor Holmes asserted that the tree gave off a peculiar poison fatal to flies and therefore was a boon to humanity. He planted it in his garden and requested that it be dedicated as his only memorial.

A "Disabled Soldiers' " Week

Washington—Plans for a nationwide observance of the week beginning May 29, as national disabled soldiers' week, were announced here at headquarters of the National Disabled Soldiers' League. "Remember the Disabled" will be the slogan and the announcement said the week was designated as a period for the American public to pause and give a thought to the country's war cripples.

FINE TRIBUTE TO WASHINGTON

Napoleon's Eulogy of the World's Greatest Man Regarded as Worthy of Eternal Preservation.

Approach of the hundredth anniversary of the death of Napoleon Bonaparte recalls the order of the day which he issued in his capacity as first consul, to the French army on the occasion of the death of the first President of the United States. The document is as follows:
"Soldiers! Washington is dead! This great man fought against tyranny. He consolidated the liberty of his native land. His memory will always be cherished by the French people, as well as by all free men of the two worlds, but more especially by the soldiers of France, who, like himself and the soldiers of America in times past, are fighting for equality and liberty. In recognition thereof, the first consul orders that for ten days all the standards and flags of the troops of the republic shall be draped with crape. (Signed) Bonaparte."

Not content with this, Bonaparte insisted that an official eulogy of the liberator of America should be pronounced, in the name of the republic, in the Temple of Mars, the name then given to the chapel of the Palace of the Invalides. The task was confided to Marcellin de Fontane, the poet, who was given six days to prepare it. De Fontane accomplished his task to the satisfaction of Bonaparte, and it is generally agreed that his eulogy of Washington ranks among his very finest works.

HERO OF THREE COUNTRIES

South American Republics United in Their Desire to Do Honor to Memory of Bolivar.

The unveiling of a statue to Simon Bolivar, known as the George Washington of South America, took place in New York April 19.

There are statues of Bolivar in Caracas, Bogota, Lima and elsewhere. He was South America's Superman on horseback. He drove the Spanish out. He became "Jefe Supremo" of the northern half of the continent. ("Hey-fay Soopraymah.") He fought 400 battles and escaped five attempted assassinations.

Bolivar has been described as "mercenary, impractical, visionary, reckless, daring, valinglorious, sympathetic, cunning, sensitive, intense, ambitious, with no sense of proportion, cruel and kind in the same breath, giving vent to the highest sentiments of frenzied patriotism, and practicing the most absolute despotism." History credits him with having spent 90 per cent of his large fortune for his country, Venezuela, and with having made no private use of public funds, although long in control of the revenues of Colombia, Peru and Bolivia. He failed in an attempt to unite all those countries under one flag, lost his power and popularity and died in exile.

Would Teach Youth to Think.

To teach people to think, Dr. C. A. Mercier of Dornmouth left $100,000 to be used to fund a chair of national logic and scientific method at one of the universities. Among the conditions imposed are clauses directing that: Students are not to be taught what Aristotle or anyone else thought about reasoning, but to think and reason clearly for themselves. The professor is not to be chosen for his knowledge of the work or opinions of other logicians, but for his capacity to think and to reason and to teach. In selecting the professor preference is to be given to the candidate who does not know either Greek or German and, in any case, when appointed, such professor is not to devote more than one-twelfth of his teaching time in teaching the logic of Aristotle and the schools, nor more than one-twenty-fourth in teaching the logic of Hegel or other Germans.—Montreal Family Herald.

An Irish King in Tahiti.

James Norman Hall has stirred up a veritable tumult in South Boston. In an article in Harper's Magazine he tells of meeting on a South Sea island an Irishman named Riley. Originally a native of Boston the son of an Irish immigrant, Riley is now the king of a South Sea island, with untold riches, a beautiful Tahitian queen, and hundreds of loyal subjects, all according to the best traditions of romance.

But who is he? Sou' Boston is largely populated by Rileys, and Mr. Hall does not specify to which branch of the family his hero belongs. Since the publication of the article there are but few of his name who do not claim kinship with the South Sea monarch who, since, as everybody knows, all the Rileys are descended from the ancient king of Ireland, is but enjoying his natural right in ruling from a royal throne—or hammock.

Oil Shells to the Rescue.
Oil thrown on the waves will calm them. Hence it has been suggested that oil shells be fired from life-line guns in the coast guard stations, to calm the waters around stranded ships.

If the oil shells are hurled well to the windward of a ship, and are made to explode on contact with the water, the oil will soon drift around the ship and make it possible for a lifeboat to be launched in safety.
An ideal oil shell would be one that could carry a gallon of oil.—Popular Science Monthly.

MUSEUM GETS RARE RUGS

Once Used to Wrap Around Pillars in the Orient, They Are Now in Philadelphia.

Six Mongol pillar rugs, recently purchased by the Pennsylvania museum, have been hung in the Memorial hall, Fairmount park, in the north corridor; one pair at the entrance to the Wilstach gallery, one pair at the entrance to the Silver room and the third pair at the entrance of the section devoted to musical instruments. These rugs were once bound about the wooden pillars of Mongol lamaseries or temples, and in several of the museum examples the woolen lashings which bound them are still there. Possibly textile decoration for pillars followed carving, which would account for persistence of design, as these rugs could have been intended for no other purpose. In one pair, at least, the design becomes meaningless when spread flat, for the dragons which coil about the pillar appear cut off in three separate pieces, which meet exactly when the edges are joined.

The Chinese Huen Tsang, traveling to India in the first half of the Seventh century, says that the pavilions of the monastery of Nelanda were upborne by pillars ornamented with dragons. The burial chambers of the kings, with their antechambers, have been uncovered from the mounds of earth which were heaped about them, and on the stone walls are fresco paintings. The doorway from the outer to the inner chamber of one of these royal tombs is flanked on either side by a octagonal column on which are painted coiled dragons, no doubt in reminiscence of earlier carved uprights. The next step, for particularly nomad people, was to render the same design for a similar purpose in textile fabric to be lashed to the post.—Philadelphia Record.

Prodigies of the Past.

Long before the war it was stated that a man was too old at forty. But now it looks likely that soon the cry will be "too old at fifteen!"

A small boy of eight summers recently tackled twenty or thirty of the best chess players in the world, setting them all problems they could not tackle; another child appears on the scene, who, at the age of seven or eight, pens a diary, which the greatest literary lights describe as wonderful; while we'll soon have quite a small library of juvenile novels.

It was regarded as a phenomenon when Chatterton wrote immortal poems at twelve, when Mozart composed in his fifth year a concerto so difficult that only the most practical artists could play it, when the infant son of Evelyn, the diarist, could read Latin and Greek at three and one-half, when Macaulay had written a poem as long as "The Lady of the Lake" at eight and when Millais carried off a gold medal for painting at nine! But now it's becoming quite the usual thing.

Freight by Air.

England is credited with being the foremost nation in aviation. In 15 months, the record shows, 82,000 passengers and 200,000 pounds of freight traveled 1,000,000 miles in 48,000 flights. The transoceanic passenger schedule, which was so confidently predicted as almost ready several years ago, is still remote, but it is a fact that a round trip from London to Paris (574 miles) can be made in six hours instead of twenty-four, at a cost of about $90 for plane, against $40 by rail. The aero company which is operating a passenger service between Key West and Havana, charges $150 for one passenger one way from New York to Boston (200 miles).

What of 1931!
When buying a tractor today you should consider, "How long will it last?" Will it run for two, three or four years and then be consigned to the scrap heap? Will the repairs after the first year soon double the original cost? Or will it be giving dependable service in 1931? These are facts you should seriously consider.
Many of the first OilPulls built 12 years ago are still running. Introduced in 1909 they demonstrated their dependability and economy in developing the raw prairies of Canada into the fertile wheatlands which they are today. Originally built with a two cylinder heavy duty motor, kerosene burning design, all spur gear transmission and extra large factors of safety to take care of additional strains from heavy work, many of these old OilPulls are still working faithfully.
In these twelve years OilPull tractors have proved their remarkable ability to work steadily and constantly hour after hour, and day after day. They have proved their economy of upkeep—there being hundreds of cases like that of the first OilPull built, and still in use, whose owner vouches for the fact that in twelve years his repair bills have not exceeded five cents per day.
Before you buy your tractor have us give you a list of OilPull owners in this locality. We want you to talk with them about OilPull performance.

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN
Its continuous national survey of farm conditions enables it to forecast the labor market. There are two particularly timely stories coming in next week's issue.

One deals with the puzzling immigration problem. Will the loosening up of immigration requirements give the farmer more competent labor at a usable price? Or will it merely result in the further crowding of city slums for the farmer to feed? This answer is based on an actual study of incoming shiploads at Ellis Island. The other tells how the grain farmers of the Middle West keep their help after they get it—it offers some mighty keen suggestions. With other farm problems THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is just as helpful. ## BELL CASTING IN OLD JAPAN

People Gather in Thousands to Witness Ceremony Which Has Deep Religious Significance.

The making of the bell in old Japan was accomplished by great and solemn rites, Marjorie Latta Barstow writes in Asia. For months, sometimes for years, the community had been contributing of its bronze and copper ornaments and precious possessions. For many days before the casting there were prayers to determine the auspicious moment at which to begin, and to put all spiritual beings and ministers of grace in a propitious mood. Pilgrims came from all the surrounding country, for the Japanese of long ago loved a pilgrimage as much as do their descendants today; and made of their act of piety an opportunity to enjoy a little festivity and see something of the great world. On the appointed day, men gathered in their finest attire. Then the priests appeared in rich ecclesiastical brocades and the workmen in robes beautiful and sanctified. With prayer and ceremony the work reached its climax. The great molds were prepared and the flaming, molten mass, into which had gone so many precious things, was to them what the dedication of a cathedral was to the believers of the middle ages. Before their eyes and with their own co-operation, something intangible and divine assumed shape and tangibility. Many went away to become heroes in their villages because they had participated in the making of the great bell, which became more precious and mysterious as time went on, and they passed on to their children's children, even down to this day, the souvenirs of the occasion, inscribed with prayers by the presiding priests.

RETAIN THEIR WILD INSTINCT

Herd of "Tame" Buffalo Have Much in Common With Their Brethren Who Have Freedom.

The "tame" buffalo of Yellowstone National Park, are tame only in the manner of speaking. They retain all the habits of the original wild species. For instance, they are able, without fail, to predict a heavy storm for one or two days in advance. As the buffalo of the old plains were known to do, they point the storm, standing with the head toward the point from which it afterward breaks. Another sign of uneasiness induced by heavy weather is the stiff-legged leaping and running about in circles which often mark the herd just before a storm breaks on their range. They live practically in all respects the wild life of the so-called wild herd of the park, with the exception that they are watched by horsemen and are fed hay during the most inclement weather of the winter. The ranges of the tame and wild herds overlap to some extent, and without doubt they occasionally interbreed. The original hope, which has not been realized, was that some of the tame herd would drift off and become members of the wild herd.

Ant Engineers.

It has been found that the population of an ant hill has solved many complicated mining problems. Thousands of ants working instinctively perform miraculous engineering feats with amazing efficiency and without profiteering. Each ant finds its own work and the team work when the big problems must be solved is surprisingly efficient. When one shift of workers tires or must stop for food or rest its place is taken by other workers equally skillful so that not a moment is lost. When an ant becomes covered with dirt others immediately clean it by washing and brushing. During their mining operations in digging holes and removing stones an ant is often injured, whereupon others rush to its assistance and carry it to a quieter gallery where first aid may be administered. The resourcefulness of these little engineers has been found to anticipate many of our recent efficiency methods.—Boys' Life.

House Names.

I liked the English habit of naming their houses; it shows the importance they attach to their homes. All about the suburbs of London and in the outlying villages I noticed nearly every house and cottage had some appropriate designation, as Terrace house, Oak-tree house, Ivy cottage, or some villa, etc., usually cut into the stone gate post, and this name is put on the address of the letters. How much better to be known by your name than by your number! I believe the same custom prevails in the country. . . It is a good feature. A house or a farm with an appropriate name, which everybody recognizes, must have an added value and importance.—John Burroughs.

Was Sunday Your Birthday?

People born on this day may not live long, but will achieve many great things and win much renown while they do. They will learn many trades and will make and spend much money, their chief trouble coming through their marriage. They will be subject to headache, toothache and fever, and may be in danger from fire and plagues. They will be much beloved, will marry more than once and will be lucky in dealing with horses.

A Come-Back.

"I wouldn't be a fool if I were you!" "That's the only sensible thing you've said during this discussion. If you were I you certainly wouldn't be a fool."
