CITY CHARTER IS VALID, DISTRICT COURT DECLARES

INJUNCTION AGAINST TAX COL- LECTION UNTIL OLD CHAR- TER CASE IS SETTLED

The new city charter of Plainview was held to be valid by the district court yesterday afternoon, in the case of A. M. Anderson et al vs. the City of Plainview, in which the constitutionality of the charter was attacked. The case came up for hearing before Judge D. K. Culton, special judge, and the attorneys for the city through a demurrer on a number of points attacked the petition of the plaintiffs, and the court upheld the demurrer on each point, thus holding that the city charter is legal. He granted, however, an injunction against the city collecting the 1920 taxes against the defendants, until the legality of the old charter is decided by the state supreme court, where it is now pending.

The charter attacked by Mr. Anderson and others is what is known as the new charter, which was prepared by a commission of fifteen citizens in February 1920, and adopted by a large majority at the election held in April, 1920, and the charter superceded the so-called legislative charter which had been attacked in the courts and was pending on appeal.

In the case of Pat McLaughlin, charged with having operated a whiskey still in the north part of Plainview last May, near the lake, the jury late Tuesday brought in a verdict of conviction, with a sentence of four years in the penitentiary. The crude still which was confiscated when McLaughlin was arrested was exhibited in the court room during the trial, and Dr. W. W. Battle, government chemist and a member of the faculty of the State University in Austin, was a witness and testified that he had analyzed a sample of the liquor seized and that it contained 55 per cent alcohol. The defense was that all the necessary paraphanaia necessary to make whiskey was not found and that the tank had been brought there by a party the night before. The jury was out about thirty minutes before returning a verdict.

In the case of J. J. Ellerd vs. Barnett O'Bryan et al, involving the title to the Hale Center Record printing plant, the court gave a verdict in favor of O'Bryan.

I. M. Heas and Miss Ruth Whitt of Lockney were married at the court house yesterday afternoon, Judge L. D. Griffin performing the ceremony. Alva Carl McDaniel and Miss Caroline Elizabeth Shieds, were granted a marriage license Tuesday. They are well known young people of the Petersburg community.

Bill Haywood, the I. W. W. who is a fugitive from American justice and is now in Russia, says he expects to help distribute the relief supplies now being sent by the people of the United States to the starving Russians. He should not be permitted to touch a bit of it with his miserable hands, much less eat any. His own bunch will testify that he is yellowstreaked through and through.

POULTRY-DAIRYING CAMPAIGN COMING TO PLAINVIEW

WILL HOLD MEETING AT COURT HOUSE SEPT. 20TH, AT 9 O'CLOCK

A letter from Porter A. Whaley, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, advises that the Poultry-Dairying Campaign Committee is due to arrive in Plainview for a meeting to be held at the court house at 2 p. m. Sept. 20th. This party will be composed of J. W. Ridgeway director dairy development extension, Nissley Creamery Co., Fort Worth, and Col. C. C. French, industrial agent of the Fort Worth Stockyard Co. There will also be present a representative of the A. & M. College of Texas.

Mr. Whaley adds that he hopes a large attendance will greet this party, for "there is no matter which is of more importance to you than this campaign. This great feed crop now maturing must be marketed in the shape of poultry, dairy, beef and pork and the more farmers that we can get to do this the better it is going to be for all of us. We sincerely trust that you can get a large and representative gathering at Plainview."

The Plainview Chamber of Commerce urges that every farmer and his wife and all others interested in dairying and poultry raising attend this meeting, for these experts are qualified to give advice and tell of plans for the successful conduct of these two important matters. The meeting will be free.

LIGHTEST COTTON CROP IN THIRTY-THREE YEARS

Only Seven Million Bales is Estimate of the Federal Census Bureau

Washington, Sept. 1.—Cotton growing has just suffered the most disastrous month in its history. The indicated crop will be the smallest in the last thirty-three years, while its condition is now the lowest ever recorded in any month in the history of the industry. Ravages of the boll weevil are principally the cause of the severe decline of the crop, amounting to a loss of 1,116,000 bales in prospective production since last month's forecast. The department of agriculture, in announcing today its forecast of a production of 7,037,000 equivalent to 500 pound bales, based on a canvass made August 25, declared "everything seemed to have gone wrong with the crop."

An acre yield of 127 pounds is indicated for the country as a whole this year. Never in the last fifty-six years has the yield been so low. The nearest approach was 129 pounds in 1866. Only 10 per cent of a crop is promised in some counties of South Carolina. Parts of Oklahoma will have not more than 15 per cent of a crop. About one-third of a crop or less will be produced in sections of Texas, South Carolina and Georgia. A half crop or better may be produced in Mississippi, Northern Alabama, Northern Georgia, and North and South Carolina. States on the northern edge of the cotton belt may have about two-thirds of a crop.

FOSTER'S WEATHER BULLETIN

Washington, Sept. 1.—Near Sept. 4 a cool wave will be on northern part of meridian 90 and it is expected to bring frosts to northwestern sections east of Rockies' crest. Severe storms are expected on that part of the continent not far from Sept. 3. This will be the beginning of a two weeks' period of stormy weather that will reach most parts of the continent and the rains of the first half of September will put the soil in good condition for the sowing and growing of winter grain. Near Sept. 7 high temperature wave will cover the northern Rockies and the valleys east and west of them. Nearly all storms move southeastward from that section and they with the storm and cool wave cross the continent from there in about four days. Another warm wave will cover those sections near Sept. 10 and the movement eastward of all the storms features will be similar to those preceding. For a week following this last warm wave a great and rapid downward movement of temperatures is expected, resulting in unusually cold weather and killing frosts further south than usual. The week centering on Sept. 19 will be unusually cold and a large amount of rain, well distributed, is expected during the ten days beginning Sept. 14.

A New Mexico man is going to send a fine Angora Goat to President Harding. Alright, for the democrats are going to get his goat in the next election.

Government Will Stop Fighting Between the Miners and Local Peace Forces

Logan, W. Va., Sept. 2.—Miners and county forces flung their full strength into a bitter battle along the 25-mile front between Logan and Boone counties today.

Get First Hand FACTS About Your Battery

Batteries will wear out—nobody can stop that, but in a good many cases the embarrassment would be less if the owner knew his battery had "one foot in the grave," and was apt to die any time. When anything like that happens we feel that we have failed in our effort to get your ear and tell you the facts—the condition of your battery.

One of our most important duties is to tell you—whether you own a Willard Threaded Rubber Battery or not—just how that battery stacks up.

Come in.
