F.F.F. HIGHWAY IN BEING LOGGED, MAPPED, MARKED

TEXAS AUTOMOBILE CLUB OFFICIALS PASS THROUGH PLAINVIEW DOING WORK

Curtis Hancock of Dallas, formerly chairman of the state highway commission, and Harry Sammons, also of Dallas, business manager of the Texas Automobile Club, were here yesterday afternoon and last night. They are engaged in logging the F. F. F. highway from Fort Worth to Las Vegas, N. M., via Weatherford, Mineral Wells, Olney, Crowell, Paducah, Matador, Floydada, Lockney, Plainview, Olton, Farwell, Clovis and Santa Rosa. They are traveling in the official car of the Texas Automobile club.

They met last night with the Board of City Development, and secured an appropriation of $124, or $4 a mile through Hale county, for logging, mapping, posting and advertising the highway. This includes 25,000 log books, and advertisements in all the automobile club books in the United States. At each town along the F. F. F. highway from the last apportionment has been paid, and this morning at Olton the money for Lamb county's apportionment was pledged.

An important part of the work is the marking of the entire route with distinctive signs. These men recently marked the Central Texas highway from Fort Worth via Brownwood and San Angelo to El Paso, and within a short time the tourist travel increased five times what it had been, as tourists like to go over well marked highways.

The F. F. F. highway is becoming very popular, and traffic over it is increasing rapidly. Col. R. P. Smyth of Plainview organized the route before the war, and in August it was re-organized at a meeting held in Plainview, with Ford Shook of Fort Worth; president, E. H. Perry, Plainview, vice president; D. W. Jones of Colvis, secretary; John Boswell of Plainview, publicity director.

Messrs. Hancock and Sammons left this morning for the west. Mr. Boswell accompanying them as far as Olton.

Upon their return to Fort Worth they will prepare the data they have obtained on the trip, have it printed in circular form, and this material will be sent throughout the North and East, showing tourists of that part of the country what Texas has to offer them in the way of road facilities.

Will Go to Childress

John Boswell, E. H. Perry and several other local citizens will go in cars to Childress Thursday afternoon to attend a highway meeting and the following day bring Dr. Johnson of Washington, D. C., a prominent good roads man, who is crossing the continent to Plainview, for a meeting to be held here.

PLAINVIEW IS WINNER IN AMARILLO LEGION CONTESTS

BLAKEMORE POST FIRST IN ALL EVENTS EXCEPT COLOR GUARD DRILL

Ray Blakemore Post of the American Legion from Plainview was in Amarillo with bells on Friday.

The Plainview aggregation won first prizes in all contests staged at Amusement Park in the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with the exception of the color guard drill, judgment on which is held in abeyance due to the closeness of the drill. It is likely, however, that either Canyon or Wellington will take first prize in this contest.

The Plainview men were winners in most of the largest number of members of the Legion post in attendance, mileage considered, and the squad drill.

The men from Plainview participating in the contests were: Color guard Lewis Stoneker and Bill Herrell; color bearers, F. E. Offlighter and J. E. McKicker; firing squad, Virgil Rogers sergeant; Buren Rightmire, Ernest Woolverton, Roy Upton, Kelly Hooper, Charlie McDaniel, Will Mitchell, George Smith and Hoyle Curtis.—Amarillo Tribune.

Plainview created much interest in the parade, by the largest number of men in line, and the bearing of the drum corps, color corps, and the Boys' Band. She won $75.00 in cash for the largest attendance. Also the high school football team defeated the Amarillo team. Verily it was a great day for Plainview.

WAYLAND LOSES TO CLARENDON BULLDOGS

Plainview Baptist Collegians Are Shut Out By a Score of 34 to 0

The Clarendon College Bulldogs ran roughshod over the Wayland Baptist College eleven here Friday and smothered them with a score of 34-0. At no time did the Plainview team have a chance. They were outwitted, outguessed and outrushed in every stage of the game and it was only by fighting to exhaustion that the plucky Wayland team saved themselves from a greater defeat.

With an infinite variety of plays well timed and perfectly executed, the Clarendon team showed a class becoming to college football. Jackson's spectacular run of 85 yards from the kick-off placed the ball behind Wayland's goal in just sixteen seconds after the game had started. Captain Meads and G. Close performed in brilliant style and the whole team worked like a great machine hitting on eleven cylinders.

Zeigler and Anderson Buy Grocery

Messrs. R. S. Zeigler and G. V. Anderson have bought the grocery stock and good will of the Warren Reynolds Grocery, and will continue the business at the same stand on the east side of the square, under the firm name of the Zeigler-Anderson Grocery.

The new proprietors are well known to the people of the Plainview country—Mr. Zeigler having been in the grocery business here for several years until recently, when he sold out. Mr. Anderson lives several miles north of town; and has been a resident of Hale county many years. They have a force of carpenters remodeling the interior of the store, so as to more conveniently handle their stock, and are also having the place renovated and put in the best sanitary conditions.

L. J. Warren is possibly the pioneer groceryman of the town, having been in the business here for more than a dozen years. Mr. Reynolds bought in with him about two years ago. They will engage in the exclusive coffee roasting and grinding business, and will likely open within a few days in the Ruby theater building just east of the city hall.

Men May Live 300 Years

Chicago—With the advent of world-wide prohibition and the added knowledge of hygiene and right living, human beings may live to 300 years. As men grow wiser and more careful of what they dump into their stomachs and pay more attention to mending little breaks promptly, a person only 100 years old will be looked upon as a stripling.

That was the sentiment of the National Association of Mutual Life Underwriters, in ninth annual session here last week.

"Never laugh at prophecies," said John W. Barth, actuary. "The human race has added ten years to the length of the life of the average man in the last fifty years and all indications point to a similar gain in the next fifty years. We formerly laughed at the idea of men living to be 300 years old. The life pinnacle is now 75 years instead of 68. Back to Methuselah? Why not?"

Charles On Way to Exile

Bucharest—Ex-Emperor Charles and his wife, Zita, are on the way from Hungary to their future exile here on Maderia island. They were placed on board the Birton cruiser Caiff in Rumanian waters and are on the way to Constantinople, escorted by several Rumanian torpedo boats. Part of the trip across Rumania was made on a special train because low water in the Danube impeded navigation. The train was heavily guarded to prevent hostile demonstrations.

Abernathy Family in Arizona

We have a letter from J. W. Nance, formerly of Abernathy, telling us to change his address to Somerton, Ariz., where he and his family have located. He says in his letter that they left Hale county, Sept. 17, in three Fords all in a row, for Yuma, Arizona. They had a delightful trip, and crossed the mountains and deserts, and went as far as Long Beach, Calif., and as that is such a beautiful place expect some day to make it their home. However, they have a deep feeling in their hearts for the Plainview country.

R. P. and M. M. Bonner were in Fort Worth last week and attended a re-union of the Bonner family, with their parents and brothers and sisters. This was the first time all the members of the family had been together in fifteen years.

Miss Lillian Cloud of Ft. Worth is here visiting her brother, B. O. Cloud.

RADICAL REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS IS PROPOSED

SCRAP 60 CAPITAL SHIPS, IS PROPOSAL OF U. S. AT PARLEY

Washington, Nov. 12.—More far-reaching than the most ardent advocate of disarmament dared hope, America's proposals were suddenly laid before the arms conference today at its first session by Secretary Hughes.

A ten-year naval holiday is the proposal in short, and the United States, Great Britain and Japan shall scrap sixty-six ships, aggregating 1,878,043 tons.

Within three months after the conclusion of an agreement the United States would have eighteen capital ships, Great Britain 22, and Japan 10. The tonnage of the three nations respectively would under such a plan be 50,650, and 299,700.

Ships when twenty years old might be replaced under the plan and the replacement scheme is 500,000 tons for the United States, 500,000 tons for Great Britain and 300,000 tons for Japan. No replacement ship could exceed 35,000 tons.

The United States would scrap 30 capital ships, aggregating 443,780 tons; Great Britain 19, aggregating 583,372 tons, and Japan 17, aggregating 448,928 tons.

The figures include old ships to be scrapped and ships building or for which material has been assembled.

Characterized by Baron Kato, the chief Japanese delegate, as "very far-reaching," but probably suitable as a basis for discussion, and by Mr. Balfour, head of the British delegation as "a statesman-like utterance, pregnant with infinite possibilities, and most hopeful of satisfactory results, the American proposals, concrete and detailed, fell on the opening moments of the great conference like a bomb shell. The foreign delegates were stunned.

The principal features of the American plan proposes:

Building to Cease

That for not less than ten years, competitive naval building cease as between Great Britain, the United States and Japan.

That all capital ships building or planned be scrapped and a few recently placed in the water be destroyed within three months of ratification of the agreement.

That the older ships of each fleet also be destroyed, reducing the British force to 20 battleships, the American to 18, and the Japanese to 10, each ship to be retained being specifically named.

That during the agreement no capital craft be laid down except under a detailed replacement scheme included in the proposal which would provide for ultimate equality of the British and American fleets and for a Japanese force at 60 per cent of the strength of either of the other two.

That all other naval craft be similarly provided for in the same ratio, specific figures for aggregate tonnage in each class being laid down.

Saw Many Notables

Mr. and Mrs. E. Graham returned Sunday from a visit of five weeks with their son, Will, in New York City. They had a very delightful and interesting trip, and were there when the many notables who are delegates to the disarmament conference landed in New York. They witnessed the welcoming ceremonies accorded Marshal Foch, Admiral Beatty, General Diaz, M. Briand, and others. The ovation given Foch was possibly the greatest ever held in New York City.

Railied $50 With Box Supper

A box supper was held at Iowa Avenue school house one night last week and $50 realized, which will be used as first payment on a piano.

PLAINVIEW HIGH WALLOPS AMARILLO FOOTBALL TEAM

SAVAGES DROP GRID CONTEST TO SOUTH PLAINS CHAMPS BY 17-0

By David M. Warren in Saturday's Amarillo News

Amarillo's fighting Savages failed to wield the tomahawk at the proper time yesterday and went down in defeat 17 to 0 by the Plainview Bulldogs at the Amusement park before a crowd estimated at 3,000 people. The Savages displayed real skill at the first, the ball never being in Amarillo territory in the initial quarter.

The Plainview team gained in strength during the second quarter. Toward the middle of it Yates punted to J. Anderson, who touched the ball and Sone recovered it for Plainview behind the goal. The score was 6 to 0 and Bryan kicked goal, adding another point. The half ended with the ball on Amarillo's 27 yard line.

Displaying greater strength than ever and without a change in the line-up of either team, the Plainview men tore holes through the Amarillo eleven during the second half. Yates showed that he could punt farther than McQueen. And the forward passing of the visitors swept the local lads off their feet. As the game progressed the Savages found themselves bewildered by the passing of the Bulldogs, who made substantial gains with the aerial throws almost at will.

Drop Kick Made

Within a few minutes after the third quarter had begun, Yates put over a drop kick from the 25 yard line when his team was being held for downs. The third quarter ended with the ball on Amarillo's 20 yard line.

About the middle of the fourth quarter forward passing carried the ball down to within the ten yard line of Amarillo. Captain Bill Dawson for the Savages was knocked out. Elkins went in as guard and Boyles was shifted to tackle. With the third down and goal to go, Yates made a pass to Alexander for a touchdown. Bryan kicked goal.

During the first half of the game there was little penalizing. However, the players became more careless during the second half and both teams were penalized several times for offenses, while Plainview boys tackled the Amarillo lads before the ball was caught. This brought fifteen yard penalties without hesitation from Chief LaMott former Carlisle star, who referred the game with satisfaction to the large crowd.

Spectators Rush Field

Although a wire was stretched across the north side of the field to keep back the spectators, the local management did not have sufficient guards to force them back. During the second half they surged on the field and stepped the game in the fourth quarter when Plainview made its final touchdown, the spectators believing that scoring ended the game.

As the football season waxes warm in interest, the fans interfere more and more with the playing through stepping over the line and Referee LaMott would have been justified in penalizing Amarillo time after time. Had these penalties been inflicted, the score Continued on Page 7

GENERAL CLEAN-UP DAY FOR CITY NEXT SATURDAY

Everybody Urged to Give Their Premises a Good Cleaning for Winter

The Civic League and the city council announce a clean-up day in Plainview next Saturday, Nov. 19, and everybody is urged to co-operate in the work, by cleaning up their premises, raking up and burning the leaves and other trash, and hauling off the matter that cannot be burned. Give the town a good final cleaning up for the winter.

LAMAR SCHOOL OBSERVES BETTER SPEECH WEEK

Much interest and enthusiasm was shown in the work for better speech the past week by the pupils and teachers of Lamar school. Contests were carried on by the boys and girls of the different rooms to note the errors made in speech. The pupils were allowed to note the errors made by their class-mates and make these reports at the English periods their grades being raised in proportion.

A short course of study was used by the teachers for the purpose of correcting, and for drilling the pupils in the correct uses of English. To bear further on the subject, prizes were offered to the primary and intermediate departments—$2.50 each. Of the Intermediate department, Bernard Perkins of the 5th grade received first prize, $1.50; Lee Buchanan 7th grade, second prize, $1.00. Honorable mentioned were Bush Wilmet, 5th grade; Robert McGhee, 7th grade; Ralph Wallin, 7th grade; Reginald Mitchell, 6th grade; Otis Sone, 7th grade; Onnie Lee McWilliams.

Primary department: Mills Qualls, high 4th, first prize, $1.50; Maydeen Lindsay, high 3rd, second prize, $1.00. Honorable mentioned were: Fox Williams, high 3rd; Allie Bell Cooper, high 3rd; Mary Harrison, high 2nd; Eunice Chambers, high 4th; Lottie McDonald, high 4th; Jessie Martin, high 2nd.

These posters have been placed on exhibit in the different business places. We are proud of the spirit and interest that the children are taking in the move for a one hundred per cent American language. We thank the parents for their co-operation and hope that they will continue to help us make every week a "Better Speech Week."

UNKNOWN HERO BURIED IN NATIONAL CEMETERY

ALL WORLD UNITES WITH AMERICA IN LAST TRIBUTE AT ARLINGTON

Washington, Nov. 11.—Laid to rest with all the honors a grateful nation could pay, the unknown hero from France was bivouaced among the gallant dead today in Arlington national cemetery.

The highest officers of the army and navy walked beside his coffin none but the hands of gallant comrades of the great war laid hands upon it. President Harding walked behind his bier to do him homage, former President Wilson made his first public appearance in months, General Pershing turned aside an opportunity to ride and trudged beside the body to the last resting place. Representatives of foreign governments reverently laid their highest military decorations on his casket, and with soil from France where he fell unknown he was laid away.

Minute Guns at Fort Myer boomed their continuous tribute as the funeral procession was passing from the capital to the great marble amphitheater in Arlington, where the ceremonies were opened with the playing of the Star-Spangled Banner by the marine band.

After winding its way between the streets of the capital, the funeral long lines of a reverent multitude in procession toiled up the long hill leading to Arlington, arriving at the main gate a little after 11 o'clock. The invited guests long before had begun to assemble within the white marble walls of the amphitheater overlooking the still flowing Potomac and the capital itself, nestling in the blue haze of a fall day. The invited guests, including great chieftains of the war, were seated in the boxes and on the long rows of marble benches, and thousands were standing. Thousands more stood outside or anywhere merely to be near.

Body Is Removed

Just before 11:15 o'clock the casket bearing the flag-draped coffin rolled up to the western entrance and it was removed by the body bearers. Preceded by the choir and the clergy, it was borne tenderly around the right colonnade, and was placed on the catafalque. The great audience rose and stood uncovered as it passed in, followed by General Pershing and the distinguished officers of the army and navy as mourners.

Marshal Foch and his staff came in with all his war medals across his breast. General Jacques, the Belgian chief, also came, and the two strolled about the marble colonnade behind their boxes exchanging greetings. General Diaz of Italy joined them. Together the three moved with the Japanese mission to the place where the body lay.

Ambassador Geddes, in full British diplomatic uniform, brought floral offerings for the dead from England's king, with a guard of British officials.

Chief Plenty Coos of the Crow Indians, attired in full war regalia, feathered bonnets, furs and skins of various colors was seated on the platform, joining the group of distinguished military leaders from Europe. Thus the uniform of the first American Continued on page 6

Ten thousand Japanese women have signed a petition and sent it to President Harding.

In the election held Nov. 8th, the democrats carried Marion, Ohio, the home town of President Harding.

Plainview took the honors in the big celebration at Amarillo Armistice Day. Plainview is always "there with the goods."

Poor old Ben! We know his falling eyesight will never stand the strain of the women wearing knickerbockers, which is the newest fashion.

Old Kentucky is getting back to normalcy. In the elections of last week ten men were killed and seven wounded in fights. The democrats carried the state.

The Childrens Index says it understands the Ku Klux, was active in its community last week, and that two white men and a negro were whipped and ordered to leave.

Preliminary reports to the unemployment conference show that there are 6,380 unemployed in Dallas, 4,275 in Houston, 2,515 in San Antonio, 3,070 in Fort Worth, an 42,000 in Galveston, the five largest cities of Texas.

The population in Texas is 82.1 per cent white and 15.9 per cent colored. Ten years ago the population was 17.7 per cent colored. Over three-fourths of the white population are native Americans.

The anti-beer bill will be voted on Nov. 18. It has already been adopted in the house, and will pass the senate by a good majority. It adds several very stringent rules to the enforcement of prohibition. Reforms never go backward. America in time will become "bone dry."

A meeting was held in Greenville Thursday and another will be held in Pittsburg next Thursday to endorse Col. Milton Farrier of Omaha as a candidate for governor of Texas. All we have to say is, who on the dickens is Col. Farrier? We are pretty well acquainted with prominent, near prominent and other kinds of Texans, but we can't remember of ever before having heard of this man. Of course, in Texas it is almost an impossibility to defeat a governor for his second term, but it would be a good thing if occasionally such was done, as it would cause the chief executive to be more careful in administering his office.

 reductions of wages of railroad employees so that freight rates may be cut down accordingly.

On account of the butchers in the big cities continuing to sell meat at almost war-time prices, despite the low prices they pay the packers, the government is encouraging the big packing companies to establish markets and sell at retail direct to the consumers. The government argues that if this is done the people will at lower prices consume more meat and thus create a greater demand which will result in the farmers and stockmen getting more for their cattle. The continued high price of meats at retail as compared with that received by the producers has become a national scandal.

AMERICA TAKES LEAD

The proposal of America, as presented boldly and clear-cut to the arms council by Secretary Hughes Saturday bids for a new era in world peace, and should be adopted by the nations of the world.

The proposal that sixty capital ships be scrapped, and work on all those now building be stopped, that there be a naval holiday for ten years in which no war craft be built, and after that time only renewals of existing ships, gives a plan whereby a plan may be evolved that will remove the great burden of armament from the shoulders of the taxpayers, and eliminate the menace of large armaments now existing.

IS STILL MILITANT

The victories won by the democrats in last week's elections is calculated to give the donkey renewed hope of again taking up his abode in the national capital.

Two states—Kentucky and Maryland—were rescued from the republicans. New York City was retained by an unprecedented majority. Gaines were made in New York state and in elections held in other states. Virginia elected a democratic governor by an increased majority.

The elections prove the democratic party is still a militant force, and gives evidence that the party will enter next year's campaigns in fine fighting shape.

The result also indicates that the people are awakening to the demerits of the republican administration, and its failure to carry out campaign promises or give relief to the common people.

Our prediction is: in next year's election the donkey will kick the stuffing out of the elephant.

IN A MINOR STRAIN

A Lockney man got intoxicated last week on a nickle. He put it on the floor and ran around it until he became dizzy.

An optimist is one who sees beyond the mole-hills to the mountains.

A Lamar school boy was asked to write a sentence and use the word "deface" in it. He handed in the following: "Bill called me sissy and I beat 'de face' off of him."

In what way is an airplane up high and bootleg liquor alike? A drop will kill you.

A Lubbock electric light man has a sweetheart in Plainview and came here last Sunday to meter.

Some one has beautifully said: "What seems to grow fairer to me—life goes by, is the laughter of children, the friendship of friends, the sight of flowers and the sound of music."

TIRING OF B. OF C. D.

Amarillo was the first city in the state, possibly in the United States, to adopt a provision in a city charter providing for the support of a commercial club by taxation. Possibly not over two or three cities in the state have since adopted it—Plainview and San Angelo being the only ones to do so. "We worked a scheme on the people by inserting an innocuous appearing little clause in the city charter," laughing declared a prominent citizen of Amarillo soon after the adoption of the charter several years ago. The Board of City Development of Amarillo was created by this clause, and it has since been in operation.

But it seems to be proving a failure, and the Amarillo Tribune in an editorial Sunday so declared, adding that the people of the city are realizing that the commercial interests of the city cannot best be handled by a tax-supported body under the more or less direct control of the city council.

The Tribune gives several reasons why the system is a failure—politics, as the Board is under the appointment and domination of the city council, which can balk any move the Board may make, and which can refuse to sanction any expense it may incur; by being appointed by the city council the Board does not reflect nor necessarily represent or sympathize with the business interests of the city, who can have no voice in the deliberations of the Board, hence cannot be expected to have much interest in it or its work; that under the state law, there are many expenses that arise in the operation of a commercial club which are prohibited from being paid with public tax money, and this makes it necessary for committees to go out from time to time and raise money by private subscription.

The Tribune says something must be done about the matter at once, and suggests two plans—one is to abolish the Board of City Development and the tax for its support, and organize a chamber of commerce composed of and supported by a voluntary membership of the business people of the city, or to adopt the "Plainview plan", of having a Board of City Development supported by taxation and in addition also have a chamber of commerce composed of and supported by business people.

The News has very consistently opposed Plainview having a Board of City Development appointed by the city council and supported by taxation. It was opposed to the proposition when it was adopted and has not as yet seen any reason to change its opinion on the matter. It is absolutely fundamentally wrong—and anything that is wrong cannot succeed. Of course in Plainview politics has played practically no part in the affairs of the Board of City Development, and the Board has been and is composed of some of our best and most public-spirited citizens and business men, but in time if the town should grow to become a city politics and special interests may be depended upon to creep in and dominate the Board. Another bad feature, as been found in Amarillo, is that the general public takes no interest in the Board of City Development here. The Board, which is composed of but a few men, meets with possibly nobody else present, and deliberates. Not so with a live Chamber of Commerce, where the members take a lively and enthusiastic part in the discussions and boosters talk, because they support it with their own money and time and feel a degree of ownership in it.

Here in Plainview there are also a Kiwanis club and a Rotary club that in a measure do much work that usually comes to a commercial organization—thus making four commercial and semi-commercial organizations for a town of only five thousand people. Hence, we believe it would be best for the town if at the election next spring an amendment to the city charter be submitted the people to repeal the article creating the Board of City Development.

NOVEMBER 24 PROCLAIMED THANKSGIVING BY HARDING

Chief Executive Calls Nation to Day of Thanksgiving for Peace and Prosperity
 Washington, Oct. 31.—President Harding issued a proclamation Monday night designating, November 24, as a day of thanksgiving, devotion and prayer, and urging people to give thanks "for all that has been rendered unto them" and to pray "for a continuance of the divine fortune which has been showered so generously upon this nation." The proclamation follows:

A Proclamation
 "That season has come when, alike in pursuance of a devout people's time-honored custom and in grateful recognition of favoring national fortunes, it is proper that the president should summon the nation to a day of devotion, of thanksgiving for the blessings bestowed and of prayer for guidance in modes of life that may deserve continuance of divine favor."

"Foremost among our blessings is the return of peace, and the approach to normal ways again. The year has brought us again into relations of amity with all nations after a long period of struggle and turbulence. In thankfulness, therefore, we may well unite in the hope that Providence will vouchsafe approval to the things we have done, the aims which have guided us, the aspirations which have inspired us."

"We shall be prospered as we shall deserve prosperity, seeking not alone for the material things but for those of the spirit as well; earnestly trying to help others, asking, before all else, the privilege of service. As we tender thanks anew for the exaltation which came to us, we may fittingly petition that moderation and wisdom shall be granted to rest upon all who are in authority in the tasks they must discharge. Their hands will be steadied, their purpose strengthened, in answer to our prayers."

"Ours has been a favored nation in the bounty which God has bestowed upon it. The great trial of humanity, though indeed we bore our part as well as we were able, left us comparatively little scarred. It is for us to recognize that we have been thus favored and when we gather at our altars to offer up thanks we will do well to pledge, in humanity and all sincerity our purpose to prove deserving. We have been raised up and preserved in national power and consequence as part of a plan whose wisdom we cannot question. Thus believing, we can do no less than hold our nation the willing instrument of the Providence which has so wonderfully favored us. Opportunity for very great service awaits us if we shall prove equal to it. Let our prayers be raised for direction in the right paths, unto God, our responsibility is great; to our own first, to men afterward, to all mankind in God's own justice."

"Now, therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, president of the United States, hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fourth day of November, to be observed by the people as a day of thanksgiving, devotion, and prayer; urging that at their heart's sides and their altars, they will give thanks for all that has been rendered unto them; and will pray for a continuance of the divine fortune which has been showered so generously upon this nation."

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the seal of the United States of America."

"Done at the capitol of the United States this thirty-first day of October, in the year of Our Lord, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundredth and forty-sixth."

 By the president:

NOTHING SENTIMENTAL HERE

This campaign is the result of no sentimental impulse to give you merchandise at your own price just to win your trade. On the other hand, it is the result of deliberate and cold calculation to the effect that the only method to be adopted to get rid of our stocks was to practically give it to you. Conditions force the issue.

Delightful Audience Hears Reuben Davies, Pianist

An audience that comfortably filled the Presbyterian church last night heard Reuben Davies, the eminent pianist, in concert. The audience was very appreciative and applauded each number.

Mr. Davies was brought here under the auspices of Mrs. P. B. Randolph, Mrs. Guy Gibbs and Miss Minnie Dea Coffin, and they are to be congratulated on the success of the venture.

Reuben Davies, the American pianist; the conscientious follower of the truest of arts; the young poet filled with a deep spiritual beauty.

This is the lasting impression of Mr. Davies after his appearance in Plainview.

He offered a unique program, consisting principally of the impressionistic numbers from the modern writers, including one of his own compositions, which deserved a prominent place among the other gems.

Proving himself a master technician, a thoughtful exponent of the modern school, he seized the filmy heights in these colorful fantasies, sustaining there a delicate beauty of expression requiring the resources of an artistic ability of rare value. By his serious endeavor, he gained the confidence and devotion of his audience during the first part of his program, and his later Chopin numbers, portraying a depth of pathos and beauty in the Liszt transcription of MY JOYS, and the Etude in C Sharp Minor, were received with sincere appreciation. These numbers offered every advantage for the exceptional power of interpretation and execution which Mr. Davies displayed.

To say that he triumphed in this his first appearance in this place is to say the least.

His sacred regard for his art, his unselfish desire to give of his best, places him upon an individual plane among artists; a plane seldom reached by the many aspirants, and rarely held by the successful ones.

Tuesday Bridge Club

The Tuesday Bridge club was entertained by Mrs. G. C. Keck this afternoon. Mrs. Dennis Hefflinger made high score for the club, and Miss Lillian Cloud of Fort Worth for the guests.

She will be ninety-five years of age Dec. 15, and, with the exception of a slight sprain of the ankle, which was sustained a few days ago, is hale and hearty, and has always enjoyed good health. New York—For the first time a ship has crossed the seas unsteered by the hand of man. When a New York harbor pilot climbed aboard the German steamship Hansa, at Sandy Hook Sunday, he found no helmsman at the wheel.

When the ship swings off her set course, due to the motion of the sea, the corrector turns the rudder to the extent necessary to bring the ship back into position again.

Big Results From A Small Outlay of Money

The News carries the largest volume of Want Ads of any paper in this section. There is a reason for this, for if satisfactory results were not obtained people would not continue to spend their money for Want Ads in this paper.

The News is read by more farmers and other people in Plainview trade territory than any other newspaper, and these people buy lots of things. They sell lots of things. They rent rooms and houses, etc.

A Want Ad in the News costs only 15c for fifteen words and 1c for each additional word, but it is read by possibly six to eight thousand people. Isn't that very cheap publicity? Can you beat it?

If you have anything to sell or trade, a room or house or farm to rent, there is something you want to buy or trade for; something lost or found; a cow or horse strayed, some notice you wish to give publicity to, you will get results if you use the News Want columns.

can took its place with those of its allied powers in the last war. The group of Indian braves appeared in the audience, tiptoeing in their beaded moccasins down the aisle to the seats. Premier Briand of France was among the last to arrive.

Wait President Harding
With the party complete and the body of the unknown here on the Appe, the ceremonies waited for the arrival of President Harding.

The first strains of "Chopin's Funeral March" had heralded the coming of the unknown to his great honors.

Far out among trees toward the fort the dull color of moving troops had shown and marching half way to the throbbing muffled beats of the drums, the marine band had swung slowly out to circle the great colonnade to the entrance where the surplined choir awaited.

As the casket was lifted from the gun carriage the solemn chords of a hymn were joined in by the deep notes of the band. The choir sang "The Son of God Goes Forth to War" as the telephone amplifiers caught up the notes and threw them out over the land to the thousands standing as far away as San Francisco.

On its simple bases a hundred yards from where it will lie for all eternity, the casket of America's unknown rested as though supported by a mountain of blossoms of every color and kind from nations all over the world.

As former President Taft took his seat, Admiral Beatty appeared surrounded by his officers.

Exactly on time at 11:50 o'clock President and Mrs. Harding came in and took their places.

Almost immediately afterward the marine band broke forth into the Star-Spangled Banner, the silver notes echoing down over the river and up into the arches of the wooden hills. At the conclusion of the anthem Chaplain Axton pronounced the invocation.

As the chaplain concluded the invocation the sudden, clear note of the army trumpet call "attention" marked noon and the nation-wide two-minute pause. The whole company stood bowed in silence. (The transmission of this dispatch was interrupted for two minutes while all employees of the Associated Press stood at attention.) There was absolute silence, a hush as if the world had stopped.

The opening notes of "America" signaled the ending of the two-minute period and the great chorus was caught up and swept over the hills, the thousands outside joining in the mighty hymn of love of country.

Secretary Weeks Speaks
As the last great note died away Secretary Weeks stepped from his place beside the bier for his brief speech as master of ceremonies. He said:

"We are gathered not to mourn the passing of a great general or other conspicuous person, but an unknown soldier of the republic, who fought to sustain a great cause for which he gave his life. Whether he came from the North, the South, the East or the West, we do not know. Neither do we know his name, his lineage nor any other fact relating to his life or death, but we do know that he was a typical American, who responded to his country's call, and that he now sleeps with the heroes."

"We, who are gathered here in such numbers, are simple representatives of all the people of the United States, who are here in spirit, and whose sentiments have been more deeply stirred by this event than any in the life of our country. These sentiments can only be adequately expressed by one citizen—the President of the United States."

Immediately afterward President Harding began delivering his address—a tribute in the name of the American people to the man who slept beneath the flag.

As Mr. Harding spoke the sun drove through the haze and splashed the whole great gathering with golden light as though it also would lay its life-giving hand in commendation on the humble, faithful servant at rest.

There was unbroken silence while the president was speaking. Every tone of his voice showed the emotions he felt as he read slowly and distinctly, that his words might be caught by the electric appliances and sent winging across the nation to gatherings listening beside the far Pacific at San Francisco and to another multitude drawn together in mourning in New York.

Blue Sky Appears
As the president concluded a clear blue sky spread above the white bowl turned up from the green hills below as though it offered a human tribute of emotion and high feeling to the mystery beyond, into which the lonely sleeper had gone forever. It was as though all the solemn words and chords were lifted up to Him there above.

The warming sun rained down its rays on those gathered to do honor to the dead. Its beams struck in beneath the pillars of the colonnade to paint the white arches with dark gold-toned shadows over the heads of the great men standing there in tribute.

There was a dramatic moment as the president concluded, when touching on the coming conference in Washington he said it should be the beginning of a better civilization, a more lasting peace, and then ended his address with a recitation of the Lord's prayer, in which the thousands joined, their strong earnest tones rolling up the pledge of faith to the sunlight above.

Major Fenton of the general staff then stepped forward and handed to Secretary Weeks the velvet lined boxes containing the nation's highest tokens of valor for the dead hero. Secretary Weeks took the congressional medal of honor and the distinguished service cross from their cases and handed them to President Harding. The president leaned over the casket, and, side by side with the head, pinned both in place.

Then Lieutenant General Baron Jacques of Belgium stepped forward, he passed beside the casket, then, clutching the Belgian Croix de Guerre on his own breast, tore it from the cloth of his tunic to pin it on the flag-draped casket. The Belgian chief stepped back and his hand shot to his cap brim in salute.

Victoria Cross Given
The Victoria Cross, Britain's most prized war decoration, never before placed on the breast of a man not a British subject, was next bestowed. Earl Beatty, admiral of the fleet, set it on the flag and saluted as he stepped back. Then General the Earl of Cavan, representing the king of England in person, spoke briefly of the services this humble soldier had rendered, not only America, but the world there in France.

Marshal Foch of France, stepped forward and with every show of feeling, placed above the quiet breast the Medaille Militaire and the Croix de Guerre. He cited this dead soldier for valor, speaking in French, saluted and turned away to let General Diaz bring forward and pin in place Italy's medal for bravery.

In order, the Rumanian Virtutea Militari was added to the gleaming row on the casket by Prince Ribesio, Rumanian minister; the Czecho-Slovak war cross, by Dr. Stepanek, minister here, and the Virtuti Militari, by Prince Lubomirski.

At the conclusion of that part of the ceremony the quartet sang, "Oh, God, Our Help in Ages Past," and Chaplain Lazaren read a psalm. Then there was a soprano solo, "I know That My Redeemer Liveth," and Chaplain Fraizer read the scripture lesson. Then accompanied by the band and led by the quartet the great audience lifted its voice in "Nearer My God to Thee," the death-bed hymn to the martyred McKinley.

President Harding stood, joined in the singing with every show of strong emotion, and beside him Mrs. Harding wept as she sang. Often she had to wipe away her tears.

Coffin Taken Out

That completed, the ceremonies for that part, and the coffin was next borne from the apse and out to the sarcophagus preceded by the clergy and followed by the pallbearers, the President and Mrs. Harding, Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge, the senior foreign delegates to the arms conference, Secretary Hughes, Secretary Weeks, Secretary Denby, the foreign officers who had left decorations, General Pershing and the others who had been seated in the apse in the amphitheater.

Meanwhile the band played in measured tones "Our Honored Dead." The ceremony of committing the unknown hero to the stone crypt, with earth from the soil of France then followed conducted by Bishop Brent, former senior chaplain of the American expeditionary forces in France.

As the slow wonderfully solemn tones of the last hymn ceased the body bearers had lifted the casket, an tenderly lifted the honored burden through the doorway.

As the body was committed to the crypt the last moment of the solemn ceremony was at hand. At slow half-step to the dirge-like music of the land, the casket was carried out to the moulded stone work that surrounds the resting place. The band played "Lead Kindly Light," as the pallbearers laid the casket on the silver railing over the crypt. Generals and admirals of the unknown soldier's guard stood bareheaded.

Out over the rolling slope below thousands more also stood in reverence.

Bishop Brent stepped to the casket to read the burial service and the wreaths and flowers were brought forward.

As the casket was placed the body-bearers gave place to the high officers headed by Major General Habrod and Admiral Rodman who lowered it tenderly into the crypt.

Last Wreath Placed

The last wreaths were placed by war mothers. Mrs. R. Emmitt Digney laid in place the token of American mothers whose sons died in the war; for British mothers, Mrs. Julia McCudden placed the treasured English flowers she brought all the way to lay at the bier. Representative Hamilton Fish of New York, placed a floral offering.

Then the Indian Chief Plenty Coos, in the splendor of his tribal costume laid down his coup stick and the war bonnet from his head on the tomb.

A crashing salvo of artillery fire, the rolling, thundering blast sounded by the long lines of troops stood at present arms.

ALWAYS ON GUARD

Superstitious Bulgarians Dread Spirits of Evil.

Observe Many Odd Customs Which They Believe of Immense Importance to Their Welfare.

Are you one of those who will not walk under a ladder, raise an umbrella in the house or spill the salt without casting a few grains over your shoulder? If you believe in these or the kindred superstitions fast dying out in this country, you will feel a degree of kinship with the average Bulgarian peasant. For there are so many things a Bulgarian may not do, writes Temple Manning, in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Among the many customs of rural Bulgaria, to neglect which is considered unlucky and even sinful, are the following: To bring flour into the house and neglect to fumigate it with special incense. This must be done to drive out of the flour any demon which may have entered the sack.

When the housewife or her daughter goes to the spring for water, she must not neglect to spill a little on the ground before even starting with the pail for the house. This is done to turn out any elemental spirit which has been scooped into the pail. If it isn't done the spirit may take up its abode in the house, and may even enter the body of one of the family who drinks the water.

If you are asked to eat a loaf of bread you must not part with it without first having cut or torn off a small piece from an end. The spirit that has helped you make the bread must be given a chance to fly out of the loaf and still linger in the house he loves.

Under no circumstances may you give a child a spoon to play with. I do not know just why you may not do this, but it is considered exceedingly unlucky.

Nor can I account for the belief which is common in some far farming sections of Bulgaria, that it is very unlucky to give a child under seven years of age a bath. The child may wash itself, but that is its own lookout. The mother may wash the child a little also, but not give it a bath all over at one time.

Imagination easily accounts for the prohibition against cleaning a stable, selling milk, fetching water or doing any of the many other farm duties after darkness has fallen.

But how is one to account for the Bulgarian belief that to permit a dog to sleep on the roof of a house will disturb the rest of the dead members of the family?

These, and countless other superstitions rule the daily work and habits of old Bulgarians and the youths who live and work in many a shut-in section of that hilly land.

Bitter Joking

Ellner Glyn, the novelist, was talking to a reporter about her long visit in Spain.

"The death rate for babies is fearful in Spain," she said. "If it were not for that sad fact the world would soon contain more Spaniards than Chinese; for the Spanish are a remarkably prolific race. Families of 15 and even 20 children are not uncommon among them."

"But these children die off in their infancy because their mothers are so very ignorant of hygiene. I once heard two Spanish doctors joking-joking bitterly, you know—about this maternal ignorance which does so much harm."

"Yes," said the first doctor, "Donna Pilar's new baby died off, off, of course. At the age of two months she was feeding it on pork, cheese and wine."

"Pork, cheese and wine—a good diet, that, for a two-months' old baby," said the second doctor. "The rich Romans, though, have a better one for their youngsters. They give it for dinner every evening a brace of chops, fried potatoes, sweet pudding and a stiff whisky and soda, with coffee, liqueur and a good strong Havana cigar to follow."

Aviation Marvel Found.

An airplane capable of landing without the need of a large aviation field, able to rise without a long run before, able to travel more than 300 miles an hour and, if necessary, to meander along at but a few miles an hour, is announced as the invention of an Italian engineer, Epimonda Bertucci of Rome.

The inventor claims that he already tried out the machine on a small scale and regards his first experiments as indicative of the success of the invention. The new machine is primarily intended for aerial war chasing and is to be armed with a machine gun. It is a monoplane.

Remedy for Ants.

Here is a helpful paragraph in a New York paper: "To rid the pantry shelves of red ants, wipe them with denatured alcohol every few weeks." Now, how are you to entice the ant and give him that alcohol he has craved? Little things just as this—Jackson News.

KRESS

Nov. 10.—B. A. Bush and daughter, Mary, were Kress visitors the latter part of last week.

Rev. Hardy, of Plainview, the presiding elder, preached at the Methodist church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and the pastor, Rev. Smallwood, occupied the pulpit at night.

Mr. Canfield, from East Texas, was in Kress a few minutes last Saturday. He was enroute to Clovis, New Mexico.

There was quite a crowd on the school grounds Tuesday afternoon to see the basket ball game between Tulia and Kress. Tulia carried victory home with them, but that doesn't mean final for our girls. They all left with a smiling face, and are preparing to meet them again, and also other neighboring schools.

Meeting started at the Christian church last Friday night, conducted by Rev. O. M. Reynolds, of Plainview; T. S. Cobb, of Kress, is leading in the singing. Quite a number from Tulia and Plainview attended services Sunday afternoon.

J. F. Moore, of Canyon, is a business visitor in our town this week.

Miss Dorothy DeLong was shopping in Plainview Tuesday.

Miss Nelkie Minix spent Sunday in Canyon, visiting with friends.

Miss Alma Boston of Amarillo spent Sunday in Kress, visiting with home folk and friends.

Furd Moore visited with his folks in Canyon Sunday.

FEET MOST ABUSED MEMBERS

According to English Writer, Only About One-Third of Humanity Walk in Natural Manner.

The human foot is one of the most beautiful and useful instruments ever conceived, but, unfortunately, it is not what a motorist calls "foolproof."

There is a great deal of misunderstanding about our feet. We treat them outrageously, as either custom or fashion may dictate. As a result, about one-third of the population is splay-footed, another third walks like a hen on hot cinders, and the remaining third may be said to walk fairly natural.

The foot has a graceful arch running fore and aft. We take this longitudinal arch, turn the toes outward so that the heels meet at an angle of 45 degrees, and then put all our pressure in a skew direction across the arch. No railway engineer would dream of building a straight arch bridge to carry loads neither across nor along the arch, but irregularly askew over it.

We ought to walk with our great toe pointed straight in the direction of progress, as Indian runners do, and "spring from the great toe." Instead most of us "take off" in a lumbering sort of way from the ball of the great toe.

The arch of the foot is supported largely by the tendon which runs under the foot to the great toe itself, and this neglect of use renders this tendon weak and lax, and causes depression of the arch. The best care for weak arch is the practice of raising one's self upon the great toe, that is doing as a penalty exercise what you should have done all along naturally. If you will try when walking to keep the feet straight, and to end each stride with a little "spring" off each big toe alternately, you will be rewarded by finding that progress seems easier, quicker and more buoyant.—London Daily News.

There was quite a heavy frost on the Plains last night.

Wagon and Cotton Burned

A peculiar accident happened near Littlefield one night recently. John King had been to the gin with two bales of cotton. The two bales were ginned and as it was late when he returned home he left the wagon still loaded with the cotton out in the yard. In some mysterious way the cotton caught fire and in the morning when King went out the neck yoke of the wagon and the iron parts were all that was left of the wagon and cotton.
