C. S. WILLIAMS ELECTED HEAD CHAMBER COMMERCE

ADAMS AND LINE VICE PRESIDENTS, STEAKLEY TREASURER, BOSWELL SECRETARY

The annual election of officers took place at the monthly luncheon of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce at the Crystal cafe Wednesday at noon.

C. S. Williams, local attorney, was elected president; J. M. Adams of the News, first vice president; J. A. Line, farmer of Ellen community, second vice president; J. D. Steakley, assistant cashier of the Third National Bank, treasurer; John Boswell, re-elected secretary. The nominations were read by Capt. W. Holbrook, chairman of the nominating committee, composed of himself, J. L. Guest and R. E. Huddleston, and were unanimously elected.

President A. E. Boyd presided at the luncheon up to the election of Mr. Williams, who then took the chair. Covers were laid at the luncheon for fifty-six, and several had to be turned away.

Secretary Boswell in making his report, declared that there had never been any factions in the Chamber of Commerce work in Plainview, for the town had been blessed with 100 per cent harmony, and though there were divisions on politics and other matters there were no factions or cliques in commercial club work.

Will Give Band Concert

Prof. F. Ihlefeldt, director of the Boys' Band, reported that the band assisted by other entertainers would give a concert at the city auditorium the night of Jan. 23rd, for the purpose of raising funds for the use of the band. There are now forty-two active members of the band, and Manager Klinger reported he had secured quarters in the Boy Scout home for practice, but larger and other quarters would have to be secured when summer comes. It is proposed to let the band have the southeast room at the city auditorium.

President Boyd urged that the entertainment on Jan. 23rd be accorded a large attendance. A committee was named to raise the monthly subscriptions to the support of the band, by having those who are not already on the list to sign up.

Boyd Utters Thanks

Mr. Boyd in relinquishing his office thanked the body for the honor it had bestowed upon him the past year, and in making him the head of the universal organization of the town, for it carries the good will of the Rotary, Kiwanis and all other organizations of the city, and has potentially much greater possibilities than any other. Mr. Williams also spoke of the importance of the work being done.

Griffin Elected Highway Delegate

Messrs. Haltom and Perry told of their attendance upon the Lee highway meeting held in Matador Friday. They were authorized to secure memberships in the association at $20 each payable $5 each year for four years. County Judge Meade F. Griffin was elected delegate to the Lee Highway convention to be held in Little Rock, Ark., next week, and a committee will raise money for his expenses, unless the Board of City development will appropriate the money.

A. & M. College Wanted

Mr. Boyd reported as to the visit of himself, Claude Power, Col. Smyth, E. H. Perry, L. P. Barker and others to the West Texas A. & M. college meeting at Lubbock Friday night. He declared the sentiment of all the delegates was to secure the passage of the bill and then each town make a fight for the location.

COUNTY WILL BUY NEW ROAD TRACTOR

Will Withdraw American Troops

Washington, Jan. 10.—Withdrawal of the American troops from the Rhine was ordered today by President Harding.

In announcing the decision the state department said that the president deemed the time expedient for the recall of the forces now at Coblenz.

The American forces remaining in that area number about 1,000 men and it was indicated that the withdrawal order would be carried out as soon as the American Commander, Major General Allen, could make the necessary arrangements for winding up finally the affairs of the army of occupation.

A resolution favoring such a withdrawal was adopted Saturday by the senate but it was not apparent today how far it had contricted to the president's decision, nor how far the administration had been influenced by the situation brought about by the French movement into the Ruhr Valley.

The date of actual withdrawal of the forces will be left to the War Department, where it was said that American evacuation of the Coblenz zone would be conducted in an orderly fashion.

THE LIQUOR LAWS HAVE DOUBLE ROW SHARK TEETH

CAPT. EBBERT DECLARES BOOT-LEGGERS SHOULD BE GIVEN LIMIT

Capt. F. B. Ebbert of San Francisco associate counsel of the National Anti-Saloon League, in an address to an audience which filled the Presbyterian church Wednesday night declared the prohibitive laws, national and state, have a double row of man-eating shark teeth in them, and was he it to the bootlegger or moonshiner who violates the law, if the officers and citizens will do their duty in prosecuting him to the full extent of the law. He declared the bootlegger is the very worst type of criminal the law has to deal with, and will not scruple at any crime. In proportion to the number of men engaged in the work a larger per centage of prohibition enforcement officers have been killed in line of duty in this country than were American soldiers killed during the world war.

Pastor H. E. Bullock of the Presbyterian church presided over the meeting, and with Mr. Sims of Wayland college as leader and Mrs. E. R. Williams as accompanist, the audience sang "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and "The Lord Goes Forth to War," at the opening of the meeting. Pastor O. P. Clark of the Methodist church gave the invocation.

The speaker was introduced by J. M. Adams, who said that all his life he had stood for prohibition and the most vigorous enforcement of law and order. He declared that law and order is the sheet anchor of civilization, and urged that citizens back up the officers and insist that criminals be punished. He was applauded when he declared that while Hale County excels in many things, yet he did not believe there was a county in the state that had so sorry a jury service. He complimented the officers of the county and said they were trying to enforce the law and do their duty, but the citizenship and especially as jurors are not backing them up, and gave two instances of where a jury turned a man loose for high-packing negroes who had virtually plead guilty, and a grand jury which could have indicted a man for murder at once so he could have been tried at that time, but did not do so until right at the close, when it was too late to do so. It is discouraging for officers to work up cases and make arrests on straight evidence and then have the jury turn loose the accused when they know he is guilty.

Liquor Laws Strong

Capt. Ebbert in his address told of how strong the prohibition laws are. For instance, he said, a bootlegger should sell a half-pint or any other quantity of liquor to somebody under the federal law he could be arrested, convicted and sent to jail and fined. The internal revenue officers could then take him, may him pay a double tax as a liquor dealer plus $500 penalty for each sale he made. If he is a moonshiner this penalty is doubled; every dollar's worth of property he has is subject to seizure for this penalty. Then, a federal injunction could be sued out, a lock put on all his property, whether it is a building of any kind, sky-scraper office building, farm or what, and it closed up for one year. If he in any way violates this injunction he could be fined and put in jail, without right of jury or appeal for contempt. The land lords are awakening to these penalties, involving the closing of their property. Having served his imprisonment and paid his fines and penalties to the federal government, he can then be arrested by the state courts and put back in prison, made to pay additional fines, and the U. S. supreme court by Judge Taft has held that former conviction by a state or federal court does not bar the other from prosecuting in liquor cases. The state then can stop him through an injunction from in any way carrying on his business, with severe contempt penalties. Also, every mother, wife or child who is injured by the sale of liquor to their son, husband or father can sue and get judgment for damages up to $10,000. And, of late it has been found that any man who buys liquor anywhere in the United States can be indicted for conspiracy and on conviction be fined up to $10,000 and sent to penitentiary. Hence, it is not more law needed to solve the problem, but the enforcement of what laws we already have, and to do this there is need of an awakening conscience on the part of the people. As the days pass the laws throughout the country are being tightened and millions in penalties are being secured and the prisons filled with bootleggers and moonshiners.

Congress Can Legislate

He declared that under the decision of the supreme court in upholding the Volstead law it gave congress the right to legislate how much alcohol could under law be intoxicating, hence if a wet congress were to be elected it could raise the per cent from less than one-half per cent on beer to three, five or more per cent, and this would make it possible to sell beer anywhere, without hindrance, even if people got drunk on it. (The speaker is evidently wrong on this point, for the constitution prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquor, and this cannot be gotten around, also Texas and practically all the other states have prohibition and local option laws adopted before the national amendment, which prohibit the sale of liquor.) However while the great cities, with their foreign vote, elect light beer and wine congressmen the coming congress stands 350 bone dry to 115 wet. The people should be careful to elect only bone dry congressmen, however.

Disrespect of Law

The speaker declared that disrespect of the prohibitive law breeds disrespect of all laws, and the liquor interests are spending much money spreading jokes and derisive stories against prohibition laws as propoganda. Every bit of property we have depends on its safety in respect for law and order.

At the close Capt. Ebbert took a collection for the support of the Anti-Saloon League work.

NEW PICTURE THEATRE WILL OPEN SOON

Will Be "The Plainview" and Will Give Pictures and Vaudeville Performances

Mr. S. J. West tells us that the new picture theatre, "The Plainview," will be opened within a few days. It will be located in the Ware building two doors west of the Ware hotel, and the building is now being remodeled and decorated for the new use it will be put to. Mr. West says he will have a modern play-house, which he believes the people will appreciate with their patronage. The new theatre will show up-to-date pictures each afternoon and night, and have a vaudeville program at least once a week. The admission prices will be 10c and 20c.

Further announcements will be published in several days.

this law. It is the duty of all as good citizens to take information to the officers. The sheriff cannot alone stamp this thing out. Ninety per cent of all officials are honest and trying to do their duty.

There is no greater single duty incumbent on an American citizen than to serve as a juror the few times in a life-time he is called upon to do so, so a good citizen will not try to evade jury service. Bad citizens never try to get off of a jury, but try to get on them. Where women serve on juries bootleggers fare badly. Give criminals the limit of the law and this will put down crime.

ERECTED NINE HOMES DURING THE YEAR

Building and Loan Association Has Prosperous Year's Career—Old Officials Are Re-Elected

The shareholders of the Plainview Building & Loan Association held their first annual meeting Tuesday afternoon, as the organization was formed in December 1921.

During the year the association assisted in the erection of nine homes in Plainview, by loaning money to enable the owners to build. During the year in not a single instance was there a default in the payment of interest any month, which is indeed a good showing. Nearly $1,000 is paid into the association in payments on stock and interest, which enables it to assist in the erection of one new home per month.

At present there is $9,043.25 in outstanding loans, up on the nine homes erected.

There are nearly 150 shareholders, owning 1,594 shares. Not a single shareholder fell down on the payment of his stock assessment any month up to September and only two since then. After setting aside required surplus, the association apportioned to the credit of each shareholder a dividend of 11.8 per cent upon his money for the time invested.

Officers were re-elected as follows: C. D. Russell, president; C. C. Gidney and L. A. Knight, vice presidents; D. Heffelfinger, treasurer; E. H. Perry, secretary-manager. These gentlemen and E. H. Humphreys, Claude Power, P. J. Woodridge, W. E. Risser form the directorate. Messrs. Risser, Humphreys and Woodridge continue as the appraisal committee, and Kinder & Russell as attorneys.

Plainview Is Consistent Builder

A. B. Spencer of Crosbyton, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was here this week on business.

In conversation with John Boswell he stated that while a number of the towns had given up their local commercial clubs, Plainview had kept at a high water mark, and he had found it a consistent worker, builder and booster.

He expects a large delegation from Plainview at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce annual convention, to be held in San Angelo in May.

A tabulated statement of the estimated cost of approved projects in all the states was filed with congress today in a report made by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace on the activities of the bureau of public roads. The total estimated cost of the road projects which have been approved for Texas is $48,938,524, of which $17,756,495 is to be paid by the federal government and $31,182,029 by the state of Texas.

Plainview Have Another Gin

A well known citizen of Plainview informs us that he is planning to erect a modern cotton gin here in time to begin operations at the beginning of the next season.

A very large acreage to cotton will likely be planted in this tract territory this year, and the present gin will be entirely inadequate to handle the crop.

Wheat Needing Rain

The wheat crop in the Plainview country is needing moisture very much, and unless rain or snow comes soon it will begin to deteriorate.

A. A. Beery returned yesterday from a stay of two weeks in Kansas City. He says very little rain has fallen up that way, and the weather was cloudy during his entire stay.

RUSSIAN COMMUNISTS BURN GOD IN EFFIGY

IS GREATEST ANTI-RELIGIOUS CRUSADE SINCE "REIGN OF REASON"

Moscow—"Almighty God" was burned in effigy in Moscow Sunday when, in celebration of the Russian Christmas, red Russia launched its "war on heaven." Religion—the Christian faith, in particular, but all forms of worship—was mocked, jeered, satirized and ridiculed.

It was the greatest anti-religious crusade this world probably has seen since the "reign of reason" in the days of the French revolution, and came at a time when the "parlor pinks" in America and other Christian lands were pleading for a recognition of the government that is seeking to tear down the greatest bulwark of civilization and morals.

The Fruits of Soviet Teachings
Thousands of young communists, boys and girls of college and high school age, participated in the demonstration in the various cities, showing how completely the five years of soviet rule have undermined the faith of the fathers in the youth of the country. It was a carnival occasion, with parades, bonfires, fireworks and plays.

How completely the minds of the younger people in the cities, at least, have been torn from the ancient faith of the people was shown later in the day, when the churches were open for the usual observance of the Russian Christmas. Midnight mass was celebrated without molestation, but it was the older people who attended—those who had not yet been wrested from the worship of God. Youthful faces were absent.

Elders Still Cling to Worship
It had been planned to carry out the anti-religious program throughout the day and night, but there was a sudden change in the program and the churches were allowed to proceed with their evening services without counter-demonstration. Inquiry as to the cause of the change in the program brought this reply:

Effigies of Jesus and Moses, besides "Almighty God," were thrown into flames amid shouts of approval from the assembled throngs. Buddha and Mohammed were treated similarly.

"We have destroyed the czar's earth now it is time to destroy the czar's heaven," read an enormous poster that appeared everywhere. It showed a red-clad workman carrying the soviet symbol, a hammer and sickle, mounting a ladder into the sky and attacking a row of figures labeled with the names of Jesus, Moses, Mohammed and pagan deities.

Revolted Satire in a Play
Another poster, in different vein, showed a representation of Christ, with the words: "Take my body and eat." Three persons, one labeled the Greek Catholic church, another the kings and the third a fat man with dollar signs on his clothes, are shown tearing Christ's body to pieces and drinking the blood from the wounds.

The Star of Bethlehem was burlesqued in a parade and one of the most daring of the stage performances was a satire called "Immaculate Conception." It represented a wanton woman flirting with the soldiers of Rome. It was hailed as a tremendous hit. Another satire by the students received much laughter, the climax consisting of one player tearing down a picture of Christ from an altar, about which a score of women were praying, and substituting a picture of Karl Marx. That got great applause. And yet, while this disheartening demonstration of what communistic doctrines were doing to the youth of Russia was in progress, religious Russia prayed as fervently as ever. Hundreds of thousands took off their hats, despite a temperature of 14 degrees below zero, and crossed themselves three times before the sacred shrines.

High School Notes
This is examination week, and every one is busy. In P. H. S. there were two entire classes, Junior and Senior Latin, that were exempt. Half of 11th A Civics class was also exempt.

Mr. Duncan announces that there will be two basketball games this week, one with Petersburg and the other with Abernathy. Both of these teams have been practicing about five months, while our team spent their time on football until about a month ago. Each game will be closely contested. Mr. Sparks suggests that the P. H. S. students will be ready for amusements, by the time their examinations are over.

The Underwood Typewriter Co. have awarded a certificate of proficiency to Opal Watson, with a speed of thirty-five words per minute, and Roberta Tudor, thirty-one words. This makes four girls who have already achieved this success of completing a full year's work. Certainly Miss Wells, their teacher, is to be commended for the success her pupils have attained.

Henry Toussaint, awaiting a death sentence, escaped from the jail at Wichita Falls Wednesday night. He murdered his father.

Neal Douglas, sr., who formerly published a newspaper in Littlefield, has gone to Morgan, where he will have charge of a newspaper as publisher.

Its house of worship has been free of debt for several years, and the debt on the parsonage is being extinguished. The current expenses are met promptly, and more money was contributed to missions, benevolences, etc., during the year than ever before.

FOUND BALLAST LOST WEIGHT

How Ship Captain Discovered Properties of What Are Known as the "Barking Sands."

Fifteen miles from Walmes, Kauai, where Captain Cook first landed on Hawaiian soil, are a line of wind-swept sand hills called the Barking Sands. When dry, the wind on the sands makes them rustle like silk; to stamp on them brings forth different cadences; while to slide down them produces sounds like a dog barking.

For many years the problem of this phenomenon remained unsolved until the captain of a sailing vessel, one day, used the sand for ballast. Sailing out to sea, his ship became unmanageable against the wind. On examination, the captain found that his ballast had greatly reduced in weight. Further examination revealed the presence of minute cavities in the sand granules.

The captain had filled his ship's hold with water-soaked sand. When the moisture evaporated, nothing was left but the hollow grains, which were too light for ballast.

The injection and ejection of air into and out of the cavities are supposed to produce the curious sounds.

Why Heat Turns Iron Red.

Probably more than one small boy has "stumped" his father by asking him what makes iron turn red when it is heated sufficiently. The reason is simpler than most fathers suspect.

Heat, if there is enough of it, always produces light. The heat of the sun surpasses all calculation and conjecture. It is the film inside the glass globe, heated to incandescence, which gives the electric light. As iron absorbs heat it first becomes a dull, brownish red. Then it becomes a bright red and finally, as it is heated to the melting point, it becomes a white so dazzling that it inflicts pain on the eye looking at it. The varying shades of color are produced by the varying heat.—Cleveland News-Leader.

"THE GLORIOUS FOOL"
A COMEDY ROMANCE

Famous American Author, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Writes a Charming And Entertaining Luce Story

Whether they know it or not, all authors write about themselves or their friends. Many Roberts Rinehart, who wrote the story of the new Goldwyn photoplay, "The Glorious Fool," which will come to the Olympic Theatre, for two days, beginning Wednesday, knew intimately the source from which her story came. In her youth, Mrs. Rinehart was a hospital nurse; and no doubt the part of the pretty probationer played by Helene Chadwick, was suggested by some lovely nurse the au hores had known.

The story begins with the marriage of an inexperienced probationer to a private patient who is on the point of death. The patient is desirous of cheating his vulturous relatives of his fabulous fortune; and the poor, wracked nurse consents to the marriage only when she feels that her patient will not die content unless she acquiesces in his wishes. But the man gets well—uncomfortably well. And what is more, knows that he is in love with his nurse.

Then hospital politics come into play. The little nurse is transferred to a maternity ward, where her sympathies again cause her to do something that nurses simply don't do. And when it appears that she is about to be dismissed, that she has been a complete failure, fortune takes a turn and shows her many things she never guessed were in its wheel.

The rich patient in the case is played delightfully by Richard Dix. Mrs. Rinehart has expressed her pleasure at the excellent production and the consummate direction given "The Glorious Fool" by E. Mason Hopper. Under his guidance, the picture is a sweet romance with many tense movements that dissolve into happy events.

PRISCILLA DEAN COMING

"Wild Honey" Latest Feature, to Be Shown at the Olympic Theatre Monday and Tuesday

Priscilla Dean soon will be seen here in "Wild Honey", a Universal picture adapted from Cynthia Stockley's popular novel of that name. It is said to be the most thrilling melodrama Miss Dean has ever made for the screen. Those who remember her in "Outside the Law", "Reputation" and "Conflict" realize that "Wild Honey" has to be considerable of a "thriller" to outdo her previous photo dramas. It will be shown at the Olympic Theatre beginning Monday.

The biggest thrill in "Wild Honey" is based on the destructive flood and a series of brilliant rescues. The flood scene show a pent-up river unleashed to sweep down a narrow canyon and through a valley filled with settlers. The turbulence of the water and its destructive power are said to be shown with a realism never before attained on the screen. Priscilla is shown in the midst of it, battling her way to safety and happiness with her usual courage and dash.

There are many other thrills in "Wild Honey," including thrills of plot and of situation. Miss Dean is said to do some of the best emotional acting of her entire screen career in the sequence of scenes depicting her wanderings while lost in the desert.

The story concerns an English society girl who passes through a remarkable series of adventures, finally to find her heart's desire on the veldt of South Africa. Universal, in its advance information, promises that the picture has "the sweetest kiss ever screened." It doesn't explain whether it is due to its fervor or to its footage.

"Wild Honey," was directed by Wesley Ruggles. Robert Ellis plays opposite the star, and the well-known screen villains, Wallace and Noah Beery both take heavy roles in this picture. Others in the cast are Lloyd Whitlock, Raymond Blathwayt, Percy Challenger, Helen Raymond, Landers Stevens, Carl Stockdale, C. J. Frank and Harry DeRoy.

BEHIND IN RACE

Ade, Famous Humorist, Leaves Fabulist at Bat by Writing Two Meighan Star Vehicles

George Ade has run Aesop a good race in the matter of producing snappy fables, but that isn't all George has done. He has gone Aesop one better, or rather two, for it is two stories he has written for the movies. The first was "Our Leading Citizen," starring Thomas Meighan and the second is "Back Home and Broke," with the same star. The latest production will be shown here for the first time at the Olympic theatre, next Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Meighan, who has no trouble winning popularity contests for being the best liked screen actor, will probably be a few more thousand votes ahead in the next balloting, for "Back Home and Broke" is a type of vehicle particularly suited to him. It is one of those stories which reaches the heart and which everyone can under-

Next Lyceum Attraction
The next attraction of the Wayland-High School Lyceum Course will be the Cardin-Lieurance Orchestra and String Quartet, which will be at the city auditorium, Jan. 17th. This company offers a high-grade program embodying all the symphonic arrangements for the smaller orchestras, and the best in the library of chamber music. An additional and most attractive feature, however, lies in the fact that the orchestra is headed by Frederick Cardin, Indian violinist, and William Reddie, Indian cellist—unquestionably the two finest artists of their race.

The latest Ade story is typically Ade, which is to say that it has that peculiarly human appeal which makes George Ade's writings so popular. Mr. Meighan has the role of a young man who is born at the top of the financial and social ladders, comparatively, then drops to the bottom with a bang. He leaves his home town for what he believes to be a field of success, determined to make good and "show 'em"—the townspeople who regarded him with amusement and dis-tain. He comes home broke, apparently, and meets with ridicule. Even the town papers poke fun at him. The general fun doesn't begin here—it bubbles all through the picture, but it riots at this point where "Tommy" turns the tables in a novel and exciting way.

Lila Lee, as Mr. Meighan's leading woman, leads an imposing supporting cast. The picture abounds with thrills.

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Owens left for Uvalde county, where they expect to make their future home.

KIT CARSON, IDOL OF BOYS

ONE TIME FOUGHT INDIANS IN BATTLES IN NORTH PANHANDLE

A small stream in Northwest Texas flowing into the Canadian River, is called Kit Carson creek. The name commemorates the hard battle fought on its banks between troops under that famed scout and a large band of hostile Indians, Nov. 25, 1864. Besides the creek—which is in Hutchinson county—many places in the West are named for Kentucky's adventurous son, who was born Dec. 24, 1809. The same year that Abraham Lincoln saw the light in that state.

Carson strongly resembled Daniel Boone in general characteristics. It is probable that Boone's departure from Kentucky influenced many to follow him into what is now Missouri, after the United States acquired the vast region known as the Louisiana Purchase. Among early settlers in Missouri were the youthful Christopher Carson's parents, who built a home near the Missouri river, about 140 miles northwest of St. Louis. When Kit was 15 he was apprenticed a saddler, but the Great West lay too near for him to be content in that trade. Two years later he joined a hunting party bound for the Buffalo country, and thence worked his way to New Mexico, where he arrived in 1828. From there he went across the present Arizona to California, by the old Los Angeles trail. In California, whose golden riches were unknown then, Carson made his living by trapping on the San Joaquin River.

There he met Peter Skeen Ogden of the Hudson Bay Co., who had come from the far Northwest as Carson had entered from the Southeast. Returning to New Mexico, the latter turned northward; trapping on the Green and Bear rivers, and reaching Jackson Hole on the upper waters of Snake river. Had he gone 75 miles farther North it is probable he would have discovered the wonderful geysers of the Yellowstone region; but none believed the Indians' stories about them and Carson spent the next ten years trapping and hunting from New Mexico to Idaho. In 1842, he returned to Missouri on a visit; there meeting Lieut. John C. Fremont, who was bound for the frontier on a survey of the Northwest. Fremont's first expedition, with Carson as guide, left the mouth of Kaw river in June, 1842, and reached South Pass—now in Wyoming—in August. Fremont ascended the highest of the Wind River mountains on the continental divide, and then returned to the Missouri river, which he reached via the Platte on Sept. 30. This was but a reconnaissance compared with the second expedition which began in June, 1843, and reached Sutter's Fort in California eight months later. As that was then Mexican territory, Fremont departed within a few days and marched back to the starting point; Carson leading the way until the Missouri was reached late in July, 1844.

In August, 1845, Carson again accompanied Fremont to the West; the expedition reaching Sutter's Fort in December after a long march from Independence, Missouri, through what is now Kansas, Colorado, Utah and Nevada. Carson had six Delewarees—the best guides on the plains—as assistants, and their help was invaluable to the party. In 1846, as one of Fremont's expedition, Carson was conspicuous in the "Bear Flag" campaign, which helped bring California under the Stars and Stripes. After the Mexican War he moved to New Mexico, where he was Indian agent with headquarters near Taos, the ancient pueblo whose structures often are called the "first apartment houses in America."

During the Civil war, Carson became colonel of the 1st New Mexico Infantry, which was mounted most of the time. In 1863 he defeated the warlike Navahoes of Northeast Arizona and then turned his attention to the Kiowas and Kiowa Apaches, camped on the upper Canadian river in the Texas Panhandle. Satanta, or White Bear, the Kiowa war chief, planned with the Comanche and Cheyenne leaders to strike a blow early in 1865, against the troops along the Arkansas river. Carson learned of his scheme and marched from Fort Bascom on the upper Pecos river early in November, reaching the Kiowa camp on the 25th. His soldiers numbered 335, and 70 Ute and Jicarilla Apache scouts were with them. Both sides fought hard, the troops losing 25 killed and wounded and the Kiowa loss was larger. The hostiles fled down the Canadian and Carson returned to Fort Bascom. In 1867 he was active in formulating the Bluff Creek treaty by which the hostiles agreed to live on reservations. He died the next year in Boggsville, Colo., and his remains were removed to Taos, N. M., within a few months.

Such were the services of Kit Carson, who had few equals as guide and hunter. The Indians trusted him implicitly, he never deceived them and

WEST TEXAS WANTS SENIOR A. & M. COLLEGE

GET THE BILL THROUGH THE LEGISLATURE FIRST, THEN LOCATION LATER

Lubbock, Jan. 5.—A banquet given by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce at the Cova Hotel to the Chamber of Commerce of that section of Texas from San Angelo on the South to Amarillo on the North and to the West line of Texas and on the East to Stamford was attended by seven-teen counties and delegates from the following cities: Amarillo, Canyon, Littlefield, Tahoka, Sweetwater, Plainview, Big Springs, Crosbyton, Tulia, Floydada, Ralls, Post, Lorenzo, Slaton, Lamesa, Brownfield and Snyder. President W. S. Posey of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, called upon the following: W. N. Blanton, secretary of Panhandle Plains Chamber of Commerce; A. B. Spencer, President of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; Gordon B. McGuire, district attorney for the 72nd Judicial District Judge M. E. Rosser of Snyder.

These men for themselves and for the organizations they represent declared themselves for a senior co-educational A. & M. College for West Texas.

Tax Adjustment

Following resolutions were adopted First it is evident from the report of the State Tax Commissioner that there is a great variance in the assessed valuation of the property of the various counties of the state. We counties and districts of the state, recommend that the Thirty-eight legislature be asked to provide for a State Tax Commission to equalize the assessments of all property in the different counties of the state.

Good Roads

Second, good roads being essential to the material development of the entire state and the state road commission having full power over the distribution of the state road money, we recommend that the Thirty-eight legislature pass laws, giving specific directions as to the manner of distribution of these funds to the different counties of the state.

Public Schools

Third, our public schools are hope of the preservation of our democratic forms of government and all must have adequate maintenance and since our state available school fund is distributed to the various school districts of the state upon the scholastic census of all children between the ages of seven and seventeen residing in the different districts, on the first day of March and since in East and South Texas there is a very heavy population of negro and Mexican children who do not attend school, thus giving those districts more than their share of the available school fund, we recommend that the Thirty-eight legislature change this census law and base the distribution of the said fund upon the actual daily attendance of the pupils enrolled in the schools.

State College

Fourth, the fact that educational facilities for higher education are at the present time inadequate for the needs of the western part of the state, and the further fact that there are many important agricultural problems relating to farm and ranch economics whose solution is vitally necessary to the prosperity of this section of the state, and the further fact that the great distance and expense of travel necessary for students from West Texas to receive instruction at the existing Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas or at the College of Industrial Arts, rendering it impossible for many deserving boys and girls of West Texas to have the benefits of the excellent instruction of the Thirty-eight legislature establish the "West Texas State College," a co-educational institution offering four full year college courses in that portion of Texas lying west of the ninety ninth Meridian and north of the thirtieth parallel.

Location

Fifth, Be it resolved by this body of representative citizens of the Plains and Central West Texas in meeting assembled that we call upon the proposed gathering of representative citizens of West Texas which is called to meet on Jan. 12, not to attempt to recommend to the 38th legislature any certain location for the proposed West Texas college but to center all their efforts on getting the college created and leave the matter of location for determination after the same is by law created.

Natural Resources

Sixth, Since there are two great natural resorts in West Texas as follows the Palo Duro canyon, Blanco canyon and the Davis mountains that will soon pass into the hands of commercializers, thus forever closing these places to the general public, we recommend that the 38th legislature set apart and improve these places as permanent state parks.

If America should cancel the war debts due by France and other nations of Europe, it would give them more money for war purposes.

Religious intolerance is a child of ignorance. Where ignorance predominates, intolerance holds full sway, and men, women and children are murdered by fanatics.

The state senate made a very bad start—it permitted Jim Ferguson to deliver a speech the second day of the session. It is passing strange that his fellow should be given the least bit of political consideration.

Some people will buy goods from a faker when they could buy from the merchants, people they know to be reliable, people who will make good anything that is wrong. We don't know why unless they enjoy the sensation of being skinned.

Poor old Childress. Having just escaped from the "open ports" law, which was put in force on account of the lawlessness of the striking railroad shop union workers, is now to be an I. W. W., which is the most criminal of all the radical organizations.

While we are for the rebuilding of Plainview in most every way, we feel that the city council should let the people vote bond issues instead of making large issues of warrants on its own motion. The people pay taxes, they interest and payment of bond issues, and should be consulted before such issues are made.

ard declares the with the kid- murders in does not for it shows the crimes. actually do an organization by his methods encourage such mobbery, and is therefore guilty.

At the Jackson Day banquet held in Amarillo Monday night, some of the speakers urged that Texas be divided into several states. The division of Texas would be the most beneficial piece of constructive legislation possible. It will likely be a long time before a division actually takes place, but one day the people will see the great benefits to be derived, and will bring a pass. Sentimental reasons will time be brushed aside for the better weal of the people.

South Dakota boasts it has several large counties, one of them having an area of approximately 3,000 square miles. Shucks, Texas can't that record, for it has some sure enough big counties; for instance, Ellinger county had 9,353 square miles and the legislature carved Culbertson county, which contains 3,780 square miles and Hudspeth with 3,000 square miles out of it. Culbertson county at present is twice as large as the state of Delaware.

The Fort Worth Record asks, "Is legal killing (hanging) justifiable?" Emphatically yes. The person who takes the life on another in cold blood deserves to be hung and should be hung, for he has forfeited his life. If there were many hanging for murder, there would soon be much fewer murders. England has proven this to be true. In England there is one murder per year for every 416,000 population; in America 16,000. We deal too lightly with murderers and all other types of criminals. There should be no compromise with crime. The only language criminals understand is that of the iron hand.

A DANGEROUS ACT

France, despite the moral objection of Great Britain and the United States, has marched a large military force into Germany, to force that country to make certain payments on the reparations debt, and in so doing France has taken a very dangerous procedure, which may lead to another European war. In order not to get mixed up in the mess Uncle Sam has ordered the force of one thousand American soldiers in Germany to come home at once.

Since the war closed France has been the most militaristic nation of Europe, and has seemingly been "spoiling for a fight." Doubtless, the entire German reparations problem could long since have been solved and settled had France not have contended for the "pound of flesh."

Germany whipped France in 1871. Germany had France and the allies whipped in 1917, when the United States went into the war. In 1918 at Chateau Thierry the French had been routed and were giving the Germans a clear road to Paris, when the American marines threw themselves into the breach made by the retreating French, and turned the Germans back and kept driving them back until the armistice was signed. Give Germany a half-chance and she could whip France now. But as a military nation Germany is "down and out", and impotent to fight, hence France's actions of late is akin to cowardice. Anyway, France has lost the sympathy and respect of America and Great Britain.

This would be worth more to her than what she will collect from Germany.

EXTRAVAGANCE IS ENCOURAGED

In an address before a recent short session of congress President Harding pointed out the evils of tax exempt securities as follows:

"One year ago I suggested the submission of an amendment so that we may lawfully restrict the issues of tax-exempt securities and I renew that recommendation now. Tax-exempt securities are drying up the sources of Federal taxation and they are encouraging unproductive and extravagant expenditures by State and municipalities. There is more than the menace in mounting public debt, there is the dissipation of capital which should be made available to the needs of productive industry.

"The proposed amendment will place the state and federal governments on an exact equality, and will correct the growing menace of public borrowing which if left unchecked may soon threaten the stability of our institutions."

John Calloway Walton was inaugurated governor of Oklahoma Monday, amid wild west scenes, in which boys "shot up the town" with their pistols. It was one of the most spectacular inaugurations ever held by a governor. The celebration lasted three days.

The Lubbock Avalanche declares there was a reason for the severe dust storm which raged across the Plains for two hours Monday. In Los Angeles, Calif., the thermometer registered 89.9 degrees, the hottest day in January in forty-four years, while in New York and along the Atlantic coast a blizzard raged, with snow blocking traffic everywhere. The two extremes caused the windstorm here, it opines.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

n 8.—Matthew 5:43-48

Superseded by Christ's Law

Have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. I say unto you, Love your enemies that curse you, that hate you, and pray for them that hate you, and pray for them that hate you, and pray for them that hate you.

Representative Sanders of Texas has introduced a bill to bar all aliens from coming into the United States for an indefinite time. It seems to us that no aliens should be permitted to come until we have thoroughly Americanized the foreigners who are already here. Practically all anarchists, socialists, communists and other classes of radicals are foreigners, and they are trying to undermine our form of government. The tighter we draw the lines against additional immigration the better off this country will be.

GET BILL THROUGH FIRST

The Amarillo News seems to be the only newspaper in West or Northwest Texas that wants to select a site for the proposed West Texas A. & M. college before the bill is adopted by the legislature. All the other newspapers, so far as we are advised, are opposed to such action, and wherever the question has arisen in commercial club meetings resolutions against it have been adopted.

The best plan is for all forces to join and put the bill through the legislature and get the governor's signature to it—then each county that wants the college put forth its efforts to secure the location. To select the place in advance would likely cause the defeat of the bill.

Neither do the people want the institution tied on to the Canyon Normal. The normal is a school for teachers, and is a good one for that purpose. As a rule a school teacher is not fitted to do anything but teach. An A. & M. college is for preparing boys for farming and its associated avocations and for mechanics. Rather than attach the school to the Normal it would be better to drop the whole matter.

The people of the territory to be covered by the proposed college want a complete senior A. & M. college of the first-class, equal with that at College Station, nor does it care for anything less than this.

All we have to say is, that old negro who declared "I wants my cold weather in the summer time, and my warm weather in the winter," could get his wants supplied this winter.

Some of these days we are going to install a factory in Plainview and make cigars out of Alfalfa, and put all the cabbage growers out of business.

England is to erect a monument in honor of Joan of Arc, whom its people burned at the stake five hundred years ago as a witch. It is astonishing to us to think how superstition, narrow-minded and stupid were the people of those times. Don't you reckon that five hundred years from hence or posterity will be thinking the same thing about us? The world is moving on—and upward. "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

Two more sensations cases of poor boys climbing to the top of the ladder. James Simpson becomes head of the big department store, Marshall Field & Co. He started as an office boy. Andy F. Edson, who begun as a clerk, is the new president of the Armour meat packing firm. They should be inspirational to all young men fighting to get a start. Each attributes his success to "little things well done." Doing the little task develops ability to do the big task well. Cynics call that aptitude. Observe the most cynics are failures.

IN A MINOR STRAIN

The hard thing about amounting to something is there are so many ways not to do it and so few ways to do it.

A great many future convicts think they are too good for hard work.

In these days it seems that railroad locomotives are equipt with carcatchers.

Emile Belot is an astronomer who claims stars marry, so Emile must be thinking of movie stars.

Plainview is the logical trading point of the Plains. You can find what you want here.

Mrs. D'Amico of St. Louis shot and killed her husband because he loafed around and would not support her and her children. If the wives of the bunch on the corner would take similar action Flake Garner and A. A. Hatchell would be kept busy for awhile.

USELESS STEPS

The average American housewife takes 2113 steps to cook three meals a day. Believing one of the best ways to stop trend toward kitchen cafeterias and delicatessens is to eliminate useless steps in the kitchen, domestic science experts attached to gas companies have investigated the home cooking in a number of cities.

It takes the average housewife 100 steps to make an apple pie," said

CONFERENCE TRYING TO SAVE ORIENT

All Angles of Situation Are Brought Up for Consideration Before Interstate Commerce Commission

Washington, Jan. 11.—The knotty problem of keeping the Orient railroad alive had not yielded to the skilled treatment of experts when the hearing before Chairman Meyers of the Interstate commerce commission finished its first day's session here today.

Late this afternoon an adjournment was taken until tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The conferees hurried to hotel rooms and began to prepare data in accordance with developments at today's session. Conferees declined to discuss what transpired behind the closed doors at the interstate commerce commission today. They said that many things were talked over and there is better hope of a solution than at any previous time, but that this, the most serious grappling at the problem yet undertaken, was still in a nebulous state.

It was learned, however, that the question of making the Orient a differential line and the question of turning it over to the Texas & Pacific were discussed.

Davidson Plan Opposed

The plan of Lieutenant Governor Davidson of Texas to take off all restrictions was regarded by several of the conferees as visionary and it was believed there was no likelihood of obtaining the legislation from congress and state legislatures of the three states affected to put it into operation.

The discussion, which covered the whole range of the Orient's financial difficulties and the various plans for assisting the road, was said to have grown heated at times. Several clashes were understood to have occurred between representatives of the Orient and the Santa Fe roads, according to some of those at the conference, representatives of the Santa Fe did not look with favor on any plan to furnish the Orient with addition funds.

Representatives of the Orient were said to have denied responsibility for certain differential rates in Texas as charged by Santa Fe officials.

Former Plainview Girl Honored

Miss Ione Braudt who leaves Saturday for C. I. A., was honor guest as a welsch rarebit supper given at the home of Mrs. B. P. Hopkins on West Broadway Monday evening. After the guests had partaken of the delicious "eats" Miss Braudt received a special delivery package, which when opened proved to be beautiful and dainty lingerie, parting gifts of the house party. A very enjoyable evening was spent by Misses Ione Braudt, Ma Cravens, Mable Marsh, Allene West, Daisy Arlstrong, Nina Ellis, Hazel Maxey, Mrs. Hopkins and Charlotte.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Marriage A La Mode

Mexican marriages usually take place in the morning, sometimes before daylight.

The Average Man Considers His Duty to His Wife Consists Solely in Feeding and Clothing Her

Said a woman the other day: "We women are always being told that we must adapt ourselves to our husband's peculiarities, that we must keep our worries to ourselves, and make home bright and happy, and that when our husbands come home in the evening, we must be all dolled up and meet him with a glad, sweet smile.

"I don't see why it is any more incumbent on a wife to make herself over to suit her husband's taste than it is for him to alter his habits and way of thinking to please her. I don't see why it is any more a wife's business to make a happy home than it is a husband's. I don't see why a woman should take any more pains to dress herself up so she will look attractive to her husband than there is why he shouldn't beautify himself so as to be easy on her eyes.

"I don't see why women should have to do all the adjusting, and keeping the peace, and jollyng, and camouflaging in matrimony."

There isn't any reason, my dear, except the iron-bound, copper-riveted reason that it is a thing that men won't do, and therefore women have to do it, if it is done at all. And if it isn't done, a marriage goes on the rocks. It is one of the situations described by Mr. Cleveland when he said, "A condition, and not a theory, confronts us."

Of course, marriage is a partnership in which a woman invests her all just as much as a man does, and if the venture fails she is left more completely bankrupt than he is, because he has more outside interests to fall back upon than she has, and it is easier for him to make a fresh start. It is, therefore, peculiarly an obligation of honor on a man to make his marriage a success by making his wife happy, but, curiously enough men seldom ever realize this, or make any effort to pay this debt.

The average man considers that his duty to his wife consists solely in feeding, and clothing her, and giving her a comfortable shelter, and when he has done this, and especially when he has added a few frills in the way of French millinery and an automobile, he feels that he has done everything that any reasonable woman could ask, and he pats himself on the back, congratulating himself on being such a good husband.

But if he had a wife who interpreted her marriage vows as he does his, he would be hunting around for an affinity who understood him, and sympathized with him. He wouldn't consider any woman who merely set well-cooked food before him, a good wife. He wouldn't think that a woman who took no pains to please him, who went sloppy and slouchy about the house, and who growled and grumped, and snapped when she was spoken to, was much of a home-maker.

And if she told him that he did not know what he was talking about when he expressed his views on a subject, and if she openly derided his opinions, and her favorite funny story was recounting to strangers some foolish mistake he had made; why then, there would be ructions, or a divorce in that family, according to whether it moved in the circles that throws epkery or goes to law.

Every man wants his wife to give him a comprehension, and a sympathy that he seldom even dreams of bestowing upon her. He expects her to bear her part of the burden of matrimony, and in addition to assume about half of his load. Above all, he expects her to be the little ray of sunshine in the home, ready to make a place where the most pessimistic despic can take his glooms, and have them charmed away.

It is utterly unjust and unreasonable. Theoretically, there is no more reason why Mrs. John should have to acquire the difficult art of walking on eggs so as not to rile Mr. John's neevish disposition than there is why Mr. John should not study Mrs. John's peculiarities so as to be able to sidestep her little idiosyncracies. Nor is there any reason why Mr. John should not read up on the subjects that interest Mrs. John, and spend the evening regaling her on the snappy stories he has heard during the day in order to make himself fascinating and interesting to her. Neither is there any reason why Mr. John should not count his calories, and do without everything he likes to eat in order to retain the boyish figure that originally captured Mrs. John's fancy.

But can you see Mr. John doing any of these things in order to make domesticity a grand, sweet song for his wife? Not in a thousand years! Mr. John considers that being married to a woman gives him a right to say what he pleases to her, and that every man's home is his grouchery, and that if wives don't like a three-days' stubble of beard and old pipes, and old coats, they can lump it.

While as for making home entertaining for those who have to live in it, he no more considers that his job than darning the baby's socks.

In society, a man may be the life of the company. He may be a wit and a reconfer who can make any dinner party go, but at home it is his wife who has to monologue along to keep the conversation going, and prevent her own dinner table from being like a feast of deaf mutes.

When you find a peaceful home in which there are neither spats nor arguements, you will find that it is the wife who steers the talk safely past the danger points. When you find a married couple who get along harmoniously together you will find little wife deftly stroking husband's fur the right way. When you find a bright and cheerful home, you will find wife wearing the smile that won't come off.

—Dorothy Dix.

Clyde Equipment Co.,
Sunoco Distributors,
Seattle, Wash.

Gentlemen:

Having just finished a tour from Seattle to Detroit and return, am pleased to advise you as follows:

Arriving at Chicago I purchased a five gallon can of Sunoco, drained and filled the crankcase of my Ford car, drove to Detroit and back to Seattle via Chicago and Cheyenne.

My figures show a drive of approximately 3250 miles on 12 quarts of Sunoco, or 270 miles to the quart. Load about 700 pounds. Several days were spent in breaking roads through the snow in the mountains; one 20 mile and another 5 mile drive in low. No lubrication or carbon troubles.

This record speaks for itself.

Yours very truly,
E. R. Crandall,
AUTO HOSPITAL.

By (Signed) E. R. Crandall.
