ALL RESERVATIONS FOR SPECIAL PULLMANS HAVE BEEN SOLD

It was announced yesterday afternoon by John Boswell that all the reservations for the Pullmans on the special Plainview train to attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in San Angelo next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday had been sold. A total of 132 tickets had been bought at that time. The Plainview Boys Band of forty-two pieces, a seven-piece orchestra and a minstrel composed of seventeen men will go along to furnish entertainment and music.

Those who have not secured Pullman reservations can also go on the train, as a chair car will be included. The fare for the round trip, using the Pullman both ways and in San Angelo, is $22.63, and the chair car $14.03.

The train will leave Plainview at 9:45 Sunday morning. It will arrive at Elton at 11:15 and will remain there until 12:01, lunch being served. A stop of ten minutes will be made at Post City. The train will arrive at Coleman at 5:05 and a parade through the streets will be pulled off, with the band leading. Leaving there at 5:35 the train will next stop at Ballinger at 7:05 and stay an hour, where supper will be served. A big parade will also be given through the streets. The train will arrive in San Angelo at 9:20, and the Plainview delegation and band will march down town and through the streets.

During the convention the band will play in parades, give concerts in the convention hall and at the banquet, and also take part in the big band contests for the high premiums. The minstrels and orchestra will furnish music and entertainment in the hotels, convention halls, local theatres, and other places. The orchestra is composed of George Clements, piano; Albert Jackson, drums; Willie Brown, violin; Fred Beard, saxophone; Nick Jordan, trombone. Plainview will be much in evidence in everything that is done in San Angelo for the entire time. The train will leave there Wednesday night and arrive in Plainview some time Thursday.

A number of Plainview fire boys will take part in the water fights and fire tournaments and races. The minstrels, orchestra, entertainers are putting in good time practicing for the occasion. All Plainviewans on the special train will wear white hats, with Plainview badges on them. Those worn to San Angelo recently will do, and those who haven't such hats can buy them at Burns and Pierce's store at cost.

Prof. H. H. Floyd, Hubert Scott and Miss Lucile Goodwin will represent Plainview in the tennis tournament. Plainview golfers and trap shooters will also take part in those tournaments.

FORMER PLAINVIEW WOMAN DANIEL BOONE KINSMAN

Mrs. Wade Holman of Amarillo Was Great-Great Granddaughter of Famous Frontiersman.

Mrs. Wade Holman of Amarillo, who until a couple of years ago lived in Plainview, has returned from Santa Anna Cal., where she was called to attend the funeral of her father, Daniel Boone. Boone was the great-grandson of the historic Daniel Boone frontiersman, hunter and Indian fighter.

The camping outfit used by the famous Boone when making his long hunting trips where no white man had ever been before, will be turned over to the children of the late Boone. This outfit consists of Dutch oven, Bible, rifles, cooking utensils and coonskin cap.

A picture of the descendant of the famous Boone, taken of the father and son at the grave of their illustrious ancestor, also is cherished by the survivors, who are: Mrs. Mamie Boone of Santa Anna, and four sons, Earl and Leo of Los Angeles; Daniel Boone, Jr., and C. Boone of Prosper, Wash.; and three daughters, Mrs. F. W. Castle of Minneapolis, Mrs. A. B. Penn of Hastings, S. D., and Mrs. Wade Holman of Amarillo.

Praises Plainview's Auditorium.

H. D. Thompson of the Kansas City Paper House was with the excursion of Kansas City business men which last month visited Plainview in a special train, and spent a night here. He has written the following to the editor of the News:

"I was very much pleased to receive a copy of your paper of April 27th, with the write-up given the Chamber of Commerce 'Special' of Kansas City, while in Plainview. 'The writer certainly wants to thank you and your fellow townsmen for the fine and cordial reception accorded us while we were there. It is a pleasure for us to know that you are so well equipped with so fine an auditorium to take care of such a number of visitors at one time. To tell the truth, it was the onlyivic building we had seen on our trip.'"

Mr. and Mrs. Beeson Hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Beeson of south of Hale Center were injured in an auto accident Monday night. They were returning home after a visit to their daughter, Mrs. J. E. Green, in Plainview, and when about twelve miles south of Hale Center their car ran into a sand bank in the road and was turned over. Mr. and Mrs. Beeson were rendered unconscious for a while and a man who works on the Beeson farm, who was with them, was slightly injured. Mr. and Mrs. Green went that night to be with the injured persons.

Will Move to Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lamb, son Elbert and daughters, Misses Louise and Louella, will move to Amarillo. Mr. Lamb is having a $20,000 home built in that city, and will occupy it when completed.

Mr. Lamb was for a while president of the First National Bank of this city, and has engaged in other business activities here, and been a leader in Methodist church affairs. He and his family have made a multitude of friends since coming here, who regret exceedingly that they are to leave our town.

Slain Men are Buried.

The bodies of J. Sweaza and Maul Rippert, the two Castro county men who were shot and killed at the courthouse in Crosbyton Monday by D. L. Payne of near Lorenzo, were brought through Plainview Tuesday and taken to Dimmitt for burial. Sweaza was a member of the Castro county commissioners court. Payne was placed was placed in the Lubbock county jail for safe keeping until his trial, district court now being in session in Crosbyton.

Dollar Day Yesterday.

The monthly Dollar Bargain Day was yesterday, and quite a large number of people were in town taking advantage of the bargains.

In the afternoon Perkins & Stubbs contributed to the interest of the people by pulling off a contest which is mentioned elsewhere and also giving away of several prizes.

Hale County Boys' Candidates.

Among the thirty candidates for student offices in the State University at Austin are Ira J. Allen of Petersburg and Nowlin Randolph, son of Judge and Mrs. H. C. Randolph of Austin, whose home is really in Plainview.

Several cool northerly have visited the Plains the past week, causing summer clothing to feel rather thin and uncomfortable.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION

BAPTISTS PLEDGE SUPPORT TO SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION OF $75,000,000 CAMPAIGN

Kansas City, May 16.—Delegates to the seventy-fifth Southern Baptist Convention, which opened here today, pledged themselves by a ringing vote to carry on their $75,000,000 campaign to a successful conclusion. This action was taken late today following a stirring appeal by Dr. M. E. Dodd of Shreveport, La., who declared that the campaign would be won or lost in the last year.

The convention went to record as adhering to the Christian religion as taught in the Bible and protesting against "the unwarranted procedure of some so-called scientists."

This doctrine was outlined by Dr. E. Y. Mullins, president of the convention. The convention's policies on evolution as expressed by President Mullins were that taught as merely a hypothesis, and not as a fact, it could be permitted in schools. The belief in the virginity of Mary, the mother of Jesus, was also expressed.

Dr. Mullins was re-elected president. Dr. H. C. Moore of Nashville, Tenn., and J. Henry Burnett of Murfreesboro, Tenn., were re-elected recording secretaries. Dr. George Norton of Louisville, Ky., and the Rev. W. P. Harvey of Harrodsburg, Ky., were re-elected treasurer and auditing treasurer, respectively.

The following vice-presidents were elected: D. T. Harris, Fulton, Mo.; W. D. Ppshaw, Atlanta, Ga.; J. D. Standefer, Abilene, Texas, and Len G. Broughton, Richmond, Va.

The afternoon session was taken up largely by the reports of committees. The conservation commission reported that from the beginning of the $75,000,000 campaign until May 1, 1923, there had been paid in cash on that movement $49,933,815.25, leaving a balance of $31,066,184.74 to be raised between now and December, 1924, if the original goal is attained.

The report read by Dr. L. F. Scarborough of Fort Worth, chairman of the commission, pointed out also some of the denominational gains during the campaign, aside from money-raising. Dr. Scarborough said there had been an increase of 881 ministers, 3,068 churches, 762,980 baptisms, 3,287 Sunday Schools, 460,827 Sunday School pupils, 8,686 Baptist Young People's Unions, 256,729 in B. Y. P. U. membership and 7,094 Women's Missionary Union Organizations.

Southern Baptists during the campaign period the report said, have given an average of $9,376,927 more each year to the local causes than for a corresponding period prior to the campaign, while the annual increase to missions and benevolence has been $4,938,751, making an average annual gain to all causes of $14,315,678. At the same time there has been a gain in the value of local church property of $45,872,268, the report said.

Among the recommendations urged in the report were:

Co-operation of all denominational agencies in the promotion of a larger circulation of all Baptist newspapers and magazines as a means of educating and enlightening all Baptist people; the co-operation of all denominational forces in promoting a deeper conviction on the part of all Southern Baptists on the matter of Christian stewardship, immediate efforts to systematize finances of local churches and the bringing to a successful conclusion the $75,000,000 campaign.

Mr. Probst traded a large tract of land in Swisher county for the property.

PRESIDENT TO VISIT ALASKA

HARDING WILL MAKE TRIP TO ALASKA THE COMING SUMMER

Washington politicians and newspaper correspondents are now turning attention to the character of the speeches President Harding may make on his forthcoming trip across the country when he begins the journey to Alaska. President Harding will take with him on the trip the secretary of agriculture and the secretary of the interior, both having much to do their official capacities, with Alaskan affairs. President Harding is going to Alaska for the purpose of investigation and consultation looking toward measures for the greater development of that territory. His trip to Alaska is not political. But on his way across the country he has consented to make a number of speeches. Very naturally the politicians are more interested in that feature of his trip than in Alaska.

President Harding will make two speeches in Missouri—St. Louis and Kansas City—and one in Kansas at Hutchinson. He will make another speech at Denver. What will he talk about in the middle West? The president, it is said, is not pleased over the fact that some of his political friends have injected the campaign of 1924 into the forthcoming trip by making the announcement that he will be a candidate for re-election next year. This announcement is certain to lend a political aspect to any speeches he may make on the journey and give political significance to whatever utterance he may make in his addresses.

It has been intimated that at Kansas City President Harding may make a few remarks on the subject of the consolidation of railroads under the Cummins transportation act. It is said that Harding favors the merger of the railroad systems of the country into a small number of great systems. Senator Cummins is pushing this subject for action at the next session of congress. It is a delicate subject for President Harding in the West because the people of this part of the country are opposed to the consolidation. If the President advocates such a proposal, or indicates in his argument that he may favor it, the public will immediately connect the utterance with the issues of the campaign in 1924, and any connection between the merger of the railroads advocated by the Wall Street bankers and the campaign of 1924 will work to the detriment of the Republicans in the public mind. The subject of the railroad merger is only one of the subjects that go to show the mistake the politicians have made in bringing the campaign of 1924 into prominence in the light of President Harding's trip through the country.

It is presumed also, that President Harding will have something to say on the subject of the world court, as suggested by the League of Nations and favored by the President. President Harding has met great opposition to his ideas as to the participation of the United States in a world court among leaders of his own party. There is little interest in the subject as yet on the part of the public. The people have made no study of the question. Merely as President Mr. Harding might discuss the subject with the thousands who will turn out to hear him speak on his trip, without making a political issue of it. But Mr. Harding, as a candidate for President in 1924, will be embarrassed somewhat in the discussion of this tremendously important subject, because the people will connect whatever he may say about the world court with the campaign issues of next year.

One of the interesting political developments of the past week has been the revelation made by General Leonard Wood in the Philippines. A number of prominent statesmen in Washington already are explaining their connection with Philippine politics. As governor of the Philippine Islands General Wood has been investigating the fund voted annually by the Philippine government for pushing forward the movement for independence. The government votes 1 million pesos to this fund. It has been shown that some of the fund has been reaching to Washington, and at least one American writer and one former member of congress have received a part of it. Charles Edward Russell, a well-known Socialist writer whose articles on the subject of the independence of the Philippines have played a prominent part in the propaganda for that movement, has denied that he received twenty thousand pesos from the Philippine government for his influence and his articles. He admits, however, following the San Francisco convention in 1920 that he visited the Philippines at the request

BURGLARY COMPLAINTS FILED AGAINST TWO BARBERS

Alleged Union Barbers Urged Them to Leave—Made Key and Went Into Shop.

R. M. Peace, proprietor of the Blue Bird Barber shop, has filed complaints against two of his former barbers, alleging that Wednesday night they, with the use of a key they had had a local locksmith make, entered his shop and took their tools and some cigarettes, and left the town. Officers are trying to find and arrest them.

Mr. Peace is conducting an open shop, and his barber prices are lower than the union scale. This, so it is argued, has caused the union barbers to be unfriendly to his shop, and he asserts that some of them have been conspiring with his employees and urging them to quit him and leave town.

Wednesday, so Mr. Peace asserts, one of the barbers over drew his wages some in order to send for his wife to come here, and was evidently preparing to leave the town on this money.

TUG-O-WAR; BUT DIDN'T RIP THE WORK PANTS

Six Strong Men Tug Against Each Other Over Pair of Can't Rip Work Pants.

An interesting contest was pulled off by Perkins & Stubbs in the street in front of their store yesterday afternoon, when they held a tug-o-war between six strong men, three farmers and three town men, to see if they could rip a pair of Can't Rip Work pants.

The pants were selected out of stock by E. B. Miller of the Herald and J. M. Adams of the News was referee of the contest.

The farmers in the contest were E. G. Anderson, Tom Terrell, and L. G. Ballard. The town men were H. A. Preston, M. D. Mangus and H. W. Smith. Each trio held onto one leg of the pants and they tugged each other with might and main. Finally the Preston trio fell down and the other trio pulled them across the dead line and gained the victory, also a free pair of pants for each of the winners.

Just prior to the contest Conner Mathes Co., local Dodge agents, parked the streets, one car pulling the other cars, weight 7,000 pounds, with a pair of pants between each car instead of a rope or chain. My, but those Can't Rip work pants are strong.

Swisher County Grand Jury.

The grand jury for Swisher county is now in session and looking into law violations in the county. The personnel of the jury is as follows: W. W. Stephenson, foreman; J. A. Hodges, J. A. Grundy, G. B. Jordan, A. L. Harrison, D. B. Crawford, C. L. Cooper, E. E. Wheeler, S. J. Payne, Chas. Smiley, E. J. Springer, and W. D. Herring.

Congressman Marvin Jones Here.

Congressman Marvin Jones was here yesterday for a short while. He was enroute to Lockney, where last night he delivered an address to one graduating class. He will go from there to Matador and Crosbyton to deliver school addresses.

of some Filipinos and that he received his expenses, amounting to about $3,000. Another explanation and denial has come from T. T. Ansberry of Ohio, former member of congress. But Mr. Ansberry admits that he has been receiving a legal fee of $500 a month from the independence fund of the Philippine government.

PUBLIC SCHOOL CLOSES TODAY

FORTY-NINE GRADUATES WILL RECEIVE DIPLOMAS—VERY SUCCESSFUL TERM

The Plainview public schools are closing today for the year, and graduation exercises will be held at the city auditorium tonight. Supt. W. E. Patty will deliver forty-nine diplomas to the graduates. Mr. R. A. Underwood of this city will deliver the commencement address.

Last night the baccalaureate sermon was delivered at the city auditorium by Dr. E. E. Robinson of Lubbock, formerly pastor of the Methodist church in Plainview.

The seventh grade exercises were held in the auditorium Wednesday night, when diplomas were granted to sixty students, passing them into the high school next year. Supt. Patty delivered the address and awarded the certificates.

The past year's work in the public schools of Plainview has been the best in its history.

CHAUTAUQUA NEXT WEDNESDAY

SEVEN DAYS OF INTERESTING AND PLEASING PROGRAMS OFFERED

The Plainview chautauqua will begin its annual spring season in the municipal auditorium next Wednesday afternoon, and will be again put on by the Redpath-Horner Chautauqua Bureau of Kansas City, which has put on each of the former programs.

The premier seven-day circuit will be used, which is the highest class of any circuits given by chautauquas.

M. W. Sparks has arrived from Kansas City and will be platform superintendent during the seven days. He informs us that this year's program is possibly the best that has ever been offered the people of Plainview.

There will be two entertainments daily—in the afternoon at 2:45 and at night at 8 o'clock. They will begin exactly on time, too.

The first afternoon will be given over to a farmers' program, with Homer C. Bobbit, the well known expert on marketing, as lecturer. The various stores of Plainview have secured supplies of tickets, for this one entertainment, which will be given free to their farmer customers. Ask for a free ticket.

The season tickets are $2.50 for adults, $1 for children. Prices for single admissions are much higher in proportion than for season tickets, so it will pay you to buy season tickets. Reserved seats are $1 for the season. The reserve seat diagram can be found at the News office.

Any surplus the committee may make over the guarantee will be contributed to the Boys' band or some other local organization.

The chautauqua will have a playgrounds expert who will work with the children in preparation for a play to be given one day of the season, to be entitled "The Old Woman in the Shoe." The children of the town are urged to participate in this work. All children are invited to meet the lady at the court house square Tuesday at 10 o'clock when there will also be a ticket hunt on the courthouse lawn.

Money isn't everything, but it comes in mighty handy around a printing office every Saturday afternoon.

Uncle Sam's credit is good. The other day he asked the people for a loan of $400,000,000 to retire the rest of the Victory loan notes, and more than a billion dollars was offered him.

Recently many cities throughout the country observed "courtesy week," and everybody was urged to be polite to everybody else. Courtesy pays a big dividend every day in the year. The discourteous person is a rough neck, no matter how much money he has or how well he is dressed.

One and a half million babies are born in the United States every year, and as health is being more concerned, a constantly larger percentage of these babies live. A million couples marry every year, and this means several hundred thousand new homes. It takes additional food and manufactured articles to supply the constantly increasing population.

France says she will do something to retaliate against the United States because of the Supreme Court decision which forbids ships to come into American waters with liquors aboard. American soldiers saved France from being annihilated by the black eagle of Germany, but France has long since forgotten all about it. France is possibly the most ungrateful nation on the globe.

Courting a Fort Worth woman must be a very exciting and strenuous pastime, as well as dangerous. Last week while a man in that city was calling upon his lady love she bit him on the arm, which made him angry and he swatted her with his fists. Her sister called the police, and he was put in jail and the next morning fined. All we have to say is, any young man who can't stand for his sweetheart to bite his arm, should not go a-courting.

Last year the poultry grown and marketed in Texas is estimated to have been worth $60,000,000. It brought ready money to the growers, and was the mainstay of the farmers and merchants in many counties. The poultry business is rapidly increasing in the Plains country and is destined to become one of the greatest money-producing crops. In time this county will ship out poultry and eggs by the train load.

The federal civil service commission has given warning that certain individuals and business schools over the country are sending out literature in which they make extravagant claims as to their ability to further the interests of candidates for government employment, some of them having sent out a contract, which offers for $10 to assist the signor to get a position as postmaster. The chairman of the civil service commission says such offers are swindles, and warns the people to have nothing to do with them, as all applications for appointment are handled direct with the commission and without expense to applicants.

The first issue of the Scurry County Times, by Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Smith, formerly of the Lockney Beacon, has been received. It is a special edition for Snyder and Scurry County, and is twenty-six pages of six columns each. It is neatly gotten up, and is a worthy edition. It carries about one hundred columns of advertising, besides a very complete writeup of the resources, industries and business firms of the town and county. The Smiths are very competent newspaper people, and we are very sure will build up a very successful business in Snyder. They have the best wishes of the newspaper people of the Plain and Panhandle.

Uncle Sam is bringing the bunch of Fort Worth oil promoters to taw for swindling suckers all over the country out of several hundred million dollars, on oil stock deals. But this won't bring the money back to the suckers. It seems that after the exposure of the widespread swindling of oil promoters during the big oil boom several years ago, everybody would be too wise to get stung again in oil. But, you know, "a sucker is born every minute," and a new crop is therefore coming on all the time. We often doubt if there is such an animal as an honest oil promoter. No matter how honest a man may be, when he goes into the oil business, he is almost sure to get color blind soon, and get to doing things he never dreamed he would do. Never play at another fellow's game; invest your money here at home, where you can look after it.

The annual state convention of the Knights of Columbus has been in session in Austin this week. Be it said to the credit of the order, none of the delegates wore a bedsheet or pillowcase, nor said "I don't belong" when asked if he was a member.

The legislature adjourned the special session after appropriating many millions of dollars without making any provision for getting the money. Governor Neff should blue pencil the items down to the amount of the state's income.

We have received a copy of the initial issue of the Tahoka Methodist, a neat and well gotten-up four column and four page paper, published by Rev. J. T. Howell, pastor of the Methodist church in Tahoka. Rev. Howell was until last fall pastor of the Abernathy Methodist church.

The fellow who carries a roll of money about his person doesn't deserve much sympathy if he gets hijacked or his pocket picked. A person is foolish to carry much money. A bank is the place to keep money, and if everybody kept their money in banks the highwaymen and pickpockets would have to go out of business at once.

It now seems sure almost that cotton will be a high price the coming season. There is a world shortage of the staple. Frederick K. Rupprecht is an eminent authority on cotton. He analyzes the cotton situation as follows: He says he fears that "all the American cotton in the world will be consumed by September 1. Since the new crop is not available in the south until about October 15 and in foreign countries until about November 15, spindles may have to be idle for some weeks."

By a vote of 16 to 6, the state senate again voted down a resolution proposing to expunge from the senate records the impeachment proceedings in 1917 again Jim Ferguson and restore his citizenship, and his right to hold office in Texas. It does seem that as this matter has been settled that it should never again be brought up again. Ferguson's political axis since his impeachment have not been such that he merits any sympathy, for in every election he has stirred up all the trouble he could.

We have around four billion dollars worth of gold in the United States—gold coin and ingot bullion, not including our jewelry. Three fourths of it is locked up in the federal reserve banks. If we had the old time system instead of the reserve banks, controlled by the government, that three-fourths would be mostly in Wall Street's vaults. The federal system was brought into existence by Woodrow Wilson and a democratic administration, and is one of the outstanding constructive pieces of legislation in the history of the nation. It saved the country from financial panic and storms of every kind during the war, and is in times of peace continuing to prove its worth.

It is reported in Washington that there is a certainty of the Republican party in next year's presidential campaign taking a decided stand for the rigid enforcement of the prohibition law, and that the Democratic party will straddle the question—in the South it will be for prohibition and in the North and East for modification or repeal of the law. If the Democratic party takes such a position, or in any way stands for modification of the Volstead Act except for better enforcement it will get its socks beat off of it, and the Democrats will not have a look in at the postoffices. It was General Grant who declared "The Democratic party can always be depended upon to act the fool at the proper time," and we are always scared as to what it may do.

The Chicago city jail 15 years ago seldom had less than 1800 prisoners and often was crowded with 2200. Chicago is much larger now, but inmates of its Bridewell range from 650 to 1200. Judge William Gemmill attributes this to prohibition. "In the old days," he says, "Monday was the worst day of the week. Frequently 2000 drunks were tried on Monday. Today there are not more than 15. We have abolished two courts for lack of business." Under prohibition, juvenile delinquency has decreased in Chicago, and dependency cases twofifths. The population of the county poorhouse has dropped so that at times there are not enough able bodied men and women to perform the necessary work about the place. And the coroner's office shows a decided decrease in suspicious deaths since the enactment of the prohibition law. As long as prohibition gets this kind of results, it cannot be called a failure, regardless of the relative few who still manage to obtain hooch at $16 a quart.

MRS. OTIS TRULOVE DIES IN AMARILLO

Formerly Lived in Plainview, and Was Leader in Church, Music and Club Affairs.

Amarillo, May 17.—Mrs. Otis Trulove, 46, wife of Judge Otis Trulove, of the law firm of Madden, Trulove, Ryburn & Pipkin, died yesterday morning about 1 o'clock at the family home, 1412 Taylor Street after an illness of four and a half months. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Polk Street Methodist church, Rev. Stanley W. Hayne, pastor of the church, officiating. The body will lie in state at the home until 3:15 o'clock this afternoon. Interment will be made in Llano cemetery.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Trulove leaves three sons and two daughters, James Otis of Oklahoma City; Simon Hiron, Lawrence Alexander, Ora L., and Edith Ann, all of Amarillo; one sister, Mrs. Earl B. Mayfield, of Austin and a brother, A. A. Lumpkin, of Amarillo.

Mrs. Trulove was stricken with serious illness about January 1, of this year and was taken to the sanitarium for an operation and treatment. Six weeks later she was operated on for the second time. After ten weeks she was removed to the home, somewhat improved, but her condition became more serious, resulting in her death.

Reporter's Pipe Dream.

Just what kind of a pipe dream a reporter on the Fort Worth Star-Telegram had when he wrote that a party of Panhandle girls on their way to the state clothing contest at Fort Worth saw for the first time in their lives some trees after they had left the Panhandle and were down in Central Texas, is rather amusing, and that a great paper like the Star-Telegram should print such an item is stupid. It seems that Central Texas is distrustful of the power that might come to the Panhandle through development of this part of Texas. Just where the girls could like in the Panhandle and never see trees is something of a myth. In Hemphill county there are almost every variety of forest and orchard trees in abundance including persimmon groves, and many families never buy a pound of coal, but use wood for fuel the year round.—Canadian Record.

50 Iowa Cities Abandon Municipal Ownership.

Fifty Iowa cities and towns, which formerly had municipal electric lighting plants, have abandoned them and are receiving current from privately owned companies, according to records on Public Utility information. There are 58 cities and towns which have municipally owned distributing systems, but which buy their current wholesale from the lines of privately owned companies, or from other towns which have municipal lighting plants. The number of towns abandoning unprofitable municipal ownership is steadily increasing, according to the statement of the committee.

Prints Large Circular.

Last week the News job department printed seven thousand four-page circulars for the Garrett Dry Goods Company of Lubbock for a big bargain sale that was being launched. The copy came up on the afternoon train and the circulars were printed and folded and shipped on the midnight train the following day.

Examination Day is Here

Uncle John's Josh

DON'T JUDGE A MAN'S BRAVERY BY THE WAY HE SHAVES HIMSELF!

Playing Safe.

Eph: "What you do Sam, if you get a letter from the Ku Klux Klan?"
Sam: "I'd read it on the train."

Ungrateful Cur.

Bilkins: "I shot my dog last night."
Smythe: "Was he mad?"
Bilkins: "Well, he wasn't very well pleased."

In Kansas.

Tourist: "Say, friend, why it that high chimney standing alone in that field?"

Native: "Stranger, that ain't a chimney. You see we have quite a few cyclones here in the summer and the last one turned that well wrong side out."

Yea Verily

Father: "Are you saving your money for a rainy day?"
Son: "Man, it's raining right now."

Wisdom of Methuselah.

"Liketh unto the will-power of the w.k. boy on the burning deck, hath a man who letteth his wife drive the car and throughout the journey, murmurth not one suggestion."

Opie Opines.

This is the season of the year when fish can't see we fishermen's proposition from any angle.

Still Learning.

Sheriff: "Have you anything to say before you die?"
Condemned (on gallows): "Yes, I want to tell you men and women that this is going to be an awful lesson to me."

Back Door Out.

Editor: "What is that man so mad about?"
Boy: "He says he sent you a poem about his little boy which started, 'My son, my pigmy counterpart—'"
Editor: "Well, well, we run it what's he got to—"

Boy: "But look," and he handed the boss a copy of the edition in which the poem was printed and he read: "MY SON, MY PIG, MY COUNTERPART."

Like a postage stamp, a man's value depends on his ability to stick to a thing till he gets through.

Sneed Gets Change of Venue.
Paducah, May 15.—The case of the State of Texas against J. B. Sneed in connection with the shooting of C. B. Berry on the streets of Paducah about two months ago, has been transferred to Knox county for trial and will likely come up during the next term of court there.

The transfer was made for the reason that the case has been so widely discussed in this section, that in the opinion of the court, it would have been difficult to get a jury.

Egg Circle at Kress.

County Agent P. C. Bennett was in Kress Monday where he assisted in organizing an egg circle. The primary purpose of the organization is the production of a better quality of eggs, as well as to get a better price for them. The organization was perfected by the election of the following officers: C. F. Proff, president; J. A. Keating, vice president; Mrs. J. W. Skipworth, Sr., secretary; and Mrs. O. E. Gates and Mrs. P. M. Plinio as directors.—Tulia Herald.

W. A. Nash will attend the annual convention of West Texas Auctioneers Association, to be held in Amarillo next Friday.

Richard Lloyd Jones Says GO AHEAD

THE bud unfolds into the flower. The seed, laid in the cold, finds its way to the light. The short green wheat blade of spring becomes the tall golden stem of summer, crowned by many grains. Truth is never idle. Truth is growth; it is progress.

You cannot serve truth and repose. You must contribute something to the world or you are as the dead seed laid away. That which is yours to do cannot be done for you. Each man is his own maker. The only nobility that the world permanently recognizes is that which grows out of usefulness.

The purple pride of the Caesars lurks in the veins of fruit vendors today. Do not trust either your happiness or your place in history to the deeds of your fathers. That sturdy band of Pilgrims who would not relinquish their convictions would find but little content in your pride in the Mayflower if they realized that you, who boast of their heritage, made no denials and were unwilling to endure hardships for the cause of truth and right.

As sons and daughters of the American Revolution we too often boast of our forefathers' frank and fearless love of liberty while we cunningly evade the emancipations we might proclaim were we not ourselves slaves of greed.

We who boast of fathers who fought to make men free should recount what we ourselves have given or are willing to give in time, labor or money for the freedom of those who are hopelessly chained down. Do we seek truth, do we love freedom so long as we allow men, under our laws, to coin money out of the labor of little children or to abuse women for profit? Greed is a poor gun with which to hunt happiness.

Be no parasite. Profess no patriotism that you have not earned. When chided that he had no ancestors, Napoleon replied, "I am an ancestor."

It is the first edition of a great book and not the last that brings the big price. Be the pattern not the emulation.

"Through the corridors of time," said Victor Hugo, "there ever echoes the sound of the patent boot descending and the wooden shoe ascending." Neither disdain the plowman from whom you come nor rest upon the triumphs your ancestors won. Be yourself, in and by your own right a MAN.

The thriving family tree never grows upon dead roots. The more you talk about the family from which you came the more will people talk about you; the more will they suspect you need the prop.

Don't look back; look ahead.

Don't let them find you coming down the steps—let them find you going up. Be not content with either reflection or repose. Seek the truth—and the truth is only found by GOING AHEAD.

Poem by UNCLE JOHN

In delvin' into the sciences, I have spent a busy term, in ferretin' out the residence an' habitat of the germ . . . I've studied the spore an' the protozoan, and the coccus of Spanish flu,—an' paid my respects to the wiggle-tail, which science is bound to do . . . I've warned my friends—as a feller should—of the blame invisible foe, and distributed facts for the public good, that every one ort to know.

But—I clean forgot to trim my lawn, an' cart the litter away; my premises looked like the folks was gone, an' had kalkilated to stay. . . The people that passed my bailiwick would smile—from ear to ear, an' would mebbe wonder if I was sick—or what poor widdler lived here! So I took the hint—in the nick of time, an' cleaned in front of my place,—and if you believe this simple rhyme, she's a thing of beauty an' grace . . . There may be germs in my drinkin' cup, an' my cellar may reek with spawn. . . But you won't find rags an' tomatter cans, or other trash on my lawn!

HOMELY PHILOSOPHY for 1923

YOU can't put two quarts into a one-quart cup, so fill the cup with water and let the poison drinks run down the sewer. The waking hours of the day are fixed. There's only time for a little thinking. Here are Peace, Contentment, Love, Faith, Truth, Goodness, Harmony, Beauty, Kindness, Health, Gratitude, Success, Achievement, Happiness, Independence, Prosperity all waiting to be taken in. Let's fill the cup with these and let Spite, Revenge, Envy and Chicanery wrestle with themselves on the outside. "No Admission Unless on Business" would be a good sign to pin on the head.

Try Your Remarks on Your Own Piano; If You Like Them, Pass Them Along

A young girl complains that she is a dummy in society. She says she never knows what to say to people, and she wants to know if there is any school of conversation wherein she can be taught the fine art of small talk.

Shoo, daughter, there isn't any difficulty in knowing what to say to people. Just think of what you would like to have people say to you, and hand it right out, smoking hot on the platter, to them. This is an infallible rule that always works, and if you will follow it you will soon get the reputation of being a spell-binder.

If you will reflect, you will recognize that the individuals who bore you to tears are those who monologue along by the hour about themselves, their achievements, their automobiles, their homes, their children and their possessions. You remember how often you have felt that human endurance could stand no more, and that you would be obliged to scream aloud in your agony if you had to hear another detail of Mrs. A's major operations, or what kind of a line Mr. B. used for fishing for tarpon, or what Mrs. C's cousin's aunt's maid did, or the bright thing little Johnny said, or the cute thing little Sally pulled.

Therefore, as nobody is so tedious and tiresome to you as those who talk about their own personal affairs do you refrain from making yourself the subject of your own discourse. No other human being on earth, except your own mother, is interested in your personal experiences, therefore clamp the soft pedal down good and tight on your egotism if you want to be persona grata in society.

On the other hand, if you desire to be considered a brilliant conversationalist all that you have to do is to acquire the knack of starting people off to talking about themselves. There isn't a man in the world who wouldn't rather repeat to you a comic supplement joke himself than listen to Irvin Cobb's best story. There isn't a man who doesn't get more thrills out of relating how he got a puncture on a bad road on a dark night than he would in hearing the tale of a world adventurer.

There isn't a woman who wouldn't rather tell about what she said to her husband, and what he said to her, than to listen to the most eloquent speech ever made. There isn't a mother who doesn't think that the most important piece of news of the day is her son making the football team, or her daughter getting engaged.

So if you want to be considered witty and wise, and a fascinating talker, all you have to do is to touch the button that starts people discoursing about themselves. They will do the rest.

You know how it pleases you for somebody to remember your little peculiarities. It makes you feel as if you had individuality, some quality that lifted you above the mob. Other people feel exactly the same way about it.

Therefore you can be very sure of making a hit with Mr. A. if you remind him of that very interesting subject he was talking of the last time you met. Mrs. A. won't exactly hate you if you tell her you envy her that artistic house of hers, and little Miss A. will think you're the sweetest thing if you remember the blue dress and the pink rose buds she wore to a certain ball. Even John A. will grant that you have a lot of sense for a woman if you recall that he is the captain of his branch of the Boy Scouts.

You know how you like to have little gracious things said to you. It pleases you, if you have been sick, when anyone asks about your illness. It comforts you, if you have had a sorrow, to have a word of sympathy from your friends. It adds to your joy and your success to have a shower of congratulations from your acquaintances.

We all are built alike, daughter. Human vanity is the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin, and you needn't be afraid that you will go amiss if you inquire into the symptoms of any near-invalid, or tell any one who sorrows that his or her grief, is your grief, or throw a few bouquets at anybody who has just had some good luck befall them.

You know how intelligent you think people are who listen to you, as to the words of an oracle. You know what judgment you think they have if they agree with you of your opinions. You know what artistic taste you consider they have if they compliment your new dress, and ask you where you got your hat, and what interior decorator did your rooms. You know what a sense of humor you consider they possess if they laugh at your jokes.

Every mother's son and daughter of us fall for the same bunk. We admire the people who admire us. We think none so discerning and with such rare judgment as those who appreciate us. None are so entertaining as those who sing our praises, and to find the thing that pleases and flatters ninety-nine peo-

First Christian Church

We want to urge every member of our congregation to be present next Sunday at 11 a. m. We have some very plain and important things to say at that time.

We have been "dragging our tracks out" long enough. It is high time for some plain talk. We may make your "blood boil" and your hair stand on end" but some things need to be said. We are going to find out whether this church is dead or alive. We would a thousand times rather be in a fight than in a grave yard.

Bible School at 9:45 a. m., lesson Acts 15:36 to 16:15. Study it and come.

Preaching at 8:30 p. m. Come and bring a friend.

All are cordially invited.

ple out of a hundred you have only to say the thing that would please and flatter you.

Furthermore, to avoid saying the things you should not say, consider the things that make you mad all over when people say them to you. The tactless remark that calls attention to some defect that you fondly believe you had camouflaged. The brutal joke about your age, or your poverty, or your false teeth, or your divorce, or something else that turns you into a figure of fun. The cruel candor that lays all your little subtleties bare. The witty sarcasm that stabs like a knife. The rude speech that is like a bludgeon blow.

Avoid these lest you be hated, even as you hate those whose jawbone is like the jawbone of the ass that slew its thousands.

The recipe for being an entertaining talker is very simple. You have only to say to others what you would like them to say to you.

DISCOVERIES

By Aleda.

When you press a woolen article such as a dress or a man's suit, use a wool cloth to do so, before finishing you will not find that shiny look; even a part wool cloth will do.

A small magnet tied to the sewing machine will save the dressmaker and housewife much time and labor. If one drops their needle simply swing the magnet which is tied to a string and the needle and any other pins) will be picked up. This will avoid all back-bending, loss of time and eyestrain.

Useful Hints.

Grease Spots—For grease spots on silk, lay a blotter under the spot and then rub some warmed flour on the stain. Brush off and renew until the grease disappears.

A Fall—When a child gets a bad fall, peel and grate a raw potato, and rub part affected, and it will reduce the swelling in short time.

Earache—For earache roast a raisin and bind as hot as can be borne on the ear.

To Clean Feathers—Soak them in benzine and then rinse in clear benzine and dry out of doors. Besure and keep away from the fire.

Washing Windows—When washing windows add a small quantity of bluing to the water.

Shoes—If the leather of your shoes become hard, rub the shoes with a little castor oil and they will become soft and comfortable.

To Wash Silks—Wash your white silk gloves, hosiery, and lingerie in cold water and dry them in the shade, and you will not find them turning yellow.

Burns or Scalds—The white of an egg applied to a burn or scald is most soothing and will cause the wound to heal quickly. Never apply iodine to any raw surface of skin.

Sun Oil Co.,
43 Commercial Wharf,
Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:

When a company puts out a new product on the market, we know that it usually pleases them to have an unbiased opinion of such a product from a large consumer. We are therefore very pleased to write you our honest opinion of Sunoco Motor Oil.

We started using Sunoco Motor Oil during the month of August of last year. Our repair sheets show that from September 1st to this time we have only cleaned carbon out of two motors. In view of our past experience and the fact we operate 45 trucks, we think this is quite remarkable.

About the last of August we overhauled a 5 1/2 ton Mack truck and put it in service, averaging over 60 miles a day. During the latter part of December the water-jackets in this truck were frozen and it was necessary to take down the motor. When the cylinders were removed, we found less than a spoonful of carbon in all four of the cylinders.

On a number of occasions our trucks have been left out all night on the road, and in spite of the extremely cold winter we have had, we have experienced no trouble in starting these motors as the Sunoco Oil apparently flows quite freely at the very lowest temperatures.

Our fleet consists principally of Macks and Autocars, and I consider Sunoco the best motor oil we have ever used. Wishing you all success, I remain,

Yours very truly,

M. French,
Service Manager.

A few centuries ago an old master said: "Beauty is not the possession of classical features in so much as it is the perfect glow of health."

Tennessee might well be proud of this fair daughter of the south who possesses both classical features and perfect glow of health.

Marguerite Martin is an ideal of perfect health, is very charming and pretty. She weighs 116 pounds, is 62 5-10 inches tall, and has large brown eyes. She is a great outdoors enthusiast and spends most of her time when not in school, with her mother on a farm near Shepherd, where she can romp over the hills, and, as she says, "enjoy her health."

While Marguerite believes that most anyone can be healthy and happy if they desire she admits that it is a great temptation to forget and partake of "too many sweets." She claims that the possession of health is worth the self-denial practice.

Marguerite is ambitious, and after finishing high school she is planning to become a physical culture director and teach other girls to be healthy and happy.

When asked for some simple suggestions or rules for other children to follow, so that they, too, might be as healthy as she is, Marguerite said, "Live outdoors as much as possible, drink milk as a beverage—eat wholesome food and not too many sweets, and"—she hesitated—"for the girls, they should wear bobbed hair—it is sensible."

Kills Daughter; Commits Suicide.

Wellington, May 12.—The fact that his 17-year-old daughter had been called before the grand jury at Childers last Tuesday as the result of rumors regarding relations between himself and his daughter, is given by officials of Childers and Collingsworth counties as the reason John Garland, 50, farmer living near here, killed his daughter, 17, with an axe and then shot and killed himself with a .44 calibre Winchester rifle in their home yesterday at noon.

In a note left to his 14-year-old son, Garland stated that lies about himself and daughter had caused the tragedy.

Garland lived with his four children, two girls, 17 and 10 and two boys 14 and 7, on a farm ten miles from here, across the line in Childers county.

Man and Ford Fight; Man Loses His Teeth.

A man over at Ralls lost three teeth in a fight with his Ford. He started the engine and then went around in front of the car between it and the wall of the garage. The clutch slipped and the car lammed him up against the wall. When the tires struck the wall the car would jump back, butting like a goat. He finally got hold of the choker and flooded the engine, but not until the radiator took him an uppercut on the chin and knocked out the teeth. That man was a mule skinner. He knows now that the safest end of a car isn't the front end.—Crosbyton Review.

Colorado, May 15.—Twenty-one persons are dead, probably 200 injured, as a result of yesterday's twister which whirled through the southern end of Mitchell county with property damage estimated from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

The death toll may grow to a total of thirty-five or forty it is feared in some quarters, as many of the injured are thought to be fatally hurt.

Four additional names were added to last night's list of seventeen deaths today.

Grandmother Reese. Cosman Rios, 40, Mexican. Maria Brionez, three years old. Oscar Hemby, 45.

Thirteen of the victims were buried today. Eight were laid to rest in the Odd Fellows' Cemetery here, three in the local Mexican cemetery, and two in the cemetery in Westbrook, ten miles from Colorado.

Every store and business house in Colorado closed at 2 o'clock for the funeral and the services were the most largely attended in the history of Colorado; more than 3,000 were present.

H. J. Standifer and his family of six were unhappy victims. The farm house of the Standifers, five miles southwest from Colorado, was wrecked and the father and three small sons killed outright. The mother and two daughters are in the Colorado Sanitarium and reported in a serious condition.

Beliehor of Plainview Boosts Home Town Strong.

Joe E. Kelihor of Plainview, brother of W. D. Kelihor of this city, spent Friday in Hereford looking after business interests and, incidentally, telling the world about Plainview's determination to win the West Texas Tech school. Mr. Kelihor owns land west of town.

He distributed several copies of the official brief setting forth Plainview's reasons why she thinks the Tech should be located there. The book is a beauty and the classic thing of the kind ever seen here before. It is a very elaborate exposition of Plainview's assets, profusely illustrated, with gobs of statistics and several illuminating maps drawn especially for the brief. Mr. Kelihor stated that individual copies of the brief, bound in Morocco leather were presented to the governor, state officials and members of the locating board, each one having his name stamped on the copy in gold.—Hereford Brand.

I did not seem to find the right remedy until someone told me of

CARDUI

I used two bottles before I could see any great change, but after that it was remarkable how much better I got. I am now well and strong. I can recommend Cardui, for it certainly benefited me.

If you have been experimenting on yourself with all kinds of different remedies, better get back to go to the old, reliable Cardui, the medicine for women, about which you have always heard, which has helped many thousands of others, and which should help you, too. CALOMEL GOOD BUT TREACHEROUS

NEXT DOSE MAY SALIVATE, SHOCK LIVER OR ATTACK YOUR BONES

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tonic straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

LOCKNEY NEWS

Lockney, May 18.—

The 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Boyce, who lives on the Davenport ranch north of Lockney, suffered a very bad and painful cut on his right foot Monday of this week while digging post holes, the wound being inflicted with the diggers. Several stitches were necessary to close the wound.

On Tuesday, the 8th, the 12-year-old son of Mr. Boyce had the misfortune of breaking his right leg when it got caught, somehow in a farm wagon.

Miss Bill Braswell has been selected to represent this city as "Lady Lockney" at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce pageant to be held at San Angelo, May 11, 22 and 23. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Braswell, and was the choice of the local business men.

Among others from Lockney who will attend the pageant are C. R. Wilkinson, W. A. Brewster, G. A. Thomas, Leslie Floyd, Dorsey Baker and Dow Nix.

Early Monday morning of this week, Floyd County, and especially the north end, and the Lockney trade territory, was visited with one of the best rains of the year, as much as ported in some sections.

From reports gathered, the rain in the extreme south and west portions of the county was light, but the entire section around Lockney got a good season, and the wheat farmers seem very optimistic. Some of the wheat was beginning to suffer for want of moisture.

The Beacon has just bought a Model 5 Linotype machine, which will arrive soon after June 1st.

The following was the program for the commencement exercises of the Lockney High School, here last night:

Eulogy to Senior Class—Melvin Wise.
Violin Duet—Mrs. Homer, Miss Stewart.
Valedictory—Ray Harvey.
Vocal Solo—"Good Bye Sweet Day"—Miss Christian.

Awarding of Diplomas.

The recently consolidated school districts, Bobbit District No. 25 and Weathers District No. 30, now known as the Prairie Chapel District No. 25, will have a new and modern brick school building for next term of school, if an election which has been ordered for June 2nd, carries.

According to Mr. W. W. Allen of that district, and who is one of the enthusiastic workers for the better school, the election will be held at his place on Saturday, June the second, and at this time the resident property taxpayers of the Prairie Chapel District will vote on a proposition to increase taxes and vote bonds for the erection of the school building.

If the election carries, the building will be erected just south of Mr. Allen's home, six and three-quarters miles northwest of Lockney, which is the center, or very near so, of the new district.

A. J. Keys, of the Leslie Floyd Grain Company, has accepted the local agency for Studebaker automobiles, and will devote a good part of his time to that business. Mr. Keys is now driving a new Studebaker coupe.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sams returned the first of the week from California, where they have been for several months. Verdial Webster, who has been in that country for some time, drove their car through for them. Verdial says he enjoyed his stay in California, alright, but is glad to get back home, and to his wheat crop.

This week Geo. Brewster & Co., agents, add Mr. B. A. Bryant of California, the W. S. Cope resident property in the north part of Lockney. Thirteen acres are included in the tract. Mr. Bryant, we understand, will take possession immediately.

Spiders Made Useful.

Few Americans know that when Colonel Goethals was constructing the Panama canal there were six spiders included in the large staff employed in his work; for from the webs spun by these indefatigable workers the instrument makers take threads for use in all the engineers' transits or surveying instruments, the threads taking the place of platinum wires. It is by no means a novel idea, however. Spiders' threads have been similarly used for some time for specific purposes, in the Royal observatory, London, and on large numbers of micrometers, instruments for measuring microscopic lengths and angles. One of the lenses of that all-important instrument, the transit circle, is crossed by a network of gossamer threads. These are set in perfect parallel lines horizontally and vertically, in this and numerous other instruments, and they aid the scientist in his intricate measurements and in determining with accuracy the meridian.—Nature.

Boys Will Be Boys.

Leave it to the bright eyes of the youthful pages in the house of representatives to make discoveries.

One of them found out the other day that although Representative Thomas B. Brown, of Mt. Vernon, has plenty of nice, long, white whiskers, he has no necktie.

Adult investigation proved the boys' discoveries to be correct. Representative Brown dresses in immaculate collars and shirts but a peep under the chin whiskers proves that he does not wear ties.

Truth is, Mr. Brown doesn't believe he needs a necktie—under the whiskerstances. Not so with the boys, however, and they clipped in a dime apiece and bought him one.

It's a nice little Charlie Chaplin black bow tie.—Exchange.

Fresh Fruit for Europe.

Many large shipments of fresh fruit are being dispatched from north Pacific ports to Europe through the Panama canal, practically all vessels in this service being loaded to their capacity. What is reported as the largest single shipment of apples from any northern Pacific coast port was carried by the steamship Narenta of the Royal Mail Steam Packet company, which transited the canal on December 19 with 125,000 boxes of apples laden at Portland, Ore., for discharge at British ports. The Narenta carried a cargo of 4,854 tons, in which were 3,732 tons of fresh fruits and 640 tons of canned fruits. The steamship had 25 insulated cargo chambers with a total refrigerated capacity of 436,000 cubic feet.—Panama Canal Record.

SAW GREAT ONES OF EARTH

Philadelphia Writer Tells of Meeting Soldier Who Served in Army of the First Napoleon.

Lord Frederick Hamilton records in his "The Days Before Yesterday" that he once talked with a man who had gone with Napoleon to Moscow, writes Girard in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Hamilton, when a boy, was in Paris, where he saw the aged French general, Flahault, who had marched to Moscow and witnessed on the retreat the horrors at the crossing of the Beresina.

Interesting but not so unusual. I saw more than once a soldier of that grand army which marched to Moscow. His name was Schultz. He was past ninety-five when I saw him and he was a preacher.

Schultz lived in central Pennsylvania, whither he had come from Poland, where as a young man he had served in Napoleon's army for the invasion of Russia.

From 1812 to 1923 is a span of 111 years, but there are many who can reach back farther than that. Scores of men now living in Philadelphia have talked with those who saw and spoke to Franklin.

Elliingham B. Morris has told me that when a child he had seen and talked at his ancient home in South Eighth street with his great-grandmother.

She had seen Lord Cornwallis' army camped in Philadelphia.

There you behold a span reaching from 1777 to 1923, or 146 years.

Mr. Lewis, a well-known jeweler, who died recently, recounted to me how he had sold a watch to Daniel Webster. It was when Lewis was employed in a Boston jewelry shop.

Not long ago C. Stuart Patterson mentioned to me that he had seen our soldiers march away to four out of our country's six important wars. He saw troops go to Mexico.

Electric Railroad Freak

If you have never seen a trolley wheel welded to the overhead wire you have missed one of the interesting freaks of electric railroading, according to a man whose business takes him on frequent suburban and interurban trips, the New York Sun states.

"I heard some trainmen on an up-state road discussing a case of welding," said this traveler. "They told me that the wheel and wire became solidly fused into one piece."

"At first I was skeptical, but further inquiries showed me that the happening is not unheard of. It is especially likely to take place with a heavily loaded freight train creeping up a steep grade. The use of current is so greatly emphasized that the wheel and wire become exceedingly hot. Should the car stop under these conditions the welding may take place quickly. At times the melting and fusing are so complete that the starting of the train will drag down the overhead wires and stop traffic."

Liberty is the Battle-Cry of Brotherhood

The Man Behind the Carburetor

Sydney Anderson, of Minnesota, Chairman of the Joint Committee of Agricultural Enquiry, which recently made an investigation of the various factors entering into the marketing of farm products, makes it clear that the fads of the city folk and their demand for constant change and variety play quite a part in the seemingly low prices paid to farmers for original products.

In the case of a package of rolled oats retailing for 20 cents which the original producer sold for 32 cents a bushel, the following proportions appear: The retailer got 4.2 cents, of which 3.2 cents represented expenses of doing business and 1 cent his profit. The wholesaler received 1.8 cents of which .3 was profit. The manufacturer got 9.6 cents of which 2 cents were profit, 1.2 cents taxes, 1.6 cents transportation, 1.7 cents advertising, 1.3 cents selling cost, and 1.8 cents cost of manufacture. The elevator which handled the oats got 4 cents and the railroad .5 and the farmer 3.5.

Fair-minded men will see injustice in this price to the farmer, yet no one seems to have made extortionate profit at his expense.

It is well, too, to consider the effect on prices of the great variety of goods of a like kind demanded by the public. There are countless thousands of brands of all kinds of goods multiplied by the consumer to the point of absurdity. This means large stocks must be carried by retailers, and capital tied up, all of which the consumer has to pay.

The farmer may be exploited by the trader, but the people plainly are exploiting themselves.

People Are Exploiting Themselves

Conservative estimates place the number of motor vehicles on the farms as 3,500,000, not counting motor driven farm machinery. There are at least 300,000 trucks and not less than 3,200,000 automobiles, used by the farmers.

Considered in the light of general production, these figures present a startling picture. In the background we can see in addition to the farmers' use of the car the millions of automobiles absorbed by the residents of the small towns where practically every one owns a car. Obviously, the market for the motor lies in the country, and, obviously, too, the astounding growth of motor car absorption is a lasting tribute to the usefulness of the home town newspaper which has been the only means of contact—except the sporadic scattering of a few magazines—between the motor car manufacturers and the great American population living in country America.

No industry in history has shown the rapid and enormous growth shown by the motor car industry, all of which has been largely due to the vision of the industrial geniuses who have brought about this transformation of our travel system. They were all born in the country. They knew what contact with country folk meant, and they have made persistent and consistent use of the home town newspapers to carry their message to the buyers.

MAN IS TO BLAME

If our women are unbalanced or unseated or out of place, what is the cause? Who is to blame? Who brought about this change? There is but one answer. Her God-decreed protector is to blame. Man is wholly responsible.

Woman's place is home. Her throne is the domestic circle. She didn't leave it of her own volition. She didn't sacrifice her place voluntarily. Man is wholly responsible for the unbalanced condition of woman. It is his business to provide and protect. And it is his business to exercise the righteous discipline necessary to a perfect home.

He has utterly failed. He has failed through indulgence, because of a lack of courage, a sense of responsibility, and a willingness to face his plain duty. He has practiced indulgence until he has made the woman extremely extravagant.

The average girl hates work, despises domestic responsibility, and is criminally conspiring to avoid those high duties.

The man has neglected to build the home, to make it attractive and magnetic. Consequently, the woman has gone out into the world. Many of them because of necessity have been forced into the trades to live. Many of them have gone out into the world because the head of the family did not perform his duty, did not make the home happy, did not regulate it.

Women have been thrown into the nerve-racking conditions of the outer world and the strain is too great, her nerves are unsettled; she is unbalanced. Her unbalanced condition has produced a state of extravagance, which is jeopardizing the whole domestic life of America.

If fathers do not go back to their homes, and husbands do not perform their duties as heads of their families, the domestic life of America will suffer irreparably.

"NOBLE RED MAN"

Indian of the Frontier as He Really Was.

Found Highest Enjoyment in the Infliction of Suffering, and Not Brave in Battle.

During the period of the Spanish risk in our West—it became, actually, an Indian risk—Indians killed nearly three hundred white men, women and children, and wasted, burned and destroyed a million dollars in properties. They were, more than anything else, destructive; they loved excitement; and what they preferred above all was running off the live stock of a caravan; then they could get some fresh meat and horses and fill the remaining horses and cattle with arrows, shoot them at point-blank range with old firelock fuses.

The Jicarillas were drunken pottery turners; the Utes were the best armed of all the local tribes, they were superior in war and hunting. But their war making was peculiar, and highly reasonable, in that they insisted on every circumstance favorable to themselves. Failing this they wouldn't fight! For attack they preferred the passage of the late moon; and it was their pleasure to happen on some detached woodchoppers, a lonely messenger or a small party of wagons in a narrow canyon.

Occasions like those gave their sense of humor and ingenuity full play; if they were in a hurry the murdering would be swift, the scalps secured without ceremony; but when the situation was safe they lingered over preliminaries and refinements. It was their ambition to lay bare terror and uncover pain, and their inventive faculties were endless; there would be more premonitory touches of steel and flame, little whisperings of torment, the feathery edge of agony, an eternity of hours before the blackened end.

The Indian regarded this as normal, an end to be avoided, of course, but faced with the inevitable, they accepted it in the image of men of stone. The objections, the tenderness of the white race, seemed to them wholly unreasonable; the cries and exhortations they must have regarded as no less comic than contemptible.

Faith both in conduct and appearance was the mark of a proper masculine carriage; the men rather than the women painted; they eradicated every hair from their beards and eyelashes and eyebrows, and, slitting their ears to hold pendants, hung beads to the weight of half a pound from each. For the rest, they wore breech clouts, moccasins and leggings of strouding, and a rug; they wore their hair with gum and paint, trinkets and feathers; and, at war, coated their faces with charcoal.

The bows they carried were three and four feet long, made of elastic wood, elks' horns, or, more infrequently, of buffalo ribs, but bone was inferior to the bois d'arc wrapped and lined with sinew. They carried, as well, lances, the inevitable scalping knives—in the Southwest there were no tomahawks—and shields of elk hide painted with the signs of the enemies they had killed.

At peace in their villages the shields, and sheafs of pipestems wrapped in red and blue cloths, were hung on tripods before the lodges of buffalo hide rubbed soft with the brains of that indispensable animal—a buffalo liver dipped in gall they considered the greatest of delicacies—and there, to a little drum and a squeaking pipe, they indulged in dances of a most humorous obscenity; there they were domestic.

Solemnly they slapped their naked and solemn sons, and varied the smoking of their formal and informal pipes by the food with which they literally stuffed themselves. In their philosophy and existence, in their fate, there was no tomorrow.—Joseph Hergeshelmer in the Saturday Evening Post.

Fooling the Bugs.
A motorist in the South once stopped for water at a dilapidated house where a barefooted man, leaning against a rickety fence, was gazing meditatively across a field that had grown up to weeds. "How is your cotton this year?" the motorist asked.

"Well, sir," replied the man, "I ain't got no cotton. I didn't plant none cause I was afraid the boll weevil might be bad."

"How is your corn?"
"Well," came the reply, "I didn't plant no corn neither, for I didn't know if we'd git rain."

The motorist hesitated. "How are your sweet potatoes?" he asked at last.
"Well, now, stranger," the man replied, "you see, it's just this way: I didn't plant no sweet potatoes cause I was afraid the bugs might take them. No, sir, I didn't plant nothin'. I just played safe."—Youth's Companion.

Poor Hubby!
The bride's mother wanted to know how the groom was being treated, and asked what they had for dinner Monday.

"Oysters on the half shell," replied the bride.

"And Tuesday?" again the mother asked.

"Oysters on the half shell."

"What did you have Wednesday?"

"Oysters on the half shell."

"See here," demanded mother, "do you want your husband care for anything except oysters on the half shell?"

"I suppose he does," answered the bride. "For it saves such a lot of dish-washing."

"MINERS' LUCK" HOLDS GOOD

After Divers Failed, Belt of Gold They Sought Was Found Clinging to Cutter's Grapnel.

Luck seems to thrive best among the precious metals. From the gold mines and the diamond fields come many strange stories that illustrate the uncertainties of fortune. California, the Yukon, South Africa, all have their share of tales of extraordinary finds and losses, but from New Guinea comes one of the most remarkable. On many of the islands off that coast gold is found. At one time, says Capt. C. A. W. Monckton in his book, "Some Experiences of a New Guinea Resident Magistrate," Woodlark Island was crowded with prospectors.

One day a party of successful miners were returning in a small cutter to Samarai. The separate parcels of gold belonging to the individual men were "shammies," as the million bags are called, and the whole quantity was sewn together in a large belt of canvas and lay upon the hatch.

When the vessel entered China strait a sudden squall struck her, and as she heeled over the gold shot into the scuppers and disappeared. As soon as the skipper could get his vessel in hand he took soundings and bearings, and running hastily into Samarai, gathered such pearls as were working there and offered half the gold to any of them who recovered it.

Several pearl divers at once sailed for the spot. Diver after diver descended and toiled; diver after diver ascended and reported a soft mud bottom and a hopeless quest; pearl after pearl lifted his anchor and went back to Samarai; and at last the cutter also hoisted her anchor preparatory to taking the miners back to the gold fields. A disconsolate group of men they were as they watched the anchor coming up; but one may imagine the change in their faces when in the mud that clung to the fluke of it they saw their canvas belt of gold.—Youth's Companion.

Lost Nothing of Value.

A woman who lives in a Western state once attended a lumbermen's convention with her husband. With her she carried an old-fashioned hand bag, that, although it was worth little money, was dear to her as a gift.

Reaching the station a little early, she and her husband went across the street and sat on a bench in a park until the train was almost due. On the train some time later when they had gone past several stations she discovered that she did not have the hand bag; fortunately it held nothing of value. Her husband was frankly glad she had lost it, for he had repeatedly urged her to buy a new one.

Less than a week afterward the bag came back to her in the mail, and at first she wondered how anyone had known where to send it. But on opening it she found an overdue telephone bill with the warning that service would be cut off from the house if it were not paid by a certain date! It was a disputed account and therefore had been unpaid, but of course the finder could not have known that; from the shabbiness of the bag and the overdue bill he evidently had supposed the owner needed the bag and from the kindness of his heart had returned it.—Youth's Companion.

Getting a Passport.

Although a popular tradition has it that there is a great deal of red tape, inconvenience and delay attendant upon obtaining a passport to visit Europe, one observer who recently went through the process found little unpleasantness. An American citizen, naturalized or native born, who is furnished with ordinary information regarding himself, date and place of birth, date of naturalization and the like, really gets his passport.

It is generally the persons who do not go to the customs house armed with facts which common sense should tell them would be required who encounter trouble.

Two photographs, says the New York Sun, are required to be filed with each application for a passport. Additional ones may be needed, for in some foreign countries such photographs are demanded of tourists.

Steerage All His for Trip.

Few cabin passengers ever had the attention of a lone steerage voyager that arrived at New York recently on the French liner Niagara. The ship brought several hundred in the cabin, but the steerage accommodations were the possession of Adolf Placek, a Rumanian, on his way to Pittsburgh, where he has a job awaiting him. Placek had the services of the chief steward, a table steward, a chef, a room steward, a bartender and several members of the crew who just waited for his orders. When they had nothing else to do they entertained him, and among other things taught him how to play poker. He admitted when he left the ship that he had a wonderful trip.

There Are Rings and Rings.

She is a primary teacher, thirty years of age. Shortly after school began this fall she took her little pupils into the yard to teach them how to play "Ring Around a Rosy."

She wished to make it more real. So she said to the children: "Did you know teacher's name is Rosy? Well, it is. Now wouldn't you all like to put a ring around her and sing?"

They were quite willing and the game began. But another teacher in the building almost broke it up when she said: "Rings look so nice around Rosy it seems too bad no man ever succeeded in getting one around Rosy's finger."

AMERICAN MEN OF LETTERS

Writers of Note Have Not Been Accorded Proper Recognition by Acknowledged English Authority.

When John Morley started the "English Men of Letters" series in 1878 he did not include an American author excepting Hawthorne; not even Emerson, for whom he was later to exhibit characteristic of the difference between the American point of view and the British that all the volumes of the "English Men of Letters" series were issued in the United States, while only two or three of the corresponding "American Men of Letters" series were issued in Great Britain.

We are interested in their authors and they are not interested in ours, or at least such interest as they may have in ours is sporadic and intermittent, accidental and uncertain. I know only one British history of the literature of the English language which pays any attention to the American contributors to that literature. This sole exception is the brilliant book by Andrew Lang; and I have reason to believe that he gave adequate consideration to Irving and Cooper, Emerson and Hawthorne, Longfellow and Lowell, Holmes and Poe, only because I urged him to do so.—From "Some Trans-Atlantic Perspectives," Brander Matthews.

EMBODY TRUTH IN SPEECH

Spaniards Have Aphorisms Which Are in Many Respects the Supreme Words of Wisdom.

The traveler in Spain frequently comes across some very quaint but wise expressions and sayings, for many of which we have no equivalent in our own language.

For instance, there is the popular domestic saying in Spain that "a smoky house, a leaky roof and a scolding wife drive a man from home."

A Spaniard often sums up another's character with the remark that "he is like a collier's sack, bad outside, worse inside." They are particularly fond of sayings relating to love and money matters, as the following expressions show: "Love, grief and money cannot be concealed," and "he who tries to get rich in a year will hang in six months." This latter proverb is evidently meant as a kindly warning to business men.

Not being particularly silent themselves, the Spaniards like using the expression, "beware of silent men and dogs that don't bark." Yet they have another expression which seems directly to contradict this, for it says, "speak little and well and you will be considered as some one."

Finally one might quote the old Spanish recipe for true happiness: "Enjoy your little, while the fool seeks more."

Little Known Game Bird.

The francolin is a game bird related to the partridge. There are 40 or more species, most of which are found in Africa. The coloration of all species is rich and varied, and the plumage of both sexes is practically alike. Francolins travel in family parties, rather than in convoys, and fly swiftly and heavily. They feed in the morning and at evening, at which time they utter loud and shrill cries. Their food consists of insects, berries, seeds and bulbs. Their nests are well concealed and resemble those of partridges.

Six to fourteen eggs are laid in the fall and spring. The eggs are brown and buff in color, with small, dark spots. The francolin once abounded in southern Europe, but is now extinct there.

Get His Berries Easily.

Two neighbor girls and I went black-berrying. It was a very warm day and we worked hard, getting our pails full. The berries were fine, so we carefully hid our picked berries under the bushes and filled other pails. When we came to get our first berries we found that someone had emptied our pails and taken our berries—who, we did not know. A few months later the man who had stolen them told the girls' brother how he had found black-berries hidden under the bushes in a certain grove and that he thought it such an easy way to get berries that he didn't stop to pick any others.—Chicago Journal.

Avoid Habit of Worrying.

Worry is a form of friction. The task of the expert in life is to run his machine with the maximum of activity and the minimum of friction. If he stops or slows the machine, because he cannot otherwise deal with the friction, then life has beaten him. The general human tendency is to stop friction by partially stopping the machine—especially after what is loosely called "success" has been attained. Real success in life is the full smooth-running exploitation of the whole machine with daily satisfaction to the mechanic. And nothing else is real success in life.—Arnold Bennett.

Their Good Quality.

A new governor was about to be sworn in and had invited some friends from his home town to witness the ceremony. They were plain people he had known in his youth. A pert miss who knew the successful candidate intimated that his friends were not very smart looking.

"They are a few old friends," responded the governor. "Just a few tried and true old friends. They may not wear so much paint, but they'll

TOWN TALK; WITH COMMENT

WHAT PEOPLE ARE THINKING AND TALKING ABOUT THESE DAYS

John Mathes is head of the Rotary Club base ball aggregation, and he "has it in as big as a mule" for the Kiwanis club ball team, and don't care who knows it. He says "The Kiwanians are rough-necks, and can't play ball. They are afraid of us Rotarians, as is proven by their hanging out of the game which was to have been played Tuesday afternoon, their excuse being that the weather was too cool. We can beat them any day in the year and they know it. We doubt log dare they play us a game."

John Boswell has been working hard the past two weeks lining up the special train to the San Antonio convention, and it will leave here Sunday morning at 9:45. John is one of Plainview's greatest assets, and we are proud of him and his work. John says Plainview will get $5000 worth of publicity out of the special train and it will help the town's chances for getting the Tech college.

J. Bogg-Scott of Coleman is chairman of the State Live Stock Sanitary Commission. The editor of the News has known him for nearly thirty years—in fact from the day he arrived in Coleman as a youth from his native heath in Bonnie Scotland. He has been in Plainview several times. Recently he made the remark in Coleman that he had seen the land which Plainview is offering for the location of the Tech college, and "no other town has anything equal to it."

Morrey McGlasson, of the McGlasson-Armstrong Rubber Co., is telling of the wonderful experience he is having with his car by taking advantage of several fuel-saving devices he saw advertised and has had installed on his car. He says, "John D. Rockefeller bids fair to die poor. I installed a carburetor that was guaranteed to save twenty per cent fuel. Then I put in special plugs that were guaranteed to save twenty per cent. Then I added an intake superheater that is guaranteed to save twenty per cent. I next added a rear axle that was guaranteed to save twenty per cent. I put on high pressure tires that promised a twenty per cent saving. And now with a fuel economy of 120 per cent I have to stop every hundred miles and bail fuel out of the gas tank to keep it from running over."

He is not always most miserable who suffers most.
