

Release of hostages is 'imminent'

By the Associated Press

A Kuwait newspaper reported from Tehran today that the release of the Americans held hostage in the U.S. Embassy for more than three months is "imminent."

The weekly newspaper Al Khadaf said the number of young Iranian militants occupying the embassy has been reduced from 400 to 50, and final arrangements for the release of the approximately 50 captive Americans are being completed "following the election of Abolhassan Bani Sadr as Iran's new president."

The paper did not give the source of its information, and there was no immediate confirmation of its report from Washington or other quarters, although Carter administration officials have expressed cautious optimism about the embassy standoff in recent days.

"Bani Sadr has set the settlement of the hostage crisis and the ending of the duality of authority being exercised in Iran as the main objectives at the beginning of his term," the report said.

Al Khadaf said U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim is trying to persuade Bani Sadr to "pressure the students to leave the embassy and have them replaced by regular Iranian troops."

The Kuwaiti press is highly competitive, and the reliability of the Al Khadaf report was not known. But the Kuwaitis have good contacts in Iran because of the proximity of the two countries. There is also a relatively large Iranian community in Kuwait.

Bani Sadr made plain Wednesday that he was determined to trim the power of the embassy militants. He castigated them for getting a government minister arrested, calling them "dictators who have created a government within the government," and gave the cold shoulder to a U.S. delegation invited to Iran by them.

Immigration authorities detained the 49-member U.S. group for four hours Wednesday night at Tehran airport because they had no entry visas, then sent them to a Tehran hotel.

The Foreign Ministry issued the group four-day visas today at the request of the embassy captors, although the delegation had planned to stay 10 days.

The Americans didn't bother getting their visas in the United States because they were told they would get them on arrival at the airport, an informed source said.

The delegation was invited by the militants in a bid for the U.S. spotlight they have been denied since American TV cameras were expelled from Iran three weeks ago. One theory then was that the expulsion was a move by the revolutionary regime to deflate the militants' self-importance and cut them down to size so that a deal for the release of the hostages could be worked out.

The American delegation was made up of persons sympathetic to the militants' demand for the return of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to Iran for trial. The leader of the group, Norman Forer of the University of Kansas, said the taking of the hostages was illegal but must be weighed "side by side with the anguish of the Iranian people" under the shah. Forer visited in Iran in December and met with the militants then.

Bani Sadr denounced the militants Wednesday because charges they broadcast on the state radio and TV resulted in the arrest of Information and National Guidance Minister Nasser Minachi. The president said the ruling Revolutionary Council, which he heads, ordered Minachi freed immediately.

Bani Sadr said the militants' charge that Minachi had "close links with the CIA" was one for a judge to investigate, and if people were arrested on the basis of something heard on the radio the country ran the risk of collapsing in chaos.

Stacy Dam appeal looms

Although the Colorado River Municipal Water District and the Texas Water Commission have beaten back the challenges of the Lower Colorado River Authority on the Stacy Dam issue at every turn, O.H. Ivie, general manager of the CRMWD, is not too optimistic that the plaintiffs will not seek a rehearing on their appeal in the Texas Court of Civil Appeals.

The plaintiffs have 30 days in which to ask the Appeals Court to look into the matter.

State District Judge Herman Jones, who presides over the 53rd District Court, said Wednesday he found no reason to overturn a ruling by the TWC that the CRMWD could not impound water on the Colorado River near Stacy.

Downstream interests had argued last week that the dam would cut water supplies to Central Texas.

The permit was granted in 1979 after prolonged hearings before the water commission. The $60 million dam is planned for 26 miles southeast of Ballinger. The Colorado River Municipal Water District, which headquarters in Big Spring, says the dam would provide water — mostly for drinking purposes — to Big Spring, San Angelo, Midland, Odessa, Snyder and Stanton, among other communities.

The reservoir formed would be the largest of the three maintained by the CRMWD. The other two are Lake Spence, located near Robert Lee, and Lake Thomas, near Snyder.

LCRA attorneys argued the dam and reservoir would "export" West Texas' water shortages to Central Texas. The LCRA and the City of Austin have claimed the dam would divert 36 billion gallons of water a year from communities below the dam.

When the challenge was first initiated, attorneys for the LCRA said they were prepared to fight the decision of the Texas Water Commission all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

Peace Pilgrim brings prayer to Big Spring

By STEVE HERSHBERGER

A prayer asking for peace and love among the persons of this world came to Big Spring Wednesday.

The prayer came in the form of a silver-haired pedestrian called the "Peace Pilgrim."

"I am a pioneer in speaking on human potential," she said. "I fear nothing and expect good, and only good comes."

The peace pilgrim, and that is her legal name, walks the United States, Canada and Mexico speaking to audiences at college campus, churches and civic auditoriums.

She will speak to various classes Friday at Howard College.

She gives people a formula for resolving conflicts, whether they be personal or community.

"Have as your objective the resolving of the conflict — not the gaining of advantage," she said.

"There is no problem you can't solve without the right attitude. Problems are actually challenges."

The peace pilgrim said man has two natures or viewpoints.

"You view yourself, as either the center of the universe," she said, "or you see yourself as a cell of humanity."

She tries to steer people toward the second nature.

"Inner peace comes only from moving from the self-centered life to a God-centered life," she said.

She added, "It is really simple. In order to find harmony, one must live with the laws that govern the universe."

The peace pilgrim counseled, "Overcome evil with good, and falsehood with truth, and hatred with love."

"Overcome evil with good, and falsehood with truth, and hatred with love. The Golden Rule would do as well."

love. The Golden Rule would do as well."

She added, "These are laws governing human conduct, which apply as rigidly as the laws of gravity."

The peace pilgrim began a quest to communicate in 1953.

"My life was cluttered with unnecessary things and meaningless activities," she said. "We were in Korea at the time and at the height of McCarthyism."

She added, "It was a time for a peace pilgrim to come forth."

In pursuit of this calling, the peace pilgrim walked 25,000 miles by 1964 and has continued to walk. The back of the only shirt she owns bears "25,000 miles on foot for peace."

"I shall remain a wanderer until mankind has learned the way of peace," she said.

Five years ago she came to Big Spring and spoke at Howard College.

She said her mission has changed her life in three ways.

"It has given me good health," the peace pilgrim said, alluding to the vast distance she has walked. "It has taken me from a self-centered life to a life living for the whole."

The peace pilgrim added she has found true inner peace as a result of walkings.

"If someone did something mean to me," she said, "I would feel compassion for him. That person has been hurt, but I haven't."

She owns no worldly possession. The only things she owns are a pair of blue slacks, a shirt and two friendly, compassionate blue eyes.

The peace pilgrim doesn't ask for money or food and walks until someone offers her something.

"I don't ask for food or shelter," she said. "I once went on a 45-day fast before I was given food. A pilgrim is customarily without any means of support."

She is uncertain of the impact of her crusade.

"I am a pioneer," she said, "results don't become immediately manifest. I know all good effort bears good fruit."

BIG SPRING VISITOR — The Peace Pilgrim came to Big Spring via foot Wednesday to tell residents how to resolve personal conflict and attain inner peace. She will be here through Friday, speaking at classes at Howard College.

Ads about small cars get results

With the emphasis on energy conservation these days, ads about small cars invariably attract attention, whether the vehicles are new or used.

A man ran a want ad in the Herald recently, offering a three-year-old Toyota Corolla Deluxe to the highest bidder. The second day the ad ran, the word "sold" was put over it. The sales transaction had actually been completed the first day.

Herald want ads get results. Call 263-7331 and ask one of the newspaper's friendly sales persons to assist you in getting your ad a place in the paper where up to 30,000 people can see it.

August tentative date set by Gov. Clements

Special session of Texas Legislature a sure thing

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The much-discussed special session of the Texas Legislature definitely will be held in August, says Gov. Bill Clements.

"I just don't think September is an appropriate date because of the nearness to the general election," Clements told newsmen Wednesday. "I'm saying it will be in August. The date will be set later ... I hope it will last less than 30 days."

The National Democratic Convention is scheduled Aug. 11-14 in New York. Normally, many of the Legislature's predominantly Democratic members and the House and Senate leaders attend the national meeting.

Clements has said since the end of the 1979 regular session that he planned to call a special session to consider initiative and referendum, wiretapping for drug control and tax relief.

The Republican governor, Texas' first in 104 years, gleefully hinted at times he would pick a date as inconvenient as possible for the

At first he said it would be March, August or September. Later, it became August or September, and Wednesday was the first time for him to narrow the date to one month.

Clements, obviously pleased by the political filings this week, predicted to reporters that Republicans and conservatives will show a definite gain in the 1981 Legislature.

"We will have a more conservative House by at least 15 or more votes," Clements told reporters. "The Senate will have a change of about four on the conservative side."

Clements said he "guessed" the 25 GOP state representatives would grow by about 10 after the general election. He said there might be an additional GOP senator added to the current five Republicans.

On another much-discussed subject, the governor said he is in the process of collecting results of his demands that state agencies reduce payrolls by 5 percent over a two-year period, "But I am satisfied we will meet our goal."

He said agencies have "put in some ifs, ands and buts when they passed resolutions (pledging themselves to the 5 percent goal) which is all right with me, so long as we meet our goal."

On other matters, Clements said:

— He agreed with Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, D-Austin, that New Mexico prison inmates should not be sent to Bastrop, as first planned by federal authorities.

Red Cross allowed to visit political prisoners in Afghan

By the Associated Press

The Soviet-backed government of Afghanistan is allowing an International Red Cross team to visit political prisoners in Afghan jail, the IRC reported today, only hours after it complained that the Afghans had reneged on a promise to permit such visits.

Francoise Bory, a spokeswoman at the IRC headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, declined to comment on whether today's apparent turnaround by the Afghan government may have resulted from her earlier disclosure of the problems the team was encountering.

The spokeswoman had said earlier that Karmal and two of his ministers two weeks ago approved the visits by a four-member Red Cross team in Kabul, but that the Red Cross had "learned that IRC delegates in Kabul have not yet been able to visit detainees."

Reports reaching Kabul said, meanwhile, that small-scale rebel attacks were continuing in the northern provinces of Baghlan, Takhar, Kunduz and Badakhshan.

One source in the Afghan capital said 40 Soviet soldiers had been killed by snipers in the Takhar provincial capital of Taloqan since Jan. 16, when the city was captured from the rebels by Afghan government troops supported by Soviet armor and warplanes.

Red Cross Director Jacques Moreillon, the leader of the team sent to Kabul last month to negotiate the visits with Afghan authorities, has returned to Geneva, the spokeswoman told The Associated Press.

The remaining three members of the team will stay in Kabul, at least for the present. "They are waiting for the promises we received to be fulfilled," Bory said.

The agency will use "every available means of pressure" to see the prisoners, she added.

During initial talks with the Karmal government, the Red Cross team was told there were 57 political prisoners in Afghanistan. That number could not be confirmed. Unofficial reports have put the number of political detainees at from several hundred to several thousand.

In Kabul, the government has dumped the man it named to edit an official government newspaper after the Soviet-backed Dec. 27 coup that installed Karmal in power.

Q. Have some diamonds sold for more than $1 million?

A. One that comes to mind is a 69.42 carat diamond purchased by Cartier's of New York. It went for $1,050,000. Mounted on a ring, it was resold to actor Richard Burton. Burton reaped a million dollars worth of publicity out of it when he gave it to his wife at the time, Elizabeth Taylor. The ring likely would bring more now, since the price of diamonds has gone up dramatically.

Calendar: Trustees to meet

TODAY

The board of trustees of the Howard County United Way will meet at 5:15 p.m. in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

The Big Spring High School Boys Basketball team will host the Midland Lee Rebels in the Big Spring High School Gymnasium.

Tops on TV: 'Barney Miller'

As usual, ABC's "Barney Miller" looks like the best bet for tonight. In this episode, which airs at 8 o'clock, Barney faces losing one of his men when the mayor orders all policemen to wear their uniforms. Dapper Detective Harris refuses to comply. Those who enjoy the unabashed seediness of "Dallas" will probably get just as big a kick out of the spinoff "Knots Landing." Airing at 9 p.m. on CBS, this one deals with a motorcycle gang that terrorizes Karen and her neighbors after she decides to file an assault charge against one of the gang's members.

Bush given $106,000 from secret Nixon White House slush fund?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Republican presidential candidate George Bush received $106,000 from a secret Nixon White House slush fund during an unsuccessful 1970 U.S. Senate race in Texas, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

The Times report, based on documents it said were obtained under the Freedom of Information Act, confirmed a report published in Newsweek magazine in 1974. The magazine's report, attributed to unidentified White House sources, was labeled "a damn lie" by one of Bush's county finance chairman.

The Times also said the documents, included in reports of the Watergate special prosecutor now in the National Archives, say more than half of the money — $55,000 — was in cash and was not reported.

While the transactions apparently did not violate federal law, the Times said acceptance of the money and failure to fully disclose the funds as required by Texas law raised questions of propriety and shed new light on Bush's relationship with the Nixon White House.

Bush refused comment Wednesday, the newspaper said.

But James A. Baker III, Bush's current campaign chairman, told the Times that Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski had looked into the "allegation" and had given Bush "a clean bill of health."

Jaworski told the Times his investigators did not attempt to judge the propriety of the actions of Bush and other candidates who received money from the fund.

Jaworski said he could not recall whether he knew Bush had failed to report the funds, the newspaper said. He added federal reporting requirements imposed on candidates were lax in 1970.

According to the records, the Times said, other Republicans who received large sums from the Townhouse fund in 1970 were Bill Brock, now Republican national chairman, $192,000; former Rep. Thomas Kleppe of North Dakota, $175,000; Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. of Connecticut, $65,000; and Sen. John C. Danforth of Missouri, $60,000.

There was no immediate comment from those named. The Times story did not say whether those contributions were fully reported.

The secret fund, code-named Townhouse because it was operated out of the basement of a Washington townhouse, caused three Nixon campaign workers — Jack Gleason, Herbert Kalmbach and Harry Dent — to plead guilty to election law violations during the Watergate scandal, the Times noted.

The newspaper said that before 1973 state campaign laws were not strictly enforced in Texas, partly because they were filled with loopholes. However, the oath signed when filing final campaign reports required that "all gifts and loans" received by the candidate and his campaign managers be fully shown, it said.

In 1970, Bush gave up his seat in the U.S. House to run for the Senate, at the reported urging of then-President Richard Nixon.

In August 1974, Newsweek quoted White House sources as saying there was "potential embarrassment in reports that the Nixon White House had funneled about $100,000 from a secret fund called the 'Townhouse Operation' into the losing campaign. It quoted sources as saying some $40,000 of the money may not have been properly reported.

Bush's 1970 Harris County finance chairman, James L. Bayless, called that report "a damned lie... There are absolutely, unequivocally no grounds for this report."

College for Deaf booster Fred Maddux announces candidacy for council

Fred J. Maddux has announced he will be a candidate for Seat 2 on the Big Spring City Council, the position presently held by Ralph McLaughlin.

Maddux, himself the father of a child with a hearing problem, is credited with being the man who first introduced the idea of locating a College for the Deaf in Big Spring. His idea appears likely to reach fruition as early as September of this year.

In announcing his plans to seek public office, Maddux issued the following statement:

"I have worked very closely with the present council during our efforts to get the Southwest College for the Deaf located at the Industrial Park. I have come to admire these men for their tireless efforts on behalf of Big Spring. I am proud to see Bill Henkel running for Mayor and very sorry that Ralph is not running again. After working with these men, I felt that it would be possible to aid Big Spring in its growth through the 80's by running for McLaughlin's seat. I only hope that, if elected, I can serve the people of Big Spring the way they want and need. I know that I can and will work towards the continued growth of Big Spring and endeavor to help bring in a more diversified industrial type payroll for the city and its citizens.

"I feel that by planning for the future in the start of the 80's we will find our city becoming a major city in West Texas. Big Spring could and should be a major industrial area of West Texas and this is one of my goals if elected. We have the shipping facilities, both rail and truck, already available and could, if needed, handle any type of air service at the Industrial Park. Police beat Officer socked in jaw

An attempt to break up a fight got a local patrolman a sock in the jaw, Wednesday night.

According to reports, the fight broke out at the Bogart's Club, 11:48 p.m. Wednesday.

When Patrolman Dean Boyd stepped between the two grappling men, one of them allegedly slugged the officer on the left side of his jaw, "knocking him approximately 10 feet back."

Following this, two other patrons allegedly became involved in the melee, and two other officers were called to help Boyd.

Jack Fletcher, 28, 1402 Main, was arrested on suspicion of aggravated assault of a police officer. His brother, Thomas Fletcher, 26, 2106 Grace, was arrested on suspicion of interfering with an arrest, and Rodney Martin, 27, 1318 Sycamore, was arrested on the same charge.

A fourth participant in the fight was also arrested at the scene, but was not charged, and was released shortly after his arrest.

Keller appointed senior veep of bank in Waco

David Keller has resigned his position as vice president of the State National Bank, effective Feb. 15, in order to accept an appointment as senior vice president of the Texas National Bank in Waco, Texas National Bank's third largest banking institution.

Keller, who has been associated with the bank here for 2 1/2 years, said he regretted leaving Big Spring but the opportunity at Waco was too good to pass up. His departure means that the Howard County United Way will appoint a new campaign chairman, assuming it will mount a drive again this fall. Keller had served the United Way as assistant campaign chairman the past year and was scheduled to become the campaign chairman.

Keller moved to Big Spring from Irving. He attended public schools in Dallas and graduated from North Dallas High School. He enrolled at the University of Dallas, majoring in Business and Economics and graduated in 1963.

He spent 12 1/2 years as a National Bank Examiner, working out of Dallas, Abilene and Midland. He resigned that position to join State National here.

He is married to the former Barbara Brown of Wichita Falls. They have a son, Jason, age nine. They are members of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Keller's civic activities include serving the Big Spring Rotary Club as a director. He was a member of the City Parks and Recreation Board and a member of the directorate of the West Texas Community Day Center.

"It has been a pleasure to be here and participate in Big Spring activities and I hope in some way I have made a contribution to its growth," Keller said.

Staffettes meet Friday

A progressive dinner will highlight this month's meeting of the VA Medical Center Staffettes to be held Friday at 6 p.m.

The evening will begin with hors d'oeuvres at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Luciano Ladaga, followed by salad at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Balderach. The main course will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garlond-Evers. Dessert and social hour will follow at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Shelton.

Last month's meeting was a salad supper held at the VA Medical Center with Greta Dolenz, Jyoti Adusumilli, Florence Kittell and Martha Taylor as hostesses. The evening was highlighted with a program presented by Charlotte Shelton on how to stain glass.

Winter storm watch issued for Panhandle

By The Associated Press
A developing winter storm in the southern Rockies threatened to bring heavy snow into the Texas Panhandle and snow into the South Plains today.

A winter storm watch was issued for the Panhandle and South Plains and travelers advisories were issued for northwestern sections of North Texas.

Forecasters warned of the possibility of heavy snow in the Panhandle tonight.

The snow was expected to begin in the Panhandle this afternoon and the South Plains by evening and spread eastward across North Texas Friday before ending late Friday or early Saturday.

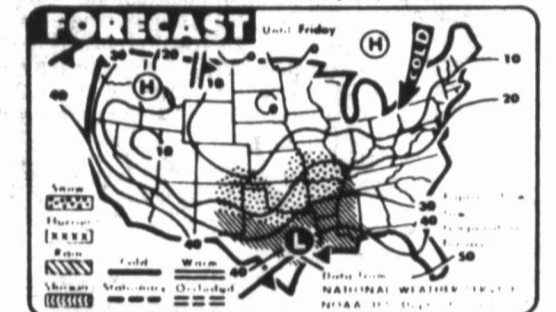

A small craft advisory was in effect for the Texas coast today for high winds, rough seas and scattered showers and thunderstorms.

South and east of the area where the snow was to begin today was to have scattered showers, thunderstorms and some heavy rainfall.

Forecasters called for mostly cloudy skies today.

Inmates fear more violence

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Black state prison inmates, saying they banded together during a bloody uprising to escape the wrath of other racial groups, say they fear further violence when the New Mexico State Penitentiary returns to normal.

Meanwhile, with the death count now at 33, anthropologists poked through the fire-gutted gymnasium and a dormitory of the prison looking for more victims of the brutal weekend violence.

Officials ordered the search in an effort to account for all of the 1,134 prisoners inside when the revolt at the maximum-security facility began early Saturday. The siege ended Sunday.

Corrections Division Director Felix Rodriguez said Wednesday night that the bodies of 33 inmates had been recovered.

The official death toll has fluctuated, and it wasn't until Wednesday that prison officials and Gov. Bruce King agreed on the number dead. King's office listed the count at 36 earlier Wednesday, but Rodriguez said that figure included three bodies, recovered from the gym, which had been counted twice.

Officials said about 50 prisoners were still unaccounted for, but explained that some were refusing to give officials their names.

Earlier, authorities said they were certain no prisoners had escaped during the takeover, but Rodriguez conceded Wednesday night "there's always a possibility."

Meanwhile, black inmates said they had banded together during the uprising to escape death at the hands of groups they identified as the "Mexican Mafia," and the "Aryan Brotherhood," a white supremacy group.

In an interview with a reporter for the Albuquerque Journal, several blacks said they used axes to break into a burning building and rescue older and injured inmates.

"We seen plenty of killings," said Jessie Wright.

said Jill Marron, the governor's press secretary. No injuries were reported.

Local policemen given $100

The Big Spring Police Department received a $100 donation to help fight vandalism, Friday, from a youth group which would not reveal its identity.

According to Police Chief Stanley Bogard, the youths gave the money to a local citizen, and instructed him to give it to the police without telling the name of the group. The money was to be used, said the group, to help fight tire slashings in the city.

"We certainly appreciate the donation, and it will be put to good use," said Bogard, today. "We are now working with special details of plain-clothes officers in unmarked cars to put a stop to the tire slashing."

New Mexico prisoners in Big Spring unlikely

It is possible, but not probable, that any inmates from the New Mexico State Penitentiary will be transferred to the federal prison located here, Tom Martin, Warden at El Reno Federal Correctional Institution, said Wednesday.

"It is very remote that we would be sending anyone to Big Spring," Martin said.

But, Martin added, "Now you take a first-time offender with a low sentence and he might be sent to a place like Big Spring."

Jerry Edwards, Assistant Superintendent at the Big Spring correctional facility, said, "We are a minimum security camp. It is unlikely we would get any (inmates) here."

The El Reno, Okla., prison is currently screening and classifying 35 prisoners from the New Mexico prison. This sifting process is part of an effort by the U.S. Bureau of Prisons to ferry out 350 prisoners from the Standing strong and still

WASHINGTON, D.C. — As the attention of the world has been drawn to the Middle East during the long and frustrating siege of our American Embassy in Iran, many Americans have begun to focus on attitudes held not only by our enemies, but our so-called allies as well.

Congressman
Charles W. Stenholm
Congressional Comment

As we have watched with growing concern as one after another of our allies has demonstrated less than united support for the American position in Iran, conceding more and more to their own petroleum dependencies, the United States, we thought, stood alone.

On another front, Canada recently took the position that they would not make up the shortfall of grain exports to Russia caused by the American embargo precipitated by the invasion of Afghanistan.

All Americans were heartened, therefore, when the Canadian government revealed their involvement in the concealment and recent escape of six American diplomats from under the noses of the Iranians.

While we might wish that our neighbor would join us in actual economic sanctions against Iran or in stopping their own scheduled grain sales to Russia, we cannot quarrel that when American lives were involved — six of them — they stood strong and tall on our size. That stand should not be minimized — or forgotten.

Kennedy's timing isn't very good

Sen. Ted Kennedy reminds us of the fellow who bought a travel agency a week before Pearl Harbor was bombed. His timing is bad.

Jimmy Carter's campaign likely wouldn't have gotten off the ground four years ago had Kennedy declared for the presidency, but Kennedy picked a time when Carter's star is again in the ascendancy.

KENNEDY HAS been trying to breathe life into his campaign with rhetoric on the dais, most recently in Boston. In Boston, Kennedy tried to make it clear where he differs from President Carter on both foreign policy and domestic issues. At the time, Kennedy seemed to be wondering if his party workers had sealed off all the exits. The senator's trouble is that his differences are also with most of the constituency in the country.

In the address, Kennedy called for a six-month freeze on wages and prices, for immediate gasoline rationing, for controls on profits, dividends and interest rates. Without a doubt, that stamps him as the foremost exponent of old-line liberal dogma in this year's presidential sweepstakes. The electorate, however, is to be found clustered around the middle of the political spread, suspicious of the motives of both the right and left.

Kennedy's proposals, of course, would have to be blessed in Congress and the legislative bodies have been reluctant to enact far less sweeping proposals in the same areas made by President Carter. As an example, the president's request for even stand-by gasoline rationing was so watered down by Congress it emerged almost unrecognizable.

There is no prospect the next Congress would suddenly do a flipflop, even if Kennedy should unseat Carter.

AS FOR KENNEDY'S foreign policy proposals, they are a blend of born-again hawkishness. Kennedy, in so many words, accused Carter of not responding vigorously enough to Soviet provocations, and suggested the president was responsible for lingering post-Vietnam paralysis. On one hand, Kennedy proposed beefing up U.S. naval and air forces in the Persian Gulf region, on another he opposed renewed draft registration as a "step across the threshold of Cold War II." Inexplicably, he criticized the chief executive for not escalating tensions by acting to force removal of Russian troops from Cuba last fall.

Kennedy may have reasoned a good offense is the best defense, that only a knockout blow would rescue his candidacy. If that is the case, it failed. Instead, it dramatized to a greater degree how out of step with the mood of the people the senator from Massachusetts is.

Contradiction

Around the rim

Don Woods

The creeping secularization of churches took a step forward Nov. 5 when the California State Franchise Board issued a statement that said much of the churches' constitutional rights have been nullified.

The statement said that the 16th Amendment "authorizes Congress to levy a tax on income. There is no exclusion for churches so they have no constitutional exemption."

In other words, the church gathers income, Congress has power to levy tax on income, the church is not excluded in the amendment, therefore the church should be taxed. As simple as that? No.

THE BOARD'S opinion contradicts church rights guaranteed under the first amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

It does, however, leave California churches with a statutory exemption, but even that is revocable at the state's discretion.

It may be revoked, for example, when a church fails to fill out a form when it expresses an opinion on a political issue pending in the state legislature. In California, if a church takes action on political issues, the state requires that a church representative sign a form. This sounds dangerously close to state controlled religion.

The practice in California sets a grave precedent for other states.

Between 50 and 100 California churches found the situation especially grave when they refused to sign the form or pay the taxes. They face state seizure and sale of their property to pay taxes.

Various court cases are now pending on the issue, including the landmark Bible Baptist Church case.

The First Amendment says that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion." The issue is control.

Historically, the first amendment has always guaranteed the absence of federal mingling in church affairs. Some would argue that tax exemption is in effect a government subsidy of religion.

It isn't, however, that the state finances the church or gives them anything. The point of the first amendment is that the state isn't to interfere with church affairs, and the church isn't to interfere with state affairs.

The Supreme Court has long recognized the power to tax as the power of control. Again the issue is control.

"AS THE GOVERNMENT becomes more and more secularized, the privileges of the church are steadily chipped away so that in the end its very right to exist is denied. A primary potential mode of attack is denial of the church's tax exempt status," said attorney R.J. Rushdoony in Nature of the American System.

Pressures on all religious institutions continues as the war between two conflicting ideologies come to a head. Their difference is basic. One believes that change for the good depends on the sovereignty of God. The other believes in the sovereignty of the state.

The church is not a god, nor is the state a god. Wrong doing exists where one attempts to gain power over the other.

National fathers recognized the dangers of church control over government as well as the dangers of a state controlled church.

The church's existence in our society creates a necessary balance against society's depredations. Its statement gives morals to society. Both church and state are instituted by God and have a place in His plan.

Drafting women

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — There is a lot of talk these days about reinstating the draft. The kicker this time is that women may have to register, and it's a political nightmare for anyone running for public office.

When I discuss the subject with parents and young ladies the response is quite interesting.

MOST OF THEM say things like, "I don't want my daughter in a foxhole," or "I couldn't stand the thought of being up to my hips in mud with a bunch of smelly men."

Very few reply, "I don't want my child flying an F-16 fighter plane," or "I'll be damned if my girl is going to stand watch on the bridge of an aircraft carrier," or "I'm not ready to work in a messhall and cook meals for a bunch of jughead marines."

For some reason, everyone seems to associate draft with foxholes, dirt, grime and foot-slogging. Also, while no one will say it out loud, most people equate military life with promiscuous sex. For all our toughness, we still put our American princesses on a pedestal, and the thought of them living in tents with men is more than most of us can stand.

Which brings us to the subject of equal rights. If women want them, they should be required to do the same military service as men.

As to taking on combat roles, generals and admirals are against it. One general was recently quoted as saying that the American GI is still chivalrous and would spend all his time protecting a female buddy instead of getting on with the war.

PHYLIS SCHLAFELY, the mother of the anti-ERA movement, has been protesting for years that if women had equal rights they would wind up in the trenches. Recently she's been appearing on television crowing that her prediction is now going to come true.

But what does one do when the Russian bear starts rattling its saber (according to CIA reports, the Soviets have now trained bears to rattle sabers). The answer is that the American woman must let the Kremlin know that it will not only have to face the American doughboy in a confrontation, but also the American doughgirl.

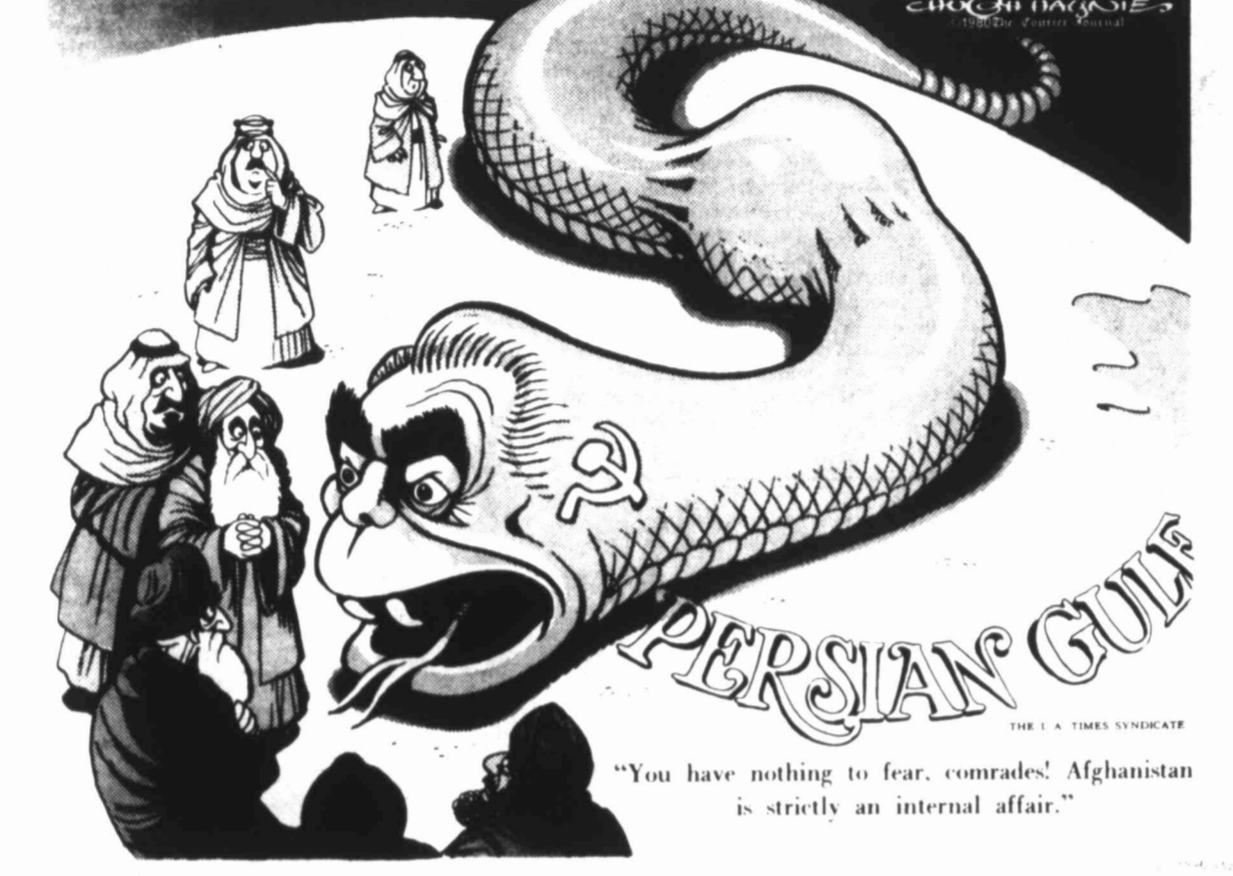

I rarely agree with Ms. Schlafly on anything, but I have never doubted her patriotism. And I believe when the chips are down she'll go into the trenches with everybody else.

My favorite fantasy these days is to picture Pvt. Schlafly in a foxhole, her face covered with charcoal, helmet sitting back on her head and eating a cold can of field rations.

In the same foxhole are an Italian GI from Ohio, a black corporal from Birmingham, a Jewish PFC from Brooklyn, and a sensitive former coed from Vassar who reads T.S. Eliot's poetry when she isn't fighting.

A sergeant with hashmarks on her sleeve comes up to the foxhole and says, "Okay, Schlafly, move your tail out on patrol. The C.O. Wants us to take another hill."

Schlafly pulls down her helmet, picks up her rifle, checks her hand grenades and then says to the sergeant, "You can tell Maj. Gloria Steinem what she can do with her patrol."

Lung problem linked to blood cells

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: A relative of mine was told his body makes too many red blood cells, so he has to be drained of blood occasionally to thin it out. He is confused about this and cannot understand his doctor's explanation. Can you explain in plain language for him? He reads your column regularly. — B.S.C.

Too many red blood cells is "polycythemia."

There are two kinds. "Secondary" polycythemia means the red cells are too numerous because of some known "primary" condition. For example, with severe lung disease there may be not enough blood oxygen "carriers." That causes secondary polycythemia. In the other form, "polycythemia vera," the cause of the increased red cells is not known. If the cause is found, that can be treated to improve the situation.

In either case, repeated removal of excess red cells can be done. The blood is removed, red cells extracted and the non-red cell portion returned. Occasionally, doctors try to suppress red blood cell production in the bone marrow. Radioactive phosphorus therapy is one means of doing this.

This outline should give your relative some basis with which to discuss his specific problem with his doctor.

Dear Dr. Donohue: The heel of my right foot is very painful when I step down. What is it and what is done for it? — M.K.

You have to find the cause, and only a thorough examination will do. Heel pain often is due to calcaneal bursitis — an inflammation of the small friction-reducing sac that lies between the large tendon at the back of the heel and the heel bone. Rest and anti-inflammatory medicines (aspirin, indomethacin, phenylbutazone) help. A plastic heel cup can reduce jarring and provide temporary relief.

Another cause of heel pain is plantar fasciitis. This is inflammation of the supporting tissue at the bottom of the foot. Spurs on the heel bone often mean that some inflammation has already taken place in these supporting tissues.

A sturdy arch support and heel lift may lessen pain. An injection of cortisone-like drug into the painful area is advocated by some doctors. See the booklet, "Relief and Care of Your Feet," for more on such problems. For a copy, send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 21 and have one testicle 25 percent larger than the other. I recently got a physical and the doctor could not find any abnormality. Lately, I have had pain there almost daily. It's like a swollen feeling and is very tender. Please advise. — R.P.

You should alert your doctor to the fact that you now have a painful, swollen testicle. It may be inflamed. Some structure other than the testicle may be involved, like the epididymis (sperm tube). You should be rechecked because you have new symptoms — pain and swelling.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Yes or no? Can gonorrhea germs live on toilet seats? — Mrs. T.S.C.

The last word is never in on these questions, but studies are being conducted periodically. The most recent one I can cite is from a medical journal. Of 72 men's and women's restrooms surveyed there was no evidence of gonorrhea germs found on toilet seats sampled. The germs that were found were mostly those normally found on human skin.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I had a swollen sore on the inside of my buttocks. It was very uncomfortable for two days. Then it burst and blood and pus drained from it. Now it is getting better. I am keeping it clean. Can you tell me what it was? — D.B.

It sounds like a boil or carbuncle (larger boil). They are usually caused by the staph germ. Drainage, either surgically (as happens to you) or by a doctor is necessary for cure. If healing does not progress you should have it examined. Keep the area sterile.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What causes a young man in his early 20s to expose himself in public? Could this lead to more serious things later on? — Worried.

The reasons are psychological and so is the treatment. He needs your support and your urgings to him to seek psychiatric help. Certainly legal problems can follow, but I cannot say whether or not this would lead to deeper psychological problems later on. It will might.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive tract. To learn more about it, write to Dr. Donohue for his booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have been a juvenile-onset diabetes victim for the past 17 years. I am not overweight, but would like to reduce the flabby areas of my belline and legs. Is it unwise to semi-fast in coordination with reduced insulin injections? — R.B.

You should not reduce your calorie intake or your insulin dose unless under a doctor's supervision. A blind guess can lead you to take too little or too much medicine, with unpleasant results.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Seeking leader

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — President Carter's schemers have lapsed into some delusive and dangerous dreaming about turning Afghanistan into a Soviet Vietnam. Those who have succumbed to this bit of escapism talk deliciously about ferocious Afghan mountain men charging down from their craggy hideouts to disrupt and confound the mighty Red Army.

To turn this wishful reverie into reality, the Carter administration is actively searching for a man of destiny to play the role of Vietnam's late Ho Chi Minh. As Secretary of State Cyrus Vance recently confided to associates, the United States is "seeking a leader of the Afghan people."

The American-anointed messiah, according to the scenario favored by the White House, would unite the diverse Afghan guerrilla groups, rally the populace and start doing unto the Russians what the Viet Cong did unto us in Vietnam.

BUT UNHAPPILY, there are some serious flaws in the scheme. The remorseless Russians have already learned how difficult it is to impose a leader chosen for them by the United States. One exiled leader had this advice for President Carter: "The best course of action for the United States is to be patient and see who emerges as a natural leader."

Any American attempt at king-making, this exile told my associate Howard Rosenberg, could be "very dangerous." The creation of a government-in-exile, with U.S. blessings, would likely be interpreted as superpower meddling. Instead of uniting the Afghan people, it could splinter them.

Meanwhile, the fact that the ravenous Soviet bear would devour one of its own allies has alarmed the Moslem world. This will cause other Moslem nations to view Soviet friendship with suspicion. In the opinion of some Afghan exiles, the United States would be better off letting this suspicion fester rather than stirring it up.

Such was the advice of a former high-ranking Afghan official who was driven out of his country by the Soviets and is now being courted by the Americans. Thoughtfully, he quoted an ancient Islamic axiom: "Let us wait and see who comes over the water."

YET THE ADVICE probably will be disregarded by the Carter administration, which seems eager to form a Free Afghan government. Policymakers believe a government-in-exile could unseat Afghanistan's puppet government at the United Nations and open the diplomatic door to U.N. inquiries into Soviet action in the conquered country. Here are some of the leaders, meanwhile, who the White House is considering to head a U.S.-backed government:

One of the rival rebel leaders who recently formed a coalition of their guerrilla groups. They are Sebhappullah Mojadidi, Said Ahmad Gelani, Mawlawi Abdul Hai, Golbuddin Hekmat Yar and Mawlawi Rabani.

Zahir Shah, the former Afghan king who abdicated his throne in 1973 after a bloodless coup. He ruled Afghanistan for 40 years before he fled to Italy where he lives modestly. It's unlikely he would agree to return to power.

Hassan Durrani I, who claims to be the son of King Amanullah Khan, an earlier monarch, who abdicated the throne in favor of his cousin. Hassan hasn't set foot in Afghanistan since he fled at age 2 with his father in 1929. He is surrounded by a small phalanx of loyalists who have been lobbying the Carter administration to recognize him as the rightful heir to the throne.

It might be wise for President Carter not to meddle.

POLITICAL ODDS: Here's the latest rundown on the presidential race, provided exclusively by Jimmy the Greek, for those who may wish to make sport of the election:

President Carter, benefiting from the Middle East crisis and the Iowa caucus, is now a heavy odds-on favorite to win the nomination. Jimmy quotes his namesake in the White House at 1 to 4.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have just become a Christian through reading your book "How to Be Born Again." Now I want to start reading the Bible. Where do you suggest I start? — J.D.N.

DEAR J.D.N.: I am thankful you have come to Christ by faith, but more than that I am thankful that you see the Christian life should be a life of growth and development. Becoming a Christian is one step; being a Christian involves the rest of your life. You also are right in seeing that your Christian growth is closely related to the Bible, God's Word.

One good place to begin your study is in one of the Gospels. I often suggest people begin with the Gospel of John, because it shows Jesus dealing with all kinds of people and clearly presents Him as our Savior and Lord. But whichever Gospel you choose to begin your reading, I suggest you begin at the beginning and move through it section by section each day — perhaps a chapter a day or less. You may also find it helpful to read carefully — perhaps several times — the little book of First John. It is especially good for a new Christian, because it assures you of God's love and the certainty of your salvation in Christ.

As time goes on you will want to study other sections of the Bible, particularly the New Testament at first. In Acts you will discover how God used ordinary people to reach the world for Christ — and how He can use you today as you yield yourself to Him. In the various letters you will discover in greater depth who Jesus is and what He has done for us — and will do in the future. In the Old Testament you might want to begin in Psalms, since they speak particularly of our relation to God. Proverbs gives us practical guidance for everyday living.

In all your study, ask God to help you understand what you read. But most of all, ask Him to help you apply it to your life every day. "Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light for my path" (Psalms 119:105).

Dear Editor:

Without getting into the hassle of who is glad who is gone and who hates and who loves Big Spring, I would simply like to comment on something that happened to me over the weekend which points up how I feel about that fair city.

I was getting on an airplane in Harlingen, Texas to go to San Antonio and then back to Atlanta. A woman asked me if I lived in the Rio Grande Valley. "I used to," I said and added, "Actually I grew up down here."

"Well," she said, "I live near Lubbock and I'm thinking about buying an orchard and retiring to the Valley. Have you ever been in West Texas?"

I answered, "Lady, I live in Atlanta, Ga. but lived 28 years in West Texas after living 24 in South Texas and I really plan to retire to West Texas myself — to Big Spring — some day." "Why?" she asked. "Don't they have ice?" And I answered, "Yes, some." "Don't they have sand storms?" she asked and I answered, "Oh my yes."

"Well," she stated, "Why in the world you think about retiring there?" And I answered, "Actually, I've lived the people everywhere I have ever lived and I like the people in Atlanta, but the people in Big Spring are just the best I've ever known."

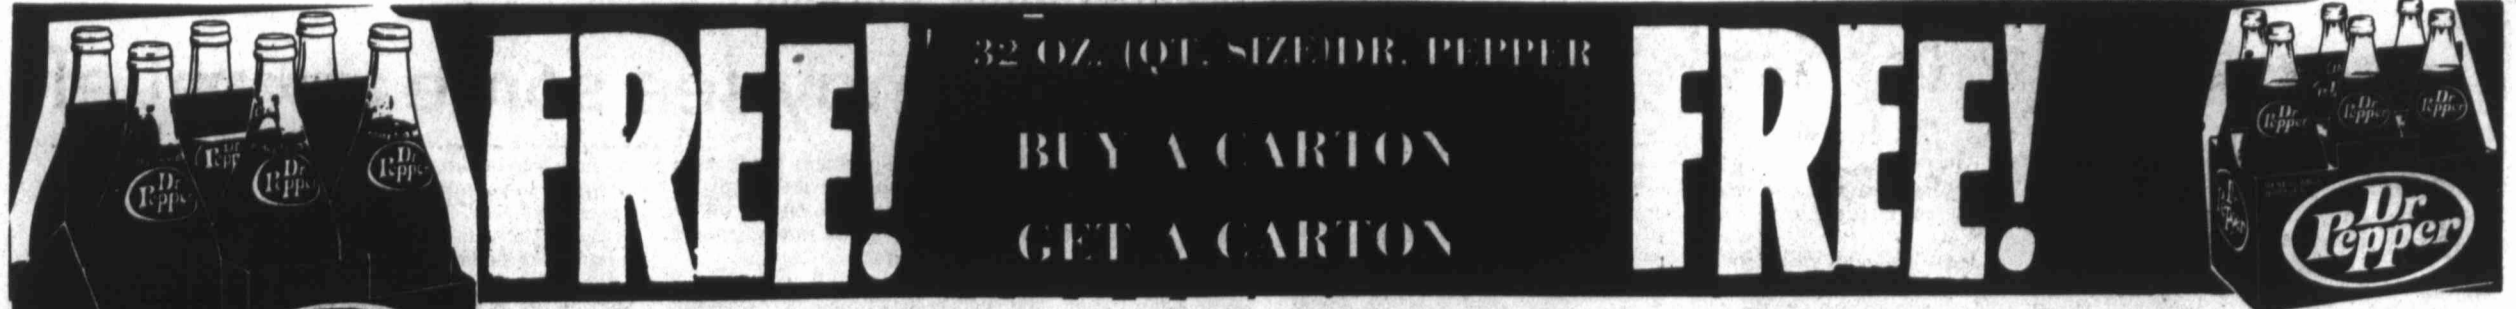

"Well," she added firmly, "I sure don't like the people in Lubbock that much."

And I said, "Well, if the people don't make any difference, you are right — you might as well move where you like the weather."

SNEAK ATTACK — Noted physicist Dr. Edward Teller is jolted by a man throwing cream pie during lecture engagement at UCLA in Los Angeles Wednesday night. The attacker was unidentified, and police hustled him away before a motive for the pie-throwing could be determined. Dr. Teller, who helped develop the atomic bomb, was speaking on nuclear energy at the University.

'Windfall profits' will help

Citizens may see some tax relief

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee, after scoring a major breakthrough on President Carter's "windfall profits" tax on the oil industry, is trying to decide if part of the money should finance an income tax cut for individuals.

A path for final action on the tax bill was cleared Wednesday when the conferees broke a two-week stalemate and agreed that the tax on the oil industry should remain in effect at least until Sept. 30, 1990.

Still to be decided is an unrelated amendment, aimed at stimulating Americans to save and invest more. It would let an individual avoid income taxes on up to $201 a year — $400 for a couple — in interest and dividends.

Aides to the conference committee have proposed a spending package that would ticket at least $85 billion for individual tax cuts in the 1980s, with the first installment in October 1981.

The proposal also envisions federal aid of at least $4 billion a year to help lower-income Americans cope with rising energy costs, and to provide incentives for energy conservation, development of non-oil energy sources and money for improving the nation's transportation system.

Although the Carter administration backs the energy-related incentives, it opposes any tax cut now because of fear it would fuel inflation.

The staff recommendation for income tax cuts would replace non-binding language in the Senate-passed bill designed to pave the way for a freeze in Social Security taxes next year. That provision was sponsored by Sen. William Roth, R-Del., who also is the most persistent advocate of income tax cuts.

Senate conferees, most of whom favor a comparatively weaker tax as a spur to greater domestic oil production, wanted the tax to expire as soon as it produces $227.3 billion in revenue.

But House delegates said that would give U.S. oil companies and the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries an incentive for sharp increases in crude oil prices over the next few years, since such action would hasten expiration of the tax. The House wanted parts of the tax to be permanent.

But House conferees accepted the compromise after Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the committee, cautioned that it "is about as good a deal as can be worked out."

The compromise would begin phasing out the tax in January 1988 or as soon as the $227.3 billion is raised, whichever is later. The tax would decrease by 3 percent until it ceased to exist.

The "windfall" tax is tied directly to oil prices — the more quickly oil prices increase, the more revenue it produces.

Clements tells TSTA of veto

VA AWARDS — Several employees were presented with quality increases recently at an incentive award program at the VAMC. They are (from left) Geneva R. Dunagan, pharmacy; Carolyn Y. Yeager, dental; Alberta L. Broughton, psychiatry; Christine Nash, nursing; Joyce Clanton, social work; Barbara J. Rogers, Wanda L. Roman and Bertha I. Hamill, all of the fiscal department. Jack Margolis, (right) chief of staff presented the awards.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements has sent the Texas State Teachers Association a simple message about their 1981 legislative effort to gain teachers the right to bargain collectively and strike.

"If the Legislature passes it, I will veto it," Clements said Wednesday while the TSTA outlined its legislative program for reporters elsewhere in the Capitol.

"I am absolutely opposed to it and will oppose it in any way I know how. ... I think they (TSTA) are making a mistake. To borrow a phrase, I think they've shot themselves in the foot," Clements told a news conference.

TSTA leaders said their 118,000-member organization is not abandoning its insistence it is not a union, despite the new push for collective bargaining rights.

"We are a professional organization," said president Cecile Russell of Amarillo, who contended this makes TSTA different from the rival Texas Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO.

Major items in TSTA's legislative program are:

- Job security — similar to tenure at colleges — for teachers who satisfactorily complete a 1-1/2-year probationary period. When lay-offs are necessary, senior teachers would go last.
- Collective bargaining, with teachers receiving a right to select by majority vote an organization to negotiate wages and working conditions with school boards.

Higher salaries, but the amount of increase TSTA will seek has not been decided. Executive secretary Jim Butler said Texas teachers average $13,038 a year, compared with a national average over $15,000.

A statewide group health insurance program for teachers and retired teachers that will cost $288 million per biennium.

"Because many teachers cannot afford to obtain health insurance, they are reluctant to be absent. So they teach when they should not. That hinders education," Mrs. Russell said.

TSTA's collective bargaining proposal leans heavily on binding arbitration to resolve impasses with school boards. It opposes strikes that "present a danger to public health or safety."

"I really feel there is not a teacher in this state that would like to strike. But when we are looking at the needs and concerns of our students, that would be a possibility," Mrs. Russell said.

At a Dallas news conference Tuesday, she said strikes would be useful to upgrade districts with "deplorable" conditions and in "situations where there is a lot of fear and concern on the part of teachers."

She said 70 percent of Texas teachers polled by TSTA support collective bargaining.

Mrs. Russell said teachers will be asked to support legislative and congressional candidates who endorse the TSTA's goals. But, she said, there would be no insistence that House candidates commit themselves to Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, for speaker.

Butler said TSTA members will be asked to contribute $12 to the association's political action committee, $9 for legislative candidates and $3 for congressional races.

You need to know about estimated taxes

Suppose you've just won $4,000 in state lottery

Some surprises are great fun. Other surprises are no fun at all. Among these, finding you owe $100 or more — maybe much more — at tax time. If that's so, you need to know about estimated taxes!

Suppose you've just won $4,000 in the State lottery or cashed in big at a horse race. You need to know about estimated taxes!

You've retired, and your pension has become fully taxable, but there's no withholding tax taken out. Or you own a nice stock portfolio and the stock pays handsome dividends. You need to know about estimated taxes, too.

These taxpayers, and others like them (self-employed persons, for example) who have gross income of more than $500 from which no tax is withheld, are often unaware, sometimes painfully so, about the obligation to pay estimated taxes.

What are estimated taxes, and who pays them? Estimated taxes, just as the name implies, are taxes based on what you expect your liability to be and paid in quarterly installments during the year. The need for this method of paying tax exists because, by law, taxes generally must be paid on a "pay-as-you-go" installment plan, not in a lumpsum payment at tax time.

The average employee who has tax withheld each pay period and a few additional dollars of income from a savings account — maybe even a $10 lottery prize, too — will not have to be concerned about paying estimated tax.

But those taxpayers who have substantial amounts of income from which no tax has been withheld do need to be concerned. The "bottom line" is simply this: "Don't end up owing $100 or more at tax time; you may be penalized.

Although there are certain exceptions, failure to make sufficient payments by persons obligated to do so is subject to a penalty that cannot be waived for any reason. The penalty for 1979 is 6 percent a year through January 31, 1980 and 12 percent a year after January 31, 1980.

The form for filing estimated taxes is Form 1040-ES, "1980 Declaration Voucher." With it comes a worksheet on which the estimate can be calculated. And detailed information on the "whys and wherefores" of estimated taxes is in IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax." IRS Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax," also contains a section on estimated taxes, as well as many other subjects related to individual income tax. Tax forms publications can be ordered by mail, using the order form in the tax package, or by calling the IRS number listed in the local telephone directory. If more convenient, they can also be picked up at most IRS offices.

Bear in mind, if you receive income that is not taxed at the source, that is, before you get it, you may be obliged to make estimated tax payments. It's not a choice; it's an obligation.

For some, it's an all year, every year responsibility. Self-employed people and those receiving substantial interest or dividends would be examples of this kind of taxpayer.

But for others, it may be once-in-a-lifetime. Lottery and gambling winners could fall into this category, for example. Lately, and more often than not, tax is withheld on winnings from state lotteries and most gambling establishments, but there can be exceptions.

Still others may find out during the year, that they must begin making the payments on a regular basis, such as persons whose pensions have begun to be taxable midway through the year.

Sheriff says beware of salesman of utensils

Big Springers need to beware of a fraudulent salesman of cooking utensils who may be in the area, according to Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard.

The man was ordered out of town by Odessa, Midland and Stanton authorities. His fraudulent claims have been determined by reputable sources, said Standard.

Standard said a Stanton party told him the salesman had left for the east.

BSSH recommended for $4,264 grant

Big Spring State Hospital Superintendent Grace Renee Ferguson, M.D., M.P.H., announced today that a Technical Assistance grant application for BSSH in the amount of $4,264 has been recommended for federal funding by the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council (TENRAC).

Thomas D. Wright, director of the Conservation Division, announced that BSSH has been recommended for funding for one building out of a statewide total of 385 in the schools and hospitals category. The building for which the grant is recommended houses the Medical & Surgical Unit. Grant awards will be made by the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) no later than March 15, 1980.

DOE's cost sharing grants program for schools, hospitals and buildings owned by units of local government and public care institutions is administered through the Conservation Division of TENRAC. The purpose of the program is to assist public and private non-profit institutions to save energy and related costs by conducting technical assistance (TA) analyses (detailed engineering analyses) and purchasing and installing energy conservation measures (ECM) recommended by the analyses.

Funding for TA and ECM projects is based on a 50 percent federal and 50 percent institutional match, except in hardship cases. In cases of severe hardship, an amount up to 90 percent federal funding may be awarded. The first grant cycle provided $5,645,418 for funding the schools and hospitals grant program.

Representatives of public or private non-profit schools, hospitals and units of local government or public care institutions may contact TENRAC for more information about this three-year grants program. Letters may be addressed to Duane Keeran, Program Coordinator, TENRAC, 411 West 13th Street, Austin, Texas 78701.

Stubblefield is appointed to Alcohol Advisory panel

The board of directors for the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) of Lubbock has confirmed the appointment of Ron Stubblefield of Brownfield to the Alcohol Advisory Committee for a two-year term beginning January, 1980.

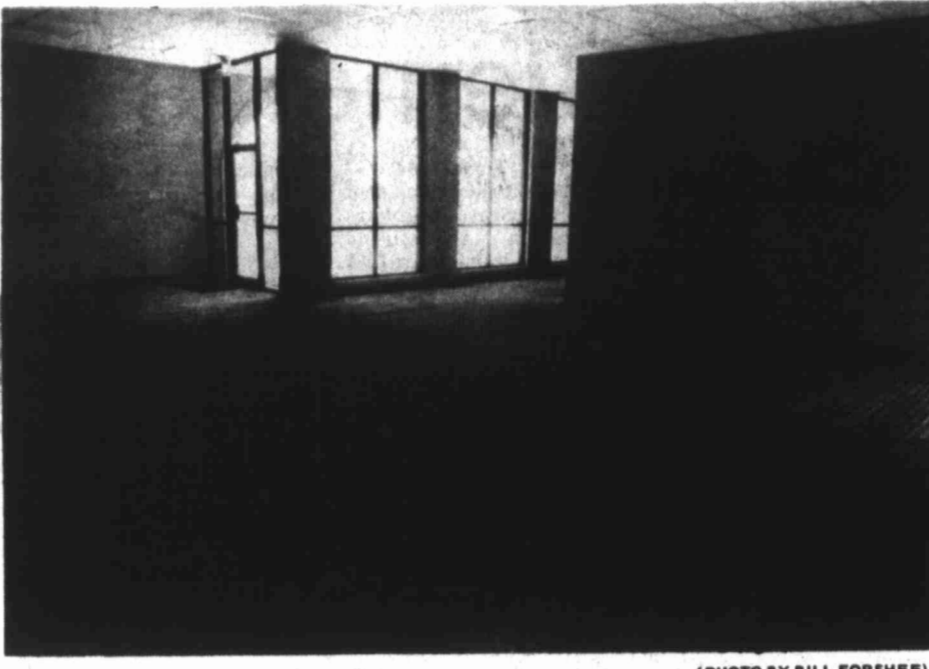

Stubblefield is a Certified Alcoholism Counselor in the Outreach Services Department of Big Spring State Hospital with offices in the Terry County Mental Health Clinic in Brownfield. He serves three counties through MH Centers located in Lamesa, Post and Brownfield.

The Regional Alcohol Abuse Advisory Committee carries on a continuous planning effort designed to identify problems related directly and indirectly to alcohol abuse within the fifteen county SPAG region. The committee assesses the availability, efficiency and effectiveness of programs and services and makes recommendations for formulating goals, objectives and strategies for establishment of additional alcohol abuse programs and services.

The committee performs a preliminary review of all funding applications for alcohol abuse programs and services submitted from the region to federal and state funding sources and provides advisory recommendations to the SPAG Board of Directors for the official clearinghouse regulations.

Stubblefield has been associated with Big Spring State Hospital since 1978. Prior to that time, he served as Alcoholism Counselor for the Permian Basin Community Center.

INSIDE VIEW OF BUILDING ADDITION — The arched entry ways in the recently completed addition to the 14th and Main Church of Christ are pictured here. The construction project, begun almost a year ago, connects three already existing buildings and includes some remodeling. An open house is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Open house set Sunday

Church addition complete

After almost a year the construction at the 14th and Main Church of Christ was recently completed.

Providing a means for churchgoers to get from one part of the church to another without being out in the weather was the main goal of the construction project.

An enclosed passageway from the south and north buildings to the center building was built. In the process the foyer to the auditorium in the center building was opened.

Also, the nursery above the auditorium was opened for seating. A new nursery with four rooms was built downstairs.

In addition, an open space was created between the north and center buildings for people to visit between services. The area will be furnished before the open house set for Sunday.

New carpet and wood paneling was added to the auditorium. Also, windows in the auditorium were made into walls and paneled.

Restrooms near the auditorium were removed and newer facilities were installed.

A vacant lot across the street from the church on Main St. will be paved for parking in the future.

The north building is the church's original building and was built in 1937. It is now used as a fellowship hall. The center building was built in 1950.

The south building, now used for church office space and classrooms, was built in 1965. The three buildings were joined together at a cost of $250,000. Much of the money was collected in a November, 1978 service.

The church's open house will be Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Perry Cotham, church pastor until May 1972, will deliver a devotional, followed by singing by a group of high school students.

Special guests, such as the architect and contractor, will be introduced. There will be a tour of the new facilities with refreshments to follow. All Big Spring and area residents are invited to come.

Herald still has few spelling books for sale

The Herald still has a few spelling books for elementary and junior high students who are planning to compete in school and county bees Feb. 19.

The books, which include every word which will be used in the county bee, are priced at cost — 35 cents. They can be purchased at the counter of the Herald.

School competition in the bee is now taking place. All champions and runnersup must be certified by school administration before the county bee begins.

Janice Rosson will again serve as pronouncer in the county bee. Helen Gladdon coordinates the bee on behalf of the public school system.

The county bee will be held in the Howard College Auditorium, starting at 4 p.m. Participants earn ribbons and the winner earns an expenses-paid trip to the Regional Bee, which will be held in Lubbock. The winner there gets a chance to compete for several scholarship awards in the National Bee in Washington, D.C.

Canada, our good neighbor to the north, whose brave diplomats so graciously harbored six Americans in their homes after the Nov. 4 capture of the American embassy in Tehran with 50 hostages, has at least seven good citizens here in Big Spring.

The six Americans, three consular officers and two of their wives who were consular assistants, and an agricultural attache, escaped Iran by using Canadian passports with forged Iranian visas.

Janet Roges, 403 E. 8, laboratory technician at Hall-Bennett Hospital, and the E. Wesley Pearce family, 206 E. 11th Place, gospel Western singers and owners of Photo West are Canadian citizens, except Mrs. Pearce.

Pearce was born in Moosomin, Saskatchewan province. Dorothy, his wife, is a West Texas girl, born in El Paso. Her great-grandfather, J. W. Wilburn, helped settle Gail. Four of their children were born in Canada, Stephen, 14, in Moosomin, Michael and Marina, twins, 12, were born in Souris, Manitoba and Tina, 10, was born in Winnipeg, Manitoba. Jonathan, 7, was born in Big Spring. All of the Pearce children hold dual citizenships in the United States and Canada, until age 21 when they'll choose which country's citizenship to retain.

Janet Roges, 403 E. 8, was born in Gederich, Ontario, a salt mining town of 7,000 population and was raised on a dairy farm. She has worked in Big Spring since November, 1977 and says the main difference that she notices is the difference in winter activities. Winter pastimes there include snowmobiling, skating on frozen lakes and in ice rinks where they use artificial ice, ice hockey, La Cross (an Indian game) and soccer.

Janet is getting married to a Big Spring boy, Charles Edward Hamm Jr., April 19 in Goderich.

Wedding customs differ from ours, and since Canada is cosmopolitan, customs differ from community to community depending on the ethnic background of the couple.

Janet's wedding will be the middle of the afternoon with a 30 minute ceremony, then picture taking at the church, then adjournment to the reception hall for a sit-down dinner. During the dinner, guests will clink their glasses with spoons in unison periodically as a signal for the bride and groom to stand up and kiss each other or other loved ones. After dinner toasts and speeches are made principally to and about the bride, but sometimes about both of them. Everyone then goes to the bride's parents home to view the presents.

Canadians usually have a fake wedding cake at the reception for the purpose of cutting. The top layer may be real to save for the couple's first anniversary. The guests throw confetti which they furnish themselves instead of the traditional rice at the couple upon departure for the honeymoon.

Each guest is given an iced piece of fruit cake to take home with them with a sentimental scroll from the bride.

Invitations are mailed with a reply card for prospective wedding guests to mail back some days before the wedding so the bride will know how many dinners to have catered.

The newspaper publishes a picture of both the bride and groom in the wedding write-up which is usually a month after the wedding.

Canadian children go to school from the day after Labor Day until June 29 for pastimes there include snowmobiling, skating on frozen school students through 13 grades to attend university or 12 if they choose to graduate then. Many go to private schools which are supported by the government through the tenth grade.

Pearce says that in Canada there are four distinct seasons, spring, summer, fall and winter, as there are in Northern United States. In Canada the people have to work in the summer in order to live through the winter. Temperatures can range from 0 degrees to 60 degrees below with a wind chill factor of 100 degrees below 0 in wintertime. Only during a blizzard does all work stop. Blizzards may occur anywhere from one or two to six or seven times a winter. Pearce remembers one year when he was walking on top of the telephone lines to school. The snow is like sand, and packs hard so it can be walked on without sinking. People with seasonal jobs work in summer and retire in the winter. Many green farmers grow their crops in summer and go to Florida, New Mexico or Arizona in the winter.

People who rent a house in the fall after a certain time in winter, the landlord cannot put them out of the house for not paying their rent until spring in a lot of areas of Canada.

The growing season is from the latter part of May or early June when planting is done until Harvest, the end August through September. Most of the crops are wheat, oats, barley, rye, flax and some domestic corn. Stock is fed a hay which is a mixture of alfalfa and brome grass. Natural prairie hay was used on the farm where Pearce was raised. They would stack it up in the summer and haul it home in the fall for hay.

In the springtime around the end of March and April it starts to thaw and warm up but no green grass appears until a May and leaves don't come out on the trees until up in May or June. Snow may still occur up until the middle of May or June with a blizzard, then melts and another blizzard occurs then melts, somewhat erratically. Usually, though, it continues to thaw after the first of April. As soon as the snow starts to melt, a little flower called the crocus appears all over the hills and many frogs appear that make a high sounding quite musical sound.

In Canada within a hundred to 300 miles north of the border of the U.S. are lots of aspen trees, then toward Ontario east there are elm trees and maple trees which provide in fall a riot of multi-colors. Farther north are pine trees mixed in with the others providing a definite span of multi-colors like in northeastern U.S. This may last a week to a week and a half, it starts getting cold and winter arrives.

Canada is the third largest country in the world, but its population is comparable to that of New York City. Approximately 165,000 are Indians and Eskimos who are mostly on reservations. One-third of the population is French Canadian, most of whom are in Quebec, however are scattered throughout all the provinces. Many speak only French and live in French quarters. The French press has 13 daily papers with a circulation of 600,000 plus 130 weeklies and some monthly and semi-monthly publications. Twenty-six percent of the population is of English origin and reside in Quebec, and Southern Ontario. Nova Scotia or Little Scotland as it's translated, Ontario and Manitoba are where the Scottish reside who make up 11 percent of Canada's population. About ten percent are of Irish descent. The British people make up one-half of Canada's population. After World War I people of European countries immigrated to Canada and make up about 18 percent of the population. Germans account for four percent, two and a half percent are Ukrainians and less than one percent are Swedish, Norwegians, Hungarians, Italian and Russian.

Pearce said, "Because of the small total population these different cultures are very evident. Each nationally has their own area where they have their own food and customs."

Canada has a very high standard of living. The minimum wage is probably 25 to 50 cents higher than in the United States. The cost of living is higher. Canadians are experiencing no shortage of gasoline. Alberta is the largest supplier of oil, Canada being rich in oil as well as other minerals.

About 50 percent of the exports of Canada are shipped to the U.S. Canada also favors the U.S. in imports, as it buys about 70 percent of its imported goods from the U.S. Purchases from the United Kingdom (England, Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales) normally range from about 10 to 15 percent of the total imports.

Canada has many scenic attractions, its cool climate and its abundance of fish and game. More than 90 percent of Canada's visitors come from the U.S. In summer, tourists spend vacations at mountain and lake resorts. The countryside is a paradise for hunters and fishermen as well as photographers. Such winter sports as skiing and tobogganing attract many visitors. Each province has its own particular attractions for visitors. Visiting our friendly neighbor to the north is easy for the federal government requires no passports at the international border from persons who intend to stay only a short time.

Second Chance At Happiness

DEAR ABBY: Two and a half years ago I married a lovely girl named Ramona. She was 20 and I was 26. It was the first marriage for both of us. On our honeymoon, Ramona was killed. (Thank God it wasn't my fault. Ramona was driving.) I am getting married again. It will be the first marriage for Suzie. She wants a big wedding, which I really don't want. But, for her sake, we are having one.

As far as I'm concerned, I've already had my wedding and gifts, so should I put a notation in the invitations saying, "No gifts," or what? My friends and relatives gave already, and once is enough. Or do you think I should leave it up to them?

After Ramona's funeral I asked everyone if they wanted their gifts back, and they all said no.

Also, should I send a wedding invitation to Ramona's folks? I haven't told them about Suzie yet. I can't get up the nerve since they are still grieving. Answer soon.

GETTING MARRIED

DEAR GETTING: Don't put "no gifts" on your wedding invitations; leave it up to the guests (Even though your friends and family gave once, this is Suzie's first marriage, and discouraging gifts would be unfair to her.) Tell Ramona's folks personally — and soon. If they're still grieving, don't send them an invitation to your wedding. Good luck. I wish you joy.

DEAR ABBY: Before my husband married me, he had a girlfriend who was the ultimate in charm, beauty, manners, etc.

Let I forget this, my mother-in-law reminds me every time I see her.

Finally, one day, when I had had it up to here, I said, "Listen, Barbara is gone, and I am here, so you can shut the hell up!"

My husband agrees that I am the injured party, but he wants me to apologize. But don't you think his mother was wrong in the first place?

SUCCESSOR

DEAR SUCCESSOR: She was wrong, but you were rude. Apologize.

DEAR ABBY: God bless you for saving not only my sanity, but my life. A little more than a year ago you suggested I come to terms with a serious drinking problem and seek out Alcoholics Anonymous. It turned out not only to be a lifesaver, but also an entirely new life and serenity I never knew before.

With my brothers and sisters in AA, I have learned I am not alone as I once so deeply felt. But most importantly, I have learned how to care for others and myself and maybe for the first time in my life, I know how to love another human being.

I took you up on your suggestion of AA, Abby, and with the fellowship's help and my staying with my Higher Power, I celebrated a complete year of sobriety this January!

Of those readers going through the hell of alcohol addiction, please tell them what AA has to offer, that it is there for the taking with no questions, dues and fees. And what AA has to offer is life, not only a sober one, but a beautiful one. Thank you again for my life, Abby.

Recipes

Dorothy Pearce shares Canadian recipes with Herald readers as a good neighbor is usually willing to do.

Dorothy Pearce's BORSCH

A nourishing Ukrainian soup
1 pound soup bone with meat
1 chopped onion
2 medium beets grated on coarse grater
1 medium carrot cut in thin strips
2 small stalks celery thinly sliced
1/2 cup cooked white beans or string green beans
3 cups shredded cabbage
1 cup tomato juice
1 tablespoon tomato juice
1/2 cup sour cream
Salt and pepper to taste.

Cover soup bone with water and simmer one hour. Add the onion and grated beets and simmer 15 to 20 minutes. Add the carrot, celery, beans and potato and cook 5 minutes. Add cabbage and cook until it is tender. Add the tomato juice, lemon juice, sour cream and salt and pepper. Borsch develops a richer flavor after it stands a few hours. Remove the bone before serving.

Dorothy Pearce's WHITE BREAD

2 packages yeast
2 cups lukewarm water
2 teaspoons sugar
Mix sugar in water then sprinkle yeast on it and stir. Let stand 10 minutes until light and fluffy.

In a large bowl, put 4 cups luke warm water 1 tablespoon salt 1/2 cup sugar 2 tablespoons shortening or cooking oil
Then add yeast mixture and 12 cups flour or more

Mix and knead until it isn't too sticky to the hands. Cover and let rise until double in bulk. Knead down and let rise again. Put in greased pans and let rise again. Bake at 325 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 4 or 5 loaves depending on size of bread pans. Be sure and keep the dough warm at all times, not hot or cold.

Dorothy Pearce's CARROT PUDDING

1 cup sugar
1 cup suet
1 cup raisins
1 cup currants
1 cup grated potatoes
1 cup grated carrots
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

1 teaspoon soda
1 1/2 cups flour
Steam three hours and serve with brown sugar sauce.

Dorothy Pearce's DAD'S COOKIES

1 1/2 cups shortening
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
2 cups rolled oats
2 cups desiccated coconut

Beat shortening and brown sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs and vanilla. Sift together dry ingredients and add oats and coconut.

Add dry ingredients to first mixture and blend well. Roll into walnut sized balls and place 3 inches apart on lightly greased cookie sheet. Press flat with a floured fork and bake at 375 degrees for 8-10 minutes. These cookies spread while baking unless the dough is chilled and peaked up on the cookie sheet.

Dorothy Pearce's POTATO CHIP COOKIES

2 cups all-purpose flour
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups pecans (or other nuts)

1 teaspoon soda
1 1/2 cup crushed potato chips (not too fine)

Combine in bowl, roll into balls and press down with fork on cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 10-15 minutes. Yield 8 dozen.

'Status Citizen Awards' participants sought

Several cleanup projects in communities around the state are now underway and will be completed this spring for entering in the 1980 "Status Citizen Awards" program, which is being sponsored statewide by the Beautify Texas Council.

"Status" citizens, according to the Council's program, are actually senior citizens age 55 years or older. The program — which is open to both individuals and organizations — recognized numerous older Texans in the past two years who are contributing to the betterment of their towns and cities.

"Senior citizens are adding immeasurably to the beautification and improvement of their communities — and we want to recognize them for it," said

BTC president, George McKinney, Dallas.

The Status Citizen Awards will be presented in Kerrville on June 19, 1980 at the Thirteenth Annual Meeting of the Beautify Texas Council.

Senior citizen organizations are urged to select a project that will involve as many club members as possible, and one which will have a lasting effect on the community. Extra points are achieved by gaining cooperation, donations, etc. from others in the community — and, for giving the projects a theme or title.

Individuals nominated for the award must be those who have contributed significantly toward the overall beautification and lasting improvement of their community or state.

Deadline for entries is May 1, and all entries should be mailed to the Beautify Texas Council at P.O. Box 2251, Austin, Texas 78768.

The Beautify Texas Council is a statewide, nonprofit, voluntary organization dedicated to making Texas "the cleanest, most beautiful state in the nation."

For more information on the "Status Citizen Awards" or other BTC programs and activities, please contact the BTC project director, tel: 512-475-4210.

Will teens say yes to national service?

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

After high school graduation, a young person usually heads in one of two directions — college or the working world. Soon, however, there may be an additional path open to teens: Voluntary national service, says Harris Wofford, co-chairman of the Committee for the Study of National Service.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 15 and very confused. In the last three months my whole world has come apart. First my parents got a divorce and then my best friend stole my boyfriend.

I try to talk to my mom about how I feel but she always seems too busy to talk. Lately, I have been very depressed. Can you please help me or tell me what to do? — Shelly, San Leandro, Calif.

To many young people, voluntary national service means only one thing: heading for the nearest military headquarters to join the armed forces. Not so. There are a host of civilian programs now in the works which come under the heading of national service. Some of these include rehabilitation of neighborhoods, hospital clinic work, care of the elderly and children, conservation of national parks and forests and tutoring of low-achieving students.

Don't sit at home and feel sorry for yourself. Do things, go places and stay active. It's amazing what a different outlook you would have if you found a new boyfriend or a close girlfriend.

Write to me again and tell me how things are going.

What would be the terms of the agreement if a young person signs up for national service? One year of community, environmental or military service, with a modest living allowance and post-service scholarships.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 13 and the best friend I have is my neighbor. When we are at home she is sweet and nice but at school she turns against me and hangs around with a group of girls who talk and snicker.

Just how willing young people would be to sign up is still a big question, but Wofford feels that teens may be more ready to respond to national service than skeptics think. A special Gallup poll shows that 70 percent favor voluntary national service and 22 percent said they would definitely volunteer.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 13 and the best friend I have is my neighbor. When we are at home she is sweet and nice but at school she turns against me and hangs around with a group of girls who talk and snicker.

A Gallup poll of college students found 82 percent in favor of such a system, with 19 percent definitely willing to join and 30 percent possibly interested.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 13 and the best friend I have is my neighbor. When we are at home she is sweet and nice but at school she turns against me and hangs around with a group of girls who talk and snicker.

Today, young people are generally given little chance to be more than consumers of goods and service," says Wofford. "Yet there is so much they could do to meet the needs of the nation if their talents and energy were put to work."

Candy: Tell your "best friend" that best friends are not two-faced and if she can't be sweet and nice in school that your friendship has ended. And mean it.

Personally, I feel the program has tremendous potential. So often, teens are confused as to direction when they graduate from high school. The national service could provide the incentive to set goals. At least it would give the teen time and remove the pres-

On the light side

Representatives face count

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — State Rep. Rod Searle has been charged with sesquipedalianism.

The charge was leveled Wednesday by state Capitol reporters, who were sent scurrying to their dictionaries when Searle came up with an esoteric term to announce that he will not seek re-election.

Searle, 59, said he will step down after 24 years in the Minnesota House. He served last year as speaker of the House and currently heads the Republican caucus.

Searle said he would not change his mind, "despite the murmurings of my Myrmidons."

With the help of a dictionary, observers concluded Searle's decision was final, despite pleas from his "unquestioning followers." That is one of the meanings of "Myrmidons," who were Achilles' followers during the siege of Troy.

As for sesquipedalianism, it means the use of long words.

Possum for president

SPIVEY'S CORNER, N.C. (AP) — Move over Jimmy, Ted, Ronnie, George and all the rest of you — here comes O'P.

O'P is a bred-and-fed Spivey's Corner opossum — or, as they say in the South, 'possum — who wants to put his fellow 'possum, Pogo, in the White House.

Pogo, the cartoon strip creation of the late Walt Kelly, has been courted frequently as a presidential candidate. Even today, Pogo-for-President buttons and bumper stickers tout the intellectual 'possum as the best of the litter.

It was the most recent resurgence of Pogomania that piqued O'P's public conscience, according to Ermon Godwin of Spivey's Corner.

Bodies don't count

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Eugene Bedell went to court to fight his ticket for driving in an express carpool lane restricted to vehicles carrying three or more passengers.

But a Municipal Court judge ruled dead bodies don't count.

California Highway Patrolman J. J. Lee stopped Bedell's truck and issued him a citation.

"He said he had passengers and I asked to see them. He opened the back of his truck and there were three corpses," the officer said.

Judge Robert A. Smallman on Tuesday fined Bedell $20, ruling "dead bodies are cargo, not passengers."

Bedell works for a cremation service.

Former employee of Big Spring accepts city job in Lubbock

A former employee of the City of Big Spring, J. Robert Massengale, has resigned his position as the director of finance for the City of Midland to accept a similar position in Lubbock.

The resignation becomes effective Feb. 23.

Massengale said that "the move is a good opportunity for me, and economically a good deal. There will be a challenge of working in a larger city with more things to do."

Massengale grew up in Littlefield, which is 36 miles from Lubbock.

Massengale had also worked for the City of Amarillo.

Stafford on trial again this month

PURCELL, Okla. (AP) — Roger Dale Stafford — already sentenced to death for the murders of six Oklahoma City steakhouse workers — again goes on trial for his life here Feb. 25 in the triple murder of a Texas family.

Associate District Judge J. Kenneth Love set the trial date at a combined motions hearing and arraignment Wednesday, after Stafford entered innocent pleas to charges of murdering Melvin Lorenz, 38, his wife Linda, 31, and son Richard, 13, of San Antonio, Texas.

Love said he would rule Friday on a defense motion to have Stafford declared indigent, making him eligible to receive state money to finance some of his defense expenses.

The judge said he will rule Monday on more than a dozen other motions.

In the only significant ruling he made after hearing motions Wednesday, Love handed McClain County District Attorney Kay Huff a victory by ordering the defense to give her a list of alibi witnesses to be called on Stafford's behalf.

Stafford attorney J. Malone Brewer has said he will call five witnesses at Stafford's trial who will testify that Stafford was "somewhere else and could not have done it (committed the Lorenz murders)."

Mrs. Huff sought access to the names of the alibi witnesses so she can prepare to confront them on cross-examination in the Lorenz trial.

The Lorenz family members were driving to the funeral of Lorenz's mother in North Dakota when they were slain during a robbery alongside Interstate 35 near this central Oklahoma town on June 22, 1978.

Stafford, a 28-year-old Alabama drifter, left Love's courtroom mid-way through Wednesday's hearing, asking to be returned to his Death Row cell at the state prison at McAlester because he was suffering from ulcers.

"I've been under medication, I've been ill for the last three weeks," Stafford told Love before the judge excused him.

Stafford is appealing the six death sentences he received in Oklahoma City in October for the murders of six steakhouse workers during a $1,300 robbery on July 16, 1978. The massacre was the worst robbery-murder in Oklahoma history.

Veterinarian will be on duty at Coahoma Fire Station

COAHOMA — A veterinarian will be on duty at the Coahoma Fire Station from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., Saturday for the purpose of vaccinating all domestic animals.

The cost will be $3 per animal. It is especially important that all residents bring their pets in for shots, since the City of Coahoma recently employed an animal warden and he has been instructed to pick up all animals whose owners cannot produce proof that their pet have been given anti-rabies shots.

60 Minutes didn't tell both sides of the story

I usually always enjoy the CBS Sunday night news story weekly program, 60 Minutes. The information presented is always enlightening.

I also enjoyed the past Sunday, especially the first part dealing with problems in college athletics involving a group of former athletes that did not receive their degrees, who also did not feel that they learned anything while in college.

It's true. There are many colleges that have helped fix players' grades, have used junior colleges in unsatisfactory fashion to keep players eligible, and have allowed players to carry academic work loads not up to par with the rest of the students.

But there are two sides to every coin. 60 Minutes did not focus on the athlete's inability to try to learn something while in college. One athlete said that he was embarrassed that he did not know how to read a menu.

Is that the university's fault? No way. If he can't read a menu, he shouldn't have gotten out of high school in the first place, much less been allowed in an institution of higher learning.

And while 60 Minutes let the athletes tell how they felt used, the CBS show didn't ask the athletes why they didn't make a better effort to be prepared for the outside world.

A college athletic scholarship is in many ways a job. For the services rendered on the field of performance, the athletes receive a free ride through college.

But it is up to the athlete to go to class, and to strive to better equip their minds for the future.

Less than one-half of one percent of the athletes that enter college on an athletic scholarship will go on to make a living as a professional athlete, so it is up to every athlete to learn what is necessary in the classroom.

The athletic directors and coaches in the college system are there to direct the action on the field of play. It's not their job to lead the athletes to their classes and to the library.

SPORTSHOOTS...Abilene Cooper running back-linebacker TERRY ORR is one of only two Texas high school griders being recruited by USC. The other is Dallas White tight end DAVID RANDLE. Trojan Coach John Robinson gave his reasons for recruiting the pair: "Both fit our physical requirements and both are great guys and good students. That's the kind of athlete we search for."

Up in the Michigan area, a wild rumor is circulating. It concerns the Detroit Lions, who by virtue of tying San Francisco as the worst team in the NFL the past year, own the first pick in May's NFL lottery.

The reason the story began is that it is said that the Steelers will then use that number one pick to acquire Oklahoma University great BILLY SIMS...

San Antonio Spurs scoring ace GEORGE GERVIN, who is the two-time defending scoring champion in the NBA, was named the league's Player of the Month for January.

Gervin, who was the MVP in the very exciting All-Star game last Sunday, averaged 36.9 points per game in January, and had two plus-50 games...

Papa Bear George Hales probably didn't mean to be giving Lamar Hunt's Dallas Texans a break when he spurred the NFL owners to form the Dallas Cowboys, franchise 30 years ago, but he did in a most lucrative way.

When the Cowboys were formed, it created financial problems for Hunt's AFL team that came to Dallas in 1960. So Hunt packed up his team and moved to Kansas City.

At the time, Hunt's investment in the Chiefs was worth two million dollars. Today, however, that investment has grown into a $60-million-dollar entertainment empire, which includes the Chiefs, a 153-acre family theme amusement center, and a part of Arrowhead Stadium, which is located in the Harry S. Truman Complex...

It's no wonder that NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle has decided to keep next year's Pro Bowl in Honolulu.

In recent seasons, as many as half a dozen players skipped the NFL's all-star game, claiming everything from injuries to frayed nerves to sick relatives. But none of the 80 stars missed last week's contest in beautiful Honolulu, and most of the NFL bosses aren't believing that all of the appointed stars showed up because they felt it was an important game.

One league official hit the truth, stating: "Any player who did not want to go to the Pro Bowl would have a hard time explaining why to his wife or girlfriend..."

Quotables

PITTSBURGH STEELER JACK LAMBERT: "There's a very fine line between being aggressive and overaggressive. I think you should be allowed to do whatever you want to do within the rules until the whistle blows."

Pittsburgh Steeler strong safety DONNIE SHELL, discussing the Super Bowl: "Jack Lambert hollered so hard in the huddle in the first half that I got scared. I can't repeat what he said, but his face turned real red."

Centenary assistant basketball coach TOMMY WARDEMAN, on bench warmers: "Every team needs warmers. These are the guys you sign so you can hug 'em after you win, instead of having to hug the guys who play and sweat."

After a loss to Georgetown earlier this year, Iowa Coach JIM VALVANO was asked why a technical foul was called on him. He replied: "To this day, I still don't know. The ref said I had violated 10-10. I don't know if he meant a basketball rule or a verse and chapter in the Bible."

EDDIE ROBINSON, Grambling football coach, discussing his team's contract with SMU for football games in the 81 and either 83 or 84 football seasons: "This is one of the greatest things that has happened to us. All my life I've dreamed of something like this, and to now have the opportunity to play a team from the Southwest Conference is great."

Hawks, Queens host South Plains

The Howard College Hawks and Hawk Queens will try to improve on their Western Conference records tonight when they play host to the South Plains Texans in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The women's game is slated for a 6:00 p.m. tipoff, with the men starting at 8:00.

The Queens, fresh from a win over Western Texas College that vaulted them into first place in the conference standings, will host a South Plains team that enters with a 1-5 conference record.

The record could be deceiving, however, as the Queens struggled to 69-58 win over them in December.

South Plains plays a slower type of game than the Hawk Queens, averaging 61 points a game, while allowing 65.

The Queens, by virtue of their win over WTC, hold a slim lead over Odessa and WTC. Those two teams play tonight in Odessa, so a Queen win tonight would put them two games up on the loser of the WTC-Odessa tilt.

The Hawks have beaten the South Plains men twice this year, with the last affair being a non-conference match in the ABC Olympic Classic.

In that contest, the Hawks enjoyed a 25-point cushion with eight minutes remaining, only to see South Plains rally and make it extremely close at the end.

South Plains has two performers in the WJC's top ten in scoring in Ronnie Butler and Jackie Vaughn. Butler averages 16 points per game, with Vaughn right behind at 15.8.

Vaughn also holds the distinction of leading the conference in blocking shots. Howard College will be led by the scoring duo of Mike Wallace and Ron Atkins, who rank first and third, respectively, in the WJC scoring race. The duo have combined for a per game conference average of 50.0.

The Hawks enter the game with a conference record of 5-6 and a season mark of 14-10, while the Texans are 1-10 in conference and 6-18 for the year.

Tonight's game has been designated as Gray-Y Youth League Night. This means that anyone associated with the YMCA's Gray-Y football, soccer, basketball or cheerleading programs may attend the game free if he wears his jersey, t-shirt or cheerleading uniform.

Killanin arrives in Lake Placid

"The bane of my life is the word boycott"

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — "The bane of my life is the word boycott," says Lord Killanin, president of the International Olympic Committee (IOC).

Killanin's comment as he arrived in Lake Placid for the XIII Winter Olympic Games Wednesday night sets the tone for the IOC session this weekend. There is likely to be no support for President Carter's call for next summer's Olympic Games to be moved from Moscow, cancelled or boycotted.

"I think it is very important that we should not be dictated to by governments on where we shall go," Killanin said at a press conference, underlining the traditional role of the Olympic Games as being independent of politics.

Some 76 of the 89 members of the self-elected, self-perpetuating IOC, the ruling body of the Games, are expected for the Lake Placid session. Some have already arrived and have indicated they are backing Killanin and standing firm against Carter's boycott call.

Julian K. Roosevelt, one of the two IOC members from the United States, kept up his campaign to keep the Olympic Games in Moscow, despite the world reaction against the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan.

"I have heard it said that a boycott of the Olympics would be the strongest weapon we could use against the Russians," Roosevelt said before Killanin arrived. "If that is the strongest thing we can do, we have no Washington.

"The United States would be a bunch of cowards if we stayed home. The only way we can stand up to the Soviets is to go over there and beat them in Moscow this summer."

Killanin plans to meet Friday with Robert Kane and Col. F. Donald Miller, president and secretary, respectively, of the U.S. Olympic Committee, which has promised to pass on Carter's call for moving or cancelling the Games.

Killanin told the news conference he is ready to let Kane and Miller go before the full session of the IOC, although he has said repeatedly the Games cannot be moved from Moscow.

"Any national Olympic committee has the right to express views to the IOC," Killanin said.

But the U.S. Olympic Committee cannot put a resolution on the IOC agenda. The 140 national Olympic committees around the world are simply recognized by the IOC and play no part in its deliberations.

Killanin, 66, who succeeded the late Avery Brundage as president in 1972, said the IOC's session in Lake Placid will be one of the most vital in its 88-year history.

"Things have come to light which will make people rethink many aspects of the Olympic movement in the years to come," Killanin said.

NBA Roundup

Barry shoots down Nets

For openers, Houston's Rick Barry showed seven 3's Wednesday night but he had a pair of aces in the hole that proved fatal to the New Jersey Nets.

Barry set a National Basketball Association record with seven three-point baskets — he tried nine — but it took his pair of free throws with four seconds left to give the Rockets a four-point lead en route to a 115-114 victory over the Nets.

"I can't go crazy with it (the three-pointers)," said Barry, who hit his first four long-distance shots late in the opening period after the Rockets fell behind 19-7. "I think all the shots I took tonight were good. I just don't try to force them."

Barry's long-range bombing enabled him to top the Rockets with 27 points. His seven three-point baskets broke the NBA record of five which he shared with Boston's Chris Ford and San Diego's Brian Taylor.

Celtics 129, 76ers 110
Larry Bird, Nate Archibald and Cedric Maxwell led a furious second-half charge in rallying Boston from a 14-point third-period deficit. Bird scored 22 of his 32 points in the second half while Archibald had all of his 18 and Maxwell 15 of his 19 in the final two periods. The victory put the Celtics two full games ahead of the 76ers in the Atlantic Division.

Suns 97, Kings 95
Walter Davis scored 21 points, including a game-winning 10-foot jump shot with three seconds to go. The Suns, down 76-69 going into the final period, outscored the Kings 13-6 to knot the game 82-82 on a layup by Bruce Robinson with 7:10 remaining. With 14 seconds left and the score tied at 95, the Suns called a timeout and inbounded the ball to Davis, who held it until his game-winning shot. Gus Gerard led Kansas City with 25 points.

Bucks 111, Cavaliers 109
Brian Winters sank a 20-foot jumper from the top of the key at the buzzer for the winning basket. The lead changed hands six times in the final 2:51, the last when Junior Bridgeman, who finished with 23 points, sank a jump shot to put the Bucks ahead 109-108 with 28 seconds left. Cleveland's Kenny Carr made one of three free throws to tie the score with 11 seconds left. Winters then took a pass and fired up a shot on what appeared to be a broken play but the ball swished through as time expired. Mike Mitchell scored 26 for the Cavaliers while Lanier had 14 in his debut with Milwaukee after being acquired from Detroit.

Warriors 117, Clippers 92
Phil Smith scored 10 points in the final 2½ minutes of the first half as Golden State broke open a tight game. The Clippers played without Lloyd Free, the second-leading scorer in the NBA. The team announced that Free missed the flight from San Diego, although the plane was forced to return there because of engine trouble. Freeman Williams, subbing for Free, scored 29 points. Smith finished with 12. The Clippers' Bill Walton played 16 minutes and scored eight points in his second game of the season.

Nuggets 122, Bulls 111
John Roche and newcomer Alex English keyed a fourth-quarter Denver surge as the Nuggets moved ahead of the Bulls and the idle Utah Jazz into third place in the Midwest Division. Chicago fell to last place. English, playing his first game for Denver since being acquired from Indiana last Friday, scored 25 points and Roche added 18 as the Nuggets pulled away. Dan Issel led the Nuggets with 32.

"I wrote him that I did so with a real sense of anticipation that with his experiences now, both bad and good, he could be a great influence on young people, not only in Texas but in the entire country," the governor said at an afternoon newsconference.

Clements said he has read reports that Hayes plans to work with the Rev. Jesse Jackson's youth programs, but said he could not verify those reports personally.

Hayes will be eligible for release in March, according to a spokesman for the state Board of Pardons and Paroles who said board members would determine the exact release date.

Hayes has served 16 months of his five-year sentence for delivering cocaine to an undercover officer.

The board had recommended Hayes for parole in early January, and Clements' staff concurred earlier this week.

Aggies, UT earn wins

Texas A&M's "Great Wall," which showed some cracks against Texas Tech, apparently got a quick fix from Coach Shelby Metcalf and 48 hours later was as solid as ever.

The Aggies lost a 10-point game to the Red Raiders in Lubbock, but manhandled Southern Methodist at College Station Wednesday for a 67-56 win and a temporary half-game lead in the Southwest Conference race.

Junior forwards Ryan Wright and Vernon Smith combined for 37 points and sophomore center Rudy Woods collected ten points, nine rebounds and five blocked shots in the win.

In the only other SWC game Wednesday, Texas Christian played a generous host to Texas, as the Longhorns breezed to a 90-61 win.

The Aggie win gives them a 10-1 SWC mark, while Arkansas stands at 9-1.

The difference in the Aggie win was a scoring spurt early in the second half, as the Aggies outscored the Mustangs 14-6 in the first 10 minutes and SMU, which had hit 55 percent in the first half, could collect just two field goals in 15 tries during that stretch.

"SMU played a good game, very deliberate, and they made us work for the win," said Metcalf, but he pointed out a second-period defensive change as the difference.

"In the second half we dropped back and stopped their penetration," he said, as the Aggies forced SMU into some low-percentage perimeter shots. "When we stopped their penetration we moved out in front."

In Fort Worth, though, the Horned Frogs could not get within shouting distance of Texas once the second half was underway.

"We played them well for a while but we finally just wore out," said TCU Coach Jim Killingsworth. "Unless we hit 60 or 70 percent from the field we're not going to beat a team like Texas. They're just better than we are."

The win raised Texas' league record to 7-5, while the Froggies dropped to 2-10. SMU is now 4-8 in the loop.

Clements paroles

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Next month, Bob Hayes will get out of prison.

The former Dallas Cowboy wide receiver and Olympic gold medalist, serving five years for cocaine delivery, was granted a parole when Gov. Bill Clements signed the order.

"I wrote him that I did so with a real sense of anticipation that with his experiences now, both bad and good, he could be a great influence on young people, not only in Texas but in the entire country," the governor said at an afternoon newsconference.

Clements said he has read reports that Hayes plans to work with the Rev. Jesse Jackson's youth programs, but said he could not verify those reports personally.

Hayes will be eligible for release in March, according to a spokesman for the state Board of Pardons and Paroles who said board members would determine the exact release date.

Hayes has served 16 months of his five-year sentence for delivering cocaine to an undercover officer.

The board had recommended Hayes for parole in early January, and Clements' staff concurred earlier this week.

Ages of youths in Roloff homes not proved

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — An attorney for Lester Roloff says the attorney general's office never proved the youths they saw at the evangelist's youth homes were younger than 18.

Lawyer Bill Meredith claimed the state failed to show Roloff needed the state license a court ordered he must have to run a child care facility.

The argument was presented to the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals here Wednesday as part of the latest round in the long courtroom battle between Roloff and the state.

"There was no evidence that any one of those three homes was being operated as a child-care facility," said Meredith.

The homes were closed last summer as state officials, armed with a court order, moved in.

Roloff is asking the appeals court to overrule the Austin judge who ordered the Corpus Christi-area homes closed. State District Judge Charles Mathews also set a $22,850 penalty for Roloff. The judge said Roloff was in contempt of a previous court order to get the licenses that Roloff defiantly resisted.

Meredith said Wednesday that Department of Human Resources staffers who checked the Roloff homes have never testified the youths they saw were under Japan takes lead in car production?

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese automakers expect a 10 percent increase in production in 1980 and say they may overtake the United States as the world's leading auto manufacturer.

This year's target for Japan's 11 automakers is 10.6 million vehicles, 200,000 more than American companies expect to build.

The Japanese turned out 9.6 million vehicles last year, a far cry from the 5,000 cars a year that came off the lines in the early 1950s as the industry was rebuilding from the wreckage of World War II.

More than half of last year's production, or 4.5 million vehicles, were exported and brought in $15 billion. It was the largest item among the country's total exports of $101 billion. The carmakers expect their exports to climb 11 percent this year to 5 million units.

The Toyota Motor Co., Japan's largest automaker with 37.5 percent of the domestic market and 4.8 percent of the U.S. market, says its production will rise 7.5 percent to 3.2 million units. Its export estimate is 1.5 million units, up 9.8 percent.

These are only "target levels" intended to boost company morale, a company spokesman said. But he said last year's target levels were easily met.

Toyota's arch-rival, the Nissan Motor Co., grabbed 28.7 percent of the domestic market last year with its Datsun cars and trucks. Nissan estimates its 1980 production at 2.5 million units, a 9.5 percent increase, with exports expected to hit 1.2 million units, up 8.8 percent.

A company official predicted there may be a smaller world market for Japanese cars this year, including a downturn in U.S. sales.

Required courses for Realtors

Pat Medley, president of the Big Spring Board of Realtors, reminds prospective real estate applicants for licensure of the required course to be offered at Howard College, Tuesday, Feb. 12.

The course will be taught by Dub Moore, finance officer of First Federal Saving and Loan, and will be from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., one night only. Laws governing housing discrimination will be studied, and the course must be completed before testing for the Texas State Real Estate sales license. Price will be $4.

Students should pre-register with Cheri Sparks, director of continuing education at Howard College in the Horace Garrett Building. Mail registrations will also be accepted.

18. "They've got to prove the operation was going on with children under 18," he said. He also argued the state inspectors failed to determine if the youths they saw were residents of the facility, visitors or children of Roloff staff members. The state license would not be needed if the youths were over 18, children of staff members or staying temporarily while their parents were at church services. Assistant Attorney General David Young, arguing for the state, said the inspectors made some 30 trips to the homes and "we say it is enough for them to say they looked like children to them." Young said the inspectors frequently were not allowed onto the premises. He said the order to close the homes was necessary. "Without that power we might as well hand the licensing act back to the Legislature and tell them to start over," he said. Young said civil penalties alone would not be as effective as closure of the facilities. "Those things don't work in a situation where the defendant's income is commensurate with the media exposure he gets," Young said.

Roloff closed the homes last summer as state officials tried to enforce the court order to close the facilities. The homes have since been reopened under the auspices of Roloff's People's Church. A new courtroom battle is expected. The evangelist sat through the hearing and had no comment for reporters after the proceeding. He said said things at the homes were

"great." "The Lord is blessing the work," he said.

Kennedy-Carter debate unlikely but candidates giving speeches today

WASHINGTON (AP) — It seems unlikely Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will get his wish for a debate with President Carter, although the two are giving back-to-back speeches today at the same hotel.

In fact, there was no assurance the two candidates would even see each other during their appearances — one hour apart — before the Consumer Federation of America.

Spokesmen for both indicated

Wednesday there was little chance the speeches would turn into a debate.

Carter was expected to use his speech to seek support for his responses to the crises in Iran and Afghanistan, as he has in recent weeks, an administration official said. The source, who asked not to be named, said Carter also was likely to strongly criticize a water projects bill passed Tuesday by the House.

"To the extent that you are interested in a lead (a new story angle), I think you'll have one," White House press secretary Jody Powell told reporters Wednesday.

At the same time, Powell played down the chance Carter and Kennedy would directly clash.

What will happen if Kennedy decides to show up early to listen to the president and then pose a question? Powell was asked.

"He would give him an honest, straight-forward answer," the presidential spokesman replied.

And if Kennedy poses two, three or four questions? Powell said the president would be "responsive, responsible and polite."

Asked whether the White House is anticipating a confrontation, Powell said, "We aren't."

Nor is Kennedy, according to one of his advisers, Richard Dryne.

"We don't know when the senator will get there. He may get there in time to hear the president's speech. He could be in the audience or he could be in a holding room where he could hear the president's speech and make changes in his own," Dryne said.

Carter rejected the proposal, as he has all other suggestions to debate since he backed out of the planned debate of Democratic presidential candidates in Iowa in January.

Suspected Bandidos in line-up

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Two unidentified persons have viewed a police lineup that included Bandidos Motorcycle Club members named as suspects in the 1978 attempted slaying of a federal prosecutor, according to sources and observers.

Federal authorities refused any comment on the lineup. They had summoned the Bandidos to appear Wednesday before a federal grand jury investigating the unsolved case.

James Gillespie, attorney for two of the Bandidos, said his clients and three other "alleged" members of the club took part in the seven-man lineup. But Gillespie and other attorneys were barred from the viewing room.

An unidentified woman and a man, not known to be connected to the case, were observed being escorted into the lineup room by federal agents and prosecutors.

Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr viewed a police lineup last March and selected two Bandidos and a former Bandido as closely resembling those who attempted to kill him Nov. 21, 1978, according to FBI documents released in court last year.

An assailant firing from the back window of a stolen van riddled Kerr's auto with bullets as the prosecutor drove to work. Kerr, 38, who had been heavily involved in drug investigations, escaped serious injury by ducking behind the dashboard.

There have been no arrests in the case. The federal investigation has centered on the Bandidos, "but" all members of the club linked to the case deny any knowledge of the attack.

Kerr underwent hypnosis before viewing the lineup to heighten his memory of the attempted assassination.

According to an FBI affidavit released in court, Kerr said Bandido Steve "Boo Boo" Barbour was the driver of the van and said the gunman appeared to be either Bandido Richard Paul Ricks or former Bandido Timothy Kenneth Larson.

FBI Special Agent Gregg Van de Loo has testified that Larson is "a prime suspect" in the case. The agent also testified that an FBI informant said he had been asked by Bandidos to help kill Kerr.

Sources said Barbour and Ricks were among those in Wednesday's lineup.

Larson, who is serving a three-year prison sentence for a federal firearms conviction, was brought to San Antonio after being summoned to appear Wednesday before the grand jury.

But federal officials did not ask Larson to take part in the lineup or go before the grand jury, said his attorney, Charles Butts.

Numerous Bandidos and their associates have testified before the grand jury, which is also investigating the unsolved assassination last May 29 of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.

Kerr still receives constant protection after the assault, but he has since left the U.S. Attorney's office here for an undisclosed federal job.

938 rigs making holes

The total of working oil rigs in the state dropped for the first time in several weeks.

As of Monday, 938 rigs were making holes, compared to 948 during the previous week. The total is still higher than the 905 total for last month, and the 742 total for this time last year.

The drop was also reflected in the national total, which came to 2,621 this week, compared to 2,647 for the previous week. Again, the national total is still higher than the 2,495 total for last month, and the 2,094 total for this time last year.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, FEB. 8, 1980

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good time to make plans that are important to you. Get your facts and figures correct and make arrangements to utilize them to your advantage. Evening is not a good time to ask for favors, make decisions.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Go over your accounts carefully and correct any errors, know how best to invest in the future. A more gentle attitude helps you to get your ideas across.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Talk over those projects with partners early and get fine results. Believe in whatever it is you are doing.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study the work ahead of you and plan how to get it done efficiently. Talk over with co-workers a plan you have for better teamwork.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Your spirits are high and you can have great fun with congenials. A business risk you want to take could be beneficial.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A fascinating new project can be exposed for what it is, if you dig up all the information you can about it. Take no risks with reputation.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Consult with allies and plan to operate more efficiently together in the future. You are now able to get data you couldn't get earlier.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be careful about money dealings with others. Consult with a bigwig who can give you good advice. Not a good time for socializing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make plans early so that you can gain personal aims easily and quickly. Later meet with congenials for entertainment you most prefer.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is the best time to go after goals that have been difficult to gain before this. You get backing from an admirer.

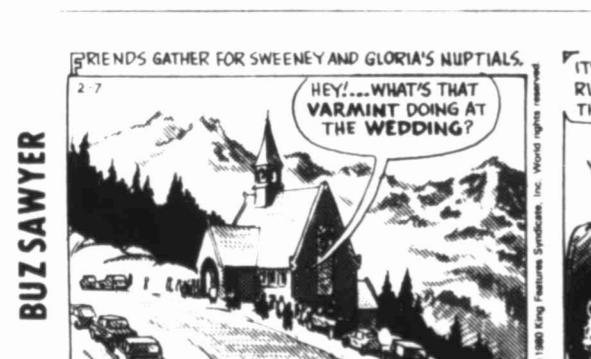

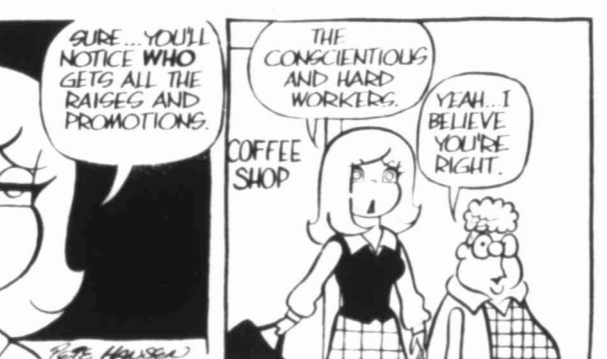

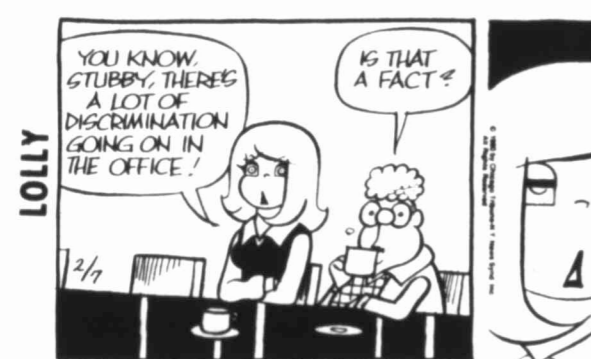

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Look to good friends for assistance in gaining personal goals. Accept an invitation to a group meeting; something good comes of it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are never happier than when at work, so get busy at civic matters for best results today. Contact a bigwig for needed support.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) New contacts can be of real help to you. Take no risks where your health is concerned. Avoid those who are jealous of you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have the ability to make plans and carry through with them in a most positive and accurate way and thereby be successful. Teach early not to be so stubborn otherwise support of others will be lost. Sports are fine here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Names in the news

BETTE MIDLER EUBIE BLAKE

Cronkite will stick around

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Cronkite says everyone has to retire sometime — but he plans to stick around as anchor of the "CBS Evening News" for a while yet.

Speaking through CBS News' press department, Cronkite confirmed Wednesday published reports that he had told network executives he would like to leave the show, which has been the ratings leader since 1968, no later than November 1981, when his contract expires.

Cronkite, 63, has said he would like to devote more time to other journalistic endeavors. He suggested that CBS had "wanted to know what my intentions are" because two other CBS newsmen, Dan Rather and Roger Mudd, were being courted by competing networks.

"There have been some reports today about my plans to retire from this broadcast," Cronkite said before he signed off the news show Wednesday. "Well, of course, that has to happen sometime. But meanwhile there are some big stories ahead in coming months and I intend to be right here to report them."

Didn't want to get hopes up

Ambassador Krueger knew steps being made to capping oil spill

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — When Gov. Bill Clements announced he expected the world's worst oil spill to be brought under control this week, it was not news to the U.S. ambassador-at-large to Mexico.

"That didn't come as any surprise," said Bob Krueger, who claimed he had learned about progress toward capping the runaway Ixtoc I oil well two weeks ago.

"We did not make any particular announcement because when you're dealing with subterranean passages you don't want to set about some hope that won't be realized," he said.

Clements said Tuesday sources at the well site, in the southern Gulf of Mexico, reported a diagonal relief hole had reached the underground source of oil, and plugging the blown-out Ixtoc I well was only a matter of days, weather and equipment permitting.

However, two earlier predictions — in August and January — that the well was almost shut down fell through, Krueger noted.

"Clearly our hopes are there, but we don't want to get up any false hopes. I'm not in a position to offer any guarantees," he said.

The United States and Mexico are about two months away from signing an agreement on handling of future oil spills, but Krueger said the pact would not affect the current problem.

"The question of Ixtoc I has not been resolved," he said. "We still hope it might be possible to keep it out of court."

Several lawsuits have been filed against the Mexican national oil company, a private Mexican drilling contractor and the American company that leased the rig, claiming damages from oil spill's impact on Texas beaches last summer.

U.S.-Mexican relations, rocky in the recent past, will keep changing as Mexico develops a stronger economy through its vast oil and gas reserves, Krueger told a local civic group.

"We have not ... had an entirely tranquil past. But I think ... we can build from the scars of the past and build a more binding relationship," said the former Texas congressman, who emphasized energy cannot be the only building block in constructing a new relationship with Mexico.

Mexico has 50 billion barrels of proven oil reserves and potential reserves of 200 billion barrels, he said, but pointed to increasing trade, heightened tourism and cooperative anti-drug efforts as other common interests.

"In the last three years a cooperative has allowed Mexico to spray opium poppies in the field. It has reduced heroin imports to this country by 85 percent and the number of deaths from heroin by more than a half," he said.

Composer hits 97 today

NEW YORK (AP) — Composer Eubie Blake turns 97 today, but he's still got his fingers skating over the ivories.

Smoking a cigarette at the keyboard and enjoying the give-and-take banter with interviewer Gene Shalit on NBC's "Today" show Wednesday, Blake talked about his musical past.

"How many songs have you written?" Shalit asked.

"Not songs — melodies — about 3,015," Blake said, adding that about 300 have been published. "I don't know 'em all."

The composer recalled that when he wrote "I'm Just Wild About Harry," it was a waltz.

"Beautiful tune, but I cannot sing it," a female alto and contralto singer told him after he wrote it. "Whoever heard of a waltz?"

So he jazzed it up into the now-familiar bouncy version and the song was later used by Harry Truman's surprising 1948 presidential campaign.

Bette Midler being sued

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A $3 million damage suit and a request for an injunction have been filed against entertainer Bette Midler and the production company filming her concert movie "Divine Madness" just six days before shooting was to begin.

Three backup singers who appeared as the Harlettes in the Broadway version of the show claim they were improperly fired from the film. In a Superior Court suit filed Jan. 31, Linda Hart, Franny Eisenberg and Paulette McWilliams accuse Miss Midler of persuading Alan Ladd Jr. Productions to fire them.

The suit asks for an injunction barring filming of "Divine Madness" without participation of the women.

Miss Midler's publicist and agent declined to comment.

Telephone company sets earning record

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which saw long-distance telephone calling rise 10.8 percent last year despite increased competition, announced a record $5.67 billion profit for 1979.

The earnings announced Tuesday represented the largest annual profit ever reported by a company. AT&T is the biggest corporation in the world based on assets of more than $100 billion.

It said earnings rose 7.6 percent from the $5.27 billion it reported for 1978. Earnings per share increased from $7.74 to $8.04.

However, Chairman Charles L. Brown said revenues increased at a slower rate than expenses.

Fifth appearance at TMEA

WTSU Symphonic Band will perform Feb. 15

CANYON — The West Texas State University Symphonic Band, conducted by Dr. Gary Garner, professor of music, will perform before the Texas Music Educators Association on Friday, Feb. 15, at 11 a.m. in the theater of the San Antonio Convention Center.

"This marks our fifth appearance at TMEA, more than any other collegiate ensemble in the state," said Garner.

The San Antonio performance will be the culmination of the band's annual concert tour. The first performance will be on Sunday, Feb. 3, at 8 p.m. in the Northern Recital Hall on the WTSU campus.

The program is part of the 70th Anniversary Concert Series. University students and faculty will be admitted free by showing their identification cards.

The Symphonic Band tour will begin Friday at Pampa High School, where they will perform at 8 p.m. Band members will play at Big Spring High School Tuesday, Feb. 12, at 8 p.m. On Wednesday, Feb. 13, the band will perform three concerts which include Angelo State University, San Angelo, at 11 a.m.; Brady High School at 2:30 p.m.; and Anderson High School in Austin at 8 p.m.

On Thursday, Feb. 14, the band will travel to Poteet High School for a 12:45 p.m. concert and to McCollum High School in San Antonio for a concert at 3:30 p.m.

The program will include "Orb and Sceptre," composed by William Walton; "Overture in C," by Mendelssohn; "A Tribute to Rudy Wiedoeff," by Gunther Schuller, Donnie Lefevre as saxophone soloist; "Variations from a Cantata for Band to Celebrate the Life of Don Baird," by Dr. Norman J. Nelson, professor of music; "Concerto for Tuba (featuring the tuba section in unison)," by Gregson and Garner; "Africotta II," by Joseph Ott; and "Overture to The Wasps," by Vaughan Williams.

The featured soloist, Donnie Lefevre, is a graduate student from Fort Stockton, having completed his bachelor of music education degree at WTSU last December. He has received recognition as a saxophone virtuoso.

He is a student of Robert Krause, assistant professor of music at WTSU. The work he will perform, "A Tribute to Rudy Wiedoeff," was arranged for saxophone and wind ensemble by Gunther Schuller, composer. It consists of three pieces made famous by a saxophonist of the 1920s, Rudy Wiedoeff.

The program also will feature the entire tuba section in the first movement of Gregson's "Concerto for Tuba." The section includes Mark Nelson, Monahans senior; Tim Kelly, University Park senior; Albert Islas, El Paso freshman; and Richard Herrera, El Paso freshman. Performing with them will be Russ Blanchard, a graduate assistant in low brass, from Alamogordo, N.M. All are students of Joseph Cox of the WTSU brass faculty. He died in April 1979.

Admission to the tour concerts is $4 for adults and $2 for students. University students and faculty will be admitted free by showing their identification cards.
