

Anderson injects new vitality into politics

By JIM DAVIS
Herald-News Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Thanks to John B. Anderson, we're seeing a preview of what Texas will be like as a true two-party state — with partisan decisions leading to bitter but interesting confrontations.

Anderson has dropped his Republican cloak, sewed a big "I" for independent on his bodysuit and leaped into political space as a candidate for president. The voters must decide whether to support him or to throw Kryptonite rocks at him.

They won't get that chance in Texas unless Anderson supporters collect 40,719 signatures by July 14 to put his name on the November ballot.

Such a petition drive will be difficult, but it is made easier by Texas Secretary of State George W. Strake's ruling that 1.4 million Texans who voted in the May 3 primary are eligible to participate.

State law prevents anyone who voted in a Texas presidential primary from signing a petition to put an independent on the November ballot.

That clearly eliminates anyone who voted in the Republican contest because it determined how many convention delegates each candidate would receive.

But Strake says participation in the non-binding Democratic presidential preference poll doesn't carry the same restriction because delegates were selected in a separate convention process.

Attorney General Mark White, however, says there is no difference under the law and Democratic primary voters cannot sign independent petitions.

Lawyers often differ over legal interpretations, and possibly that is the case here. But there's circumstantial evidence that both men are playing politics.

Assuming that President Carter and Reagan will be their parties' nominees in November, Anderson's candidacy clearly would pull more votes away from Carter than from his conservative challenger.

Anderson's principal strength lies with liberals and moderates who are unhappy with Carter but can't stand Reagan. If Anderson isn't on the ballot, most of them reluctantly will vote for the president, and these votes could be crucial in a close race.

Loyal Democrats, such as White, want Anderson's petition campaign to fail, and loyal Republicans, such as Strake, want it to succeed.

Anderson's volunteers are happy with Strake's decision and are signing up Democratic primary voters as fast as they can.

Two volunteers in front of an Austin supermarket recently even approached passers-by with the question: "Did you vote in the Democratic primary?"

If the answer was yes, the petition pusher asked the person to sign. Only if the answer was no did he ask whether the person was a registered voter who didn't cast any ballot on May 3.

Attorney general's opinions are only opinions, and Strake says he will ignore this one.

Some Democrats are saying they will file suit to challenge the petitions if a sufficient number signs to put Anderson on the ballot and any of them voted in the primary.

That could lead to an interesting situation. The suit would be against Strake, and the attorney general must defend any state official sued as a result of an official decision or action.

If a person hit an attorney, he probably wouldn't want the victim appointed to defend him in court against an assault charge. Strake feels the same way about any legal help from White.

It is hard to feel sorry for the unhappy Democrats in this situation.

The State Democratic Executive Committee fooled around with the idea of a presidential primary before apparently throwing it out. Then the committee came back with a last-minute decision to hold what has been called "a beauty contest."

Could the idea of stopping what was then only a potential independent Anderson candidacy have entered into the March decision for a presidential preference vote? Probably not. Texas Democrats seldom have shown themselves sufficiently organized to carry out such involved plots.

House votes to reduce number of committees

By States News Service
WASHINGTON — The votes of the Texas delegation in Congress for the week ending May 22:

The House Wednesday overwhelmingly voted to reduce the number of congressional committees. U.S. intelligence agencies must report to President Carter proposed that the CIA and other intelligence agencies report covert operations to only two, rather than the present eight, congressional committees. An amendment to kill Carter's proposal was rejected 50-325.

The revision would also require, when possible, the agencies to report covert activities prior to their actual occurrence.

Supporters of the reduction hope this will limit the possibility of news leaks.

FOR: Reps. de la Garza, Wilson.

AGAINST: Reps. Hall, Roberts, Gramm, Pickle, Leath, Hightower, Wyatt, White, Stenholm, Hance, Loeffler, Kazen.

NOT VOTING: Reps. Wilson, de la Garza.

The House Thursday night soundly defeated a compromise balanced budget for fiscal 1981. The vote was 141 to 242. The budget will go back to a House-Senate conference committee.

The controversial $15.1 billion budget called for increased defense spending at the expense of social program. The conference report recommended $15.7 billion in defense spending, an $18 billion (or 13 percent) increase over the current fiscal year. By comparison, non-defense increases averaged 5 percent.

The vote seemed to indicate the House's unwillingness to increase defense spending. But later, the House, on a voice vote, approved a proposal to instruct the conference to keep the defense spending level intact.

Local Barnes Pelletier store has new manager

The manager's position of Barnes-Pelletier Shoe Store was assumed by Patty Rogers when former manager Ismael Lujan took a manager's position in a Barnes-Pelletier store in Permian Mall, Odessa.

Mrs. Rogers has been with the store for 17 years, but has never accepted the manager's position before, although it has been offered.

Before working for Barnes she had her own shoe store, Gilbert's Shoes, on West Third Street behind Blum's Jeweler's. She owned the store for 10 years.

She said she feels well qualified to serve customers in the shoe business. "I just want our customers to continue to trade with us," she said. "I'm here to stay."

"Seventeen years goes by in a hurry," she said.

She started with Barnes during a sale for three days and has been there ever since.

She has been in Big Spring for a long time and wants to continue with the town because of the evidence she sees for growth.

She supervises two full-time employees and a part-time employee.

The store at 113 E. 3rd will be redecorated soon, she said.

Summer enrollment up 27 per cent at HC

Enrollment at Howard College has experienced a 27 percent increase for the first summer semester over the same period last year, announced Jan Dunagan, Registrar at Howard College.

Howard College has enrolled at total of 363 students as of late registration Friday night, said Dunagan. This compares to a total of 290 students for this same period last year.

307 students have registered at the Big Spring campus, while Theron Lee, Director of the Lamesa campus, reports a total of 40 students; 20 of those in the Emergency Medical Training program offered there.

Dr. Bobby Wright, Vice President for Instruction at HC, reports 16 students enrolled from the Big Spring

Federal Prison Camp.

Late registration for the first summer session will be held Monday from 7 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. and from 6-8 p.m. in the Registrar's Office in the Administration Building. The Registrar's Office will not be closed during lunch, as beginning Monday, Howard College goes on its 4-day week class schedule, and all administrative offices will be open from 7 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and the campus will be closed Fridays.

A comprehensive schedule of classes is being offered at HC. Ms. Dunagan, Registrar, is encouraging those who wish to enroll to call her office for specific information. She also reminded prospective students that Mary Dudley, Director of Guidance and Counseling, is available for course planning for summer as well as for fall. Students should make an appointment to see Mrs. Dudley as soon as possible.

Monday will also be the last day to add or drop courses.

Convention set for June 5-8

Featured speakers include Dr. Marc Gold of the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana, Lyn Isbell of Utah, and Dr. William Bronston, M.D. of Sacramento, Calif. In addition to the main speakers and general business sessions there will be 20 workshops with topics including: Communication, Legislation, Education services, Mental Health needs of the Mentally Retarded and their families, services for the elderly mentally retarded, residential services, and fund-raising.

Fund for crime victims needs rescue of its own

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A former Corpus Christi resident says he thanks God for the Texas Crime Victims Compensation Fund, which rescued him from financial disaster after three strangers beat and stabbed him in a parking lot.

The fund and those who administer it could use a rescue operation themselves.

A miscalculation of the amount convicted criminals would pay into the fund left it with half the revenue legislators anticipated. Claims have flooded in, but understaffing has slowed processing to a snail's pace.

The 1979 Legislature created the fund to pay hospital bills, funeral expenses and lost wages for victims of violent crimes

"Financial stress" is a requirement for getting help, which means the fund largely benefits poor people who have no hospitalization insurance and work at jobs without sick leave.

The Corpus Christi man, for instance, had no insurance, and his lost wages were just that — lost.

His $7,000 in hospital and medical bills were paid from the fund, which also reimbursed him $1,051.84 for wages he lost while recuperating.

"I can only thank God for your wonderful efforts to make my life, after an otherwise disastrous event, return as close to normal as it has," the victim said in a letter to the Texas Industrial Accident Board, which operates the fund.

The biggest award thus far was $11,000 to an assault victim from a small town in Williamson County. An assailant struck him so hard with a rifle that the blow broke the rifle stock and crushed the right side of his head. Surgery included removal of an eye, and medical bills totaled $9,908. The victim also received the maximum $150 per week for lost wages, totaling $1,260 with more to come.

So far, 564 persons have sought help. 93 have been turned down and 33 have received awards totaling $90,000.

The fund, meanwhile, received $477,433 between Sept. 1, the day it was activated, and May 15.

That sounds like a lot, but it's not when one looks at the flood of applications. The Legislature figured monthly revenue to the fund at about $160,000 but it has run only about $80,000.

Convicted felons pay a $15 "court cost" into the fund, and persons convicted of Class A and Class B misdemeanors — the only kind involving possible jail time — pay $10.

Jerry Belcher, the fund's administrator, says revenue predictions were too high because everybody forgot that most misdemeanor convictions are probated. A probated conviction is not final, meaning the defendant pays nothing into the fund.

"We are going to bring all this to the attention of the Legislature," he said.

Another problem is staffing. Belcher has three employees, and five persons on the attorney general's staff also process claims.

Belcher has tried to keep staffing low because each new salary means less money for crime victims.

"The attorney general's people are working their butts off," he said.

Yet it takes an average of 45 to 50 days to process a claim, says Kelly Reimers, who heads the victims compensation section of the attorney general's office.

Reimers' staff verifies the facts of a crime and determines whether the victim is cooperating with police — a requirement for aid.

Non-cooperation is a major reason for rejecting claims, Reimers said. Victims have passed up as much as $10,000 to $12,000 in medical help because they are "deathly afraid" of revenge if they help convict their assailants.

Reimers said one way to build the fund is impose court costs on persons convicted of traffic offenses, minor drug possession, public intoxication and other low-grade misdemeanors.

Prisoners' lobbyist

Charles Sullivan of Citizens United for Rehabilitation of Errants, suggests paying convicts $1 a day for their labor, with 50 cents going to the victims compensation fund. The wages would come from prison system profits on convict-made products.

There also is a possibility some counties have been less than diligent in collecting and remitting court costs to the fund. Collections have not been proportionate to the size of counties. In March, El Paso County sent in $14,000 while Dallas County paid $7,690 and Tarrant County $3,282.

"There is nothing we can do if the counties don't send it in. But we can audit them and give them a bill. Some of the counties are being set up for audit now," said Tony Proffitt of the state comptroller's department.

Some public hospitals are finding it worth while to encourage crime victims to file claims with the fund for help with their medical bills.

More claims have been filed from San Antonio, where public hospitals are in a financial crisis, than from any other city.

"They are making application forms available to every individual who appears to be a victim of a crime," Reimers said.

Despite its problems, the fledgling program has gotten off the ground and is making life easier for dozens of Texans, such as a young Dallas woman who fought off a rapist but ran up $5,000 in medical and psychiatric bills that the fund paid.

New committee to rule South Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The military on Saturday moved a step closer to taking absolute control of South Korea with the formation of a 25-member council to run the country indefinitely under martial law.

All but eight of the council's members are active or retired generals.

The U.S. State Department had no immediate comment. The Carter administration has been critical of the military's growing power but was not expected to cut aid to or remove any of the 39,000 U.S. troops from the pro-Western nation.

"To do that would risk encouraging North Korea to make a move. That is the last thing the Americans would want," said one Western official here.

South Korea's civilian president, Choi Kyu-hah, said establishment of the "Special Committee for National Security Measures" was necessary because of the continuing "national crisis" posed by threats from communist North Korea and domestic unrest.

A government announcement said the group would be chaired by Choi and act as "advisory" to him and the civilian Cabinet

However, its key member was Lt. Gen. Chun Doo-hwan, 49-year-old national security commander and acting director of the Korean CIA.

Chun will be chairman of a "standing committee" within the council that will exercise the real power. Chun, a career army officer, last December led an "internal coup" that deposed a group of older generals regarded as more moderate. He was little known before last October's assassination of President Park Chung-hee.

The government said the council would function as long as there is martial law has been in effect the past seven months, and officials on Saturday offered no clue about when it would end.

The martial law command said Saturday that 730 persons had been detained following the nine-day rebellion in the southern city of Kwangju and warned that the chief plotters would face "stern punishment." Government troops recaptured the city last week.

However, officials asserted creation of the new "advisory" council will not impede South Korea's timetable for "political development," the term frequently used to refer to democratic reforms.

South Korean military and civilian leaders, including Chun, have promised a new, more liberal, constitution by the end of the year and general elections early next year. But critics of the regime fear the reforms may be postponed or just cosmetic.

Service to resume on 900 miles of track

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission has paved the way for long-idle trains to begin rolling this week on more than 900 miles of Rock Island track in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

The ICC ruling also means good news for about 300 former Rock Island workers who will be called back to the rails within the next two to four weeks, said Harry Dimmerman, vice president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad.

Dimmerman said the first train on the main line will start north on Tuesday. Switch engines are expected to begin operating at Enid and Wichita on Monday.

The action was made possible by President Carter's signing of a Rock Island labor protection bill, and by an agreement reached this week between Katy and interested shippers.

The Katy was granted permission by the ICC to temporarily operate service over the main north-south Rock Island line through Oklahoma between Herington, Kan., and Dallas, Texas, a distance of 474 miles.

It was also granted permission to operate branch lines between El Reno and Oklahoma City, 17 miles; McAlester and Oklahoma City, 131 miles; Enid and Billings, 25 miles; Chickasha, Anadarko and Richards, 42 miles; Herington and Abilene, Kan.; Herington and Salina, Kan.; St. Joseph, Mo., Topeka, Kan., and Herington.

The shippers loaned the Katy $3 million to begin service on the lines.

The ICC's decision is a blow for the Frisco Railroad, which has been providing service to several Oklahoma cities on the Rock Island, but not to Rock Island customers between those cities.

The ICC authority runs for three months until the end of August, but it may be extended.

Dimmerman said the Katy will hire back former Rock Island employees in accordance with a labor agreement signed two months ago between rail unions and railroads.

Those railroads providing temporary service will have to reach agreements with the Rock Island bankruptcy trustee and judge about eventual sale of the Rock Island track to other railroads.

Added time to apply for payments granted

Some borrowers who received loans from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, has offered a program of compensation for construction defects to its borrowers who purchase new homes. Borrowers can file claims for 18 months after they purchase homes.

If defects are noted in an ers Home, the rural borrower first should contact the builder or contractor who issued the builder's warranty to try to resolve the problem.

If problems cannot be resolved with builders and the defect "directly and significantly" reduces the useful life or habitability of the dwelling, borrowers should contact the nearest FmHA County Office.

"Compensation can be made for defects which affect the basic components of a dwelling, such as its foundation, basement, walls, floors, framing or roof, or the heating system, water supply, or sewage disposal system," Mr. Pieratt said.

Farmers Home has advised its field offices to notify by letter all borrowers who may be eligible to file compensation claims during the extended period. The letters will inform borrowers how and when they may apply and explain the types of defects covered.

"Up to $5 million is available nationwide for compensation for structural defects during fiscal year 1980," Mr. Pieratt said. "However, the number of complaints is small. As of March 12, only $220,064 had been expended for 121 claims." He added that in fiscal year 1979, $1 million was allocated for the national program, but $383,188 was paid for 229 claims.

The home ownership program of Farmers Home is conducted through 148 county offices serving every rural county in Texas. The Agency's housing program — including home ownership, rental housing, farm labor housing, and site development — is budgeted at $152,375,000 for Texas during fiscal year 1980.

WE'RE SORRY...

That the price of the Queen size mattress and box springs was unreadable in the Thursday ad for RIVERSIDE FURNITURE GALLERY.

The price should have been $234.00 on the queen size mattress and box spring.

The regular price should have read "Reg. $129.95" on the twin size mattress.

We hope this did not inconvenience any of the customers of RIVERSIDE FURNITURE GALLERY.

Tradition dies hard

ROCK LAKE, N.D. (AP) — Tradition dies hard in Rock Lake. Take Memorial Day, for instance.

While most of North Dakota — indeed, most of the nation — observed that holiday on Monday, most residents of Rock Lake waited until Friday for the original May 30 date.

"We've never gone along with that Monday Memorial Day stuff," said a VFW spokesman.

Gen. John A. Logan proclaimed the first Memorial Day on May 30, 1869. But Congress, tinkering with dates to create Monday holidays, decided a century later that the holiday would be observed on the fourth Monday of May.

Business places in Rock Lake closed for the day, with few exceptions. One was Harry's Bar, which had to close Monday because of state law, even if it wasn't actually Memorial Day in Rock Lake.

"We could hardly be expected to close down two days for one holiday," said the proprietor.

Mugger goose nabbed

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — The crime spree is over for Lewiston's mugger goose.

The year-old wild gander had developed a reputation for attacking joggers and walkers.

But this week, he made the mistake of going after Howard Livengood.

Livengood, who is the Idaho Fish and Game Department's regional wildlife land manager, found a gunnysack, captured the brazen bird and took him to the department's headquarters.

An agreement was reached with the Washington Department of Game and the gander was shipped to the McNary Wildlife Refuge near Plymouth, Wash.

Fruit of the year looms

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The odor of watermelon wafted across the hearing room as a Louisiana legislative committee decided to have an official "fruit of the year," instead of designating the watermelon as the official state fruit.

Rep. Jamie Fair of Lucky didn't help his case for the watermelon bill Friday by serving Texas-grown melons to committee members. The Louisiana season doesn't begin until July 15, he explained, and he had to go to a local supermarket to purchase melons.

Fair wanted the watermelon to join the ranks of other official things such as the Catahoula Cur — the official state dog as of 1979 — and the Brown Pelican as state bird.

However, he didn't reckon on the feelings of other members of the House Agriculture Committee, who grow different fruits in their areas.

Under the amended bill, which now goes to the full House, the watermelon would get top billing in 1981, while the fig would be featured the following year, the peach in '83, the strawberry in '84, the orange in '85 and the tomato in '86.

New refugee center open for business

FORT MCCOY, Wis. (AP) — The first women and children arrived Saturday at Fort McCoy, the nation's newest major center for processing refugees from the Cuban boatlift.

Five children, 48 women and 134 men were on a flight that arrived at La Crosse Municipal Airport, a 20-mile bus ride away from Fort McCoy.

An earlier flight from Key West, Fla., came in Saturday with 168 male passengers and five more flights were scheduled to arrive later in the day.

The first three flights that arrived Thursday and Friday brought only men to the Army reserve training center.

The new arrivals would bring the camp's refugee population to more than 1,800, officials said Saturday.

The western Wisconsin infantry training camp had set aside a portion of its 60,000 acres and a third of its 121 barracks for a capacity of 15,000 refugees, but now has been told to brace for 25,000.

Officials said it was uncertain how many flights could be expected daily now that a similar center at Fort Indiantown Gap, Pa., has been filled to capacity, shifting the emphasis to Fort McCoy.

Followers believe Moon here to save

"God is now throwing Christianity away and is now establishing a new religion, and this new religion is the Unification Church." — Sun Myung Moon

By STEVE HERSHBERGER
Brian Parnou lives and works for a man he believes came to save mankind: the Rev. Sun Myung Moon.

Brian is one of a myriad of young people committed totally to the Unification Church, which was founded and is headed by Moon.

Brian is a tall, lanky, good-looking man, age 23. He shows his commitment to the church by working without wages, subsisting on the love of his fellow followers and the promise of eternal life.

"Basically, we are fundamentally Christian," Brian said while in Big Spring last week on a West Texas evangelical drive. "We believe in Jesus and the Bible and the Holy Spirit."

The Unification Church differs from the Protestant denominations and the Catholic Church, Brian said. The Moon-founded church is God's answer to saving mankind from the clutches of Satan and evil.

The distinction between the Unification church and Christianity is most pronounced in the concept of the Trinity.

"The original Trinity was God and Adam and Eve," Brian said. "After Adam and Eve fell, Jesus had to come."

Brian elaborated, "God is the father. His son was Adam. We believe the feminine aspect of God was the Holy Spirit. She possessed all the feminine characteristics of God."

Brian pointed out, "We call God the heavenly father, but he could also be called the heavenly mother."

Brian admitted this concept of the Trinity appears contradictory — that the offspring of the omnipotent and perfect God could do evil.

"We believe you should interpret the story in a more symbolic way," he explained. "We believe they were not mature yet. In one sense Adam was the son of God, but he had not reached maturity, the same with Eve."

The "Divine Principle" — the bible of the Unification Church — reads, "God is the union of male and female forces. The purpose of creation was to establish a kingdom of God on earth in which these forces would be mirrored in marriages of perfect men and women. Unfortunately, Eve was seduced by Satan and passed this impurity on to Adam and their progeny."

Brian added, "They fell before they became perfect. This is one of the key points of our understanding of our role as Christians."

He said, "The original thing was God wanted true man and a true woman. Jesus and the Holy Spirit came to take over their roles."

According to Moon, Jesus was to be the second Adam sent by God to marry a perfect mate and propagate a new race of perfect individuals.

Jesus failed as a messiah because he died before he could marry, Brian said. Jesus' death was meaningless, except to show the sinfulness of the Jews, he added.

Moon believes God prepared Korea to be the third Israel, Brian said. Moon is the third Adam.

Quoting Moon, Brian said, "In accordance with God's timetable, God has ordained or handpicked me."

The Unification Church was founded by Moon in 1945. At age 16, Moon said he was visited by Jesus on Easter morning 1936. Between the years 1936 and 1945, Moon had a series of dialogues with Jesus, Moses, Buddha and other prophets.

"He didn't want to start a church," Brian said. "He went to a group of leading Christians in Korea to tell them of his message." The Christian leaders rejected Moon, Brian added.

In the late 1950's, Moon discovered in reading the Book of Revelations that the different countries in the world were agents of either God or Satan. He deduced the battle of good and evil was a battle between the free world and the communist nations.

Moon also discovered during this time that the second coming of the Lord would be shortly after World War I — Moon was born in 1920 — and the place would be Korea.

Moon can claim today about 400,000 followers worldwide, a total of 30,000 in the United States.

Brian, who comes from San Jose, Calif., joined the Unification Church about three years ago. He was at the time preparing to enter La Mesa Community College in San Diego, Calif.

"I had been having questions about religious things," Brian said. "I met somebody in the church." The new acquaintance took Brian to the church's center in San Diego. There several members of the church discussed with Brian the teachings of Moon.

"The second time I went they told me they were having a retreat in the mountains," Brian said. "I was originally going to stay there for four days."

He added, "At the end of the four days, I had a lot of deciding to do, whether to stay on or go. After praying I felt God told me to stay."

He stayed a total of 21 days at the mountain retreat and went through a complete seminar on the Unification Church.

"We had teaching," Brian said. "Someone lectured on the blackboard about the different points on the Divine Principle."

The seminar included singing and calisthenics. The teachings of Moon consisted of the Korean's doctrine on the principle of creation, the deviation from the ideal and the restoration.

"It was very comprehensive teaching," he said. "It took seven full days to go through it."

At the end of the seminar, Brian joined the church. He said he could not live without it. He started working for the church in Los Angeles; and after two months in Southern California, the church dispatched him to Texas.

He has been working for two years in Austin, trying to minister to college students at the University of Texas. Brian said he felt the church and the teachings of Moon could provide solutions to college students beset with problems.

Periodically, Brian and several other church members travel from Austin on fundraising and evangelical missions to other communities.

"We usually go together in a van," he said. "We witness and fundraise."

He added, "We go house to house, asking people if they need any help." The mission participants also gather donations by selling people boxes of candy and plastic flowers. A good effort by a Moon follower, Brian said, can bring the church about $4,000 in one week.

The reception of the church by the communities in West Texas has been varied.

"It is good and bad," he said. "We understand a lot of people have heard bad things about our church."

He said, "I have met a lot of nice people. Just meeting one good person can make your day."

Brian said he does encounter his share of soreheads. He once got in a fight in Fort Worth trying to witness to a man.

"I try to open up and talk with them," he said. "Sometimes they try to debate with me Christian principle. I usually say 'God bless you' and leave."

Attacker not in script

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Sigourney Weaver was shocked during filming here when a knife-wielding attacker and his bloodied victim crashed into the make-believe setting of a murder scene.

The actress, who last appeared in "Alien," is playing the role of a television reporter in Peter Yates' new movie, "Eyewitness." She was conducting a staged interview in the lobby of the Metropolitan Life Building in Manhattan on Friday. A murder had just occurred, in the movie script, and the would-be reporter was interviewing the building janitor.

Just then, however, two men raced in, the attacker wielding a knife and his victim clutching his neck.

The attacker took one look at the lights and phony television crew and turned on his heels. The wounded victim was left on the set and was later taken to a hospital.

And, all the while, the movie cameras kept rolling.

"They were definitely not in the script," a shaken Miss Weaver said of the intruders.

Prince Philip and wildlife

NEW YORK (AP) — Prince Philip of Britain is coming to the nation's largest city to talk about wildlife conservation.

The prince will visit New York on Oct. 1 to deliver the Fairfield Osborn Memorial Lecture, the New York Zoological Society has announced. The lecture will be given free to an invited audience at Lincoln Center, said the society that operates the Bronx Zoo, the New York Aquarium and various other facilities and programs.

Scott fired as director

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Academy Award winning actor George C. Scott has been fired as director of a made-for-television movie about baseball great Leroy "Satchel" Paige.

Stanley Ruben, producer of the ABC Television network movie, "Don't Look Back," said Friday he was replacing Scott and assistant directors Charles Washburn and Ray Roman.

Rubin said Scott was fired because of differences of perspective about the picture. He would not elaborate or release the names of the new director and assistants. Scott was not immediately available for comment.

Few to cast votes in run-off elections

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A thin line of Texas Democratic and Republican voters will complete their nomination next Saturday of party candidates for the November general election.

The second party primaries, completely dominated by presidential politics in recent weeks, are expected to attract less than 750,000 of Texas' 5.3 million eligible voters, according to the secretary of state.

About 2 million voted in the May 3 primaries, which included a presidential preference poll by both parties.

The Democratic ballot will contain the only statewide runoff contests — two for the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals and one for the Texas Supreme Court. Less than 500,000 Democratic voters are expected.

Also on Democratic ballots in various parts of the state will be two runoff for district congressional seats and 14 places in the Texas House.

There are no statewide contests on the Republican ballot. The only runoffs are for a Republican nominee for Congress and two GOP nominees for the state Senate.

In 1978, the second Democratic primary attracted 759,000 voters, mostly because of a hot race for the Texas Railroad Commission. There also were four runoffs for Congress.

In the runoff for Place 1 of the Texas Supreme Court, to succeed retiring Associate Justice Zollie Steakley, Democrat John C. Phillips, 62, former chief of the Austin Court of Civil Appeals, faces Jim Wallace, 51, a former state senator and now on a Houston court of civil appeals. The winner faces Republican attorney Jim Brady, 59, Austin, in November.

The two Court of Criminal Appeals races are strictly Democratic, with no Republican opponents in November. For Place 2, incumbent Judge W. T. Phillips, 67, meets Austin attorney Michael McCormick, 34.

In Place 3, incumbent Judge Tom G. Davis, 58, is opposed by Austin attorney Edith Roberts, 47.

In one of the hottest Democratic congressional races, in District 14, Nueces Judge Robert Barnes, Corpus Christi, is in a runoff with William Patman, Ganado, former state senator. The winner meets Republican C.L. Cocklin, Corpus Christi, for the right to succeed Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Bloomington, who resigned.

In the other Democratic congressional race, District 22 in Houston, Robert Gammage, former congressman, from the district and a former state senator, meets Michael Andrews of Houston. The winner will meet Rep. Ron Paul, R-Texas, who defeated Gammage in 1978.

The sole Republican congressional race has John Biggar and Jack Bower, both of Austin, competing to face strongly entrenched Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, D-Texas, in November.

The two Republican races for state Senate are in the Houston and Galveston areas.

Richard Parker Jr. meets O.J. Striegler in Houston for the right to oppose incumbent Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston. James E. Brown and Ed Stuart, both of Galveston, are in a runoff to meet incumbent Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston.

The 14 Democratic runoff races for state representative, by districts, include: District 3, David Brown Henderson vs. Jim McWilliams, Hallsville.

6, Oscar Brookshire, Lufkin, vs. William Winston, Lufkin.

10, Lowell Cable, Sulphur Springs, vs. incumbent Rep. Smith Gilley, Greenville.

15, Jim Turner, Crockett, vs. incumbent Rep. Emmett Whitehead, Rusk.

18, Rodney Dwayne Tow, Woodlands, vs. Russell F. Wiggins, Conroe.

HENRY MENCHACA

Menchaca ends basic drills

Henry F. Menchaca, formerly of Big Spring, graduated May 1 from basic training in Fort Knox, Ky.

Menchaca arrived in Fort Lee, Va., May 2 to start school in advanced individual training as a supply specialist.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Menchaca of Big Spring.

Training phase is completed

FORT BENNING, Ga. — Pvt. John Fredrick Wilhelm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fritsch, 3603 Calvin, Big Spring, Texas, recently completed One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training. The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. This qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad. Wilhelm entered the Army in February 1980.

AMONG SALESWOMEN IN UPCOMING PROMOTION — The women pictured here are either shop owners, managers or salespersons of local stores that are involved in the "Newspaper Faces" promotion, which gets under way in the Herald Tuesday and continues for five weeks. Readers of the Herald can win Super Bucks by identifying people featured in advertisements appearing in Herald ads and redeem them at the business establishments running the ads. From the left, the women pictured here are Maurine Robison, Eloise Watkins, Thelma Young, Jackie Allen, Georgia Cauble, Laverne Rogers, Odell LaLonde and Celeste Dale. The women were attending a sales seminar conducted by Lou Capone Thursday night at the Big Spring Country Club when the above picture was taken.

TV news: 'Headline service'

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Calling his profession a "comic strip medium," veteran television correspondent Hughes Rudd told Texas broadcasters Saturday that he has "no idea why TV news has been so successful."

Speaking at the annual convention of Texas Associated Press Broadcasters, Rudd said television news can be nothing more than a "headline service."

"It's not as satisfactory as the old newsreel or newspapers," he said. "Any complicated or serious subject can't be explained on TV."

The native Texan, who joined ABC last August after a 20-year stint at CBS, expressed comic frustration at the intricacies of videotape editing.

"As a writer it causes problems. If you have a smart-alec remark and don't have a picture of it, they cut it out," he said.

Rudd, now primarily a feature writer, said the emphasis on video is vital for holding an audience.

"The television audience is not stupid... but they don't have a long attention span," he said.

But Rudd said television still performs "amazingly well" and added that intervention by network officials into news decisions are rare.

"We could certainly do better. We do amazingly well considering we're big business," he said. "Network officials are amazingly lenient with their news divisions."

Saying that many skilled writers would "bomb out" on television, Rudd used now-retired CBS correspondent Eric Sevareid's spoken essays to make a point.

"Sevareid, when people listened to him, made them mad. Mostly the people he made mad were CBS officials," Rudd said.

The gravel-voiced Rudd also took a poke at CBS reporter Dan Rather and his recent book "The Camera Never Blinks."

"I didn't read the book," he said. "I admit I went into a bookstore and looked up the references concerning me. He got every one of them wrong."

Fielding questions from the audience, Rudd was asked what effect such feature programs as "Real People" had on his work.

"It's a disaster for me," he said. "The idiots that get on those shows are the type of people I'd go out and interview."

Chief of protocol has ambassador's rank

Job more important than name implies

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Abelardo L. Valdez gets his way as the U.S. chief of protocol, friends won't be asking him much longer why he took a job where his main worry would be knowing how to hold a teacup.

"It's a lot more important than that," the dapper 37-year-old said about the post he has held since last fall. "I found that even in Washington people still have the impression that it's purely ceremonial, but it's not."

Valdez, the son of migrant workers from Floresville, Texas, has the rank of ambassador.

He said the supervision of 142 embassies in Washington and about 1,000 consulates around the country takes up about half of his time, including grappling with a number of "touchy situations" that he generally prefers not to discuss.

Another chunk of his time goes to preparing for state visits from foreign dignitaries and accompanying them during their stay here.

Valdez's job started with a jolt.

In his first week on duty, Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo arrived followed quickly by Pope John Paul II.

The protocol chief also is responsible for arrangements during President Carter's trips abroad, but the president's restricted travel schedule since Valdez took office has kept those duties slim.

Valdez was a lawyer with an international practice before joining the Agency for International Development as assistant administrator for Latin America in 1977.

In an interview in his spacious State Department office, Valdez said he is pursuing an extra part of the job his interests in promoting international trade, particularly with Latin America.

At AID and in his new position, Valdez was and is the highest ranking Hispanic-American at the State Department.

He sees the growing Hispanic-American community as playing the role of a dual interpreter, explaining the United States to Latin America and the other way around.

"I'm asked to speak on that theme constantly," Valdez said. "It's something that is beginning to make an impact."

He said that many members of the diplomatic corps in Washington, except for those from the larger countries, have surprisingly little access to U.S. government and business circles.

With the international scene changing rapidly, Valdez said it is time to start treating each country as being important.

As one way to increase contacts, he wants to start taking groups of ambassadors on tours of the United States.

There is no money in the budget, however, so Valdez will be looking to the private sector to underwrite expenses.

Valdez keeps a scrapbook bulging with photographs of his encounters with world leaders.

"I've learned a great deal about my own country in the process of accompanying these visitors," he said.

He sprinkles his conversation with references to the "concept that we call America" or "the American way," including memories of his own past as a farm worker among them.

But the most well documented event in the scrapbook is his homecoming celebration last December in Floresville, a small town about 40 miles south of San Antonio.

"It is a big responsibility to be a role model, and one I take very seriously. I feel I can't let these people down," he said.

Valdez, who did not speak English fluently until he was nine, worked as a migrant laborer between the ages of 6 and 14.

Scorned woman files suit

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An Austin, Texas, woman has filed a $29,000 suit against a married man she claims seduced, abandoned and humiliated her.

Donna Crump said in the lawsuit in federal court that the man, from Neenah, Wisc., led her to believe he would start a new business with her in Austin and divorce his wife.

Miss Crump said the man

"preyed upon (her) vulnerability," and that the end of the affair in April caused her "public humiliation, loss of reputation...and loss of social standing."

The affair began when the two met through a business phone call last October, and Miss Crump said the man visited her twice in Texas.

But the relationship soured, and the man took

Miss Crump to a cabin in Wisconsin in March and told her the liaison was over, she said.

The lawsuit seeks $25,000 in damages for "severe emotional distress," $2,000 in wages Miss Crump said she lost when she quit her job to start the new business, and $2,000 "for loss of social standing as a result of her seduction by the defendant."

SETS WORLD RECORD — Greta Waitz, 26-year-old school teacher from Oslo, Norway, is escorted away from finish line in New York's Central Park Saturday after she set a world record of 30 minutes, 59.5 seconds for a 6.2-mile mini-marathon run. She broke her old world mark of 31 minutes, 15.4 seconds set last year.

Teaff asks for recruiting changes

DALLAS (AP) — Coaches are more than willing to support stricter rules concerning recruiting and academics, Grant Teaff of Baylor University told the College Football Association on Saturday. He urged delegates from 58 of the nations' major football institutions to "put aside your fear that coaches will put in rules that will only benefit themselves. Fear," he said, "is a great deterrent to progress. Coaches can and should be trusted. Coaches would without question support more stringent rules on recruiting and academics if they are good for the student-athlete, good for the game of football, and sound financially.' Teaff called the pressure to win "unbelievable" and conceded that "the lack of credibility had grown immeasurably in the last few months" because of widespread recruiting and academic scandals. He called for changes in the rules that would reduce the time a coach can recruit away from campus and also cut the number of prospects who may visit a school in one year, which currently stands at 95. Teaff spoke during a general session of the CFA's fourth annual meeting which ends Sunday. The topic was "College Football in the 1980's."

O'Brien: "There are no excuses anymore"

Ex big-time politico thriving NBA czar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was exactly five years ago that Larry O'Brien—former Postmaster General, chairman of the National Democratic Committee and adviser to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson—left the political arena and became commissioner of the National Basketball Association. As he turns the corner into his sixth year, O'Brien sees a challenging time ahead for pro basketball. "Everything is in our hands now," he said during a break in the NBA's annual summer meetings. "If we don't move forward as I envision, we have nobody to blame but ourselves and I will take the primary and fundamental blame."

And he's positive the NBA will pass that test. "People who have been talking about the decline of pro basketball may be surprised," he said. "I think we have the potential to grow very strong in the 1980's." O'Brien was interviewed about the state of the NBA during a break in the meetings last week. The league's coaches and general managers ended their three-day sessions Friday. The scene now shifts to Coronado, Calif., near San Diego, for the Board of Governors meetings that begin Tuesday. When O'Brien signed on as NBA commissioner on June 1, 1975, the situation was far more chaotic than it is today. In fact, chaos was the rule of thumb for the league since it was formed in 1946. "Even in the glory years of the Boston Celtics, whom I followed as a fan while growing up in Ringfield, Mass., the fact is that professional basketball was always on an uneven keel. It was an off-and-on-again struggle all that time," said the 62-year-old O'Brien as he chain-smoked cigarettes in his penthouse suite at the Century Plaza Hotel. "And when I came aboard, people were saying the Oscar Robertson (antitrust) suit had been in existence five or six years, the opposing views were embedded in cement and there was no area for negotiation. Well, I couldn't accept that. I got these people from both sides and said, 'Let's work something out.'" And they did. The Robertson suit was settled to the satisfaction of both the owners and the Players Association, paving the way for the absorption of four teams from the about-to-expire American Basketball Association in 1976. The league enjoyed a banner year on the court in 1977, when Bill Walton led Portland to the NBA title. And behind the scenes, O'Brien worked to strengthen the league's weak franchises at the time—Houston, Atlanta,

Indiana and New Jersey. "I'm optimistic that this is the start of a new period of stability and strengthening for the NBA," said O'Brien. "We still have problems, such as the unchecked proliferation of our sport on television, particularly cable TV. And we have to do a better job of marketing our product. We want to improve the coordination of the marketing effort between the teams and the league office."

Cowboys win NCAA golf title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Oklahoma State's Cowboys captured their fourth NCAA Golf Championship on Saturday by firing even par for the final round on Ohio State's par-72, 7,104-yard Scarlet course. The Cowboys, who finished four strokes ahead of Brigham Young, had started the final round in a three-way tie with BYU and defending champion Ohio State at 885 for 54 holes. The host Buckeyes, however, slipped with a final round 299 to fall into a fourth place tie with Texas Christian, six strokes behind third place Oral Roberts. TCU's final round of two-under par 286 was the best team round of the tournament.

The two players then had to play numbers 17 and 18 twice in a sudden death playoff before Blake's birdie putt brought him his biggest title. This was Blake's first NCAA appearance and he had little national exposure until coming into this 83rd NCAA event. He never lost his cool, however, leading the tournament with Oklahoma State's Bob Tway with a 69 after the first round and following with rounds of 71, 71 and 72. Sutton, who had won five intercollegiate tournaments this season and 16 in his career, had rounds of 72, 71, 70 and 70 to force the playoff. Sutton made the cut in this year's Masters tournament with a pair of 73s and said that experience bolstered his confidence. Blake said, "I knew I was behind today at the 14th tee when I was two over par and Hal had already finished with his 70. I knew then I had to do something."

Lopez-Melton charging in Duo share LPGA lead

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — Janet Coles, who has captured only one title in four seasons on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, shot a 69 Saturday and tied veteran Sally Little at 214 for the lead after three rounds of the $125,000 tournament at the Wykagyl Country Club. Little bogeyed the par-5 18th hole, and finished the round with a one-under 71. Jo Anne Washam, who was involved in a three-way tie for second place before the start of play, had a par 72 on the 6,410-yard layout and was one stroke off the pace at 215.

The big round of the day, however, a 66, was posted by Nancy Lopez-Melton, the two-time defending champion of the 72-hole event that concludes Sunday. The 23-year old golfer shared fourth place at 216 with Beth Daniel, rookie-of-the-year in 1979, who shot a 70. JoAnne Carner, who led after two rounds at 142, fell back after a third round 76 for a 218 total. Lopez-Melton, who started the day eight strokes behind Carner, was one shot shy of the course record of 65, established four years ago by Pat Bradley, when she won the title.

Big Spring Herald SPORTS Thursday

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, MAY 29, 1980

LOPEZ ADVANCES — Nancy Lopez-Melton acknowledges applause of gallery Saturday afternoon after shooting a one under par on 18th hole in third round of the $125,000 LPGA tournament at Wykagyl Country Club in this Golden Lights Classic tournament. Lopez Melton had an aggregate 66, six under par for the day.

Mahaffey takes slim lead in Kemper Open

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — John Mahaffey coaxed in a long, double-breaking birdie putt on the final hole, finishing off a 3-under-par 67 that gave him the third round lead Saturday in the $400,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament. "I kind of surprised myself on that putt," Mahaffey said of the 25-footer which had two breaks to it. The dramatic putt, holed well after the national television cameras had ended their coverage for the day, completed a no-bogey round and gave him a 207 total. That's 3 under par for 54 holes over the 7,064 yards of hilly countryside that make up the famed Congressional Country Club course which is proving to be the most difficult layout of the touring pros encounter. Lee Trevino shot a 69 in the hot, humid, hazy weather and was second alone at 208 in the event that was transplanted this year from its long-time home in Charlotte, N.C. to the northern suburbs of the national capital. The group at 209, and the only others under par for three rounds, were Australian Open champion Jack Newton, Mike Morley and Dr. Gil Morgan. Newton, who challenged for the Masters title early this spring, shot a 69. Morgan, a non-practicing optometrist, matched par 70 and Morley fought his way to a 71. "I've improved one shot each day," he said. "I'd sure like to do it again tomorrow." Tom Watson, who has collected five titles and more than $346,000 in money-winnings this year, struggled to an erratic 73 that left him six shots back at 213.

Borg, Billie Jean take French Open wins

PARIS (AP) — Bjorn Borg and Billie Jean King tamed a swirling wind Saturday and moved forward in the French Open Tennis Championships on a day cut short by rain. Borg, defending champion and favored to win the men's title, demolished Pascal Portes of France 6-3, 6-0, 6-1 and reached the last 16. King, who got the worst of the conditions earlier, overcame freakish gusts and clouds of red dust to eliminate fellow American Leslie Allen 6-4, 3-6, 6-2. Corrado Barazzutti of Italy, Manuel Orantes of Spain and Peter McNamara of Australia were the other third-round winners. Guillermo Vilas of Argentina was well on the way to victory when the rain returned and ended play. Meanwhile, the Association of Tennis Professionals stepped up its disciplinary drive and slapped fines totaling $1,250 on John McEnroe for incidents in Friday's dramatic match in which he lost to Australia's Paul McNamee. The American was fined $250 for using obscenities to spectators, $500 for "verbal abuse" and $500 for failing to attend a press conference. Under ATP rules, all players must go to the interview room after their matches if the press asks for them. The ATP, which has four supervisors watching the tournament under the leadership of American Dick Roberson, had fined Jimmy Connors $1,000 for obscene remarks and gestures two days earlier. The rain delayed play for almost five hours. The grounds of Roland Garros Stadium, thick with jostling spectators most of this week, was comparatively empty. But a full house of 18,000 appeared around the center court when Portes, a local hero, tackled Borg. They had a brief spell of excitement when the young Frenchman broke Borg's service and pulled up from 1-4 to 3-4 in the first set. But the Swede took complete charge from then on. Borg said afterward it was a matter of experience. "In this wind the best way is to play safe and keep the ball in play," Borg said. "He went for the lines and often missed." King, 36, said she had played in worse conditions only twice previously—once in a Wightman Cup match at Chicago in 1961 and once in Tasmania in the late 1960s. King, seeded No. 2 behind defending champion Chris Evert Lloyd, commented, "Sometimes I hit the ball from the baseline and it never reached the net. Next time I would hit it higher and it would be long. "It was almost too bad to play, what with mouthfuls of dust and everything. But I just thought to myself: The poor referee has to get through the matches as best he can, so I went out and made the best of it."

British Labour Party leader blasts Thatcher on boycott

WEMBLEY, England (AP) — British Labour Party leader James Callaghan said Saturday that Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's attempt to boycott the Moscow Summer Olympics is akin to the Spanish Inquisition. "Whatever views you may hold about participation in the Olympics, the zeal with which her propaganda machine pursues those athletes who have decided to go is worthy of a 20th century Torquemada," Callaghan told a Labour Party conference here.

In the 15th century, Thomas Torquemada was the highest official in the Spanish inquisition.

Rose Magers named All-American

HOUSTON — Former Big Spring Steerette All-State volleyball performer Rose Magers is continuing her outstanding play, as she was one of two University of Houston Cougars to earn first-team All-American honors. Magers, a junior, and Pattie Richard of Indianapolis, Indiana, both earned first team All-American honors at the 40-team United States Volleyball Association tournament in Portland, Oregon, on May 15-18. The duo led the Cougars volleyball team to a third place finish in the biggest amateur tournament in the nation — Houston, which finished fifth last year, compiled an 8-3 mark in the prestigious Portland affair. Magers and Richard were two of the first team All-American honorees.

Red Raiders highlight All-SWC team

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Tech's surprising Red Raiders, who made their first Southwest Conference post-season baseball tournament, landed three players on The Associated Press all-league team and Coach Kal Segrist. Segrist, who had the original idea for the post-season tournament, was picked as Coach of the Year by his fellow mentors. Red Raiders on the first team included shortstop Brooks Wallace, outfielder Bobby Kohler, and utility infielder Jimmy Zachry. Arkansas' power hitter outfielder Kevin McReynolds, who hit 430 with 10 home runs during the SWC season, was named Player of the Year.

Pitcher of the Year was a tie between Arkansas' Steve Krueger and Texas' Keith Cheel. Texas A&M's Robert Slavens, who was 7-0 in league games, was the Newcomer of the Year. Other players on the All-SWC team included Houston first baseman Mike Breslin, who hit 364 second basemen Dean David of Texas, 348, third baseman Fritz Connally, Baylor, 314, Wallace of Tech, 333, catcher Gene de los Santos, Baylor, 416, Zachry, 348, designated hitter Ricky Nixon, Texas, 392, and outfielders McReynolds, Mike Zatopek, Texas, 377, and Kohler, 374.

The utility outfielder was Texas A&M's Simon Glenn, 308. The pitchers were Krueger, Cheel and Slavens.

Big Spring horses excel in nation's $$ barrel racing

FORT SMITH, ARKANSAS — Two Big Spring barrel racing horses were among the top 25 finishers in the 1980 Old Fort Days Miller Beer Barrel Racing Futurity here Saturday, May 24.

The affair is the world's richest futurity barrel race, with a total of 272 horses entered in the prestigious event.

The Big Spring horses winning honors were Dixie Doodle Dandy, a registered three-year-old quarter horse gelding raised and owned by Roscoe Gilliam, and Miss Dixie Cheval, raised by Charlie Clark of Big Spring, and now owned by Dawn Brown.

Dixie Doodle Dandy posted the 13th fastest time in the trials to make the finals out of the 272 horse field of three and four-year old barrel horses in the United States. Originally, there were 442 entries from the US and Canada.

Dixie Doodle Dandy's trial time of 18.202 qualified for the first consolation group, which consists of the 11th through 20th finishers in the time trial. The horse, trained and ridden by Byron Pope of Sand Springs, Texas, finished 20th in the final standings, with a purse distribution of $1,337.86.

Gilliam, a rancher who raises registered quarter horses in Northern Glasscock County near the Lee's Stone Community, praised the riding performance of Pope, a Steer roping header who attended Howard College the past year.

"This was Byron's first experience at training and riding barrel horses, but with his accomplishments with Dixie Doodle Dandy I would highly recommend him to anyone wanting a horse broke and trained," said Gilliam.

The second winner from Big Spring, Miss Dixie Cheval, posted the 24th fastest time in the trials with a mark of 18.311 seconds. This qualified her for the second consolation group in the prestigious barrel racing event.

In the finals, she ended in the 25th place, with a purse distribution of $1,003.40.

Miss Dixie Cheval, a one-half sister to Dixie Doodle Dandy, was ridden by Mrs. Brown, and trained by her husband, Ricky Brown, who trains numerous horses in the Big Spring area.

Dixie Doodle Dandy proved to be a lucrative animal in the barrel racing horse sale that was held in conjunction with the futurity. He topped the sale as the highest selling barrel racing horse, with the purchaser being yet another Big Spring, Texas, barrel racing enthusiast, Patricia Wright Cherry.

The barrel racing futurity had numerous Texas horses competing in the time trials, as a Stephenville horse, Beata Redstage, had the fastest time. Third in the time trials was Heapa Battle, owned by Kent and Sharon Youngblood of Lamesa.

Local Sportstacular offers worthy cause

The biggest single-day fund raising event in history — the ERA Real Estate-Bob Griese Sportstacular — in which Big Spring youngsters participate in athletic events and accumulate points worth pledges to the Muscular Dystrophy Association, will take place at Blankenship Field on Saturday, June 14. It is being sponsored by ERA Reeder Realtor, Broker-Owner Lila Estes has announced.

More than $1 million is expected to be raised nationwide in this effort, with as many as 500,000 youngsters testing their athletic skills and their ability to raise contributions for children and adults around the country afflicted with this dreaded disease. The money raised will be part of ERA Real Estate's total contribution to MDA. In three years, ERA Real Estate has contributed over $2.3 million for the "Fight Against Muscular Dystrophy," Estes said.

"Our Sportstacular provides an exciting outlet for our city's youth to participate in a wholesome, worthwhile activity. I hope all parents will encourage their children to participate," Estes said.

The Sportstacular has the endorsement of the President's Council on Physical Fitness. Estes said more than 35,000 ERA Real Estate Brokers and sales associates will organize the event nationwide. Youngsters register and pick up pledge cards from ERA Real Estate offices, have sponsors sign them before the competition begins, then return to the sponsors with a certified pledge sheet showing how many points they totaled and how much money they owe.

Youngsters will compete with others in their age bracket ranging from 4 years to 14 years old. The ten events include the following competitions: 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, crab race, sack race, long jump, Frisbee throw, soccer kick, softball throw, sit-ups, and reverse running.

Estes stressed that prizes and awards will be given to participants finishing with highest athletic scores and to those who raise the most money for MDA.

Any youngster wishing to enter should drop by the ERA Reeder Realtors office. It is located at 506 East Fourth.

Country Club Partnership needs some local flavor

The Big Spring Partnership Tournament will be held June 14-15, and Club Pro C.G. Griffin has announced that some very lucrative prizes will be awarded to the winning teams in both the scratch and handicap divisions.

Winners of each flight will receive $700 in merchandise per team, with the total number of places paid in each flight determined by the number of entries.

Griffin indicated that the cutoff date for entering the annual affair is June 12, or the first 100 paid teams, whichever comes first. As of Friday, 42 teams have entered, with most of them being from out of town.

The entry fee is $30 per man. The tourney consists of 36-holes of medal play. As an added bonus, the medalist teams after the first day of competition will be paid $50 in merchandise per team.

The handicappers will begin at nine o'clock each morning, with the scratch golfers slated to begin at two in the afternoon.

Included in the entry fee is a poolside barbecue with music for the golfers and their wives.

Anyone wishing to enter should drop by the pro shop at the Country Club, or call Griffin at 267-5354.

Texans dominate NAIA golf

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — A pair of Texas golfers — Tom Albright of Sam Houston State and Danny Mijovic of Texas Wesleyan — shared individual honors with a final score of 284 as the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics golf championship concluded Friday.

Albright's finish enabled Sam Houston to win the team championship for the third consecutive year. Sam Houston eclipsed 36 competing colleges with a team total of 1,172, a whopping 22 strokes under Texas Wesleyan and Indiana, Pa., which tied for second at 1,194.

EYEING THE CAKE — Earl Campbell, the Houston Oilers' star fullback eyes the wedding cake as he and his bride Michelle Reuna Smith prepare to cut another slice. Campbell and Michelle, both natives of Tyler, Texas, were married in their home town Friday night.

At prospect of coaching Dallas franchise

Larry Brown scared

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — UCLA basketball coach Larry Brown says he's "just scared to death" about the Dallas Mavericks' interest in him as their first coach and added he's giving serious consideration to it.

Brown, here as an assistant coach with the Olympic training camp, went to Dallas recently when Mavericks vice president Norm Sonju asked him to come for an interview.

"I wasn't that excited about it when I went down there. In the back of my mind, I knew what an unbelievable experience I had at UCLA in a positive way," Brown said.

"But I was impressed with their (Dallas) enthusiasm. They showed me a lot of things I could get excited about," he told the Fort Worth (Texas) Star-Telegram in a telephone interview.

Brown is reportedly at the top of Sonju's list to head his expansion team.

"I rank pro coaches in five categories," Sonju said last week.

"There are three coaches in category one, and I would rank Larry Brown right there. Don Carter and Doug Adkins (Mavericks) and other top executive) also like him. There would be no guesswork with him."

Kuhn gives OK to refugees

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Professional baseball clubs finally have the green light from Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to sign players from among the thousands of refugees recently arrived from Cuba.

But it's not known yet how many Cubans will be sought by the big leagues. Kuhn said Friday night as he watched the opening round of the College World Series.

"I really have no idea how many quality players there might be among (the refugees)," Kuhn said. "I haven't had any feedback on the clubs to help me make any estimate at all."

Only a few hours earlier, Kuhn ended the hiatus he imposed on pro clubs in their quest for talent among the refugees.

He said signing the Cubans can begin at noon Tuesday, the same day as the major league summer baseball draft.

His action ends a controversy which erupted earlier this month when Kuhn directed major league clubs to leave the Cuban refugees alone.

But when former U.S. Olympic hockey coach Herb Brooks turned him down Friday, only two remained. Rockies officials say they have since expanded their list of possibilities, but give only one by name.

That one is Ron Ullyot of the Central Hockey League.

Rockies seek new coach

DENVER (AP) — Don Cherry says he'll be back with the Colorado Rockies in about a year. Meanwhile, the hockey team needs a new coach.

Rockies President Armand Pohan, who fired Cherry two weeks ago, originally had three candidates to become the Rockies fifth coach in five years.

But when former U.S. Olympic hockey coach Herb Brooks turned him down Friday, only two remained. Rockies officials say they have since expanded their list of possibilities, but give only one by name.

That one is Ron Ullyot of the Central Hockey League.

get back to me, and I trust him to fulfill that commitment." Brown told the Star-Telegram.

Asked if he felt he had a commitment to the players he recruited for UCLA, Brown replied:

"I recruited them to play at UCLA, not to play for Larry Brown. If they (Mavericks) made some fantastic offer to me, I can't say that I would turn it down. That wouldn't be fair to my family. So I can't say unequivocally that I would not be interested."

He left the NBA to go to UCLA, he said, because of a "difficult experience" with the Denver management and because he enjoys the teaching opportunities that are possible in college ball.

"Denver wasn't good for me. There were a lot of things in the pro game that I expected that were not available. It wasn't total disrespect for the pro game. It was just a bad experience at Denver," Brown said.

"I'm just scared to death about this. I wish I never had alternatives."

Ullyot coached the Rockies' farm club in Fort Worth, Texas, to a third-place finish and the playoff finals this year.

The Rockies are looking for a coach who can get along with the players, said Miron. Experience is not as important a criterion as personality, he said.

Cherry said Friday he wants his job back, and claimed that Colorado fans miss him. Although Pohan won't rehire him, Cherry said he expects the Rockies will be sold next year and the new owner will be eager to hire him.

Rockies General Manager Ray Miron says a new coach will be named within two or three weeks.

Three-point field goal apparently will stay

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The three-point goal, a popular success in its trial run during the 1979-80 National Basketball Association season, is on the verge of becoming a permanent feature of the pro game.

The league's Competition and Rules Committee, acting on the urging of NBA coaches and general managers, voted to recommend to the Board of Governors that the three-point goal rule — awarding three points for shots made beyond an arc that ranges from 22 feet to 23 feet, 6 inches from the basket — be kept on a permanent basis.

The move came Friday at the final session of the annual summer meetings of NBA coaches and general managers. The final decision will be up to the Board of Governors, one representative (usually an owner) of each of the 23 NBA franchises, which begins its summer meetings Tuesday in Coronado, Calif.

In another major action, the Competition and Rules Committee chose to table a motion to return to the use of three referees per game, which had been tried during the 1978-79 season but dropped last summer.

"The coaches, general managers and the Competition and Rules Committee all believe in the concept of three officials, but the problem is we're not quite ready," said committee chairman Jerry Colangelo, general manager of the Phoenix Suns.

"We need to develop an overall program for the recruitment and development of officials. We don't want to put the cart before the horse."

As part of this effort, the recommendation was made for increasing the NBA's recruitment and development of officials. This would be in conjunction with "renewing and expanding the NBA's contract with the Continental Basketball Association," said Colangelo, with that minor league being used as a developmental place for officials as well as players and a testing ground for rules changes and new equipment.

"We want to be able to look people in the eye and say, 'We're ready for three officials. We've got the people who can get the job done,'" said Joe Axelson, the NBA's director of operations.

Other recommendations included going to 12 man rosters next season from the present limit of 11, making the first round of the playoffs best of five games instead of best of three.

Campbell married in Tyler

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Houston Oilers football star Earl Campbell, wearing a white tuxedo and beige cowboy boots, married his high school sweetheart Friday night in Tyler's Harvey Hall.

Campbell, 25, wed Reuchalle Reuna Smith of Tyler, whom he met in the ninth grade at Moore Junior High.

Among the 600 guests were University of Texas athletic director Darrell Royal, who coached Campbell during his college career; New England Patriot's defensive back Raymond Clayborn; Oilers teammates Leon Gray and Conway Homan; and Johnny "Lam" Jones and Graylan Wyatt, who played ball with Campbell at Tyler.

Oilers sign Bradshaw's brother

HOUSTON (AP) — Quarterback Craig Bradshaw, the younger brother of Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw, signed a contract Friday with the Houston Oilers, team officials announced.

Bradshaw was obtained in the seventh round on a pick acquired from Oakland in the Jack Tatum for Kenny King trade.

Bradshaw completed 52 of 112 passes for 1,021 yards while playing behind Erick Hipple last season at Utah State. Hipple was drafted by the Detroit Lions.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed. He is the fifth Oiler draft choice to sign a contract this spring. The Oilers also announced the signing of eight free agents. The signings bring to 54 — 44 free agents and 10 draft choices — the number of rookies scheduled to report to the opening of training camp in July.

Fritsch's wife drops divorce

DALLAS (AP) — Attorneys for Toni and Helga Fritsch gave no reason why Mrs. Fritsch dropped a divorce suit she filed the day after Fritsch was involved in a fatal car accident.

"I moved to dismiss the suit because my client asked me to," Clifford Weinstein, Mrs. Fritsch's lawyer, said Friday. He declined to say more.

Mrs. Fritsch initiated divorce proceedings on May 28, asking custody of the couple's two children — Hans Markus, 14, and Melissa Alexandria, 8 — and $2,000 monthly child support and temporary support payments.

On May 27, Fritsch's Volkswagen went out of control on a north Dallas freeway, jumped the median and smashed into an oncoming car. Neida Burks, who was the lone passenger in the Volkswagen, was killed.

The divorce petition alleged that on that day, the Fritschs ceased to live together as man and wife.

Have you kept your old John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractor safe?

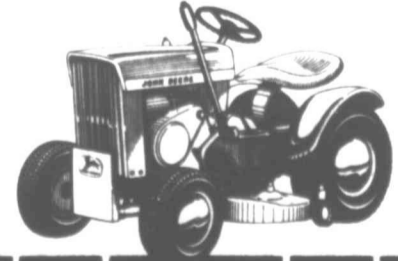

John Deere durability does result in satisfied customers. But long life also calls for attention to maintenance. And maintaining the safety equipment on your tractor can be especially important.

For example, the original boot (or cover) for the battery's positive post on Model 60, 70, 100, 110, 112, 120 or 140 Tractors manufactured from 1963 through 1974 may have suffered from age or may have been lost or damaged. And if that positive battery post is not properly covered, there is danger of a spark causing a fire and bodily injury if you accidentally touch a metal gas can to the positive battery post when refueling the tractor. A more serious fire can result if you are not using a safety-approved gas can.

If you own one of the above models, John Deere wants you to make absolutely certain that your tractor has the battery's positive post properly isolated. To make it easy—and safer—for you, we will send you a new cover, free. Just fill out the coupon provided below and mail it to the address shown. It comes complete with installation instructions and is not difficult to install. But if you prefer, after you have received your kit, make a date with your John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractor dealer and he'll install it for a small service charge.

Remember, safety and maintenance go hand in hand. The operator's manual can help you. Read it again. Keep your tractor as safe as it was meant to be.

It could be the most important thing you do today.

THE $500 DROP — New York Yankees starting pitcher Luis Tiant, right, drops the baseball from his glove as he walks off the mound at New York's Yankee Stadium Friday night. Tiant, upset with being replaced in the eighth inning against the Toronto Blue Jays, failed to hand the ball to manager Dick Howser, behind Tiant, dropped it on the ground, and was fined $500 for "showin'-up" Howser on the mound. Later he threw his glove 16 rows into the stands.

ABC's rivals love soccer telecasts

Now that the threat of a baseball strike has been postponed for one year, ABC's prime time baseball can begin this Monday night without interruption and its Sunday soccer matches can continue in obscurity.

It's true that all sides — the players, owners and television — would have been hurt by a baseball strike. The players wouldn't have drawn their salaries, the owners wouldn't have drawn their gate, concession and TV revenues and television itself wouldn't have drawn flies with its substitute baseball programming.

But as far as we can figure out, the only possible beneficiary from a baseball strike would have been the North American Soccer League's national telecasts. The ABC soccer shows are well-produced and well-promoted, and they have one of ABC's top broadcasters, Jim McKay, doing the play-by-play. It's just that hardly anybody's watching.

Soccer might never be a hot TV ticket in the United States, but its chances of getting a toehold are near nil when it must compete each Sunday with local baseball. Who's going to watch Vancouver-Tampa Bay even if they are last year's Soccer Bowl finalists — in Chicago when the Cubs are on or in New York when the Yankees are playing?

According to the ratings, only the die-hard soccer fan. ABC's premier 1980 soccer telecast May 18 drew a national rating of 2.1, which means a little more than 2 percent of America's TV homes were watching, and a 7 percent share of the sets that were on.

In New York, soccer had 4 percent of the viewing audience, while the Yankees and Mets totaled 40 percent. In Chicago, soccer had 6 percent to the 50 percent watching the Cubs or the White Sox.

A baseball strike would seem to be the only way to get viewers to give televised soccer a chance.

"We love it whenever ABC does soccer," says an executive at NBC Sports. "We just wish the soccer season went all year."

Moscow boycott can't strip past golden memories

The moments are frozen in their memories, magic moments when they were the very best in the world at what they did best.

No Olympic boycott can ever take those moments away from swimmer John Naber and sprinter Wilma Rudolph.

In 1976 at Montreal, Naber captured four gold medals and a silver. Sixteen years before, in Rome, Rudolph became the first American woman to take home three golds. For both of them, and for the rest of us as well, they were moments to remember.

"I think the race I remember best, the one I'm fondest of, was the 100-meter backstroke," Naber said. "It is the race that sticks in my mind."

You would think that in the Olympic pool, with water splashing around you, adrenalin would take over and a swimmer would rely on his instincts, not terribly aware of the kind of show he was putting on in any given race. But that's just not true. At least it wasn't for Naber.

"Swimmers have something we call 'the catch,'" he said. "The catch involves a swimmer's stroke and how he moves through the water. 'Well, in that race, I had perfect catch,'" Naber continued. "Every stroke was perfect. I knew it was going very well."

So did the other swimmers. After the race, Roland Matthes of East Germany, the defending champion who had to settle for a bronze at Montreal, paid tribute to Naber. "If I could have, I'd have stopped halfway and applauded," he said. "It was the ultimate compliment from one athlete to another."

Naber later struck Olympic gold again in the 200-meter backstroke and a pair of relay races.

Rudolph's magic moments came in 1960 when she ran right through the women's track competition at Rome, winning the 100 and 200-meter dashes and anchoring the USA's gold medal 400-meter relay team. Her memories of the individual races are mostly funny, though.

"I was scared," she said, "a nervous wreck."

Why? "Well, you know the commands before a race... 'On your mark. Get set... Go!' Well, I couldn't remember the commands in Italian."

But somehow Rudolph overcame the handicap to win her golds.

The medals are nice, of course, solid evidence that they were the very best. And yet the other things these Olympians remember overlap the races they won. There is more to competing in the Games than merely winning, you see. There are the memories, magic moments that Naber and Rudolph can hang on to forever. Memories America's 1980 Olympians won't have.

Naber and Rudolph are touring the country as part of an Olympic project sponsored by Minute Maid, the Coca Cola Company's food division.

ERA introduces the first risk-free way to buy or sell your home.

When you buy a new house before you sell your old one all of them can happen.

Most of them are bad. You might end up with double mortgage payments. You might lose a lot of money when you have to sell at a distressed price.

You might even be forced to move and be separated from your family.

The problem is there's never been any other way to do it. Until now.

Until ERA introduced the unique new Sellers Security Plan.

Now you can use your home's equity before you sell. And you can avoid double house payments. And you can be sure your house will sell at a price you can live with.

Now there's the Sellers Security Plan. The first risk-free way to buy before you sell. For more details, contact your local ERA Real Estate Specialist. We're in the Yellow Pages under "real estate".

INDUSTRIAL MAINTENANCE MECHANICS AND ELECTRICIANS

An Opportunity to Train For a Better Job

Midland College will conduct a special training program for employment opportunities as an Industrial Maintenance Mechanic or an Electrician with Michelin, America's fastest growing tire company. The classes are free through the Texas Industrial Start-up Training Program and may qualify the trainee for employment at the new Michelin plant in Midland. Trainees will receive no monetary compensation for attending the pre-employment training. Classes will be held during evening hours beginning July 28. Instruction will include: Blueprint Reading, Technology, Mathematics, and Shop Work. Previous experience in plant maintenance is desired, but no previous experience or training is required.

The rubber mixing plant Michelin plans for Midland will employ approximately 700 and is the first of 3 plants planned for Texas. Production is scheduled to begin in the fall of 1982. The Plant will be constructed on a site located west of Holiday Hill Road between Interstate 20 and U.S. Highway 80.

Completion of the pre-employment training program may qualify you for employment with Michelin now. Those accepted will receive additional company technical training. In addition to excellent pay and outstanding benefits, Michelin offers defined career progression and continuing specialized technical training programs. High winds, hail caused estimated $1 million in damages in Oklahoma during the Thursday night storm, said Bill Brock, a Jackson County Civil Defense spokesman.

ALTUS, Okla. (AP) — Residents continued cleanup efforts Saturday after high straight winds up to 85 mph and hail caused an estimated $1 million damage in this storm-stricken southwestern Oklahoma town.

"There weren't any businesses or houses destroyed," he said.

By early Friday evening, electrical power had been restored to all but about one fifth of the town. Brock said the remaining outages were in predominantly industrial areas. He said electricity would probably be restored there sometime Saturday.

Local residents planned to spend the weekend hauling off downed tree limbs and shards of glass from windows shattered by straight winds clocked as fast as 80 mph to 85 mph Thursday night.

Farmers in the area are evaluating wheat and cotton crops to determine how much damage was done by the hail, wind, and three heavy rainfalls in the past week.

Local residents planned to spend the weekend hauling off downed tree limbs and shards of glass from windows shattered by straight winds clocked as fast as 80 mph to 85 mph Thursday night.

He said it will take longer to assess what damage because farmers are waiting to see how much of their crop, which was beaten flat by heavy rains and wind, will stand up again for harvest.

"Undoubtedly, we do have heavy crop damage already. The riper it gets the more difficult it is to harvest," he said.

Police Chief Hoyt Benedict said he still is amazed there weren't serious injuries during the storm.

"The Civil Defense notified people just at the right time and got them moving for cover," he said. "We were real lucky. Hardly anyone was out while all that stuff was flying around."

Some highways leading into Altus and several city streets were closed for Benedict said there weren't any reports of looting or burglaries.

As the storm passed through about 8:15 p.m. Thursday, it ripped down more than 50 miles of power lines, tore canopies from service stations and drive-in restaurants and sucked or blew glass out of numerous businesses.

Some highways leading into Altus and several city streets were closed for

Most of the town's approximately 27,000 residents spent the night in darkness. Although Public Service Co.-spokesmen had estimated it would be 11 a.m. Friday before power would be restored, many areas had electricity again by about 4 a.m.

A moment to treasure, a look to remember

"Will you marry me?" "Shall we do it?" "Darling, say 'yes'."

Whether the inevitable question is asked on bended knee, while strolling through a shopping mall, or during a candlelight dinner for two, the months, days and hours until the moment the bride and groom say "I do" will be filled with heady problems only two people in love can possibly survive.

Questions and decisions concerning when, where, who to invite, extravagant or simple or in-between, flowers, colors, music, food, attendants — all the details contributing to creating an auspicious start for a new life together must be dealt with by concerned couples planning their wedding day.

"What is most important is establishing the mood which should prevail through the ceremony and festivities," said Robert C. Rudofker, president of After Six Formals, at a recent showing of his company's Spring-Summer men's wear collection.

Rudofker commented "So many couples today share an intimacy that was not discussed a decade ago. Exchanging their vows before family and peers becomes the final step in formalizing their relationships.

"Recognizing this," Rudofker continued, "they want all the trappings to make this day more meaningful. We see a developing trend for weddings that are formal in every aspect, including a request to guests to opt for 'black tie' dress. When this happens, the stage is set for a gala event — a truly memorable occasion for the happiest couple and their guests."

Spring and summer 1980 fashions for the bride provide a choice of gowns ranging from simple elegance to the most formal flowing creations. Bridal fashion experts agree that figures are "in" and that silhouettes are varied.

The Scarlett O'Hara ball gown with nipped-in waist will be the choice of the very romantic bride. Fabrics will run the gamut from organza and chiffon to opulent lace, sometime re-embroidered with floral motifs. The bride, glamorous and glowing, sets the tone of the entire wedding party.

For her attendants and the mothers in the wedding party the favorite choices are those designs which can do double duty — going from the traditional ceremony to a disco-type reception. Pale pastel colors are favorites, and look for small floral prints in flowing, drapable jersey, many with small capes or fling scarves.

With opulence, elegance and Victorian romanticism prevailing for the bride and her maids, After Six reasons that the groom and his men should contrast handsomely in formal wear designs that are stripped of fashion trickery. Gone are the big floppy bows. Gone are the gobs of satin and velvet. Gone are the bright colors.

The spring and summer 1980 groom is the epitome of elegance in the Wellington, a notch lapel tuxedo with discrete satin trim framing the lapel and flap pockets. He wears a weskit to match, with softly pleated wing collar shirt and band bow to match the color of his formal.

After Six has introduced several new shades — creamy Butternut, Wedding White, soft Julep Green, Blue Moon, Summer Beige and Spice are available color choices permitting total coordination of the groom and his men with the bride and her maids.

The bride-to-be, reviewing style choices with him at his favorite formal wear specialist, may decide on the Wedding White Sherwood tailcoat, worn with matching trousers, pleated groom's sash and wing collar shirt.

For the other men in his wedding party, the compatible Essex, also trimmed in white satin, offers an exciting way to create total harmony for the wedding party.

For a more classic look, the groom may choose to wear After Six's Elegant Grey Ascot, worn with a bow tie for evening functions or a striped ascot for a ceremony at high noon.

Lucky friends and relatives invited to a "black tie" wedding will more than likely choose to wear their most flattering gowns and black tuxedos, either single or double breasted.

During the dog days of Summer, the classic white dinner jacket teamed with black formal trousers is still another choice for the well-dressed male guest.

The perfect wedding is every bride's dream. Sharing and planning every step along with way with her groom is the one sure way to achieve that cherished degree of perfection.

For young planners wanting every detail of their special wedding to be perfect in itself, the summer fashion picture looks like it can more than fulfill the challenge of the changing scene and still maintain the tradition of "something old and something new."

The wedding scene changes with the times. There has been no change in the fact that when two young people determine to be united, they want to celebrate it with their peers. The manner in which this celebration of union is performed is where the change lies. More and more frequently they're through ceremonies involving pomp and circumstance, and the groom is playing a more active role in the pre-nuptial planning.

The various facets of wedding celebration has created a huge industry — a multi-million dollar business with many, many people involved in the planning and culmination of memorable, magnificent weddings.

These florists, jewelers, travel agencies, caterers, fashion designers, etc. have at their disposal years of knowledge to offer. They have grown in importance as those city hall vows have almost disappeared and more and more elegant couples middle-aisle-it in the presence of proud families and friends.

Where once the bride and her mother fussed, fretted, and struggled, plans now often involve the groom and it's not unusual for both families to participate in plans which are made months ahead.

The fashion houses especially are out to offer as much assistance as possible in this planning. Gowns and tuxedos are based on older, rich traditions but are contemporary in appeal and application in the new wedding scene. For everyone involved, planning a spring or summer wedding is a heartwarming way to pass winter months.

Fashion press attending a recent preview of After Six Formals were told "It only stands to reason that the groom should be asked to take a more active part in the complete coordination of wedding rites. He can be called on to share opinions and help with crucial decisions. Participation of both families is to be sought as it can result in splendid, memorable celebrations."

It was also pointed out that, "Focused self-expression for the young couple is polished with their families' help. It is stimulating to have the wide range of beautiful bridal and formal fashions now being previewed. Fine companies, like solid families, have a background of years of successes, built on traditions, from which to draw."

"While brides can 'ooh' and 'aah' over the new resurgence of cathedral trains and natural waistlines, and choose from new accessories like face framing, garden hats, or lovely lace umbrellas, their grooms have an equally exciting choice to make."

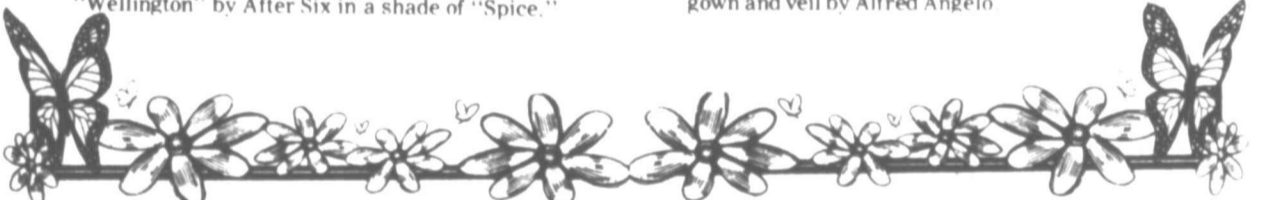

This season, After Six has introduced three varied but individual distinctive looks for the groom and men of the wedding party. These styles have sophistication and lend an air of personal fashion expression while coordinating beautifully with an overall spring color scheme.

As one fashion observer astutely noted, "In this new day and age, no one wants their wedding to be like any other in the world."

A TREASURED MOMENT — It is this wedding moment a couple will treasure and relive time and time again. The groom wears the "Wellington" by After Six in a shade of "Spice."

an earth tone that accents pale bridesmaids' prints or tones of peach, apricot or pale green. Imported lace is imaginatively applied to her gown and veil by Alfred Angelo.

Section C People, Places & Things

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, JUNE 1, 1980

FANCY FASHION — The groom, wanting to stand apart from other men attendants, wears the classic "Sherwood" tailcoat and wedding sash. Both outfits by After Six. The bride expresses her fashion fancy wearing Alfred Angelo's caped and ruffled gown with extravagant train.

A PERFECT WEDDING — Caring and sharing, they've planned every detail of the first day of their life together...from the guest list, to the ceremony, the reception and what they would both wear. Her gown by Alfred Angelo reflects her feeling for traditional elegance. His innate sense of good taste is apparent in his choice of the "Wellington" by After Six in a shade of Butternut.

LOVELY AND LYRICAL — This bride's gown by Alfred Angelo recalls the quiet elegance of the Victorian era when picture hat, twirling parasol and lace kerchief were a women's cunning accessories. Her debonair groom selects the "Essex" by After Six, the all-white-up-to-the-minute tuxedo with matching satin piping and lapelled weskit. His wing collar shirt provides a flight of fashion fantasy so perfect for the occasion.

Panelists give overview

Needs of elderly determined

By MICKIE DICKSON
Big Spring's first Community Forum on aging was held at the Senior Citizens' Center, Industrial Park May 28 at 11 a.m.

The purpose of the Forum was to provide input from the elderly to the White House Conference on Aging to be held in Washington in June.

Sponsors were Carolyn Ford, project director for the Permian Basin Rural Nutrition Program for the Elderly; Sherry Walker, site manager, nutrition program; Joy Decker, director, RSVP and Chris Freeman, director, Howard County Council on Aging.

The panel included Patrick G. Lawrence, Ph.D., staff psychologist, Big Spring State Hospital; Valynia Kirby, advocate for problems of aged, blind and disabled for Howard County Department of Human Resources; Johnnie Lou Avery, past president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce; Father Gulley of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church and Founder of the Senior Citizens' Church Group; Betty Condray, nurse and administrator of surgical service, Big Spring State Hospital and Charles Weeg, Administrator of Hall-Bennett Hospital.

Carolyn Ford introduced each panel member to approximately 150 Senior Citizens from Big Spring and surrounding towns. Each speaker stated their involvement with Senior Citizens.

Dr. Patrick Lawrence sees older people from nursing homes — some have medication problems and are treated and sometimes are able to return to their private homes. The State Hospital strives to return them to a normal life.

Valynia Kirby works as an advisor to anyone 18 years of age and older who needs help. She furnishes "in home service" to aged, blind, disabled, abused and neglected people. Her project tries to prevent premature institutionalization. Foster homes are recommended for some.

Johnnie Lou Avery thanked all the Senior Citizens who had cheerfully helped her during her term of office with the Chamber of Commerce. She suggested that Big Spring form a SCORE Chapter and also become active with the Foster Grandparent Program.

Father Gulley feels that we should show Senior Citizens our appreciation for what they do for us for sharing their knowledge and understanding and helping young people face the future.

Betty Condray believes in preventing illness with a sensible diet, enough exercise and good skin care.

"Never borrow medicine from a friend," she warned.

Charles Weeg reminded the group that the Council for Aging was formed in 1969 and all services for the elderly have grown from that idea. The Rehabilitation Act of 1973 will be enforced, beginning June 2. Buildings will be inspected for facilities to enable handicapped and elderly people easy access.

After lunch, three groups were formed to discuss problems and find workable answers.

Problems of the elderly which were brought to light in the group discussion led by Johnnie Lou Avery were an objection to the proposed tax on part of social security payments, an objection to the fraud of often perpetrated by senior citizens staying in hospitals longer than if they didn't have medicare and having additional tests, and X-Rays, the inability to buy generic drugs at any pharmacy and the red tape and excess paperwork involved in getting medicare and insurance payments following an illness or accident.

Other problems were a desire to have ingredients on canned and boxed foods printed large enough for senior citizens to read without a magnifying glass. Some objected to persons abusing the privilege of using the transportation for senior citizens provided by the Howard County Council on Aging. Some objection to discourteous treatment at the Social Security office and the apparent lack of knowledgeable answers available there. An objection to "Assigned Risk" insurance for senior citizens was raised rather than using as a guide the driver's record instead of his age. A complaint was made about long waits in doctor's offices regardless of an appointment. Insurance premiums are high compared to the coverage received. Advertising geared to encourage senior citizens to take more medicines was objected to, especially on the Lawrence Welk Show. Senior Citizens desire to have more of a vote in certain areas such as prayer in the schools.

Some proposed solutions suggested were for senior citizens to have a general practice clinic such as the health center for screening the older population for those who need to contact their physicians. To speak out against the proposed social security tax. Regulations on insurance to help prevent misrepresentation of policies. Regulations to prevent advertisers from diagnosing ailments and prescribing medicines.

MRS. NORMAN RAY WOOD

Wedding solemnized Saturday evening

The First Baptist Church of Robinson was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding uniting Mary Catherine Boyce and Norman Ray Wood.

The couple spoke their vows before a massive spiral candelabrum flanked on either side by branched candelabrams. A unity candle completed the sanctuary setting.

Officiating the 6 p.m. rite were the Rev. Fred Weltge and the Rev. Buddy Reed.

Wedding music was provided by Matthew and Elizabeth King and Donald Baumas, pianist; and Theo Oglandi, organist.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Boyce, Waco, and Mr. and Mrs. Roney Wood, Coahoma.

The bride was presented down the aisle wearing a formal white gown of imported Chantilly lace and organza. The Queen Anne neckline was enhanced by a molded bodice adorned with seed pearls.

The flowing skirt featured a scalloped border and swept into a cathedral-length train. Her full-length mantilla was edged in matching lace and fell from a Juliet coil.

A cascading bouquet of white carnations and roses interspersed with baby's breath was carried by the bride as an accent to her ensemble.

Serving as maid of honor for the ceremony was Ingrid Weltge. Bridesmaids included Brenda Counseller, Dee Chatham and Nancy Wood, sister of the groom, Coahoma.

Bobby Rogers of Dallas attended the groom as best man. Groomsman included Keith North, Lubbock, and Bobby Boyce, brother of the bride, Waco.

Guests were seated by Dean Wood, brother of the groom, Coahoma; and Jim Jones, Houston.

Immediately following the ceremony, the newlyweds were feted with a reception in the church fellowship hall.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Baylor University and is currently teaching kindergarten in Lamesa. The groom is a 1974 graduate of Texas Tech University.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to Corpus Christi, Mr. and Mrs. Wood will reside in Stanton.

FUTURE PLANS — Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Edwin Rogers, Colorado City, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Shauna May, to Wallace Burl Overly, also of Colorado City. He is the son of Mrs. Royce Don Rowden and Robert Overly, both of Big Spring. The couple will speak their wedding vows June 21 at 2:30 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church, Colorado City. The Rev. Ronald Hamby, pastor, will officiate.

Shopping Sense

From JANET ROGERS, County Extension Agent
You really can stretch dollars, if you use shopping sense.

This starts with a major step — gather enough information BEFORE you shop, so you can make a wise choice.

Before you shop, do three things:

- 1) Decide what items you need and want.
- 2) Keep up-to-date.

Know what's available and where you can buy the product.

3) Make a shopping list — you're less likely to buy items you don't need. Once you start shopping, look in several stores. Compare prices, quality and services offered by the different stores.

By shopping around and comparing prices and features of a product, you'll also avoid some of the high-pressure sales methods. Learn to ask questions. Find out all you need to know before you buy. Be sure to find out what the warranty covers, where you can call for service, and what the store's exchange and refund policy is.

As a buyer, be aware of advertising appeal. Ads are intended to draw your attention to a product or service and make you want to buy it.

Be careful about "bargains," too.

A "bargain" is only a real bargain when it meets four criteria:

- when you really need or can use the item,
- when the price is lower than at other nearby stores,
- when the price is lower than usual for the item in that store,
- and when the item is right for your needs in size, color, quality, price and storage space.

Karen Ruth Riley weds James Dewain Burleson

Karen Ruth Riley and James Dewain Burleson were wed Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the First Christian Church.

The bride's uncle, David Preston Daniell, Southern Baptist Media Consultant of Mexico City, performed the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Dr. and Mrs. William Allen Riley. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Dewberry, Albuquerque, N.M., formerly of Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. James Brian Burleson, Gatesville.

The bride's chapel-length gown of ivory mousseline de soie, overlaid lavishly with applied pearl-embroidered Alencon lace, was an original design by Jena Bridals of Boston.

An ivory silk faille half cap and headpiece of seeded pearls and Alencon lace held the bride's silk illusion mantilla edged in matching lace.

The high wedding band collar accented the molded bodice of net overlaid with applied pearl-embroidered lace motifs. Fitted to a natural waistline, the ivory mousseline de soi A-line skirt, decorated with jeweled Alencon appliques, flowed to a chapel-length train.

She carried a bouquet of white roses over a white Bible, a gift from the groom.

Dear Abby

Nora Needs a Man; Mike Needs a Gag

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry a very handsome, successful business executive I'll call Mike. Mike hired a secretary about three months ago. (I'll call her Nora.) I saw Nora only a few times at Mike's office. She's middle-aged, slightly overweight and very plain looking. She's a divorcee. Mike said she was very competent.

Yesterday Mike told me that Nora had come to his apartment on the previous Sunday afternoon, unannounced, saying she had something very important to talk to him about. He invited her into his apartment, without the slightest idea what she wanted to discuss. She then said she was very nervous and would Mike please pour her a drink. He said he gave her a drink and had one with her to make her feel more comfortable.

Then Nora told him that from the first moment she saw him she had a schoolgirl crush on him, and would he make love to her just once before he got married!

Abby, can you imagine such a request? Mike said he politely told her that he didn't think that was a very good idea, and she had better leave because he had an engagement.

What do you think of Nora? And what do you think of Mike?

SPEECHLESS IN ALBANY

DEAR SPEECHLESS: I think Nora is pathetically in need of a man. And Mike has a very big mouth.

DEAR ABBY: At age 76, this is my first letter to you. Ten years ago I had surgery for an enlarged prostate. My doctor told me that it would not affect my desire for sex or my ability to perform.

After the surgery, both were affected. I have no problem because neither my wife nor I miss the sex, but my question is, Was the surgeon wrong, or am I the exceptional case?

I am sure there are many men and women who are interested in knowing, but if you use this letter, sign me...

WIMPY FROM PA.

DEAR WIMPY: Much depends on the extent of your surgery. Perhaps the surgery was more extensive than the surgeon thought it would be. There is also the possibility that your inability to function sexually is due more to psychological than surgical reasons.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine has an oil painting of a naked lady hanging in her den. She claims it is a work of art, but it looks like pornography to me.

This friend entertains many religious and elderly people who avoid going into her den because they are embarrassed by this obscene painting.

Abby, if this woman is so fond of that painting, don't you think she should hang it in her bedroom where it wouldn't embarrass anyone?

RED-FACED IN GREEN BAY, WIS.

DEAR RED-FACED: Your friend has the right to hang whatever pleases her in her home. Pornography — like beauty — often lies in the eye of the beholder.

CONFIDENTIAL to those who have sent for Abby's booklets: Please, please be patient. I am literally deluged with orders and am getting them out as quickly as possible.

TWEEN '12 and '20

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

It's pen pal time

Dr. Wallace: Last summer I wrote to you for a pen pal and you sent me the address of a boy from Steele, Ala., and we have been corresponding ever since. I would be grateful if you could send me another male pen pal (16 or 17 years old). I really enjoy writing and making new friends. — Lori, San Mateo, Calif.

Lori: I have received many letters from teens asking for pen pals so this is a good time to undertake the project again. This column state in the United States and in many newspapers in Canada, so the column is a perfect "springboard" for connecting pen pals throughout the United States and Canada. This is the third year for this project which has proven most successful. Hopefully all the "bugs" have been ironed out and you will receive your ideal pen pal. To get your pen pal you must follow these directions because we get thousands of requests.

First write to me, in care of this newspaper, and tell me that you would like a pen pal.

Tell me your sex and age and the sex and age of the pen pal you desire and where (the state or Canada) you would like your pen pal to live.

Include a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents (I hire four teenagers to handle the project) and I will see that you receive a pen pal and start enjoying a wonderful, exciting and lasting friendship. If you don't have 50 cents in coin, you can send in 50 cents in stamps (regardless of what I say, some teens forget to send in a self-addressed, stamped envelope).

Finally, if you don't have the 50 cents in coin or stamps, write to me anyway and we will do everything possible to get you a pen pal.

We will try to fill every request exactly the way you want, but if we can't we will come as close as possible.

(Example) Dr. Wallace: I'm a 15-year-old girl and would like to have my pen pal be 16, a boy, and live in Fort Smith, Ark. Thanks, Janet, San Rafael, Calif.

Janet: Your pen pal is Tom Smith, 16, 140 S. Main St., West Memphis, Ark. Please write to him as soon as possible as he is waiting to hear from you. — Dr. Wallace.

In the past two pen pal projects we have had more girls ask than boys and this has caused some problems, so boys, let's get with it.

Both homes utilized natural terrain in the landscaping plan. Homemakers hosted each tour and provided information on building, restoration, remodeling, decorating and landscaping.

Family Living Committee members who had responsibilities for assisting with the tour were Mrs. Lonnie Wright, Mrs. W.N. Norred, Mrs. Bob Wren, and Mrs. Frances Zant.

Following the tour, each hostess was presented with a gift from the Family Living Committee and Extension Homemakers Council in appreciation for their interest and cooperation in this educational event.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Spine-chilling novels, even in heat of summer

By RONALD TESTER
County Librarian

Even the heat of summer won't keep you from chilling as you shiver your way through the brand-new thrillers at the Howard County Library.

"Daggerman," by Richard H. Francis is a thriller so enticing, exciting and frightening that it could well become an award-winner. In a town in the north of England a madman is at work, calling himself Daggerman and systematically killing off and mutilating women. We know right away who he is and what has driven him over the brink. We watch in hideous fascination as he sets up his plots and carries them out. But we also are becoming deeply involved with many other of the local inhabitants, a nasty, gossiping old woman, two young policemen, the pretty librarian, a girl who finds in prostitution the best time of her life, the motherly madam, the local crime bigwig, and a mousey schoolmaster. Each of these will in time be caught up in Daggerman's demented drama. Some will live through it. Some will not. Author Francis knows his setting and his people inside out and as he links together their destinies he shows us provincial English life in all its irony, hypocrisy and unexpectedly rich color.

Carolyn Banks' "The Darkroom" has Ivy leaguer William Holland of the State Department savagely murdering his wife, mother and small sons after he has spent hours distorting their photos in his darkroom. The case is closed when Holland is presumed dead, vanished in the wilds of the Blue Ridge Mountains. CIA operative Al Amatucci, aware that Holland had secretly been shipped an experimental mind-altering drug, fears that the killer is still alive and searches for him against orders.

Holland is, indeed, still alive. Married to a divorcee with two young boys, he lives with them in an isolated cabin where he occupies himself mostly by chopping down trees and misshaping photos of his second family, just as he had of his first before he took the axe to them. Author Banks skillfully builds on events as lived by Amatucci and the killer in this psychological thriller that is truly unputdownable.

"The Lions of Judah," by British novelist and playwright Ted Willis, is a suspense story with forceful psychological overtones. It is set in Germany in 1939, when the Nazis are solidifying their power and beginning their policy of exterminating Jews. Kurt Reiss, a Jew whose parents have died at Dachau, sets out to assassinate Reichsmarschall Goering. When he fails and is captured on the Reichsmarschall's estate, the wily Goering decides to use Reiss in a bizarre plot to kill a group of American and British nuclear scientists. If Reiss and the other three Jews on the assassination team succeed in their mission, Goering promises to let 10,000 Jews leave Germany. Reiss and his desperate comrades thus become both pawns and saviors — but they can save Jewish lives only if they murder as ruthlessly as the Nazis themselves. The moral implications of their plight are explored in a taut, cleverly executed plot.

Recent events in Asia and the Middle East bring a special urgency to "The Spike," an alarming novel by veteran journalists Arnaud de Borchgrave of "Newsweek" and Robert Moss of "The Economist." Spanning the years from 1968 to the near future, this collaboration posits a Russian plan to infiltrate the highest levels of American media, government agencies and elected offices with agents whose duty it is to misinform the American people and shape public opinion to suit the Russians' goal of world domination. At the center of the novel is a radical young journalist whose career starts with an expose of CIA misdeeds, but who becomes convinced of the Russian threat and sets out to uncover the Soviet agents. The novel is lengthy and sprawling, but the possibilities it presents are genuinely disconcerting.

Excellence, especially in the characterizations, ensures that author Cecilia Bartholomew will propel readers through the events in her new thriller, "Second Sight." Suddenly threatened with blindness, famous model Roz Lande moves into seclusion in a house she buys in a seedy San Francisco area. Set on making her own way, she breaks her engagement to her manager, Arnold Armstead, and remains cool to her tenants. Their honest friendship, however, thaws Roz and she becomes close to widowed Mary Frances and her little boy, a deaf-mute, and to Jonathan Ledbetter whose rock-musician pals help Roz unselfishly when blindness becomes a reality. But she grows suspicious of everyone as an unseen enemy threatens her and the equally defenseless child. Someone is trying to drive Roz away for a reason that becomes agonizingly clear in the story's crucial scene.

KEEPS ATLAS HANDY — Randy Bethune is a "side-man" for country music singer Bill Anderson. As part of Anderson's road show, Bethune must endure long bus trips, restaurant food, and separations from his family. Nevertheless, he says, "It's a great life."

Nashville Sound: Who'd want a job like this?

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — If you want a job like Randy Bethune's, you have to like overnight bus trips, fast food and beds away from home most weekends and holidays.

Bethune, 26, is a sideman for country music singer Bill Anderson. A sideman is a vocalist or musician, often a combination, who performs with singers during their road concerts.

This means Bethune travels to concerts on Anderson's bus, is away from his wife and 8-month-old daughter almost every weekend and holiday, is gone for up to two weeks at a time and eats lots of hamburgers. Who'd want a job like that? Bethune, for one.

"It's a great life," he said in an interview a few hours before boarding Anderson's bus for a 17-hour trip to Succasunna, N.J. "I wouldn't trade it for anything."

Bethune, a guitarist-banjoist who also sings and writes songs, has traveled to every state except Hawaii, New Mexico and Alaska, and has toured England, Scotland, Ireland and Holland twice. "I've got the Howard Johnson's menu memorized," he said with a chuckle. "We try to find a nice restaurant once in a while, but I eat a lot of hamburgers and scrambled eggs."

His wife, Linda, uses a green pen to mark her husband's tour dates on a kitchen calendar. On the March calendar, the 1st was marked Nashville, Ind., the 4th was Plant City, Fla., the 10th to 15th was Hot Springs, Ark., and the 16th was Ash Flat, Ark. Most dates also included the time of the show. And she keeps an atlas handy.

Bethune, who's been on the road with Anderson for three years as part of the "Po Folks" band, said he tolerates the travel as a necessity for reaping rewards as an entertainer.

He'd like to strike out on his own like Waylon Jennings and Tom T. Hall — ex-sidemans who now have successful careers as solo artists.

But for now, he's one of a couple hundred sidemen in Nashville who earn between $12,000 and $30,000 a year, then supplement it by writing songs and occasionally playing for recording sessions.

'Masterpiece Theater' series PBS to air 'Disraeli'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Benjamin Disraeli was a man who had an eye for the grand moment in international affairs and for a well-turned ankle in less public affairs.

Disraeli is seen as a dandified author of romantic novels, a womanizer who married for money and a man who was not taken seriously when he first entered politics in Britain in the early 1800s.

Ian McShane plays

Disraeli in a four-part "Masterpiece Theater" series on public television beginning Sunday evening. As with most Public Broadcasting Service programs, air date and time may vary.

"I play him over a 50-year period," said McShane. "It's nice to be able to take someone from 25 to 75. But it has its inaccuracies. You lose something of the period because Gladstone, Peel, Bismarck, all the others have to take a back seat to Disraeli, because it's his story."

"Disraeli was born a Jew but his father had him baptized a Christian when he was 13. Throughout his life there was animosity toward him because he was a Jew, but he really wasn't a Jew."

"Disraeli: Portrait of a Romantic" also stars Mary Peach as Disraeli's wife, Rosemary Leach is Queen Victoria and John Carlisle plays Gladstone.

The English-born McShane was still limping from his own curse of King Tut. His left leg was broken in December while filming the "The Curse of King Tut's Tomb" for NBC.

McShane completed the "Disraeli" series in England more than 2½ years ago. Since then he has played Christopher Marlowe in "Will Shakespeare," and has had roles in "The Fifth Musketeer," "Roots" and "Yesterday's Hero."

Wedding vows were exchanged between Twila Marie Nichols and Robert James Wegner in a garden wedding performed Saturday evening at the home of the groom's parents. Officiating the ceremony before an archway adorned with greenery and yellow bows was Royce Clay, minister of the 14th and Main Church of Christ. Staggering white wicker tables centered with white wrought iron candelabums and lace hats featuring spring floral arrangements completed the garden setting. The bride is the daughter of Dorthy Nichols, Big Spring, and Wayne Nichols, Sand Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wegner Jr., Gail Rt., are the parents of the groom. Wedding selections were provided by Ellen Slagle Leakey, pianist, who accompanied vocalist Jim Boyd, brother-in-law of the bride, also of Leakey. The bride was married wearing an off white dress of taffeta featuring off-white lace ruffles. The bodice, designed with a V-neckline, was softened by a ruffled lace cape which featured a pearl button closure. An off white garden hat adorned with yellow roses and baby's breath accented her bridal ensemble. She carried a cascading bouquet of peach and yellow ager lilies, white daisies, peach and yellow forget-me-not and yellow rosebuds tied with pique streamers. The bride was attended by Jackie McCullough, maid of honor. She wore a sleeveless yellow dress designed with an empire waistline. Dee Nanny served as best man. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Wegner were the honorees at a reception held in the home. Serving were Dendra Fuller, Christy Clanton and Tonya Carstensen. Guests were registered by Toni Wegner, sister of the groom. The reception table, draped with white lace cloth, was decorated with the bridal bouquet. Silver and crystal appointments were used to serve the two-tiered wedding cake which featured cascades of yellow roses. The bride and groom both attended Big Spring Schools and will reside in Big Spring upon returning from a wedding trip to an undisclosed location. The groom is employed by his father as a farmer in Luther.

Church of Christ rite performed in candlelight

Carla Lyn Parker became the bride of Stan Arlyn Blagrave in a candlelight ceremony solemnized Saturday morning in the Knott Church of Christ.

The couple exchanged vows and rings before two spiral candelabrams decorated with greenery and peach bows. A peach unity candle completed the altar setting.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Parker, Knott. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Blagrave, Ackerly.

Officiating the 10 a.m. rite was Roy Phedmister, minister. Wedding selections were sung by Susan Holcomb and Alison Foster.

The bride was given in marriage wearing bridal original by Jacksons of San Angelo. The bridal taffeta gown overlaid with white silk organza was fashioned with a full skirt and chapel-length train. Heavy pearl-encrusted Alencon lace adorned the neckline, waist and hem.

Complementing her attire was a handmade veil which fell in two tiers to chapel length. Edged in Alencon lace to create the mantilla effect, the veil was attached to a lace-covered, pearl-encrusted Juliet cap.

She carried a silk cascade of white orchids, peach roses and blue daisies.

Sandy Hill, Stanton, attended the bride as matron of honor. Bruce Hill, Stanton, served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, the newlyweds were feted with a reception in the home of the bride's parents. Attending the registry was Cindy Brasher.

The bride's table was draped with ruffled white linen. Silver and crystal appointments were used to serve the three-tiered cake decorated with peach and blue flowers. Enhancing the setting as centerpiece was an arrangement of French blue and peach flowers flanked on either side with blue candles.

The groom's table was covered with red bandana print cloth and centered with a red tractor and trophy.

Serving were Suzie Langley, Debbie Webb, Cindy Brasher and Mrs. Dan Brasher.

The bride is junior at Sands High School. The groom is a graduate of Sands High School and Howard College. He will attend Texas Tech this fall.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to San Antonio and Padre Island, Mr. and Mrs. Blagrave will make their home in Ackerly where the groom is engaged in farming.

Robbie Morgan becomes the bride of Thomas Gay

Wedding bells rang in the Baptist Temple Church Friday evening as Robbie Morgan became the bride of Thomas Gay.

The Rev. Allen McHam, pastor, read the 7 p.m. ceremony before an archway decorated with garland of star flowers, white daisies, sweet peas and carnations. Enhancing the sanctuary setting were baskets of greenery accented with spring flowers. A unity candle completed the scene.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Barbara Morgan, 1204 E. 16th. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen E. Gay, 1409 E. 15th.

Traditional wedding music was played by organist Bill Shofner as the bride was presented down the aisle.

She wore a white gown of silk organza embellished with Venice lace. The fitted midriff bodice was finished with a white band of lace overlaid with lace. The sweetheart neckline and long, fitted sleeves were enhanced with lace scallops. Ending in a double flounce, the A-line skirt cascaded into a chapel-length train.

A mantilla-style veil of silk illusion which fell to fingertip-length completed her bridal ensemble. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, blue-tipped roses accented with touches of baby's breath.

Serving as maid of honor was Shirley Shanks. Mark Moses attended as best man.

Guests were seated by John Gay, brother of the groom, Big Lake, and David Morgan, brother of the bride.

Following the rite the church fellowship hall was the setting for a reception held in the couple's honor.

The bride is a 1979 graduate of Big Spring High School. She is presently employed by Dr. C. Douglas Smith.

The groom graduated from Big Spring High School and is employed by Big Three Auto Salvage.

The celebration included a reception followed by a festive barbeque supper and traditional dance.

The Rev. Bill deHaas, C.M., cousin of the bride read the double ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. David Holley. A choir consisting of the bride's cousins sang traditional wedding selections at the nuptial mass, accompanied by Tammy Sawyer, organist, and Mike Hillger, guitarist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional formal gown of supple satin richly adorned with re-embroidered Alencon lace designed with a cameo pattern on the sheer yoked bodice. Long straight sleeves detailed with covered buttons fashioned her attire.

The empire-waisted skirt flowed into a full-length train trimmed with Alencon lace and finished with a dainty ruffle of sheer Venice lace. Trimmed in matching Alencon lace, the cathedral-length veil completed the gown.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, orchids, stephanotis and baby's breath, accented with her mother's rosary.

The bride's trousseau can be directly traced back to the better price and dowry systems. It is one of the oldest of our wedding traditions, and one that we here at Accent Shoppe are often asked about.

Throughout history, it has been customary for a bride to come to her husband well-provided with a dowry, so that the man will be compensated for his expenses in caring for her. Today's bride is usually provided with a good supply of personal clothing and household items. Most girls like to buy new clothes to fill out their wardrobes before marriage, but often much of the necessary linen, silver and china come as wedding presents. The trousseau is definitely a tradition worth perpetuating!
