Iraq steps up efforts to complete conquest of Iranian water way

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraq and Iran carried on relentlessly today their ground and air war while Western North Yemen was reported to have joined Jordan in expressing support for Iraq.

The United States has pledged to supply military hardware to neutral Persian Gulf nations that feel threatened by the Iraq-Iran war.

Iraq was reported to have received five sniploads of Soviet-made military spare parts and ammunition through Jordan's Aqaba port since the outbreak of the war 17 days ago. The Soviet union denied offering military aid to Iran.

Iraq claimed to have inflicted heavy losses on Iranian forces on the ground while the air war concentrated on supply lines.

Iraqi forces have stepped up air and artillery attacks on Abadan and battled holdouts in the port of Khorramshahr, seeking to complete their conquest of the Iranian side of Iraq's waterway to the gulf.

Iraq sent air strikes for the second straight day against the Iraqi oil center of Kirkuk, 200 miles north of Baghdad, and the southeastern Iraqi city of Al Amarah, which controls the supply lines of Iraq's invasion force in the oil-rich section of southwestern Iran.

Iraq's military command claimed to have downed three Iraqi MiG jets, two near Dezful and one near Ahwaz in the southern sector of the 300-mile-long battlefield on the 17th day of the war. Iraq acknowledged the loss of two MiGs.

The Iranian communique reported by Tehran Radio said Iraqi forces concentrated an attack on Dezful's key military base and Shushiar, 20 miles to the southeast on the road to Ahwaz, capital of Khuzistan province.

Jordanian officials in Amman said King Hussein and President Abdullah Saleh of North Yemen, in a telephone conversation, affirmed their countries' "Pan-Arab support of the Iraqi people in their efforts to regain their rights over their territories and waters." Iraq, Jordan and North Yemen are Arab nations while Iran is non-Arab Persian.

The Beirut sources said five ships flying Iraqi or Jordanian flags and loaded with cargoes from the Soviet stockpiles in Marxist-governed South Yemen and Ethiopia have docked at Aqaba. The sources said the supplies were carried by truck to the Iraqi border.

In Moscow, a Foreign Ministry spokesman termed "slanderous and false" a Tehran Radio report that the Soviet Union had offered arms to Iran.

In a major policy speech in Boston, Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher said the United States will honor "requests for assistance from non-belligerent friends in the (Persian Gulf) area who feel threatened by the convent war from expanding in ways that threaten the security of the region."

For lack of evidence in Brilab trial

Defense will open arguments

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys for House Speaker Billy Clayton and two other Brilab defendants have indicated they would ask today that several charges against their clients be dismissed for lack of evidence.

Prosecutors wrapped up their case Tuesday afternoon after presenting several witnesses whose testimony was friendly to the defense. Government attorneys also played reels of secret FBI tapes to federal jurors in the bribery-extortion trial of Clayton and Austin attorneys Donald Ray and Randall Wood.

Clayton, Wood, Ray and labor leader L. G. Moore were indicted June 12 by a federal grand jury for extortion, bribery, conspiracy and racketeering, charges arising from an alleged insurance kickback scheme.

Moore, regional director of the International Operating Engineers Union, will be tried later.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Ron Woods, the chief prosecutor in the case, concluded his testimony by reading a section of the Texas standard of conduct for legislators and officeholders to the five-man, seven-woman jury.

Woods told jurors the code says no legislator or public official should accept or solicit any gift that would influence his official conduct or interfere with his freedom of judgment on any issue.

A former state official testified Tuesday that he believed Clayton had been "boxed-in" when labor leader Moore offered a $5,000 campaign contribution.

Under cross-examination, Bob Johnson said that Moore had put Clayton in an impossible position because "he needed labor support and there is no way, knowing the speaker, that he was going to keep that money."

Johnson is a former legislator and during the Brilab investigation was a member of the Texas Employees Retirement Board, the agency that awards lucrative health insurance contract for state employees.

Johnson said if Clayton had wanted to influence the awarding of the multimillion dollar-a-year insurance policy, "he would have contacted other members of the retirement system board."

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Men, women drivers

Q. Call me a chauvinistic male if you will but I think men are better automobile drivers than women. Don't you agree?

A. We try to settle arguments, not start them. Keep this in mind, however. Statistics indicate that on a strict, mile-for-mile comparison women have ten percent fewer accidents than men and far fewer fatal accidents than does the male species. Some psychologists say this is because women, unlike men, have no compelling need to prove their 'machismo' by acting out feelings of aggression and strength behind the wheel of a car.

Suspect sought in trooper death now in custody

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The day a slain state trooper was laid to rest here, the suspect who had eluded police throughout Texas was apprehended and arrested in a rural Kansas town.

Texas and Kansas authorities were negotiating Tuesday night to transport Billy Wayne Alexander Jr. back to Texas after he waived extradition.

The suspect, wanted in the shooting death of Jerry Don Davis, offered no resistance and was unarmed when he was arrested early Tuesday evening in Liberal, Kan., Department of Public Safety officials said.

Alexander, 21, had been named in a capital murder warrant issued Monday morning by a justice of the peace in Lubbock.

A couple from Lowell, Kan., was in the car with Alexander at the time of arrest, DPS officials said, but said the couple had not been charged. Police withheld all other information.

Davis, 25, was found slumped over the wheel of his squad car in Slaton, near here, Sunday night with a bullet wound in his head. His service revolver was still in his holster.

One of the two ministers delivering the eulogy in the small Lubbock church packed with hundreds of mourners quoted scriptures supporting capital punishment for the trooper's "assassin."

Law enforcement officers from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico attended the service. One-third of the seats were reserved for DPS officers.

Davis' mother was presented with the United States flag that had been draped over her son's coffin. A seven-man honor guard fired a 21-gun salute and a lone trumpeter played taps.

Hitchhiker killed near Colorado City

COLORADO CITY — A hitchhiker, Steve P. Snyder, was killed in a pedestrian-automobile accident about 4:30 a.m. here Tuesday on Interstate 20 near Colorado City.

Snyder's address was unknown this morning. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of Peace Mary Lee Moore.

According to witnesses, Snyder was hitchhiking west on I-20 when he was struck by a truck-trailer on the edge of the thoroughfare.

Knock, knock! Who's there? Carter and Reagan

Without commenting on the nature of political campaigns, it can be said that Ronald Reagan took the latest bit of oratory slung at him and slung it right back.

On Tuesday, the Republican presidential candidate called President Carter "a badly misinformed and prejudiced man" and said "he's reaching the point of hysteria."

And, Reagan said, the country deserved an apology from the incumbent Democratic president for his remarks Monday when he talked about the bleak outlook for the nation should Reagan be elected.

"You'll have to determine whether or not America will be unified or if I lose the election — whether America will be separated, black from white, Jew from Christian, North from South, or rural from urban," Carter told Democrats in Chicago, repeating, too, hints that Reagan as president would drag the United States into war.

Independent candidate John Anderson, meanwhile, had words Tuesday for both Carter and Reagan. "I am appalled by the low level to which I think both of the traditional party candidates have taken this campaign," Anderson told an audience in Cambridge, Mass.

But Anderson saved his sharpest barb for the president, saying: "I think that Mr. Carter's desperate attempt to reduce the campaign to absurd simplacities is really masking his own fear that he is now not going to win the election."

Carter was at the White House and off the campaign trail Tuesday, but his campaign chairman, Robert Strauss, defended the president's comments about Reagan, saying Carter was merely trying to delineate the "distinct differences" between the two men.

Strauss said in a written statement that Reagan, in his reply, was paying attention only to Carter's "language" and not the substance of his comments.

"This should be a campaign of issues," he said. "We're trying to see that it becomes one."

Reagan's aides, meanwhile, made an apparent attempt to explain their candidate's latest comments, releasing part of an interview in which Reagan denied he was trying to associate Carter with bigotry.

Asked what he meant by saying Carter was prejudiced, Reagan told WPVI-TV of Philadelphia that "when I used that word I thought, to me, it was very plain that I was talking about that he's the one that's been talking about me on these lines and maybe he's prejudiced against me because I'm running for president."

Reagan, asked if he thought Carter a "dirty fighter," also told reporters: "Well, I think he's a badly misinformed and prejudiced man."

And he said of Carter at another point, "Certainly he's reaching a point of hysteria that's hard to understand."

Chip Carter defended re-election tactics of his president father against Republican allegations of running a "campaign of inuendo" by saying that "dad hasn't slung anymore mud" than Ronald Reagan has.

It is difficult to have a "nice campaign" because President Carter and Reagan "totally disagree" on most issues, said Carter.

The president's son made a campaign stop at the Community School Action Center in south Dallas. There he told about 150 supporters that Texas, New York, California and Illinois were four crucial states in the president's re-election bid.

He said Reagan's election would be "detrimental to our country" and he called the Republican economic policies "sugar-coated poisons."

Republican vice presidential nominee George Bush said in Midland Tuesday criticized the president for his "irresponsible use of divisive rhetoric in this campaign" and Reagan charged Tuesday that the president's campaign was "reaching a point of hysteria."

Reagan was referring to comment by the president on Monday that Reagan's election could result in separating "black from white, Jew from Christian, north from south, rural from urban."

But Carter, 30, said Tuesday that his dad was trying only to say that Reagan as president would be "divisive" for the nation.

"You can't endorse and have the endorsement of The Moral Majority and be president of all the people," said Carter.

He said his father's greatest accomplishment has been "four years of peace." And Carter said that Reagan is "more likely to get us into a war than my dad's."

The president's son also told cheering blacks that his dad had appointed more black, Hispanic and women judges than all previous presidents combined.

Big Spring school officials receive desegregation petition

By DON WOODS

The U.S. Justice Department is suing the Big Spring school system to require officials, demanding that the district "take affirmative action" in desegregating two schools and "correct past effects of discrimination." The petition was filed Sept. 18.

It also asks that the district be ordered to implement plans to desegregate before the 1981-82 school year.

School officials and school attorney Richard Milstead received the petition in the mail within the last few days.

U.S. Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti filed the suit in Abilene's Federal District Court. The case, which began in 1974, was referred to the Justice Department from the Department of Housing, Education and Welfare.

Litigation involves two elementary schools, Bauer and Kentwood. The petition alleges that Bauer, located in the north central part of town, is 100 percent minority students and that Kentwood, in southeast Big Spring, is more than 90 percent white.

Milstead said conclusions contained in the suit were inaccurate. Specifically, allegation 16 of the petition claims that "BSISD has engaged in a pattern and practice of discriminatory actions in the context of student assignment and transportation, faculty hiring and assignment, and school construction policies."

Milstead said the statement was an "opinion."

He said on behalf of the attorneys working on the case that, "in general (Big Spring) doesn't operate an intentionally discriminatory school system."

"Some of the things alleged in here are not appropriate to be alleged," said Milstead. He cited, for example, a Jan. 1974 administrative hearing in which Housing Education and Welfare Administrative Law Judge Robert S. Davie found that the local district operated a "dual system of education with respect to five specific schools: Bauer, Lakeview, Cedar Crest, and Gay Hill Elementary schools and Runnels Junior High."

dual school system in violation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

The administrative hearing was the result. BSISD was denied federal help under three federal programs.

The local school system's case was referred to the Department of Justice on June 8, 1978, from HEW.

"Educationally sound and administratively feasible alternative methods are available," claims the Justice Department.

Future federal funding depends on the outcome of the case. The petition is styled "United States of America, plaintiff, vs. Big Spring Independent School District; Lynn Hise, superintendent," and the seven member board of trustees.

Trustees will discuss the suit with Milstead at their regular meeting Thursday night.

The petition, states that the school district was notified Aug. 17, 1973, by Housing Education and Welfare that federal assistance would be terminated if Big Spring "continued to operate racially identifiable schools as vestiges of its statutory

Jenrette still in race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John W. Jenrette, D-S.C., admittedly shocked at the swiftness of his Abscam conviction, says he's re-evaluating his race for a fourth term. But for now, he's still in.

Jenrette, crying on his wife's shoulder, needed half an hour to regain his composure after a U.S. District Court jury convicted him of bribery and conspiracy Tuesday.

Incumbent senator ousted

MIAMI (AP) — By losing a vicious Democratic runoff, Sen. Richard Stone has become the fourth incumbent senator to suffer a primary defeat this year. The man who ousted him faces a tough race against the most successful woman politician in Florida history.

Reversing a 1974 runoff loss to Stone, state insurance commissioner Bill Gunter on Tuesday captured 574,238 votes, or 52 percent, to the first-term senator's 535,671 votes, or 48 percent.

Arts, crafts festival panel to meet Thursday

First of the fall meetings of the 1980 Arts and Crafts Festival Committee will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday in the Chamber of Commerce conference room. Purpose of the meeting will be to discuss any last minute changes for the fourth annual Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival to be held Oct. 18 and 19 in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum here.

Louis Tallant, who chairs the festival with Mel Prather, said "the main purpose of this meeting is to go over any last minute changes or improvements that we might wish to make prior to the upcoming show. Some of these changes," Tallant continued, "are based on committee members' experiences with the 1979 festival. Since committee members work different sections of the show, they are in a better position to provide us with suggested improvements."

Talking about the different sections of the festival, Tallant said "we will also be asking committee members which times they wish to work during the festival and which section of the show they wish to work with. Many work the information booths," he said, "while others prefer to work the unloading and setting-up of booths."

As to there being a specific committee appointed to steer the highly successful Arts and Crafts Festival, Tallant said "we have a hard-working committee of volunteers who have either worked previous shows or have shown an interest in working the 1980 festival."

'Did you in fact say that?'

Clements courting Briscoe

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Former Democratic Gov. Dolph Briscoe is a wanted man, Gov. Bill Clements acknowledged recently.

As chairman of the Reagan-Bush Texas campaign, Clements said he lives in hope that Briscoe will soon switch from open dissatisfaction with President Carter to active support for Ronald Reagan.

Briscoe has voiced his unhappiness with Carter in talks with Clements and in several recent newspaper interviews.

Clements said after his weekly press conference that he has been talking with Briscoe about the matter for some time.

The most recent discussion, he said, came late last week at Briscoe's ranch near Uvalde after a Dallas newspaper quoted the former governor as saying he will vote for Carter.

Clements said he and his wife, Rita, flew down to Uvalde carrying a copy of that newspaper.

"I asked him, 'Did you in fact say that?' and he said, 'Yes, I did say all those things,'" Clements recalled.

The governor added that Briscoe "had made no decision at that time whether or not he would really support Reagan."

But the governor, having already recruited Democratic ex-Govs. Preston Smith and Allan Shivers for the Reagan-Bush team along with Republican John Connally, said he has not given up.

He acknowledged that he and Briscoe have agreed to talk sometime in the near future about the possibility of active support for Reagan.

But Clements said no date for that discussion has been set.

One recruiting problem, the governor said, is that Briscoe is a loyal Democrat.

Clements recalled, however, that Briscoe said he was "disgusted with the Carter administration. He said ... the Carter administration's economic policies are the worst in his memory."

Republicans say they would like Briscoe to help to bolster their Democrats and Independents for Reagan-

Bush effort. His own party wants him to whip up more rural support for Carter.

In 1976, Briscoe's campaigning for Carter in rural Texas helped the former Georgia governor grab a narrow victory from President Gerald Ford for the state's 26 electoral votes.

Fringe benefits usually worth a bundle

An actuarial consulting firm with regional offices newly opened in Houston is dedicating its effort to cost-effectiveness of company benefit programs.

George B. Morton, president of the firm Actuarial Associates of America Inc., says that his firm's Benefit Valuation and Communication System effectively increases an employer's return on the dollars invested in employee benefits by calculating total costs of indirect compensation and making the information available to employees and development of the system originated with the firm's discovery that employees estimate their employers' expenses for benefits at only 20 percent of true cost.

UNIONS BARGAINING for better deals for their members invariably put a heavy emphasis on fringe benefits like pensions, sick-pay, sick-leave, stock option plans and etc., yet employees rarely take them into consideration when they consider their pay.

"Since the long-range effects of a benefit program have greater values than equivalent salary increases," Morton points out, "employers who do not make their personnel aware of the magnitude of their benefits — the number of tax free dollars these add to paychecks — do not fully understand the full impact and dollar value of these contributions." Morton noted that the costs of benefits alone average 36.7 percent of total payroll.

Among the problems Morton cites as resulting from employees' lack of awareness of the dollar value of their benefits are needlessly high turnover rates with an attendant waste of benefit dollars, as well as inefficient on-the-job performance.

Morton reasons his system can solve a lot of a company's employee relations woes. It will might.

THOSE EMPLOYEES who never think about fringe benefits should take a look at their pay checks. Those deductions made for medical insurance, for instance, are more than matched ordinarily by the employer and they come in mighty handy if any member of the family becomes ill.

Deductions made for pensions, in truth, are not deductions — they're investments. And if you resent the amount being taken out for Social Security, look on down the road and see how bleak life could be without such payments once you retire.

Minority politics

Evans, Novak

AUSTIN, Texas — Even though his esteem in Texas has dropped lower than any earlier Democratic president, Jimmy Carter may yet win this state's 26 electoral votes — and save his second term — with a flood of Mexican-American and black voters Nov. 4.

Identification, registration and turnout of minority voters have become the beginning, middle and end of Carter's strategy in Texas. It is too late to repair the president's policies that antagonize Texans. Partly thanks to the evangelical political movement, Carter's rural base is eroded. The state's "Anglos" — non-Hispanic whites — run 65 percent or more for Ronald Reagan.

In Texas-sized proportions, this is the problem faced by President Carter throughout his Southern base. Thus, slurs about Reagan's "racism" are not just the politics of excess but a deadly serious effort to energize minority voters. What antagonizes editorial writers and cartoonists may impel blacks and Hispanics to vote.

THE NEED IS imperative in Texas. Only three Democratic nominees — Al Smith, Adlai Stevensm and George McGovern — have lost Texas. No Democrat has been elected without carrying Texas. But Carter's presidential record would have doomed him in the old Texas, where "Anglos" ruled.

"I have never seen a president so poorly regarded," confided one veteran Democratic politician here. "Nobody has a good word for him." Yet, this old pro predicts Carter, now trailing in all polls, will carry Texas. One of his reasons is Reagan's anemic campaign. A better reason is the black-brown vote.

The politically critical arithmetic of minority voting depends on vague approximations. In 1976 when Carter won Texas with 53 percent, the black-brown vote may have been 550,000 (out of 4 million). Carter won an estimated 87 percent of the blacks and at least 93 percent (Republicans say 98 percent) of the blacks.

For Carter to carry Texas this year, he must dramatically expand the 1976 minority-voter volume and not fall too far below his share of it then. That is the job of Bob Beckel, a skilled political technician from Brooklyn who left the White House staff (where he had been selling SALT II to Congress) early this year and came here to sell Carter to Texas.

Beckel's registration efforts were expected to yield 800,000 Mexican-American voters (compared with 460,000 in 1976) by the Oct. 4 deadline. New black registration is less robust and less measurable. If Beckel can actually get the new voters to the polls, Texas may well be Carter's.

THAT IS WHY Beckel had no time for much more than lip service responding to complaints from traditional Texas Democratic politicians that the president's record flagrantly offends Texans: Carter's energy policy seemingly favors the Northeast, his oil windfall profits tax enrages small royalty owners even more than corporate titans; the Carter administration is demanding new school busing in Houston.

Lt. Gov. William Hobby and state Attorney General Mark White, two moderately conservative Democrats supporting Carter, have warned the president that his railroad deregulation bill is ruining him politically among lower-to-middle income, non-minority Texans. Boosting freight rates for Wyoming coal, they warn, will drive sky-high utility bills still higher and alienate faithful Democrats.

It is among disaffected Democrats that Republican Gov. Bill Clements, calling Carter a "phony" and "liar,"

Be self-describer at own risk

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can a person get hooked on blood pressure pills? I don't think I need as much now as I did at first, but the doctor won't give me less. I am 35 years old and my pressure is 134 over 88. Do you think I should try to get off of them myself gradually before I get hooked on them? Blood pressure can change in a short time, so why keep taking pills if you don't need them? L.S.

The short answer to your question is no, don't try to get off your medicine on your own, but that won't satisfy you or me. First of all, let me say that you cannot get "hooked" on blood pressure pills in the sense of being "hooked" on narcotics.

Now, the question of treatment for high blood pressure requires an understanding of this very complicated and involved illness. In a few cases a cause can be found. Examples are the types that stem from disorders of the adrenal glands, disorders causing them to produce too much of the hormone that makes pressure rise. If such problems are taken care of, the pressure returns to normal. No more medicine is needed.

But most high blood pressure is of the "essential" type. While a specific cause cannot be found for this, many of the factors that contribute — salt intake, obesity, life in the fast lane, cigarette smoking — may be part of the picture. If these can be controlled, and if pressure then goes down, a trial reduction of medicine can be attempted. If the pressure remains elevated, then medication will have to be continued, sometimes in reduced doses.

No one wants to take medicine forever. However, untreated high blood pressure shortens life; that is a fact. If you modify the things that contribute to high blood pressure, and if that works, then you can, with the permission of your doctor, forego medicine for a period during which you would be watched closely. Don't try it on your own. Doctors have a word for what you want to do on your own. They call it "noncompliance." The greatest noncompliers are those using high blood pressure medicine.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can a person get arthritis in the brain? My father says you can. I say you can't. Who's right? — C.S.

Assuredly, you cannot get an inflammation of the joints in the brain.

There are no joints there. And that is what arthritis means — joint inflammation. Rheumatoid arthritis does, however, indirectly affect many other body organs, especially blood vessels. In a few people with rheumatoid arthritis, the blood vessels to the brain are inflamed; that is vasculitis, and is a part of rheumatoid arthritis in such people.

In that sense, rheumatoid arthritis involves the brain. That is not common.

If you want me to take sides in this argument, I would rule for you, but give your father credit for the technicalities that support his view.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Although the question I want to ask is not in your line, I hope you can give me an answer for it. What are "floaters" of the eyes, the cause and is there any concern for them? My optometrist does not seem concerned about them and says not to worry. — M.R.

The question is most definitely in my line. I have floaters.

A jelly-like substance fills the inner part of the back half of the eyeball. With age, and particularly with near-sighted people, small specks of material form in this substance — floaters. They float upward when you look up and gravity makes them settle down again. They usually mean nothing and have to be ignored. If they increase or persist over long periods of time, they should be examined by

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I feel like I am such a weak Christian, and sometimes I have this terrible feeling that God will not let me into Heaven when I die. What can I do to overcome this? — Mrs. A.D.

DEAR MRS. A.D.: One of Satan's oldest tricks is to make us look at ourselves rather than Christ. When we look at ourselves we know we are weak and sinful. When we look at ourselves (and are honest about ourselves) we know there is no reason why we should deserve eternal life. Satan then takes these thoughts and makes us doubt our salvation, and we feel defeated.

Let me suggest two things. First, realize that it is only the love and grace of God that saves you, not any good works you might do. You are saved by Christ, and Christ alone. Only Christ can give you his righteousness through faith. "This righteousness from God comes through faith in Jesus Christ to all who believe. There is no difference, for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, and are justified freely by his grace through the redemption that came by Christ Jesus" (Romans 3:22-24, New International Version). Your salvation is from him, and it is not dependent on how strong or weak you are. Learn to trust him. He died on the cross for your sins.

Also, learn to walk with Christ every day so that your faith is strengthened and you begin to get victory over the sins that defeat you. Learn to read the Bible, and claim its promises for yourself. Learn to commit every detail of your life to God in prayer, "casting all your care upon him: for he careth for you" (1 Peter 5:7). God loves you, and wants you to learn to trust his love — both now and in the future.

Out of 'jail'

Around the rim

Robbi Crow

The official word isn't out yet, but my best guess is that we were released on the merit of good behavior.

I'm referring to the recent 'coming-out' party for me and my assistant when we were freed from our long-time bondage as inhabitants of 'the cage.'

No one has ever volunteered to explain why the cage was built to begin with. It's hard for me to imagine anyone feeling so threatened from the family news staff that they would cage them like wild animals.

MAYBE IT HAD something to do with the hard-core news we are known for writing — weddings, showers, birth announcements, tea-parties. I mean that type of literature would put fear in anybody.

Positioned directly in the center of the newsroom, it was hard to miss this barcade-like enclosure housing the family news department.

Day-in and day-out we were forced to make excuses to curious Herald patrons as to why management chose to jail us in this cubicle.

"Are ya'll dangerous?" they would inquire.

My predecessor, former family news editor Eileen McGuire, was also a victim of 'the cage.'

However, she was always quick to reply that the structure was there to protect us from 'them,' not 'them' from us.

For as long as I've been a member of this secluded department, I often dreamed of walking in one morning to find that my fairy godmother had whisked 'the cage' away with her magic wand during the night.

Well it didn't happen during the night and I would hardly call Circulation Manager Chuck Benz my fairy godmother, but nevertheless, I got my wish.

OUR SECURE home-like cubby hole is gone. The family news department is now stationed in the middle of no where.

In the words of reporter James Werrell, the department looks naked.

The removal of 'the cage' has refreshed my mind of an old American saying: "If you don't like something, keep your mouth shut; someone may actually do something about it."

Also, the saying: "You never appreciate something until it's gone," applies.

My belated protest to the destruction of 'the cage' hasn't been the only opposition voiced.

City Editor Walter Finley has requested a whip to keep at his desk as a means of protection from the 'de-caged.'

Steadily, my assistant and I are growing accustomed to our new-found freedom.

But for now, we'll continue walking around the imaginary cage that is still very real in our minds.

Unprepared

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — The United States is woefully unprepared for a military showdown in the Persian Gulf region, where turbulence and instability now threaten the free world's oil supply.

Locked in secret Pentagon files is dismaying evidence that the U.S. show-of-strength in the region is more show than strength. The Joint Chiefs of Staff have warned President Carter largely that the Soviets possess "substantial advantages" in both strategic and conventional forces in the Middle East-Persian Gulf-Indian Ocean area.

The Joint Chiefs called this the trouble spot of "greatest vulnerability" for the United States.

In an urgent, top-secret report submitted shortly before the Iraqi-Iranian outbreak, they warned that Soviet forces "could intervene in regional political conflicts" and could threaten "U.S. and allied access to oil supplies."

THE GLEAMING U.S. warships, now arrayed in battle formation in those troubled waters, may look awesome from a distance. But viewed up close, all too many of the individual ships are unfit for service and manned by ill-trained crews.

For example, President Carter greeted the return of the aircraft carrier Nimitz from the Persian Gulf with fanfare and flourish. He flew to Norfolk, Va., earlier this year to welcome the great carrier home. Against a backdrop of martial music and fluttering flags, he intoned:

"Your presence in the Indian Ocean and in the Arabian Sea... constantly ready, constantly in training... (left) no doubt about American strength." He pledged "to maintain our military forces at the highest level of readiness, at the highest level of strength."

But there was something Carter did not tell the cheering throng: The Nimitz had not been "constantly ready" at all. Its skipper, Capt. John R. Batzler, had sent a grim warning from the Persian Gulf that the carrier was in "C-3 condition" — far short of "the highest level of readiness."

NAVY SOURCES told my associate, Ron McRae, that a combat ship should be in C-1 shape before it is sent into a danger zone. They described "C-3 condition" as unfit for combat, although technically it takes a C-4 rating to keep a ship out of action. The poor condition of the Nimitz, sources said, contributed to the failure last April of the hostage rescue attempt.

The Navy has had to scrounge to keep its other aircraft carriers combat-worthy, too. This past summer, the Midway had to be overhauled in the Philippines before it could be dispatched to the Persian Gulf.

Frantic admirals virtually scoured the Navy for 50 "volunteers" to man key positions aboard the Kennedy before it sailed for the Mediterranean in August.

And the Independence was plagued with problems — screws that dragged, inoperative catapults, malfunctioning blowers — during a month-long shakedown cruise. In one work area, the temperature hit 140 degrees, and crew members had to be rotated every 20 minutes.

Warned the Joint Chiefs in their top-secret report: "The United States has several deficiencies in its ability to project power. First, adequate sea and air transport is lacking..."

Second... faced with... severe... budgetary constraints, many operational and maintenance programs, which support day-to-day combat-readiness, have been cut back over the years. Inflation compounds the problem, as already tight budgets cannot be stretched to cover all that was programmed when the budget was put together.

"When that happens, flying and steaming hours and training days are the first to suffer. Plant facilities deteriorate. Ship repairs and aircraft overhauls are put off. Scores of small programs that impact on near-term readiness are deferred. The end result is a force which does not have the equipment and supplies it requires to operate efficiently nor the training needed to accomplish its mission effectively..."

"Navy conventional forces have been funded at an austere level since (fiscal year) 1978... Projected aircraft procurement rates are less than half those required to sustain current aviation force levels... Overall manning of the fleets is at 91.7 percent of all programmed billets, but serious shortages exist in certain skills and among supervisory non-commissioned officers, where manning is at 85.5 percent of authorized billets," states the top-secret report.

In stark language, it continues: "Shortages of ordnance and fuel are also degrading readiness. Certain types of ammunition are in short supply and storage capacity is limited

"Fuel and funding constraints have reduced opportunities for training at sea, with an adverse impact on the overall readiness of ships. Flying hours dedicated to training have also been reduced, cutting the number of training sorties flown in forward deployment areas and reducing training opportunities for non-deployed aircraft to less than 70 percent of the hours required to attain primary mission readiness."

Footnote: A Navy spokesman refused to comment on the readiness of carriers, except to argue that a C-3 ship is "considered to be combat-ready."

RAPID DEBATING FORCE: In a top-secret briefing for members of the House Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs, Myles Frechette, head of the State Department's Cuban desk, reassured the congressmen on the response to Cuban aggression.

"Any invasion by Cuba of a neighboring country," he explained, "would bring into play the Rio Treaty, the Inter-American System and the Organization of American States." This prospect moved Rep. Robert Lagomarsino, R-Calif., to observe drily, "I hope we do not wait until we have all the signatories" before the U.S. acts.

Bill Mittag, an Abilene artist who paints the "Southwestern Scenes," is one of the many new artists who will be participating in the upcoming Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival.

The fourth annual festival will be held Oct. 18-19 at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum and will be open to the general public free of charge.

Mittag was born in West Texas and raised in New Mexico. He received his college degree from New Mexico State University and has done graduate study at Eastern New Mexico University and UCLA.

'Password' host Ludden suffers massive stroke

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Television personality Allen Ludden, longtime host of the television game show "Password," suffered a massive stroke and was in a coma today at Community Hospital here, officials said.

Ludden, 62, was in critical condition.

He was brought to the hospital Tuesday morning, and his condition had not changed since then, said spokeswoman Marge Peterson.

Ludden's wife, actress Betty White, was with him Tuesday. The couple had been vacationing in the Monterey area.

The "Password" television series, with Ludden as master of ceremonies, was broadcast on CBS for six years beginning in 1961. It returned to the air in the early 1970s as a syndicated show.

Ludden was born in Wisconsin, and began teaching high school English in Austin, Texas, in 1941, after receiving his bachelor's and master's degrees in English at the University of Texas.

He worked briefly at radio station KEYS in Corpus Christi, Texas, before entering the Army in 1942, where he produced and directed 40 shows in the Pacific. After World War II, he became the personal Shakespearean actor Maurice Evans.

In 1947, Ludden began working on the staff of a playhouse in Connecticut and at radio station WTIC in Hartford, Conn.

Ludden's career blossomed in 1953 when he became moderator of the radio forerunner of "G-E College Bowl." In January 1959, he began nearly four years as moderator of the television version of that show on CBS-TV.

He also served from 1957-59 as program director for WCBS radio in New York City. From 1959-1961, he was director of programs for all CBS-owned radio stations.

Bird disease an epidemic in 20 states

HOUSTON (AP) — U.S. Department of Agriculture has enlisted 25 animal disease specialists to help combat an epidemic of bird diseases that has reached epidemic proportions in 20 states.

The call for help Tuesday after USI revealed about 5,000 birds at Exotex, a bird wholesaler in Houston, were highly-contagious disease and many destroyed.

Among the birds, 3,500 finches, 1,100 parakeets, 300 canaries, 100 lovebirds, 100 parrots, 100 rare Australian parrots and 10 breeder parrots.

"It's like cutting break around a forest," said USDA info officer Don Nielso. "Just have to remove fuel."

The birds probably destroyed by placing sealed boxes and carbon dioxide gas containers, he said.

Officials estimate 9,500 birds were killed last month. The estimated epidemic infected about 15,000 birds in the Houston area and 22,000 pet birds in 20 states.

The federal government has spent $942,000 in the southern region of the country to control the outbreak.

Nielso, however, identifies the other officials said were by the outbreak.

The virus is not dangerous to humans, officials fear the could be "devastating" to the country's poultry industry.

Should the virus into flocks of chickens and laying birds, officials said, the eggs and poultry would increase.

Young chicks particularly vulnerable to the disease passed bird-to-bird through contact or through animal's feces.

The worst outbreak occurred in Southern California in 1971 and 1973. As records show, a million laying hens died or were destroyed cost of almost $56 million.

Importers brought into the United States quarantine the birds for 30 days, USDA officials said. No evidence of any disease found, the birds then sold to retail wholesalers.

Bird disease an epidemic
in 20 states

HOUSTON (AP) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture has enlisted the aid of 25 animal doctors and specialists to help combat an exotic disease among pet birds authorities fear has reached "epidemic" proportions in 20 states.

The call for help came Tuesday after USDA tests revealed about 5,500 pet birds at Exotex, a Houston bird wholesaler, had the highly-contagious Newcastle disease and must be destroyed.

Among the birds were 3,500 finches, 1,100 small parakeets, 300 canaries, 200 lovebirds, 100 parrots, 60 rare Australian parakeets and 10 breeder parrots.

"It's like cutting a fire break around a forest fire," said USDA information officer Don Nielson. "You just have to remove all the fuel."

The birds probably will be destroyed by placing them in sealed boxes and forcing carbon dioxide gas into the containers, he said.

Officials estimated about 9,500 birds were killed here last month. Nielson estimated the epidemic had infected about 15,000 birds in the Houston area and about 22,000 pet birds in 20 states.

The federal agency already has spent more than $942,000 in the south-central region of the country to buy infected birds and destroy them.

On Tuesday, the USDA discovered evidence of Newcastle disease in two groups of birds, imported from Taiwan and South Africa, being sold in the Los Angeles area.

Nielson, however, did not identify the other 18 states officials said were affected by the outbreak.

The virus is not considered dangerous to humans, but officials fear the disease could be "devastating" to the country's poultry business.

Should the virus spread into flocks of broiler chickens and laying hens, officials said, the prices of eggs and poultry probably would increase.

Young chickens are particularly vulnerable to the disease passed from bird-to-bird through direct contact or through the animal's feces.

The worst outbreak of Newcastle occurred in Southern California between 1971 and 1973. As a result, records show, about 12 million laying hens either died or were destroyed at a cost of almost $56 million.

Importers bringing birds into the United States must quarantine the birds for 30 days, USDA officials said. If no evidence of any disease is found, the birds then may be sold to retailers and wholesalers.

HC ENSEMBLE GROUP GOING THROUGH CHANGES — Joe Whitten, minister of music at the First Baptist Church, has taken on the duties as director of the Howard College Ensemble group, currently known as the Choraliers. The group is searching for a name to fit their new image.

Whitten named director of HC ensemble group

You won't see them in robes, or singing "stained-glass" music, but before long you will know who they are.

They compose the Howard College ensemble group, currently the HC Choraliers. The Choraliers are going through several major changes this year, two of which are a new director and a new name.

Joe Whitten, minister of music at the First Baptist Church for the past eight years, and director of the singing group "His Children", has been named director of the ensemble. A new name has not yet been chosen for the group.

"My goal for this new ensemble group is for them to be so good and talented that it would be the desire of many people to be part of the group," said Whitten. "It's a winning chorale group. With a winning football team, the people know that when they go to a game, they will see a great performance. Well, we want to build the same type reputation: when people come to hear us, they know they will be hearing a great performance.

"The ensemble is comprised of 11 students with a maximum of 12 for the group," added Whitten. "The group is designed to be small in order to correlate with a small stage band. Each student was hand-picked in auditions to get the best sound we could possibly achieve."

"The group was formed primarily to promote Howard College at different functions. They will attend banquets, civic affairs, area clubs, and will tour area high schools recruiting for Howard College."

"With this in mind, it is essential that our music be designed to appeal to a broad spectrum of people. We will be singing music that includes disco, Broadway sounds, contemporary and some gospel," said Whitten. The group will be travelling with a sophisticated sound system which will include a microphone for each singer.

Aside from directing the singing group, Whitten also instructs voice class at HC.

Whitten has a bachelor's degree from West Texas State University and completed his masters degree from Texas Tech University.

Whitten is a member of the Centurymen, a national singing group composed of 100 men from across the nation. Whitten has been on eight of ten albums which the Centurymen record each year at Nashville.

The Centurymen also tour the United States two or three times a year, and have also been to Brazil and Europe.

In 1976, the Centurymen were on a television special which was filmed at the Sea of Galilee. The Centurymen were also on television when they appeared with Bob Hope at the Capitol in Washington, D.C.

Steer loss hurt, but future looks bright

The Big Spring Steers came into Friday night's contest with Abilene High as 26-point underdogs...

tight like they did last night, we don't have the confidence that we need...

But the Steers, who started only seven seniors of the 22 starting positions in the District 5-AAAAA opener...

Much of that lack of confidence could be seen indirectly in the final quarter when Abilene marched for their two winning scores...

Abilene, behind the performance of veteran QB Loyal Proffitt, rallied to hand the youthful Big Spring team a loss...

The pass rush wasn't as intimidating as it had been in the first three stanzas, and the Eagle wide receivers were getting open at will on the deep curl pattern...

But despite the positive performance of the Steers for three quarters, the last 12 minutes undoubtedly left a sour taste in their mouths...

"Our defensive backs weren't physical enough with their wide receivers in that final quarter," Harris stated...

"We should have won the ball game," Harris said Saturday afternoon in his office...

"Our pass rush also lost some confidence at the end, too, and it hurt," Harris continued...

Harris acknowledged the fact that the Steers do need more of a passing game, as the one thus far this season has been anemic...

"The day is going to come where we will be able to pass the football," Harris philosophized...

"But we're getting there," Harris continued. "We're coming. Golly, we're close..."

"When I took one tablet I felt fine," he said, but he said he doubled the dosage against doctor's orders...

But Harris still sees some much needed improvement in many phases of the Big Spring team at present...

"I jogged three days before (the fight) and I couldn't even pick up my legs," the former champion said...

"Tracy Spence is coming along as far as making good decisions in running the option," Harris said...

"When I took one tablet I felt fine," he said, but he said he doubled the dosage against doctor's orders...

"But still," the Big Spring mentor who is attempting to turn around what was a miserable team last fall, explained...

One aspect of the loss that may have a positive influence on the Steers, Harris feels, is the fact that it may have brought members of the team closer together...

"We're not controlling the football more effectively, that will only increase that big play potential..."

"These kids are tough," he stated with a reference to their physical prowess...

That big play potential, in the presence of Bobby Earl Williams and Robert Evans, was in the form of one person Friday night...

"We've done some things wrong, true; but we've also improved a great deal and have done some very good things," he said...

"I told our team all week that that number 35 (Williams) was as good as any back we would face all year..."

While the loss to Abilene in such a disheartening fashion could make some teams wilt and fold, Harris is very positive and full of praise for his 1980 Steer team...

"We're disappointed," he explained. "We haven't worked hard to play well, look good and lose by a little..."

"If we get that," he continued, "we'll be one tough football team..."

"We're not there yet, but we'll be there someday," he continued in explaining his philosophy...

And as long as that's the case, there is always hope for a brighter night each Friday...

To take 1-0 edge over Astros in NL playoffs

Phillies use one swing for 3-1 win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The first 64 years are always the toughest.

Series. The Phillies beat the Houston Astros 3-1 Tuesday night in the first game of their best-of-five National League Championship series.

Greg Luzinski's two-run homer in the sixth inning triggered the Phillies' first post-season victory at home since Grover Cleveland Alexander beat the Boston Red Sox in the 1915 World Series.

The Phillies had lost 10 straight post-season games at home, including two in that 1915 Series, two in the 1950 World Series to the New York Yankees and six in divisional playoffs in 1976, 1977 and 1978.

Steve Carlton, the Phillies' 24-game winner, was credited with the victory although he wasn't as overpowering as during the regular season.

Still, Carlton worked seven innings and allowed just one run.

Manager Dallas Green lifted Carlton for a pinch hitter in the seventh despite a 2-1 lead.

The reliever was Tug McGraw, who had four wins and three saves in September and one victory and two saves this month in the Phillies' drive to the NL East title.

McGraw came in and retired six of seven batters to save the game for Philadelphia.

Astros' pitcher Ken Forsch held onto the slim lead until the sixth when Pete Rose opened with an infield single. Bake McBride struck out and Mike Schmidt flied out.

Forsch then went to 3-2 on Luzinski and boom. The ball flew out of the ball park for a Beat of Five American League Championship Series Wednesday's Game New York (Guidry 17-10) at Kansas City (Gura 18-10)

The Astros took a 1-0 lead in the third inning on singles by Jose Cruz, Cesar Cedeno, and a two-out base hit under the glove of second baseman Manny Trillo by rookie Gary Woods.

Phillies added an insurance run in the seventh on Garry Maddox' single, a sacrifice bunt from Larry Bowa, Maddox' steal of third and a slicing single to left by pinch hitter Greg Gross, who was batting for Carlton.

The disconsolate Forsch went the distance, allowing eight hits, striking out five and walking just one.

Brett says KC ready

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Kansas City's 8-4 season record against the New York Yankees this year means the Royals are about to break the Yankee jinx in the American League playoffs, says George Brett.

"We beat them eight times and they beat us four," the Kansas City third baseman said Tuesday on the eve of the fourth playoff meeting in five years between the Yanks and Royals.

"We all believe this is our year," said Brett, whose 390 average this season was the best in the major leagues since 1941. "We think winning eight out of 12 proves we've got the best team."

Larry Gura, who hasn't won in six weeks, was to start for the Royals against New York's Ron Guidry. The Yankees, who beat the Royals in their best-of-five series in 1976, '77 and '78, will be facing a left-hander who hasn't won since Aug. 25.

Gura finished with an 18-10 record and whipped the Yankees three times while compiling an earned run average of 2.95. But since pulling a groin muscle in late August, he shows five losses and three no-decisions in eight starts and an ERA of 5.70.

Kansas City Manager Jim Frey created unrest among many of his players by naming John Wathan to start in right field instead of Clint Hurdle.

Guidry was 1-2 against the Royals while compiling an 18-11 record and 3.56 ERA. The two left-handers differ dramatically in style. Guidry throwing an over-powering fastball and hard slider while Gura must rely on control and finesse.

Gura refused to talk to writers after Tuesday's workout.

Wathan, a right-handed hitter who excelled while filling in at catcher this year, batted .305. But he is not the equal to Hurdle in the outfield, and in spacious Royals Stadium, with its slick artificial turf, this could be telling.

Yankees Manager Dick Howser disagrees with Brett's assessment of the regular season series.

"We played the Royals when they were awfully awfully hot," he said. "The way they were playing, they could have beat the 1928 Yankees. No team can stay as hot as they were. This is a whole new season for everybody."

Dallas offense must gel as 49ers circus flies in

DALLAS (AP) — If you were bored watching last Sunday's dull New York Giant-Dallas game, then Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry promises you plenty of thrills this weekend.

"It will be very exciting this Sunday," promised Landry. "I know we'll be excited."

The San Francisco 49ers and their control passing game will be on hand for the 1 p.m. kickoff.

"They use passes to their backs like we use running plays," said Landry. "It will be a big test for us. They'll probably throw the ball 40 to 45 times. Our young secondary will get a workout."

Expected to be available for backup duty will be veteran Benny Barnes, making his first appearance since he underwent an emergency appendectomy five weeks ago before Dallas' opener against the Washington Redskins.

"We will work Benny back into the lineup slow," said Landry. "He will backup (strong safety) Charlie Waters and (cornerback) Steve Wilson. We also hope to work him on the kicking team."

"We might get Benny in there on passing downs. He could have a conditioning problem although he is in good shape. We'll just have to see what he does this week in workouts."

Landry also announced that Ron Springs, who missed a week with a sprained ankle and shared duty in Sunday's 24-3 victory over the New York Giants with Robert Newhouse, would start at fullback.

"We'll have to make three touchdowns or better to win," Landry predicted of the 49er game. "We've got about 24 or 28 points to win."

San Francisco has averaged 270 yards per game passing while the porous Cowboys' secondary has yielded 178 overhead yards per game.

Ernal Allen, special assistant to Landry, said "the 49ers throw the ball over 60 per cent of the time and it seems like 80 per cent. They use more formations than we do. It should be a heckuva game."

Dallas is a nine-point favorite over the 49ers for the 1 p.m. game.

White again probable

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas quarterback Danny White, who has to wear a splint on the middle digit of his left hand because of a fractured finger, was listed as a probable starter for Sunday's game against San Francisco because of bruises to his thumb and three fingers of his right hand.

White also has a bruise in the middle of his back which he suffered in Sunday's 24-3 victory over the New York Giants.

Listed as questionable was defensive end Harvey Martin, who has a bruised thigh.

Strong safety Charley Waters has a hairline bone fracture on his left hand and is probable.

Dallas also announced that cornerback Benny Barnes, who underwent an emergency appendectomy in Washington Sept. 8, is ready to go fullspeed in workouts.

His 4 TD game moved Mosley to safety

New Aggie OB surprised

DALLAS (AP) — David Beal's dreams weren't THAT good.

"I'd often think about starting a game and taking the team to a win, but I guarantee you I never dreamed about scoring four touchdowns in a game," said the senior Texas A&M University quarterback. "I haven't even scored four touchdowns in one season."

Beal started his first game for the Aggies Saturday and ran for four touchdowns in a 41-21 victory over the Texas Tech Red Raiders.

It earned the senior from Russellville, Ark., The Associated Press Southwest Conference Offensive Player of the Week award.

Beal's career has been strictly second fiddle to Mike Mosley until Saturday. Because of Beal's great game, Mosley was moved to safety this week by Coach Tom Wilson.

"It was tough being second string all these years," said Beal. "It got kind of discouraging. But Mike was doing great. I just never accepted being second string. I was always trying to be first team."

Beal earned the starting nod after the Aggies had been crushed by Penn State and Georgia. It also came on the heels of a drug investigation by Wilson.

"There was some confusion and shock around here for a few days during the investigation," said Beal.

PAT GRAY'S BODY WORKS WILL PAINT ANYTHING... even a crane for Bill Hanson Trucking Co.

Pat Gray's Body Works paints anything, almost

Have you got something out of the ordinary that needs a new paint job? Maybe an over-sized piece of merchandise that could do with a little face lift? An under-sized article that has just gotten so worn that you can't stand it any longer?

Well, Pat Gray's Body Works can come to your rescue. You see, they can paint anything, almost. Just recently, they completed the painting of a crane belonging to Bill Hanson Trucking Company, Inc. Not something that any ordinary body shop would be willing to do. And, that is just a "large" sample of what Pat Gray's Body Works can do. The trained, professional employees at Pat Gray's Body Works specialize in painting cars and trucks and they try to do it at a price that will fit your budget.

These mechanics use a special paint called urethane enamel. It lasts longer than most brands of paints. They also use acrylic lacquer for their work to assure their customers the best quality finish.

If you own a foreign made automobile, don't worry. Pat Gray's Body Works can paint your car and paint it just as easily as an American made vehicle. They do complete car painting as well as touch up painting.

In addition to the above mentioned items, appliances are on their list of acceptable items for business. Although they do not use the special paint material as they use on cars, the quality of the finish is just as good.

The professional mechanics at Pat Gray's Body Works will repair dents and other body mishaps. Using fiberglass is no problem for them if that is the part of your vehicle that is damaged.

Call Pat Gray's Body Works today and add new-found beauty to any item, large or small. They are located at 1221 West Third Street and their phone number is 263-0582.

Texas PTA has conference for parents and educators

Educational issues and concerns confronting parents will be addressed Oct. 15 at a special conference sponsored by the Texas PTA for area parents, teachers, counselors and school administrators in Midland's Convention Center.

"We're hoping for a good turn-out from Big Spring," said local PTA council president Leslie Earnst.

Largest organization representing the interests of parents in the state, the Texas PTA is focusing attention during October on opportunities for parents to participate in the educational process.

The state-wide series of programs is sponsored by PTA jointly with Educational Testing Service and World Book-Child Craft International. El Paso and Canyon are sites of the other conferences planned for West Texas.

"The decade of the eighties," said Hester Herbster, state PTA president, "will find parents re-examining their roles as the child's first and most important teacher and becoming more directly involved in the educational process."

Mrs. Herbster pointed to a recent Gallup Poll which predicts "the next great advance in education will come when parents and teachers work as a team."

Rebuking statements that "the parent doesn't care about the child's education," Mrs. Herbster emphasized that PTA is actively working at national, state and local levels to inform the public of opportunities for parents who do care about education in the '80s.

Keynote speaker for the Midland meeting will be Dr. Keith Osborn who was first national director of Head Start and one of the originators of the television series Sesame Street.

Persons interested in learning more about education in the '80s may call Mrs. Earnst (7-1736) or Big Spring PTA presidents for additional information about the meeting: College Heights, Diana Bailey (3-3117); Kentwood, Milly Cunningham (3-7484); Marcy, Nelda Reagan (3-1910); Moss, Rodney Michie (7-8547); and Washington, Marcia Rogers (3-4923).

Several carpools are being organized for shared transportation to the Midland meetings slated for 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Oct. 15, according to Mrs. Earnst.

SAYS CELEBRITIES CAN HELP — Television personality Cathy Lee Crosby appears before the House Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control Tuesday in Washington. She told the panel that she believes the entertainment industry could use celebrity pressure to fight peer pressure among youngsters to use drugs.

Rebekah Lodge honors two fifty-year members

Members baked cookies and brought them to the meeting to be taken to the Big Spring State Hospital. Cakes will be baked by Mattie Roberts, Winifred Wood, Janel Barnhill and Iva Kenney to be taken to the Veterans Administration Medical Center.

October Refreshment Committee members include Mildred Collins, Lucille Petty, Mabel Morrison, Faye Gill, Norma Newton and Delia Sullivan. They will be responsible for serving cakes to those celebrating birthdays this month.

Following the meeting, fifty-year members Ora Martin and Della Herring were presented corsages. Readings were given on "Tribute to 50 Years." Songs were sung by Marion Savelle and Mrs. Newton. Malinda Blackburn accompanied at the piano.

Ten OES chapters celebrate friendship night in area

Laura B. Hart chapter 1019, Order of the Eastern Star, observed Friendship Night at the Masonic Hall Saturday.

A salad supper was served to the 75 present. Ten chapters of the district were represented from Crane, Lamesa, Coahoma, Andrews, Odessa, Midland, and Big Spring.

The tables were covered with white cloths and decorated with arrangements of pink flowers and butterflies.

Paul Sweatt, worthy patron, gave the invocation. After the meal, the group retired to the chapter room where grand officers were introduced and welcomed. All past matrons and past patrons were introduced also.

A singing group, The Bolts and Nuts, from the First United Methodist Church, under the direction of Charles Parham, entertained the group with a medley of songs.

Gifts were presented to all officers of visiting chapters. Friendship cards and rose book markers were given to all visitors and members.

The meeting closed after repeating the Mizpah benediction.

When is girl old enough to date

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Mary, from Galesburg, Ill., wants to know how old a girl should be before she dates. Tom Brown, 16, of Zanesville, Ohio, and Beth Garner, 16, of Fullerton, Calif., will give Mary the teen point of view.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 15 and my parents will not allow me to date. I wouldn't complain but all my girlfriends are dating and I sit home wishing and dreaming.

I'd like to know how old a girl should be when she first starts dating. If possible, I'd like to hear from the guest teen writers. — Mary, Galesburg, Ill.

Mary: A girl is ready to date when she is mature enough to accept and abide by the rules set by her parents. Some girls 14 are capable of dating while others who are 15 and 16 are not. The same is true for boys. — Dr. Wallace.

tially, I think you, at 15, are plenty old enough to date.

My sister, 15, started dating when she was 14 and already has dated at least 10 different guys. — Tom, Zanesville, Ohio

Dr. Wallace: I always read your column and guess what? I've got a problem for you.

I'm going with a super nice 17-year-old boy that I love very much. We have been going together for a year now, and I will admit it has been the best year of my life.

My problem is that my mom's fiance only allows me to see him on Friday and Saturday nights. I would also like to see him on Sunday but the answer is always no.

Mem loves my boyfriend like her own son and we both love her parents.

Do you think I should be able to see him on Sundays? — S.S., Mount Vernon, Ohio

S.S.: I think Sundays would be an excellent day to spend time with your boyfriend and your family once a month and his family once a month in family-related recreation.

That's only my thoughts — remember, you mother has final say.

If you would like to be a guest teen writer, please write to me in care of this newspaper, stating your sex and age.

Dear Abby

Fire Statistics Are Cause for Alarm

DEAR READERS: It's Fire Prevention Week again, and I have had so many requests to repeat my column on fire prevention that it has become a tradition. So here it is, with updated figures:

First the bad news: In 1979, 8,893 Americans died, and nearly 34,000 civilians, plus 100,000 firemen, were seriously injured in 2,845,500 fires. And now for the "good news": We've improved. In 1978, 10,500 Americans perished in over 3,500,000 fires.

A large percentage of the dead were children, elderly persons and invalids who had been left alone "for just a few minutes."

The chief causes of fires, in order of the toll taken, were:

1. Smoking
2. Electrical wiring
3. Heating and cooking equipment
4. Children playing with matches
5. Open flames and sparks
6. Flammable liquids
7. Suspected arson
8. Chimney and flues
9. Lightning
10. Spontaneous ignition

The total fire loss last year totaled $5,750,000,000 in the U.S.

Now for some tips that could save your life: Be sure your cigarette is out. Matches, too. Never leave matches and lighters within the reach of children.

Don't run cords under rugs or over radiators where they may get damaged. Replace a cord if it is frayed. Never leave small children or invalids alone in the house. Not even for a few minutes.

Have your wiring and electrical installations done by a professional.

Store oily rags and paints in a cool place in tightly sealed metal containers.

Never use flammable liquids for dry cleaning indoors.

Never smoke in bed.

Have a fire drill in your home to be sure everyone knows what to do in case of fire. Designate a specific meeting place outside so you will all know who's outside of the house.

Remember: Fire extinguishers put out 97 percent of all fires on which they were used, and most large fires start as small fires. So, invest in a compact, easy-to-use fire extinguisher. Keep it handy in your kitchen, or be prudent and buy one for your cottage, car, boat and the back bedroom.

Some excellent smoke-, heat- and fire-detection systems are available to homeowners. Shop around and buy the one that suits your needs.

Now, in case of fire:

If you suspect fire, alert the rest of the household. But first feel the top of the door. If it's hot, don't open it. Escape through the window.

If you can't open the window, break it with a chair. Cover the rough edges with a blanket, sit on the window ledge with one leg hanging outside and one inside, and wait for help.

The phone number of your fire department should be taped on every telephone. If it isn't, don't fumble around trying to find it. Get out and call from a neighbor's house.

If you live in an apartment building, use the stairway. Don't take a chance on the elevator. If it fails, you're trapped.

Once out, stay out. No treasure is worth risking your life.

It took less than three minutes to read this column. Was it worth it? I hope so.

Coahoma Study Club has school and HC programs

The 1941 Study Club of Coahoma met Monday in the home of Mrs. Hattie Swan. Mrs. Quail Dobbs was co-hostess.

Richard Souter, Coahoma school superintendent and Tom Spell, elementary school principal, presented a film of the proposed construction of a new elementary school building. The bond on the proposed building will be voted on Oct. 11.

Mrs. Dene Sheppard presented a program on the historical book of Howard County. The book, to be published by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, commemorates Howard County's 100th birthday. The county was incorporated in 1882.

The history will include pictures and family stories, items about Howard County schools, and stories of all servicemen from Howard County. Sections on the churches and cemeteries of the county will be included as well as clubs, organizations and businesses. A section will be reserved for memorials and tributes to the living.

Coahoma's representatives on the Howard County Historical Commission are Mrs. Jo Callahan and Mrs. Rae Nell Bets. These two can be contacted if anyone needs help with their history. Mrs. Sheppard distributed papers giving details to use in writing each family story and stressed that all family stories are important.

Mrs. Paul Allen led the club collect and roll call was answered with the number of years each one present had lived in Howard County by the 18 members and one guest present. One charter member, Mrs. G.T. Guthrie, was present.

Mrs. Charley Murphy, president, presided. Two letters of resignation were submitted, one from Mrs. Jack Cauble and the other from Mrs. Lola Keel. These letters were accepted with regret. New members introduced were Mrs. Joan Daniel and Mrs. Billy Jack Darden. Mrs. Phil Wynn presented the Budget Committee report.

Members were reminded to take trick or treat goodies to senior citizens during the month. The meeting closed with the pledge of allegiance to the flag led by Mrs. Wendell Shive.
