Sniper wounds young girl while firing at Dallas city bus

DALLAS (AP) — Investigators are filtering through dozens of interviews today, trying to determine who pumped at least one high-powered shot into a crowded city bus Tuesday morning, striking an 8-year-old girl in the head and wounding two other commuters.

"We don't have any good, solid suspects," Youth Lt. John Reed said after investigators talked with at least 40 witnesses to the early morning sniping.

However, he downplayed reports that the sniping was related to a two-week-old walkout against the city's only mass transit system.

"I couldn't say that in a hundred years," Reed said. "We haven't talked to everybody, yet. We haven't got enough to say anything just yet. There's not really anything outstanding."

But one official said privately that the strike was still the focus of the investigation.

"I can't lay it off on anything but that," the high-ranking official told The Dallas Morning News.

Elisa Williams of Dallas was in critical condition today at Children's Medical Center with a gunshot wound to the back of the head. Two of the other 64 passengers were wounded either by flying glass or bullet fragments.

The investigation has been hampered by conflicting witness reports on the number of shots fired — one or two, Reed said. And police have been unable to recover the bullet or determine what kind of gun was used.

"We did not recover the slug," said Youth Lt. Eddie Walt. "Obviously, it was a fairly high-powered slug."

The shooting occurred about 7:15 a.m. as the bus stopped to pick up passengers in the South Oak Cliff section of Dallas.

Abscam videotape tops network news

NEW YORK (AP) — Grainy video tapes of ousted congressman Michael Myers accepting a $50,000 bribe topped all three TV network news programs, but his Philadelphia neighbors' loyalty was unshaken.

Myers on Tuesday became the first U.S. congressman to appear on national television on tapes made in the FBI's covert Abscam inquiry. He is unlikely to be the last.

Audio and video tapes of meetings with agents posing as aides to a bogus Arab sheik willing to pay for favors are key to the prosecution of Abscam defendants, and the U.S. Supreme Court's refusal to overturn a ruling allowing their broadcast is expected to set a precedent.

Myers was convicted of bribery and conspiracy Aug. 30, and has since been expelled from Congress. He is seeking re-election as the Democratic nominee.

After watching the tapes themselves Tuesday night, Myers went out and campaigned.

Today he appeared on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America" program and professed his innocence, as he has done all along. "I never made an attempt to do anything wrong," Myers said. "I did not introduce any legislation."

Myers took exception to the networks' handling of the Abscam tape material, contending the news organizations only "pick out the stuff that is most damaging." However, Myers admitted under questioning that nowhere on the tape does he refuse the money.

Some 25 of Myers' south Philadelphia neighbors interviewed after the tapes were televised expressed faith in the two-term congressman.

"He did take the money, but that doesn't bother me," said bartender Rich Francolino, who said he had twice voted for Myers. "If someone offered you $50,000 it would be awful hard to refuse, too. I can't blame Ozzie (Myers) for being human."

Myers said he was optimistic about voter reaction in the 1st Congressional District, where 80 percent of registered voters are Democrats. "I have confidence in the voters of Philadelphia because they know a railroad job when they see one," said Myers, who had tried to block showing of the tapes in court.

Meanwhile, in South Carolina, Rep. John Jenrette and his wife, Rita, watched the broadcasts, which Mrs. Jenrette said gave her a feeling of "deja vu."

Jenrette was convicted on charges of taking a $50,000 bribe in a trial that featured video tapes made secretly by the FBI. Four other congressmen face similar trials.

Watching was like "reliving what happened a week ago," Mrs. Jenrette told WOLO-TV of Columbia, S.C., calling it "traumatic." She said her husband, who is seeking re-election, was not worried about voter reaction. "He is never seen taking any money," she said. "He did not take any money."

The TV networks went to court in Washington, D.C., on Tuesday seeking the tapes from Jenrette's trial.

Myers wanted the tapes withheld pending his appeal.

Greenville youth Carrier of Year

FORT WORTH — Craig Black of the Greenville Herald-Banner has been named as Texas Newspaper Carrier of the Year. The Greenville paper is a Harte-Hanks publication.

Eight other carriers in the state, including Silvia Cisneros of the Big Spring Herald, were also honored with $500 cash awards.

Representatives of the Texas Circulation Management Association selected the winners on the basis of route performance, citizenship and civic activities.

By local theater group

Auditorium's use sought on regular basis

By JAMES WERRELL

As soon as a few details can be worked out, Big Spring will have a city theater group operating out of the Municipal Auditorium.

During Tuesday night's regular meeting of the city council, Cecilia McKenzie, managing director of the Spring City Theater, asked councilmen if the group could occupy the auditorium on a regular basis. In return for the stage privileges, Spring City Theater will be responsible for all maintenance, utilities and operational costs of the auditorium.

In addition, said Ms. McKenzie, capital improvement funding will be sought by the group, and money raised by SCT productions will be rechanneled into improving the building.

"We are a chartered, non-profit organization, and with a base of operations we can apply for funding that would benefit both us and the community," she stated. "We would manage the booking of any other acts that want to appear at the auditorium, and our productions wouldn't interfere with any other activities held there," she added.

The council was openly enthusiastic about the proposal, but because the auditorium's utilities are tied in with those of the Central Fire Station, special arrangements will have to be made. The council instructed city staff members to work out a solution and present it at the next regular meeting.

The council also was confronted with a set of complaints stemming from water running over city streets; water running under city streets; and broken water mains all around city streets.

The first of three claims for damages was submitted by Mrs. Ruben D. Figueroa Jr., 4203 Muir. Representing Mrs. Figueroa, Attorney Bob Miller explained that on Sept. 22 she had driven her car onto the top of a hill near the intersection of Alamesa and Parkway.

Due to heavy rains, the car was washed down the hill and into nearly four feet of water in the intersection.

Her car was ruined and Mrs. Figueroa contracted strep throat during the incident.

Miller asked the council for $1,500 to cover the damages.

Dissenting, City Attorney Elliott Mitchell offered the opinion that the city was not responsible because, in essence, the flowing water was an act of God.

"The city is not liable for damages resulting from a failure to drain surface water so long as it does not negligently increase or divert the flow of the surface water to the injury of others," he said.

"I feel sorry that the lady lost her car, but I fail to see how we're reliable," said Councilman Robert Fuller. "There are a lot of legal questions here that may need to be handled by someone else, but for now, I make a motion that we deny the claim."

The council then voted unanimously to do so.

In the second claim, Nancy Fulgham, 1402 E. 18th, submitted a memo saying that on Sept. 8, while driving south on Birdwell and turning the corner onto Phillips, the city street caved in beneath her car. She wanted $463 from the city to pay for damage to the auto.

Again Mitchell denied the city's culpability. The street caved in, he said, because natural water flowed under it and eroded its base.

"The municipality is not liable in damages for an injury caused by the defective or unsafe condition of its streets unless the condition was caused by the city or under its authority," he said.

The council voted to deny the request, with Councilman Larry Miller abstaining "for personal reasons."

In the third claim, W.A. Allen Jr., 1515 Hilltop, stated that his son, Kelly, had during a blinding rainstorm on Sept. 28, driven his car into a five-foot hole dug by the city on the 200 block of East 19th. Allen admitted that a barricade had been erected, but added that it consisted only of a painted white board supported by a pair of iron supports.

He stated that the barricade was too difficult to spot in the storm, and that the city should pay him $435.68 in damages. Larry Miller spoke out in favor of Allen.

"In defense of Mr. Allen, we can't use the excuse that people are stealing the light or smudge pots or whatever around these barricades," said the councilman. "There's no way you can see two pieces of metal pole with a board across them at night."

Mitchell advised that although the city may be partially responsible, driving error was also involved. He recommended a compromise payment of $100.

The council voted three-to-two in favor of that suggestion, with Miller and Hal Boyd dissenting.

W.D. Berry, who has devoted 30 years to Civil Defense in Howard County, offered a 275-page disaster preparedness plan to the city for future efforts. The office of Civil Defense will be phased out during the coming fiscal year, and absorbed by another department in either the county or the city.

Although Berry offered his help in continuing the program, he was bitter about the phase-out of funding for his department.

"I feel sorry for the people of Big Spring. I have done my job for 30 years and have received two presidential citations. Whether you (the council) like it or not, you will have to face some unpleasant things," he said. "I have asked the city manager to consult with me on the need for this department, and he hasn't. I have asked the mayor to call me and meet with me and he has not. I just hope nothing serious happens," Berry added.

Following his presentation, the council thanked Berry for his service to the city, and accepted the multi-paged plan.

Members gave final approval to a revised ordinance governing beer and wine sales in the city on Sunday. Under the new plan, dealers with an on-premises license to sell beer and wine will not be allowed to do so all on Sunday.

"This does not really change the existing ordinance in purpose or effect. It is just a clarification that will allow clearer enforcement," said City Manager Don Davis.

The council passed on first reading an ordinance updating the Texas Municipal Retirement System for city employees. The new plan calls for a five-percent participation by employees with matching payments by the city on a two-to-one basis.

Retirement payments would be based on an average of the employees last three year's salary instead of his whole salary history, as in the present plan. The new plan will also provide retroactive benefits for long-time employees and even some who have already retired.

Sheriffs claim they have been libeled; may sue

By DON WOODS

Sheriff's Association of Texas is planning legal action against an article appearing in the Dallas Morning News in September. The article quoted a veteran FBI agent, Bill Hinshaw, saying half of the sheriff's in Texas are on the take.

The sheriff's association has hired Richard "Racehorse" Haynes on retainer to prosecute the case.

"Well, it's pretty clear they have been libeled by an article printed. They are saying that half the sheriff's are on the take. When you accuse someone of being a criminal you have to have proof," said Haynes in a telephone interview Tuesday.

"Reputations are very valuable," he said, in commenting on the amount of the settlement.

Haynes said the FBI is contending that Hinshaw was not an agent at the time he made the comment.

"Somebody is not telling it like it is. Somebody needs to get it together," he said.

Special Agent-in-charge James Abbot said Sept. 23, the day after the article ran in the Herald, that Hinshaw had not been assigned as an agent in Texas and is not the official spokesman for the Dallas division of the FBI.

Hinshaw denied saying that half of Texas' sheriff's are on the take. Hinshaw was active at one time in investigating sheriff corruption in East Texas.

Haynes and his associates are working on the petition and will probably file it in Tyler, the East Texas town where Hinshaw allegedly made the comments.

A letter to Texas sheriffs written by Sheriff Association President Gordon Johnson said the association wrote letters to President Jimmy Carter, Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti and Robert Walsh, Dallas Morning News editor.

The letter "requested that such irresponsible actions on the part of the principals involved should be cause for termination," according to the letter sent to Texas sheriffs. The letter was sent Sept. 24 but Johnson has not received a reply to the letter or from numerous phone calls.

Johnson called the remarks "ridiculous, irrational and irresponsible allegations."

Johnson said the association met Oct. 7 to decide to retain Haynes after lengthy discussion.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Symptoms

Q. What are the symptoms of Toxic-Shock Syndrome? I once used Rely tampons about two months ago. I saw on TV that they don't have a cure yet. Is this true?

A. Toxic-Shock Syndrome, a newly-discovered illness is found mostly in menstruating women who use tampons. The symptoms are high fever, a large rash, diarrhea, vomiting and low blood pressure leading to shock. The chances are 3 per 100,000 per year that a person will come down with the illness, caused by a bacteria. The Center for Disease Control in Atlanta has published reports saying tampons may be a cofactor in TSS, but not the cause. It is not known why Rely Tampons were found in more women who reported the illness. Anti-biotics are used for treatment. Almost half the persons who have it, who are not treated properly will get it again.

Calendar: Dance club meets

WEDNESDAY

The Spring City Dance Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Eagle's Lodge, 703 W. 3rd. Whitaker's Tumbleweed band will provide the music. All members and guests welcome.

THURSDAY

The National Association of Retired and Veterans Railway Employees Inc., will meet for a potluck supper and business meeting at the Kentwood Older Adult Activity Center at 6:30 p.m.

SATURDAY

Marcy Fall Halloween Festival, Marcy Elementary School, 4 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Tops on TV: 'Friendly Fire'

If you have no appetite for baseball, then tune in on the ABC movie, "Friendly Fire," starting at 7 p.m. It stars Carol Burnett in a serious role, along with Ned Beatty and Sam Waterson. The World Series, pitting Kansas City against Philadelphia, gets under way at 7:30 p.m. on NBC. Warmup shows get under way 30 minutes earlier on the same network.

Inside: DPS investigation

FOUR DRUNKEN state undercover narcotics agents beat up a hitchhiker and used a dull knife to cut his hair. That's according to testimony in a federal civil rights suit filed by the agents' supervisor — who eventually was fired because of the 1972 incident. See page 6-A.

NEW MODELS ARE selling well, and U.S. automakers report increased sales for the first time since January. The five major companies said auto sales for the first 10 days of October were up 12 percent from that period last year. See page 8-A.

Outside: Chance

Partly cloudy through Thursday with a slight chance of rain this afternoon. Cooler Thursday. High today in the mid 60s, low tonight in the mid 50s. High Thursday in the upper 70s. Winds will be from the south and southwest at 15 to 25 mph and gusty today, 15 to 20 mph tonight and west and southwesterly 15 to 25 mph and gusty Thursday. Chance of rain is 20 percent this afternoon.

Police Beat Vandals striking cars

Local criminals decided to strike cars recently. A large wrench was used to smash the front windshield of an auto belonging to Lumina Buckman, 1500-A Virginia, Monday night. Damage was estimated at $175.

A driver's side mirror was stolen from a car belonging to Virginia White, 901 N.W. 5th, around 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. Cost of the mirror has not been estimated.

Vandals punctured two tires on a car belonging to Diana Paredes, 1301 Sycamore, early Tuesday morning. Damage was estimated at $120.

A 30-year-old local woman was admitted to Cowper Hospital after trying to commit suicide, Tuesday night. She had taken six barbiturates and cut her right wrist when she was discovered by her husband.

J.C. Nixon told police that burglars have struck several times during the last month at his office-apartment in the Wyoming Hotel. Missing are a .38 and a .22 caliber revolver and $700 in cash. Total loss is estimated at $910.

Two mishaps were reported Tuesday. A parked vehicle belonging to Bobby Armstrong, 2609 Wasson, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene outside the Armstrong residence, 10:09 a.m.

Vehicles driven by William J. Hurren Jr., 1609 Oriole, and Grace A. Karns, Route 1, collided at 1700 Marcy, 10:45 a.m.

Digest Fire damages church

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The downtown United Presbyterian Church suffered $2 million worth of damage, including destruction of a $700,000 pipe organ, after a fire roared through the church, fire officials said.

Nobody was in the building when the fire broke out Tuesday, and arson investigators were questioning two unidentified men about the blaze, officials said. Two firefighters suffered minor injuries.

The Rev. Paul Pulliam said the church had been burglarized an average of two or three times a month, usually for food.

About 100 firefighters tried unsuccessfully to halt the spread of flames through the four-story structure, built in 1913.

Center closing delayed

FORT McCOY, Wis. (AP) — Officials at the Cuban refugee center have postponed today's scheduled closing of the facility until the end of the month so some refugees still here can be resettled, officials said.

There would still be about 229 refugees at the camp after today's scheduled transfer of approximately 60 mentally ill Cubans to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Washington, said Bob Heuer, a State Department spokesman.

Two weeks ago, the government transferred about 3,200 Cubans to the refugee center at Fort Chaffee, Ark., because most of McCoy's barracks, designed for summer infantry training, were unsuitable for the winter.

Burro roundup resumes

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP) — The second phase in the roundup of wild burros in Grand Canyon was set to resume today, according to officials with the Fund for Animals, the agency sponsoring the operation.

Cowboys moved into camp near here Tuesday, said Richard Negus, the fund's southwest director. Wranglers captured 50 of the sure-footed, stubborn animals in August and hoisted them out of the mile-deep canyon by helicopter.

The goal for the latest roundup is to bring out 200 burros in the next 50 days. The National Park Service has said the animals have damaged an estimated 45,000 acres of park land.

Kahn leaving government

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Alfred Kahn, President Carter's chief inflation-fighter, says he'll be leaving the federal government after the November election to return to teaching at Cornell University.

"I'm coming back to Cornell after the election," Kahn, head of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, said Tuesday in a speech at Ithaca College, located near Cornell.

Kahn began teaching at Cornell in 1947. He left the Ivy League school in 1974 to head New York state's Public Service Commission and later served as chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board and a member of President Carter's energy task force.

Kahn will rejoin Cornell's economics faculty. He had been dean of Cornell's College of Arts and Sciences prior to leaving the school.

Clean up property, residents are told

COAHOMA — The City of Coahoma is again asking that any person owning a vacant lot within the city to clear such property of unsightly objectionable or unsanitary matter or face prosecution under Ordinance 29.

The city council, which met Tuesday night, said such steps were needed to reduce the threat of health, fire and traffic hazards during the upcoming winter months.

Ordinance 29, approved April 13, 1976, makes it unlawful for the owner of any lot, building, house, establishment or premises in the city to allow or permit any carrion, filth or any other impure of unwholesome matter of any kind to accumulate or remain thereon, or to allow or permit weeds, tall grass, rubbish, brush or any other unsightly, objectionable or unsanitary matter to accumulate or remain on such lots or premises.

Violators can be fined up to $200 a day for failure to comply with the ordinance, according to city councilmen.

The city hall staff is prepared to register complaints filed by people who know of such violations.

Iraqi captial bombed; waterways threatened

BASRA, Iraq (AP) — Iran bombed Baghdad and other cities in Iraq today and threatened to mine the Persian Gulf and the Strait of Hormuz. Iraqi warplanes retaliated by bombing the oil refinery in Iran's northern city of Tabriz, the Baghdad command said.

Meanwhile, Iraqi forces extended their siege ring north and east of Abadan, leaving only one highway open into the Iranian oil refinery city. An Iraqi field commander said his advancing troops and armor were only three or four miles from the city overlooking the Shatt al-Arab estuary.

The Iraqi military command claimed 52 Iranian and nine Iraqi soldiers were killed in 12 hours of fighting Tuesday night and today near that highway.

Tehran Radio said Iranian defenders of Abadan shot down four Iraqi fighter-bombers in a mid-morning attack on the city.

A communique broadcast by Baghdad Radio said 14 civilians, including seven children, were killed and 25 wounded in the Iranian air strikes in the Iraqi capital and four other cities in northern and central Iraq.

It was the second straight day of air raids on Baghdad after a 10-day pause. The communique claimed two Iranian jets struck Baghdad near the city's airport, setting afire the oil refinery in Tabriz, only 70 miles from Iran's border with the Soviet Union.

The Shatt al-Arab on the southern front leads to the Persian Gulf and the Strait of Hormuz, through which much of the oil to the West flows, and the commander of the Iranian navy was quoted by Tehran Radio as saying, "If it becomes necessary, we will mine the Strait of Hormuz and the Gulf."

He did not say how Iran would determine the conditions that might necessitate mining, a relatively complex operation for Tehran's armed forces, which have been greatly weakened by defections and problems with supplies, maintenance and spare parts since the revolution 20 months ago.

The Iraqi news agency said President Saddam Hussein had told U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim that Iraq had begun evacuating foreign-flag ships from the harbor of Khorranshahr.

Convict Rodeo continues

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — James Pearson beat nine other batted bull riders to win first place in the mad scramble at the 49th annual Texas Prison Rodeo here Sunday.

The rodeo runs every year in Huntsville, where Pearson, who is serving to life in Huntsville, was the first rider to maneuver his bull to the opposite end of the arena in a wild event.

Sunday's events featured tough bucking broncs and bulls, who tossed most of the cowboys to the ground.

Veteran rider Willie Craig, serving 30 years from Greenville, was slightly injured in one event and failed to match the two first places he earned last week.

Jerry Wilson, serving 10 years from Fort Worth, took top honors in the bareback bronc riding contest; Billy Long, serving 10 years from Odessa, won the saddle bronc riding event and Uevell Carter, serving 10 years from Lubbock, bested the field of bull riders.

The rodeo's hard-money event — in which contestants try to snare a tobacco sack from the horns of a charging bull — was declared no contest by judges when one of the inmates grabbed the sack from the ground.

The event carries a $100 purse, but usually is fattened by rodeo enthusiasts. Officials said Sunday's $220 prize will be added to next week's purse.

Country-western singers Faron Young and Ernest Tubb performed before a crowd of 20,000 at the arena.

Reagan pledges to support woman

By The Associated Press
Ronald Reagan is pledging to appoint a woman to the Supreme Court, something President Carter says he would consider but not flatly promise. Carter's wife, though, says "I can assure you" he would choose a woman.

While the two major party candidates were talking about the Supreme Court on Tuesday, independent candidate John B. Anderson was thinking about how to finance a late-hour television ad campaign now that his hopes of borrowing money have fallen through.

Reagan, apparently trying to win over women and critics of his opposition to the proposed Equal Rights Amendment, said at a news conference in Los Angeles he would name a woman to "one of the first" vacancies on the Supreme Court. There has never been a woman justice.

"It's time for a woman to sit among our highest jurists," said the Republican candidate. Carter, in an interview on NBC, said, "I think it is a mistake for a president to promise that in the Supreme Court appointment, it would be a particular kind of American."

Although Carter has refused to promise to name a woman to the high court, his wife, Rosalynn, said in Everett, Wash., on Tuesday that her husband "always planned to appoint a woman to the U.S. Supreme Court." At a news conference, he said, "I can assure you" that Carter would nominate a woman.

The question of appointments to the high court has arisen several times during the campaign, since five of the nine justices are over 70 years old.

The Democratic president has had no chance to make court appointments. Should he lose, he would be the first president since Andrew Johnson in the 1860s not to make an appointment.

After his news conference, Reagan flew to Idaho and then to South Dakota to campaign for Republican opponents of Sens. Frank Church and George McGovern, respectively. The two liberal Democrats are among the chief targets of GOP leaders in the Senate races next month.

Carter, meantime, mixed politics and business, using a speech at the National Press Club in Washington to criticize Reagan's economic proposals, and then conferring with Hosni Mubarak, vice president of Egypt. Mubarak was in Washington for the resumption of formal talks with Israeli leaders on Palestinian autonomy.

While Carter and Reagan campaigned, sources in the Anderson campaign said the independent candidate's strategists have abandoned hopes of borrowing millions from banks to finance his planned blitz of television ads. Instead, the sources said, the Illinois congressman will rely on about $1 million borrowed from individual contributors to finance the first ads, scheduled to start Sunday.

Gunman takes hostages

CINCINNATI (AP) — A bearded gunman toting an automatic rifle and claiming he had just killed his girlfriend took over the WCPO-TV station early this morning, demanding better treatment of poor people and prisoners.

The man, who identified himself to reporters as James R. Hoskins, met a reporter-photographer team at the station door about 4 a.m. and demanded to be let in, station employees said.

He told them that he had shot his girlfriend, and asked to be taken to a recording studio for an interview. After the interview, the man let the hostages go, unharmed.

He told them that he had shot his girlfriend, and asked to be taken to a recording studio for an interview. After the interview, the man let the hostages go, unharmed. "Don't write off the poor people," Hoskins told WCTO reporter Elaine Green in the interview. "I blew my girlfriend away tonight. Give me a place where I can shoot it out with the police."

The gunman was dressed in a red and black jacket, with a floppy rain hat. He cradled an automatic rifle in his arms during the interview, Miss Green said.

Police surrounded the two-story television building with marksmen and sealed off all car and pedestrian traffic for several blocks, confounding rush hour motorists across western Cincinnati.

The gunman answered the phone when another newsman called the station at about 7:15 a.m. He told John O'Day, news director at WGAR in Cleveland, that he would not surrender.

"They're moving around," the gunman said. "They've got the SWAT team moving around me and they're probably going to come in and lay me down soon."

O'Day said the gunman began talking about prisoners. "The poor people need a break," he said. "The people in the penal institutions need a break."

"Lucasville is a hell-hole," the gunman told O'Day. "I've never been in prison. But I know it is a hell hole. I've talked to people who have been there."

The Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville, is Ohio's maximum security prison.

Police confirmed that a shooting had occurred overnight a few blocks from the television station, but they could not say if it was related to the takeover.

Federal Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agents were asked to investigate the possibility that the woman's body found in a nearby apartment building was surrounded by explosives, police said.

Radio personality Wally Phillips of WGN in Chicago also talked to the gunman.

Dallas school uses computer to conserve

DALLAS (AP) — Despite a bone-chilling winter and the hottest Texas summer in decades, an experimental computer-controlled energy hook-up shaved gas and electricity consumption by about 40 percent on a Brazoswood school's fuel bill, a study shows.

Honeywell, a diversified electronics manufacturer known for heating and cooling controls, released a study made by its Energy Management Information Center Tuesday that outlined the benefits of computer-controlled energy use.

The computers manage lighting, heating and air conditioning.

"A number of conservation success stories in Texas demonstrate that schools and other buildings can trim energy bills significantly without draining budgets for new equipment," said spokesman Roger Schmidt.

Under a proposed system, schools and other buildings would share one central energy-control computer and its operators, without the expense of purchasing individual computers.

The shared computer service would be paid for with fuel savings, he said, and linked to a school by telephone lines that operate chillers, lights, boilers, motors, pumps and fans at peak efficiency.

Peace Corps performs noble service

It doesn't seem possible that Charlie Brown of 'Peanuts' fame is 30 years old or that the Peace Corps has been an American institution for 20 years.

Charlie, although he sighs that he's the world's blandest youngster, wears well — as readers in 1,900 newspapers will attest.

With less fanfare, the Peace Corps has performed nobly for mankind, too. It was in October 1960 that the late president, John F. Kennedy, launched the idea of the Peace Corps in Ann Arbor, Mich., home of the University of Michigan.

A TWO-DAY commemoration of the event took place in Ann Arbor Oct. 13-

14, attracting such notable speakers as Secretary of State Edmund Muskie, Richard F. Celeste, the current Peace Corps director; Sargent Shriver, first director of the Peace Corps ever had; and Sam Brown, director of ACTION, the federal agency for voluntary service programs which include the Peace Corps.

In the past 20 years, 80,000 Americans have served in a variety of capacities as Peace Corps volunteers. Even now, 5,508 PC volunteers are in training or in service in 62 developing countries.

Of those serving, 57 percent are male, 14 percent are married and the average worker's age is 27.6 years. Five percent — 107 men and 178 women — are over the age of 50. Sixteen volunteers are under 21.

Volunteers normally serve two year terms. Each year, around ten percent elect to extend their service.

The monthly living allowance for service is $297. A readjustment allowance of $125 per month is set aside, payable on completion of service.

Fifty-four percent live and work in communities of fewer than 10,000 residents.

IT ISN'T generally known that Peace Corps volunteers are assigned only at the request of host governments. Volunteers invariably go well prepared — they receive intensive, short-term, technical, language and cultural schooling.

Forty-five percent teach specific skills or academic subjects; 19 percent work in health or nutrition; 15 percent in agriculture; seven percent in economic development; five percent in energy conservation and community service; four percent in water supply and sanitation.

A lot of government programs abort because they do not work. The idea of the Peace Corps is one that could well endure into the 21st Century.

Around The Rim

Can't prepare

By Mickie Dickson

The destructive effects of too much water in too short a time was brought graphically close to home in this drought stricken area in September.

One home, Alan "Skeet" Murphy's, Northwest of Big Spring, was almost completely inundated and a near neighbor's home, Dub Rhoades, had several inches of water in the house. The rainfall in the area, according to Willie Y. Gray, another near neighbor, measured 20 inches in ten days.

ACCORDING TO a local expert, there is no way a community can prepare for or guard against that amount of rainfall all at once. This disaster would indicate that it would be wise to make sure, when buying or building a home or business, that there are adequate drainage facilities in the area.

Though this will be small comfort to the Murphy and Rhoades families, there is flood insurance available through the National Flood Insurance Program. Designated areas of Big Spring are eligible for emergency coverage as of Feb. 7, 1975 under territory code No. 480360.

When Noah built his Ark, he had one great advantage that we can't count on. He knew when the flood was coming. But today, even the modern science of weather forecasting can't tell us when and where the next flood will strike. Even if it could, you're not about to ride out the flood in an ark.

The Federal Government and private insurance companies have set up a program called the National Flood Insurance Program. And communities in many parts of Texas are eligible to participate. Coverage is available for private homes, businesses, apartment buildings and more. And in higher amounts than ever before. For example: the program now provides protection of up to seventy thousand dollars for single-family homes and up to two hundred thousand dollars for other residential and non-residential buildings and property. Standard property insurance does not cover flood damage. Find out all the flood insurance facts now.

THE WATTS-FREE number to call for more information is 1-800-638-6620. The servicing company for Big Spring area residents is the Patterson Agency, Inc.

A map is available to any Insurance Company who wishes to carry flood insurance designating the specific areas of Howard County that are eligible for flood coverage.

Receding coast

Joseph Kraft

SEATTLE — No section of the country, including the South, has accumulated more clout in the Congress than the Pacific Northwest. But this year the congressional giants from Oregon, Washington and Idaho are all hard pressed to win re-election.

For the Pacific Coast is receding from the national capital, and its drift spells immediate trouble for Jimmy Carter in the election, and long-term difficulty for the harmonization of regional differences in the country as a whole.

Congressional strength tends to accrue to regions with a case against the national majority. The South entrenched itself in the Congressional committees as a defensive measure against industrialization and desegregation by Republican presidents from the North. The Pacific Northwest has been the last frontier. Its political energy has been springing the vast energy potential required for development without rape by the private interests more dominant in the national scheme of things.

TO THAT END an institutional balance between public and private power was struck some 50 years ago with the federal government. The Grand Coulee and Bonneville Dams on the Columbia River are monuments to that bargain. So are the vast nuclear power installations at Hanford in this state.

Irrigation from those projects caused agriculture to flourish in western Idaho, and the eastern parts of Washington and Oregon. Cheap power fostered industry in all three states. During the last part of the past decade, self-sustained growth set in, the region took off and as population swelled, real estate boomed. Idaho, as a result, has the highest per capita number of millionaires of any state in the union.

The architects of the program that fostered that growth are mainly Democrats who cut large figures in the national capital. But not with the voters here at home. Difficult campaigns confront all of the following incumbents:

—Warren Magnuson of Washington, the senior member of the Senate and chairman of the Appropriations Committee in this state, including almost a billion dollars for the Mt. St. Helens disaster.

—Frank Church of Idaho, a senator since 1956, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and No. 2 (after Henry Jackson of Washington) on the Energy and Natural Resources Committee.

—Tom Foley of Spokane, Washington, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, and, as chairman of the Democratic Caucus in the House, the fourth ranking member of the leadership there.

—Mike McCormack, congressman from Richland in the Columbia Valley, and a member of the Public Works and Science and Technology Committees. At one point his district alone received, for the big dams, 20 percent of the total national budget for public works.

—Al Ullman, congressman since 1956 from the second district in Oregon, and chairman of the Ways and Means Committee which deals with taxes, Social Security, health insurance and welfare.

SLIGHTLY DIFFERENT reasons explain why each man is in trouble. Sen. Magnuson, for example, is 75 and looks it. Sen. Church is said to be too liberal for his increasingly conservative state.

But underlying the differences in each case there is a single, overwhelming reality. This area has moved beyond dependence on the federal government.

Irritable bowel syndrome

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have had diarrhea for two years. Doesn't matter what I eat. My doctor said it is a spasm problem. Please elaborate. What is done for it? — S.A.D.

Since you tell me (another part of your letter) that you have had a complete examination, including X-rays, and that no problem is found, you may have irritable bowel syndrome. This has other names — spastic colon, nervous stomach, etc.

To understand this you should understand a bit of how the digestive system works. Basically, the stomach digests food, the small intestine absorbs the nutrients from it and the large intestine removes moisture from what's left.

Food passes through this system, propelled by rhythmic contractions of muscles. If the muscles contract too rapidly, food is improperly absorbed and diarrhea results. If the muscles contract sluggishly, food moves too slowly and constipation follows. If the muscles contract too forcibly, there is pain.

Any of these abnormalities can be part of the irritable bowel syndrome. Many things contribute. Emotional stress can throw daily habits off and result in abnormal muscle rhythms. Also, a diet with too much fat and sugar and too little fiber compounds the problem.

Look at your life to see if there are problems of this nature that can be resolved. Try eliminating milk for about two weeks. Milk sugar is difficult to digest, and people with irritable bowel find it more so. Go easy on alcohol, colas, soft drinks and refined sugars. I hope these few changes will have some results for you.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Are bezoars dissolved, and if so how? — Mrs. M.J.

A bezoar, for the benefit of other readers, is a ball of matted material, such as vegetable fiber, in the stomach or intestine. Healthy persons seldom form bezoars, although certain substances, such as hair or urine persimmons, can be a cause. Bezoars may form, too, after stomach or intestinal surgery.

They can be removed by gastric lavage (a vigorous washing of the stomach through a tube passed through the nose). Digestive enzymes, somewhat like those used to tenderize meat, have also been used to break up a bezoar. Rarely, surgery is required. Bezoar (pronounced BEE-zore) is a great Scabble word.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Both my feet are swollen. This is caused by an amyloid deposit on the kidney, which showed in a biopsy. Is there anything I can do to get rid of this deposit or to prevent its forming? I am 67 and in excellent health otherwise — R.V.V.

Amyloid deposits earned that name because the doctor who first described them thought they were starch (amyloid). They are not, but are collections of certain proteins that fight off infection — immunoglobulins (antibodies). Why fragments of antibodies accumulate in tissues is not known. In some, it is a part of aging, and there are certain illness which dispose one to amyloid deposit, like rheumatoid arthritis and bone infection.

Now that amyloid deposits are better understood for what they really are, there is hope that medicine will be found to treat them effectively. If they are a part of another illness, like a bone infection, then treatment of that brings partial cure. Some drugs, such as colchicine, are being used experimentally for this condition when no specific cause can be pinpointed.

Amyloid deposits can remain localized to one area, like the skin, or be found in a number of organs like the kidney, liver and heart.

Dear Dr. Donohue: A friend told me that as a person gets older the nose also grows. Is this true? — S.E.M.

I don't think so, but I'm going to start measuring mine to be sure.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading Dr. Donohue's booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am 14 years old and have given my life to Jesus. Can you tell me why it is that many people do not believe in him? — R.M.D.

DEAR R.M.D.: It is true that many people do not believe in Christ. That does not mean they do not believe he existed, or even that he was the Son of God who died on the Cross and rose again from the grave. But they do not believe in the sense that they have really given their lives to him and are trusting him for their personal salvation.

Why is that? I have often asked myself the same question, since it seems so logical for people to want to have their sins forgiven and know they are going to heaven. I think there are several reasons. For one thing, some people may not really understand who Jesus Christ really is, and why he came into this world. The Bible says he came "that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (John 10:10). He came not just to give us an example of Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Editor:

It seems like everyone is criticizing President Carter right now. I myself have a hard time understanding why anyone would, especially since he reflects love, honesty, patience and the basic concern of one human being for another.

Could this really be the downfall of our nation, when our citizens cannot recognize righteousness?

I wonder what our forefathers would have felt if they could hear the cruel jokes being aimed at such a good man.

Carter's policy is not one of war or of taking advantage of another country, so why do you listen to gossip and ignore the fact that he is setting an example for all the world to follow? His decisions are clearly based on the recognition of human rights, integrity in dealing with other countries, and restraint with matters that could lead to war.

If you're against this type of philosophy, then what do you really stand for?

Ken W. Gressman

Early knowledge

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — There is startling new evidence that Justice Department investigators knew of Billy Carter's middleman role in dealings between Libya and the Carter Oil Co. as early as February 1979. This is more than a year before the date that the department claims to have learned of the arrangement.

Sealed court documents, seen by my associate Indy Badhwar, clearly indicate that Philip Heymann, head of the Justice Department's Criminal Division, and his assistant Irv Nathan, had personally received the information about the Billy Carter-Libya-Charter Oil connection by the spring of 1979. When finally consummated, the deal stipulated that the president's brother would receive 50 cents for every extra barrel of oil he could obtain for Carter from his friends in Libya.

AFTER THE STORY broke about Billy's belated registration as a paid foreign agent for the Libyan government, the Justice Department said it had received the first hints of the compact in April 1980. This claim is devastated by the secret court records.

They reveal that criminal investigators for the U.S. Attorney's office in New York tripped across Billy's trail almost by accident. The federal agents were working on an elaborate maneuver to lure fugitive financier Robert Vesco from his sanctuary in the Bahamas to London, where he could be arrested and brought to the United States to stand trial on a host of charges.

The investigators enlisted the services of a convicted con man, James Feeney, who convinced them he had access to Vesco and could coax him from his cave. In return, Feeney wanted immunity on charges pending against him in an unrelated case.

Feeney said he had flown regularly to the financier's hideaway, and was the lynchpin in a secret Vesco scheme to secure the delivery of a number of American-made aircraft that the Libyans had bought but the U.S. was withholding. Vesco was allegedly going to accomplish this by paying off some Democratic Party bigwigs; the players in the influence-peddling plot would be rewarded by the Libyans to the tune of $30 million.

IN THE COURSE of his undercover work, Feeney got wind of the Billy Carter deal with Charter Oil and passed the information on to the New York U.S. Attorney's office. A report in the secret records, filed by special investigator Robert Doonan in February 1979, reads: "Re. Oil Refinery, Bill Carter. Fifty cents per barrel payoff."

The note continues to succinctly summarize the essence of the contract eventually reached between Billy and the Charter firm seven months later. In a subsequent court proceeding involving Feeney, Doonan testified behind closed doors that "the Department of Justice in Washington, namely Philip Heymann and Irv Nathan, wanted to be kept aware of everything that went on in our investigation." Doonan's secret testimony indicates he began filing reports to headquarters on the entire investigation in the spring of 1979.

The undercover operation to nab Vesco ended in December 1979. One source suggested the whole thing was called off because Feeney was bringing in damaging information about Billy Carter, the White House and several well-known Democrats.

A Justice Department spokesman denied that Heymann was given information on the Billy Carter-Libya-Charter Oil deal in the spring of 1979. The spokesman added that a related but unfounded report was received a few months later, but no reliable facts were obtained until 1980.

Footnote: Some of the witnesses in this complex case are admittedly con artists. However, the evidence clearly shows that whether they were involved in a scam or a genuine swindle, they had their hooks in some prominent people. Yet the Justice Department, which spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on a phony scam to nail congressmen, refused a request by the U.S. Attorney's office in New York for funds to pursue the undercover operation. Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti also rejected a proposal to appoint a special prosecutor to conduct a full-blown, independent investigation of the entire matter.

WILY WARREN: The film-film artists in the federal bureaucracy tried to run a con on Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., recently and found it thrown back in their faces.

Magnuson, a 36-year Senate veteran and chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, queried the White House on how much the federal agencies are squandering on private consultants. The Office of Management and Budget asked the bureaucrats for figures, and they came to a total of $411 million for the past year.

The senator's antennae went up when he saw that modest figure, and he instructed his trained watch-dogs to go through the listings in the Commerce Business Daily, a government publication that advertises for contractors and announces contract awards. Magnuson's investigators determined that $2.5 billion had been ladled out to private consultants in 1979.

BAD BRIEFING: Jimmy Carter may have tried to pull the wool over the eyes of Ronald Reagan and George Bush recently when the White House agreed to give the Republican candidates a high-level intelligence briefing.

CIA Director Stansfield Turner personally conducted the meeting. What the top spook didn't know, however, is that Reagan had been provided with a list of key questions prepared by Republican senators with top-secret security clearances.

When Reagan and Bush put the test queries to Turner, they found him reluctant or unable to answer important policy questions. The Republicans are convinced, as a result, that the briefing by the president's intelligence chief was fairly routine.

Tiny city facing bankruptcy

SOUTH TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — This tiny city faces a negligence judgment that's nearly $1 million more than its annual budget — or a $348 debt for every resident — and there's "wild speculation" about what may happen if South Tucson lands in bankruptcy court.

A Pima County Superior Court jury last Friday awarded nearly $3.6 million to former Tucson policeman Roy Garcia, who was accidentally shot by South Tucson policeman David Novotny while helping police here.

Novotny escaped liability, but the city was found negligent in the shooting accident two years ago. Garcia was shot as he and other officers tried to flush out a shot-gunning man from a South Tucson house. The South Tucson police had requested assistance from Tucson police in the case.

Lawyers specializing in bankruptcy law say the one-square-mile city may have to go to bankruptcy court. But they doubted Garcia, paralyzed from the waist down by a bullet, would collect much, if any, of his judgment.

The famed horses are in West Texas for appearances at the Permian Basin Oil Show in Odessa. They will be in Midland Thursday and in Odessa Friday and Saturday.

Dallas mother pleased with efforts

Texan coming home from Cuban prison

DALLAS (AP) — Dorothy Shields says she doesn't know when her son will return to the United States — but at least now she knows he's eventually coming home.

The Cuban government has announced it will pardon her son, Thomas White, and 32 other Americans serving prison terms there. White has been held in a Cuban prison since May 1979 for distributing religious materials for an anti-Communist California organization.

Now Mrs. Shields just waits for her son to return.

"When he does it will be a happy day for us," she said. "I thought I would be traveling to Cuba until I was 80 years old. But thanks to what everybody has done, I hope I won't ever have any need to again."

Mrs. Shields said sometimes she felt that her son, who is married and has two children, would be in Cuba forever.

"Then the Office of Human Rights from Georgetown University in Washington got involved and I felt better about it," she said.

She said the organization worked tirelessly to get the prisoners freed. A Fort Lauderdale, Fla., lawyer offered his services free and a Fort Meyers, Fla., businessman offered to pay 300,000 for the release of White and the man arrested with him.

"I never realized people were so good," she said.

Mrs. Shields doggedly pursued every avenue she thought would speed White's release. She made two trips to Washington and talked with officials in more than 60 offices about her son's plight.

She said she wrote 1,000 letters to "friends, congressmen and anyone I thought could be of help. You always hear about the bad things that happen in Washington, but I found that many congressmen have big hearts."

She and her husband traveled to Cuba twice, the first time in September 1979, when the American Embassy arranged a short visit.

"We were taken to a little room where we could touch and hug him," Mrs. Shields said. "He was different but his spirit was — and always has been — good."

"All prisoners there are placed in solitary confinement soon after their arrest and only a couple of weeks before, he had been taken out of 90 days of solitary confinement," she said. "He was sweet, cheerful, affectionate and kind, but sort of apprehensive. They have to be careful about what they say."

She said he was "very skinny ... and his face had a very thin, glazed look."

White was tried in October 1979 after five months of interrogation and imprisonment. In letter smuggled out of Cuba to his mother, White wrote that he was defended by an attorney he had never met, was asked only four questions, and said two of the five judges had slept during the proceedings.

"He said his trial consisted of four questions: How old are you? Are you married? Do you have children? What is your occupation?"

During their second visit in November 1979, they learned White had been sentenced to 24 years.

His letter details the conditions of his imprisonment.

"We had no separate cells for three months, no trial, no lawyer, no communication, light bulb 14 hours a day, roaches, heat..." White wrote of his first days in the Cuban prison.

He wrote that the Cubans accused him of being a CIA agent — a charge they later dropped — and interrogated him at length.

"I had a black hood tied over my head, my arms handcuffed behind me and was ... driven to another prison ... with two men mashing me to the floor with their feet."

He told how he had been put in a cold cell and made to "crawl, squat and jump," in a wet, freezing hallway.

Are dinosaurs still walking the earth?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Persistent reports of strange creatures in remote, swampy jungles of western Africa lead two scientists to believe that dinosaurs still may walk the earth.

Both historical reports from Westerners and firsthand accounts from natives indicate dinosaur-like creatures may exist today in a virtually unexplored part of the People's Republic of the Congo, the researchers said Tuesday.

Dr. Roy Mackal, a research associate at the University of Chicago, said he believes the animals may be elephant-sized dinosaurs.

"Our conclusion at this time is that the reports refer to real animals, but they may be rare or even extinct by now," Mackal said in a telephone interview.

Mackal and James Powell, a crocodile expert who lives in Plainview, Texas, were in Africa earlier this year and had 30 interviews with natives who had firsthand accounts of the creatures, they said.

In an article in Science 80 magazine, published by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the researchers say natives call the creature "Mokele-Mbembe."

The men say they will try to return to the area in August and head for a lake where one of the creatures was reportedly killed 20 years ago.

There they hope to find physical evidence necessary to convince more skeptical scientists that the creatures exist, or at least were round until recently.

Mackal and Powell said the natives' accounts describe a large, brownish-gray creature with a long, flexible neck and a long tail.

The researchers say they believe it actually may be a dinosaur which looks like a smaller version of the brontosaurus, a giant plant-eater that died out 70 million years ago.

Natives shown pictures of many kinds of animals picked illustrations of the brontosaurus as most closely resembling the creatures they say they saw, Mackal said.

Along with interviews with native Pygmies, Mackal said historical records contain numerous accounts from missionaries and European explorers from the last three centuries relating natives' reports of the creatures.

The reports indicate the creatures concentrate near jungle rivers and lakes of the Congo and Zaire and feed on the nutlike fruit of a riverbank plant, Mackal said.

The strongest piece of evidence is a 1959 report of an animal that was killed by natives because it disturbed fishing on Lake Tele, near the Bai River, Mackal said.

Natives told the researchers that three of the animals repeatedly tried to get into the lake, forcing the fishermen to put up a stake fence to keep them out.

Lawyers want to force schools to admit aliens

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Two attorneys who represent the children of illegal aliens say they likely will go to court to force this border school district to reopen its doors to undocumented schoolchildren.

The Brownsville Independent School District began refusing to enroll the children on Monday, enforcing a temporary injunction issued by a federal judge here.

The injunction exempted this South Texas district from a Houston federal judge's order requiring all Texas schools to educate undocumented children free of charge.

Linda Yanez of Texas Rural Legal Aid and Peter Schevy of Los Angeles said Tuesday that U.S. District Judge Filimon Vela lacked the authority to grant Brownsville the exemption.

Vela issued the temporary injunction Friday, halting enrollment until a hearing on a permanent injunction Oct. 21.

"We may just appear at the hearing Tuesday or file something separately," said Ms. Yanez.

She said she was approached about challenging Vela's order by a family whose children were turned away Monday.

Schevy was the lead attorney in the Houston suit that led U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals to order Texas schools to provide the children of aliens a free education.

U.S. Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell refused to grant the Brownsville district's request for an exemption from Seals' order, but said officials could apply for a stay from the appropriate district court.

Ms. Yanez and Schevy said Seals' court would be appropriate.

"If the matter had been taken before Judge Woodrow Seals in Houston, then I believe the merits of the controversy could be solved without obvious procedural problems which should have counseled against the hasty issuance of a temporary restraining order by the Brownsville federal judge," Schevy said in a telephone interview with the Brownsville Herald.

BISD officials said they did not know how many children were turned away Monday and Tuesday, but between 20 and 30 had registered daily before the injunction. The district has a total enrollment of 27,000 and says 557 of those students are illegal aliens.

"Five hundred out of 27,000 in 33 schools is not enough to show irreparable damage," Ms. Yanez said. "The increasing enrollment cannot be attributed to undocumented kids. This area is growing and it has growing numbers of children."

The Brownsville district is the first in the state to apply for and receive an exemption from Seals' order.

District officials argued it could not maintain educational standards if forced to enroll the undocumented children.

New 'Sci-Fi' stock skyrockets

NEW YORK (AP) — A San Francisco company called Genentech Inc. has been publicly owned for just one day now, but its New York stock market debut was nothing short of spectacular.

The first company specializing in the budding field of genetic engineering to sell shares to the public, Genentech more than doubled in price in a matter of hours Tuesday.

Early in the day, underwriters sold 1.1 million shares at $35 each. Shortly after the stock began trading in the over-the-counter market, it was quoted as high as $88, for a gain of more than 250 percent.

By the close of trading it had slipped back to $71.25. But that still stood as a phenomenal increase for a new issue, even in the bull-market climate that has prevailed most of this year.

"I can't recall a new issue having such a meteoric rise in such a short period of time," said John Whitehead, senior partner of the prominent investment banking firm of Goldman Sachs & Co., who began his Wall Street career in 1947.

The rise in the stock's price was "far greater proportions than any of us had expected," said William Timken, a senior partner at the San Francisco firm of Hambrecht & Quist, co-manager of the offering with New York's Blyth Eastman Paine Webber.

Norman Fosback, a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., investment adviser who publishes the newsletter, "New Issues," observed: "Apparently there were people who wanted a piece of Genentech at any price, and that's never a sound investment approach."

Fosback said the scrambling among investors for allotments of the Genentech stock at its $35 offering price resulted in requests to selling brokers for many million more shares than were available.

Some 528,000 shares of Genentech traded by the close, making it the sixth most active issue in the over-the-counter market.

The stock market's darling of the day was founded in 1976, one of several small, innovative companies trying to turn the recent boom in basic biochemical knowledge into profits.

By coincidence, Genentech's offering came on the same day that three scientists — Frederick Sanger of Britain and Americans Paul Berg of Stanford University and Walter Gilbert of Harvard — won the Nobel Prize for chemistry for their research on genetic engineering.

Genentech specializes in recombinant DNA, the science of taking genes from one species and making them perform in another species, often bacteria.

Genentech, for example, is cooperating with Eli Lilly & Co., the Indianapolis-based pharmaceutical firm, in getting genetically altered bacteria to produce insulin. The product is now being tested on diabetics in the United Kingdom, West Germany and Greece.

The company announced earlier this year that other bacterial cultures had yielded near-commercial amounts of interferon, the highly publicized, potent anti-virus drug that some scientists think may be useful against cancer.

Genentech, which previously had 6.5 million outstanding shares owned by private backers who paid an average of $1.85 per share, listed losses of 17 cents a share in 1977 and 14 cents in 1978. It posted profits of two cents a share in 1979 and one cent in the first six months of this year.

But enthusiastic conjecture abounds in the financial community over Genentech's prospects for future earnings. It has applied for more than 200 patents for products with such varied applications as making gasoline and cleaning up oil spills, and is widely considered a leader in a business that is yet to display its full potential.

And Genentech is far from alone in the business. There are also Cetus, a Berkeley, Calif., bioengineering firm; Biogen S.A. of Switzerland, which last January became the first company to announce production of interferon; and Genex of Rockville, Md., among others.

Genentech's dramatic arrival on the scene underscored the recent craze on Wall Street for what some skeptics have dubbed "science fiction" stocks — high-technology companies that hold out the hope of important progress, and profits, in the 1980s.

Financial fireworks similar to Tuesday's are expected later this year when Apple Computer, a Cupertino, Calif. producer of personal computers, goes public.

For most of the 1970s, in an economy battered by high inflation and periodic recessions, the market for new issues languished.

The last big new-issue craze dates back to the "go-go" era of the 1960s, when companies in businesses ranging from electronics, nursing homes and franchised fast-food chains attracted investors in droves.

Some of those companies went on to succeed; others flopped and soon disappeared from the stock pages, never to return.

Single man wants son

Divorcee answers ad for surrogate mother

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Californian Joseph Orbi is single and 30. He wants a son. Kathleen, a 30-year-old divorcee and mother of two, answered his newspaper ad. And in what is believed to be the first attempt to produce a sex-selected baby for a single man, she was artificially inseminated as a surrogate mother.

With a new method designed to produce a boy — developed by an Indian researcher who is a veterinarian — she was artificially inseminated by a gynecologist Monday at Applied Genetic Laboratory Inc. here. The procedure was being repeated today.

If a baby is born, she is to release custody of the child to Orbi, Noel Keane, a Dearborn, Mich., lawyer said Tuesday.

Keane, who said he had been working on surrogate parent cases for four years, said this is the first case he is aware of in which the goals were sex selection and parenthood for a single man.

The woman, identified only as Kathleen, from the Farmington, Mich., area, will receive $10,000 for "medical expenses" but won't officially be paid a fee for bearing the child.

"We offered to pay a fee but she wouldn't accept it," Keane said. "Her reasons for doing it were basically humanitarian. She wanted to experience a pregnancy and she plans to use this as a learning experience for her other two children."

Orbi, from LaVerne, Calif., made the final choice of the mother of his child. "She was everything we were looking for — intelligent, attractive, stable," Keane said.

The procedure was taking place in Omaha because of a new sperm selection process developed by Dr. B.C. Bhattacharya, director of research at Applied Genetics.

Bhattacharya, a native of India and a veterinarian, said Tuesday he developed a device that separates male and female sperm for use in the insemination process.

"I think we got close to 100 percent male sperm in the first insemination," he said. "They came to us only to get a boy and we have the only device of this nature."

Applied Genetics has done "quite a few" of the inseminations, but other patients have been married couples and this marks the first time a single man "with a surrogate mother wants to have a boy," Bhattacharya said.

The sex selection process has been 100 percent successful in animals, he said, and there have been no birth defects.

But the first women who were inseminated with sex-selected sperm have not yet delivered, he said.

Keane said there is a potential for a legal custody dispute in a surrogate parent case, although a document has been drawn up "stating what we intend to do."

But he said "there is always the fear that Kathleen might eventually want custody."

The birth certificate will have the names of both mother and father, he said.

Amarillo commissioners vote to retain chief of police

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — The police chief who narrowly missed being ousted by the city commissioners in this Panhandle town says he is "deeply grateful" and "humble."

Commissioners voted 3-2 Tuesday to retain Police Chief Lee Spradlin, 45, after a seven-hour meeting instigated by a local newspaper's allegations that his department bungled two murder cases.

Spradlin attended the closed-door meeting.

"When I came here this morning, I thought the chief must go. However, visiting with him today, he has convinced me he will take care of the problems," Commissioner Houston Deford said.

The dissenting votes were cast by Mayor Jerry Hodge and Commissioner Jerry Ammerman.

The commissioners stipulated that the police department would be carefully monitored for improvement for 90 days.

Bill Quackenbush, a former FBI and CIA agent hired in June to aid officers in building legal cases, will report to commissioners.

"I'm going to strive as I have in the past to maintain and continue to improve our police department," Spradlin said.

The Amarillo Globe News contended Spradlin's department botched the investigation into a local murder case. The newspaper said a suspect was arrested within hours of the slaying but because of a series of errors, was not indicted until 11 months later.

On the light side Lavatory, seat of knowledge?

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The bathroom may come to rival the classroom as a medium for transmitting knowledge if a test study at Syracuse University is any indication.

Dr. Alan W. Grogono said detailed posters on cardiopulmonary resuscitation taped to the door or wall of toilets at a university dormitory proved highly effective in teaching the life-saving, emergency technique to students who used the facilities.

Grogono, an associate professor of anesthesiology at the State University of New York Medical Center in Syracuse, was to give a formal research paper on his study today at the convention of the American Society of Anesthesiologists in St. Louis.

The study, conducted in the spring, involved 280 dormitory students, Grogono said. The posters, taped to the door or wall of every toilet in one coed dormitory, contained 25 key facts about CPR, a rescue technique for heart attack victims. Students in an unposted dormitory elsewhere on campus served as the doctor's control group.

After the posters had been in place for three weeks, Grogono tested the 140 "graffiti" students with a 140-student control group that hadn't seen the posters.

Automatic teller pays off

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — A Florida couple may have hit the jackpot at a Wells Fargo bank after an automatic teller gave them five misprinted $20 bills estimated to be worth as much as $1,000.

"We're either in the bricks or we're out $100," said Phil Spickler of Miami on Tuesday. Spickler and his wife, Julie, discovered there was something unusual about the bills after he withdrew them on Monday to pay for lunch. As the couple walked out the door of a cafe, the cashier said, "There's something wrong with this money."

The couple, who said they are missionaries with the Church of Scientology, returned to the bank to find the automatic teller being disassembled.

The bills apparently skipped their third and final step in printing at the U.S. Bureau of Engraving in San Francisco, according to officials there. They were missing the Federal Reserve Bank seal and several numbers.

Each bill could be worth between $150 and $200 if those are the only errors, said Fred Weinberg of Numismatics Limited in Los Angeles who claims to be the nation's largest dealer in rare bills. Any additional errors would increase their value, Weinberg said.

Former director says

Fired DPS official mishandled probe

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Four drunken state undercover narcotics agents beat up a hitchhiker and used a dull knife to cut his hair, according to testimony in a federal civil trial here.

Department of Public Safety Capt. Bill Bessent was fired after superiors said he covered up the 1972 incident involving men in his command.

Former DPS Director Col. Wilson Speir testified in the civil trial Tuesday he believed Bessent did not handle the Dallas incident properly.

"I felt he had not made a complete or factual report," Speir said.

Bessent claims Speir and 10 other present and former DPS officials and employees owe him money to cover the damages resulting from Bessent's firing.

A former narcotics officer, Bessent was re-hired, but assigned to a job in which he has no expertise, he testified. Bessent said he was the victim of an internal conspiracy organized to make it look like he had covered up the 1972 incident.

However, several witnesses testified Tuesday that Bessent had a bad record, aside from the 1972 incident.

"His reputation was that he let his people run wild while he stayed drunk all the time," said Dallas Deputy Police Chief Jack Davis, who met with Bessent the day after the four agents were arrested by Dallas police. Bessent was then in charge of DPS narcotics investigations in Dallas.

The Dallas deputy chief said Bessent "appeared to be getting off a good drunk" when they talked.

Speir said he also had been told by DPS officials that Bessent had a drinking problem. Bessent has denied that allegation.

The details of the alleged assault and robbery were in a deposition from Terry Davis, one of the agents in the car where the incident began. None of the four is now with DPS. Davis' deposition was read into the record.

He said Bessent orchestrated an effort to cover up the incident by having all four men file similar reports. Davis said the hitchhiker was picked up around 1 a.m. on a Dallas street. The agents, who had been drinking, asked the man if he knew where they could buy drugs.

The hitchhiker said he had mescaline with him, the deposition said. A scuffle broke out in the car, with one of the agents "straddling" the hitchhiker and using a knife to cut his hair, Davis said.

The hitchhiker filed a complaint against the men, who were later stopped by a Dallas policeman. Dave Clark, a Dallas police investigator, and Leland Cooley, a DPS trooper in Dallas, both testified the agents cursed the Dallas officers and appeared drunk.

Human hair was found in the agents' car, according to the testimony.

However, earlier in the trial, Bessent's lawyer read a later deposition from Terry Davis. It said his initial statements were coerced by DPS officials.

Speir testified Bessent was reinstated because his appeal hearing before the Public Safety Commission dragged on over four months. The former director also said a member of the commission, after learning about Terry Davis' contradicting statements, asked Speir to re-hire Bessent so the commission would not have to make a ruling.

Seven skeletons found in shallow Texas grave

ROCKPORT, Texas (AP) — A shallow grave containing at least seven skeletons will be examined by anthropologists to determine if the coastal gravesite could be an ancient Indian burial ground, officials said.

Seven skeletons were unearthed by a construction crew Tuesday before a University of Texas anthropology team was called in to check the grave for more bones and determine their age, said a spokesman for the Aransas County Sheriff's office.

The skeletons were discovered almost two miles outside Rockport in the Palm Harbor area by a construction company digging an office building foundation, said Jerry Hutchins, Corpus Christi Department of Public Safety spokesman.

"The more they dug, the more they found," Hutchins said.

After six more skeletons were pulled from the grave, workers stopped to await the arrival of the anthropologists.

"The team has asked us to quit digging until they arrive," said the sheriff's spokesman, who asked not to be identified by name. "They didn't want us to do anything so they could preserve the bodies."

U.S. auto industry glowing

DETROIT (AP) — A big reception for Detroit's new compacts helped boost early October car sales and put a rosy glow on the troubled U.S. auto industry. Analysts are watching to see if the first blush lasts.

The five major U.S. companies reported Tuesday they sold 223,402 cars in the first 10 days of October, up 12 percent from the 200,141 sold in the corresponding period last year.

It was the first time since Jan. 21-31 that car sales exceeded those in the year-ago period for the five automakers. And for the Big 3 automakers alone, it was the first year-to-year rise during a 10-day selling period in 33 months.

The comparison was distorted by differing introduction dates — since sales generally bulge when new models are introduced.

Last year, almost all new cars were introduced in the second 10-day reporting period in October. This year, Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. held early-October introductions and General Motors Corp. and American Motors Corp. had late-September unveilings. Only Volkswagen of America has yet to introduce new models.

The annual selling rate was estimated to be the same as it was in September. The five companies expect to sell 6.6 million cars this year. Imports, now around 27 percent of the U.S. market, report sales at month-end.

Chrysler showed a 21 percent increase from 23,017 cars to 27,860, the best improvement of any company. Chrysler sold Monday the 10,217 "K-car" compacts it sold in the period was the best first-period showing of any model in the company's history.

General Motors enjoyed a 15 percent increase from 111,399 cars to 127,573. Ford had an increase of 8.6 percent from 56,172 to 61,029, including 11,020 of its new front-wheel drive subcompact Escort-Lynx line.

AMC, which provides figures only at month-end, sold an estimated 4,200 cars.

JOYCE JACKMAN

Joyce Jackman makes bid for Miss H.C.

Joyce Jackman, an 18-year-old freshman at Howard College, is one of 19 contestants vying for the Miss Howard College title this year.

Miss Jackman, daughter of Freeman and Bertilde Jackman of Big Spring, is a physical education major with a minor in foreign language. She is very active at Howard College, as she is an HC cheerleader and participates in dorm competition and intramural events.

She plans to attend UCLA or USC after graduating from Howard College. She lists her hobbies as weight-lifting, swimming and dancing. She is also active in karate, and holds a Black Belt. "I plan on being a karate instructor or a physical education teacher after graduation," said Miss Jackman. "I would also like to get involved with the heavy weight-lifting for women."

The 5'4" brown-eyed brunette was also very active in high school, as she was on the basketball, volleyball, and track teams. She was also involved in FHA, FCA, and Tri-Hi-Y Club.

The pageant, which is sponsored by the Student Government Association, will be held at 8 p.m., Oct. 28, in the Howard College Auditorium.

The theme for this year's pageant is "Xanadu."

GFWC Women's Forum has FREE program

The General Federation of Women's Clubs Modern Woman's Forum met at K-Bobs Restaurant Oct. 10 with Mrs. T.G. Adams serving as hostess. Mrs. Cass Hill, president, presided and announced that the Western District Board Meeting would be at Big Lake Oct. 24-25. Mrs. Hill, Mrs. C.R. Moad and Mrs. Bert Affleck are planning to attend.

Mrs. Fred Whitaker, federation counselor, presented the project "Hands Up" a volunteer effort to halt crime. This project has produced a coalition of nearly 100,000 citizens plus the Texas Crime Prevention Institute and the Governor's Criminal Justice Division which have made many strides in crime reduction in Texas through volunteer projects.

Mrs. Hugh Duncan presented the program on the Federations role in our Enterprise Economy known as FREE with some articles from General Federation Clubwoman magazine on "Limiting Federal Spending." She stated that through good years and bad the Federal budget deficit has increased except for one year since 1960. Many economists are of the opinion that borrowing by the Federal government in such great sums is one of the prime causes of inflation. While we have had continuous deficits since 1929, we have not had continuous inflation.

"Federal budget deficits themselves do not create inflation. Rather, they create the illusion that citizens can receive expanded government services without paying the bill. But the cost for government programs and services must be borne by someone, so the government prints more money to finance these additional commitments. It must also borrow money from private and public sources. Consumers extend their purchasing power through installment credit, lenders boost interest rates and prices are pushed up."

"Is a Constitutional Amendment the way to Limit Spending? Critics say this would not be realistic and could not take into account the volatile nature of national and international economy. However, 29 states have already passed resolutions calling for Balanced Budget Amendments."

It was also noted that another factor in the inflationary spiral is the nation's low productivity growth rate. Recent studies show there is a definite relationship between productivity and the present high rate of inflation. Productivity in the U.S. has generally declined since World War II, and in 1979 about 3.3 percent, with an inflation of 13 percent. "Inflation is to be stopped, this trend must be reversed. The nation must adopt and implement policies that will increase American

Program is music of Africa

The Music Study Club met Oct. 8, at the home of Mrs. Walter H. Christensen. Mrs. Dorene Zilberg gave a dissertation on "Music from Africa." Mrs. Zilberg came to Big Spring from Zimbabwe, Rhodesia, Central Africa where she lived for 22 years.

A Zimbabwean Mashona Tribal drum and pictures of the Mbica, a plucking instrument, were shown to these present. Music and dancing play an important role in the traditions and the strict ethical code of the Mashona Tribe.

Mrs. Zilberg explained that for centuries Africa's poets and composers have tried to capture in their works, the magic of this vast continent. One of such works is contained in the successful Zulu Musical "Ipi N' Tombia" (The Warrior), comprised of ten songs ranging from Traditional Folklore to the more modern Township Jive.

This musical, which was written by three South Africans, Bertha, Egno and Gail Lakier, and performed by what critics have called "the most exciting group ever emerged from Africa," is at present playing to packed houses in Houston, Tex.

An excerpt of a recording by Sam Sklar, one of Africa's foremost band leaders and composers, was also played. In this recording typical traditional African tribal music has been incorporated into modern Jazz.

Next meeting will be held at 3:30 p.m. Nov. 12, at the Big Spring High School Choir Room. A Survey of Choral Music by Homer Ulrick and musical selections by the Big Spring High School Meistersingers, is the program scheduled.

Dr. Wallace: I'm almost 17 and going steady with an 18-year-old boy. On my report card I got three F's and my mom didn't do anything about it but my boyfriend had a long talk with her behind my back and told my mom to put me on restriction and to give me a spanking.

Now my mom is thinking it over. What do you think about this? I need your advice. — Maebelle, Big Spring, Texas.

Maebelle: I think you have a very lax mother and a very intelligent boyfriend. Hang on to him because you need him much more than he needs you.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 17-year-old girl who has a tremendous weight problem. I'm 5-9 and weigh 270 pounds. I used to have boyfriends but not anymore and I really miss them. I've tried to diet and exercise and have willpower but what I didn't have was the backing of my friends and family.

I want to lose weight but I don't know what to do. Please help. — Debbie, Rock Island, Ill.

Debbie: Your writing to me shows that you are ready to take the big "plunge" and trim yourself to your proper weight. But, you can't do it alone.

Before school ends for summer break, drop by and see your school nurse. She will know exactly what to do and who you should see professionally to get you started on your return to getting a boyfriend.

Please write to me in one month and tell me how much weight you have lost. I have a surprise that I'll mail to you.

TWEEN 12 and 20 Hang onto concerned boyfriend

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I am 14 and have a real problem. With girls, I am friendly, popular, and completely at ease, but when it comes to talking to boys, I become very self-conscious and shy.

What can I do to solve this problem? — Peggy, Duquoy, Iowa.

Peggy: Remember that many boys your age probably are as shy talking to girls as you are talking to boys. Relax, be friendly, and let your real personality show through.

Whenever possible, get the boy talking by asking him a question about himself. Be interested in his answer.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 17-year-old girl who has a tremendous weight problem. I'm 5-9 and weigh 270 pounds. I used to have boyfriends but not anymore and I really miss them. I've tried to diet and exercise and have willpower but what I didn't have was the backing of my friends and family.

Club hears of Festival

The Potpourri Club met in the home of Judy Smith on Monday. Sara Tipton, president, presided at the business meeting.

Mel Prather, co-chairman of the Arts & Crafts Festival to be held Oct. 18-19 at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, outlined the history of the festival and explained the logistics of coordinating the many varied media into a successful show. The Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival rates high nationally and is expected to draw a large crowd from Big Spring and surrounding areas again this year. All booths will be filled with original arts and crafts displayed by their creators. New crafts are sought each year to add interest.

Doris Lowry was welcomed as a new member and Wanda Owens attended as a guest at the meeting.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Gloria Coffee on Nov. 10.

was Wilson

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Willie Wilson had 230 hits during the regular season, and he does not take kindly to going 0-for-5 in the opening game of the 1980 World Series.

"They pitched to me good, they did a good job," said Kansas City's switch-hitting left fielder. "They kept me off base. But I think I learned some things tonight."

Keeping Wilson off base, American League opponents have maintained for two years, is the key to beating the Royals. And, with Wilson hitting against Bob Walk and Tug McGraw, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Royals 7-6 Tuesday night.

"They always say I'm the catalyst to our offense," Wilson said. "I don't know if that's right. But I do feel very, very bad that I wasn't able to contribute."

The Kansas City catalysts Tuesday night turned out to be Amos Otis, who hit one two-run home run, and Willie Mays Aikens, who hammered two. It was a bittersweet 26th birthday for the free-swinging Aikens, who drove in 98 runs during the regular season.

In Game 2 tonight the Royals will face Philadelphia's ace left-hander Steve Carlton, and Wilson says things could be different.

The Royals would have needed nothing from Wilson had starter Dennis Leonard held a four-run lead. But the Kansas City right-hander, who was decked by a five-run outburst in the Philly third, said he never had control of his breaking pitch.

"I had to come in with the fastball and they hit it," Leonard explained. "I never really got the ball where I wanted it. When I did make good pitches, they just hit them."

Casper reunited with Stabler

Oilers gain All-Pro TE services

HOUSTON (AP) — Quarterback Ken Stabler and All-Pro tight end Dave Casper, one of the National Football League's most respected passing combinations, have reunited to bolster the Houston Oilers aerial attack.

The Oilers acquired Casper from the Oakland Raiders just before the NFL trading deadline Tuesday in exchange for future draft choices.

"We are thrilled to be able to get a player of Dave's ability," said Oilers Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips, who plans to unveil a new offense utilizing Casper in Sunday's game with Tampa Bay.

"Casper is a quality, clutch receiver that should fit in with what we want to do here," Phillips said.

The Raiders presumably will receive at least one first-round draft choice in the deal, although officials for both clubs refused to disclose any details.

Casper, 29, fills a spot on the lineup vacated by linebacker Thomas Henderson, who was placed on the injured reserve list after suffering a pulled hamstring muscle in Sunday's game against Kansas City.

Raymond Chester, an 11-year veteran, moves into the starting tight end job, Raiders Coach Tom Flores said.

Chester was the team's starting tight end at the beginning of last season, when Casper reported to training camp late because of a contract dispute.

The Raiders also have a promising young tight end, three-year pro Derrick Ramsey, on their roster, Flores said.

Casper, a 6-foot-4, 230-pounder considered one of the NFL's best blocking tight ends, admitted the trade was a surprise.

"I'm really not sure what to say right now, other than it puts me a little bit closer to Willie Nelson," he said. "I really enjoy some of those entertainers that live in that part of the country. It also seems that they have some guy down there playing quarterback that I've heard of before."

In his seventh pro season, Casper has been an All-Pro the last four years, catching at least 48 passes in each of those seasons.

He was selected by the Raiders in the second round of the 1974 NFL draft and became a starter in 1976, the Raiders' Super Bowl championship season.

His most productive season as a receiver was 1978, when he caught 62 passes for 852 yards and nine touchdowns.

McGraw, McBride biggest stars in World Series Game 1

Unlikely cast gives Philly early lead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tug McGraw...Bob Walk...Bob Boone...Bake McBride. They were a slightly improbable cast of characters performing their heroics in a slightly improbable way, but they gave the Philadelphia Phillies their first victory in a World Series in 65 years.

Quiet were the bats of bombs-away hitters Mike Schmidt and Greg Luzinski. Steve Carlton, Philadelphia's likely Cy Young winner, waited in the dugout to start Game 2.

Instead, it was a weary McGraw and a rookie pitcher named Walk, of all things, who pitched the Phillies to a 7-6 victory over the Kansas City Royals in the first game of the 1980

World Series Tuesday night. And it was the bats of Boone and McBride that spoke so loudly for a team which has not won a World Series game since 1915.

McBride slugged a three-run homer, and Boone drove in two runs with a pair of doubles.

The rookie Walk, who will be 24 next month and only a year ago was pumping gas in California, handed the ball to McGraw with two runs in and none out in the eighth. McGraw's job was to protect a one-run lead.

McGraw had pitched his heart out in the National League Championship Series against Houston. He set a playoff record by appearing in each of the five games, logging two saves and a loss in eight innings work. His left arm seemed as though it was rubber.

"I've always said, if I had any brains, I'd soak my head in ice water instead of my arm," McGraw said.

The 36-year-old veteran of three World Series allowed just one hit, a meaningless single in the eighth by Amos Otis, who had homered earlier, and struck out the last two batters of the game, U.L. Washington and Willie Wilson.

"Certainly I was tired," he said, "but there's always room to reach back for a little extra."

Phils Manager Dallas Green chose to start Walk when the rest of his staff was spent in the playoffs. Walk became the first rookie pitcher since Joe Black of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1952 to start the opener of a World Series. He also became the first Philly pitcher to win a World Series game since Grover Cleveland Alexander beat Boston in the first game of the 1915 World Series.

The Boston Red Sox went on to win that Series in five games and the Phillies had to wait 55 years before their next World Series, which they lost to the New York Yankees in four straight in 1950. It took only 30 more years before the Phillies were ready to try again.

"We didn't have much choice who was going to pitch, but I did win 11 games during the season," Walk said. "I don't think I was sent out there to just take up space."

They called him a sacrificial lamb, and he almost wound up a goat.

After walking Darrell Porter on a 3-2 pitch to lead off the second inning, Otis came to bat. Otis had hit only .251 this season, but he worked the count to 2-1, then teed off on a Walk fastball that sailed over the left-center field fence for a 2-0 lead.

Kansas City struck again in the third when Hal McRae singled with one out, and one out later, Willie Aikens hit the first of his two homers.

The Royals led 4-0. Walk then walked Porter for the second time in two innings, and Otis beat out an infield hit.

With Royals at first and second, Clint Hurdle lashed a single to left, but Phils left fielder Lonnie Smith threw out Porter easily at the plate. Porter came in standing, and Walk was out of the inning.

"I don't like to say this with him in the room, but Bob came within one out of joining me on the bench right then," Green said later.

Walk retired the next nine batters in the row, giving Boone and McBride their shot at Royals starter Dennis Leonard, a 20-game winner.

Leonard, a hard-throwing right-hander, had set the Phils down in order in the first and second innings. He got Manny Trillo to ground out to lead off the third before the dam burst.

Larry Bowa angled to left, and Boone ripped a run-scoring double down the left-field line. Smith, the Phils' leadoff hitter, singled to left, but it really wasn't enough to score Boone, who had hurt his foot in a home-plate collision Sunday in the final game of the playoffs.

Then, fate seemed to take a hand. Smith slipped rounding first, and third baseman George Brett, the cutoff man, had him trapped. He looked once toward Boone at third, then again.

"Brett looked at me just as I committed myself to go to the plate," Boone said. "I thought for a second he had me, but I guess he had just started to throw."

POP UP — George Brett, Royals batting star, eyes pop up in early turn at bat against the Phillies at Veterans Stadium Tuesday in first game of the World Series. Brett contributed a double in the eighth inning leading off for his team in their losing effort against the Phillies, 7-6.

Steers work on mental part of 4th quarter for Permian

NATHAN POSS, Sports Editor
The Big Spring Steers are most probably a team that feels snake-bitten right now, as the youthful squad of Coach Ralph Harris has suffered two consecutive disappointing District 5-AAAAA losses.

What makes the losses more disappointing than usual, if you can classify a defeat, is that the Bovines have taken on touchdown leads in both contests against Abilene and Midland.

Things will get tougher this week, too, as the Steers, who started 15 of 22 underclassmen in the past two weeks, face Odessa Permian.

Permian, the team voted by "Texas Football Magazine" as the outstanding football school of the state in the 1970s, is once again on a high pedestal. They are ranked sixth in the state AP polls, and shut out their first four opponents. Abilene finally managed to stop the Permian scoreless string, but still suffered a 31-14 loss.

Harris and his staff were no doubt disappointed in the 25-12 loss to Midland, especially after entering the final frame with a 6-0 lead. And naturally working to correct that problem and maintain confidence in themselves is the prerequisite in this week's workouts.

"Right now we're just trying to keep our heads up," Harris said this morning. "We've got a good thing going, but we've just got to learn to finish it off in the fourth quarter."

"We've got to maintain our confidence entering the final quarter of the game," the Steer mentor continued. "We haven't experienced that much physical fatigue, just mental."

To help the Steers prep for Permian, the coaching staff has changed the workout scheme from 12 parts to four — as in four quarters. "We're extra tough on them in the fourth segment of the workout," Harris explained. "We've got to improve that part of our game. Still, we weren't supposed to be in the past two games at all, but we're. Now we've just got to keep getting better and learn to finish off our opponents."

Harris cites the lack of experience on the Big Spring gridgers part as a major reason for losing the leads, which interrelates with a lack of self-confidence. "We don't have the poise yet to get in the pressure situation and believe in ourselves. That's basically because this program is not a solid winner yet."

"But," he added, "this is where we need to learn to win."

Preparing for the mighty Permian team is no easy chore for any high school squad, but Harris remains unafraid.

"We've got to continue to improve fundamentally," he stated, "in order that we can keep putting ourselves in a position to win."

Repeating what he has said before, but what looks very evident as far as potential, Harris said, "These kids are winners, but they don't know it yet. But we'll get there."

Steer girls spike Midland

The Big Spring Steers girls volleyball team scored their second District 5-AAAAA win without a loss here Thursday night in Steer Gym, taking a 15-10, 15-12 win over Midland High. The triumph allowed the Steer fens to remain in a tie with San Angelo for the second half lead. San Angelo and Abilene Cooper tied for the first half title. Sissy Doss led all servers in the games with 11 points, with Shell Rutledge adding seven, Bea Magers and Pam Caudill four each, and Dawn Estes three.

Big Spring Coach Patti Purser also praised the net play of Rutledge, a sophomore.

"It was one of our best games both offensively and defensively," said Purser. "I was very proud of the overall game the girls played."

Big Spring also won the JV contest, taking an exciting 13-15, 19-17, 15-12 win. Leslie Overman led the Steer JVs with 11 serving points, with Tracy Williams adding nine.

The Big Spring freshmen lost a decision to the Garden City varsity on Tuesday evening.

All three Big Spring girls volleyball teams return to action tomorrow night in Odessa, at which time they tangle with the Permian Panthers.

Purser also noted that the annual District 5-AAAAA JV Tournament will be held here Saturday in Steer Gym beginning at nine in the morning. Play will conclude at 7:00 p.m.

Goliad continues winning

The Goliad JHS girls volleyball teams continued to play the role of the bullies in seventh grade action here Tuesday afternoon, sweeping a pair of games from Colorado City.

The Goliad White team increased their record to a perfect 4-0 in a 15-3, 15-5 win. Joy Tate had 12 service points, with Tracy Kilgore drawing the praise of Coach Linda Jones for here net play and Lana Fletcher for her overall court coverage.

The Goliad Black team then won their sixth match in seven tries by taking a 15-4, 15-6 decision. Monique Jones paced the win with 11 service points, with Clara Hamilton adding nine. Elizabeth Hernandez and Tammy Green were both praised for their court play.

Both teams resume action this weekend in the Colorado City Tournament.

Runnels girls split pair

The Runnels girls volleyball teams split a pair of matches with Colorado City JHS in action here Tuesday evening.

The Runnels White team, now 8-2 on the season, scored a 15-7, 12-15, 15-5 win over Colorado City. Tanya Ferguson had 12 service points and did an excellent job of spiking, while Pam Grant had 11 points and Melissa Fuller 10. Lisa Subia was praised for her setting in the match.

The Runnels Red team did not fare as well, dropping a pair of 5-15 sets in a loss. Yvette Smith and Tammy Bird each had three points serving for the Red squad, which is now 4-8 on the year.

Both Runnels teams venture to Snyder tomorrow.

Big part of Phillie win was Wilson

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Willie Wilson had 230 hits during the regular season, and he does not take kindly to going 0-for-5 in the opening game of the 1980 World Series.

"They pitched to me good, they did a good job," said Kansas City's switch-hitting left fielder. "They kept me off base. But I think I learned some things tonight."

Keeping Wilson off base, American League opponents have maintained for two years, is the key to beating the Royals. And, with Wilson hitting against Bob Walk and Tug McGraw, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Royals 7-6 Tuesday night.

"They always say I'm the catalyst to our offense," Wilson said. "I don't know if that's right. But I do feel very, very bad that I wasn't able to contribute."

The Kansas City catalysts Tuesday night turned out to be Amos Otis, who hit one two-run home run, and Willie Mays-Aikens, who hammered two. It was a bitter-sweet 26th birthday for the free-swinging Aikens, who drove in 98 runs during the regular season.

In Game 2 tonight the Royals will face Philadelphia's ace left-hander Steve Carlton, and Wilson says things could be different.

The Royals would have needed nothing from Wilson had starter Dennis Leonard held a four-run lead. But the Kansas City right-hander, who was decked by a five-run outburst in the Philly third, said he never had control of his breaking pitch.

"I had to come in with the fastball and they hit it," Leonard explained. "I never really got the ball where I wanted it. When I did make good pitches, they just hit them."

Casper reunited with Stabler

Oilers gain All-Pro TE services

HOUSTON (AP) — Quarterback Ken Stabler and All-Pro tight end Dave Casper, one of the National Football League's most respected passing combinations, have reunited to bolster the Houston Oilers aerial attack.

The Oilers acquired Casper from the Oakland Raiders just before the NFL trading deadline Tuesday in exchange for future draft choices.

"We are thrilled to be able to get a player of Dave's ability," said Oilers Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips, who plans to unveil a new offense utilizing Casper in Sunday's game with Tampa Bay.

"Casper is a quality, clutch receiver that should fit in with what we want to do here," Phillips said.

The Raiders presumably will receive at least one first-round draft choice in the deal, although officials for both clubs refused to disclose any details.

Casper, 29, fills a spot on the lineup vacated by linebacker Thomas Henderson, who was placed on the injured reserve list after suffering a pulled hamstring during Sunday's game against Kansas City.

Raymond Chester, an 11-year veteran, moves into the starting tight end job, Raiders Coach Tom Flores said.

Chester was the team's starting tight end at the beginning of last season, when Casper reported to training camp late because of a contract dispute.

The Raiders also have a promising young tight end, three-year pro Derrick Ramsey, on their roster, Flores said.

Casper, a 6-foot-4, 230-pounder, considered one of the NFL's best blocking tight ends, admitted the trade was a surprise.

"I'm really not sure what to say right now, other than it puts me a little bit closer to Willie Nelson," he said. "I really enjoy some of those entertainers that live in that part of the country. It also seems that they have some guy down there playing quarterback that I've heard of before."

In his seventh pro season, Casper has been an All-Pro the last four years, catching at least 48 passes in each of those seasons.

He was selected by the Raiders in the second round of the 1974 NFL draft and became a starter in 1976, the Raiders' Super Bowl championship season.

His most productive season as a receiver was 1978, when he caught 62 passes for 852 yards and nine touchdowns.

McGraw, McBride biggest stars in World Series Game 1

Unlikely cast gives Philly early lead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tug McGraw...Bob Walk...Bob Boone...Bake McBride. They were a slightly improbable cast of characters performing their heroics in a slightly improbable way, but they gave the Philadelphia Phillies their first victory in a World Series in 65 years.

Quiet were the bats of bums-away hitters Mike Schmidt and Greg Luzinski. Steve Carlton, Philadelphia's likely Cy Young winner, waited in the dugout to start Game 2.

Instead, it was a weary McGraw and a rookie pitcher named Walk of all things, who pitched the Phillies to a 7-6 victory over the Kansas City Royals in the first game of the 1980

World Series Tuesday night. And it was the bats of Boone and McBride that spoke so loudly for a team which has not won a World Series game since 1915.

McBride slugged a three-run homer, and Boone drove in two runs with a pair of doubles.

The rookie Walk, who will be 24 next month and only a year ago was pumping gas in California, handed the ball to McGraw with two runs in and none out in the eighth. McGraw's job was to protect a one-run lead.

McGraw had pitched his heart out in the National League Championship Series against Houston. He set a playoff record by appearing in each of the five games, logging two saves and a loss in eight innings work. His left arm seemed as though it was rubber.

"I've always said, if I had any brains, I'd soak my head in ice water instead of my arm," McGraw said.

The 36-year-old veteran of three World Series allowed just one hit, a meaningless single in the eighth by Amos Otis, who had homered earlier, and struck out the last two batters of the game, U.L. Washington and Willie Wilson.

"Certainly I was tired," he said, "but there's always room to reach back for a little extra."

Phils Manager Dallas Green chose to start Walk when the rest of his staff was spent in the playoffs. Walk became the first rookie pitcher since Joe Black of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1952 to start the opener of a World Series. He also became the first Philly pitcher to win a World Series game since Grover Cleveland Alexander beat Boston in the first game of the 1915 World Series.

The Boston Red Sox went on to win that Series in five games and the Phillies had to wait 35 years before their next World Series, which they lost to the New York Yankees in four straight in 1950. It took only 30 more years before the Phillies were ready to try again.

"We didn't have much choice who was going to pitch, but I did win 11 games during the season," Walk said. "I don't think I was sent out there to just take up space."

They called him a sacrificial lamb, and he almost wound up a goal.

After walking Darrell Porter on a 3-2 pitch to lead off the second inning, Otis came to bat. Otis had hit only .251 this season, but he worked the count to 2-1, then teed off on a Walk fastball that sailed over the left-center field fence for a 2-0 lead.

Kansas City struck again in the third when Hal McRae singled with one out, and one out later, Willie Aikens hit the first of his two homers.

The Royals led 4-0. Walk then walked Porter for the second time in two innings, and Otis beat out an infield hit.

With Royals at first and second, Clint Hurdle lashed a single to left, but Phils left fielder Lonnie Smith threw out Porter easily at the plate. Porter came in standing, and Walk was out of the inning.

"I don't like to say this with him in the room, but Bob came within one out of joining me on the bench right then," Green said later.

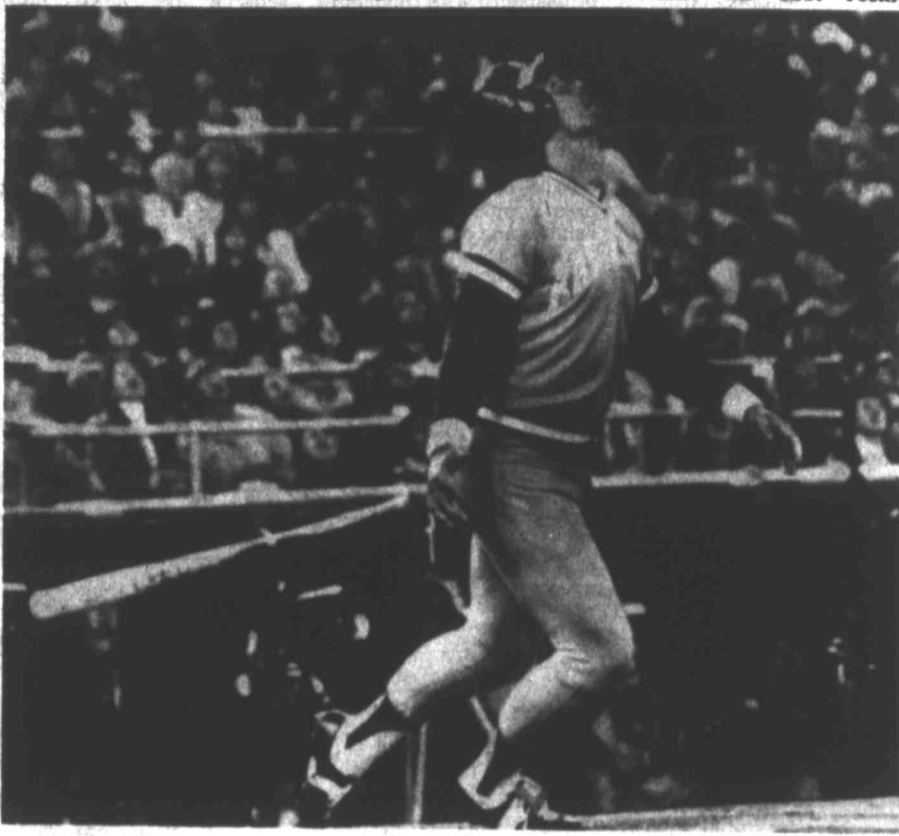

Walk retired the next nine batters in the row, giving Boone and McBride their shot at Royals starter Dennis Leonard, a 20-game winner.

Leonard, a hard-throwing right-hander, had set the Phils down in order in the first and second innings. He got Manny Trillo to ground out to lead off the third before the dam burst.

Larry Bowa ingled to left, and Boone ripped a run-scoring double down the left field line. Smith, the Phils' leadoff hitter, singled to left, but it really wasn't enough to score Boone, who had hurt his foot in a home-plate collision Sunday in the final game of the playoffs.

Then, fate seemed to take a hand. Smith slipped rounding first, and third baseman George Brett, the cutoff man, had him trapped. He looked once toward Boone at third, then again.

"Brett looked at me just as I committed myself to go to the plate," Boone said. "I thought for a second he had me, but I guess he had just started to throw."

POP UP — George Brett, Royals batting star, eyes pop up in early turn at bat against the Phillies at Veterans Stadium Tuesday in first game of the World Series. Brett contributed a double in the eighth inning leading off for his team in their losing effort against the Phillies, 7-6.

Steers work on mental part of 4th quarter for Permian

The Big Spring Steers are most probably a team that feels snake-bitten right now, as the youthful squad of Coach Ralph Harris has suffered two consecutive disappointing District 5-AAAAA losses.

What makes the losses more disappointing than usual, if you can classify a defeat, is that the Bovines have taken on touchdown leads in both contests against Abilene and Midland.

Things will get tougher this week, too, as the Steers, who started 15 of 22 underclassmen in the past two weeks, face Odessa Permian.

Permian, the team voted by "Texas Football Magazine" as the outstanding football school of the state in the 1970s, is once again on a high pedestal. They are ranked sixth in the state AP polls, and shut out their first four opponents. Abilene finally managed to stop the Permian scoreless string, but still suffered a 31-14 loss.

Harris and his staff were no doubt disappointed in the 25-12 loss to Midland, especially after entering the final frame with a 6-0 lead. And naturally working to correct that problem and maintain confidence in themselves is the prerequisite in this week's workouts.

"Right now we're just trying to keep our heads up," Harris said this morning. "We've got a good thing going, but we've just got to learn to finish it off in the fourth quarter."

"We've got to maintain our confidence entering the final quarter of the game," the Steer mentor continued. "We haven't experienced that much physical fatigue, just mental."

To help the Steers prep for Permian, the coaching staff has changed the workout scheme from 12 parts to four — as in four quarters.

"We're extra tough on them in the fourth segment of the workout," Harris explained. "We've got to improve that part of our game. Still, we weren't supposed to be in the past two games at all, but we're now we've just got to keep getting better and learn to finish off our opponents."

Harris cites the lack of experience on the Big Spring gridgers part as a major reason for losing the leads, which interrelates with a lack of self-confidence. "We don't have the poise yet to get in the pressure situation and believe in ourselves. That's basically because this program is not a solid winner yet."

"But," he added, "this is where we need to learn to win."

Preparing for the mighty Permian team is no easy chore for any high school squad, but Harris remains unafraid.

"We've got to continue to improve fundamentally," he stated, "in order that we can keep putting ourselves in a position to win."

Repeating what he has said before, but what looks very evident as far as potential, Harris said, "These kids are winners, but they don't know it yet. But we'll get there."

Steer girls spike Midland

The Big Spring Steers girls volleyball team scored their second, District 5-AAAAA win without a loss here Thursday night in Steer Gym, taking a 15-10, 15-12 win over Midland High. The triumph allowed the Steer girls to remain in a tie with San Angelo for the second half lead. San Angelo and Abilene Cooper tied for the first half title. Sissy Doss led all servers in the games with 11 points, with Shell Rutledge adding seven, Bea Magers and Pam Caudill four each, and Dawn Estes three.

Big Spring Coach Patti Purser also praised the net play of Rutledge, a sophomore.

"It was one of our best games both offensively and defensively," said Purser. "I was very proud of the overall game the girls played."

Big Spring also won the JV contest, taking an exciting 13-15, 19-17, 15-12 win. Leslie Overman led the Steer JVs with 11 serving points, with Tracy Williams adding nine.

The Big Spring freshmen lost a decision to the Garden City varsity on Tuesday evening.

All three Big Spring girls volleyball teams return to action tomorrow night in Odessa, at which time they tangle with the Permian Panthers.

Purser also noted that the annual District 5-AAAAA JV Tournament will be held here Saturday in Steer Gym beginning at nine in the morning. Play will conclude at 7:00 p.m.

Goliad continues winning

The Goliad JHS girls volleyball teams continued to play the role of the bullies in seventh grade action here Tuesday afternoon, sweeping a pair of games from Colorado City.

The Goliad White team increased their record to a perfect 4-0 in a 15-3, 15-5 win. Joy Tate had 12 service points, with Tracy Kilgore drawing the praise of Coach Linda Jones for here net play and Lana Fletcher for her overall court coverage.

The Goliad Black team then won their sixth match in seven tries by taking a 15-4, 15-6 decision. Monique Jones paced the win with 11 service points, with Clara Hamilton adding nine. Elizabeth Hernandez and Tammy Green were both praised for their court play.

Both teams resume action this weekend in the Colorado City Tournament.

Runnels girls split pair

The Runnels girls volleyball teams split a pair of matches with Colorado City JHS in action here Tuesday evening.

The Runnels White team, now 8-2 on the season, scored a 15-7, 12-15, 15-5 win over Colorado City. Tanya Ferguson had 12 service points and did an excellent job of spiking, while Pam Grant had 11 points and Melissa Fuller 10. Lisa Subia was praised for her setting in the match.

The Runnels Red team did not fare as well, dropping a pair of 5-15 sets in a loss. Yvette Smith and Tammy Bird each had three points serving for the Red squad, which is now 4-8 on the year.

Both Runnels teams venture to Snyder tomorrow.

Westphal Entering big game at Philly Sunday pays off for Sonics

for Sonics

DALLAS (AP) — Paul Westphal paid his first dividends to the Seattle SuperSonics Tuesday night and coach Lenny Wilkens couldn't have been more thankful, even if the victory was over the expansion Dallas Mavericks.

Westphal, who came to Seattle in an offseason trade which sent Dennis Johnson to Phoenix, made 24 points including a vital three-pointer and two clutch free throws with four seconds to play to give the Sonics an 85-83 victory over the Mavericks.

"It was nice to get that first win," Wilkens said. "Maybe we can relax now and start executing better."

Wilkens said he wasn't surprised by the tough Dallas defense and it's ball-control offense.

"It was a tough game and I thought the Mavericks played very well," Wilkens said. "They have a very aggressive defense."

"Anybody playing these guys had better be ready for a scrap. Sometimes it's hard to convince a team when it's playing an expansion team. But if you come in here and take them for granted you're going to get whipped."

Dallas was led by guard Geoff Huston who scored a career high 19 points.

"Huston played well but I'm not very pleased about us losing," said Dallas Coach Dick Motta. "I don't believe in moral victories."

The Mavericks upset San Antonio in their opener Saturday night and it looked like they might pull off another one when they jumped to a 13-point lead in the first half.

Dallas led 83-78 with 1:28 to go on two free throws by Huston before Westphal entered the picture.

Westphal hit a three-point bucket with 1:10 to go and Freddie Brown tied the score 83-83 with 36 seconds to play.

Dallas missed a shot and Seattle worked the clock down. Westphal drove past two Mavericks and was fouled by Tom LaGarde and calmly made both shots. A 20-footer by Richard Washington caromed off the iron at the buzzer.

Jayhawks say Osborne lowlife

By the Associated Press
Now that the Kansas City Royals have finally gotten the monkey off the New York Yankees off their backs, maybe the University of Kansas Jayhawks can do the same to the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Saturday's 54-0 rout made it 12 in a row for Nebraska over Kansas and the folks in Lawrence, Kan., are starting to get a mite touchy about having their team outscored 497-77 during that stretch, including such mismatches, in addition to this year's rout, as 55-0, 56-0 (twice), 52-7, 63-21 and 42-0.

So they vented their ire on Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne when he ordered a 2-point conversion attempt after the Huskers scored to make it 33-0 late in the first half. Kansas Coach Don Fambrough declined to shake Osborne's hand afterward.

However, Osborne did what any other coach would have done after missing an earlier conversion try. He simply tried to get the score back to multiples of 7 — i.e., 7-0, 14-0, 21-0, 28-0, 35-0.

"They were just trying to pour it on," Kansas wide receiver David Verser charged.

"I was trying to win a football game," Osborne replied heatedly to questions from the Kansas media. "I guess everybody else in the stadium knew it was over, but I didn't. I thought if, like Florida State, they came out in the second half and we laid the ball down three or four times in our territory and Kansas put it in, with the speed they have they could make a game of it. I was the only one who realized that. Apparently I'm dumb."

"The biggest sign of disrespect is to take a team for granted. If you're up 33-0, you go for 2 to make it 35-0."

DALLAS (AP) — Danny White has even amazed the man who knows him best, Coach Tom Landry.

The Dallas Cowboys quarterback threw four touchdown passes Sunday in a 59-14 rout of San Francisco and now leads the National Football League in passing with a 110.5 rating.

In his first year as the No. 1 quarterback, White has completed passes at a 67.1 per cent rate on 108 connections in 161 attempts. He has thrown 13 touchdown passes and suffered just 4 interceptions.

At this time last season the now retired Roger Staubach had an 88.4 rating, was completing 57 per cent of his passes, had 8 touchdown passes and 3 interceptions.

Landry used the word "phenomenal" to describe White Tuesday. Landry does this about as often as he coaches a game bareheaded.

"I didn't expect Danny to perform like he has," said Landry. "He has been phenomenal. He's leading the league. You can't be any better than that."

White made one play from the Shotgun formation in which the ball rolled through his legs. He calmly retrieved it, rolled out and nailed tight end Jay Saldi for a 43-yard completion.

It's because of White that Dallas will enter Sunday's National Conference Eastern Division showdown game with the Philadelphia Eagles with a lot of confidence.

Landry admitted, "We're much better through our defenses so it's not a mental thing," said Landry. "He is just throwing so well. He's hitting passes off-balance, making perfect throws. He had one pass to Drew Pearson Sunday in which he was way back on his heels because of the rush yet the throw was perfect."

Akers praises defense

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Longhorn Club member who was delighted with Texas' victory over Oklahoma introduced Coach Fred Akers on Tuesday as the greatest coach in the nation but one who was too modest to accept such a title.

Club members gave Akers a standing ovation, and he responded, smiling. "What's he mean I wouldn't like it. Nobody's that modest."

Texas raised its record to 5-0 with a 20-13 victory over the Sooners at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas on Saturday.

"I wish in some way I could share the real excitement ... that is part of everything about that game," Akers said.

He told of players from both teams lining up on the same ram "elbow-to-elbow" leading to the field, "and when you burst on to that field, I tell you, your heart is flying — it's a great feeling."

Akers said the game "didn't turn out exactly the way we felt it could have with the opportunities our defense gave us."

Oklahoma had eight turnovers — four fumbles and four pass interceptions — but Texas had six.

"I'll take a win over Oklahoma anyway I can get it, just as I'm sure they would," said Akers.

"It was a great, great step for our defense," said Akers, "but our offense wasn't up to normal, wasn't up to our average."

Texas' Donnie Little broke clear on quarterback draws four times in the fourth quarter — leading to a field goal and keeping the ball away from Oklahoma — and one spectator shouted, "That was like stealing on that last drive."

"Well, not exactly," said Akers, "but it sure was nice."

The Longhorns have a weekend off before playing Southern Methodist on Oct. 25, and Akers said, "The open date came at a great time. We need to heal a little bit."

UH down to freshman QB.

HOUSTON (AP) — There have been seasons when Houston Coach Bill Yeoman was knee deep in experienced quarterbacks and never needed them.

But this season, when he needs someone who has taken his snaps in the heat of a pressure game, Yeoman will go into Saturday's Southwest Conference game against Southern Methodist with a freshman starter for the first time in the school's history.

Sophomore Brent Chinn, who replaced injured starter Terry Elston earlier this season, suffered a deep thigh bruise UH's 17-13 victory over Texas A&M and will be out two to three weeks.

That leaves Yeoman with Carthage freshman Audrey McMillian to face the Mustangs and if McMillian should get hurt, another freshman, Lionel Wilson of Houston Jones, will be waiting to take McMillian's place.

PGA Tour concludes with unique partnership

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — The 10-month PGA Tour schedule ends this week in a relaxed, casual atmosphere with the biggest field of the season and the most complicated format.

The official name of the season-ending event is the Walt Disney World National Team Championship Program. It offers a total of $390,000 in prize money to 252 pros competing over three courses and on two levels.

The principal competition is in the 4-day, 72-hole team teams will play with a different 3-man team of amateurs the first three days of competition, each day on a different course at this vast, sprawling amusement complex. The amateurs also play a best-ball competition, including their handicaps, and the pro-am scoring is based on the best ball of the five players.

At the end of 54 holes, the amateurs are through and the field of pro teams is cut to the low 35 for the final round Sunday.

Local couple plans health spa here

When Big Springers Doug and Annette Beams open up their mammoth co-ed sports facility here next year, they will have no doubt planned their project estimated in the plus $300,000 range with a person experienced in the art of maintaining a healthful looking body.

The Beams' flew in the recent winner of the 1980 Mr. USA competition in the light-heavyweight division, Don Peterson of New Orleans.

Peterson, who also has won such titles as Mr. Southern America, Mr.

Louisiana and Mr. New Orleans, as well as recently placing second in the overall competition (all weight classes) of Mr. USA, was in Big Spring to help promote the Beams' new project, as well as to help the local couple suit their facility most properly for those that will use the equipment.

The facility is planning on beginning with a very large room (in comparison to anything currently in the city) which both sexes will use, as well as two racquetball courts, saunas, whirlpool steam room, and an aerobics area. Judo and karate classes are also on the agenda.

"We hope to expand in the future to include more," Beams explained. "But right now the facility will allow the person to go to the extremes they want to."

Peterson's ideas will be very valuable to the Beams' as he is helping them find the best possible equipment for each exercise concerning weights that a person will need. "Different companies make different equipment that is better than others," explained Peterson. "Some brand might have a type of equipment that isolates the chest better, while another might be better for the biceps, thighs, etc."

"What I'm helping Doug do is find the best for each exercise. I'm looking over the plans Doug has made," explained this year's Mr. USA in his weight class, "and making sure that they are as thorough as possible. He's familiar to a certain extent, but not as much as I am. I'm making sure he gets the best equipment for the lowest amount of money."

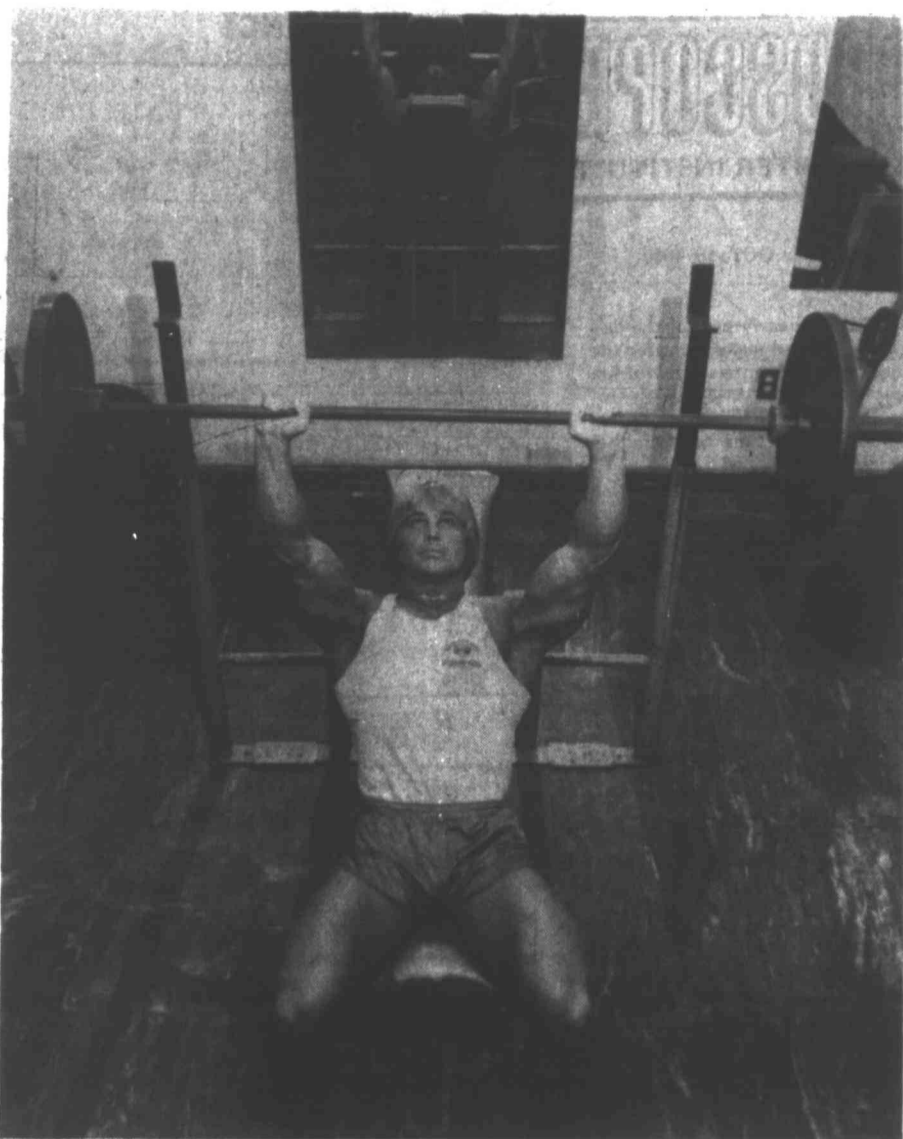

Peterson, who has lived in New Orleans all of his life, trains at that famed city at one of the top health clubs in the United States. Body Masters. He has also trained at some of the posh and modern facilities on the West Coast.

The Beams' hope to also have a swimming pool at their club in the future.

Beams hopes that Peterson's help in mapping the plans for his club in Big Spring can give local physical fitness buffs the chance for improving their bodies in whatever fashion they choose.

"Big Spring is really lacking right now for a good place to work out," said Doug. "There just isn't anywhere that a person that takes his working out seriously can accomplish everything he wants in a good atmosphere."

EXHIBITING POSE — The 1980 light-heavyweight Mr. USA, Don Peterson, exhibits a striking pose during a short exhibition here the past weekend at the YMCA. Peterson was in town to help draw the plans and promote the health club of Doug and Annette Beams, which is scheduled to open some time next year and offer the health freaks of Big Spring an excellent facility.

Big third inning boosts Philly

Leonard then hit Pete Rose with a pitch and walked Schmidt on a 3-1 pitch, bringing up McBride, who had hit only nine home runs all season. Leonard threw him a strike, then a ball, and McBride sent the third pitch high over the fence in right-center.

"I think I took more time watching it than I did to run around the bases," McBride said. "I don't hit too many home runs, but when I hit the ball well like that, I know it's going out."

Boone hit another RBI-double in the fourth inning, and Garry Maddox added what turned out to be the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the fifth.

It wasn't until the eighth inning that the Royals once again got to Walk, who had begun to turn the ball over to try to get some action on it.

Success more than pumping iron for 1980 Mr. USA

A picture of a muscular man striking a pose in the competition for the Mr. Universe title flashes across the television screen in a room full of people. It draws mixed responses.

"Oh, man, what a bod!" sighs one girl. "Aw, that's just ridiculous," adds a man in the back of the room.

"That's just gross," says another girl. "I don't want to go out with a freak like that." "That's something," says an interested young man in the front. "I wonder how he trained to get like that."

Big-time bodybuilders usually get such reactions from people, and when the reigning light-heavyweight in the Mr. USA contest came to town last weekend, there were such comments.

From a personal standpoint, I have been interested in weightlifting for the past ten years, but from more of a health and strength outlook, and not from a bodybuilder's point of view. But at the same time, being the vain person that I am, I have often wondered just what made these bodybuilding people that posed and strutted their stuff in the national and worldwide competition.

The 1980 Mr. USA in the light-heavyweight division is Don Peterson, a 5'7" New Orleans native who was in town to help promote and lay the proper plans for the facility that Doug and Annette Beams will open sometime next year in Big Spring.

Peterson, who said his weight fluctuated anywhere from 192 to 210, is 29 years old, and has been pumping iron for the last 10 years, with his competitive career the past seven years.

The muscularly impressive Peterson, like anyone that excels at such a high level of competition, works extremely hard at what he does. He pumps the weight two-and-a-half hours per day, six days a week.

His week is actually divided into two parts. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, he will work on nearly each separate muscle needed to enhance his competitive chances. Then on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, he will simply go back and repeat the cycle, thus allowing each muscle to have two workouts per week.

"For instance," explained Peterson, "on Mondays and Thursdays, I'll work on the back, biceps and stomach. On Tuesday and Friday, I'll work on the shoulders, triceps and calves, and then Wednesday and Saturday are my heavy days I work my chest and legs on those days."

Peterson admits that he does not work with extremely heavy weight in his workouts, although he once did. "All I'm doing now is trying to refine and define what I currently carry," he stated. "I worked on heavy weight when I started out. But when I reached my potential there, I began working on the repetition needed for muscle definition."

"Lifting heavy weights will just make me acquire more muscle mass," said this year's Mr. USA. "I'm not interested in that, because it will not help me in my competition."

Bodybuilders, unlike power lifters such as new local Sammy Walker, who participated in the Montreal Olympics in the super heavyweight division, are not judged on how much they lift.

"We (bodybuilders) are judged on five things," explained Peterson in his Cajun accent. "These are muscle symmetry, proportion, muscularity, definition and presentation."

"Presentation is a big part of it," he explained. "If I go out against a guy with the same body as I have, but I'm ready mentally and show my body better, I'll blow him off the stage."

Peterson does not compete on the professional level, but as an amateur, as does anyone that enters such competition as Mr. USA or Mr. America, which is his next goal.

What I do is similar to the AAU," he said. "Mr. USA and Mr. America are my two biggest events to compete in. After doing so well in the Mr. USA competition, I'm setting my sights now on winning the Mr. America in Las Vegas next year."

Peterson, who was featured in a front cover fold-out for the magazine "Muscle Training Illustrated," claimed to have no aspirations to turn pro.

"There's really not that much money in it," he explained. "But as it is, it costs me money to compete as an amateur. I estimated that I spent $1500 over three months in preparation for the Mr. USA competition."

Nevertheless, Peterson, who was voted the "Best Chest" in the 1979 Mr. America competition, will continue testing his body as an amateur.

"It's just a matter of continuing to allow my body to mature," said Peterson. "And in maturing, to become more and more defined."

While he no doubt must work out strenuously to pursue his main love, Peterson emphasizes the role that nutrition plays in the outlook of his body.

"I have a very disciplined diet," he explained. "I can eat as much as I want, but it has to be certain types of food."

"Most of it is very high protein food," he continued. "I eat a lot of tuna, eggs, chicken, steak and cottage cheese, as well as a lot of fresh fruit and vegetables, and fruit juices. I avoid anything that has no nutritional value."

"That's not only important in helping the muscles and in avoiding excess fat," he said, "but in the way a person's skin looks, which is very important during competition."

But even with the physical exercises and proper diet, Peterson claims that rest is just as important.

"I try to get a sufficient amount of rest every day," he explained. "I'll always get eight hours of sleep. A proper diet won't do you any good if you don't rest."

For those of you that wish to get into bodybuilding, Peterson claimed that proper rest is just as important as anything.

"It's (rest) so very important for bodybuilding, or any other sport, for that matter," he said. "You must have time to rest your muscles. No matter how well you eat or how hard you work out, it will be futile if you don't rest."

And although the weightlifting, diet, and proper rest are vitally important to any bodybuilder, there is another facet that plays an integral part in the competitive success of Peterson, or any other person competing in his field—the presentation.

The presentation will make or break a competitive bodybuilder, as Peterson will attest to. And admit it or not, a person must have a huge self-ego and an inner desire to perform in the spotlight, which Peterson no doubt enjoys.

While it may turn some on and others off, it's really no different than any other type of acting. Besides, in this day of equality of the sexes, if you have a Miss USA, a Mr. USA is only fair.

Lennon back to music

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Lennon is returning to the music world after a five-year, self-imposed exile during which the former Beatle says he came to grips with his old image.

"What I realized during the five years... was that when I said the dream is over, I had made the physical break from the Beatles, but mentally there was still this big thing on my back about what people expected of me," Lennon said in an interview with the Los Angeles Times.

Waylon Jennings sued

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music star Waylon Jennings has been sued for $750,000 in the latest action in a dispute between the singer and a former recording studio executive.

Alan Cartee, formerly of DBA American Sound Studios, contends in the lawsuit filed Tuesday that Jennings broke his lease by moving out of the recording studio without notice May 18, although the lease remained in effect until Aug. 14, according to a spokeswoman for Davidson County Chancery Court.

The lawsuit was a countersuit to litigation filed by Jennings against Cartee. In June, Jennings asked for $150,000 from Cartee, saying the studio refused to make repairs and thus hurt the quality of his records.

'Maverick' will return

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James Garner, who became one of television's best-known actors as the star of "Maverick," will revive that role in a new "Maverick" series for NBC next year, the network has announced.

In the original "Maverick," which ran on ABC from 1957 to 1962, Garner portrayed the antithesis of the two-fisted cowboys who crowded the airwaves of that era. Garner's Bret Maverick was a gambler always on the con, always eager to avoid trouble.

The show was immensely popular and helped launch Garner's successful acting career, which eventually landed him in the role of James Rockford, a sort of modern-day Bret Maverick. The private detective series, "Rockford Files," was on NBC from 1974 until last year, when Garner stopped production because of illness and fatigue.

Miss America at home

ELK CITY, Okla. (AP) — Miss America, Susan Powell, will take time off from her official activities Friday to sing at the wedding ceremony of two high school friends, David Atkinson and Tammy Carlson.

Miss Powell, the third Oklahoman to win the title, was returning to her home state tonight.

Her hometown plans to mark her return with a parade that Mayor Larry Wade says will be the "biggest we've ever had up here."

Elk City residents are "enthused" about Miss Powell's visit, Wade said. The local newspaper published an 80-page special edition Sunday saluting the new Miss America, and two large billboards will be placed beside Interstate 40 at either end of town to inform passers-through that Elk City is the home of Miss America 1981.

District court gets facelift this week

The 118th District Courtroom's cracked, water damaged tiles are being covered with new carpeting today.

The job was begun earlier this week at a cost of $5,300 by S and H Tile Company. Howard County is picking up the tab.

The job includes patching of the walls in the jury room, paint and new base board.

Scientific definition sought Where's the Midwest?

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Everybody knows about the Midwest. It's where Johnny Carson grew up without developing an accent. It's that expanse of rolling country where our 'ood comes from.

But exactly where is it? That's a tougher question, and a geography professor got some surprising answers from university students across the nation.

James Shortridge of the University of Kansas set out a year ago to find the Midwest. Never mind that by living in Lawrence, Kan., most people would say he's already there.

He wanted a more scientific definition of the region for his study of its culture since white men settled there in large numbers 175 years ago. So for starters, he distributed questionnaires to 3,000 freshmen and sophomores at state universities in 31 states.

Here's what he found: Students from 20 states defined the heart of the Midwest as Nebraska or Kansas — states on the western fringe of the 12-state region formally called the Middle West by academicians.

And 1 percent of the Washington state residents who responded said they considered their state Midwestern, as did 9 percent of Californians, 2 percent of Alabamians and 3 percent of West Virginians.

In Ohio, the easternmost state of the traditional region, only 47 percent of students polled claimed Midwestern residence.

The dictionary definition of the Midwest includes Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin. But Shortridge says that definition is misleading.

"It's a perceptual region. You have to go with the perceptions of the people," Shortridge says. "Maybe originally, people had the perceptual view of the Midwest with Illinois in the center, the image of a small-town rural America."

"But time passes. Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland grow up and don't seem to fit into the traditional definition. So what people do is keep the old definition and move the area. The definition now fits the Plains more than the old area."

Only people from Indiana and Illinois still believe they represent the Midwest's center, he said. Elsewhere, from New York to Texas to Washington, students put the core farther west.

Another part of his survey asked students about values they associated with the region.

"In general the people from Midwestern states — however you define them — say things like, 'the Midwest is the real America, with friendly, open people, a slower pace of life.'"

Elsewhere in the country, attitudes seem split between the positive image and a picture of a rural backwater where people are "hopelessly conservative," he said.

"But people here — more than on either coast — find it hard to put into words the goodness they feel for their homes."

Airline's union okays employee pay reductions

DALLAS (AP) — Two unions have approved a pay cut proposal that could save financially-strapped Braniff Airways $18 million, but implementation of the plan depends on the outcome of a Teamsters union vote.

The 10 percent pay cuts have been approved by the Air Line Pilots Association and the International Association of Machinist and Aerospace Workers, the airline announced this week.

A Teamsters spokesman said that union, which represent about 5,000 mostly ground-crew workers, will finish voting on the salary decrease by Nov. 1.

The plan would be effective Nov. 2 and last for six months, the spokesman said. Non-union personnel also would be affected.

The president of the IAM District 146, Larry Rogers, said his union, representing about 2,200 workers, approved the cut last week by a 2-1 margin. He said he will evaluate the action after 90 days and decide if it should last the 6-month period.

Representatives of the Association of Flight Attendants will meet with Braniff officials to discuss the proposal within two weeks, Braniff spokesman Jere Cox said.

The pay cuts are part of the airline's "Operation Turnaround," instituted to recoup Braniff's staggering losses. The airline reported a $69.6 million loss for the first half of 1980.

Brothers are recuperating

Harry Jordan is up and about after having had a kidney surgically removed in a Lubbock hospital recently.

Jordan has been told he will be able to return to his normal routine following his recuperation. A tennis enthusiast, Harry said he likely would start playing again soon.

Harry's brother, Tommy, whose recovery has been slow after he was found unconscious at his home several months ago, is now in the VA Medical Center here. Tommy suffered serious burns when he collapsed on a hot sidewalk during a prolonged hot spell.

1974 ROAD BOSS, 318 Detroit

Midland Theater Group applauded for efforts

"Catch Me if You Can" is the title of a comic whodunit playing at the Midland Community Theatre. The title is more a taunt by the authors, Jack Weinstock and Willie Gilbert, than an introduction to the play.

Watching the play is like trying to guess the solution to a very complicated murder mystery riddle. No one expected the chips to fall where they did in the bizarre conclusion.

The play is a story about a young man on his honeymoon in a romantic retreat in the Catskill Mountains. His wife disappears.

A priest appears to "bring him good news" and a woman claiming to be his wife returns. However, he claims that she isn't his wife and indeed it turns out that she is not.

She and the priest appear to be conspiring to put away Daniel Corban, the husband, to collect his insurance and a large inheritance that his real wife will collect.

A yellow Mercedes like the one driven by the wife appears on the road. Approaching the cabin and the proverbial jig seems to be up. But the event only serves to complicate matters when Daniel Corban's boss shows up with his girlfriend and tells the detective that the woman actually is Daniel Corban's wife.

Corban and his boss work for a company who advertises for Mercedes so almost everyone drives them. The boss thinks Corban wants the boss to cover for him because the priest is there.

The detective is further persuaded that Corban is a nut. Corban has been accused of the murder of a sandwich shop man, who pretended to be killed by the

Gilbert aided rescue efforts

Add the name of Hubert Gilbert to the list of good samaritans who helped evacuate the Alan (Skeet) Murphy and Dub Rhoades families from their flood-ravaged homes in the Moore community last month.

Gilbert's name was not mentioned in the story entitled "County homes still under water" which appeared in the Herald.

Gilbert, however, worked untiringly with others to see that most of household goods from the two water-logged residences was saved.

Cities to get less water

LUBBOCK — Member cities of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, including Lubbock, have been informed they can expect to have their water allotment cut an additional ten percent next year.

The steadily decreasing water level at Lake Meredith is blamed for the reduced allocations.

In all, 11 cities will be involved in the cutbacks. Lubbock's contractual share of water from Lake Meredith is almost 12.5 billion gallons annually. The maximum allowed Lubbock under this year's arrangement will be 11.2 billion gallons and that will be reduced to 9.95 billion gallons in 1981.

Lubbock had already planned to drill a dozen new water wells in 1981 to supplement its supply. Estimated cost of each well is $50,000.

priest but was actually on the whole plot against Corban.

The plot is good, the lines are passable and the acting is better than expected from local enthusiasts.

The only set is the cabin interior but it was nicely done. It was overheard during intermission that a huge moosehead was threatened to pull down the flat it was hung on.

The play was originally produced in Nice and then in Paris in 1960 under the title Piege Pour Un Homme Seul (Trap for a Lonely Man), according to the program.

It was adapted by the two Americans for Broadway where it ran for 103 performances after it opened March 9, 1965.

Characters were a little stereotyped, for example, Colombo kept creeping into Inspector Levine's acting, played by Leonard Caryl. The stage moves were flawless as far as the audience could tell.

The conclusion brought spontaneous sighs of understanding from the audience. The end was like an O'Henry story and reminded one of the unexpected twist at the end of the movie "The Sting."

The play will run Friday and Saturday. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. and tickets are $4.50.
