Syria doubles troops and tanks on border

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria doubled its forces on Jordan's border to 50,000 troops and 1,100 tanks over the weekend, well informed sources said today. Observers in Damascus said armed conflict could break out any day.

They said a letter from Saudi King Khalid, who is trying to mediate the conflict, to President Hafez Assad contained threats, and appeared to have been counterproductive. The substance of the threats was not known, but Saudi Arabia is a big financial backer of the Damascus government.

Saudi Prince Abdulla Bin Abdul-Aziz, deputy premier and commander of the national guard, delivered the letter to Assad during a three-hour meeting Sunday. Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat also conferred with Assad for more than two hours Sunday, and an aide to Arafat described the border situation as "very serious."

King Hussein of Jordan strengthened his forces on the Syrian border Sunday, saying they would not attack the Syrian troops facing them but would "cut off the arm" of anyone attacking them. Jordan is a U.S. ally, while Syria is the Soviet Union's chief ally in the Middle East.

Syria began massing troops and tanks along its frontier with Jordan 10 days ago, just before the convening of an Arab summit conference in Amman which Assad boycotted because he expected it to back his enemy Iraq in its war with Iran. Hussein in response reinforced Jordan's forces on the border.

The king ordered another division to the border Sunday, called up reservists, mobilized civil defense units, tightened airport and border security and began stockpiling fuel, a highly placed Jordanian source said. Jordan now has three divisions at the frontier, compared to two for Syria.

However, the border remained open and the two government's embassies in Damascus and Amman were reported conducting business as usual.

Hussein made a helicopter tour of the frontier Sunday and inspected positions, some just a few hundred yards from the Syrian lines. He was shown on television shaking hands with scores of officers and soldiers and telling his cheering troops that Jordan will "never attack an Arab brother but we will cut off the arm of anyone attacking us."

The highly placed Jordanian source, who declined to be identified, said Hussein's buildup was "strictly precautionary...and we have no intention whatsoever of pre-empting the Syrians."

"The whole situation, to us, is nothing but muscle-flexing by the Syrians who think they can intimidate Jordan," he said. "The Syrians are talking like a big power to a small power. The Syrians want to weaken Iraq by attacking Jordan."

Asked if Jordan would seek help from Iraq, the source said, "We can depend on ourselves."

Jordan is ferrying supplies to Iraq for the war against Iran, while Syria backs Iran in the war.

Syria also claims Jordan is training and supplying terrorists of the fundamentalist Moslem Brotherhood which the Syrians blame for a 16-month-old campaign of bombings and political assassinations aimed at overthrowing Assad. Syrian sources said this was the explanation for the border buildup given to U.S. Ambassador Talcott Seelye in Damascus over the weekend.

Israel's deputy defense minister, Mordechai Zippori, said Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government was watching the Syrian-Jordanian crisis closely "to make sure there won't be any surprises or changes in the situation that could turn in Israel's direction." But Israel's military chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Rafael Eytan, told an audience in southern Israel, "The deeper the disunity in the Arab world, the more advantageous it is to Israel."

Voters decide Dec. 13

Big Spring bond election includes nine proposals

Big Spring voters will decide nine bond proposals totaling $13,095,000 on Saturday, Dec. 13.

(The Herald will outline the bond proposals the next nine days).

The bond program is one recommended by an 85 member Citizens' Advisory Committee and has been reviewed by the city staff and city council.

The planning process began in December, 1979, when the City Council appointed members to the advisory committee. The committee was broken into four sub-committees — parks and recreation, street and storm sewer, water and sanitary sewer and public facilities.

City Manager Don Davis said the charge to these committees was to identify the needs of Big Spring both presently and the next 10 to 15 years.

After identifying the needs, the committees placed projects in priority and made their recommendations to the City Council in April. The recommendations of the four committees totaled $25,000,000. This amount was trimmed to $13,095,000.

The last major bond issue presented to local taxpayers was in 1960. The citizens of Big Spring overwhelmingly approved a $4.3 million bond package.

The nine propositions are divided into three general categories — general purpose bonds, water bonds and sewer bonds.

General purpose bonds include:
1. Street improvements, $4,545,000.
2. Vehicle storage facilities, $70,000.
3. Fire station and facility improvements, $500,000.
4. Parks, $780,000.
5. Police building improvements, $1,160,000.
6. Animal shelter, $30,000.
7. Cemetery improvements,

$275,000.
8. Water system improvements, $4,530,000.
9. Sewer system improvements, $1,205,000.

The general purpose bonds will be financed by an increase in the ad valorem tax rate. The water and sewer improvements will be financed by an increase in the water and sewer rate.

The complete general purpose bond program will require an additional tax rate of 35 cents. This amounts to approximately $4 a month to the property owner of the average valued house in Big Spring.

The water rate will be increased by about $5 per month to the average customer.

The sewer rate will be increased by $1 per month per customer in order to pay for the proposed sewer improvements.

The following locations will serve as polling places:

Precinct No. 1 — Northside Fire Station, Main and N.E. Eighth Street.

Precinct No. 2 — 11th and Birdwell Fire Station.

Precinct No. 3 — 18th and Main Fire Station.

Precinct No. 4 — Central Fire Station, Fourth and Nolan.

Precinct No. 5 — Airport Elementary School, West 13th and Airbase Road.

Who is eligible to vote?
Any resident of Big Spring for at least 30 days prior to the day of the election and has a valid voter registration certificate issued by the county clerk of Howard County.

Absentee votes may be cast in the office of the City Secretary at City Hall, 4th and Nolan, until Tuesday, Dec. 9.

Hostages still under custody of militants

By The Associated Press

The 52 American hostages have not yet been transferred to the custody of the Iranian government by militants who have been holding them since Nov. 4, 1979, Iran's minister of state for executive affairs was quoted as saying today.

The Tehran daily Ettelat said Behzad Nabavi told it in an interview: "The hostages have not been handed over... by the students..."

Nabavi, appointed by Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai to head a government commission dealing with the hostage issue, did not amplify the remark. His comment followed reports last week that the government had taken custody of the hostages.

Meanwhile, CBS television broadcast an interview Sunday with Rajai who said "the hostages are in excellent health and very good shape." CBS correspondent Mike Wallace reported from Tehran that it is not clear who is in control of the hostages or whether they are in the U.S. Embassy compound.

Nabavi made his comment in response to a question on whether the United States has met Iran's four conditions for release of the hostages, the newspaper said.

The militants received approval Nov. 3 from Khomeini to hand over the hostages to the government, which is now negotiating with the United States for release of the captives.

Hashemi Rafsanjani, speaker of the Iranian Parliament, said on Saturday that he did not know where the hostages were. "I didn't even know where they were before," he told a news conference.

The location of the Americans has not been confirmed since the unsuccessful U.S. rescue attempt in April. The captors claimed then that they had scattered the hostages throughout the country to foil any attempt to rescue them from the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Nabavi said Iran was still awaiting American clarification on whether the United States would meet Iran's four conditions for release of the hostages, the paper said. "As we have already declared, America's response is not clear and proper," the newspaper quoted him as saying.

The United States is now preparing a second response to Iran's proposed conditions after the Tehran government asked clarification of Washington's first answer.

The Iranian Parliament said on Nov. 2 that the hostages would be released if the United States freed Iranian assets frozen in the United States, ended all pending lawsuits against Iran, confiscated and returned to Iran the wealth of the late shah and his family and pledged not to interfere in Iranian affairs.

Survivors stay in earthquake area despite government orders

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Fourteen more tremors jolted southern Italy during the night and early today, but hundreds of earthquake survivors resisted government orders to move.

One man killed himself rather than leave his dead son. A deaf woman stayed in her shattered cellar seven days, surviving on biscuits and tomato sauce.

The tremors were recorded by the Vesuvius Observatory and the National Geodynamics Research Council in Naples, but there was no immediate report of new casualties.

Military officials said many of the homeless in tent camps insulted soldiers and government workers as they arrived with buses to transfer them to hotels being requisitioned by the government.

"Some sent their children running in all directions just to create confusion and delay our operation," said an official outside Salerno.

"Nobody really wants to go, because it would mean leaving their towns, but the weather is ugly and maybe people don't know that it isn't so nice living in a trailer," Giuseppe Zamberletti, the government's special commissioner for the earthquake zone, told The Associated Press.

Two strong aftershocks jolted the quake area Sunday, arousing new fears among the survivors. But the only casualty reported was a 62-year-old man who rushed from his shaking house with two children and died of a heart attack.

"Ninety-five percent of the people here still won't sleep in their houses because they have cracks and might fall down in another quake," said Mario Di Feo of Volturara, a village east of Naples.

But Dr. Vincenzo Palumbo of Calabritto said the people "look with suspicion on the invitation to move to hotels. They might accept going to live in other Italian and European cities where there are other people from their villages. They would feel less alone."

With snow, sleet and sub-freezing temperatures threatening the health of those in tent camps, Zamberletti's office announced that 12,000 beds were available in resort hotels along the coasts.

The government said it would pay the hotels their usual rates, pay for the food and other living expenses of the refugees and get them out by April 30, before the start of the tourist season.

Interior Ministry officials said temporary housing would be built.

The army estimates 265,000 people lost their homes in the quake Nov. 23 and that shelter must be provided for 170,000 of these. About 65,000 are expected to go to relatives or friends in northern Italy or foreign countries, and 30,000 are expected to remain in their towns and villages, getting by as best as they can.

More than eight inches of snow had collected on the rubble of some of the devastated mountain villages by Sunday afternoon, police said. Soldiers and firemen in Sant' Angelo dei Lombardi and other towns still had not recovered all of the corpses buried in the rubble, and the stench was considerable despite the cold.

The military command in Naples said 2,915 bodies had been recovered, 1,574 people were missing and 7,097 were injured. It said no one was recovered alive from the ruins Sunday, and rescue workers feared most of the missing were dead.

Fire erupts at group home

DETROIT (AP) — Careless cigarette smoking has been cited as the cause of a fire that erupted at a group home for adults, killing five elderly men, authorities said.

The blaze broke out about 1 a.m. Sunday at the Donahue Foster Care Home when bedding ignited after a resident lit a cigarette, officials said. Seven of the home's 12 residents escaped, as did the supervisor on duty. One of the residents got away by jumping out a window, authorities said.

The five victims, ranging in age from 57 to 69, apparently died of smoke inhalation, officials said.

Ferry rescues passengers

SEATTLE (AP) — A ferry has rescued about 240 passengers from the cruise steamer Virginia V, which lost power and ran aground in Puget Sound, U.S. Coast Guard officials said.

Officials said the 115-foot Virginia V, one of the last Puget Sound steamers, was on a chartered cruise Saturday night when a steam valve blew and the ship lost power.

Officials said a passing tugboat towed the drifting Virginia V to calm waters. The ferry Walla Walla, hearing a distress call, veered from its cross-sound run to the Virginia V. The rescue was completed early Sunday.

Whitetail deer herd large

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Thousands of Pennsylvania deer hunters are taking to the forests and fields today, stalking a whitetail deer herd that's larger than it was in pioneer days.

Robert Cowan, an animal nutrition professor at Pennsylvania State University, said the deer population rose to its present 750,000 when lumbering opened up forests and created the kind of thick underbrush favored by deer. Overhunting had reduced the herd to practically nothing by 1800.

Pennsylvania Game Commission spokesmen said the whitetail would overpopulate the state were it not for the annual two-week hunt. They said they hope this year's harvest will match the 114,000 deer reported killed last year.

Nuclear protest at game

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A hearing has been set for Dec. 17 for a Roman Catholic priest and two other anti-nuclear protesters arrested after blood was poured on the field during the Army-Navy football game.

The game was interrupted Saturday as the three protesters were apprehended and led off the field. A bloodstain remained near the 10-yard line on Veterans Stadium's artificial surface after the game, which Navy won 33-6.

The Rev. Patrick K. Sieber, 38; his brother, Richard Sieber, 32; and John Hand, 33, all of Philadelphia, were charged with disorderly conduct, criminal trespass and criminal mischief, then released.

Begins duties today

Police Chief 'conservative'

By DON WOODS
Big Spring Police Chief Elwood W. Hoherz began his duties as chief of police today.

Hoherz was born and raised in Hamilton County, attended elementary school in Ireland and high school in Jonesboro.

Hoherz sees himself as conservative in nature, though progressive in personnel management. He believes in strict discipline for his officers who abuse criminal laws or constitutional rights of suspects.

Hoherz said law enforcement should be patient with juveniles. "The first contact especially has a tremendous effect on them," he said.

Hoherz said he does not yet have a good impression of the police department here, but that the officers seem eager and want to enforce the laws.

Hoherz received an associate degree from McLennan Community College and a bachelor's degree from Baylor in criminal justice.

He has had 13 years of experience with the Waco Police Department during two terms of employment. He had also had three and a half years with the state Liquor Control Board.

Before his law enforcement career, however, Hoherz received five years of experience in banking.

ELWOOD HOHERZ

It was after he got out of the Army that he rode with his cousin on two occasions who was a patrolman in the Waco police force.

Big Spring is the first city Hoherz has worked in as police chief. He was administrative officer for the chief of police in Waco for the last two years.

He said he would be available for talks to civic groups on criminal law.

Reagan keeps up suspense

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan says he has made some of his Cabinet choices, but the president-elect is keeping up the suspense about who they are. Some of the answers may come late this week.

"I'm not going to report or speculate until we have a crew together and an announcement ready to make," Reagan told reporters Sunday as he returned from an overnight stay for a charity dinner in Palm Springs, Calif. "We're whittling away."

Edwin Meese III, who will become a Cabinet-level counselor to the new president, said Sunday that Reagan "has made definite decisions ... and he is in the process of implementing some of those now."

Asked about that as he returned to Los Angeles, Reagan said: "Yes, that's right... But I'm not ready to say that we are ready to announce names."

Despite prophets, newspapers prospering

For two institutions which have had to deny they're dying for decades now, newspapers and baseball are leading extraordinarily healthy lives.

Baseball can point to its own attendance records and to the innovations it has made as proof that it is not only keeping its followers engrossed for a period of five months but actually is growing in esteem.

We'll champion the cause of the newspapers in this allotted space, mainly because we are heavily involved.

THERE WAS A TIME as long ago as 1935 when the anvil chorus was pounding nails into the newspaper's coffin. Radio, the people of vision were saying, would be the chief pallbearer for the newspaper's funeral. Needless to say, the newspaper's death notice was premature and greatly exaggerated.

In the 50s, a new threat came along. People entranced by television were saying that viewers would become so dependent upon TV that they would forget how to read. That hasn't happened either, although an alarming number of people cannot pass basic literacy tests today because they never learned to read.

Television, no doubt, casts a spell over most Americans but the reporting it does is too often superficial and deceptive. If it took the pains the newspaper industry does to report a story, it would soon lose its viewers. Television announcers rarely explore a subject. Instead they read a few lines from a prepared text and then get on to other matters.

Primarily, television knows its true mission — to entertain. And it tries to keep the viewer enthralled and amused without making him think. Often, it is referred to as "chewing gum for the mind."

NEWSPAPERS THRIVE, let's face it, because there is such a temporary value to anything reported or advertised on television or radio. News nuggets or advertising gems appearing in newspapers, on the other hand, will be there tomorrow, next week and next year.

Most every part of the newspaper is clipped by someone, for entry into a scrap book or for future reference. We have had requests for news items printed 75 years ago — the person initiating such inquiries 'knows' there is a record of the item he seeks 'somewhere.'

We are not about to say that changes are not being forced upon newspapers. The press lords, smug about their product, were asleep too long. Only in recent years have radical changes come about in the printing business. Hot type has been replaced. Wirephotos have been introduced, which means that pictures originating on the far side of the world can be reproduced for local consumption in a matter of hours.

More changes are coming to the business but as long as man remains the social animal he is, interested in what his fellow man is doing, there'll be a place for newspaper. There is nothing quite like the printed word.

Starting early

Around the rim

Andrea Cohen

I made one New Year's resolution which I decided to start a month early. As I sit here with my new issues of all the fashion magazines, I have sworn off clothes from now until the end of February unless I absolutely, positively, without a doubt, need them.

No more hopping into a dress shop, seeing an outfit I absolutely can't do without and buying it. I will buy nothing. My checkbook told me it needs a rest.

SINCE I HAVE no willpower if I walk into a dress store, I'm staying away and sticking to the magazines. I'm still eating my heart out, but there is no one staring me in the face waiting for the money.

But as I look through the magazines, I'm seeing some cute things. There are articles every so often telling me how to take last year's things and make them look good for this year. Just add a scarf or a pair of earrings and I'll look brand new. So I'll just have to take their advice.

Over here, on this page is a beautiful brown wool skirt, with a brown and white striped blouse and a brown blazer.

I'm lost on that one. I don't have anything that resembles a brown skirt and brown blazer and I never wear blouses. Women with my build try to stay away from them. They never lay right in certain places.

Okay. Let's go to the next page. For $500, Dior has a marvelous little red number to wear to the office. It's simple enough to wear to the office but dressy enough to wear after work, when according to the publication, that special man will take me to an elegant New York restaurant.

That idea is out also. I have no little red numbers in my wardrobe, or I should say, none I'll admit to. And nothing in my wardrobe even looks like it cost $500.

HERE'S ONE I can fake. A pair of $50 blue jeans with a simple $75 burgundy top. I have a pair of nine dollar blue jeans and an old burgundy top a friend gave me four years ago. I'll just go through my closet. I know it's here somewhere. Darn. I knew I should have cleaned my closets out last week. Then maybe I could find something. So much for that idea.

Well, maybe last year's clothing won't work. But here are the outfits they're showing for New Year's Eve. I love this blue one.

I don't need it since I'm working New Year's Eve. But it really is cute. I'll just try it on to see how it looks. There will always be places I'll be able to wear it. Maybe I'll look around town to see if I can find it. One little outfit won't hurt the budget.

Maybe I'll start my New Year's resolution tomorrow. Either that, or I'm going to clean my closet out.

Curious ally

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — President-elect Ronald Reagan has found an ally for his prudent, go-slow approach to a new strategic arms control treaty (SALT) in an unlikely place: President Jimmy Carter's Oval Office.

When Carter late last year quietly put his signature on a classified, unpublished presidential directive, known as PD-50, he radically transformed his administration's pell-mell approach to the SALT process. He also unwittingly handed his successor potent political ammunition by ordering that all future arms control proposals be "fully supportive of our national security."

Reagan has every intention of keeping arms talks with the Soviets in limbo until he has analyzed overall national security needs. That will not happen until his new national security team in the State and Defense Departments and at the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA) has completed "cleaning up the wreckage" of the last four years (as one Reagan aide told us). That means it will be months from now — possibly late summer — before Reagan is ready for anything resembling serious nuclear talks with Moscow. On arms control, Reagan is not a man in a hurry.

THE PRESIDENT-ELECT and his top advisers want first things first. Before addressing complex arms control questions with the Russians, Reagan wants to lay out all defense requirements of the U.S. That includes force levels for both weapons and manpower; the likely need for futuristic anti-satellite warfare; the possible necessity for a much expanded nuclear testing program; exactly how the powerful new MX missile should be fitted into the nuclear arsenal and much more.

"There is no SALT negotiating strategy now and won't be for quite some time," one Reagan adviser told us. "Gov. Reagan is not about to move into that area in any haste."

The contradiction between Reagan's first-things-first approach and the unseemly haste that galvanized Carter and his arms control lobby four years ago is both real and symbolic. Even before taking the oath of office, Carter was issuing orders to the Joint Chiefs of Staff for studies pointing to radical reductions of long-range nuclear missiles. SALT came first, and all else hung from it. With Reagan, overall defense strategy comes first.

But Carter had undergone significant change by Aug. 14, 1979, when he approved PD-50. That was two months after his SALT II treaty with the Russians ran into a hornet's nest of political opposition. The presidential directive was attacked and ridiculed privately by the arms control lobby still riding high in the Carter administration. But Carter stuck to it.

Written by a senior Soviet specialist on Zbigniew Brzezinski's National Security Council staff, the directive now turns out to be a remarkable fit for the arms control philosophy of President-elect Reagan (who regards SALT II as a dangerous piece of paper he would never have signed).

HOW CARTER, the convinced arms-controller, became converted from all-out enthusiast to healthy skeptic (despite campaign rhetoric attacking Reagan's alleged warmongerism) is hidden in the mists of contemporary U.S.-Soviet neutralization at the very time the Soviets were building immense new power along the contiguous shorelines of Asia and Africa. Another was the folly of negotiating a U.S.-Soviet limit on conventional arms aid to friendly foreign countries when the Soviets were pushing over $1 billion of arms on Ethiopia.

Enlarged glands not always ominous

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please write about the significance of enlarged lymph glands in young children. My son, who is three, has had swollen glands in his neck since he was nine months old, and I have noticed recently the glands in the groin area are slightly swollen. I was told not to worry about this, but I recently learned that enlarged glands can be a sign of Hodgkin's disease. Am I worrying needlessly? He seems healthy and is very seldom sick. — Mrs. V.S.

I'm afraid we're headed for a long answer here.

Enlarged lymph nodes can indicate such a wide variety of conditions, ranging from completely harmless to very serious, that it is impossible to tell you what they might represent in any individual child. You have said something quite important, however — the child seems healthy and is very seldom sick. That statement is very meaningful, for it paints the background for the lymph node enlargement. Significant enlargements usually make a child ill in time.

Lymph nodes, or glands, as they are commonly called, are situated throughout the body. One of their important jobs is to filter out germs. They are like checkpoint guards challenging hostile agents trying to penetrate defenses. The nodes in the neck and in the groin are often slightly enlarged. Consider them checkpoints for the mouth and legs, respectively, both common places for germs to enter the body.

Neck nodes may enlarge in allergic people, and yes, it is true that nodes enlarge from cancerous processes, such as Hodgkin's disease. Just as an aside, Hodgkin's disease is very, very rare in someone under five years old.

If a child has slightly enlarged nodes for a period of time and is not ill, that is an indication that there probably is no serious problem. As I mentioned, the general state of health is a valuable clue, but it is not the only one. Explain your concern to your pediatrician. He may be so used to seeing the kind of enlargement your son has that he does not understand your worries. He is aware of what they can sometimes mean. Secondly, for your peace of mind, the child should be examined, if only to settle this issue for you once and for all.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a woman of 40. I have a great fear of anesthetics used for surgery. I cannot accept this. I wish to know what steps I can take to forget all the gloom and make myself feel more positive about this matter. Please advise me. — P.R.

We paralyze ourselves into total inaction when we focus only on life's hazards. No one would get into a car, cross a street or leave the house if he concentrated on the possible outcomes of those acts. So, too, with surgery and anesthesia. Anesthesiologists are experts in taking care of people while surgery is being performed. They are there throughout the operation, checking the heart, the lungs and all body functions. You will probably never be so closely watched at any time in your life as you will be when you have surgery.

I hope this takes some of the gloom out of your outlook and makes you feel more positive. Incidentally, the anesthesiologist talks to the patient before surgery to explain what anesthetic is to be used and what to expect. He will be most sympathetic to your worries and try to allay any fears you have.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My 11-year-old brother is addicted to lemons. I can't remember how long he has been doing it, but it must be for more than two years. Every day he has one or more lemons. When he comes home from school he cuts a lemon in half, then salts each half and has them for a snack. He makes lemonade and instead of using sugar, he uses salt. I call him a "lemon head." Can he be hurting himself? — Sister

I cannot find lemon craving as a symptom of any illness. It might be, but if it is I don't know about it.

Although lemons are a good source of vitamin C, your brother is over-doing things. It sounds as though he has developed a taste that is not particularly healthy. The added salt is definitely unhealthy. He is using too much, and excessive salt can contribute to high blood pressure.

I would encourage him to stop that. I would also suggest a physical examination to see if his craving has real meaning. The lemon part has me stumped. There's a remote possibility the salt part might be related to low supply of body sodium.

To learn about the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery — read the booklet, "The Pesky Prostate." For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am a teenager with a lot of problems. My friends say I ought to try drugs for the answer, but I'm not sure they are right. — D.M.

DEAR D.M.: Stay away from drugs! They will not solve your problems. In fact, they will only create new ones for you.

In a world filled with problems, drugs have become popular because they provide a temporary means of escape. But drug users find that when they come down from their "high," their problems are still there, and they often seem bigger than ever. By taking drugs, you will only delay having to deal with your troubles.

Most drug users experience some or all of the following problems: a loss of interest in school and extracurricular activities, alienation from family and friends, unstable eating and sleeping patterns, loss of motivation, general fatigue, sudden mood changes and emotional insecurities, fear of addiction, and the financial pressures associated with the need to buy drugs. Becoming addicted to drugs is easy, but getting off them is tough. Withdrawal is excruciatingly painful physically and emotionally.

What you need is a solution to each of your problems and the power to overcome them. God offers both.

the root of all problems faced by mankind is sin — man's rebellion against God. It is sin that produces the greed, bitterness, hatred and jealousy that infect our society and infiltrate our personal relationships. Man, as a result of sin, is out of touch with his Creator, his fellowmen, and himself. The only cure for sin is salvation in Christ.

You need to be freed from the penalty of your own personal sin — your own personal rebellion against God. Jesus paid that penalty on the cross, in your place. When I was a teenager, I confessed my sins and accepted Christ as my Savior. You can do the same. The Bible says, "That if you confess with your mouth, 'Jesus is Lord,' and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved" (Romans 10:9).

Accept Christ as your Savior and then live each day committed to him and his teaching. As a Christian, you will discover that God will be with you through all your problems. Jesus said, "And surely I will be with you always, to the very end of the age" (Matthew 28:20). In the Bible you will find advice on how to deal with your problems, and through prayer and by the guidance of the indwelling Holy Spirit you will find the power to deal with them.

Espionage down

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — One American response to the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan which is probably as irritating to the Kremlin as the Olympic Games boycott is the curtailment of U.S. flights by the Russian state airline, Aeroflot.

Since the Afghanistan aggression, Aeroflot has been restricted to two flights a week out of Dulles International Airport, the federally operated facility outside Washington.

Aeroflot's flights into New York were halted, not by the U.S. government, but by the Teamsters Union, which has refused to service Soviet planes there.

WHAT BOTHERS the Russians is not the loss of revenue, but the cut-back on espionage activities furthered by Aeroflot. The Soviet planes, with their KGB security personnel, are the Russians' preferred means of getting top-secret reports safely back to the Kremlin.

However, a secret CIA report shown recently to my associate Dale Van Atta discloses that Aeroflot is more than merely a secure delivery channel for Russian spy material.

"For a number of years," the report states, "the Soviets have been suspected of using Aeroflot for (electronic) intelligence collection operations." Two examples are cited: —"The Soviets reportedly rescheduled the flight of an IL-62 Classic in 1974 to permit coverage of a U.S. command post exercise."

—In 1977, a special Aeroflot charter flight over the continental United States "was viewed as having a collection mission, since signal intelligence intercept gear was observed on the aircraft."

These examples, the report says, "indicate a prolonged employment of Aeroflot by the Soviets for both counterintelligence and foreign collection purposes."

ALL OVER the world, Aeroflot is regarded with suspicion by local governments. The airline's chief of operations in the Netherlands was arrested some years ago and expelled on suspicion of trying to steal state secrets. And the CIA reports that on another occasion "a high-level Aeroflot official in Madrid was expelled by Spanish authorities as a result of his involvement in military espionage."

Within the Soviet Union, the security police apparently judge foreigners by what the Russians do when they're abroad. "On domestic flights over the USSR, the KGB officer probably acts in a security capacity to inform on the activities of foreigners or to block attempts by them to gather intelligence," the CIA reports. "On overseas flights, the function of the KGB officer would be to maintain control over the flight crew and prevent any possible defections."

TEST FLUNKED: A major component of the new "rapid deployment force" made a miserable showing in a six-day exercise last September, according to the confidential report of an Army team that evaluated its performance.

The 317th Tactical Airlift Wing was being tested on its combat readiness in "Exercise Purple Penny" at Pope Air Force Base in North Carolina. Its mission in wartime is to transport men and equipment from the rear echelon to a forward combat area.

In six out of seven critical areas, the 317th was rated clearly unsatisfactory by the evaluation team. Among the more glaring deficiencies the umpires found:

—Only 26 of 46 aircraft were reliable.

—Mobility of crew and aircraft was judged unsatisfactory because of mismanagement at three different control points. "Excessive safety deviations" were also found.

—Carelessness, ineptitude and major safety violations led to failing grades in combat support, command and control.

—Crews had not read the tactical ground rules.

—Personnel were found sleeping on the job.

—No security checks were made before classified briefings.

—Essential paperwork was lost.

—Mechanical failures were found virtually everywhere.

TIPS FOR THE GIPPER: When Ronald Reagan met privately with House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill at the Capitol last week, the venerable Massachusetts Democrat had some friendly words of advice for the president-elect.

Recalling that Reagan began his career as a baseball play-by-play broadcaster, O'Neill warned Reagan that he would now be playing hardball in the Big Leagues. Said O'Neill, whose career as a baseball fan goes back to the days of the old Boston Braves: "Being governor of California was like playing Triple-A ball. This is the majors."

O'Neill who will be 68 next week, also offered the 69-year-old Reagan a gloomy prediction. "You know, Governor," he said, "you're older than me and you look younger. But I'll bet that after a year on the job we'll both look the same." The silver-haired speaker did not say what role, if any, he will play in turning Reagan's hair white.

WATCH ON WASTE: Apparently untroubled by the prospect of budgetary belt-tightening in the new Republican administration, bureaucratic aesthetes in the Department of Health and Human Services are going ahead with plans for a $6,800 mural for the Surgeon General's conference room. The mural will depict the history of the Public Health Service from 1793 to 1960. Asked about the need for such an artistic expenditure in a time of austerity, an official explained that the agency is constantly getting inquiries about the development of the Public Health Service. The mural will presumably answer such questions — for the Surgeon General's art-loving visitors, at least.

BLIND TRUST — With eyes covered, a teacher falls from a desk top into the arms of colleagues during a "trust activity" that is part of a program to build enthusiasm for teachers.

Teacher enthusiasm is built by course

BUTLER, Pa. (AP) — Teachers in northwestern Pennsylvania have been jumping off roofs, huffing through a Marine-style obstacle course and dangling from parachute sails — all with hopes of polishing their performance in the classroom.

Fleet feet and strong grips won't necessarily make Shakespeare or logarithms more palatable to 17-year-olds, but such game playing can help refresh a teacher's appetite for the job, says Ken Musko, originator of the Teacher Enthusiasm Renewal course.

"Teachers are in the same position as a lot of students," Musko said recently over the clamor at the Butler High School cafeteria, his beefy hands cradling a cup of coffee.

"You destroy their spirit by constant ridicule and persecution from the public, administrators and parents. And when their spirit is broken, self-image and morale goes down."

He was talking about teacher burnout, a recently recognized but largely unmeasurable phenomenon.

"I have no doubt it exists," said Virginia Koehler, assistant director of the teaching and instruction division at the National Institute of Education in Washington. "But there are no national figures."

The National Education Association says the average length of teacher service has dropped from 20 years to 14 years in the past two decades, an indication that more teachers are getting fed up.

Lack of discipline seems to be the main reason. "One in 20 teachers has been attacked in the United States," Musko said, referring to NEA statistics from 1979.

Other factors in teacher stress include overcrowded classrooms, reams of paperwork and expectations that teachers assume cultural training abandoned by parents.

"The spark just goes out. Teaching becomes a routine," Ms. Koehler said.

Enter Ken Musko and his unconventional course.

In the three years he has been teaching the program for the Midwestern Intermediate Unit, which provides various services for schools in Butler, Lawrence and Mercer counties, the course has gotten rave reviews from 150 participants.

"Self-image is the key," he said. "This program tries to help people find out that they're better than they think they are."

To do that, Musko believes individuals must be challenged — maybe even a little bit frightened.

That's what Libby Zambelli was when she climbed a ladder to the roof of Laurel High School and came down on a rope by bouncing her feet off the building's walls.

"I didn't know if I could do the rappelling. I'm not too thrilled about heights," the sixth grade teacher in the Mohawk district later admitted. When it was over, she said she "felt good inside."

Not every instruction period involves derring-do. Time is also spent in group dynamics, trust activities and problem solving. At the end of each class the "point of the day" is discussed.

Typically the first of four sessions begins with teachers "ventilating." I get them to talk about themselves, about education and what is really bothering them," said Musko.

Then come the icebreakers — activities to get class members laughing and interacting with each other.

"In one of them we get teachers to make a real loud 'Oh' sound, like this," Musko warbled as he mimicked an opera baritone, one arm outstretched, the other resting against his orange and green western shirt.

There are also problem solvers like "All Aboard," in which 10 teachers must all climb on a round disk 2 feet in diameter.

"We do a lot of silly, childish activities. But I believe in the healing power of hilarity," said Musko, a 36-year-old former physical education teacher.

During the final two sessions, teachers sail 100 feet and more into the air on the parachute sails and run the obstacle confidence course which Musko had built at Knoch High School.

"There's a lot of thought and courage involved. The idea is to give them a risky situation that they can succeed in," he said.

It was that philosophy that gained Musko national attention two years ago when he developed a "school of hard knocks" for disruptive students.

That program also featured an obstacle course, crawling through dark caves, visits to a morgue and occasional paddling for disobedient students. The Alternative Education program won Musko this year's Freedom's Foundation Valley Forge Teachers Medal.

Besides self-confidence, the teachers' course provides participants with specific motivational, leadership and communication skills they can use at their jobs, Musko said.

Tim Glunt, a practical arts teacher in the West Middlesex district, said the course helped him realize "the kids aren't just persons you can dump information into. They have to have input too."

Ron Rohland, a music teacher in the Greenville district, said he learned "how some students must feel when frustrated by a situation they cannot handle or control."

"I would make this course mandatory for all teachers, instructors and coaches in our district if I could," wrote one class member on the course evaluation form. "It helps us rebuild our enthusiasm for teaching."

Enthused another: "You're like 100-year-old gin."

Christmas: It's That Time Again

DEAR ABBY: Last year you devoted an entire column to what and what not to give for Christmas gifts. I thought it was one of the most helpful columns you ever wrote. Please run it again.

OVER 80

DEAR OVER 80: That column was so well received I've updated it. And here it is:

DEAR READERS: Can you believe it's time to prepare for the holidays again? Well, it is, so do yourselves a favor and do your Christmas (or Hanukkah) shopping early.

If you're wondering what to give Aunt Bessie or Grandpa, who don't get out much, let me tell you what not to give them:

No dusting powder, after-shave or cologne. (They probably have several unopened boxes gathering dust on their closet shelves.)

Grandpa doesn't need another necktie, and Aunt Bessie doesn't really want any more brooches, necklaces or bracelets.

With the price of groceries so high, folks who live alone on a fixed income probably would be delighted to receive a basket of goodies. Include small cans of salmon, chicken, ham, tuna, vegetables, fruit, instant coffee, tea bags, crackers, cookies and instant soup mixes.

Older people who live in confined quarters do not need more "things" that are ornamental only. Don't send music boxes, statuettes or other bric-a-brac.

Another thoughtful gift is lined stationery with envelopes and a generous supply of postage stamps. (Enclose some felt-tip pens, too.)

The homebound will appreciate a box of greeting cards for all occasions so that they, too, can send birthday, anniversary, graduation, get-well and condolence cards to others. (Be a sport! Stamp some envelopes.)

Don't give anyone a gift of clothing unless you're absolutely sure the size is right. That goes for the color and style, too.

If you're tempted to pass along a scarf, purse, wallet or some other useless little doodad you received for Christmas three years ago, please don't. It's a pretty fair bet the recipient will find it just as useless as you did. (Besides, you might get it back the year after next.)

If someone on your gift list is living on a pension, a check for any amount would be much more appreciated than a frivolous little trinket. Or give someone who's counting pennies a year's subscription to a newspaper or magazine you know he or she will enjoy.

Please, don't ever send a gift in a box bearing the name of a store unless you bought it there. Should the recipient want to exchange it, he will be embarrassed, the store clerks will look bewildered, and it won't make you look too good.

Holiday time can be very depressing for people who are alone, so if you know someone who might be alone and lonely, give him (or her) the best gift of all — an invitation to spend the holiday with you and your family. Loneliness is the ultimate poverty.

LOVE, ABBY

(Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Tips for preventing accidental poisoning

COLLEGE STATION — Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Adult carelessness is usually a direct cause of accidental poisonings.

Buy and use products with child-resistant caps and closures. Make sure household plants are not poisonous. Keep products in original containers with warning labels intact.

Make sure that drugs, cleaning products and other potential poisons are kept securely in cabinets and other locations out of children's reach.

Remember, if it's not food, it's probably dangerous to a small child, the specialist points out.

If you feel left out of all the festivities this season, burdened by the extra pounds that make you miserably self-conscious about your appearance, it's time to bring your figure problems to Pat Walker's.

Olivia Robertson couldn't lose weight on diets, but she's wearing a size 6 again — thanks to Pat Walker's program. She writes:

"I had always weighed 113 pounds, but after three children I began to put on weight. I had tried many diets, but none worked and I knew I wouldn't exercise it off on my own. I wouldn't take the time.

"The day I weighed 140 pounds I said something had to give. Then Pat Walker came to town. I thought maybe this would be the answer, at least I'd give it a try. At first I was unsure. I hadn't gotten this way overnight, so a month at Pat Walker's was just not enough. Then I began to see the results.

"The passive exercise not only made me feel great but helped my circulation. I lost 21 pounds and 24 1/2 inches and the compliments I receive are really worth the effort. I couldn't have done it without Pat Walker."

TIGHT END PULLS AWAY — Houston Oilers' Dave Casper (87) pulls out of the arms of Cleveland Browns' Charlie Hall (59) and Robert L. Jackson (56) after taking a pass that covered 43 yards in the fourth quarter of the NFL game at Houston Sunday. Cleveland won the game 17-14 and took over sole possession of first in the Central Division.

Oilers upended, 17-14

Browns out front

HOUSTON (AP) — For the better part of a decade it was Pittsburgh, Houston and those other guys, the trailers in the American Conference's Central Division. Today, those other guys are in the driver's seat.

"We are always underdogs to Houston and Pittsburgh, but we are 2-2 with them now," Cleveland's Cleo Miller said after his two touchdown runs and 50-yard sprint to set up a field goal that enabled the Browns to beat the Oilers 17-14 Sunday.

He neglected to mention the Browns also are 9-4 this year and a game ahead of the Steelers and Oilers, who will be playing here Thursday night.

And with games remaining against a trio of almost certain underdogs — the New York Jets, Minnesota and Cincinnati — the Browns are perfectly positioned to reach the National Football League playoffs for the first time since their wild-card season of 1972 and to win their first division title since '71.

And, just as abruptly, the Oilers find themselves in the same frustrating position they've been in since 1967, three years before pro football's merger and five before the Steelers' rise to dynasty status. For 13 years now, they've been unsuccessfully chasing one team or another — mostly Pittsburgh — for a division title.

"Don't make no difference who you're chasing, it still eats you up inside," said Coach Bum Phillips after his Oilers, victimized by turnovers at the start, middle, and end of the game, spent virtually the entire afternoon chasing the Browns.

Jeff Groth's fumble of the opening kickoff and John Mohring's recovery gave the Browns the ball at the Houston 18 yard line. Three plays later, Miller's 4-yard burst up the middle put Cleveland on top 1:02 into the game.

The lead went to 14-0 with 2:15 gone in the second period on Miller's 1-yard run just seven plays after cornerback Ron Bolton intercepted a Ken Stabler pass meant for Dave Casper and ran it back 29 yards to the Oilers' 26.

Earl Campbell's 1-yard dive later in the second quarter cut the Cleveland lead in half, but Don Cockroft widened it to 17-7 with a 25-yard field goal on the Browns' first possession of the second half. Stabler brought the Oilers back with lightning suddenness on a three-play, 62-yard drive with passes of 27 and 30 yards to Casper, the latter for the score.

And Stabler brought the Oilers back again with about five minutes to play, only to see Toni Fritsch's 38-yard field goal try fall short and to the left.

"I was trying to hit the ball easy, not kill it; a security shot," said Fritsch. "I hit it too easy and I hit the ground a little bit. I think it was the most important field goal I ever missed in my career."

Twice more the Oilers had chances to tie or win, but Casper fumbled one pass away and another pass meant for him was picked off by safety Clarence Scott, who called the interception "the thrill of my 10-year career."

"When you continually stop a team, you build confidence," added Scott. Phillips still has plenty of confidence in the guys who did him wrong against Cleveland.

"It's hard to second-guess a guy like Toni, who can kick the way he can, just like it's hard to second-guess Kenny. In fact, I'm not going to."

Plano's win highlights 2nd round of playoffs

By The Associated Press
Defending state champion Temple lost its scalp there, but Highland Park is savoring its chance to enter Plano's personal stomping ground at Texas Stadium.

Plano grabbed five Temple turnovers and Butch Fifield and Ken Massa rumbled across the Texas Stadium turf for touchdowns as the underdog Wildcats posted a 16-10 regional playoff victory against Temple Friday night.

Just over 24 hours later at the same site, John Bonnett scored from 1 yard out with just over four minutes left as Highland Park posted a 21-14 win over Dallas South Oak Cliff. Bonnett scored three plays after the Scots successfully converted a fourth-and-one situation into a first down.

The Scots will tangle with Plano next Saturday at Texas Stadium — where the Wildcats have never lost a game.

Other 5A quarterfinal matchups include San Antonio Holmes, a 14-13 winner over San Antonio Churchill, against Alice, a 10-3 victor over Stafford Dulles.

Arthur Jefferson, which edged La Marque, 29-24.

Brad Williams slipped across from the 7 for a fourth-quarter touchdown to carry Amarillo to a 10-7 win over El Paso Bel Air and a spot against Odessa Permian. Permian trounced Fort Worth Richland, 37-7.

Paris used a deflected pass to upset Gainesville in a Class 4A semifinal, 13-12. On the last play of the first half, quarterback Joel McCray tossed a Hail Mary aerial deep in the Gainesville end zone. Three defenders tipped the ball away from one Paris receiver into the waiting arms of Ricky Dirks.

Paris will make its first semifinal appearance in 38 years next weekend against Lubbock Estacado, a 14-0 winner over Brownwood.

The other 4A matchup will feature Huntsville, who stomped Georgetown, 26-6, and Bay City, a 42-14 victor over Brownsville Pace.

In 3A regional playoffs, Pittsburg knocked defending state champion Van out of the picture with a 24-0 shutout in Tyler.

Littlefield upset Childress, 17-0; West trounced Hamshire-Fannett, 35-12; Waller edged Caldwell, 9-7; Van Vleck rolled to a 28-6 win over San Antonio Randolph, and Port Isabel outplayed Edna, 17-9.

Decatur downed Allen 19-10, while Stamford blasted Canutillo, 36-13.

Quarterfinal matchups in 3A include Littlefield-Stamford, Decatur-Pittsburg, West-Waller and Van Vleck-Port Isabel.

In 2A playoffs, Rotan downed Plains, 18-13; Pilot Point ran over Boyd, 51-7; Forney blitzed Big Sandy, 38-0; Garrison beat Mart, 21-7; Tidehaven won over Mart 14-13; Woodsboro shut out Charlotte, 14-0; and Moddy jumped Mason, 14-10.

Panhandle advanced to quarterfinal play on penetrations after deadlocking with Shallowater, 18-18.

Quarterfinal games in 2A include Panhandle-Rotan, Moody-Pilot Point, Forney-Garrison and Tidehaven-Woodsboro.

In Class A quarterfinals, Rankin creamed Meridian, 34-0; Valley View blasted Colmesneil, 29-14; and Falls City blanked La Pryor.

That sets up semifinal matchups next weekend between Valley and Rankin and Valley View and Falls City.

Champion: Against Amarillo Badgers Cooney is no threat

By The Associated Press
The man who controls the ring fortunes of the best heavyweight fighter in the world insists he will not worry about Gerry Cooney until they quit "babbling" the hard-hitting New Yorker.

"If I had Cooney, I would get three of the meanest, toughest, roughest guys I could find, put them in a gym with Cooney and lock the door," said Richie Giachetti, trainer of World Boxing Council heavyweight champion Larry Holmes.

"They're coddling the kid too much. They're trying to make him a nice guy, kind to kids and his mother. They're feeding him worn out old timers. They're telling his sparring partners to go easy. They're not building up his confidence."

"In this business, nice guys really finish last."

Fitch has no taste for ennui

By The Associated Press
Boston Coach Bill Fitch can cope with his team losing to Milwaukee. After all, the Bucks are one of the strongest teams in the National Basketball Association and lead the Central Division with a 20-6 record.

But losing to the Bucks Sunday night, when they were without three of their regulars...well, that was too much for Fitch to handle.

"I can't say anything nice about my basketball team," Fitch said after his Celtics dropped a 107-105 decision to the Bucks even though Milwaukee stars Marques Johnson, Bob Lanier and Brian Winters missed the game because of injuries. "They only had eight guys, but they went out there and did the job." Fitch said of the Bucks. "They did what I like to see. They played together better than they might have if they had everyone."

Sidney Moncrief filled in at Winters' guard spot and scored 23 points. Pat Cummings started for Johnson at forward and scored 10 and defensive standout Harvey Catchings opened at center in place of Lanier. Junior Bridgeman, playing his usual sixth-man role, led Milwaukee with 25 points.

In other NBA games, the Phoenix Suns edged the Houston Rockets 117-114, the Chicago Bulls beat the Los Angeles Lakers 122-108, the Seattle SuperSonics topped the New Jersey Nets 113-89 and the San Diego Clippers defeated the Golden State Warriors 120-100.

Milwaukee led 100-91 with three minutes to play, but Boston chipped away and pulled within two points on Chris Ford's 15-foot jumper with 13 seconds left. The Celtics then fouled Quinn Buckner, who missed both free throws, but the strategy failed to pay off when Boston was unable to come up with the tying basket.

Suns 117, Rockets 114
Rookie guard Kyle Macy came off the bench and scored 14 points in an eight-minute stretch of the second half as Phoenix built a 99-90 lead with 7:12 left and then held off the Rockets.

Walter Davis scored 25 points and Macy had an NBA-high 21 as Phoenix raised its record to 22-4, best in the Western Conference.

Bulls 122, Lakers 108
Center Artis Gilmore scored 15 of his 21 points in the second half and grabbed a game-high 11 rebounds to lead Chicago to only its fourth road victory in 12 outings.

The Bulls took command with a 39-point third quarter for a 90-83 lead and pulled away.

Sonics 113, Nets 89
Seattle recovered from a 15-point second period to outscore New Jersey 65-39 in the second half and break a three-game losing streak. John Johnson and Vinnie Johnson led the Sonics with 20 points apiece.

New Jersey, which dropped the opener of a five-game road trip, has lost five of its last six starts.

Clippers 120, Warriors 100
Freeman Williams scored all 24 of his points in the second and third quarters for San Diego, including nine in a 24-8 surge that gave the Clippers a 93-78 lead going into the final period.

It was the third straight loss for Golden State and the fourth triumph in five outings for San Diego.

The Howard College Hawks open their 1980-81 Western Conference slate here tonight against the Amarillo Badgers, and Coach Harold Wilder expects a quick evaluation of his team against what appears to be a rugged foe. Tip off time is 8 p.m.

Amarillo starts one of the bigger lineups around, and will definitely have the size

Comeback a cliché for Suns

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Comebacks are beginning to become almost cliché for the Phoenix Suns lately in the National Basketball Association.

Sunday night, the Suns obliterated a seven-point Houston Rocket lead early in the fourth period and went on to chalk up a 117-114 victory.

The win was Pacific Division-leading Phoenix' fifth straight — raising its record to 22-4. It also kept intact a 12-game winning streak at home this season and 21-game unbeaten skein at the Arizona Veterans Memorial Coliseum over a two-year stretch.

"We're not trying to have comebacks by design, naturally," said Suns' Coach John MacLeod. "But the fact that we keep doing it is a positive sign. We have guys at the end of the game who want to shoot the ball."

advantage on the Hawks. The Badgers start a 6'6" point guard, and is surrounded in the starting unit by players measuring 6'5", 6'6", 6'7" and 6'8".

The sophomore members of the two teams should be well acquainted with each other, as they tangled in the final conference game of the 1980 season, and then were forced into a playoff to decide the final representative to the Region V Tournament. Amarillo took narrow wins in both meetings, and despite losing 6'10" star Vic Mitchell, Wilder feels the Badgers are much stronger this time around.

"They have an excellent all-around team," the Howard College mentor said. "They're 8-2, and their only two losses have come to Midland College, which is undefeated. They've got some excellent players."

Midland beat Amarillo 102-100 Saturday night in the finals of the Shootout on the Golden West.

Ironically, the Hawks have suffered all of their losses to only one team, Cisco. Three times the Howard College team fell to Cisco, but other than that, they are unbeaten in five tries.

There will be nothing fancy in the Hawks game plan tonight, as Wilder explained. "Our plan will be to try and cut down on our turnovers and get more rebounds than we have been," he said. "We'll have to have an excellent game from everybody tonight."

There will be a slight change in the Hawks starting lineup tonight, with Bobby Word replacing Crushon Loving at a guard position. The rest of the starting five will consist of guard Jeff Faubion, with Ron Akins, Kenneth Jones and Randy Corker in side.

Tonight's special promotion is "T-Shirt Night." The first 200 children aged 12

All signs point to George Rogers

NEW YORK (AP) — George Rogers of South Carolina, the nation's leading rusher, was the favorite for the Heisman Trophy but freshman tailback Herschel Walker of Georgia and defensive end Hugh Green of Pittsburgh were bidding to end the award's domination by senior running backs and quarterbacks.

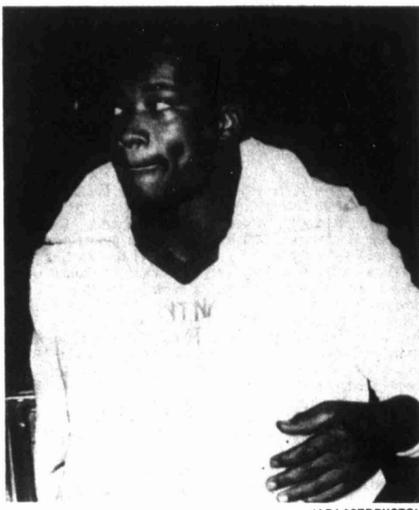

Rogers rose as the favorite got a boost Sunday night when he flew to New York and was escorted into the Downtown Athletic Club, where the winner was to be announced, and where he apparently was to spend the night.

Also expected to finish high up when the voting for the 46th annual Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding college football player was announced today were quarterbacks Mark Herrmann of Purdue, Jim McMahon of Brigham Young and Art Schlichter of Ohio State; running backs Jarvis Redwine of Nebraska, Freeman McNeil of UCLA and Marcus Allen of Southern California; linebackers Mike Singletary of Baylor and Lawrence Taylor of North Carolina and defensive back Kenny Easley of UCLA.

Schlichter was the top returning finisher. He was fourth last year behind running backs Charles White of Southern Cal and Billy Sims of Oklahoma — the 1978 winner — and Brigham Young quarterback Marc Wilson, all seniors.

Other returnees from last year's top 10 were Rogers, who was seventh; Herrmann, eighth, and Florida State middle guard Ron Simmons, who finished ninth but had an injury-plagued off-year in 1980.

No freshman or sophomore has ever won the Heisman Trophy. The only players to win it as juniors were Doc Blanchard of Army in 1945, Doak Walker of Southern Methodist in 1948, Vic Janowicz of Ohio State in 1950, Roger Staubach of Navy in 1963, Archie Griffin of Ohio State in 1974 and Sims in 1978. Staubach was a quarterback, the others running backs, and Griffin was the only one to repeat as a senior. Rogers, fourth on the all-time major college rushing list, leads the nation this year with 1,781 yards, an average of 161.9 per game. He has gained more than 100 yards in 20 consecutive games. Walker wound up with 205 yards Saturday in No. 1-ranked Georgia's 38-20 victory over Georgia Tech. His total of 1,616 — a 146.9 average — is fourth nationally and broke the freshman record of Pitt's Tony Dorsett (1,586 yards in 1973).

THE NEXT HEISMAN WINNER? — George Rogers, the South Carolina running back who is a prime candidate to be named winner of the Heisman Trophy, arrives at the Downtown Athletic Club in New York Sunday night. The announcement of the winner will be made today at 1 p.m., but Rogers' arrival in New York increased speculation that he would be the 1980 recipient.

Herrmann finished second nationally in total offense and fifth in passing and set career NCAA records for pass yardage (9,188), completions (717) and attempts (1,218). This season, he completed 220 of 340 for 2,923 yards and 19 touchdowns, while missing one game.

McMahon led the country in total offense and passing. During BYU's 12-game regular season, he was 284 of 445 and set a pair of NCAA marks by passing for 4,571 yards and 47 touchdowns. He

Oakland, Broncos tangle

OAKLAND (AP) — The Denver Broncos, coming off a pair of high-scoring performances, face a stiff challenge tonight when they meet the Oakland Raiders, who have relied heavily on defense lately.

"I can see the pride growing game after game," says Burgess Owens, the free safety on the Oakland defensive unit which has become one of the most respected in the National Football League.

The Broncos take a 7-5 record into the nationally televised game and will be virtually out of the American Conference playoff race if they lose. They trail San Diego, 9-4, and the Raiders, 8-4, in the AFC West.

The Raiders were 2-3 early in the season and facing a major adjustment on offense, with journeyman Jim Plunkett thrust into the starting quarterback role after Dan Pastorini suffered a broken leg.

Plunkett, who hadn't started an NFL game in two years, came through with some outstanding passing and the defense was outstanding week after week as the Raiders went on a six-game winning streak. The streak ended last week with a 10-7 loss to the Philadelphia Eagles.

"They are the most physical team we've faced," Philadelphia's Wilbert Montgomery said after going up against the Raiders' defense, which yielded only 13 first downs and 271 yards.

Oakland's standout players on defense have been cornerback Lester Hayes, the NFL interception leader with 10, and linebacker Ted Hendricks, having perhaps the best season in his 12-year pro career.

The Oakland offense managed only 275 yards last week, with 86 coming on a late touchdown pass from Plunkett to Cliff Branch. In the last two games, Plunkett has completed only 19 of 58 passes and been sacked 12 times.

Denver has won its last three games and six of the last eight. Two weeks ago, the Broncos outscored the New York Jets 31-24 and last week they rolled past Seattle 36-20.

Sipe: 'Big win for us' In charge of own destiny

The Cleveland Browns can rightly claim control of their own destiny now, but they can't help but benefit from one of the most crucial showdowns of the 1980 National Football League season Thursday night when Houston plays host to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Browns unlocked a tie in the American Conference Central Division Sunday by winning a 17-14 thriller over the Oilers, whose Thursday night confrontation with Pittsburgh should pare the race to two teams.

"It was obviously a very big win for us," Browns quarterback Brian Sipe said. "We are in control of our own destiny."

Pittsburgh's 23-10 victory over Miami left the Steelers and Oilers tied for second in the division at 8-5, while Cleveland moved in front by a game at 9-4.

Steelers Coach Chuck Noll said his team still was on the road to recovery from a series of disabling injuries to players like wide receivers Lynn Swann and John Stallworth, running backs Rocky Bleier and Franco Harris, Jacks Ham and Lambert and quarterback Terry Bradshaw.

Fullback Cleo Miller ran for two short-yardage touchdowns to give Cleveland a 14-0 lead in the second period. Don Cockroft's 25-yard field goal in the third quarter provided the Browns with their eventual winning margin.

Houston had a chance to tie the game in the fourth quarter, but Toni Fritsch missed a 38-yard field goal attempt when he scuffed his foot.

In the AFC East, New England failed to take advantage of Buffalo's 28-24 loss to Baltimore by losing 21-17 to San Francisco. That left the 8-5 Patriots one game back of the Bills, 9-4.

The San Diego Chargers moved a half game ahead of Oakland in the AFC West with a 22-21 victory over Philadelphia. The Chargers are now 9-4, and the 8-4 Raiders face a must situation when they host Denver tonight.

The loss dropped the Eagles to 11-2 and one game ahead of Dallas, a 51-7 winner over Seattle on Thursday, in the National Conference East. Minnesota took advantage of Detroit's 23-17 overtime loss to Chicago on Thursday to move into a tie for the NFC Central lead with a 23-20 victory over winless New Orleans.

The NFC West race remained much the same with both division-leading Atlanta, 10-3, and Los Angeles, 9-4, on the winning side of the ledger. Atlanta edged Washington 10-6, and the Rams whipped the New York Jets 38-13.

Elsewhere, it was St. Louis 23, the New York Giants 7; Cincinnati 20, Kansas City 6, and Tampa Bay 20, Green Bay 17.

Steelers 23, Dolphins 10 Harris topped off his best game of the season with a 9-yard touchdown run that sealed Pittsburgh's victory. Harris ran for 116 yards in the game on 28 carries. Harris' touchdown capped a 98-yard drive that began as the Dolphins were threatening to take the lead. Steelers cornerback Ron Johnson forced a fumble by Dolphins running back Tony Nathan on the 1, and 15 plays later, Bradshaw had guided Pittsburgh to paydirt.

Joe Montana threw three touchdown passes, all after the 49ers had intercepted Steve Grogan passes, to lead San Francisco to its second straight victory.

Grogan was intercepted six times as the 49ers set a club record. Two of the interceptions were by Ricky Churchman and one was by Keena Turner that killed a New England drive late in the fourth quarter.

Colts 28, Bills 21 Curtis Dickey ran for two touchdowns, and Baltimore scored each of its four TDs after some sort of Buffalo miscue. Dickey scored twice in the second half after an interception and a recovered fumble.

Colts quarterback Greg Landry, substituting for the injured Bert Jones, threw for a score after a fumbled punt, and he ran for another after Buffalo punter Greg Catter was tackled on his own 8.

Chargers 22, Eagles 21 Dan Fouts threw two scoring passes, and Rolf Berniske kicked three field goals as San Diego ended Philadelphia's eight-game winning streak.

Fouts had 342 yards passing and went over the 300-yard mark for the sixth time this season, equalling for the second straight year the NFL record set by Joe Namath.

LEASE — WHY???

If You are business or professional, the question is WHY NOT!!

- I. Its a good way to fight inflation-with fixed rates and you may pay with cheaper dollars. Leasing may increase your cash flow.
- II. Leasing may preserve your credit lines and help you keep them "liquid".
- III. Leasing conserves your "cash" without depleting your capitol.
- IV. Accounting is much easier. You don't have to figure interest or depreciation-just expense the entire amount.
- V. 100% financing -no down payment. Only' the first and last payment in advance.
- VI. What to do at the end? Exercise your options: renew the lease; buy the vehicle; return it; or turn it in on a newer model!

Lawyer advertising part of reason

Bankruptcy business booming

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer The bankruptcy business is booming and creditors are complaining.

The recession is partly to blame for the growing number of people who are growing broke. But lenders say a revision in the bankruptcy law — and advertising by some lawyers — is equally responsible.

The change took effect a little more than a year ago. In general, the new law allows debtors to keep more of their property when they file for bankruptcy. It also makes it easier to wipe out your debts without actually going bankrupt or paying back all the money you owe.

The National Consumer Finance Association, which represents finance companies, has started a campaign against the revised code.

"The current abuses of bankruptcy must be stopped," says E.C.A. Forsberg, the chairman of the board of the association, in an article in the latest issue of "Credit," the group's magazine.

Violence claims 11 in San Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Scattered violence erupted Saturday in this tense Central American capital, killing 11 people, as supporters mourned six top leftist opposition leaders they claim were kidnapped and assassinated by government troops.

Hundreds milled in the square outside the Metropolitan Cathedral, where the bodies of the six slain leaders were reported lying under armed guard until a bomb exploded outside the church Friday night, injuring nine.

The crowds snarled traffic in downtown San Salvador, and nervous bus line owners sharply reduced service in the area. People were made more nervous by a 30-minute electric power cut in large sections of the city, which authorities did not immediately explain.

A spokesman for the Democratic Revolutionary Front, a federation of about a dozen leftist political groups, said the movement was electing a new leadership to replace the one that was virtually wiped out by the kidnappings and assassinations Thursday and early Friday.

A Roman Catholic Church spokesman said the funeral would be held next Wednesday. Leftist groups issued a joint statement calling on "all democratic governments in the world" to send representatives and said they would hold a giant funeral march through the capital.

A front statement accused El Salvador's National Guard troops and the military-civilian junta of complicity in the multiple murder.

The junta denied any government complicity. "This horrible crime is a demonstration of what extremist groups seeking power at any cost are capable of," a junta statement said.

"We will maintain our unity to reaffirm the struggle against the genocidal junta, which we hold directly responsible for the painful demise of our companions," said a spokesman for the leftist front.

Witnesses to the kidnappings said 200 armed men in police and military uniforms surrounded a Jesuit-run high school in the capital, while a hit-squad of Forsberg complains of what he calls "a rash of lawyer advertising offering bankruptcy counsel." Forsberg says: "Much of this advertising is merely an offering of service. But is it proper for a lawyer to advertise that going bankrupt 'will not harm your credit?' It's happening."

The American Bar Association, in a consumer guide to credit and bankruptcy, makes it clear that filing for bankruptcy DOES affect your ability to get credit. The association points out that the fact you filed for bankruptcy will remain on your credit record for 10 years. The lawyers' group add, however: "Bankruptcy is intended to give you a fresh start to rebuild your economic life, and you should feel no disgrace in exercising your right to do so."

There are two ways to file for bankruptcy — Chapter 7, or straight bankruptcy, and Chapter 13, or the wage-earner plan. Under Chapter 7, the debtor gives up most of his or her assets. The assets are converted into cash to pay off as many creditors as much as possible. Under Chapter 13, the debtor agrees to repay lenders over an extended period of time under a plan approved by a bankruptcy judge.

Certain assets are exempt from bankruptcy. The amount you could keep used to vary widely from state to state. The revised law set a federal standard. A debtor who files for bankruptcy under Chapter 7 can, for example, keep up to $7,500 worth of equity in a home and up to $1,200 in an automobile. States are allowed to reject the federal exemptions and set their own standards and at least a dozen already have done so.

Revisions in the wage-earner plan also helped debtors. Under the old law, someone filing for bankruptcy under Chapter 13 usually had to agree to repay all debts. The changes allow the debtor to repay less than the full amount.

Meatcutters union votes to extend contract 3 days

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Union officials and supermarket representatives are taking a breather from negotiations and will resume contract talks on Wednesday, even though the present contract has expired.

Members of the Almagamated Meat Cutters Union here voted to extend their contract deadline 72 hours to give officials time to continue negotiations, a union official said Sunday.

The vote avoided a strike when the contract expired at midnight Sunday. "We were negotiating until 3 a.m. and did not reach an agreement," said Dick Twedell, international vice president of the meat cutters union. "However, we (union officials) recommended, because of the potential for progress, to extend the contract 72 hours from Sunday."

Twedell said union officials and Kroger representatives will return to the bargaining table Wednesday and attempt to work out a settlement on the wage and benefits dispute.

But Twedell said the 150 meatcutters would begin picketing the Kroger meat processing plant in this Dallas suburb if a settlement is not reached by the extended deadline.

"Meatcutters at Safeway in Oklahoma City and Tulsa have been on strike since last Monday," Twedell said. Twedell said contracts for the meatcutters unions in El Paso, Albuquerque, Arkansas and Louisiana also expired at midnight Sunday. "I've recommended that the union locals there also extend their contract deadlines 72 hours," Twedell said.

"Normally when one contract is settled the others fall into place. But management has not given us that indication this time," he said.

"Now that Houston is settled, we hope that the climate (for negotiating) is better," he added.

Meatcutters in Southeast Texas began returning to work Sunday, ending a two-week strike with their approval of a contract that will provide them with a 30 percent wage increase over the next three years.

The strike had affected about 220 Kroger, Safeway, Eagle and Weingarten's stores in the Texas coastal area.
