Rains wash out CRMWD pipelines

Heavy rains Tuesday afternoon washed out parallel pipelines of the Colorado River Municipal Water District north of Big Spring and halted flow of water to the west end of the system.

This has presented no critical problem, said O.H. Ivie, general manager, because terminal storage in Odessa and Midland are at maximum levels. In addition, the Martin County well field was brought on to mitigate the supply problem to Midland, which also can receive some water by gravity flow from the Odessa terminal storage if needed.

Several days may be required to repair the damage and restore service, Ivie added. However, if needed, partial service could be restored more rapidly and then permanent repairs effected later.

The flood waters at Leatherwood crossing northwest of Big Spring washed out two joints of 33-inch line completely and disjointed the 27-inch line. Plans are to construct H frame standards so the crossing can be bridged and avoid any such disruptions in the future, the manager added.

OMINOUS DISPLAY — Although the sky took on a dark and ominous look Wednesday, this area did not receive any severe weather. An additional .17 of an inch of rain was absorbed by the gauge at the U.S. Experiment Station Wednesday, bringing the year's total to 6.09 inches. Normal for the year, through April 22, is 3.07 inches. This photograph was taken south of town.

Consumer prices up Moderating energy costs cool inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's cost of living increased at an annual rate of 7.5 percent in March, bringing inflation below double-digit levels due mainly to moderating energy prices, the Labor Department reported today.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a 0.6 percent seasonally adjusted rise in the cost of living for the month, substantially below the 1 percent increase registered in February and the lowest one-month increase since July 1980's 0.1 percent.

The bureau said the slowdown in energy prices resulted in the smallest increases in transportation and housing costs in seven months. The Consumer Price Index showed that energy prices continued to rise in March but not by nearly the margin of the previous two months.

Fuel oil prices rose 2.7 percent in March, following increases of 7.5 percent in January and 8.5 percent in February, department officials said. Charges for natural gas and electricity rose 0.8 percent, compared with increases of 1 percent and 1.4 percent earlier in the year.

Reagan administration officials and some private economists had been predicting that energy prices would moderate as spring arrived. Prices had shot up in January and February because of the lifting of controls on domestic crude oil prices and the high cost of foreign oil. But the March figures were lower than many economists expected.

Department officials said the Consumer Price Index rose to 265.1 in March, which means that goods and services costing $10 in March 1967 cost $26.32 last month.

The figures released today also showed that the index increased by 11.2 percent from the first quarter of last year to the end of this year's first quarter.

This means some 36 million Social Security recipients will get an 11.2 percent cost-of-living increase in July.

At that time, the average retired worker living alone will see his or her monthly check increase by $37, from $337 to $374. A typical couple's benefits will go from $576 to $640 a month, and the maximum benefit will rise from $677 to $752.90 a month. The minimum monthly Social Security check will increase from $153.10 to $170.30.

Payments increase each July if the increase in the Consumer Price Index exceeds 3 percent from the first quarter of one year to the first quarter of the next.

The figures released today by the Labor Department also show:

—Food and beverage prices rose 0.4 percent in March after going up 0.3 percent in February.

—Housing costs rose by 0.5 percent, a moderating increase that the department attributed to a decline in house prices.

—New car prices declined by 0.4 percent, due largely to dealer rebate programs. The used car index also declined from February to March.

—Prices for grocery-store items increased by 0.4 percent after holding steady in February. A component including meat, poultry, fish and eggs declined 1.1 percent. That decline was more than offset, however, by a 4.4 percent rise in fruit and vegetable prices.

—Entertainment prices rose 0.5 percent.

Atlanta police hunt 'psychopath'

ATLANTA (AP) — Police say they expect to evaluate quickly information from a civil rights group which says it has found a "psychopath" responsible for some of the 25 slayings of young blacks since June 1979.

"I don't consider the nature of the information something that will take a long time" to evaluate, said Public Safety Commissioner Lee Brown. He did not say exactly how long it might take. He also said late Wednesday that police did not have enough evidence to arrest anyone.

The FBI said the information was "important. We will be checking it out. We are taking a look at what we have," said John Glover, special agent in charge of the Atlanta FBI office.

Roy Innis, staff director of the Congress of Racial Equality, announced Wednesday his investigators had found a "psychopath," plus a "witness" who they believe could link that person to at least six of the killings. He did not identify the witness or detail the evidence.

However, a newspaper editor who spent five hours Monday interviewing the "witness" said he felt the person's story was "plausible."

"I'm emphasizing that I'm using the word plausible, not believable or anything else, but plausible," said John Schaffner, managing editor of The Atlanta Constitution.

"I wouldn't literally call this person a witness, but it is a person that possibly might be able to shed some light" on the investigation, Schaffner said.

He would not reveal the person's name, the circumstances of the conversation nor the link between the "witness" and CORE's so-called "psychopath."

"We are very convinced we have broken this case, and we can prove it," Innis said, producing an envelope he said contained a picture of the "psychopath." Innis, fighting to retain control of the civil rights group, would not make the picture public.

However, the New York Daily News quoted Larry Mitchell, a spokesman for Innis, as saying the CORE suspect was a black man. Mitchell added the group's investigation indicated a conspiracy involving whites.

Innis said his investigators would "collar" their suspect by 1 p.m. Saturday if police had not arrested anyone or made some progress by then. Innis said CORE had the person under surveillance.

"I certainly consider it (Innis' information) important," said John

Glover, special agent in charge of the Atlanta FBI office. "We will be checking it out."

Wednesday night, Atlanta television station WAGA reported that Innis' witness was a Miami woman who had received information by telephone from an Atlanta man.

According to the station, the woman said she was told that a black man and white man were responsible for several recent slayings.

Brown declined comment on the WAGA report.

Funeral of two youths ignites violence in Northern Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The worst rioting in eight nights of violence hit Northern Ireland as police and troops battled mobs of young Roman Catholics after the funeral of two youths killed by a British army vehicle.

Meanwhile, IRA hunger striker Bobby Sands got weaker, and Pope John Paul II's ambassador to Ireland indicated the pontiff might try to get him to call off his fast unto death.

Rioting and street fighting raged Wednesday night in Catholic districts of Belfast and Londonderry, the province's two largest cities, and in Lurgan, Newry, Strabane and Portadown.

Roving bands of youths attacked police and troop patrols with rocks, bricks, gasoline and acid bombs and nails and ball bearings fired from slingshots. The troops retaliated with plastic bullets.

A score of cars and trucks were hijacked and most of them were set on fire.

No casualty count was available, but several soldiers were burned by gasoline bombs and several police were burned by acid.

The violence subsided shortly after midnight when the rioters went home to bed, police said.

The young Catholics took to the streets after simultaneous funerals in a Londonderry cemetery for two 18-year-olds killed by an army Land-Rover during a riot Sunday. The army said the deaths were accidental, but Catholic eyewitnesses charged that the driver deliberately plowed into the crowd at high speed after troops failed to disperse it with shots fired into the air.

The Irish Republican Army has promised more and worse violence if the British government lets Sands die. But the government gave no indication of retreating from its refusal to meet his demand that imprisoned IRA guerrillas be given the status of political prisoners instead of common criminals.

Sands, 27, was in the 54th day of his hunger strike in Belfast's Maze Prison, and members of his family who visited him Wednesday reported he was dangerously ill. They said he can no longer keep down water, his only sustenance since he stopped eating March 1. He has constant headaches, his sight and hearing are seriously impaired, and he has difficulty concentrating while talking, the family said.

They reported he was still determined to die if his demand was not granted.

The Vatican's ambassador to Ireland, Papal Nuncio Gaetano Alibrandi, met in Dublin with supporters of Sands. He said afterward Pope John Paul could intervene if he was asked to and if he considered it necessary. He noted the pontiff has "expressed concern" over the hunger strike.

Sands, who was recently elected to the British Parliament from a Catholic district of Northern Ireland, is serving a 14-year sentence on a gun charge.

CATAPULT ATTACK — A catapult is brought into action against security forces during the rioting in Londonderry, Northern Ireland Wednesday night following the funerals of two teenagers killed by an Army land rover on Sunday.

Brady very stable after 5-hour surgery to brain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surgeons closed a hole in the bullet-pierced brain of White House press secretary James S. Brady early today after a buildup of air had caused potentially dangerous pressure inside his skull. Brady was reported "very stable" through the 5½-hour operation and in no danger.

The operation, which began late Wednesday and lasted past midnight, was described officially as "non-urgent." It followed the insertion of needles into Brady's brain to drain off air in fluid canals.

Dr. Dennis O'Leary, spokesman for George Washington University Hospital, said the 49-year-old Brady was awake and "wiggling his toes" on his way to the recovery room.

O'Leary added, however, that doctors are "guarded" about the success of the repair, saying that would not be known for a few days.

The air leak and the resulting surgery represented a "setback in terms of the totality of (Brady's) recovery" from the serious head wound he suffered in a March 30 assassination attempt on President Reagan, O'Leary said.

But O'Leary stressed it was not a setback in Brady's "neurologic recovery," that is, the recovery of his brain functions previously described as remarkable. Surgeons noted Wednesday night that the "previous injury to the brain was observed to be healing well," according to a White House statement.

It was the second complication in Brady's recovery from the wound he suffered in the gunfire that struck him, Reagan and two law officers. Over the weekend, anti-convulsant drugs caused a fever and rash, which disappeared when different medication was used, officials said.

Reagan was informed of the surgery about two hours after it began, said deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes. Earlier in the day, in his first interview since the shooting, Reagan said he prays daily for Brady's recovery and was holding his job open for him.

Rains up levels at Thomas, Spence

Both Lake J.B. Thomas and E.V. Spence are slightly higher than at their peak following last autumn's record inflow.

Lake Thomas was at elevation 233.56 Thursday morning and may catch half a foot more of runoff from heavy rains Tuesday, which is about a quarter of a foot higher than last October. Lake E.V. Spence was at elevation 1875.81 and could gain another two feet. Its previous all-time peak was 1875.37 last Oct. 13. Lake Thomas could gain 11,000 acre feet for the last fortnight, Lake Spence 30,000 acre feet.

The Choate Company creation announced

Wade Choate, former mayor of Big Spring, has announced the creation of The Choate Company, to be temporarily located at 107 W. 4th Street in Big Spring.

The company, which will be involved in gas and oil leasing and consulting, will employ four persons and move to its permanent location at 1205 E. 11th Place as soon as the remodeling project is completed on the former Gold Bond Stamp building.

Choate, certified as a professional landman for a five-year term beginning December 1980, said he had been involved in oil and gas leasing for 20 years. Choate said he found it necessary to devote full time to his new business endeavor and to add additional personnel to his staff.

When asked about the new business, Choate said "we will be mainly involved in the leasing of acreage for the purpose of oil and gas development. We buy, sell, and farm out leases," Choate explained, "and if someone wants to drill a well and needs consulting work in preparing the agreements and promotional interests, then we assist in this preparation," he said.

The Choate Company is currently involved in leasing programs throughout Texas and the Overthrust Belt from Montana to Arizona.

'Oklahoma!' to play Friday and Saturday

Centennial activities in Mitchell accelerate

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Centennial activities for Mitchell County continue to accelerate with plans being finalized for several events.

One of the highlights of the celebration will be the week-long Spectacle, scheduled July 20-25, to be staged at the Colorado High School football field.

According to Bob Reily, the Spectacle will involve some 250 area residents and recruiting for the cast is under way. Persons wishing to take part in the pageant, which involves no speaking parts, are urged to contact Reily or any member of the Centennial committee.

Additionally, two groups of Centennial belles have announced their organization. One, the "Blue Belles" includes officers Mrs. Trina Taylor, president; Mrs. Raymond Fuller, vice-president; Mrs. G. D. Foster, secretary; Mrs. E. B. Carlock, treasurer; and Mrs. Jim Baum, reporter.

Representatives to the Belle Council is Mrs. Jack Long.

"The School Belles" officers are Mrs. Eunice Bell, president; Mrs. Kitten Arthur, vice president; Mrs. Frances Godwin, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Robin Pace, deputy sheriff; and board of governors; Mrs. Cecile Hubbard and Mrs. Joan Luckado.

'Iron Horse Revue' narrators selected

Principals and narrators for the "Iron Horse Revue" were announced recently by coordinators of the extravaganza, set for six nights during the Big Spring Railroad Centennial.

Narrators for the event include Barbara Anderson, Ruth Anderson, Eunice Choate, Bill Henning, Susan Lewis, Kenneth Patrick and Chris Showalter.

Pioneer women are Dolores Albert, Lida Boland and Shirley Shroyer. Judith Gray was cast as a pioneer granny. Terri Christopher will portray an early settlement woman.

Taking principle roles in the Gay 90's settlement will be Zena Clark, Jim Cowan, Richard Fendrich, Suzanne Honey, Terry Marlow, Mark Sheedy.

Barbara Dirks was cast as a cowgirl, with Dale Wortham and David Wrinkle taking the cowboy's roles.

Rick Hamby will take the role of the Earl of Aylesford, and Denise Crenweige and Dick Fields will be Mrs. and Mrs. Roberts, respectively.

Charles Christopher will be Hurd, Mamie Lee Dodds will be a school marm, Kelly Draper a hotel clerk, B.Z. Lewis a school boy, Jim Marlow a buffalo hunter, Dene Sheppard a hat woman, and Vickie Wendt will be Buck's wife.

The roles of Buck, and Mr. and Mrs. Rhoton will be cast later.

Judge upholds city sales tax

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday a Travis County state district judge has upheld the constitutionality of the 1 percent city sales tax.

Bullock said Judge Hume Cofer granted a summary judgment for the state in a suit filed by U.S. Steel, which attacked the local option tax as unconstitutional.

Electric cooperatives ready to fight for funds

WASHINGTON — Rural electric co-operatives will need almost half a billion dollars more than the Reagan administration has proposed, according to a national survey.

The National Rural Electric Co-operative Association said its 924 borrowing cooperatives will need nearly $1.2 billion next year to meet operating and construction costs, compared to the $720 million contained in the administration plan.

The "revolving fund" for the co-operatives — began in the 1930s — is financed by interest payments on loans, not by the federal treasury. The proposed cut is defended by the administration as an effort to get the federal government out of the business of making low-interest loans.

The NRECA said the 77 borrowers in Texas estimate a need for $140 million in loans but can expect slightly more than half of that amount unless Congress intervenes.

Tom Roy, NRECA spokesman, said his group's annual survey of the next year's borrowing needs has historically been "extremely accurate" and he predicted a new round of fiscal troubles for the cooperatives.

"The rurals (electricity distribution co-operatives) already have 12 percent higher rates on a national basis," said Roy, whose Washington-based group represents cooperatives in 46 states.

"The Reagan administration proposals are a double penalty for rural America. If something isn't changed their rates will skyrocket."

The $140 million Texas coops said they will need in the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 is the largest need in the nation, according to NRECA. The next biggest demand comes from Arkansas, which reported a need for $50 million.

Most co-operatives borrow 70 percent of their money from the federal Rural Electrification Administration's revolving fund and the remaining 30 percent comes from private borrowing.

In congressional testimony since the administration's cut was announced, Robert Partridge, NRECA's executive vice president, called the plan "good news for big bankers and bad news for rural Americans."

Partridge said the proposal is a "radical change in philosophy... What is clear now is that in addition to imposing drastic cutbacks, the administration also intends to squeeze down more and more on rural electric borrowers, eventually forcing them out of the government program and totally into the private money market to seek their financing."

Officials at NRECA have discussed alternatives for the cooperatives if the Reagan plan is approved, including an increase from 30 percent to 50 percent in the amount of money the cooperatives would need to find privately.

Humorist to address Student Council chiefs

The 45th annual State Conference of the Texas Association of Student Councils will convene tonight at the Amfac Hotel and Resort at the Dallas-Ft. Worth Regional Airport.

Conference participants will have the opportunity to hear addresses by Ann Lynn, state president from Eagle Pass High School, and by Dr. William E. Thorn, noted humorist and author from Red Oak, Tex.

Over 70 discussion groups, concurrent sessions on pertinent issues, and featured profile schools will be offered to those in attendance.

The first general session will take place tonight at 7. Friday's activities include discussion groups and political rallies with balloting for new state officers at noon. A Sponsor's banquet and a student's dance will be held Friday night.

Saturday the keynote address will be given by Dr. William E. Thorn and awards will be presented to outstanding student councils from across the State.

Delegates representing Big Spring High at the Conference will be Merribeth Bancroft, Johnny Hatch, Becky Stephens, Kim Grant, and sponsor Craig Fischer. Big Spring High Student Council will receive an award as one of the Outstanding Student Councils in the State.

Chamber members urged to help clean up city

By CAROL HART

Dr. John Key, one of the board of directors for the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, urged members to support the city-wide cleanup campaign Saturday.

Dr. Key told board members at a meeting Wednesday that beautification committee chairman Scott McLaughlin had enlisted the aid of inmates at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp to help clean up the city, but that the men needed sponsors from within the city to go out with them on the drive.

The men at the camp volunteered to pick up debris from throughout the city on Saturday.

Sid Clark, treasurer for the Chamber, told board members that the group had a balance of $53,357.10 in cash in banks and savings accounts, at the end of March.

Dick Helms was introduced as the newest member of the board during the meeting.

Several new members of the Chamber of Commerce were announced during the meeting. They are Bobbie Davidson, of Avon Products; Frito-Lay Inc., Gateway Construction Company, J.L.U. Builders, Bob Smith Enterprises, Unique Boutique, and Hickory House Bar-B-Que.

Board members voted to stay with Bell Telephone, telephone equipment in the Chamber office. The Chamber had been considering purchasing telephones from GTE.

Board members were each given several Chamber accounts which are delinquent, and asked to obtain payment. Delinquent members of the Chamber will be asked to pay up their dues, or be dropped from the Chamber membership.

Board members were urged to seek support for the Slow-Pitch softball program. The next tournament is set May 8 and 9.

The next community luncheon is May 21, and will kick-off the Centennial celebration. Sponsor is Skipper Travel Service.

Carol Hunter, chairman of the tourism committee, told board members that the Sports Car Club of America wanted to have another race locally sometime between now and July. She also discussed chamber bumper stickers, available now.

George Weeks, chairman of the business committee, discussed Special Merchants Days, planned for May 23-25. Plans are to have a special drawing for $1,000 during the "Iron Horse Revue."

Merchants are also planning special buys during the Merchants days.

Tom Watson, director of the Public Affairs Council, said the Governmental Affairs Committee and the Industrial Development Committee recommends the opposition of Senate Bill 416, and companion House Bill 765, the Public Utility Regulatory Act.

LeRoy Tillery, executive director of the Chamber, discussed the progress of the special edition of "Texas Business Magazine" which will feature areas in the Permian Basin, including Big Spring.

Winston Wrinkle, president, gave a report of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting in El Paso.

Police Beat Frustrated 'fighter' kicks car

Crime was light in the city, Wednesday.

Ross Stone, 3203 Cornell, told police that while he was sitting inside his car in the lot of the Seven-Eleven Store at FM 700 and Birdwell, 9:52 p.m. Wednesday, a man he knows tried to pick a fight with him. When he refused, the man kicked an eight-inch dent in the door of his auto. Cost of the damage has not been estimated.

Burglars entered the home of Alvin Albiar, 1301 S. Scurry, and stole a black-and-white television set, between 1:25 and 1:40 p.m. Wednesday. The set was valued at $87.

Four mishaps were reported Wednesday.

Vehicles driven by Patricia Hill, 2603 Ann, and Lilly Alonza, 1206 Ridgeway, collided in the parking lot of the College Park Safeway Store, 4:23 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Joyce McBrayer, 1906 Alabama, and Manuela DeLosSantos, 606 San Antonio, collided on the 600 block of East 11th, 4:49 p.m.

A vehicle driven by Mark Murphree, Route 1, collided with two towed trailers behind a truck driven by Orville Patterson, El Paso, on the South Service Road of IS-20, 5:45 p.m.

Representative Larry Don Shaw Reports from Austin

Protective Services for Children faces ax

This year the State Department of Human Resources (DHR) will handle more than 240,000 cases of child abuse and neglect. Thirteen to fourteen thousand new cases are reported each month, and in just the first three quarters of last year, 101 brutally-abused Texas children died.

DHR's "Protective Services for Children" office is responsible for investigating reports of child abuse and taking whatever steps are necessary to protect the children involved.

The reports come from the police, from hospitals, from schools and from concerned neighbors, and the Protective Services office investigates each case within 24 hours despite the fact that each case worker carries a case load averaging 44-46 families at any given time.

If it's determined that a child is, indeed, being abused, the case worker can obtain a court order to take custody of the child. If there is a clear and present danger to the child, the case worker can take the child immediately and then get court authorization on the next available court day.

Usually, the child is placed temporarily in a foster home or in the home of a relative while the abusive parent receives individual or group counseling. In many cases, the child is returned to his home after a very short period of time.

In 1980, however, of the more than 5,200 children who were taken from their parents and placed under the "managing conservatorship" of the Protective Services office, the courts terminated the parental rights to more than 2,300 of these children completely.

While child abuse is on the rise in Texas and across the nation, the Protective Services for Children program is already understaffed and overloaded. Yet the Legislative Budget Board has recommended a funding reduction of more than 15 percent for the program in fiscal year 1982 instead of the 12 percent increase necessary just to keep operating expenses and staff salaries even with inflation with no expansion of services.

The House Appropriations Committee is leaning toward a Protective Services program budget considerably higher than the Budget Board's recommendation. However, even the Appropriations Committee figure represents a cutback and not the increase needed to handle the projected 18,000 more child abuse cases that the office will investigate in 1982 as opposed to the current year.

The Senate Finance Committee, on the other hand, is recommending a significant budget increase in the neighborhood of 12 percent for fiscal year 1982. This is much more in line with my thinking about this critical problem area in which the state government has the final responsibility, and I'm hopeful that the higher budget figure will be the one that eventually is appropriated by the Legislature.

Aerobics course to be offered at Howard College by Joy Horn

A course in Aerobics will be offered by the Adult and Continuing Education Department of Howard College, announced Martha Fierro, director. Classes will meet from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, April 27 through May 22 in Hawk Gym. Instructor for the course will be Joy Horn. Cost of the course is $18.

Interested persons must pre-register in the Continuing Education Office located in the Horace Garrett Building. For further information, call the Adult and Continuing Education Department at 267-6311, ext. 70.

Weather - Heavy thunderstorms drench Hill Country

Heavy thunderstorms drenched the Hill Country and portions of South Central Texas early today, prompting the National Weather Service to issue flash flood warnings for several areas.

The heavy thunderstorms also dumped hail ranging from the size of golf balls to baseball-size over areas near Del Rio and some hail was reported in other areas of South Central Texas.

Some of the heaviest rainfall recorded during the night was at Del Rio where 1.38 inches fell during a nine-hour period ending at 5 a.m.

Forecasters said rivers, creeks and streams were already filled with earlier rainfall when heavy rains early today threatened to send them out of their banks.

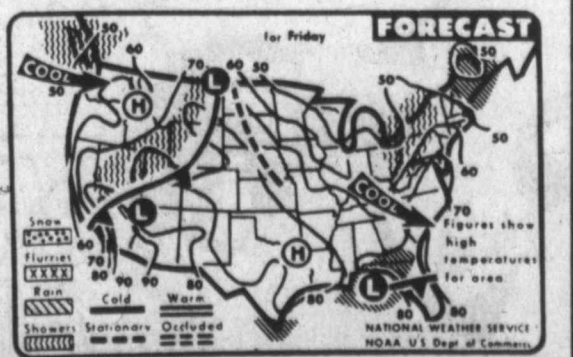

Rainfall totals of between two to four inches were common over a vast area across the southern half of the state. Heavy rain also fell in North Texas and North Central Texas.

The flash flood warnings also warned of the possible flooding of low level crossings and urged motorists to be careful and be watchful for possible high water on roadways.

Flash flood warnings that expired early today covered several counties, including Real, Uvalde, Bandera and Edwards Counties. Many other counties remained under a flash flood watch throughout the day.

Forecasters called for continued showers and thunderstorms over all of the state except for the Panhandle. And forecasters warned that more heavy rainfall was possible for Central Texas.

Highs were to be in the 70s and 80s.

WEATHER FORECAST - Rain is expected in the forecast period, Thursday until Friday morning for the eastern Gulf, Atlantic states and Great Lakes. Rain is also forecast for the Pacific Northwest coast. Snow is forecast for the upper Great Lakes. Cooler weather is expected for the Midwest and southern Appalachians.

LANGUAGE OF THE DEAF - Pan Am flight attendant Rick Holt demonstrates his second language, Ameslan, the language of the deaf, recently in New York. Translations are clockwise from top left: Would you care for a glass of wine? Are you ill? A glass of milk? The airplane is landing.

'Language of the deaf' an asset in job market

NEW YORK (AP) - The job demanded fluency in two languages. No sweat for Rick Holt. He grew up bilingual. Even so, he fretted. He put the application in the mail and held his breath.

The second language he had listed was American Sign Language - Ameslan - the language of the deaf. "I half expected them to reject it," he was saying the other day, in fluent English. "But it is a language in every sense. It has its grammar, syntax, idioms. It is rich in idiom. Still, I expected at least to get an argument."

"Instead, I was told to come immediately. They acted as if they had been sitting around waiting for me to apply."

Thus did Rick Holt become a Pan Am flight attendant, and thus have the "invisibly handicapped," as he calls them, been able to tune in on all the chit-chat from the captain, to order their coffee, tea or milk along with the other passengers, to know when to return their seat backs and tray tables to their original upright positions.

"You should see their faces light up when they discover they are not left out of things," he said. "The trip becomes enjoyable for them - and for me, too. I like to feel I do something more important than just serve drinks."

So, apparently, does Pan Am. Holt was hired three years ago. Since then, the airline has hired 15 more attendants proficient in Ameslan, and Holt has supervised a film to teach other employees how to spot and attend to a deaf passenger.

Pan Am grades its employees' language proficiency as "fair," "good" or "excellent." A fourth rating, "native," identifies the employee's own natural tongue. Holt's rating in Ameslan, as in English, is "native."

Holt is 30. For just about half his life, well into his teens, he grew up as a vocal member (and an articulate one, at that) of what he describes as "the deaf society."

"I lived in a small town - Salem, Ohio, about 2,500 people. But the deaf society is a large one. My mother and father met at the Ohio School for the Deaf, in Columbus, so they had all their college friends, all around Ohio and beyond."

Rick served as interpreter for his parents - when the phone rang, or the doorbell, or something had to be ordered from the drugstore.

Pay raises top agenda

The purchase of a new floor covering for the city hall foyer will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Coahoma City Council, tonight, 7:30 at city hall. Other items to be discussed include:

- a raise for Shorty Hernandez,
- a raise for the city clerk, Holly Best,
- opening of bids on three fire-proof filing cabinets,
- the Water and Waste water short school in Abilene, May 5, 6, & 7

Gavin steers clear of hot issues Former actor makes play for envoy job in Mexico

WASHINGTON - At his nomination hearings Wednesday as ambassador to Mexico, John Gavin steered clear of controversies concerning his qualifications, Soviet intervention in Mexico and immigration policy. Gavin, a 48-year-old former actor, downplayed his career in Hollywood and emphasized his work as a special adviser to the Secretary General of the Organization of American States.

"I have 40 movies to prove that I am not an actor," Gavin told the Senate foreign relations committee. By the time Arnold Torres, a spokesman for the League of United-Latin American Citizens, finished arguing that the nominee should have a "more detailed background with Mexico," Gavin had left the room.

The three senators present at the hearing expressed support for Gavin. A nomination vote is expected next week when Easter recess is over and nine committee senators, necessary for a quorum, can be seated. Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., raised the question of Soviet insurgents in Mexico and asked whether Gavin felt Mexico could become communist. "There is Marxist ideology espoused by certain sectors," said Gavin. "But the most serious policy of Mexico is one of no foreign intervention. On balance we need not fear for the security of the Mexican Republic."

Helms pressed Gavin further, however, citing visits by Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo to Cuba and Cuban President Fidel Castro to Mexico in the past year. "The fact is there is intervention in Mexico by forces sponsored by the Soviet Union and using Castro," said Helms. "Would you not agree that the internal political situation in Mexico is not all that stable?"

Gavin answered: "I don't think it is right for a candidate for office of ambassador to Mexico to make any such statement at this time," he said.

Helms answered: "There is a lot of hoopla about interventionism in El Salvador but the point should be made over and over that if we don't defend ourselves there in 1981 we will be defending ourselves north of Mexico before the decade is out."

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., questioned Reagan's expressed desire for an "open border" with Mexico, citing criticism by U.S. labor groups whose members may lose jobs to Mexicans. Gavin reminded Percy that Reagan and he both were presidents of labor groups, and were not "anti-labor."

"The open border question needs to be studied and possibly certain regulations adopted on both sides," said Gavin.

Senator almost died from heat reaction

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Sen. John Wilson almost died in a Houston hospital 12 days ago during treatment for a rare form of inoperable lung cancer. Three days after lying semiconscious in critical condition at a Houston hospital, the La Grange Democrat returned to the Legislature against his doctor's orders and helped guide his "right to farm" bill through the Senate.

The bill exempts farmers from city zoning regulations and other ordinances if the land is annexed.

Wilson and his doctor on Wednesday confirmed the freshman senator's brush with death, which stemmed from "a very adverse reaction" to his first hyperthermia treatment.

Law would allow lifting of your license

If some members of the Texas Legislature have their way, that driver's license you guard so zealously may someday wind up in the pocket of some state trooper.

A law proposed by Sen. Kent Caperton, approved by the State Senate and now in the House, proposes to allow Department of Public Safety patrolmen to confiscate the license of a driver accused of a highway violation, under certain conditions.

THE TROOPER could issue a temporary "paper license," exchanging it for your permanent license for up to 60 days to insure a court appearance for a misdemeanor traffic violation other than speeding. Caperton and other supporters of the piece of legislation point out that it would allow patrolmen to stay on the job without having to take violators to some justice of the peace to pay a fine.

They also maintain it will benefit the driver himself by keeping him out of jail in some cases.

At the present time, the trooper has only two choices if he stops a driver for such a violation as illegal passing or driving a vehicle with defective equipment. He can have the driver sign a vow to show up in court or he can arrest him on the spot if he has reason to believe the driver won't show up or at least mail in his fine money.

Caperton's bill would give the officer a third option, that of confiscating the driver's license. Most drivers, the bill's proponents insist, still would be given a ticket as usual, but at the officer's discretion the offender can have his license lifted and be given a notice to show up in court where, after the case is resolved, the license would be returned.

SPEDING CASES are not included in this particular legislation, nor are any violations perpetrated within a corporate town or city limit. They conceivably could be at some future date, however, should members of the legislature decide that such laws are needed to cut back on speeding violations.

The vehicle laws are pretty restrictive as they are, if they are enforced. It makes one wonder if such a statute is really needed. The true test of such a bill: Would it cause drivers to exercise any more caution behind the wheel and reduce the number of road fatalities. If it will, then perhaps it is needed. If it won't, then forget it.

Lots to do

Around the rim

Carol Hart

If you're tired of watching TV, maybe some of these events should be more appealing.

Right around the corner is "Okla-homa!," which will be staged by Big Spring High School students at the BSHS auditorium Friday and Saturday.

Saturday, the Rehab Opry is slated at the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium. This features several country singers. The event benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, headquartered in Abilene, Snyder and Big Spring, and begins at 7 p.m. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

MONDAY, also in the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium, is the Dallas Theatre Center's production of "To Kill a Mockingbird," the classic story from the novel of the same name by Harper Lee. The event, sponsored by the Spring City Theater members, begins at 8:15 p.m. Tickets may be obtained through Greater Big Spring Rotary Club members, or at the door.

May 7 is the Heritage Museum Chuckwagon Party, set this year in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. This event features barbecue served by the Chuck Wagon gang, and entertainment, for $8 a ticket.

And, in case you've forgotten, there's the Big Spring Railroad Centennial, almost guaranteed to fight boredom for 10 days, May 21 through 30. In addition to numerous related activities, the Centennial will feature the "Iron Horse Revue," May 21 through 23, and May 25 through 27.

When 400 to 500 people convene to put on a program, it promises to be at least interesting. Tickets are available from First Lady candidates.

Now, if you don't mind driving outside the city to view a play or attend a festival, here's some events slated in the next several weeks.

THE COUNTRY Squire Dinner Theatre is located about an hour away from Big Spring, in Odessa. The theatre features a stage play and a dinner for a pretty reasonable price, and playing there now through May 23 is "Here Lies Jeremy Troy," with Russ/Tamlyn. Contact the Country Squire for tickets.

Or, May 6-9 and May 13-16, there's "A Funny Thing Happened On the Way to the Forum," at the Colorado City Playhouse. Tickets go on sale Monday from 1 to 5 p.m., and will be on sale during the play dates from 1 p.m. until show time. Call the Colorado City Playhouse, (915) 728-3491, for tickets.

And, this one looks very interesting, and involves a 237 mile drive from Big Spring. The Kerrville Folk Festival, the tenth annual such event, is set May 21-25 and May 29-31, at the Outdoor Theater on the Quiet Valley Ranch in Kerrville.

The festival will feature 22 special daytime events, and a group of evening concerts, beginning at 6 p.m. each evening, all of which sound good. Mail order tickets are available through Folk Fest, P.O. Box 1466, Kerrville, 78028.

Got a minute?

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Jason Robards was in his office gently snoozing, when Robert Redford, his assistant managing editor, came in to see him.

"Have you got a minute?" Redford said.

"What is it?" Robards asked in his gravelly voice.

"I've got good news and bad news," Redford told him.

THE GOOD NEWS is that one of our reporters won the Pulitzer Prize.

"That's great," said Robards. "Put it on the front page. What's the bad news?"

"The bad news is the story she won it for isn't true."

"On second thought you'd better put it in the food section."

"I don't know what happened," Redford said. "She swore every fact was true."

"Why didn't you check it out with me first?" Robards said.

"We did. You were the one who OK'd the story. Don't you remember, we came to your house late at night, and you came out on the lawn in your bathrobe and read it under the street lamp."

"Oh, my God! It's coming back to me now. Isn't that the girl who graduated Magna Cum Laude from Vassar?"

Redford said, "Would you believe Magna Cum nothing laude from the University of Toledo."

"I need a drink," Robards said.

"Who else knows about this?"

"Just myself and Dustin Hoffman," Redford said.

"Well, that gives us time anyway."

"I'm not so sure. Dustin now works for ABC and they're going to lead with it tonight on the evening news."

"OK," we blew it," said Robards.

"But I don't want a cover-up. I want us to play this story straight down the line. Put your best reporters on it, dig up all the facts, talk to everyone you can, get statements from everybody from the Pulitzer Committee to the Mayor of Washington D.C."

"I gotcha boss. If there's a smoking gun we'll find it," Redford said.

"Do you still see 'Deep Throat'?" Robards asked.

"All the time. He works in the garage where I park my car."

"WELL, SEE WHAT HE knows about the Pulitzer gang. Find out where the money's coming from for the Prize. Talk to all the wives of the editors, and find out where they were the night the story was printed. One of them has to break it."

"I just thought of something. I used to date a girl who worked in the city room. Maybe she knows how the article got in the paper."

"Good idea. Take her to dinner and whatever."

The secretary came in. "President Nixon's on the phone."

Robards picked it up. He listened for 30 seconds, and hung up.

Redford said, "What did he say?"

"Nothing. He just gave me a Bronx rasperry."

"At least you know your friends are when you make a blooper," Redford said.

"People forget so soon," Robards said. "OK, let's get back to business. I won't accept any facts on how we blew it, unless it's confirmed by two sources."

"Don't worry, boss. We won't rest until we get to the bottom of this. I have a friend at the FBI who owes me a favor. He might be willing to open his files for us."

"Good," Robards said. "If anyone asks you what you're doing, tell him you're working on a story about how many husbands Gov. Carey's wife really had."

"I'll get on it right away," Redford said. "What are you going to do now?"

"Me?" said Robards. "I'm going to call my agent and see if I can get out of this lousy movie."

Three kinds of vascular headaches

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What is the best thing to do for vascular headache? Mine occurs on the right side near the top of the head and down to the right eye. I am 65. I understand this is a common problem. Sometimes mine starts at 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning. Keeping my head warm helps. — Mrs. L.M.

Vascular headaches result from expansion of blood vessels of the head. What causes the expansion is not thoroughly understood. Two common kinds of vascular headache are migraine and cluster. Let me spend a little time on cluster headache, since migraine is discussed so often.

Cluster headaches come in cycles. They may be present daily for some time, then disappear for long periods. Pain lasts for 30 minutes to three hours. In contrast to migraine headaches, where the person seeks quiet, the person with cluster headache tends to seek activity like walking around, to feel better. Cluster headache comes on suddenly, often at night, awakening the person. The eye on the headache side may tear and the nose feel stuffed.

Because of the sparseness of information in your note, I cannot tell just which kind of headache problem you do have. With more information, your doctor should be able to zero in on the type of headache you have and prescribe helpful medicine. Medicines used to prevent either cluster or migraine headaches include ergotamine, methysergide and propranolol. Ergotamine is also used to stem an acute attack of either type. These are only a few of the medicines available.

Another type of headache could be called vascular since it is caused by inflammation of an artery. That is called temporal arteritis and it is treated with steroids. You should certainly learn whether or not this is what you have, because treatment is important.

Vascular headaches are common. As many as 15 percent of the population will suffer from them at some time in their lives. There is further detail in the booklet "How to Tame Headaches." For a copy, write me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you give me additional information on Klinefelter's syndrome? All I know is that it is a male genetic problem, something about an extra gene. — Mrs. R.H.

With two exceptions, all the cells in our body contain two pairs of chromosomes, those strand of genes that carry our heredity. The two exceptions are the male's sperm cell and the female's egg cell. They have single chromosome strands, not pairs. But when a sperm cell and egg cell unite the resulting fertilization produces two pairs again, one from the female (XX) and one from the male (XY).

The normal male ends up with an XY pair. In Klinefelter syndrome, the male ends up with triplet chromosomes — two X's and one Y. He is XXY. The resulting adult looks like a male and is able to function as a normal male. However, he is infertile, with testes usually smaller than normal, and sometimes has enlarged breasts.

Often, it is very difficult to determine from simple visual examination if a person does suffer from Klinefelter's syndrome. The proof is in microscopic examination of his cells to see if there are three sex chromosomes present instead of the normal two. The cells for this examination can be gotten by taking a little piece of tissue from inside the mouth — a buccal smear.

Dear Dr. Donohue: We baby-sit an 18-month-old child. She does not walk alone. She will with assistance, and she can walk around furniture, but otherwise her movement is on her hands and knees. We are concerned. Is this aspect of her development abnormal? — W.B.

Most children are able to walk alone at 15 months and by 18 months most can run stiffly. Yet progress is not at the same rate for all children in all learned skills. Some talk earlier than others, some walk later than others.

A child's development has to be evaluated on several levels, not on one alone. However, when a child lags behind others, that should be brought to the pediatrician's attention. He can determine if it is just a lag in one aspect of development, a physical abnormality, or if it is general slowness that has to be investigated further.

To learn of the many factors involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia (which concerns the esophagus), write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

NOTE FOR READERS: I am frequently asked for a handy rule for arriving at ideal body weight. I am indebted to a recent issue of Consultant magazine for the following method. For medium-framed women, allow 100 pounds for the first five feet of height, plus five pounds for each additional inch. Medium-framed men should allow 106 pounds for the first five feet, and an additional six pounds for each additional inch.

Small-framed individuals should subtract 10 percent of the resulting figure, and large-framed individuals should add 10 percent. Example: A small-framed woman of 5 feet inches has an ideal weight of 126 — 100, plus 40, minus 10 percent (14 pounds).

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: If I become a Christian, and then later commit some sort of sin, does that mean that I no longer am a Christian? This worries me. — T.G.A.

DEAR T.G.A.: I want you to imagine for a minute that you were a child who had been adopted into a loving family. Because you had been legally adopted, you would have all the rights and privileges of a son — just as if you had been born into that family. Now suppose that one day you did something bad — told a lie, or broke something, for example. Would that mean you were no longer a part of that family? Certainly not! There might be some sense of strain or tension between you and your parents, but you would still be their son. Your fellowship with them might be broken for a time, but they would still love you and you still would have the same relationship with them — that of a son.

Now this is similar to what the Bible tells us about ourselves and God. It tells us that when we come to Christ in repentance and faith, we are adopted by God. We become his children and are part of his family. Furthermore,

God loves us very much and, as children of God, we have all the privileges of that relationship. Because we are his children we have the privilege of prayer, for example. We also are heirs of all he has promised us, including eternal life. "God sent his Son, born of a woman, born under law, to redeem those under law, that we might receive the full rights of sons... you are no longer a slave, but a son; and since you are a son, God has made you also an heir" (Galatians 4:4-5, 7).

When we sin against God, we do not cease being his children. We still have the same relationship with him — we still are part of his family. But when we do something wrong, it harms our fellowship with God. We no longer are as close to him as we should be, nor are we as sensitive to his guidance. There is only one answer: confession of our sin to him and claiming his forgiveness.

Sin is serious in God's eyes, and those of us who know Christ must never excuse it or tolerate it in our lives. But there is forgiveness when we turn to Christ again, and we can once again know the blessing of true fellowship.

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — The shadow of Jesse Helms over President Reagan's arms control policy was privately revealed when a State Department cable sent to U.S. allies inserted this sentence in the version publicly released in the U.S.: "No decision has yet been taken on our adherence to existing SALT agreements."

The March 4 cable was dispatched to contradict Secretary of the Navy John Lehman, who had announced there was no legal basis for the U.S. to continue honoring SALT I or SALT II. It said the U.S. would not "undercut existing agreements" so long as the Soviet Union did not either.

THAT CABLE, REPRESENTING Secretary of State Alexander Haig's policy, who designed to placate NATO members, especially touchy West Germany. The domestic version, with the "no decision" sentence, was designed to placate right-wing Republicans led by Sen. Helms, who worried that Reagan's SALT policy has not yet taken a decisive turn away from Jimmy Carter's. Which version will be Ronald Reagan's ultimate policy has triggered an intense power struggle in Washington.

That struggle is Helms vs. Haig, but its roots are buried all through the capital. Haig's State Department and the Central Intelligence Agency are in combat against top officials of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. The ACDA officials, carry-overs from the transition, are closely tied to Helms' conservative Republican bloc in the Senate but may soon be replaced by permanent arms control officials in tune with Haig.

Helms is plotting a counterattack against Haig's position on sticking to SALT I and the unratified SALT II for now, with ramifications that will compound Haig's problems with the European allies. If he proves that the Soviets have systematically violated SALT agreements, Helms could force Reagan into a confrontation, not only with Moscow but also with Bonn.

Helms opened early this month with a letter to the hard-line acting director of ACDA, Michael Pillsbury, asking for a complete report on one of the most sensitive SALT issues: verification by the U.S. of Soviet compliance — or Soviet cheating.

Coincidentally, a Pillsbury deputy, ACDA counselor David Sullivan, is putting finishing touches on a study that documents 23 alleged SALT violations by the Russians. Although ex-CIA analyst Sullivan is known as a hard-line, anti-Soviet ideologue, no serious student of SALT doubts his competence. His study in the hands of Helms and other anti-SALT Republican senators could close off Reagan's SALT options.

In fact, Pillsbury laid out the argument for Soviet cheating in his April 14 reply to Helms: "We are unable to reassure you that these agreements are adequately verifiable at the present time." An amendment to the law that established ACDA asserts that "adequate verification of compliance should be an indispensable part of any international arms control agreement." It orders the ACDA director to so "report" to Congress.

EVEN BEFORE HELMS' request was sent to Pillsbury, the CIA was harassing Sullivan's study of Soviet violations. Reagan's appointed CIA director, William Casey, has not shown his hand. But at CIA's working-group level, staffed by holdovers from the Carter administration, the effort to silence Sullivan is intense. They reflect the CIA's habitual caution in dealing with the touchy violations issue.

The clock is running against the hard-liners. Reagan is ready to nominate an establishment conservative Democrat, law professor Eugene Rostow of Yale, to be permanent ACDA director. Pillsbury may not survive as deputy director. It is not even certain that he, Sullivan and other hard-liners will remain in the agency.

But nobody can make the clock run more slowly than Jesse Helms. He will put a hold on Rostow's nomination just as he has on seven other presidential nominations (most of them Haig's recommendations) to State Department positions, paralyzing the department's operations. The source of all this is the unrequited expectations of Helms and other conservatives arising from the president's campaign oratory.

Helms' move against Haig's deliberately ambiguous, cautious policy not to undercut "existing agreements" with the Russians is based on Reagan's campaign description of SALT II as "fatally flawed." The Reaganists who helped elect him have waited three months into his presidency for action to fit those words.

So far, Reagan has listened to Haig's advice. If the U.S. tells the allies prematurely what it really thinks about SALT I and SALT II, the alliance could be imperiled. Whether the president sticks with Haig's advice much longer is now in question, thanks to the formidable resources of Sen. Helms and his allies.

Hired killer Harrelson faces trial despite approved bugging

HOUSTON (AP) — Federal officials admit they "bugged" private jailhouse conversations involving professional killer Charles Harrelson, a target in the investigation into the assassination of U.S. District Judge John Wood.

But they say a court authorized the secret recordings, and insist none of the information they got was ever turned over to state authorities, who have unrelated indictments pending against Harrelson.

A state district judge reluctantly agreed with Harrelson's attorneys Wednesday and rejected a motion by Harrelson's lawyers that state charges against him be dismissed because of the eavesdropping incident. It means Harrelson will have to stand trial unless his lawyers can win a reversal of Wednesday's ruling in state appellate court.

During the hearing U.S. agents, who planted the secret recorders apparently in hopes of gaining information in the Wood death, admitted for the first time officially there were recordings made of Harrelson's conversations and that they were authorized by court order.

State prosecutors said since they were not privy to the tapes, the recordings should have no bearing on the state's unrelated case against Harrelson. He is accused of jumping bail and illegally possessing a gun, cocaine and loaded dice.

But Harrelson's lawyers said they can't be sure state prosecutors didn't get the tapes. They asked State District Judge Thomas Routt to dismiss the state charges because their attorney-client relationship was "killed."

Routt denied that motion after Wednesday's all-day hearing, but he postponed setting a trial date to give Harrelson's lawyers until July 31 to appeal his decision.

George A. Kelt Jr., assistant U.S. attorney here, testified the clandestine recordings were authorized by two sealed federal court orders dated Nov. 3 and Nov. 14, 1980, each one effective for 30 days.

Kelt said the orders were signed by U.S. District Judge Gabrielle McDonald of Houston.

Defense attorney Bob Tarrant asked Kelt if he had heard the tapes.

"I do not recall whether I listened to the tapes or read some transcripts," Kelt said. "So, there are some transcripts floating around?" asked Tarrant.

Kelt paused and then said, "I am not permitted to answer that question."

Other federal witnesses also declined to reveal all but scant details of the recordings. Assistant U.S. Attorney Ron Woods of Houston said they were restricted as to what they could say because of the "ongoing investigation" into

Divestiture of assets to get health care now against law

Older Texans who get rid of their property and become poor to qualify for welfare now are being denied eligibility for Medicaid, Marlin W. Johnston, commissioner of the Department of Human Resources, has announced.

Diversiture of assets to get health care now is against the law, Johnston warned, referring to a federal statute which took effect March 1.

Johnston said DHR has documented cases where assets in excess of $100,000 were given away or sold at less than market value to establish eligibility. The property usually goes to sons or daughters, or other family members, so that the former owner can qualify for nursing home care under Medicaid.

Before March 1, there was no law preventing diversiture of assets, Johnston said, although DHR long had sought such restrictions.

Under the new law, a penalty is imposed on 24 months suspended eligibility for anyone giving away or selling property for less than market value to establish eligibility for Medicaid.

Persons who became eligible for Medicaid through diversiture of assets before March 1, will not be affected, Johnston said.

Defense attorney Bob Tarrant asked Kelt if he had heard the tapes.

"I do not recall whether I listened to the tapes or read some transcripts," Kelt said. "So, there are some transcripts floating around?" asked Tarrant.

Kelt paused and then said, "I am not permitted to answer that question."

Big Springer's lemonade stand nets LCC $1,250

(SPECIAL TO THE HERALD)
LUBBOCK — Remember those old, crude lemonade stands that neighborhood kids used to set up during those long, hot days of summer?
 Well, Kirk Swinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. D.J. Swinney of 1500 Main in Big Spring, helped Lubbock Christian College earn a $1,250 cash gift with just such a stand during a Students in Free Enterprise competition sponsored by the National Leadership Institute of Austin recently.

The LCCers were competing against 14 other colleges and universities from Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana during competition in Houston 10 days ago.

The contest was to determine the three best programs by Students in Free Enterprise, which promotes positive education about the "free enterprise" system.

Swinney, a senior history-pre-law major, is a 1977 graduate of Frankfurt American Senior High School. He participated in Roadrunner and College Republicans.

With the regional competition out of the way, the LCCers along with Baylor University and the University of Southwestern Louisiana, who were also in the Top 3 at Houston, will compete with 27 other schools for top nationwide honors July 19-21 in New York City.

LCC sponsor Dick Laird, although noting that LCC wasn't officially recognized as being first at the Houston competition, reported that the LCC students scored the most points.

That 8-person team used photographs, audio and video presentations and a written competition report to help convince the judges that LCC has one of the best SIFE programs, despite the fact the program is only in its first year.

"We had an old, crude lemonade stand to show the very basics of free enterprise," Laird said, adding, "We sold the lemonade and all of the judges bought it. The judges commented that this was the only (display) to show free enterprise in action."

In the written report to the judges, the LCC group described their production of 30-second public service announcements promoting free enterprise. The students also designed a billboard advertisement display extolling free enterprise and had the week of April 5-11 declared Free Enterprise Week in Lubbock by Mayor Bill McAlister.

In addition, the group also plans to sponsor a workshop at LCC to advise area teachers and the school's education majors on how they can teach free enterprise principles to students. Laird said his group will have a publication profiling business success stories of Lubbock area entrepreneurs. He said copies of the publication will be taken to the national competition in New York, where the winner will receive a $20,000 cash prize.

New schedule of visitor hours at Carlsbad Caverns listed

CARLSBAD, N.M. — The National Park Service has announced that a new schedule of visitor hours will begin at Carlsbad Caverns National Park May 3 and continue in effect through May 30 when the park's full summer schedule starts.

Under the new schedule, complete walk-in tours will be available continuously from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. each day, and Big Room tours from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. Complete tours through the main cavern are three miles in length and require about three hours, while Big Room tours are one and a quarter mile long and taken about an hour and a half.

Also starting May 3 will be daily lantern tours of primitive New Cave and evening bat flight programs at the natural entrance to the main cavern. The lantern tours through New Cave, which is located 23 miles southwest of the main cavern in the Slaughter Canyon area, will be at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. daily.

Reservations are necessary for the lantern trips and may be made by calling (505) 785-2233.

The bat flight programs at the main cavern will start at about sunset each evening and exact times can be obtained each day by calling the park visitor center at the same telephone.

The park entrance fee is $3 per carload daily for private non-commercial vehicle or $1 per person for those entering on commercial buses. Annual Golden Eagle and Golden Age permits are also available and honored at the park. All entrance permits include use of hand-held radio receivers for listening to interpretive messages along the trail while touring the main cavern. Concession facilities available at the park include a nursery, kennel, restaurant, gift shop and underground lunchroom.

House approves competency test for teachers in Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A bill requiring the coming generation of school teachers to prove their competence before entering classrooms has gained preliminary approval in the Texas House.

The Senate passed measure advanced Wednesday on a voice vote and was set for final action today.

Administrators who have clamored for the legislation got a surprise; however, on Wednesday when the House added an amendment requiring competency testing for them, too.

Rep. Mary Polk, D-El Paso, proposed the change, and Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, sponsor of the bill, said, "Her amendment is so logical I've got to accept it."

The bill directs the State Board of Education to require college students to pass "a competency examination of basic skills" before entering teacher training programs. After graduation, a person could be certified as a teacher only after passing a "comprehensive examination" prescribed by the board.

The board also would have authority to issue various levels of teaching certificates, based on education, experience, competency and special duties.

People who already are teaching or enrolled in teacher training programs would be exempt from the testing requirement.

Teacher competency testing was recommended both by the Board of Education and Gov. Bill Clements' special committee that studied problems in Texas' public schools.

Rep. Ernestine Glossbrenner, D-Alice, a former math teacher, tried unsuccessfully to add amendments limiting the use of uncertified teachers hired under emergency certificates to 5 percent of a school district's teachers or 5 percent, statewide.

She called emergency certificates "a loophole in this bill big enough to drive a Mack truck through."

"Emergency certificates, if not limited, could circumvent the purpose of the bill. ... We would just have a lot of people who are not fully certified," Ms. Glossbrenner said.

SEMISOFT LENSES?

A vague term, semisoft lenses have been prescribed as an alternative to hard and soft lenses for years. The lens normally received is but a hard lens material cut extra thin and therefore somewhat flexible. Unfortunately, the lens transmit little or no oxygen to the eye, causing swelling of the cornea which can distort vision and cause discomfort. A better alternative might be a gas permeable contact lens giving sharp, accurate vision while maintaining a healthy cornea. For most people the blurred vision experienced in switching to their glasses can be eliminated with this type of lens. Only your eye doctor can say what type is best for you and don't forget the importance of regular follow-up care.

Sun Belt Coalition takes hard aim at 'yankees'

WASHINGTON (AP) — An army of 90 House members from Texas and 16 other states have joined under the banner of the "Sun Belt Council" to fight for their share of federal money.

"Until now we have resisted in splitting Congress along regional lines, but our Yankee colleagues have forced this confrontation upon us," said Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Lufkin, who has been elected chairman of the coalition.

Wilson was promoted for the job by Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Beaumont, the dean of the 24-member Texas delegation.

In coming months, council members promise to fight as a unit for public works projects, job programs and various federal grants when they are distributed in committees and legislative floor amendments.

The Sun Belt Council was formed to battle a successful lobbying effort by 213 representatives from 18 Northeast and Midwest states who formed such a coalition because they felt too much was going to the South and Southwest.

"Their organization has done a good job. They've determined that the pending budget cuts will fall much more heavily on the Sun Belt. At the very least, we want to counter their misinformation," Wilson said.

Leaders of the Northeast-Midwest coalition, surprised by the sudden rhetorical shelling, say they are puzzled by such a reaction.

"The victories of the Northeast-Midwest coalition haven't shifted the flow of funds more than a small amount," he said.

Former Alabama Rep. John Buchanan has been tabbed to act as staff director of the council. He agreed that southern congressmen have historically wielded power on defense-related committees, but said their influence is waning.

"The Northeast-Midwest coalition is a well-organized, well-funded entity that was facing a vacuum," Buchanan said.

"The idea of our council isn't so much to promote the interests of our region as it is to provide fair national legislation that doesn't ignore the people in older industrial cities or the poor young black child in rural America, either," Buchanan said.

Rep. Robert Edgar, D-Pa., chairman of the northern coalition, said he is drafting a letter inviting Wilson to sit down and discuss the issues that separate the two sides.

"I don't feel threatened by the new group at all. It raises more issues and forces us to be even more accountable," Edgar said.

Wilson said he is determined to combat the view that President Reagan's proposed federal budget cuts are slanted against the Northeast.

Wilson said his group hopes to counter "outrageous propaganda and statistics" generated by the coalition and institute in their weekly news releases and published studies.

"They blame all the problems of their area on the formula for federal grants, which is pretty absurd," said Wilson, a second-year congressman and member of the House Appropriations Committee.

Other states besides Texas represented in the new Sun Belt Council are Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, Florida, Kentucky, Utah and Colorado.

Wilson is still seeking members from other states, including California. The coalition is operating with a first-year budget of about $100,000.

The Northeast-Midwest coalition has a budget of about $100,000 and a staff of five. The Northeast-Midwest Institute has a staff of 20 persons and a budget of more than $400,000.

Its 213 members come from Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wisconsin.

Edison didn't see the light all the time

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Some days, nothing goes right — even for the man who invented the incandescent light bulb, the phonograph and the motion picture.

Those inventions changed the course of history. Think where mankind would be today if Thomas Alva Edison hadn't flopped with cement furniture and the "perpetual cigar."

Those commercial disasters were very minor, some that he considered major weren't commercially successful, and some that were successful commercially didn't turn out well for him," the Rutgers University researcher, who holds a Ph.D. in science history, said Wednesday.

One project that failed to light a fire under the public was Edison's "perpetual cigar." The stogie consisted of a hollow tube and a spring-loaded plunger that pushed a wad of tobacco toward a flame near the mouthpiece.

Then there was a helicopter-like flying machine designed to use kites for lift. There is no evidence that the machine was even built, said associate project director Leonard S. Reich.

However, Edison's extensive work in production technology was one of his most significant, if least recognized, contributions, Jenkins said.

The holder of 1,093 patents developed a system to mix cement and move it along on a conveyor belt to areas where it was poured.

The cement was also used to build furniture, but that idea "went over like a cement balloon," Reich said.

In the days when $10,000 was considered a fortune, Edison lost $3 million on an iron ore milling venture during the 1890s.

The work of the five-member team is being sponsored by the National Park Service, the New Jersey Historical Commission, the Smithsonian Institution and Rutgers University.

Edison, who lived from 1847 to 1931, was a resident of Menlo Park and had his main laboratory in West Orange, now the site of the Edison National Historic Site.

Centennial goals are listed

The celebration of the Centennial of the coming of the railroad to Big Spring was the theme of the program for The American Association of University Women Tuesday.

Frances Wheat, chairman of the women's division of the Centennial, said she has been amazed at the response of those asked to take a job, as well as those who have volunteered. There are more than one hundred Centennial Belle chapters, and most of them are planning special activities for the next few weeks. Each Friday will be dress-up day with a promenade around the square or some other area in town. "The Iron Horse Revue" and the laser show will be presented for several nights the last week of May.

Mrs. Wheat listed the six goals of the Centennial: Honor our heritage, have fun, create new civic awareness, uncover new civic leaders, focus attention on tomorrow and stimulate local economy.

New officers elected for next year are Carol Brown, president; Cara Lee Caudell, first vice-president; Evelyn Hyman, second vice-president; Shirley Shroyer, third vice-president; Suncho Christensen, recording secretary; Helen Ewing, corresponding secretary and Betty Birdwell, treasurer.

The members will deliver flowers on the Saturday before Mothers' Day to earn money for the scholarship fund. Girls who are high school seniors may get application forms in the Big Spring High School counselor's office to apply for these scholarships.

The meeting was in the home of Mrs. Wheat with Barbara Wood and Evelyn Hyman serving as co-hostesses. New officers will be installed on May 18 at a dinner meeting, and the scholarship recipients will be presented.

Alpha Tau Rho has Founders Day program

The Alpha Tau Rho Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held a dinner meeting Monday night in the Signal Mountain Room of Coahoma State Bank.

Ritual of Jewels was observed for five pledges including Laura New, Linda Gibson, Becky Key, Tommie Perez and Judy Nichols.

A Founder's Day program was held after dinner. Jayne Titsworth reviewed the events of the past year. Sheri Lepard led the Founder's Day Pledge. Linda Gibson presented a message from International.

The following officers were installed following the program: Mrs. Lepard, president; Tracy Fadel, vice-president; Mrs. New, treasurer; Jan Nichols, recording secretary and Shirley Terry, corresponding secretary. Outgoing officers inducted the new ones.

A bake sale will be held Saturday at the old Coahoma Post Office building.

A Mother's Day luncheon will be served May 9 at noon at Coahoma State Bank. Members are to bring their mothers or someone special and a gift for her special sister.

The next meeting will be May 4 in the home of Pat Winters.

Rainbows will sponsor Chicken Spaghetti dinner

A Chicken-Spaghetti Dinner, sponsored by the Rainbow Girls and Advisory Board, will be held Friday evening.

The dinner will take place at the Howard College Student Union Building from 5:30-8:30 p.m. Tickets are $3 each, $6 for two, or $10 per family.

Tickets may be purchased from any Rainbow Girl or Advisory Board member, and will be on sale at the door. The public is invited to attend.

LOTS OF PRIZES — The First Lady candidates had their first of four ticket turn-in days Tuesday at the Centennial Store-Headquarters at 900 Main. The First Lady will receive an all expense paid trip for two for a week in Hawaii, and the six runners-up will be able to divide 57 gifts among themselves. Among the gifts the runners-up will receive include color televisions, men's Seiko watch, diamond ring, two grills, crystal, microwave oven, stereo systems, freezer, and over $1,000 in gift certificates.

Dear Abby Mom, Daughter Losers In Battle of Wills

DEAR ABBY: After you published a letter about visiting aging parents, I received a copy of it "anonymously." I'm sure it came from my mother, to whom I haven't spoken for four months.

I am 29, divorced with two children, live alone and support myself and my children. I don't drink or run around and I'm respected by everybody but my mother.

I know Mom loves me and I love her, but unless she can choose my friends and control my life, she wants absolutely nothing to do with me. She helped me financially when I needed it, a fact she mentions every chance she gets, but she thinks that gives her the right to pick my friends. After I told her I intended to live my own life, she said she never wanted to see me again.

Since then, she hasn't called me and I haven't called her. Abby, I am so frustrated I could cry. She reads your column religiously, so please tell her I love her and want her to be my friend.

HURTING IN PA.

DEAR HURTING: Your mother (like most mothers) has become so accustomed to telling you what to do ("for your own good," of course), it's hard for her to break the habit. All self-supporting adults are entitled to live their own lives, and from what you say, you're doing an admirable job of it.

Regardless of who closed the door between you and your mother, open it, and try again. I assure you, your mother is hurting as much as you over the estrangement. And maybe more.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a waitress in Milwaukee for 12 years, and I have never been able to figure out why people will come into a cafe and always sit at a table where there are dirty dishes when there are plenty of clean tables available. I have asked waitresses who work at other restaurants, and they can't figure it out either. Can you explain it?

MERT

DEAR MERT: Probably for the same reason people choose to sit in a crowded kitchen even though there is a larger, more comfortable room available. Call it the coziness of clutter. And if it's any comfort to you, it's the same in Los Angeles as it is in Milwaukee.

First child is born to couple

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Buske, Gail Rt., announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Amanda Jean, at Malone Hogan Hospital Sunday. The infant made her debut at 2:20 a.m., weighing 8 pounds 8 ounces and measuring 21 inches in length.

Amanda's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George R. Heckler, 1808 Main. Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Buske, 1210 Pennsylvania Ave., are her paternal grandparents.

Registrations due for PTA conference

Pre-registrations for Texas PTA's District 17 Spring Conference should be returned to school tomorrow. PTA representatives at College Heights, Kentwood, Marcy, Moss and Washington elementary will collect them.

The PTA conference is slated for 8:30-2:30 April 28 at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. It is expected to draw PTA members and educators from a 15-county area of West Texas, according to Leslie Earnest, president of the Big Spring Council of PTAs.

"The public is invited," emphasized District president Glenda Pruitt of Midland. Parents and other interested persons not receiving conference registration letters may call Leslie Earnest (267-1736) or Barbara Claxton (267-8667).

Spring window cleaning can produce sparkling results

COLLEGE STATION — Think spring window washing tedious and dull? It's actually splashy, sparkling fun when you use a no-fail formula for success, says Mary Lou Rowland, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Mrs. Rowland, on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says the formula has two ingredients: the right recipe for the job and correct technique. Match the cleaner to the job, whether you use a commercial cleaner or a homemade one. With commercial cleaners, be sure to follow directions on the container and don't get the cleaner on the window's painted frame or surrounding woodwork.

Here are three recipes for homemade cleaners: FOR HARD-WATER SPOTS — two tablespoons vinegar to one quart warm water. FOR LIGHT-GREASY SOILS — one tablespoon ammonia to one quart warm water. FOR HEAVY-GREASY SOILS — one tablespoon ammonia to one quart warm water.

Correct techniques, step by step from start to finish, will make "picture" windows of every pane you touch throughout the house. Here they are: If the windows have curtains or shades, take them down and remove dust and dirt. Dust the window frame and sills. Remove dust or dirt with a vacuum on INSIDE of windows, using soft brush attachment to the vacuum cleaner. DO NOT RUB dry dirt because it will scratch the glass.

If you can, use a hose to wet the OUTER side of windows before you wash them. If windows are still very dirty, wipe them on both sides with a damp cloth to remove more dirt. Put papers on the floor under each window to avoid an extra clean-up job. Wrap a wash cloth or soft rag around your wrist before starting to keep water and cleaner from running down your arm when you raise it.

Outside, avoid cleaning windows in direct sunlight since it will cause them to dry too fast, leaving a streaked effect. Before you wash panes inside, wet a small brush in the wash water and use it to clean the window frame corners — or wrap wet cotton around a toothpick or a match, and use this to clean corners. Then rinse and dry the window frames and sills. Remember, for the best job, wash, rinse and dry each pane before going on to the next one. Wet a soft cloth in a cleaning solution. Wash the top window pane first. Wash the cloth in the solution before cleaning each pane. Use a damp cloth to rinse each window pane immediately after washing. Rub each pane dry with a soft cloth or crumpled newspaper before you wash the next one. Newspaper does a better job than cloth, and it leaves no fuzz on the pane.

Carter, Ford were 'passive'

Analysis shows Nixon, Johnson knew 'language of patriotism'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon "knew how to use the language of patriotism," Dwight Eisenhower's speech was the "least realistic" of recent presidents. Harry Truman's talk was pugnacious, while John F. Kennedy's was "cool." Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter were tentative and passive.

These are among the conclusions of Dr. Robert Hart, a University of Texas professor who did a computer analysis of the speeches of seven presidents.

Hart analyzed 266 major speeches — 38 for each of seven presidents — which were delivered between 1945 and 1976.

"Harry Truman's 'buck-stops-here' attitude carried over into his public remarks," said Hart. "Truman scored much higher on the rigidity scale than any of his successors. His famed, pugnacious image seems to have resulted from his consistent use of terms like 'always' and 'never'; he rarely used 'weasel words' or other expressions that are hard to pinpoint."

Hart discussed his analysis in an interview with the Associated Press.

He said the project took four years and surprised him. "I would not have predicted anything as leaden as a computer would be subtle enough to pick up the feistiness of Harry Truman, the rather ethereal nature of Dwight Eisenhower or the inability of Jimmy Carter to sound realistic," he said.

Hart said said the computer identified Eisenhower as the "least realistic" of the modern presidents, meaning that he avoided using everyday words in favor of high level abstraction. His sermonizing speaking style, resulting from his failure to use concrete terms, made Eisenhower ripe for parody.

Carter ranked nearly as low on the "realism" scale. "For all that has been written about the 'Kennedy style,' the computer could find relatively little to distinguish it," said Hart.

However, he said, "Kennedy rarely used the glib optimism common to politicians," and "he forsook the language of intense patriotism as well. In other words, Kennedy's style was a 'cool' one. He refused to become the nation's cheerleader. He had a distaste for demagoguery — perhaps resulting from his somewhat different New England roots."

Johnson and Nixon, the analysis showed, "talked like presidents — or at least in a manner perceived by Americans as presidential. Their language was dynamic, concrete and uncomplicated. Neither of them left any doubt that there was a power-wielding president in the White House."

"When inspecting the language of Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter, however, one looks in vain for the same sort of presidential thrust," said Hart. "Both were passive, highly tentative. Missing in their remarks was the assured voice of Harry Truman or the pragmatism of a Richard Nixon. Missing too was Lyndon Johnson's verbal energy."

Hart said there is "no universal 'best' presidential language," but he added "one should not underestimate the power of presidential speechmaking. Economic distress, international turmoil, and social unrest can be overcome by a rhetorically gifted chief executive. Franklin Roosevelt knew this, and Ronald Reagan seems to know it too."

Band director charged with raping of student

NEW BRAUNFELS, Texas (AP) — Edward E. Williams, who resigned Monday as band director of San Antonio's Alamo Heights High School, was scheduled for formal arraignment today on a charge of raping a 14-year-old freshman band student.

Williams, 39, formerly was band director at Ross Sterling High School in Baytown. He was scheduled to appear before 22nd District Judge Charles Ramsay.

Williams has been free on $5,000 bond set by New Braunfels Municipal Judge David Perkins on the rape charge last week.

Police charge that the rape occurred between 11 p.m. April 12 and 3:30 a.m. April 13 in a New Braunfels motel room. They reported the evidence includes a medical examination and a motel receipt.

The girl's father filed a complaint at 8:10 a.m. on April 13 at the Bexar County Sheriff's Office in San Antonio and the complaint was transferred to the Comal County District Attorney's office which has jurisdiction.

Williams was indicted two days later by the Comal County Grand Jury on the charge of rape of a child.

Williams became band director at Alamo Heights on July 1, 1980, after serving three years as band director at Ross Sterling High School in Baytown.

GIVES INTERVIEW — President Ronald Reagan conducts an interview with reporters in the Treaty Room at the White House Wednesday, the first since he was shot while leaving a Washington hotel on May 30th. The president stated that it "still seems unreal" and his injury still hurts.

Plans to be 'more alert'

Reagan wonders why no one ever shot at him before now

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, wondering why no one ever tried to shoot him before, says he won't be afraid to leave the White House again but "I have a hunch I'll be more alert" after last month's assassination attempt.

"There's not going to be any change in the way we do things," Reagan said Wednesday in his first interview since he was shot March 30.

The convalescing chief executive said constant security threats are part of the job and "you get a little used to it." But he added: "You sometimes wonder in your mind when and how it's going to happen or any attempt or what it would be like."

Reagan said that since the attack which wounded him, White House press secretary James S. Brady and two law officers, he has seen films showing him milling in crowds "and I find myself wondering, 'Well, why didn't this happen 27 times before?'"

The president, interviewed by the senior White House correspondents of The Associated Press and United Press International, appeared ruddy-cheeked, his gait quick but somewhat stiff, his handshake strong, 23 days after he was wounded.

Under the ground rules set by White House deputy chief of staff Michael K. Deaver, questions were limited to the shooting, the president's recuperation, and related topics.

Reagan recounted his reaction to the assassination attempt, which he said "still seems kind of unreal," and his near-panic, gasping for air as the presidential limousine sped from the scene of the shooting outside the Washington Hilton Hotel.

Reagan said that once he heard shots "my first instinct was to take a look and see what was going on from where they were, but the Secret Service man behind me had a different idea and the next thing I knew I found myself pushed into the car."

And then there was the pain. It didn't occur as soon as the bullet entered his left side and came to rest in his left lung.

"It was the most paralyzing pain...as if someone had hit you with a hammer," Reagan said. "Suddenly I found that I was coughing up blood."

On a cart at the George Washington University Hospital, "they found the wound and that I'd actually had been shot," he said.

"The more I tried to breathe and the deeper I tried to breathe, it kept seeming as if I was getting less air and you know that panic that you can get if you're strangling on something. I almost had the feeling that it was going to diminish to the place where I wouldn't be getting any and then they shut me up by sticking a pipe down my throat" to aid the breathing.

Reagan said "I'm feeling fine" now. His discomfort is diminishing, he said, and he has been able to resume his regimen of exercise, albeit at a slower pace.

"I don't think I'm going to hurdle any tables in the room here for a while," he said.

Still, the 70-year-old president said he is astonished by his recovery, adding that horseback riding, his favorite recreation, will "come along pretty soon."

Reagan did not say when he expected to return to the Oval Office, although top aide Edwin Meese III said separately that might come early next week.

The president said that with Congress in recess and with him now back at the White House, his schedule has hardly been altered by the shooting and his tax and budget proposals are "going along all right" on Capitol Hill.

His daily routine at the White House, as Reagan described it, is a mixture of work and relaxation.

On recent mornings, he has been speaking by telephone with members of Congress.

Others illegally 18 day care homes operating legally

There are 18 day care homes operating legally in Big Spring, but the Texas Department of Human Resources (DHR) believes others may be operating without required registration.

Lela McClung, program director for DHR's Day Care Licensing program in the Midland-Odessa region, said many people providing day care in their home for any number of unrelated children to register their facility to safeguard the health, safety and well-being of children.

If a home is not in compliance with state standards, registration can be revoked and the day care operation can be closed by court order. Gross violations of the law are a Class B misdemeanor.

Mrs. McClung said women often will advertise to do babysitting in their homes, not realizing that they are operating a day care home. "When they care for a child outside its own home, they are engaged in child care, not babysitting."

According to DHR's definition, babysitting is child care that takes place in a child's own home. "That's why teenagers and others who babysit at home where the child lives don't need to be registered," Mrs. McClung explained.

Some child care providers believe they do not need to be registered if they care for fewer than six children. "They're required to be registered even if they care for only one child not related to them," she said. Up to 12 children can be cared for at a registered home.

Mrs. McClung said she rarely encounters opposition to registration once it is explained to a day care home provider. The registration process is simple and can be handled totally over the telephone and by mail.

A day care provider calls or writes DHR requesting a registration packet. The packet includes a request for registration, a checklist of health and safety standards and tuberculosis test results. These are sent back to DHR, which issues a registration certificate by return mail. There is no charge for registration.

Day care licensing workers do not normally inspect registered homes. However, inspections are made if complaints are received from parents of children being cared for at the home or from neighbors and others.

Larger day care facilities, such as day care centers, nursery schools, and private schools, are licensed by DHR. The licensing process is considerably more complex and thorough than registration because a much larger number of children are cared for at such facilities.

Persons wishing more information about day care home registration should write: Lela McClung, Day Care Licensing, Department of Human Resources, Box 4636, Odessa, Texas 79760. Or call (915) 367-7201.

On track

Stock certificates, train prints on sale

"On Track" is an official column prepared by the Big Spring Centennial, Inc., and lists the various events and meetings being held in conjunction with the upcoming Big Spring-Howard County Centennial to be held May 21-30. Individuals wishing to list their activities and events in this column are asked to call Mel Prather at 267-6373, or bring their items by Citizens Federal Credit Union.

NEW SHIPMENT RECEIVED: A new shipment of men's clothes has been received at the Centennial Store-Headquarters. The shipment includes shirts, vests, arm bands, and many other items. Interested individuals should make their selections now while the large variety of items is on hand.

STOCK CERTIFICATES AND TRAIN PRINTS: Both the stock certificates and the limited edition of 250 signed and numbered train prints are still being sold through the centennial store and Citizens Federal Credit Union. Persons buying the stock certificates will have their names included in the commemorative book as stock holders in the centennial celebration. The cost for both the stock certificates and the train prints is only $5 each.

FIRST PROMENADE AND KANGAROO KOURT: The first promenade will be held in downtown Big Spring Friday, and will originate at the Ritz Theatre parking lot at 5 p.m. The promenade will then proceed north on Main to Third Street, west on Third to Scurry, and around the courthouse to the east lawn, where the first Kangaroo Kourt will be held at 5:30 p.m. All members of the Centennial Belles and Brothers of the Brush are encouraged to participate, as well as all other interested individuals.

DRESS UP DAY FRIDAY: Friday is the second official dress up day of the centennial celebration. All area residents are encouraged to wear their old-style clothes during the dress up days each Friday.

PARADE ENTRY DEADLINE: Due to an overwhelming response, the deadline for entering the centennial parade has been extended to May 15. The parade committee said they had already received approximately 80 entries for the centennial parade to be held on Monday, May 25, and wanted to allow everyone the opportunity to participate in the city's largest parade.

DECORATING COMPANY IN TOWN: The Freeman Decorating Company will remain in Big Spring through this week. The company, which is the official decorating company for the centennial celebration, has already sold decorations to more than 160 businesses in Howard County and expects the number to increase to around 150 once they've contacted the various firms and agencies in the area. Persons who have not been contacted by the Freeman Decorating Company should contact the Centennial Store-Headquarters at 267-3641 to arrange a meeting with the decorating company.

SHAVING PERMITS: The shaving permits that went on sale during the first of the week are selling fast. Any adult male failing to either grow facial hair and be a member of the Brothers of the Brush, or who fails to purchase a shaving permit, will be subject to arrest by the Keystone Kops and trial in the Kangaroo Kourt to be held on Fridays of each week.

BROTHERS OF THE BRUSH AND CENTENNIAL BELLES KITS: If your group or organization has not turned in your Brothers of the Brush or Centennial Belles kits, you are asked to do so in the near future in order to identify the chapters taking part in the area-wide celebration. If you have buttons that you have not sold, you should also return those to the Centennial Store-Headquarters at 900 Main.

Bill to set 24 percent interest rate ceiling going to governor

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements' signature is all that is necessary to allow lenders to charge consumers up to 24 percent on loans ranging from unpaid credit card balances to automobile and mobile home financing.

A 114-27 House vote to accept Senate changes in a bill raising state ceilings on interest rates sent the measure to the governor's desk.

Jon Ford, the governor's press secretary, said Clements has indicated he would sign the bill unless his staff finds an unexpected problem in it.

The new interest ceiling will take effect with the governor's signature or in 10 days, whichever comes sooner, unless he vetoes the bill.

Banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions, department stores and credit card companies had lobbied hard for a 30 percent ceiling but accepted 24 percent. They said they were in a severe profit squeeze because it was costing them more to obtain money than the state would let them charge when they lent it. Current ceilings range from 7.5 percent on some mobile home loans to 18 percent on unpaid credit card balances.

The Texas Consumer Association said the bill would allow lenders to gouge consumers and predicted lenders immediately would charge the maximum rates.

The bill would set a maximum of 18 percent so long as the six-month U.S. Treasury bill rate does not exceed 9 percent. But when the rate is higher than that, the ceiling would be twice the T-bill rate, up to a maximum of 24 percent for consumer loans. The T-bill rate is over 13 percent this week, so the 24 percent cap would be in effect.

Credit card companies would be allowed to change the interest on unpaid balances as often as weekly to stay even with the T-bill rate. A credit card holder would have two choices — pay the interest or clear his balance and give up his card.

Interest rates charged by consumer finance companies would not change, but the amounts subject to various rates would be tied to the consumer price index. The result would be that 18 percent could be charged on loans up to $750 instead of $300. Small lenders also make money from acquisition charges on such loans.

Commercial loans would have a ceiling of 28 percent, but the higher ceiling would not apply to farm loans.

The bill does not apply to home mortgages. Federal law removed all state ceilings on such loans.

One provision says credit card companies may not charge interest in the first billing period after a purchase is placed on one's card.

Senators also added an amendment prohibiting lenders from discriminating on the basis of race, sex, color, religion or national origin.

Nuclear sub's name draws fire from clerics: Texans defend it

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — A larger-than-usual protest is expected Saturday when Electric Boat launches the nuclear-powered submarine Corpus Christi.

Police say they expect 1,500 to 2,000 protesters at a rally and teach-in that is scheduled outside the shipyard's gates. In addition, 5,000 to 10,000 guests are expected at the launching.

Organizers of the protest — which comes on the same day as a national campaign to gain support for nuclear arms freeze — claim as many as 3,000 people may attend because of the opposition expressed by the leaders of the Catholic church over the name chosen for the fast-attack submarine.

Many Catholics believe the choice is blasphemous. And Bishop Daniel P. Reilly of Norwich and Archbishop John F. Wheaton of Hartford have called on the Navy to change it because Corpus Christi is Latin for "body of Christ" and the vessel is designed to carry nuclear warheads, seen as a poor combination.

In addition, the bishop of the Corpus Christi diocese, Thomas Drury, expressed his opposition to the naming of the sub during mass Thursday. However, the Rev. Richard Shirley, chancellor of the diocese, said Wednesday he knows of no effort in the Texas port city to oppose the naming.

And Corpus Christi civic and elected officials have defended the name.

Mayor Luther Jones said the protest against naming the sub is "a gross miscarriage of justice against 230,000 citizens of Corpus Christi."

He added, "It is the second time that a naval vessel has carried the name, and it would be a gross discrimination against the citizens of Corpus Christi" not to have a ship named after this city.

Sen. John Tower, the Texas Republican and chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, recommended the name to the Navy and says he has no plans to ask that it be changed. He will deliver the main address at the 1 p.m. launching ceremony in the shipyard.

The demonstrators will gather at 10:45 a.m. at Fort Griswold State Park before marching the six blocks to EB.

A stand will be set up across from the main gate to the shipyard where speakers and musicians will make appearances throughout the day. Among the speakers scheduled to attend are George Wald, a Nobel Prize-winning biologist from Harvard; Randall Forsberg, director for the Institute of Defense and Disarmament; and Bishop John Burgess of the Episcopal Urban Caucus of New Haven.

The protest is scheduled to end at about 2 p.m.

11 students take aim at tuition hike

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Students against a tuition increase have implored a Senate committee not to fund the "American dream" of parents being able to afford to send their children to college.

Eleven students testified Wednesday by the large tuition hike proposed by Sen. W.E. Hulse. Hulse would only exempt their money problems in view of President Reagan's plans to reduce financial aid.

"The dream of most American families, is to be able to send their children to college. No Texan should be denied the right to attend college because he or she can't afford it," said John Taylor of the University of Texas at Austin, a student leader who also works full-time.

Sen. Don DeHolland, noted the Senate Finance Committee was still trying to cut $100 million out of its proposed budget, and he assured hundreds of students who packed the Senate chamber.

"It's not as if one group has been singled out by a punitive measure."

His proposal would double the tuition for Texas undergraduate and graduate students at state-financed schools to $3 a semester hour. Tuition for Texas dental students would be increased from $400 to $2,500 per year, and medical school tuition would rise to $3,600.

Non-Texas residents would pay $30 a semester hour. Out-of-state dental students would pay $5,000 a year and medical students $7,200.

Hulse's bill is based on recommendations by a special committee on higher education financing, which had completed its work before Reagan's education proposal became known.

Tom Keel, committee staff director, said the tuition increase was proposed as a "quick, easy solution" for obtaining construction funds for 17 colleges that have no source of bonding money.

Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, said with Reagan suggesting cuts in federal loan funds and Gov. Bill Clements wanting to raise out-of-state students are being caught in a "squeeze."

"With full implementation of Reagan's budget, approximately 60 percent to 80 percent of the families currently eligible for guaranteed student loans would not be eligible or will not find a lender to make small loans," said Texas A&M student Tommy Schwartz, the son of former Sen. A.R. "Fabe" Schwartz, Galveston.

Brian Parsley, a student at the UT medical school in Houston, predicted that 90 percent of Texas' medical students would need financial aid if Reagan's proposals are enacted.

Willie Starnes of the UT medical school at Galveston said the student division of the Texas Medical Association "supports a reasonable increase — let me emphasize, a reasonable increase." He said, however, Hulse's proposal calls for "an amount we cannot support."

Amy Johnson of Commerce, a student at UT-Austin, said the College Coordinating Board had predicted college enrollment would decline by up to 5 percent if the tuition bill is approved, with a resulting $45 million revenue loss to college towns.

Hulse, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, recessed the hearing until next Wednesday.

King led Kings gun down Rockets

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Del Harris has played, watched and coached too many basketball games to believe the home court advantage will forever remain almost non-existent. And he figures Friday night, when his Houston Rockets return home deadlocked 1-1 in their Western Conference championship series with Kansas City, would be the perfect time for the old "HCA" to reappear.

"We're happy to get the split," Harris said Wednesday after the Kings, led by 31 points from Reggie King and timely buckets by John Lambert and Ernie Grunfeld, toppled the Rockets 88-79. "We think the home court advantage still will show itself in the playoffs."

In twelve playoff games, the Rockets have won only once at home.

"Regardless of our road record, I still would rather be home, with the home crowd," he said.

Moses Malone struck for 31 points and helped bury the Kings in the series opener Tuesday night 97-98, but the Kings held the dominant center to just 18 Wednesday while King scored 21 in the first half and 10 in the second.

"I just went out there and played hard," said the 6-foot-6 power forward. "We had to win it tonight. You wouldn't want to go back to Houston 0-2. We have to control the tempo and we have to contain Moses. We have to contain him because we can't stop him."

Trailing by a point at halftime, the Kings jumped to a 61-54 advantage by outscoring the Rockets 14-6 the first six minutes of the third period. Houston got no closer than five in the fourth period.

Harris seemed miffed when questioned about Kansas City's defense of Malone. Only in one other playoff game, against San Antonio, was he held to fewer than 18.

"Hey, Moses Malone has played seven years and nobody has stopped him yet," said Harris. "If you think Moses Malone has been wiped out of the playoff picture, I'd say you're in for a surprise. Last night, it was our night. Tonight it was Kansas City's night. This is going to be an interesting series."

The Kings, still without injured guard Otis Birdsong, used only seven players.

"We played as tough as we know how," said Kings Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. "We got solid play from everybody. We played seven people and they did the job."

Lambert, a 6-10 reserve, scored 18 points, six more than his previous high this season.

Easterling says Boston interesting

Sherrill Easterling, the Howard College professor who ran in Monday's Boston Marathon, returned to the Howard College campus in one piece, although she will admit it wasn't easy.

Easterling turned in a time of three hours, five minutes in what she described as a "happening", and that is very good when considering the factors involved in running in such a complex situation.

"It was just unbelievable," said Easterling. "If you ever get the chance, you ought to go."

But Easterling also said some other things about the scene at the Boston Marathon, both positively and negatively. Readers will get the chance to hear Mrs. Easterling's thoughts and descriptions of the illustrious event and her ideas on going back and running in Sunday's Herald.

Abilene Cooper golfers 1-step from 5-5A crown

ABILENE — Abilene Cooper's number two golf team shot their way past the Cooper number one team here Tuesday afternoon to take the lead in the District 5-AAAAA golf race as the final round approaches.

Both of the Cooper teams have virtually assured themselves of spots in the Region I-AAAAA Tourney in Lubbock, as the closest competitor is San Angelo, which is 18 strokes out of second place.

Cooper's Riggins can practice, says Supe

ABILENE — Abilene Cooper running back Oscar Riggins has been allowed to work out with the Cougar football team, Abilene School Superintendent Allison Koonce said Tuesday.

Riggins, a junior who was an All-District 5-AAAAA running back last fall, was convicted of raping a six-year-old girl last summer. Nevertheless, a Grand Jury in September no-billed Riggins, and the Cougar runner rambled for over 900 yards in the final nine games of the year after missing the Brownwood opener.

An indictment was returned in December, however, and Riggins was subsequently convicted. But his status is pending due to an appeal.

"He's eligible to go to school and participate in school activities provided he's not an interruption of the educational process. That's the opinion of our lawyers. The boy has constitutional rights," said Koonce.

It remains to be seen, however, if Riggins will be able to play in September.

Buster Barnes named coach at San Angelo

SAN ANGELO — Former Big Spring Steer athlete and assistant football coach Buster Barnes has been named to the coaching staff at San Angelo Central High School.

Barnes, who was a three-year letterman for BSHS in the early 1960s in both football and baseball, will replace Tommy Moss, who also earlier served in the system in Big Spring. Moss was recently named the head football coach at Prions.

Barnes went to UTEP following graduation from Big Spring, where he was a starting linebacker for the Miners. He graduated in 1967, and received his Masters in health and physical education in 1970 from UTEP.

Barnes served as an assistant to Clovis Hale at Big Spring and at San Angelo Lake View from 1970 until 1978. At that time, he left to join the staff at Richardson Pearce.

San Angelo Head Coach Jimmie Keeling indicated that Barnes would be working on the staff as a defensive coach.

PHILADELPHIA 76ERS JULIUS ERVING — Watches as Boston Celtics Robert Parish blocks his shot during first period National Basketball Association playoff action Wednesday night at Boston Garden. The Celtics went on to down Philadelphia 118-99. The two teams are now tied in the best-of-seven series at one game apiece.

Bird, Celtics fly by Sixers

BOSTON (AP) — In a 24-hour span, the Philadelphia 76ers went from one-point winners to 9-point losers. The explanation, Coach Billy Cunningham and forward Julius Erving agreed, is simple.

"They established how they wanted to play," Erving said after Wednesday night's 118-99 National Basketball Association playoff romp by the Boston Celtics. "It would be foolish for me to really dissect what happened. We just didn't have it."

"They outplayed us in all phases," added Cunningham. "We didn't play well and they had a lot to do with it."

The Celtics' victory, one day after a 105-104 loss, evened the best-of-seven Eastern Conference championship series at one game apiece. The scene shifts to Philadelphia for games Friday night and Sunday.

The Celtics led all the way after scoring the first eight points. They broke the game open with a 14-0 burst late in the second quarter that boosted their lead to 59-41. They led 66-47 at halftime and never let Philadelphia closer than 14 points thereafter.

Larry Bird, who had 34 points and 10 rebounds Tuesday night, was deadly from the outside Wednesday night, hitting 14 of 21 shots. He scored 23 of his Celtic-high 34 in the first half and added 16 rebounds and five assists.

"What he did out there tonight was a season for some people," said Cunningham.

"They're looking to me now in this series," said Bird. "It really takes a lot of pressure off when you start hitting from the outside."

Philadelphia planned to go inside to Darryl Dawkins and Caldwell Jones. Because of poor ball movement, Cunningham said, that failed and "we were settling for 20-foot shots."

Rookie guard Andrew Toney took a lot of them. He scored 35 points and led Philadelphia in scoring for the second straight game.

"I thought we shut down their break very well and they went more one-on-one tonight than they did last night," said Boston guard Nate Archibald, who had 19 points. "We may double team guys and see what they do from there. I don't think they can win with him (Toney) scoring 30 or Doc (Erving) scoring 30. The other guys just stand around when they play one-on-one."

Boston made 52 percent of its shots, compared to 47 percent in the first game, and outrebounded Philadelphia 52-41 Wednesday night.

Although Boston Coach Bill Fitch said, "I don't think this game will have any bearing on the next," Cunningham noted, "We weren't aggressive. We weren't reaching. We weren't moving our feet on defense."

"I didn't like the way we lost," Cunningham added. "If we play in Philly the way we played tonight, we're going to get beat."

Concerning transfer Court says UIL rule unconstitutional

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court today decided the University Interscholastic League rule that barred most transfer students from playing high school football or basketball is unconstitutional and invades family privacy.

The rule was challenged by John Sullivan, who moved with his family from Vermont to Austin in 1977. Under the 1933 UIL rule, aimed at preventing recruiting of high school athletes, transfer students could not play either sport during their first year at a new school. It did not apply to seniors.

Sullivan was not allowed to play basketball at Austin Anderson High School.

While the case was on appeal, UIL members voted to abolish the rule for a two-year test period.

"Because the change is only temporary the constitutional issues surrounding this case are not moot," the court said.

Lower courts upheld the rule, but the Supreme Court today ruled in favor of Sullivan.

"First, the transfer rule is not rationally related to the purpose of deterring recruitment of high school athletes. In other words, the enforcement of the transfer rule deprives Sullivan of his Fourteenth Amendment right of equal protection," said Justice Franklin Spears' opinion.

Spears also said the rule "infringes upon Sullivan's fundamental right of familial privacy" and "infringes on his fundamental right to interstate travel."

"The UIL rule is overbroad and over-inclusive. The rule burdens many high school athletes who were not recruited and were forced to move when their family moved for employment or other reasons," said Spears.

The Sullivans moved when Joe Sullivan, John's father, was transferred.

Spears added, "The fact that there is no means of rebutting the presumption

Girl Scout Track Meet Saturday

Big Spring will again host the Area IV Girl Scout Track Meet. It will be held at Blankenship Field Saturday, April 25th. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. with the events scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m.

Over 380 girls from Big Spring, Forsan, Coahoma, Sterling City, Garden City, Lamesa, Ackerly, Stanton and Klondike will participate in the meet. Girls are asked to wear long pants and hats to prevent sunburn! A concession stand will be open.

A separate event will be held April 24 from 5-6 p.m. at Blankenship Field for all sixth grade entries. The public is welcomed.

In Legends of Golf Tournament

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Tommy Bolt and Art Wall are pitting their combined ages of 120 years against some up-and-coming youngsters in their 50s.

The pair opened the defense of their Legends of Golf title today and the short history of the fourth annual event says the determined duo will be hard-pressed to repeat.

For one thing, the 63-year-old Bolt and 57-year-old Wall will have to hold together over 72 holes this year — the first time this unique team low-ball event has had a format other than three days.

Testing the nerves and mettle of the defending champions were such high-powered, just barely over 50, teams as Arnold Palmer and Dow Finsterwald, Gene Littler and Bob Rosburg, and other talented teams such as Sam Snead and Don January and Roberto De Vicenzo and Bob Goalby and Miller Barber and Julius Boros.

Barber, Littler and Charlie Sifford are the most illustrious new names in the $410,000 tournament, which has a first place prize of $70,000 for the winners to split.

There were 21 teams with each player assured at least

Elderly defenders face tough task

$5,000 for just showing up. A player must have won a major championship, played on a Ryder Cup team or been a leading money winner.

This year, another requirement rule was added — any former PGA national senior champion is eligible to be invited, which allowed Sifford an opportunity.

Asked if he was bitter he had missed the first three tournaments, Sifford said "I'm not worried about spilled milk. I'm just glad to be here now and playing."

The $5,000 guarantee for the 58-year-old man who broke the color barrier on the PGA Tour was more than he received for any of the four PGA tournaments he won.

Sifford was teamed with Mike Souchak in the tournament, which will be nationally televised Saturday and Sunday over the final 36 holes.

Also playing for the first time were Fred Hawkins, Paul Harney, Al Balding and Henry Ransom.

All past winners were in the field, including Sam Snead and Gardner Dickinson who won the opening Legends in 1978. Dickinson is now teamed with Dan Sikes.

BENCH WARMERS — New York Yankees Dave Windfield, left, and Dennis Worth huddle under a blanket with a hot water bottle by them on the bench Monday night at New York's Yankee Stadium as the temperature dropped to 40. Windfield had a hot bat in spite of the weather and had 3 hits, as the Yankees beat the Detroit Tigers 6-2.

Twins blame slump on Oakland arms

Kansas City 0 and California 7, Seattle 3. Rain postponed the Baltimore-Chicago game.

Kingman scattered six hits through eight innings before Minetto and Jones nailed down Oakland's victory. The A's scored both their runs in the first on Dave Revering's wind-blown RBI triple and Tony Armas' run-scoring double. It was the 19th RBI this season for Armas, the major league leader.

The Twins scored their only run in the fourth when Hosken Powell singled for the first hit off Kingman and scored on John Castino's double. Al Williams took the loss despite allowing only five hits.

The Twins now have lost six in a row to Oakland, scoring only eight runs in the process.

"I don't think they rolled over us," said Minnesota center fielder Mickey Hatcher. "It was all their pitchers. They've kept us in a slump that we haven't been able to shake. We're certainly capable of scoring more runs than that. Maybe it's good that we got this slump out of the way early."

Brewers 8, Blue Jays 1

Paul Molitor hit the first grand slam homer of his major league career, the lone hit in the Brewers' five-run fifth inning, and he also singled home a run in the seventh to lead Milwaukee over Toronto.

Molitor's five RBIs helped make a winner out of Mike Caldwell, who recorded the Brewers' second consecutive complete-game victory with an eight-hitter.

Toronto starter Luis Leal had checked the Brewers on three singles before their fifth-inning rally.

"I know it's not my job to hit home runs, so that's what made it all the sweeter," said Molitor. "I was just looking for a pitch to drive and he (Joey McLaughlin) threw me a fastball right down the middle. It's the first one I hit since I played for Burlington (of the Midwest League), and I got two that year. I don't get an opportunity to do that very often."

Cubs lose to Cards again

second inning this time — to extend St. Louis' winning streak to six games and Chicago's losing streak to nine.

"That's just guys getting on base," Herr said of his league-leading 11 runs batted in. "As long as I get the hits, I'm going to drive in runs."

Herr's hitting backed the four-hit pitching of unbeaten Lary Sorensen, who extended the Cubs' string of scoreless innings to 21.

Padres 4, Giants 0

Juan Eichelberger and Gary Lucas teamed for a five-hitter and San Diego broke the game open with three runs in the eighth inning to beat the Giants.

Mike Phillips' triple and Gene Richards' single off Ed Whitson in the fifth gave the Padres the only run they needed, but they got their cushion when, with the bases loaded in the eighth, reliever Randy Moffitt threw Luis Salazar's comebacker wildly past home for two runs, and Barry Evans added a sacrifice fly.

Rangers win one for the Zimmer

BOSTON (AP) — After three days of listening to verbal abuse and boos directed at Manager Don Zimmer on his first return to Boston since being fired by the Red Sox last fall, the Texas Rangers took matters into their own hands.

The Rangers exploded for 18 hits, including a three-run homer by Buddy Bell and six doubles, and salvaged the finale of a three-game series Wednesday with a 16-8 victory over the Red Sox.

"We wanted to win one for Zimmer, Bill said in a serious tone offsetting what might have been considered a corny remark. "He's taken a lot of heat here. We were tired of hearing all the second-hand bull, such as he can't handle pitching and things like that."

"Everybody on this ball club enjoys playing for him and, after losing our first two games here, we really wanted to win one for him. He's a manager who is really for his players and we like and respect him."

The Rangers built a whopping 11-0 lead with seven runs in the first inning and four in the second. Bell, a 10-year American League veteran, helped in the first inning with a ground single to left. Later he applied the finisher with his homer in the seventh.

"Even when we got that 11-run lead we couldn't relax," Bell said. "No lead is safe in this ball-park. I played for Cleveland for eight years and I remember losing 11-run leads here. You just can't let up because of the dimensions of the park and the Boston hitters."

Bell, who says Fenway Park is "a little bit easier to hit the ball in," took over after the Red Sox had closed to within 13-8 in the sixth inning.

With runners on first and third and one out in the seventh, he drilled his first homer high into the screen in left despite a stiff wind blowing in toward home plate.

"If the ball didn't go out, I'd have to go back to the weights," the slugging third baseman said jokingly.

"That was no Fenway job," Boston Manager Ralph Houk said. "Our pitcher (Mark Clear) made a mistake. The ball was right down the middle and waist high. Bell really crushed it."

"WHAT'S HOLDING UP MY COLORIN' BOOK? I SENT IN THE BOX-TOPS TWO WHOLE DAYS AGO!"
THE FAMILY CIRCUS.

"Closer, Mommy. I can' read the bumper sticker."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, APR. 24, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Don't allow yourself the luxury of criticizing others today or tonight, or you could lose out quickly where it means the most to you. Strive for success and happiness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be sure to finish regular routines before thinking about recreation. Objectivity helps solve a situation that arises.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A situation at work could be troublesome, but be objective and you can solve it. Spend your money wisely today.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A new project needs more study before going ahead with it. Take no risks with your reputation at this time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't argue with an associate and then all will be fine in the future. Be more reassuring to loved one.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't jeopardize your financial standing by investing too heavily. Avoid one of the opposite sex who could give you trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take extra time to solve any problems you may have now and tomorrow you can carry through in a positive fashion.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Avoid taking any forceful action because you are annoyed, but profit through fine opportunities around you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may find it difficult to obtain the data you need, but don't let it frustrate you. It will soon be forthcoming.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have fine plans for advancing in career activities, but don't be too hasty in putting them in operation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try not to irk anyone in high position now, or you could regret it later. The evening can be a most happy one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You may think of seeking greener pastures now, but this could be a mistake. Use extreme caution in motion.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make long-range plans to have more abundance in the days ahead. You are able to gain a personal aim at this time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can see through most troublesome situations and know how best to handle them, so direct education along professional lines for best results. Don't neglect religious training early in life.

JEAN HARRIS PORTRAYAL — Oscar-winning actress Ellen Burstyn portrays convicted murderer Jean Harris during scene from new NBC television production "People vs. Jean Harris," which is scheduled to air May 7 and May 8. Martin Balsam, left, plays the role of Harris' attorney in the production that recreates portions of the recent trial of Harris, who was charged with the murder of "Scarsdale Diet" author Dr. Herman Tarnower.

ABC fills TV time with air

LOS ANGELES (AP) — ABC is dispensing some more placebo television, airy TV fill that carries a title and has stars and occupies a spot on the schedule but really doesn't exist at all.

The idea behind placebo television, which has become a specialty at ABC, is to fool the viewer into believing he's getting a real TV program when in fact there's nothing coming across the tube but a gelatin capsule that dissolves away under the slightest scrutiny.

You might have seen ABC's newest sugar pill, "Aloha Paradise." Then again, you probably wouldn't remember. This show, a spring trout program, wouldn't register an image if held next to a mirror.

If "Love Boat" is Muzak you can see, "Aloha Paradise" is but the illusion of Muzak you can see. It comes from Aaron Spelling, who is ABC's placebo pusher. He also makes "Love Boat," "Fantasy Island" and "Hart to Hart," which together weigh less than a butterfly jockey.

"Aloha Paradise's" non-stories flit about the edges of sitcom and drama without ever quite taking the plunge into either. Debbie Reynolds does the Ricardo Montalban-Gavin MacLeod number, playing chipper Hawaiian resort hostess to a relentless group of vacationing zombies, bloodless standard-issue TV guest stars who come equipped with problems that can be resolved painlessly in an hour.

Ray Bolger and Phil Harris appeared one week as a couple of old pals who try to snooker each other in pursuit of a dame (Harriet Nelson). The routine was much better accomplished by Spanky and Alfalfa in a 1936 "Little Rascals" short.

As in "Love Boat," the lead character is supplied with assistants, who seem to roam around the set sheepishly wondering whether they really get paid for this. One of them is Bill Daly, the hilarious, classic goof from the old "Bob Newhart Show." His act is reduced to imbecility here.

One of the little vignettes involved Daly's visiting nephew, a 24-year-old millionaire whose success inspired this line from envious Uncle Curtis:

"I'm 41 and all I own is five shirts and a toaster."

Such gems routinely send the laughtrack machine into convulsions. They may do the same for Daly's career.

Farm Agriculture Department accused of waste in school lunch plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee on small business is looking into allegations that the Agriculture Department is following cumbersome and sometimes wasteful procedures in buying food commodities for donation to school lunch programs.

Rep. Andy Ireland, D-Fla., chairman of the panel, said Wednesday he will begin hearings next week on the role of small businesses in the department's commodity procurement process.

"Small businesses have complained to the subcommittee that there is a lack of competition for and growing concentration in the bid awards made by the USDA for meat, poultry, fruit and vegetable buys made," Ireland said.

"They also have told me that the same problem exists in the processing of USDA commodities. As a result, I have scheduled several hearings to explore this issue."

Ireland said two days of hearings will be held on April 28-29. Witnesses will include school board members, school food service directors and several small-business operators.

A subcommittee staff member said at least one more day has tentatively been added for sometime next month to give Agriculture Department officials, including Secretary John R. Block, an opportunity to testify.

Currently, the department spends about $1 billion a year on a wide variety of food commodities which it then donates to schools, nursing homes and other institutional programs.

A background paper accompanying Ireland's announcement included a list of allegations that the subcommittee's staff gleaned from interviews with small-business people, food service officials and others.

The allegations charges that the Agriculture Department:

—Buys frozen ground pork and frozen ground beef in 55-pound blocks when the commercial trade sells the same product in tubes weighing 10-15 pounds. The physical requirements of handling such blocks are a problem.

—Buys whole turkeys, several 20-pound turkeys to a case. Most school districts can't use whole turkeys because they are labor-intensive. So they must be processed.

—Ships raisins to school districts in 1.3-ounce boxes. "Can you imagine the labor cost of opening several hundred such boxes to use the raisins in baking? Once again, school districts would still use raisins but not the way the USDA supplies them."

'Madness of Two' responsible for couple's self-destruction

By WAYNE SLATER
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER
CAMBRIDGE, Ill. (AP) — They disappeared sometime after daybreak, leaving a stack of love letters and their last chance behind them.

He was a doctor, a one-time honor student and Air Force flight surgeon with impeccable credentials. She once taught Sunday school.

Roger and Sharon Ihrig were young, bright and full of promise. And now they were on the run, again.

where the earth lies as flat as a billiard table. He earned his medical degree from Kansas University in 1974 and served his internship in the Air Force at Alamogordo, N.M.

"I've seen his Air Force records, 120 pages," Haake said. "He stepped into responsible positions that in the past had three or four physicians, and he would do the job all by himself. And at the same time he would improve efficiency, improve patient relations and get nothing but outstanding comments."

Six feet tall, with sandy-colored hair, he jogged for health and read mysteries for fun. He joined the Elks and the Masons.

But about 1979, it all began to fall apart. His seven-year marriage soured and by Christmas, occasional injections of Benadryl, an antihistamine with sedative side effects, on sleepless nights had become a twice-a-day habit, police say he told them.

He tried to start a private practice. He failed. He went to San Diego and joined the Navy. He was divorced. His wife got custody of their two sons. Shortly after that, he married Sharon Espinosa, 22, twice-married and someone who "gives me strength," he told police.

When he injected Benadryl, she injected Valium or a hypnotic pain killer, Stadol. They loved each other, fed off each other and were destroying each other.

Mild earthquake hits California

WESTMORLAND, Calif. (AP) — A mild earthquake measuring 3.4 on the Richter scale rumbled through the Imperial Valley Tuesday night but caused no damages or injuries, authorities reported.

The epicenter was located about six miles north of this Imperial County community at 10:28 p.m. PST, said Dennis Meredith, spokesman for the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena.

Westmorland is located about 30 miles north of the Mexican border.

In the nearby community of Brawley, a police spokeswoman said, "We just barely felt it. It wasn't really bad." She said there were no reports of injuries or damages in the area.

The Imperial Valley was hit by a major quake in late 1979 that registered 6.5 on the Richter scale. Damages at the time were estimated at $18 million. In El Centro, which is the largest community in the valley, two dozen buildings — most in the downtown business district — had to be condemned.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. An earthquake of 4 can cause moderate damage in a local area, while a quake of 5 is capable of considerable damage.

From his cell, Ihrig wrote to Judge Jay Hanson, acknowledging he needed treatment, saying he wanted to straighten out his life, suggesting he might enter a seminary. In March, after four months in jail, they were released to the custody of Riverside Center, a drug rehabilitation center in Rock Island.

When Roger learned his wife had been arrested, he filled a syringe with Benadryl, stuck the needle in his arm and then walked to the police station. "He was dressed in a sports coat, white shirt and tie that looked like they had been slept in for days," police said.

When Roger slipped off his jacket, everyone in the station saw that Dr. Roger Ihrig's right shirt sleeve was soaked with fresh blood.

"I look at all the potential he had," said his lawyer, Dale Haake of Rock Island. "Somewhere, something happened."

Exactly what happened is not clear. But the picture emerging from police and military records and reports from former colleagues is of an attractive, gifted young man who had everything, and lost it all.

Ihrig was born 31 years ago, the son of a wheat farmer in Goodland, Kan.,

RAISING CANES — Workmen plant a "forest" of walking sticks recently in the gardens at the rear of Hotel Oks Krijland in the small town of Epen in Holland's southern Limburg Province. The owners don't expect them to grow, of course — they are given free to all visitors to the hotel to celebrate its 50th anniversary.

Bradlee: No newspaper is safe with pathological liar on staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The executive editor of the Washington Post said today that no newspaper is safe from hoax stories if a pathological liar joins its writing staff.

Responding to questions about the fabricated story of an 8-year-old drug addict that won the Pulitzer Prize for Post reporter Janet Cooke, Benjamin Bradlee said no rule in the newsroom could have protected the newspaper.

check every single fact by every reporter, you are not going to put out a daily newspaper, you are going to put out a monthly newspaper."

Last week's disclosure that Miss Cooke had invented the central character of "Jimmy's World" and that the Post had returned her Pulitzer was the talk of the annual editors' convention.

house of Watergate investigations. The story was a lie."

Bradlee, responding to questions from his seat in the audience, called "baloney" the suggestions that race and the Post's affirmative action program had something to do with the breakdown of the newspaper's internal checks in connection with the story.

"Where race came into this question has to do with the white editors," he said.

"Editors have only a limited number of worlds in which they consider themselves well qualified."

"Onkonclusion I've reached is that you cannot legislate, you cannot make a rule that is going to prevent, preserve you, save you from a pathological liar," Bradlee told a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Miss Cooke resigned her job and has declined to discuss the matter.

"Eventually you are going to have to trust somebody," Bradlee said. "If you have a rule that makes an editor check every single fact by every reporter, you are not going to put out a daily newspaper, you are going to put out a monthly newspaper."

Siboney's net income rises

For the year ended Dec. 31, 1980, Siboney Corp. reported revenues of $26,142,000, a $3.5 million increase over the revenues realized in the year 1979. Pre tax income amounted to $25,000 compared with a loss of $972,000 the previous year. Net income in 1980 was a loss of $84,000 compared to a loss of $445,000 in 1979, which was net of a $425,000 extraordinary gain in the extinguishment of debt.

which in a material way offset the gains of the asphalt business.

The anticipated improvements in revenues and earning from coal mining and oil production did not come up to expectations in 1980. Coal mining operations on the Company's properties in Kentucky have been temporarily discontinued since about mid year due to depressed prices for soft coal. The rate of progress in reactivating abandoned oil wells on the leases in Texas in which the Company has a 50 percent interest has been slower than expected.

Why UPS can't pick up this package in Texas and deliver it in Texas. And what we're trying to do about it.

A SERIOUS PROBLEM

For thousands of Texans, not being able to use UPS for Texas parcels is a serious problem. A hardware wholesaler in Dallas, for example, can't supply a store in Longview, Texas, as promptly or economically as a competitive wholesaler in Shreveport, Louisiana, can.

The Tony Lama Boot Company in El Paso spends extra time and money trucking parcels into New Mexico. UPS is then permitted to take them back into Texas for distribution.

WE'D LIKE YOUR HELP

The Texas Legislature is now discussing a bill which would clarify the authority of the Texas Railroad Commission (the agency that regulates transportation matters) to consider requests such as ours to provide service to and from all points in Texas.

We think this bill would be a step forward, and we'd like to see it pass. If you agree with us, a note to your Senator and Representative in the Texas Legislature could be very helpful.

For more information, please get in touch with us at the address below.

United Parcel Service
Dept. U, 4255 L.B.J. Freeway
Dallas, Texas 75234

*Exception: UPS does pickup and deliver packages within the exempt local commercial zones surrounding Dallas/Fort Worth, Houston, and San Antonio.

Every day, people in Texas ask us to deliver packages for them to other places in Texas. Unfortunately, we have to refuse.

The reason is, UPS does not have intrastate operating authority in Texas.

We can carry a parcel from Texas, to any address in the continental United States — except to another address in Texas.

To change that, we've been requesting intrastate authority in Texas for some years.

WHAT UPS OFFERS

You might ask, why change anything? Can't people use other carriers for their Texas parcels, like US Parcel Post?

Of course they can.

But thousands of locations in Texas do not now have prompt, dependable, door-to-door parcel service — the kind UPS is known for.

We pick up and deliver at any address in Texas, every business day, if that's what's called for.

We provide proof-of-delivery, automatic loss or damage protection up to $100 per package, and many other services.

And we do it economically, as little as $13 for a one-pound package going up to 150 miles. COD service is also available.

Son of Texas GOP chairman found dead on family ranch

MINERAL WELLS, Texas (AP) — The son of the Texas Republican Party Chairman apparently slipped off a cliff, accidentally discharging a shotgun blast that struck him in the head and killed him, investigators said.

Richard Lee Upham, 24, was found Monday afternoon in a wooded area on his father's ranch about five miles from this North Texas city, said Palo Pinto County sheriff's officers.

Chester Upham, active in state Republican politics, is a local oilman.

A family spokesman said the son left home Sunday to go skeet shooting on the ranch and didn't return home the following day.

The spokesman said the elder Upham began searching by helicopter for his son Monday when the young man failed to report to work and spotted his vehicle, officials said.

Sgt. Harmon Watts said a 12-gauge shotgun was found under the body and skeet shooting equipment was set up nearby. Upham had been shot in the right shoulder and right side of the head, he said.

Upham had been standing on the edge of a rock cliff when he apparently slipped, discharging the gun, officials said.

The body was sent to the Dallas County medical examiner for an autopsy.

Funeral services were scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday at First Christian Church of Mineral Wells.

Business world very mixed on future of interest rates

NEW YORK (AP) — Sometime this summer American consumers and producers are going to learn where those volatile, costly, hard-to-predict, near-record-high interest rates are headed.

And when they do, a now fuzzy economic portrait is going to assume the appearance of a sharply focused picture. Relatively speaking, anyway.

Right now the scene is cluttered up. The prime rate, falling since last December, recently reversed direction. Home mortgage rates are heading higher too. But some short-term Treasury bills have declined.

If you ask the people who make a living in those markets, you will find that their feelings are as mixed as the market's.

David Barry of Manufacturers Hanover Trust feels the prime rate may fall by summer, probably to 15 percent from its current 17.5 percent. Despite recent increases, Barry's expectation is widely shared.

So is the other view. Says William Sullivan Jr. of The Bank of New York, "dramatic progress toward lower interest rates seems improbable, and continued challenges on the upside seem likely."

Such mixed markets and mixed feelings seldom persist very long, if only because economic decisions aren't indefinitely post-ponable. Sooner or later borrowers make decisions, and rates rise or fall.

Like some of their counterparts who deal with corporations, many home mortgage lenders feel a decision won't wait beyond this summer, and some are convinced that rates will fall. Both real estate organizations and the U.S. League of Savings Associations have such expectations.

Other researchers, such as Sindlinger & Co., a Media, Pa., data firm, think such notions are absurd. Sindlinger has gone so far as to refer to "any sucker who still thinks interest rates are to come down."

Sullivan observes that the pressure for higher rates will remain "as long as the markets are confronted with high inflation, a generally restrictive monetary policy and continued gains in economic activity."

So indistinct are the trends, however, that analysts reviewing the same material can see the economy moving in different directions.

This summer, the analysts are saying, could be when the minds of potential borrowers are made up — about the Reagan administration, about the economy, about their own pocketbooks and their own needs.

The current impasse cannot last, they say. And, many of them add, it won't.

They expect the decision and the direction will come this summer.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, APRIL 23, 1981

Heavy rains pose problems in Knott County roads damaged

By CAROL HART
The most widespread rains of 1981 hit the Big Spring area Tuesday, posing problems for motorists, washing out several roads, and flooding an area the county has been trying to drain for months.

County Judge Bill Tune advised that the Ward and Pirkle Lakes, water buildups which accumulated during September and have posed a problem for residents near Knott ever since, are again flowing over county roads in the Knott area.

In September, heavy rains caused extensive flooding, which saw houses swamped with water and driving over certain roads made impossible. Now, "Pirkle Lake caught another foot of water," Tune said. He added that Ward Lake is also up over the road. Culverts in the area were also damaged.

"The Road and Bridge department crews are out checking" roads today, Tune said. "There was fairly heavy damage to roads in some areas" throughout the county.

Pumping efforts in the area, which have been under way several months, had been halted recently because the pumps were broken down, Tune said.

High water and dangerous traveling conditions were called in to county authorities following the downpour Tuesday.

Howard County Sheriff's department officials were advised that a bridge, located on Highway 669 six miles south of Gail, had washed out during the heavy rain.

Traffic was also blocked on the road to Vealmoor, as heavy rains made driving there impossible for a while. Road crews were summoned to put down barricades at the flooded areas.

High water was reported east of Coeden on the north and south service roads, and the Lake Way Grocery exit off interstate 20 was reportedly flooded for awhile.

Scurry County officials also called local authorities to report that high water and dangerous conditions were prevalent on Highway 350 one mile north of the old Howard County airport. Extensive damage was also reported on the first paved road north of Pinkies that goes from North 87 to the Gail Road.

The official rainfall for Big Spring, as recorded at the U.S. Experiment Station, located north of town, was 1.45 inches, bringing the year's total to 5.92 inches.

That's more than double the average for the year—2.90 inches.

1.8 inches fell at the Luther Gin northeast of Big Spring. On the Blessingame place 1.25 miles south of the Luther gin, 2.4 inches of rain was measured. Heaviest rainfall was reported at Ackerly, 23 miles northwest of Big Spring. Up to 4.5 inches of rain fell there.

The Glasscock County Agent's office reported two inches of rain, and Coahoma reported 2.5 inches. At Sand Springs, a resident living there reported that 3.3 inches of rain fell in 30 minutes time.

Knott reported 2.5 inches, the Planter's Gin at Lomax reported 2.5 inches of rain.

Westerman are predicting a chance of more rain through today.

Fire officials nearly lose truck putting out local blaze

Local Fire Department officials nearly lost a truck while putting out a blaze in a Howard County residence that may have been started by an arsonist, said Fire Marshal Carl Dorton, this morning.

The fire was reported, 3:02 p.m. Tuesday, at a home on the north end of Carey belonging to R.N. Del Bosque. The home is just outside the city limits, said Dorton.

"The fire started in the southwest bedroom of the home, and we are investigating the possibility of arson," said Dorton, today. "Luckily there wasn't much damage."

Although the fire itself was fairly routine, getting to it wasn't. Firefighters were forced to cross a bridge spanning a small creek to reach the home, and the bridge collapsed as the fire truck crossed it, said the fire marshal.

"We almost lost the truck," he added.

In order to move the truck, firefighters dumped the tank of water it was carrying, reinforced the bridge, and drove on to fight the fire. Dorton stated that the truck retained enough water to do the job, but if extra water had been needed, it could have been pumped from the creek. "The police and fire departments did an excellent job in responding to the fire. In those weather conditions, it could have been considered a real emergency situation, and I am very pleased with the job that was done," said City Manager Don Davis, this morning.

Jean Jenkins leading First Lady contest

Others among the top 20 in the race for the honor, in the appointed order, are Brenda Moore, Becky McCauley, Ann Drake, Agnes Currie, Loma Jean Wynn, Evelyn Vise, Helen Segrest, Linda Cathey and Donna Carey.

Then comes Deloris Albert, Sue Armstrong, Cindy Frank, Lillian Rhyne, Darlene Brooks, Frances Hendricks, Marilyn Newsom, Nola Story, Sandra Haney and Ann Sheedy.

HC Presidential Award goes to Forsan soph

Beth Boeker, a sophomore from Forsan, was honored with the Presidential Award for Outstanding Student of the Year during Tuesday night's 1980-81 Howard County Junior College District's Annual Awards Convocation.

Dr. Charles Hays, president of the HCJCD, presented Miss Boeker with the award. The award is given to the student who best exemplifies the personality, character, and ability, which when combined, make an excellent leader and student for the District.

Dr. Douglas Burke, district vice-president for SWCID, presented awards for the Outstanding Preparatory Student to Teresa Eckstein of Berryville, Ark., and to Vicki Fawcett of Hope, Ark., for the Most Outstanding SWCID Student.

Presenting the Wall Street Journal Award, a trophy given to the outstanding business student, was Ralph Smith, business instructor at Howard College. Recipient of the award was Connie Garcia, sophomore from Big Spring.

Another prestigious award presented was the American Legion Citizenship Award, which was presented by Dr. Halvard T. Hansen to Sherrie Daniel, SWCID student from South Gate, Cal., and Mike Evans, sophomore from Big Spring.

Receiving awards for academic excellence were Karen Hahn, A.D.N.; Sharon Dwire, Business; Lana Schooler, English; Nickie Billingsley, Science; Frankie Noyola, Art; Jason Moore, Chemistry; Debra Woods, Health & P.E.; Vonda Wyrre, Mid-Management; Cliff Bodiford, Trade & Industrial; Sarah De Groff and Victoria Berry, Biology; Judith Rickey, Computer Programming; Dwight Heins, Journalism; Jack Nixon and Andrian Ornelas, Music; and Nat Nunez, head, Phi Theta Kappa; Math. Outstanding members of the various organizations of the District were also recognized. They were: Thistles; Byron Lewis and Herbert Moore, Baptist Charles Doan, OEA; and Student Union; Carol More-Leslie Williams, TNSA.

LEVELLAND — For the seventh year, South Plains College here will host University Interscholastic League competition for Region I, Conference A, the largest UIL region in Texas.

About 1,600 young participants and about 2,000 sponsors and spectators from a quarter of the state will converge on Levelland beginning Tuesday for 14 days of competition.

The schedule of competition follows: girls golf, April 21-22, 9 a.m. both days, Levelland Country Club; one-act play, 3 p.m. April 23; SPC Theater, for the Performing Arts, all literary events, 9:30 a.m. April 24, various buildings; girls tennis, April 23-24, 9:30 a.m. both days, SPC tennis court; girls track and field, April 24-25, 3 p.m. April 24, 10 a.m. April 25, SPC track field; boys golf, April 28-29, 9 a.m. both days, Levelland Country Club; boys tennis, April 30-May 1, 9:30 a.m. both days, SPC tennis courts; and boys track and field, 3 p.m. May 1, 10 a.m. May 2, SPC track field.

UIL Region I-A stretches from Texline in the north to Sanderson near the Mexican border, from El Paso in the west to Water Valley, near San Angelo. A total of 89 cities and towns in eight districts are represented.

Nathan Tubb, vice president of academic affairs at SPC, will serve for the seventh year as director general of the meet. Contest directors are W.A. Wise, director of UIL athletics; Clint Ramsey, boys and girls track and field; Jerry Barton, boys tennis; Larry Roberts, girls tennis; John

Cancer Crusade game slated

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado City's Cancer Crusade Society will wind up its year's fund drive at 7 p.m., Friday in the Middle School Gymnasium with a basketball game featuring talent recruited from across the state.

The Grease Guns, a local men's basketball team, will shoot to win against Hart's Hoopers, consisting of coaches and administration members from Colorado City's schools.

The teams graciously have agreed to support the Cancer Crusade cause by playing a fast and furious game to its or their finish.

The Pink Ladies from Root Memorial Hospital will be handling the concessions stand.

Suspect posts $10,000 bail

Robert Glen Askew was transferred to county jail Tuesday following his arrest on a charge of felony criminal mischief.

Askew, 38, of 203 A. Benton St., was released on a $10,000 bail set by Judge Lewis Heflin, and posted by Ike's Bail Bonding.

IN PLAY — Russ Taymblyn will star in "Here Lies Jeremy Troy," at the County Squire Dinner Theatre in Odessa April 21 through May 21. Taymblyn has appeared in "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," "West Side Story," "Peyton Place," and several MGM musicals. Parade deadline extended

Due to an overwhelming response by the local area, the deadline for submitting an entry in the Centennial Parade has been extended to May 15. The parade, which will be held on Monday, May 25, is scheduled to begin at 4 p.m. in downtown Big Spring.

Approximately 80 entries have been received for the Centennial Parade, making it the largest parade to be held in Big Spring's history. Following the large number of entries, the committee decided to extend the deadline to allow more individuals, groups, and organizations to participate in the parade.

All individuals and groups interested in entering a float, marching band or musical group, walking group, horse-animal stock, motorized vehicle, or other items, are asked to contact either Lynn Hise at the Big Spring High School or Dr. Charles Hays at Howard College.

Trustees add program

COAHOMA — Coahoma school trustees voted Monday at their regular meeting to add a computer program to the high school curriculum. The board will take bids on the machines for the course.

In other action, the trustees authorized the taking of bids for the Building Trades house when it is completed, authorized the purchase of a Toro 52-inch riding lawnmower, complete with grass catcher; approved paying tuition costs for three Awake students who will be attending the summer workshop at Texas Tech University in Lubbock, approved the assignment of Danella Souter to the junior high Gifted and Talented program and gave their blessings for the annual Senior Trip. The destination this year will be Six Flags Over Texas amusement park May 15-16.

In other business, the trustees assigned a committee to work with the school superintendent on the possible repair of school houses, named a group to work with the superintendent on a material selections policy for the school library, and set up a budget work session for next Monday at 8 p.m.

Supt. Richard Souter said that 96 percent of the current tax roll had been collected, leaving a total of $81,000 on the current tax roll.

Voting on the board of directors for the Education Service Center in Midland was completed. A vacancy exists in the school's maintenance department. Anyone interested in the position should contact the school superintendent's office.

Christopher to remain as chairman

Chris Christopher, chairman of the board at O.I.L., will retain that title under the new arrangement. He noted, during Friday's press conference, that no administrative changes would be made due to the acquisition of the company.

"Eventually, due to growth, there will be an influx of middle management people. But Kidde likes to let its companies run pretty independently," said Christopher.

He also noted that Dallas offices of O.I.L. would be shut down, and the company's central headquarters will be located here. There is a possibility, he added, that Grove Crane, a subsidiary of Kidde, would open and maintain a facility here in the future if space allows.

"That would mean 200 to 300 additional employees," said Christopher.

Karmelkorn Shoppe plans to open

Plans to open the Karmelkorn Shoppe in Big Spring Mall, have been jointly announced by Aimbinder-Bramalea Shopping Centers of Houston and A.L. Tunick, Chairman of the Board of Karmelkorn Shoppes, Inc.

In addition to its original Karmelkorn popcorn candy, the 540 foot shop will also feature such goodies as Homemade Kitchen Kandies, Cheesekorn, sculptured popcorn novelties, edible centerpieces, party snacks and novelty items made to order.

Karmelkorn was first introduced to the public in 1929 in Casper, Wyo. Now headquartered in Rock Island, Ill., Karmelkorn's Big Spring Mall location will boost its number of stores to 251.

A unique feature of the Karmelkorn Shoppe is that customer space is designed so that product preparation may be observed.

Karmelkorn will open along with JC Penney, Beall's, the already existing Kmart and some 30 other shops in Big Spring Mall located at the intersection of FM 700 and Birdwell Lane. The mall is scheduled to open in the early Spring of 1982.

Specific leasing information for additional space available in Big Spring Mall should be directed to Alan Smith, Aimbinder-Bramalea Shopping Centers, 5850 San Felipe Suite 500, Houston, 77057. Telephone 713-978-7800.

Steer girls prep for regionals at Monahans

MONAHANS — The Big Spring girls track team finished fourth among 18 teams in the Monahans Regional Qualifiers Meet here Friday night, while the Steer boys finished in the fifth spot in their Class AAAAA division in preparation for their 5-AAAAA Meet next week.

The Steer girls 66 points was accomplished despite the fact that the BSHS team could take only six girls into action. That was because those six were all the regional qualifiers the Big Springers had after finishing second in the 5-AAAAA Girls Meet last Friday.

Those six competed in eight events, and Coach Micki Fitzhugh was most pleased with the results, especially the 800-meter relay quartet of Carla Jackson, Shell Rutledge, Linda Magers and Paula Spears. They breezed to a third place finish of 1:45.2 behind Monahans and Odessa Ector after setting a season best of 1:44.2 in the preliminaries.

"That's about the second or third best in our region," said Fitzhugh, "so if we can do that next week there will be a good chance that we can advance."

As usual, Carla Jackson was the leading Steer girl in producing points and in the meet. Besides anchoring the 800-meter relay team, Jackson won both the triple jump and long jump, as well as finishing second in the 100.

Elise Wheat copped a second place in the discus and a third in the shot put, while Rutledge finished second in the 200-meter dash.

The other Steer girls points came in the mile relay quartet of Janet Fleckenstein, Magers, Wheat and Spears, who combined for a 4:18.4.

Fitzhugh also noted that both of Jackson and Wheat's lengths in their field events were less than their average, but that was due to the weather. "Considering the weather," she stated, "I thought Carla and Elise had very good days."

Big Spring's Edwin Matthews looked to be recovering from a muscle pull in his thigh in the boys division, winning the long jump with a leap of 21-8, and finishing fourth in the high jump at 6-2, and fourth in the 110-hurdles with a time of 15.5.

The Big Spring sprint relay ran a time of 43.6 for fourth place, and the 1600-meter relay managed a 3:26.7 and a fifth place finish.

5-AAAAA baseball a rainy scene

Abilene High and Midland Lee opened their District 5-AAAAA second half slates with wins Tuesday afternoon, while four teams had to wait once more as rain was the biggest victor of the day.

Abilene High used a four-hitter by Mike Hargesheimer, who also struck out 10 hitters, in taking a 6-0 win over Odessa Permian.

Abilene scored three runs in the first inning to get all of the runs they would need. The Eagles rapped out 10 hits in the game.

Meanwhile, the Midland Lee Rebels took advantage of a five-hitter by Bill Dern and six San Angelo errors to score an 8-1 win. Dern also had three hits for the Rebels, who can gain a share of the first half with Abilene and Abilene Cooper by beating crosstown rival Midland in a make-up game.

The games between Big Spring vs. Midland and Odessa vs. Cooper will have to be rescheduled. The Steers and Bulldogs never got started, but that wasn't the case involving Cooper and Odessa.

Odessa led 1-0 in the top of the fifth when rain forced postponement of their contest. Rules say that five innings must be played in order for the contest to count.

Student-parent golf set Saturday

The Big Spring Booster Club is sponsoring a Scotch-Twosome golf tournament for any area student-parent team in high school or junior high on Saturday, April 25 at the Comanche Trail Golf Course.

The Booster Club is inviting students from Big Spring, Forsan, Coahoma, Sands, Grady, Stanton, and any others that are interested.

The entry fee will be 12 dollars per team, with an assortment of trophies and prizes being given at the conclusion.

The reason for the unique student-parent format is that the Booster Club is hoping to raise money for its Spring Banquet, which is set for May 5.

BSCC Partnership this weekend

The Big Spring Country Club is hoping for more entries than have come in as their annual Partnership Tournament gets closer.

The entry fee for the tournament, set for April 25-26, is 70 dollars per team. Included in that fee will be a barbecue and dance for all contestants and their wives on Saturday night.

Flights will not be determined until after the first day. Club Pro C.G. Griffin also explained that there will be an optional scratch flight for all interested golfers for an additional 15 dollars.

Tournament Chairman is Jerry Foresyth. For more information on the tourney, call 267-5354.

2nd Annual Y Racquetball nearing

The Big Spring YMCA will host its 2nd Annual Spring Invitational Racquetball Tournament on Friday through Sunday, May 8-10. The tournament will be conducted on both the YMCA courts and at Garrett's gym.

Entry fee is 15 dollars per person for the singles division, and 20 dollars per person for the doubles division. A match will consist of the best two out of three games to 15 points.

Besides the trophies awarded to first, second and consolation winners, all players will receive collared shirts.

The entry deadline is April 28.

Felicia Ford, 16, 424 Edwards, was crowned 1981 Texas Miss T.E.E.N. Saturday night at the Sheraton Hotel in Dallas. Miss Ford was also among the top 10 in talent and was chosen Miss Photogenic.

Felicia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V.P. Dunbar and Roy Ford of Big Spring and is listed among the Distinguished American High School Students of America.

Tamara Hext, Vidor, the 1980 Miss T.E.E.N., crowned Miss Ford who competed among 117 contestants from throughout the state.

The first runner-up to Miss Ford was Melissa Paxton, Garland; second runner-up, Bobbie Cox, Seminole; third runner-up, Paula Lang, Richardson and fourth runner-up, Lisa Payne, Dallas.

Felicia won, among other things, a $1,000 cash award and a trip to the National Finals in Albuquerque, N.M. in December 1981 to compete for the National Title of Miss T.E.E.N. This event will open New Mexico's Fiesta Encantada. Among prizes to be awarded at the National Pageant this year are $15,000 in scholarship and awards, $2,000 personal appearance contract and a $2,000 wardrobe.

Contestants participating in the Texas State Pageant had to have "B" or better school grade averages. Each of the young ladies also donated their time to Volunteer Service Work in their communities to fulfill the requirement of 12 hours for the Miss T.E.E.N. Pageant Volunteer Service Program.

Contestants in the State Pageant were judged on personal appearance, poise, personality, scholastic and civic achievements and speech or talent.

Dear Abby

Bowlegged Teen Wants Straight Answer

DEAR ABBY: I've never seen my problem mentioned in your column. I'm bowlegged. I am 18 and not a bad-looking guy, but there's a separation of about five inches between my knees when I stand up straight.

I am so self-conscious about this that I'm afraid to ask a girl for a date. My parents tell me not to worry about it, but I can't help feeling inferior and deformed. I even went to a doctor and asked him if something could be done, and he just laughed at me.

Abby, do you know of any bone specialist who could break my legs and reset them? Or maybe put my legs in braces to straighten them out? Or am I too old for that? I would do just about anything to have straight legs like other guys.

Please don't tell me to thank God that I can walk. (Everybody tells me that.) I am praying that you won't let me down.

BOWLEGGED AND MISERABLE

DEAR BOWLEGGED: You have a problem that is far more serious than bowed legs. It's the way you perceive yourself. Please see a psychologist or psychiatrist. He (or she) will not laugh at you. Your thinking, not your legs, needs straightening out. In the meantime, consider this "prayer":

"God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference."

DEAR ABBY: How does a person get a letter to you? Our newspaper never prints your address. Also, do I have to sign my name in order to be answered in your column?

WONDERING IN HONG KONG

DEAR WONDERING: Write to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. And you need not sign your name. Because column space is limited, obviously every letter will not appear in print.

DEAR ABBY: I loved your answer to the Minneapolis man who was embarrassed by the loud laughter of his ladyfriend whenever they went to a comedy. (You said, "Hearty explosive laughter is characteristic of an uninhibited, outgoing personality — a healthy plus.")

For 25 years, my sister-in-law told me to "hold it down" every time I laughed in public. Even when others around us were laughing more loudly than I, I was told to "tone down" or "be quiet." (Sometimes she wasn't that polite.) It put a damper on my spirits and spoiled my fun, so as much as I like this sister-in-law, I have quit going places with her.

I can't help how I laugh. People have told me I sound like Phyllis Diller. Well, I take that as a compliment, as she seems to be a lady who enjoys life to the fullest and isn't afraid to be herself.

LOVES TO LAUGH IN NORWALK

(Problem? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply, write to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Growth prospects good

OIL assets acquired

Contracts have been entered between Oilfield Industrial Liens Inc. (OIL) and Kidde Inc., effecting an acquisition of OIL by Kidde, Charles S. Christopher, chairman of the board for OIL, announced here Friday afternoon.

OIL, which operates in the Big Spring Industrial Park, manufactures oil field equipment, principally rigs.

Christopher explained that while the acquisition will result in no administrative changes at the local manufacturing facility, it will result in a more rapid increase in numbers of employees as production increases. Employment is anticipated to rise from the present 350 to 500 by the end of the year and 700 during 1982. The new relationship will rank O.I.L., Inc., among the most stable and credible oil-energy related industries in the world. It will enable growth projections to occur at a much faster rate than previously anticipated, and afford the realization of two of the largest and most elaborately equipped machine shops in the south-west.

The machine shops — West Texas Machine & Tool Oil marketers draw terms

TULSA, Okla. — Abilene oil marketers John Troland and David Ratliff were sentenced to 14 months in federal prison and fined $10,000 each for misappropriation of oil in 1979.

Pleas for probated terms made by the two men were rejected by U.S. District Judge James O. Ellison. Troland and Ratliff were ordered to report to prison May 5.

The two were accused of selling the lower priced oil to a Tulsa company, PBM Ltd.

20 scholars are inducted

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Induction of 20 new members into the National Honor Society of Colorado High School were held Tuesday morning in the high school auditorium.

Tom Rees, attorney and former president of the school board, was the speaker, with Kelly Dockrey, president of the Honor Society, presiding.

Students inducted into the outstanding academic group were:

Tot killed by terrier

SUNDOWN — Kelly B. Brown, age 2, who wandered away from home Monday afternoon, was attacked and killed by a neighbor's dog.

He walked within reach of a pit bull terrier at the home of Charles Cotton and the dog mauled him, according to Sundown chief of police D.L. Phipps.

Justice of Peace Ted Clark ruled the death accidental. The child suffered severe bites all over his body. The animal's range was limited to 30 feet by a chain attached to his neck.

Kelly was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brown.

Man to serve time in prison

Mark Kelvin Watson, 26, of No. 3 September Lane, was transferred to county jail and held without bond Monday, following a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Watson's probation was revoked following the charge.

James Michael Hobbs, 31, of San Angelo, was returned to Howard County jail from the sheriff's office, Colorado City, on a warrant from Howard County. He is being held without bond, and his probation has been revoked.

(WIMT) and Oilfield Equipment Manufacturers (OEM) — will manufacture swivels, blocks and hooks, centrifugal force and piston driven mud pumps, draw works and compounds, crowns and sheaves, rotary tables and chain driven sprockets. O.E.M. will manufacture the major components and W.T.M.T. will manufacture the smaller elements. Total employment for the two machine shops is anticipated to be 200 to 250 by year's end. The final result will be O.I.L., Inc., fulfilling its slogan of manufacturing everything "from the ground to the crown", with the exception of power.

Christopher also announced the possibility of Kidde, Inc.'s, Division of Grove Crane Manufacturing, locating a manufacturing facility in Big Spring. Gratitude was expressed to those persons in the community who supported and encouraged the development of the company since its inception in Big Spring eight months ago, and especially to the employees for their dedication during O.I.L.'s rapid growth.

Kidde, Inc., reported sales to stockholders of over $2.5 billion for 1980 and employs some 50,000 persons both nationally and internationally.

Poet laureate to be honored

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Weems S. Dykes, poet laureate of Texas, will be honored at 7:30 p.m., Thursday by the Colorado City Chapter of the Poetry Society of Texas.

Weems will discuss having been selected poet laureate and will read some of his works. Currently, Weems is minister of the First Christian Church of McCamey.

The public is invited to attend this special event, which will be held in the C.C. Thompson Room.

ON WAIKIKI BEACH — Winner of the First Lady competition in the Big Spring Centennial Celebration will receive a trip for two to the Holiday Inn at Waikiki Beach in Honolulu, Hawaii, for a week. The trip includes round trip air fare, hotel accommodations, $500 expense money, and a three piece set of American Tourister luggage. Interested individuals may vote for the First Lady candidate of their choice by purchasing tickets to the centennial "Iron Horse Revue" from that contestant.

Steel industry booming in Sunbelt states

By JACK FISCHER
States News Service
WASHINGTON — The steel industry is booming — if you know where to look. It's not Bethlehem, Pittsburgh or the other traditional steel regions in the Northeast. The future of the industry is largely in the Sunbelt states, where a new approach toward making steel is taking place. The key word is mini-mills. While industry giants, like

U.S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel are languishing in low profits and outmoded plants, the mini-mill way of steel-making is rising literally from the rust of the old giants. Also called "non-integrated" companies by those in the industry, mini-mills produce an increasing variety of simple steel products using iron scrap instead of iron ore. The use of scrap, modern production techniques, and regional markets may mean the mini-mills will spell a thorough restructuring of the domestic steel industry. "There's a quiet revolution going on out there and no one is paying any attention to it," said Joel Hirschhorn, director of a study of the steel industry conducted last year by the congressional Office of Technology Assessment. Growing from a handful of plants that produced about one million tons of steel in 1960, more than 40 plants have been built to date, including three in Texas: Border Steel Mill, Inc., in El Paso, Chaparral Steel Co. in Midlothian and Kucor Corp. in Jewett. As of last year, 50 mini-mills across the country produced more than 12 million tons, or 16 percent of the total domestic steel output.

Hirschhorn and other observers believe that market share will grow to 25 percent of all domestic steel production by 1998. And if technological advances bear fruit, these mills could capture a maximum of half the market by the year 2000, Hirschhorn said. One reason why the mini-mills have been so startlingly successful in so little time is their higher productivity and lower production costs. OTA estimates the mini-mills pre-tax profits are $31.60 for each ton of steel shipped, compared to the meager $9.60 a ton produced by the integrated firms. In addition, mini-mill owners use the most modern technology, like electric arc furnaces and continuous casting, which eliminates the need to cool iron ingots before shaping them into the final products. Together with the frequent use of non-union labor, that puts employment costs for mini-mills at $138 for each ton shipped, compared to $200 a ton for the major producers, the OTA steel report states. Because the mini-mills use nearly supplies of iron scrap to produce steel instead of fashioning iron ingots first like the integrated companies, their electricity costs have been a quarter of those of their giant brothers in the industry. Using iron scrap also cuts the cost of building a mini-mill to one-tenth of the cost of the integrated companies, in part because the absence of iron production equipment reduces pollution — and with it, the costly pollution control devices that sap the integrated steel industry's investment capital. In more ways than one, the term mini-mill is a misnomer. Many are expanding their product lines from the simple reinforcing bars they first produced to steel angles, channels and bars, cutting further into integrated steel's market. How are the giants of the industry responding to all this? Top executives of integrated companies like U.S. Steel said at a recent meeting of the Senate Steel Caucus that the construction of mini-mills might be at least a partial solution to the industry's problems. Joseph C. Wyman, a steel analyst for the New York brokerage firm of Shearson, Loeb Rhoades Inc., sees the emergence of the mini-mills as nothing less than "a restructuring of the steel industry from the outside."

Artifacts show will be May 2

SEMINOLE — The third annual Indian Artifacts show, sponsored by the Gaines County Historical Commission, will be held Saturday, May 2, in the community building, 400 NW 5th Street, Seminole.

Collectors throughout the West Texas and Eastern New Mexico area have been invited to bring their exhibits for this showing. The building will be open at 8:30 a.m. so exhibitors may start setting up their displays. The show will open to the public at 10 o'clock a.m. There is no entry fee and no admission charge.

Chairman of the county commission is Mrs. R.L. Hunt of Loop, and director of the Saturday show is Pauline Ancell of Seminole.

Collectors of Indian artifacts and those who have hunted and collected archeology items are extended special invitations to bring their displays to the show.

Prize awarded to Doris Day

The Volunteer Services Council for Big Spring State Hospital held its regular quarterly luncheon the past Thursday.

Johnnie Lou Avery, president of Avery and Associates, was the guest speaker. Mrs. Avery briefed the audience on upcoming Centennial activities. She encouraged members to participate in the fun-filled activities which will take place in May.

Accompanying Mrs. Avery was Mrs. Dene Sheppard, who presented paraphernalia available for purchase at the Centennial Headquarters.

Elma Martinez, Coordinator of Volunteer Services, presented Mrs. Doris Day with a Centennial prize for submitting the winning title, Volunteer Bells, for the Chapter Belle at the Hospital.

Rounding off the luncheon was a barbershop quartet, who provided entertainment for the more than 100 in attendance.

Rapist handed prison term

ABILENE — Arlee Dean Hunter, 18, convicted of rape in 104th District Court here Friday, was sentenced to serve 2 1/2 years in prison.

Hunter admitted repeatedly raped and sodomized a 22-year-old convenience store clerk before he was caught last Jan. 14.

Hunter could have received two to 20 years in prison, or up to $10,000 in fines or both. Hunter could be considered for parole within seven months.

Carroll Choate captures coveted conservation award

Carroll Choate was presented with an award as the Outstanding Conservation Cooperator for 1981 at the annual Howard County Soil and Water Conservation District's award banquet held Tuesday evening at La Posada Restaurant.

Choate, who is married to the former Joyce Kilpatrick of the Luther community, has carried out two Great Plains conservation plans on his land. Under these plans, Carroll has installed two pipelines for livestock water.

Brush control and range seeding has been carried out on his place where it was needed and 92 acres of land unsuited to cotton were planted to grass. Diversion terraces and waterways were installed to stop gullies where needed.

Poster winners recognized by the district included Tracey Martin, Big Spring, first grade; April Massey, Big Spring, second grade; Stacey Scoggin, Sterling City, third grade; Amber Henderson, Rte. 1, fourth grade; Isabel Hilario, Big Spring, fifth grade; Kasey Ducote, Big Spring, sixth grade.

In all, there were 183 entrants from eight schools. Essay winners recognized include Paul Allen, Coahoma, high school, and Arnold Solis, Big Spring, junior, Forsan High; Sonceia Scott, Coahoma Junior High; Vance Gaston, Forsan Junior High; Kasey Ducote, Big Spring Goliad; and Quag Mai, Big Spring Runnels.

There were 34 entrants from seven schools in the competition. The land judging FFA team representing Big Spring was a first place winner. Members are Dana Cannon, Walter Brumley, Carrie Howard, and Stephen Tillery. The high individual FFA award went to Miss Cannon, the high individual 4H prize to Tammy Peugh, Sands High School.

The Outstanding Conservation Educator was judged to be Mrs. Virginia Allen, wife of Paul Allen, now a Howard County Commissioner and conservationist. She formerly worked as a Home Economics Teacher at Coahoma High School, is now employed as an elementary school teacher in Coahoma. She is a native of the Behler, Okla., area.

The awards were presented by Bill Ward. Bruce Griffith, a Big Spring banker, was the principal speaker. J.M. Sterling presided. Neil Fryar welcomed guests. Dr. Kenneth Patrick gave the invocation.

Pecan grafting clinic booked

Pecan enthusiasts will have an opportunity to be able to receive training in pecan grafting, Friday, at 2 p.m. in the Texas Electric Building's Reddy Room.

A brief discussion by area Extension horticulturists, Austin Stockton, will begin the afternoon program. It will deal with procedures and equipment needs. Demonstrations on actual pecan trees will conclude the days program. Participants are reminded to be on time so as to not miss the discussion portion of the training meeting. More information on the program may be had by contacting the Howard County Extension Office.

Wildcat info is disclosed

McCann Corp., Big Spring, will drill the No. 2-A Flanagan, a 9,600-foot wildcat in Howard County, 3/4-mile southeast of the Mississippi oil opener and lone producer from that pay and one mile southeast of the Fusselman oil opener and lone producer from that pay in the Red Draw field of Howard County, four miles southeast of Big Spring.

Location is 660 feet from the south and 467 feet from the west lines of 18-31-1-T&P.

The Mississippi opener, North American royalties Inc. No. 2 Flanagan, drilled to 9,704 feet, was finished Sept. 2, 1980 to pump 47 barrels of 41.7 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 3.404-1, through perforations at 9,168-318 feet.

The Fusselman opener, North American Royalties' No. 2 Flanagan, drilled to 9,602 feet, was finished Oct. 9, 1980 for 103 barrels of 48.5 gravity oil, plus 11 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 2.340-1, through an 8-64-inch choke and perforations at 9,564-566 feet.

Tarbox out of hospital

Elmer Tarbox, a former Big Spring resident, has returned to his home in Lubbock after spending several days in a Lubbock Hospital.

Tarbox, a victim of Parkinson's Disease, is planning to go to Albuquerque shortly for possible surgery.

The surgery, still regarded as largely experimental, could afford him at least partial relief, if successful. Tarbox's condition is such that it severely restricts his mobility.

Two burglars prison bound

Daniel Velasquez, 20, of 507 W. 7th St., entered a guilty plea to a burglary charge in 118th District Court Tuesday.

Velasquez was given a three year sentence in the Texas Department of Corrections, Huntsville.

Joey Mauldin entered a guilty plea to a charge of burglary in 118th District Court Tuesday, and was also given a three year sentence in T.D.C. Mauldin, 17, resided at 511 Bell.

SUPER planland
Living, breathing plants to add to the beauty of your home. Even build your own jungle if you like. Our selection is that impressive. Our plants are pampered with care in-store so they'll be at their best when you make your selections. Safeway's beautiful plant array is waiting for you along with many plant care and plant growing needs for all green thumbs. You'll like our attractive variety and our attractive prices.

In everything we sell...
Quality is one of the Safeway characteristics that keeps you coming back. That's why we trim extra fat off of our meat so you pay for what you eat, not what you throw away. And our bread? Squeeze it gently. It is so fresh you'd think we bake it ourselves. We do. For you. Produce - our buyers go where the crops are picked in their quest for the best. Try us, you'll come back for our quality in food and everything else we sell.

We care a little bit more!
We want to serve you the very best we can. The helpful clerk, the smiling cashier. They'll give you a sense that you, the customer, are the most important person in the store. So we have meat cutters, bakers and flower arrangers. Stockers, baggers and pleasant checkers. All ready to help, all trying harder, all doing a little extra. For you. And proud of it.
