BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Jailed IRA guerrilla Bobby Sands believes he will be dead within 24 hours, a close aide said today after visiting Sands on the 62nd day of his hunger strike.

"He is in tremendous pain and has very little strength," said Owen Carron, who was Sands' manager in the April 9 voting which elected the guerrilla to the British Parliament.

"One eye is completely shut and he has very little vision in the other," said Carron. "He only recognized me by my voice."

Sands rejected another appeal earlier today to call off his hunger strike, and his supporters briefly occupied an office at the headquarters of the opposition Labor Party in London.

The appeal was made by the Labor Party's spokesman on Northern Ireland, Don Concannon, who visited Sands and three other guerrillas who are demanding reforms amounting to granting political prisoner status to Irish Republican Army inmates. The four rejected papal appeals earlier this week.

"I should think there is nothing anybody else can do, and no one can accede to their demands. He had quite a political argument with me for about a minute this morning," Concannon said after visiting Sands and the others at the Maze prison. He said Sands, in the 62nd day of fasting, was mentally alert.

On Thursday, Britain accused the IRA of stirring a "calculated, cold-blooded" campaign of terror in the name of Sands.

Frank Hughes, jailed with Sands, received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church Thursday, and relatives said he was approaching death in the 46th day of his hunger strike. They said Hughes, 25, imprisoned for life for shooting a soldier, has difficulty speaking.

Two other guerrillas, Raymond McCreech and Pat O'Hara, joined the hunger strike 40 days ago but visitors said their condition was not critical.

Last rites have already been administered twice to Sands, who was elected to the British Parliament last month while serving a 14-year sentence on gun charges.

PANEFUL JOKE — Reactions of passers-by ranged from smiles to looks of disbelief Thursday in Monona, Wis. when two glass company workers stuffed a pair of boots under 4,000 pounds of broken glass panes. The panes tipped as they were being unloaded from a Milwaukee glass company truck. Woody Shoemaker, left, and Bob Hillestead cleaned up the mess.

Scientists claim Laetrile worthless as cancer cure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Laetrile, the purported cancer treatment that doctors say has led thousands away from proven therapy, failed its first controlled human test and should be considered worthless, scientists say.

"Laetrile has been tested. It is not effective," Dr. Charles Moertel of the Mayo Clinic said Thursday at a meeting of the American Society of Clinical Oncology.

The National Cancer Institute, which sponsored the trials, said it hoped they would settle the controversy surrounding Laetrile, a substance found naturally in the pits of apricots and peaches and in bitter almonds, and its usefulness in treating cancer.

Moertel said the results are based upon data from a core group of 156 of the 178 patients enrolled in the study. Of these patients, 104 died and in only one case was there a partial response to the treatment. And that case was questionable, he added.

Dr. Vincent T. DeVita, head of the cancer institute, said the results proved Laetrile's failure as a cancer treatment.

"The hollow promise of this drug has led thousands of Americans away from potentially helpful therapy of scientific validity," DeVita said. "Now the facts speak for themselves."

Laetrile advocates, however, said the test proved nothing. They have charged that the substance tested was not pure Laetrile and that the study was a setup from the beginning to discredit the treatment.

"The whole thing, as far as we are concerned, is a putup deal to discredit Laetrile," said Robert Bradford, founder of the Committee for Freedom of Choice, a group based in San Francisco.

Japanese agree to limit car exports for two years

TOKYO (AP) — Japan agreed today to cut its auto exports to the United States by at least 140,000 cars in the first year of a two-year voluntary curtailment. The ceiling in the second year would depend on the recovery of the U.S. automakers.

International trade minister Rokusuke Tanaka said the curtailment would represent a reduction of 7.7 percent from the 1.82 million cars sent to the United States last year. Exports in the second year would increase in proportion to any rise in U.S. car sales.

U.S. Special Trade Representative William Brock, in Tokyo for two days of talks, said today that the Japanese plan is satisfactory and eliminates the chance that Congress will pass a protectionist bill putting stricter limits on shipments of Japanese cars.

He said the Japanese plan "would be far, far less than that proposed by legislation in Congress but would be adequate to the need for time for the domestic industry to retool and become competitive."

Pyramiding want ads net praises

A Herald customer who tried selling three items at once by pyramiding her want ads came away singing the praises of the way in which such advertisements command attention.

Offered for sale were a 1972 vehicle, a table with chairs and three halves of locker beef. All items were snapped up by readers of The Herald the first day.

The woman who initiated an order for the ads had originally placed it for six days. So fast were the transactions made, following appearances of the ads in The Herald, that the newspaper had to overlay each ad with the word "sold."

If you would like similar results, why not call one of The Herald's friendly sales people and initiate an order.

"It was a phony test and I'm not surprised with the results," said Bradford, president of American Biologics, a manufacturer and importer of Laetrile products.

These charges are hotly denied by the cancer institute and the scientists involved, who say Laetrile advocates started questioning the study early in case the results proved negative.

Cuban weightlifter indicted on murder, assault charges

Eduardo Maidique was indicted on charges of murder and aggravated assault when a Howard County grand jury met here Wednesday and Thursday.

Maidique is accused of killing a Big Spring woman, and seriously injuring her sister in an incident March 23. Linda Garcia, 26, was pronounced dead inside her home as a result of four gunshot wounds.

Her sister, Martha Esquibel, 19, was recently released from the Odessa Medical Center, where she was hospitalized with a skull fracture and a broken neck suffered in a fight with her assailant.

Maidique, 33, is a Cuban national who came to the United States in 1980 with his twin brother, Alberto. Both said they were weightlifters in a Cuban athletic program.

Reports about the shooting and assault said that it was believed the assailant broke through the door of Ms. Garcia's residence, and threatened Ms. Garcia and Miss Esquibel. Ms. Garcia is believed to have fired one shot from a .22 caliber revolver before she was killed.

The assailant then focused on Miss Esquibel, who attempted to flee the house, but was struck on the head and with the man's fist.

Both sides claim possible victory in battle of budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — With party invitations, phone calls and cufflinks, President Reagan is turning up the lobbying heat on wavering Democrats and Republicans as the House debates his economic program amid a GOP claim that he already has the votes to win.

In return, the chief Huse budget writer is telling defecting Democrats they won't be able to come back for more money for their own districts later if they help pass Reagan's proposed budget cuts now.

"The lobbying is unbelievable," said Rep. Carroll Hubbard Jr., D-Ky., one of 47 conservative Democrats being wooed by Reagan and Republican leaders.

"I realized how big the lobbying was when I got a telephone call from the president (in early March) and he talked for so long that I had to say, 'I know how busy you are and must get off the phone.' Even my brother in Louisville doesn't talk that long," Hubbard said.

As the House kicked off budget debate Thursday, the president also launched a series of meetings that one White House aide said would bring as many as two dozen Republicans and Democrats into the Oval Office to meet with Reagan before a showdown vote expected next week.

House debate was continuing today, with Reagan's meetings with House members.

House Republican leader Robert Michel of Illinois said Thursday, meanwhile, that he's convinced Reagan already has the battle won.

But to make sure outnumbered Republicans vote as a block, Reagan is holding a series of one-on-one chats with GOP members described by Michel as being of a "little bit more liberal persuasion" and possibly wavering.

Rep. Bill Green of New Jersey, one of the Republicans who met with Reagan on Thursday, said "we from the Northeastern states were being locked out of the process" while GOP leaders were wooing conservative Democrats.

Another White House guest Thursday, Republican Rep. Harold C. Hollenbeck of New Jersey, said he pointed out to Reagan that if the group's concerns are not heard, it would have no choice but "to begin to deal with the Democrats."

Green said Reagan was "a good listener," and the congressman displayed a set of presidential cufflinks given to him to commemorate the visit.

"The cufflinks don't buy my decision," Green added.

Michel said about 35 conservative Democrats have indicated support for the administration budget and estimated only three GOP defections "at the most."

If correct, that would wipe out the Democrats' 51-vote majority.

Asked if he were absolutely certain Reagan would have the votes to win, Michel said, "That's the way I've got it figured."

Country music awards

LOS ANGELES (AP) — George Jones, one of country music's top male singers, and Barbara Mandrell, who has paralyzed her country career into a weekly television series, came out on top in this year's Academy of Country Music Awards.

Jones recently overcame a near-fatal bout with alcoholism and made a dramatic comeback with the hit, "He Stopped Loving Her Today." That song won him single-record-of-the-year and song-of-the-year honors Thursday night, and the 49-year-old singer was chosen top male vocalist.

Miss Mandrell, whose Saturday night series on NBC, "Barbara Mandrell and the Mandrell Sisters," has just been renewed for the fall season, was named entertainer of the year.

"I was country when country wasn't cool," Miss Mandrell said, borrowing the lyrics from a song she has just released. "My success is a combination of my wanting it with all my heart and the inevitable popular acceptance of country music."

"I'm so happy. This is the greatest thing that has happened to me in 49 years. I guess you gotta hang in there," said Jones, who received little industry recognition until this year and hasn't enjoyed the pop sales of some other country stars.

The award was presented to him by his ex-wife, Tammy Wynette. Jones sang his "He Stopped Loving Her Today" at the ceremony and, changing the lyrics, sang: "If drinkin' don't kill me, Tammy's memory will."

Dolly Parton, nominated for five awards, was named top female vocalist. But she did not attend the ceremony.

Johnny Lee, who burst on the country scene last year with "Lookin' for Love," from the movie "Urban Cowboy," picked up top new male vocalist honors.

"Urban Cowboy" was a huge box office success and is credited by many with greatly increasing popular acceptance of country music. The academy chose the movie's soundtrack, which contains songs from a number of artists, as album of the year.

The movie of the year award went to "Coal Miner's Daughter," the story of country music queen Loretta Lynn, which stars Sissy Spacek. Miss Lynn was to have been at the ceremony but recently was hospitalized in Nashville, Tenn.

Blind singer Terri Gibbs, picked top new female vocalist of the year, won a standing ovation from the audience. Her "Somebody's Knockin'" has been a huge success on country charts.

Alabama, a group composed of four musicians from that state who have suddenly emerged as important figures in country music, was named top vocal group of the year.

Kenny Rogers, who has turned his country music career into something of a pop music career, came up the loser at the 16th annual ceremony.

He had been nominated in six categories, including entertainer of the year and top male vocalist. But he has failed to win any awards from the academy in the past two years.

Comedian George Burns won the academy's first special achievement award.

No pistol packin'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Students at Texas Tech don't carry guns to classes and Lubbock residents aren't packin' pistols these days — and the Washington Post has admitted it stands corrected.

The Post, in a correction run in Thursday's editions, agreed that it had portrayed Texas Tech and Lubbock inaccurately in an April 5 story tracing the background of John Hinckley, accused of the assassination attempt on President Reagan.

The page two correction stated: "Texas Tech students do not carry guns to class, as the article stated, and the city itself is a quiet town with orderly and law-abiding citizens."

"There is no 'pistol-packin' tradition in Lubbock, as the article incorrectly implied," the correction continued.

In the story, the Post mentioned that Hinckley had bought three guns in Lubbock pawn shops, but added that a penchant for owning guns was nothing new in Lubbock.

Tornado Jam set Sunday in Lubbock free to public

The Tornado Jam is set Sunday in Lubbock at the Buddy Holley Memorial Park, located in the Canyon Lakes project in East Lubbock.

The Jam, slated to begin at noon, and end at midnight, will feature a number of performers during the day. Included in the list are the Yellow House String Band, Mike Pritchard and the Hub City Rockers, Warhorse, the Maines Brothers, Terry Allen and Marcia Ball.

Others are former Colorado City resident Jay Boy Adams, Jimmy Gilmore, Gary P. Nunn, the Planets and Alvin Cunn, Joe Ely and Ray Wylie Hubbard are also slated to appear.

The non-profit event is free to the public, according to Tornado Jam spokesmen, but donations will be accepted.

Study Club celebrates 'National Music Week'

The Big Spring Music Study Club celebrates "National Music Week" annually, this year beginning Sunday through May 10.

The theme of the current celebration is "Music — The Magic Key to Daily Living". The objectives of the theme are to create an understanding and appreciation of the value of music in the home, community, nation and the world.

The National Federation of Music Clubs, of which the Big Spring club is a member, again joins forces to direct attention to the dynamic influence of music in everyday living.

The 1981 celebration of "National Music Week" in Big Spring will feature the club's ensemble, the Belle Ringers of the First United Methodist Church, and Mona Lue Tonn, vocalist, in a total of seven performances throughout the week of May 3-10.

An ensemble from the club will present a musical Sunday at 3 p.m., at the Potton House, 200 Gregg St. The public is cordially invited to attend this event which will feature Joyce Bradley, soprano, Joan Bell, piano, accompanist, Danna Moore, violinist, and Mary Skalicky, pianist, in a program of "Drawing Room Favorites."

The $1 admission will go toward the Potton House restoration fund. Following the musical, a tour will be given of the Potton House which has just been designated a State Archeological Landmark by the Texas Antiquities Committee.

A private burial service will be under direction of Branon Funeral Home of Lamesa.

Parks died at 11:40 p.m. Wednesday at Medical Arts Hospital in Lamesa after a brief illness.

The Caruth, Mo., native moved to Dawson County in 1927. He married Bernece Ragan July 23, 1935, in Big Spring. She died May 26, 1980.

Parks was a retired pharmacist who owned Parks-Ford Pharmacy here.

Drunk drivers in Mitchell required to attend seminar

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Persons convicted in County Judge Bill Carter's court of driving while intoxicated can expect not only to be fined and placed on probation, but can look forward to taking a day off from work, as well.

According to Carter, "all the defendants who now are placed on deferred judgment and given regular probation are now required to attend, during the period of probation, an alcohol educational program."

Judge Carter added: "These programs are put on mainly by our State Mental Health and Mental Retardation clinic and are excellently planned and executed. It is now a stipulation in the probation that those persons convicted of DWI must attend one of the seminars, here in Mitchell County or wherever they live. If it is an out-of-town program, I will be notified by authorities that the persons concerned has fulfilled this stipulation."

In conclusion, Judge Carter commented "It does not look upon this as additional punishment but rather for the benefit of these persons. I have observed these seminars and, to reiterate, they are excellently planned and persons in attendance certainly can count on professional answers to what they think may not be a problem but certainly is more than a concern."

Hawk Reporter places third

The Howard College Hawk Reporter placed third in its division for overall excellence in the Texas Junior College Press Association annual contest, according to Dorothy Estes, director of TJCPA.

The HC newspaper gathered a total of 100 points compared to 103 points to top-ranked Grayson Graphic. The Blinn Log finished second with 102 points, according to contest results published last week.

Twelve Texas junior colleges were entered in Division I with HC. Division I is for colleges with less than 2,000 students enrolled full time.

The staff of the Hawk Reporter also took first and second place in the headline writing category. Frankie Noyola won a third place for his cartoon work, and Kevin Jodoi won third place in sports photography.

On track Kangaroo Kourt kicks off at 5:30

"On Track" is an official column prepared by the Big Spring Centennial, Inc., and lists the various events and meetings being held in conjunction with the upcoming Big Spring-Howard County Centennial to be held May 21-30. Individuals wishing to list their activities and events in this column are asked to call Mel Prather at 267-6373, or bring their items by Citizens Federal Credit Union.

PROMENADE AND KANGAROO KOURT: The second of the promenades will be held at Highland Mall, beginning at 5 p.m. from the Dunlap's parking lot. It will then enter the mall through the east door to TG&Y travel around the interior of the mall, and exit to the Kangaroo Kourt site on the south parking lot of Highland Mall. The Kourt will get under way at approximately 5:30 p.m. and all Belles, Brothers, and interested individuals are encouraged to attend.

CARAVAN SCHEDULED: The first of the two caravans to neighboring cities will be held Saturday and will visit the cities of Colorado City, Snyder, Gail, and Lamesa to promote the Big Spring-Howard County Centennial celebration. Individuals and groups wishing to participate in the caravan are being asked to decorate their cars, with the winning entry receiving a check for $25. The caravan will start assembling at 9 a.m. on the Centennial Store-Headquarters parking lot at 900 Main and depart the city at 9:30 a.m. for Colorado City. All First Lady candidates participating in the caravan will be provided transportation in motorhomes and all persons are reminded to bring a sack lunch.

BOOK REVIEW: There will be a book review and salad luncheon Saturday at noon in the Garrett Hall of the First Methodist Church. The tickets are $3.50 each and the luncheon and book review is open to the public.

SENIOR CITIZENS' BANQUET: The Senior Citizens' Banquet will be held this Saturday at 6:30 p.m. in the Family Life Center of the First Baptist Church. Individuals wishing to make reservations for the banquet should call 267-8223 and are reminded to wear their centennial clothing.

NEW SHIPMENT RECEIVED: A large shipment of both men's and ladies' clothing has been received at the Centennial Store-Headquarters at 900 Main. The last shipment sold very fast and all interested individuals are encouraged to make their purchases while the large selection is on hand.

DIRECTING EXTRAGANZA — Gary Welz, director of the "Iron Horse Revue", is working with approximately 400 local cast members in preparation for the large stage show to be held May 21 through May 27. Rehearsals will continue each night in the Runnels Junior High School gym through May 13, with the first rehearsals to be held in Memorial Stadium May 14-15. There will also be two full dress rehearsals at the stadium May 18-19, with the first performance set for Thursday, May 21. Tickets for the revue are available from all First Lady candidates.

Price Daniel Sr. seeks visitation rights

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Texas Gov. and Mrs. Price Daniel Sr. have asked a family court judge to restore visitation rights stripped in a bitter child custody battle over two of their slain son's children.

The Daniels filed an intervention document with Family District Judge Sam S. Emison Jr., asking that Franklin Baldwin Daniel, 3, and Marion Price

Daniel IV, 1, be allowed to visit them for one week during Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

The couple also requested the court to order three-day visits in February, May, June and October and the final two weeks in July and the first two weeks in August for the annual family reunion and round-up at the family ranch in Liberty.

MR. G'S ADVISE ON CHOOSING SHRUBS

In times past, most homeowners sought out bulky shrubs for "foundation plantings" to hide the unattractive high house foundation. With the disappearance of the high foundation, shrubs have taken on new landscape lives. Some shrubs grow slowly, taking many years to achieve the beauty of maturity — others grow rapidly to a satisfying size and beauty. The wise gardener takes advantage of both sorts. When choosing shrubs keep in mind the following basic points: Adaptability — is it suited to our climate, soil and environment? Plant size — if you have space for a 4 by 4-foot plant but install one that will reach 12 feet in all directions, you're bound to be unhappy in time. Growth rate — slow growth is the price you will have to pay for some of the most desirable shrubs, so place those plants where their slowness will be no detriment to your plans. Texture — combined with size and shape give a plant its character. A variety of finely textured small leaved shrubs together produces an indistinct landscape where nothing is highlighted.

Come to Mr. G's and let our experienced personnel help you select your shrubs.

First of two caravans leaves BS Saturday

The first of the two caravans from Big Spring and Howard County to promote the local centennial celebration will leave the city on Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

The caravan, which will visit the cities of Colorado City, Snyder, Gail, and Lamesa, will be promoting the ten-day centennial celebration and encouraging residents of those communities to participate in the festivities planned for May 21-30.

The group will begin assembling at the Centennial Store-Parking lot at 900 Main at 9 a.m. and leave for Colorado City at 9:30 a.m. The caravan is slated to arrive in Colorado City at 10:30 a.m. and will make a brief presentation at Second and Walnut.

After a brief program of entertainment and information promoting the centennial, the group will depart that city at 11 a.m. for Snyder, where it will make a presentation at their courthouse from 11:40 a.m. to 12:10 p.m. The caravan will remain in Snyder until 1 p.m. for a lunch break.

At 1 p.m., the group from Big Spring and Howard County will leave for Gail, with an estimated time of arrival at 1:30 p.m. They will be on the courthouse grounds from 1:30 to 2 p.m. handing out brochures and posters on the centennial festivities and plans. The group will leave Gail at 2 p.m. for Lamesa, where they are expected to arrive at 2:45 p.m.

They will again make a brief presentation on the courthouse grounds in that city prior to being released from the caravan to do what they would like to for the remainder of the day.

Individuals and groups wishing to participate in the caravan are being asked to decorate their cars to draw attention to the local delegation, with the winning entry receiving a cash prize of $25. Transportation will also be furnished for all First Lady candidates wishing to attend the caravan in one of the motorhomes that will be making the trip.

THE LIGHT TOUCH

By Sherry Wegner

No matter what goes wrong, there is always somebody who knew it would.

Opportunity always knocks at the least opportune moment.

Leftover nuts never match leftover bolts.

Occasionally, I work here at the store & last Saturday was one of the rare times. Well, a friend & customer called & excitedly said, "Sherry, I've got a terrible problem. I've got ticks all over ... imbedded even, what do I do?" I immediately thought she had them on her body & promptly told her to call the pharmacist. She got so tickled she could hardly talk, but finally said, "not me, you nut, they're in the grass & all over the yard."

It appears she's not the only one with ticks in the yard. If you have that problem we do have several insecticides & sprayers that will get rid of the pests. Whether it's "tick" spray, garden seed, spray parts, Haygrazer or Sudan Seed, you need ... we've got it all at BIG SPRING SEED & CHEMICAL, 602 N.E. 2nd. Call or come by today.

MORE PONTIAC KNOW-HOW COMES TO YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD.

HIGHLAND PONTIAC DATSUN GRAND OPENING!

KNOW-HOW IN OUR NEW PONTIACS. Our 1981 line-up offers exciting innovations from Research and Development, Engineering and Design that combine to make up Pontiac's new Efficiency System. In all gasoline-powered models, this System includes GM's Computer Command Control: A series of sensors continuously monitors engine temperature, engine speed, throttle position, altitude, barometric pressure and oxygen content in the exhaust. Tiny computer chips in the electronic control module analyze this data, then regulate the carburetion for a precise air/fuel mixture. But that's just the beginning.

Pontiac know-how shows up in many exciting ways. For example, Grand Prix glides into 1981 with dramatic new aerodynamic lines. LeMans and Grand LeMans 4-door sedans show the world a formal new roofline. And Phoenix, Pontiac's "X" car, invites five people to enjoy the advantages of front-wheel drive.

KNOW-HOW IN OUR STAFF. Our people have even more information for you on all our new Pontiacs, and on top-value used cars, too. They're ready to deal. And they probably have more ways to arrange financing for you than a bank.

KNOW-HOW IN OUR MODERN SERVICE DEPARTMENT. We know the importance of service: Our qualified service technicians use Pontiac know-how and the right equipment to get you back on the road in the shortest time feasible.

That's the kind of Pontiac know-how you'll find at our new dealership. So drop by our showroom soon and take a look at our great line-up of new '81 Pontiacs!

Is OPEC finally getting the message?

The powers behind the OPEC nations may have concluded there is a ceiling on the prices they can charge on the world market for their oil, after all.

There was concern expressed among the oil-rich countries that perhaps they had moved too far too fast at a recent meeting of Arab oil officials in Rome.

A succession of OPEC officials hinted, in talks made before the delegation, that the time had come to slow down the surge for higher and higher prices.

THE OPEC COUNTRIES may not feel any great compassion for the heavy consumers of their oil but it has dawned on them that the have-nots are looking for alternate sources of energy. That, together with the fact that it has suddenly become fashionable among ordinary citizens to conserve fuel, has caused the demand for oil to rapidly drop. Needless to say, when orders for oil decrease, so does the revenue of the producing nations.

Industrialized nations like the United States and Japan are moving faster toward finding alternate fuel sources than OPEC members can gravitate toward diversifying away from total economic dependence upon oil.

The OPEC representatives have another meeting planned for Geneva May 25. Observers close to the scene are not at all sure that the Arab nations will opt for another price increase and, if such a proposal is made, there will be those who will do everything they can to discourage the idea.

Efforts will likely be made, too, to narrow the gap between the maximum and minimum prices charged by member nations.

THEIR CONCERNS ARE well founded. OPEC is discovering that the world demand for oil produced by its 13 members is projected to be less than 12 million barrels a day within 20 years — less than half the amount they expected to export this year. There was a time, not too long ago, when the OPEC nations expected to be selling 40 million barrels of oil a day.

In ways, OPEC did us a favor by price gouging over the years because we were forced, along with other nations, to seek alternatives to OPEC oil. We suddenly found out we could get by on a great deal less and exulted in that feeling.

OPEC's problems were of its own doing. It should serve as a lesson to others that willful disregard for the common good can impoverish everyone, rich and poor nations alike.

"The end is near!"

That, of course, is the message on the sandwich board worn by the flake in the flowing beard and robes who walks the streets warning of the impending holocaust. It's also the message being proclaimed by today's pundits of our nation's economy.

If you aren't proficient with an M-1 rifle; if you don't have a bomb shelter and a closetful of gold Krugerrands; if you haven't stockpiled enough canned goods to last the rest of your life, forget about the future.

THE WAY I SEE it, more and more people will soon begin to figure out a way to cash in on the paranoia hustle. It can't be long before TV advertisers are urging us to cut loose of some of our useless American currency for a chance at surviving the future.

"How much would you give for a book that contains every fact and scrap of knowledge known to man?"

"But wait... before you answer, how much would you give for:

—A Ginsu Survival Knife. Look, it will slice right through your neighbor's fallout shelter, and it's still sharp enough to slice through your neighbor!

—Mrs. Landmine. Hey, here's my favorite survival tool. I just plug it into my radio, and I can blow up anything that moves in my perimeter.

—Luggage Parachutes. Extra-rugged parachutes made from the same material used in the construction of fine luggage. Regular parachutes are made of tacky-looking nylon and only hold one person. But not luggage parachutes! Want to carry your grenade launcher? Go ahead, luggage parachutes can handle it.

—Greatest Hits Of The Recession. Did you know that the popular "Burnin' My Worthless Stock Certificates Blues" is really the second movement from "The Green Berets" by Barry Sadler? This magnificent collection includes such classics as "Money Can't Buy You Love Or Anything Else Either," "Three Valueless American Coins In A Fountain," "Pennies From Hell" and many more of your favorites.

Victory at hand

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — In contrast to tactical defeats suffered before the Easter recess, President Reagan's economic program is on the brink of strategic victory in the Democratic-controlled House as Congress reconvenes.

The preliminary headcounts show a small but seemingly widening Reagan margin on the coming budget resolution, but by a coalition of the nearly-solid Republican minority and 30 or more conservative Democrats. The psychological momentum of that pivotal victory would point toward a Republican triumph on the tax cut a few weeks hence.

Despite months of conjecture about deep trouble for the tax bill and the need for a general compromise, the truth is that victory is at hand or very close to it for Ronald Reagan's economic package. Unless the Democratic leadership discovers some way to retrieve the situation, effective control of the House on economic questions is being assumed by that bipartisan coalition.

DETERIORATING SUPPORT FOR the Democratic alternative budget fashioned by Budget Committee Chairman James Jones (less defense, more social welfare, thinner tax cuts) has produced at least 30 hard Democratic defections. There are no assured Republican defectors and the possibility of only a handful at the outside. That suggests a current House headcount yielding about the net loss of 26 Democratic congressmen needed for a Republican victory.

The post-recess mood on Capitol Hill may produce much wider Democratic defections, going beyond the 44-member conservative Democratic Forum (CDF) — the "eddy" caucus. Such non-CDF defectors as Reps. Eugene Atkinson (Pennsylvania, celebrated target of a Reagan telephone call), Elliott Levitas of Georgia and Charles Wilson of Texas are moving out of Democratic ranks into the conservative coalition. That fortifies prospects of a comfortable Reagan victory.

Democrats will not have to vote for a Reagan proposal but a "compromise" co-sponsored by Reps. Delbert Latta of Ohio, the Budget Committee's senior Republican, and a CDF member, Rep. Phil Gramm of Texas. The Gramm-Latta substitute is gleefully described by one White House aide as "103 percent of the Reagan budget" — that is, what the president wants in budget cuts plus a little bit more.

Disaster looming for the regular Democratic leadership under Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill casts a long shadow on the tax struggle. Conservative Democrats are putting together a new tax package that will bring only smiles from the White House. Just as Gramm-Latta is more Reaganite than Reagan, so is the compromise tax package in embryonic form.

It includes an immediate end to the distinction between "unearned" and "earned" income with the top tax rate on "unearned" (interest and dividends) falling to 50 percent. Simultaneously, the effective rate on capital gains would be pushed from 28 percent all the way down to 15 percent. As a sweetener to the farm constituents of many CDF members, the inheritance tax would be repealed. None of this is contained in the president's package.

AMONG TAX REDUCTIONS that are in the Reagan package, the accelerated depreciation allowance would be retained. But the Kemp-Roth formula of 10 percent in annual across-the-board individual rate cuts for three years would be modified from 10-10-10 to 5-10-10 and the effective date delayed as well.

This jaundice harmless

Dear Dr. Donohue: My sister has a disease called Dubin-Johnson syndrome. We know it is a liver disease. She never drank or smoked. It seems no one knows anything about the treatment. Can you tell us anything about this? — J.B.

Dubin-Johnson syndrome is an inherited condition in which the liver has a problem getting rid of the bilirubin (bile pigment) it makes. Normally, this is drained off as part of the bile. People with Dubin-Johnson syndrome do not drain their bilirubin well.

For most, the condition is symptom-free, or there may be vague gastrointestinal distress. The overall outlook is excellent. No special treatment is needed. From time to time, the person may become slightly jaundiced (yellowed), especially during pregnancy. Birth control pills may lead to this, too. The pigment abnormality is truly benign and leads to no disability or reduction in life expectancy.

It is important for your sisters to know she has this condition, if only to avoid confusing the sign with other causes of jaundice that may require treatment. But when Dubin-Johnson syndrome has been diagnosed, the person can be reassured that nothing serious is going on.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have diabetes and am on daily insulin. A friend tells me that I should not have any alcohol whatever because, he says, I will go blind. I have enjoyed one bottle of beer before dinner. — L.F.

You can have your bottle of beer without fear of going blind. Diabetics should not take excessive amounts of alcohol, and whatever amount they take must be figured into their total calorie intake. One 8-ounce bottle of beer has about 100 calories. I must add that if your doctor has specifically forbidden alcohol, then you no reason take it. If he has not, there is no reason why you can't have your evening bottle of beer. Let your doctor guide your diet, not your friend.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is it a rule or a law that during stomach or abdominal surgery the appendix is removed? — Mrs. M.N.

There is no federal statute that says a surgeon must remove the appendix every time an operation is done within the abdomen. However, it is common practice for surgeons to take out the appendix (if it is easily done) when the abdomen is entered for some other reason, like an exploratory operation.

the purpose is to prevent appendicitis at a later date. Generally, the surgeon informs the patient that he will be doing this. My guess is that there are quite a few people who have missed the opportunity to have an appendicitis attack because of this practice.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor: After reading the newspaper article concerning the ordinances regulating vending machines and food firms I can see where the town of Big Spring is headed. I have said "we should start at the local level in solving our problems" and I believe the time is now!

By what right have our esteemed City Dads and Don Davis to impose their "will" and "great foresight" on the people of Big Spring by regulating food service establishments, retail food stores and vending machines? Is this just another way to raise more money or collect more taxes for the city? What is the reasoning behind this? Is one of our "city dads" or one of their "buddies" in the vending machine business trying to keep competition out of the free market? Under our Constitution the city dads have no right to impose their will on any individual.

The new city ordinance will require an annual fee which is supposed to cover the costs of inspection and upholding the ordinances, according to "city manager Don Davis".

The fees for the businesses are to be prorated according to the number of employees. In the case of the vending machine permits, the fee will be based upon the number of machines operated by the licensee.

This is just another imposition on the businessman which discourages him from hiring employees. This ordinance in the case of the vending machine licensee does nothing but discourage him from increasing the amount of machines he can make available to the people.

Anyone with a little common sense can see that this ordinance (as do most regulations) discourages the businessman's incentive to produce or hire more employees.

What I want to know is, "why do they want to impose these regulations on the businessmen here in Big Spring? Just ask yourself "why"?"

This is why we are losing our free enterprise system. These regulations and ordinances are killing the business and market place of our country and Big Spring. Because of the power of a few "educated disciples" who think they know what is best for "the people", our business in Big Spring must suffer.

There is no one known as "the people". There are only "individuals"; individuals who seek their own self interest, some good, some bad, but at least with our freedom we have the right to choose and to compete. Competition takes care of business with "bad self interest", they simply do not succeed as a business. We don't need the "city dads" to regulate our businesses. Let the individuals and competition of business be the judge of good or bad products (or good or bad food).

If someone does some checking on this regulation of the food service, food retail, and vending business and the reasons behind it, I think we might get a big surprise!

A concerned citizen, C.G. Ghrstarp

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: It seems as if our preacher is always asking for money in his sermons. Do you think this is right? — A.S.

DEAR A.S.: If that is a constant theme, and if it is diverting attention away from the Gospel he is trying to proclaim, then it is probably wrong for your preacher to do this. I am always distressed if I hear a preacher on radio or television spending a great deal of time urging people to send money. I've found that it tends to make some people who are not Christians less open to the true Gospel. The Gospel is the story of God's free grace to us in Christ, and we must never leave the impression that we can purchase our salvation.

However, we need to remember that God's work does require financial support. That was true in the first century, and it is true today. Even Jesus' band of disciples needed a treasurer, and we read of certain women who "were helping to support them out of their own names" (Luke 8:3). I do not believe that it is wrong to remind God's people of the financial needs the church has, or to urge them to give. But certainly it is possible to carry it too far.

I am convinced that many Christians need to think more carefully about the money God has given them, and learn to use it more wisely and completely for God's glory. People often give willingly when they understand several basic principles. We need to understand that the ultimate giver is God himself. Christ gave everything — including his life — so we might be saved. "Though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, so that you might share his poverty which became rich" (2 Corinthians 8:9). How can we selfishly hold on to everything we have, when Christ gave his all for us?

We also need to realize that Christ is to be Lord of every area of our lives — including our pocketbooks.

Has own racket

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Mel Weinberg, the filmman man who was the FBI's undercover operative and star witness in the ABSCAM cases, has made out like a bandit.

Not only did Weinberg collect more than $133,000 in pay and bonuses from the government, but there are serious allegations in official files that he wangled expensive gifts from some of the individuals who were targets of the FBI's "sting" operation. The gifts reportedly included gold watches, color television sets, stereo and recording equipment and a microwave oven.

WHAT IS EVEN MORE shocking is evidence that when two ABSCAM prosecutors reported Weinberg's predatory shenanigans to the Justice Department, top officials discussed the possibility of getting rid of the evidence and coaching Weinberg on how to answer questions about the gifts.

Obviously, if Weinberg's scam-within-a-scam had been made public, it would have been devastating to the FBI's operation. The government has insisted that Weinberg was under tight control by the FBI at all times, and was strictly following orders when he lured members of Congress and other political figures into the ABSCAM net.

But it is clear, from files reviewed by my associate Indy Badhwar, that Weinberg was out of control, using the ABSCAM caper to feather his own nest. And it appears that Justice Department officials covered up for him rather than risk destroying his believability as a government witness.

The two assistant prosecutors, Edward J. Plaza and Robert A. Weir, complained about Weinberg in a memorandum last December to then-Assistant Attorney General Philip Heymann. They charged that Weinberg had extracted gifts from ABSCAM targets by implying that they were for the fictitious Arab sheik he claimed to represent. He worked his con game, among others, on Camden Mayor Angelo Richetti and on George Katz, a co-defendant of Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., according to the records.

Last June, a worried Weir met with Deputy Assistant Attorney General Irvin Nathan and chief ABSCAM prosecutor Thomas Puccio, and brought up the subject of Weinberg's gifts. Weir later acknowledged under oath that Puccio said he was aware Weinberg had received a microwave oven. Puccio said he would have removed from Weinberg's house and would coach him on what to say about it, as Weir recalled.

HE ALSO QUOTED Nathan as saying Weinberg had produced a receipt showing that he had bought the oven himself. But when Weir suggested an independent FBI investigation of the matter, Nathan assigned the inquiry to Puccio instead.

Last January, in a memo to Heymann, Nathan wrote that Puccio had denied saying he was aware of the microwave oven gift and that he himself did not recall any mention of a receipt. In a subsequent court proceeding, Weir testified under oath that Nathan's memo was false, "and Mr. Nathan knows it's false."

Just 10 days after the meeting at which Weir expressed his concern about Weinberg's behavior, he and Plaza were taken off the ABSCAM case by Nathan.

The loot that Weinberg allegedly extorted from ABSCAM targets is listed in the Weir-Plaza memo of last December as three gold watches, a $900 video cassette recorder, a $1,200 stereo set, three color TVs and the microwave oven.

Weinberg initially was paid $1,000 a month for his middleman services, but in February 1979 this was increased to $3,000 a month, and in November of that year to $5,000 a month. He also received a lump sum of $15,000 in June 1979, and a $5,000 "bonus" in November 1979.

INSIDE THE KREMLIN: In private conversations with satellite leaders, Russia's Leonid Brezhnev has accused Ronald Reagan of adopting a right-wing philosophy that could end detente and jeopardize the peace.

— Under Brezhnev, the Old Guard has become entrenched. "Vacancies have usually been filled by promotion within the appropriate party organization," reports the CIA. This has produced "a malaise among younger party officials, bored with the 'old ways' and restless at the lack of headroom."

— A top-secret CIA analysis contends: "Young people will have to be brought into the party in substantially greater numbers in the 1980s just to maintain the low rate of youth recruitment. That would reopen the possibility of (a) generational conflict."

— The Soviet leadership is dominated by the Russians, Ukrainians and Byelorussians. Most "underrepresented," says an intelligence report, are "the Turkic nationalities" with Muslim backgrounds.

— Brezhnev has stifled initiative. "Dangerous new ideas — for example, that a party official should be chosen for some expertise other than Marxism-Leninism — have been quashed," states a top secret analysis. "Brezhnev has opted for stability. The next long-term party chief may well be confronted with rising pressures for change in the party, as well as other Soviet institutions."

FISH STORY: Not long before he left office, President Nixon was given eight rare carp by the Japanese government. He turned the fish over to the National Aquarium and a plaque was put up acknowledging the gift. What the public doesn't know is that only two of the fish now swimming about in the tank were part of the original gift. Six died, and were quietly replaced by look-alikes. The plaque is unchanged because, as an official explained, no one would know the difference "unless you worked here."

Cuban immigration status slowed by review

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The acting commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service says the Reagan administration is working rapidly to develop a policy on immigration status for Cuban refugees.

David Crosland said Thursday the INS has refused to grant permanent resident alien status to the 125,000 Cubans who arrived in the United States aboard the "Freedom Flotilla" last year until the policy review is completed.

The review is being performed by Reagan's Inter-agency Task Force on Immigration, which is scheduled to deliver its report to the president on Monday, Crosland said.

He said a 1966 law granted permanent resident alien status to all Cubans who had been in the United States for one year. The law was never repealed and Crosland said some of the refugees who arrived last year already are eligible for the status, the first step toward citizenship.

The Carter administration had urged Congress to repeal the 1966 law and pass new legislation that would give the refugees a blanket status of "special entrant," Crosland said. However, he said Congress never acted on that request.

Crosland refused to reveal what action the task force would recommend to the president. He said he expected Reagan to set the status policy by early summer, but added, "I'm not going to put any deadlines on the president."

Four-year-old was 'tortured'

HOUSTON (AP) — A doctor who examined the bloody, naked body of four-year-old Tommy simply labeled the cause of death as "child abuse."

A paramedic who found the little boy lying on the floor of a squalid low-rent Houston apartment called it "torture."

But juvenile officers and the staff at Twelve Oaks Hospital agreed — never had they encountered such a pitiful case.

The boy's mother and her live-in boyfriend, both 26, were arrested and questioned at the police station where "they were acting as if their neighbor's dog got run over," one officer said.

Authorities refused to identify the suspects or the victim's last name and said charges have not been filed.

Paramedics found Tommy's lifeless body Thursday, lying on his back, just inside the front door of the second-story apartment.

"He wasn't breathing," said paramedic M.J. Augun.

"There were penetration wounds of the rectum and scrotum and mouth. There were cigarette burns on the upper portion of the body and the buttocks. There was a small stab wound and some hair loss. There were burns on the scalp, too. There were contusions and lacerations," he said. "Some of the wounds were new, some old."

Doctors at Twelve Oaks added malnutrition and a broken rib to the list.

Some neighbors living in the complex that rests in an otherwise upper middle-class neighborhood on the fringe of the affluent River Oaks section later recalled hearing screams coming from the apartment perched at the top of the stairs.

But not until the Fire Department's emergency ambulance switchboard received the call Thursday afternoon did authorities learn the gruesome details surrounding the little blond-haired boy's life.

The man who telephoned said the boy's heart "had stopped beating."

The child was rushed to the hospital where doctors and nurses began unsuccessful "normal routine" life-saving efforts.

Paramedics returned to the fire station about two blocks from the apartment. Although police had been notified, Augun said, other firemen feared the man at the apartment would leave before officers arrived.

Station Capt. Lennie Higgins told a pumper crew to go back and keep an eye on things until police arrived.

"When they (the ambulance crew) told us about the kind of thing — a lot of us have kids — it just hurts," Higgins said.

Crew member Harvey Visnaw saw the man leave the apartment and shouted he needed some more information.

Low carbohydrate diet proves ineffective, states article

The famous Scarsdale diet is familiar to millions of overweight Americans. But, a recent issue of "Nutrition and the M.D." newsletter, a publication for health professionals, claims the popular low-carbohydrate diet is "minimally effective," and has left many disillusioned dieters in its wake.

"The rapid weight loss typical of any low-carbohydrate diet is nothing new," the publication says.

"But just like all the other fad diets that fall into this category, the Scarsdale diet functions primarily as a diuretic. Dieters using the plan have lost as much as 20 pounds in two weeks, but most of the weight loss was water that returned within a month after discontinuation of the restrictive diet."

In addition to being generally ineffective, the publication points out the following problems inherent in this popular low-fat, high-protein, low carbohydrate, low-calorie diet:

Vitamins and minerals are lost because the diuretic effects of the diet, and its limited food intake hinders their replacement. The diet does not recommend supplements.

Milk products are permitted only twice a week, virtually guaranteeing inadequate calcium intake. This is a condition that could result in the weakening of the skeletal structure if adhered to for extended periods of time.

The diet does not clearly outline the quantity of foods to be eaten.

The on-again, off-again approach to dieting inherent in low-carbohydrate diets causes major shifts in body water and tends to set the stage for food binges with a

Dear Abby

Ex-Husband Now Nearest, But Not Dearest

DEAR ABBY: Harold and I were divorced a year ago. As part of the property settlement, I got the house, and Harold got the vacant lot next to it that we also owned. My home and the vacant lot share a common, private driveway. Harold is now building a house on that lot. (He's a building contractor.) I just learned that when the house is finished, he and his girlfriend and her children will move into it! I think this is going a bit too far. I am living here with my children, who are also Harold's, and under the circumstances I think living next door to my "ex," his girlfriend and her children would be very awkward for all concerned.

Harold insists that he needs this house he's building to live in. He says he is presently renting and can't afford to do anything else.

My house is in need of numerous repairs and could not be sold until such repairs are made, which I can't afford right now. So I am stuck.

Have you a solution?

STUCK IN A SMALL TOWN

DEAR STUCK: Obviously you can't prevent Harold from moving into the house he's building, so awkward or not, prepare to have him as your neighbor. Since you can't afford to change your address at this time, I suggest you change your attitude. Harold is the father of your children, and it might be nice to have a man around the house — even if he's not yours.

DEAR ABBY: After 10 years of marriage, my husband decided he wanted out. No reason. He just wanted out. We are both 32. I still love him very much and didn't want him to leave, but I had no choice, so I accepted his decision with a heavy heart.

We have been apart for nearly a year, and now that I am beginning to adjust to the separation, he decides that he "misses being married." He says he wants to come back for six weeks, then he will decide whether he wants to stay with me forever or stay away forever.

What do you think?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Why should he dictate the terms of a possible reconciliation? Don't take him back unless you find out what went wrong with your marriage in the first place. Before allowing him to come back, see a family counselor, and insist that he get counseling, too. It's available through your Family Service Association. (It's in the phone book.) The organization offers excellent, confidential help, and fees are based on ability to pay.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are facing an upcoming event with great joy and trepidation. We will soon be adopting an infant. For us it will be an occasion for much happiness after many years of failing to conceive a baby.

Our anticipated problem concerns my husband's parents, who live close enough for monthly visits. Grandma and Grampa are less than thrilled about our adopting a child, even though it will be an infant of our racial background. (They make Archie Bunker look like a liberal.)

Our fear is the rejection of our child, which could cause a family split. There are natural grandchildren to compare our child with.

We hope our fears are ill-founded, but if discrimination occurs, what should we do?

EXPECTANT PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: I suggest you give no thought to what Grandma and Grampa "might" say, do or think. Should your fears become realities, write again, and I will offer some appropriate suggestions.

(Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply, write to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Mother, grandmother make maternity ward a family affair

GARLAND, Texas (AP) — A room in the maternity ward at Garland Memorial Hospital this week contained two mothers, three daughters, two sisters, a grandmother, an aunt and a niece — but there were only four people in the room.

How could that be? Well, it was like this:

Last Friday, Jimmie Bosley became a grandmother for the first time when her daughter, Sue Duncan, gave birth to a 6-pound, 6-ounce girl, Lindsay Rachelle.

Sunday, grandma gave birth to Jodie Juanita, who is Sue's sister and Lindsay's aunt. Jodie, the aunt, who is two days younger than Lindsay, the niece, weighed in at 6 pounds, 14 ounces.

Mother and daughter shared a room in the maternity ward while their daughters shared the nursery.

"Mother was so excited when I had my baby, that I think that's why she came on in and had hers," said Mrs. Duncan. "I just couldn't believe it. My baby's aunt was just born two days late."

Neither Mrs. Duncan nor her 38-year-old mother had expected to be having their babies so close together. Mrs. Duncan said her baby was due in mid-March and that her mother's was due in late April or early May. But one was late and the other a little early.

For Mr. and Mrs. George Bosley of Garland, it was their sixth child and for Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Duncan of Forney, it was their first.

TIA bid to control Continental Airways rejected

WASHINGTON — The Civil Aeronautics Board Thursday turned down a "reverse trustee" proposal by Texas International Airlines in its ownership bid for Continental Airlines.

The CAB, in a 4-1 decision, also restricted TIA's ability to vote its 48 percent ownership of Continental at a stockholder's meeting May 6 in Denver.

The board, which regulates airline mergers to stop anti-competitive situations, said TIA can only vote on issuance of new stock and a proposed Continental-Western merger if the subjects are raised at the meeting.

Under the reverse trustee proposal, TIA would have been put in the hands of an independent trustee, thus freeing the company to have majority ownership of Continental without merging two airlines.

In the last few months, the 10,400 employees of Continental also have offered to buy the company by giving up pay increases for five years and raising $185 million to buy 51 percent of the shares of the company.

Paul Eckel, chairman of the employee group, said Thursday, "Today's decision by the CAB is a gratifying and hard-won victory for the employees of Continental Airlines."

Eckel said Frank Lorenzo, president of Texas Air Corp., TIA parent company, has been "frustrated" in his attempt to take control of Continental.

However, Ted Lopatkiewicz, a spokesman for the CAB, said the ruling essentially leaves the fate of Continental to the board of directors who could allow issuance of new stock.

over an airlines that we have built," Eckel said. "We want to buy it. It's legal and its good business."

About 40 employees of Continental Airlines, which serves 26 cities nationwide and seven in Texas, rallied on the steps of the Capitol Monday protesting the possible TIA takeover.

Eckel said Continental was hurt by deregulation of the airlines industry two years ago and the three-month grounding of DC-10s in 1979 because of engineering defects.

After deregulation, Continental stopped flying out of Wichita Falls and Dallas. Continental currently serves Houston, El Paso, San Antonio, Lubbock, Austin, Midland and Odessa.

Most of Continental's employees, including pilots, stewardesses, maintenance personnel, and clerks, voted for the employee ownership plan and have sent letters to the CAB protesting the Lorenzo bid.

1,500 prison inmates face disciplinary action for strike

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — About 1,500 disgruntled inmates at the Ellis Unit of the Texas Department of Corrections must end a three-day-old strike or face disciplinary action, prison officials say.

The striking inmates, who have demanded TDC Director W.J. Estelle and his staff resign, refused to work for a second day Thursday to protest the state's appeal of a federal prison reform order.

TDC spokesman Rick Hartley said about 600 inmates returned to work Thursday and the rest of the prisoners would be asked to return to their prison jobs today. No incidents have been reported during the work stoppage at the unit, which houses about 3,000 prisoners, Hartley said.

"They will be invited to go back to their jobs and if they continue to refuse there will be disciplinary action," Hartley said.

However, Hartley declined to put a time limit on the return-to-work order or say what action might be taken if the strike continued.

"We are trying to be as fair as we can with these people," he said. "The inmates have reiterated that it

Cub Pack 305 awards made

Cub Pack 305 recognized several boys at the Tuesday meeting for achievements and participation. To avoid conflict with the Centennial, the next meeting has been moved up to May 19 in the First Baptist Activities Building.

Tim McQueary received his Bear badge and gold arrow point. Service pins went to Christopher Pierce and Ricky Swafford, along with participation awards together with Ben Fritzier, Chuck Brandenburg and Tim McQueary.

Leader awards went to Mrs. Barbara McQuary, Linda Brandenburg and Ann Fritzier. Glenn Pierce, Cubmaster, received the pack charter for the year from Joe Pickle, representing the church pack committee.

is a peaceful strike and there have not been any incidents."

Estelle said in Austin Thursday the strike also was partly due to remarks attributed to an assistant warden which appeared in the Dallas Morning News Sunday.

G.P. Hardy, 45, resigned Tuesday after he was quoted as saying "Hell, these people (inmates) were brought up in crowded homes. They are used to crowds. These people were raised by prostitutes and slept on the floor."

Hardy has denied the quotes and said, "If I'd had said that, then I should have been fired."

A guard at the Ellis Unit who asked to remain anonymous said, "Everybody in a Walker County knows it is a short fuse, a stick of dynamite. They've been wanting to do it for a long time. That newspaper story just set it off."

Hartley said striking inmates told TDC officials they want the state to drop its appeal of a federal court order to upgrade the Texas prison system. The order came as a result of a suit filed in 1972 by prison inmates.

U.S. Dist. 2 judge William Wayne Justice has ordered the state to reduce the prison population, to provide better medical care for inmates and to refrain from violating inmates' constitutional rights.

In addition, the inmates demand that those involved in agricultural work be paid for their labor.

Crying pecan tree attracts hundreds

NEEDHAM, Ala. (AP) — It sounds like a whining puppy, but the noise apparently comes from a huge pecan tree in Linnie Jenkin's yard.

Some believe the ghosts of long-buried Indians or babies are whimpering.

Others seek a more rational explanation, speculating that an animal trapped in a nearby hollow is squealing.

And a forester says gases seeping through tiny slits in the wood may well make a crying noise.

Whatever the reason, the noise is attracting carloads of curiosity-seekers to this rural spot in southwest Alabama.

In fact, so many people have flocked to the 75-foot-tall tree that Mrs. Jenkins has started charging them 50 cents for a chance to listen.

"We thought it was a dog sleep-dreaming," said Mrs. Jenkins, who first heard the sound April 12. "You know how a dog cries out in his sleep when he's sleep-dreaming?"

"Well, we remarked on how it must be a pretty good dream because it was lasting so long."

A local weekly newspaper first reported the phenomenon, and a swarm of tourists descended on this rural community.

The crowds peaked around Easter when the family "had 400 people in the yard here at one time," said Mrs. Jenkins.

She said cars were lined up so far along the narrow roads that the sheriff had to come twice to help with traffic. And a neighboring storekeeper estimated some 3,000 people "spent their Easter Sunday in a traffic jam."

Choctaw County Sheriff's Deputy Kenneth Crenshaw estimated that thousands of people, many armed with tape recorders, have come here to listen to the whimpering pecan.

At first, the crying could be heard several yards away from the pecan, a popular shade and fruit-bearing tree in the South. In recent days, it has grown weaker. A hole in its ear dug at the base of the tree, and a listener can put his ear to a pipe.

The noise sounds like a crying puppy or the bark of a baby seal.

The Jenkins believe the noise emanates from the tree trunk, and they've tried everything they can think of to determine exactly how the sound is made.

They sawed into the tree's base to see if there were hollow roots. They searched the yard for holes and tunnels that small animals could become trapped in.

Red Cross celebrating its 100th anniversary

The American Red Cross is celebrating its 100th anniversary from March through May this year.

Clara Barton founded the organization in 1881.

The Red Cross has distinguished itself at home and abroad over the years, rendering relief in times of disaster, counseling military personnel and veterans and their families, nursing the sick and wounded, involving youth, teaching first aid and water safety and providing blood and blood derivatives for the desperately ill. As it enters its second century of services the Red Cross will continue to seek the support of the public to help carry on its work. The American Red Cross is dependent on donations from the public for financial support.

The Howard-Glasscock Counties chapter needs financial support to continue its standards of excellence in serving the community with its Service to Members of the Armed Forces, Disaster Assistance and Preparedness and CPR programs.

The public is being counted upon to help. Donations can be sent to the Howard-Glasscock Counties chapter, PO Box 1970, Big Spring 79720. Donations are tax-deductible.

FRESH WATER FROM AN OLD WELL

SENIOR ADULT DAY
May 3, 1981

We wish to recognize our Senior Adults and say thank you for all you mean to us. You may know a senior adult who needs a word of encouragement. Bring that special adult to church Sunday.

Upon celebrating his 84th birthday, Dr. R.G. Lee was asked if he was going to keep on preaching? His reply was "When there are so many unsaved people around, when there are sorrowing hearts to be comforted, when so many young people are throwing away in folly's court and carnal pleasure's the wealth God gave them at the start, when there are so many evils against which protest must be made, when so many old people are lonely on the sunset trail, when in 1910 at my ordination, I was married to preaching until death do us part — why should I now, in the 84th year of life keep on preaching?"

- Consider what has been done by men beyond 80:
- When 83 Gladstone for the 4th time became prime minister of Great Britain.
  - Michaelangelo at 89 executed his last judgement perhaps the most famous single picture in the world.
  - John Wesley at 88 was closing his great cover.
  - Edison was still inventing at 90.
  - Wright at 90 — creative architect.
  - Grandma Moses began painting at 79.
  - J.C. Penney was still working at 95.

God has a plan and a purpose for all ages. You will find a place at Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAY 2, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An excellent day to get organized and to schedule your activities for the future. You are more businesslike now and can handle difficult problems in a satisfactory manner.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study new philosophies of life that can be helpful in the future. Make sure your personal life is well organized.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take time to talk with influential persons who can help you in your career. Obtain new ideas of worth from friends.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure you keep important promises made to others and gain their goodwill and respect. Express happiness.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Contact new allies who can be helpful to you in new enterprises. Engage in favorite hobby.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Ideal day to get busy on important duties you've been putting off for a long time. Take needed health treatments.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study your surroundings and make plans for improvement. Contact influential persons who can be helpful to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Ideal day to join congenial at recreations you enjoy. Take a look at a new interest that could prove profitable in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Go to the right sources to garner the data you need in order to make your life more successful in the future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be more concerned with money matters since rising prices require that you have more money. Think constructively.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have a good chance to get what you go after today. A fine talent you have can be expressed at this time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show that you have good common sense and gain the respect of others. Discuss personal plans with friends.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study positive ways to improve the quality of your life. Show more affection for family members. Show that you have wisdom.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can easily comprehend a difficult problem and solve it quickly. Give good religious and moral training early in life so that this becomes a well-balanced life. A good education is important here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

PRECISION

With the right instruments you can calculate to a degree so infinitesimal that it defies human imagination. You can plot, you can plan and come out perfectly every time — if you are dealing with things, not people.

When people enter the picture, intangibles follow. Love, hate, fear, happiness, sorrow, jealousy, trust, envy... you can't measure any of those things. Nor can you measure faith, which is perhaps the biggest "commodity" of all.

Yes, men have figured out almost everything except themselves. Even the world's psychiatrists state freely that most elements of the human equation are quite obscure...

...except before God, that is! Which is another good reason for going to church.

Lutherans to build

ST. LOUIS (AP) — After a plan to build a new headquarters in suburban Clayton was blocked by refusal of the city to grant zoning permits, the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod now plans to build in nearby Kirkwood.

The 9.5-acre site already is zoned for such use, the denomination says. Construction is expected to start this spring with completion by December, 1982.

The denomination, with a headquarters staff of 280, now has rented quarters in downtown St. Louis. A building committee said it explored about 40 possible sites in recommending the new one.

NATURAL FOOD FOR ADVENTIST TOWN — Anna Astalas sacks brown rice recently in Keene's Loma Linda Food Store, which has one of the most extensive arrays of natural foods and meat substitutes in the State. About 90 per cent of Keene's population of 3,400 are Seventh Day Adventists. Most are employed by the town's Southwestern Adventist College, which owns most of the town's businesses including the Loma Linda Food Store.

Keene is Seventh Day Adventist college town which revolves around students

KEENE, Texas (AP) — Travelers whizzing down Highway 67 through this north central Texas town might not notice that the fast food joints end at the city limits. Without stopping, they wouldn't know that the post office is closed on Saturday instead of Sunday and that the only grocery has one of the most extensive arrays of natural foods and meat substitutes in the state.

The modest frame and brick houses that line the highway reveal little about this town of 3,400, 50 miles southwest of Dallas. The only hint comes from a small sign that points the way to Southwestern Adventist College. The college was built in 1893, but it remains the hub of the town, and its largest employer. College President Dr. Don McAdams estimates 90 percent of the town's residents are Seventh Day Adventists, and says most of them are involved with the university.

The college owns most of the town's businesses, including the motel, the gas station, the Loma Linda Food Store, the car wash, the shopping center, Brandon Kitchen Cabinet Co. and Southwestern Color Graphics, a print shop. Together, the college and its businesses gross $15 million a year, McAdams says. Although Keene is the smallest Texas town with a college, tuition ranks among the highest — $152 a semester hour. McAdams says the number of professional programs offered, especially the nursing and pre-medicine programs, require expensive equipment and low teacher-student ratios.

"The way the students pay it is by working," he said. "And that's sort of the essential uniqueness of the town. That's why all these industries are here. About 85 percent of the students work 15 to 20 hours a week. Some businesses — like Nucushion, the nation's largest stick horse manufacturer — are not owned by the university, but they still rely on cheap labor from the 700 college students. "Some of the industries were started by the college specifically for the purpose of providing labor for the students. Others were started by people who just realized that this was a good labor market," McAdams said. Others were taken over by the university when they encountered financial problems. An example is Brandom, the town's largest operation.

"The college, having several hundred students working over there, couldn't take a chance on letting it go under, because then, where would all the students work? So the college ended up buying it out and taking it over," McAdams said. The university-owned businesses operate under the umbrella of Southwestern Diversified Industries, and the college's business manager is the mini-conglomerate's president. Managers of the various businesses are the vice-presidents.

"In a sense, we just change hats. We have a meeting as the board of the college. We then adjourn that meeting and start a meeting as the shareholders of Southwestern Diversified Industries," McAdams said. The businesses "could be run directly by the college, but there are some good reasons why they shouldn't be," he added. "We believe in the separation of church and state, and so these industries are set up as a separate organization. They pay taxes and make a profit and they're chartered by the State of Texas, but the college owns all of the stock."

The Adventists shun all drugs and most are vegetarians, McAdams said. They emphasize fresh air, exercise, and low intakes of salt, sugar and fat. One California study showed Adventists live an average of 6 1/2 years longer than most people.

"Adventists believe that when a person dies, he just dies, that's all. But at some point in time, there will be a resurrection. Adventists believe that will happen soon," McAdams said. When the resurrection comes, Adventists believe, the dead will rise historically — body, mind and spirit. Thus, health is an important doctrine.

The other aspect of the Adventist lifestyle that differs from most Christian denominations is that they worship on Saturday — the seventh day of the week. The Sabbath is strictly kept, and many of them-Adventists in town don't work on Saturdays.

The town has no movie theaters or bars, and students adhere to strict curfews. While blue jeans are in abundance, women students cannot wear dresses above the knee, low-cut necklines or noticeable makeup.

In addition to the usual campus buildings, the students have their own airport and park in the college's vegetarian cafeteria, 20-year-old James Weingardner was campaigning for student body president. His platform? More service projects and more spirituality. The ministerial student from an Antonio said he transferred from Southern Methodist University in Dallas because of the "self-destructiveness there." But he concedes that Southwestern Adventist College has its "own set of sins, especially gossip."

Jeff Bromme, a 20-year-old social science major, doubles as the state's youngest newspaper publisher. He bought the Keene Chronicle for $5,000 last year at age 19. A staunch Democrat, Bromme jabs at the town's Republican majority in his editorials, but says there is no real generation gap in Keene.

"And I don't think there are any revolutionary new changes coming to town," he said. He says he plans to sell the newspaper before attending law school, probably at the secular University of Texas at Austin. Bromme may be an exception, though. Keene continues to grow.

"An Adventist community like this tends to get bigger," McAdams said. "There's a certain number of people who come here to go to school and they sort of stick."

A certain number of parents come here to put their kids in school and they sort of stick."

McAdams says he sees "a definite tendency among Adventists to clannishness," but he tries to discourage it. "I think people should go out and be a part of the society and influence others," he said. "They won't influence anyone just living among themselves."

Soviet and Polish Jews are seeking exodus from persecution as ancestors were in Egypt

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The Passover drama is being relived by the Jews within the Soviet Union and, ironically, by the Poles in Poland, according to the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

Nathan Perlmutter, ADL's national director, said recently in a Passover message that Soviet Jews "like their ancestors in Egypt, are seeking exodus. Their demand is an echo of Moses' repeated appeal to Pharaoh, 'Let my people go.'"

In Poland, he went on to say, "The Polish people are also seeking liberation from Soviet domination. In their own way they, too, are demanding, 'Let my people go.'"

Mr. Perlmutter pointed out that "the modern Pharaohs in the Kremlin" will learn "as Pharaoh learned, people cannot be enslaved forever." That is the message, he said, of Passover, "the festival of freedom."

The full text of Mr. Perlmutter's message follows:

"With the approach of Passover, the festival of freedom, some advice for the modern Pharaohs in the Kremlin:

"Join Jews at the Passover seder which will be taking place even in the Soviet Union. Listen to the story of the liberation of their ancestors from slavery in Egypt. There's a significant lesson in it.

"Of course, the Kremlin bosses will not heed this advice. Pharaoh had no listen either. Yet he did, eventually.

"Somehow oppressors never learn what the oppressed never forget.

"Currently, the Soviet leaders are faced with two modern reprises of the Passover story.

"Within the Soviet Union, its Jewish citizens, like their ancestors in Egypt, are seeking exodus. Their demand is an echo of Moses' repeated appeal to Pharaoh, 'Let my people go.' Thus far, the response of the Kremlin despots has been to fill their gulags with refuseniks.

"In Poland, the Polish people are also seeking liberation from Soviet domination. In their own way, they, too, are demanding, 'Let my people go.' No doubt an invasion by the Red Army can silence them. But to what avail? Inevitably, the Soviet triumph will be shortlived. As Pharaoh learned, people cannot be enslaved forever. The aspirations of the Jews in the Soviet Union and the people in Poland can be crushed for a time but, like truth, they will rise again. If not in one place, then in another. Freedom will not be denied. Not all the gulags and concentration camps in the world can keep it chained.

"This is what the Kremlin leaders will learn if they take our advice and eat the bread of affliction and listen to Soviet Jews recite the hopeful Passover theme: 'Next year we will be free.'"

"And they will understand, too, why, since time immemorial, Jews celebrate Passover and call it 'the festival of freedom.'"

Dr. William Watley speaks at Twelve Tribes rally

Dr. William D. Watley, president of Paul Quinn College in Waco, will be speaking at the Baker's Chapel AME Church, 911 N. Lancaster, at 3 p.m. for the Twelve Tribes of Israel Rally.

Born in St. Louis, Mo. to Rev. and Mrs. Matthew A. Watley, he graduated from Beaumont High School in 1964 where he was president of the Student Council and the St. Louis City Wide Student Council.

Watley entered St. Louis University where he majored in Theology with minors in Philosophy and Secondary Education. While there he received the four year Meadowood Scholarship and served as Associate Pastor of the Ward Chapel AME Church in Kinloch, Mo. After receiving a Bachelor of Arts Degree, he entered the Interdenominational Theological Center (I.T.C.) in Atlanta, Ga., where he received the Master of Divinity Degree and was valedictorian of the 1971 graduating class. While at I.T.C., he received the Protestant Fellowship Award (1969-1971); the Directors Award (1970-1971); the Faculty Scholarship Award (Highest Ranking Student) 1971; the Willis J. King Award (Excellence in Old Testament Studies) 1971, and the Turner Preaching Award also in 1971.

Watley received a Master of Philosophy Degree in 1977, and in 1980 he received the Ph.D. Degree from Columbia University in the field of Social Ethics. The title of his dissertation was "Against Principalities: An Examination of Martin Luther King, Jr.'s Non-violent Ethic." William Watley is a minister in the African Methodist Episcopal Church. He has served as pastor of the Elberton Circuit, Elberton, Ga., the Union A.M.E. Church in Warwick, N.Y., and the Macedonia A.M.E. Church in Flushing, N.Y. He has also served as a Neighborhood Youth Corps Counselor for the Human Development Corporation in St. Louis, Mo.; a counselor for the Migrant Voluntary Improvement Program in Pennsylvania Council of Churches.

In 1974 and 1980 he was selected to appear in the Awards Volume of Outstanding Young Men in America. He was also listed in the 1980 edition of Who's Who in Black America. Dr. Watley is married to the former Muriel Annette Lewis, and is the father of two children, Jennifer Elaine and Matthew Lawrence.

Risen Christ remains a Jew

GARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — A New Testament scholar says Christians tend to overlook biblical material indicating that "God's continuing good will toward Jews" is "not only compatible with the Gospel, but necessary for the very demonstration of its goodness."

The Rev. John Koenig, a Lutheran who teaches at New York's General Episcopal Seminary, told an ecumenical meeting that the "deeper implications of our incarnational theology" holding that "God entered human life in the Jew, Jesus — also must hold that the 'risen Christ, too, remains a Jew.'"

Church is in a tax dilemma

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Even though a jury ruled a local church is liable for taxes on its broadcast ministry office for two previous years, a church attorney says he believes the verdict means the same space has been tax exempt since 1979.

"We're terribly pleased it turned out the way we think," said Glenn Heatherly, attorney for the Highland Church of Christ.

The jury ruled the offices of Herald of Truth, which produces services for radio and television, were not tax exempt under the state law in effect in 1978 and 1979.

But a new law that took effect in 1980 meant the office would have been entitled to an exemption for that year, the jury ruled.

Heatherly said he thought that verdict "prospectively" could obtain the exemption for the Herald of Truth in future years.

But the jury of 11 — minus a 12th member who had a heart attack Monday afternoon — also said it found no waiver of formal requirements for application for the exemption by church officials.

Heatherly, however, said a 1980 law requiring formal application for exemptions by churches and schools does not take effect until next Jan. 1. The old law containing the same requirements was repealed Jan. 1, 1980.

Five taxing entities sought a combined $36,033 from the church in back taxes, but the amount the church actually must pay will be decided by state District Judge J. Neil Daniel.

The jury said the church was liable for taxes for 1978 and 1979 for the television ministry offices because the space did not qualify as a place of worship under the law in effect during those two years.

During 1980, however, the jury found the Herald of Truth used the same space primarily as a place of religious worship because the 1980 law specifically includes exemptions for places used to disseminate worship programs over television and radio.

Dr. Jack Ridlehoover, pastor of the Pioneer Drive Baptist Church, had testified that the activities of the Herald of Truth constituted worship, both for the viewers and listeners and for the staff that prepared the broadcasts.

Only the preparatory and creative work was done on the church property, he said, while the taping of the services was done elsewhere.

Would Jesus defend Israel?

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP) — A Protestant Bible scholar says that "if Jesus were alive now he probably would be standing alongside his people in defense of Israel."

The Rev. John T. Townsend of Episcopal Divinity School in Cambridge, Mass., says Jesus was crucified because he stood with his land and people against the military occupation.

"The evidence of Jesus' life demonstrates his concern that his people and the land of Israel might be free of Roman domination," Townsend told a Princeton Jewish seminar at Princeton Theological Seminary.

He said Jesus was condemned on charges of "treason against Rome" but the fact was obscured "by the early church partly because it was in danger of Roman persecution."

Townsend said Christians generally "do not see the earthly Jesus through the eyes of his contemporaries."

People's Republic of China pictures to be shown at First United Methodist

A special presentation, "AROUND THE BAMBOO CURTAIN IN 45 MINUTES," will be given Sunday, 7 p.m. in Garrett Hall at the First United Methodist Church.

At the invitation of the Chinese Government, J. Herschel Fisher and his wife, Betty, were members of a delegation spending 21 days in the People's Republic of China, touring major cities and rural areas. Some of the places visited have only recently been opened to western visitors.

The trip was organized as an Architectural Study Mission by the American Institute of Architects.

Armed with two cameras and a portable tape recorder, he made an audio-visual record of his experience consisting of 1600 color slides and 21 hours of tapes which

Dr. Oswald C.J. Hoffman to speak

NEW YORK — The world-renowned, Lutheran radio preacher and United Bible Societies (UBS) president, Dr. Oswald C.J. Hoffman, will be the principal speaker at the 165th annual meeting of the American Bible Society (ABS).

The meeting, to be held May 14 at New York's Pierre Hotel, will draw together supporters of the Bible cause, as well as board members, ABS staff and guests of the Society.

Mrs. Ewald H. Mueller, a member of the Executive Committee of the ABS Board of Managers and a prominent Lutheran churchwoman with a deep interest in the Bible cause, will deliver the 1980 report of ABS's global outreach in Scripture translation and distribution.

Dr. Hoffmann, widely recognized as an outstanding Protestant church leader, was first elected President of UBS in 1977. He was unanimously re-elected at the UBS Council of Bible Society leaders from throughout the world at their recent meeting in Chaing Mai, Thailand.

At that time Dr. Hoffmann declared: "It is apostolic that the Word of God should grow, as people come to know Jesus Christ, their Savior. Let us pray that His people will catch the vision that His Word for all might be in the hands of all."

Dr. Hoffmann was first elected to the ABS Board of Managers in 1964. He is currently a member of the Translations Subcommittee of which he was chairman from 1974 to 1977.

He was ordained to the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod in 1939 and has served the church as a parish pastor, college professor, film production advisor, public relations executive and radio speaker. He was named Fisher, a practicing architect, is Chairman of the Board of Fisher and Spillman, Architects, Inc. He is a member of Tyler Street United Methodist Church of Dallas, a past chairman of its Board and teacher of the Mr. and Mrs. Class. He toured Japan on a speaking mission in 1961 with Dr. E. Stanley Jones. He is the father of Jim Fisher who is an instructor of English at the Texas SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, and is a member of the First United Methodist Church of Big Spring.

The evening will begin with a Covered Dish Dinner at 6 p.m. and the presentation will begin at 7 p.m. The public is invited. A nursery will be provided.

Anti-dote to divorce is offered at 14th and Main

Each year since 1975 more than one million divorces have been granted. Divorce has become so common that Paul Click, senior demographer of the Census Bureau's population division, predicts that unless something is done to curb the divorce rate more than 40 percent of all marriages may dissolve in divorce.

In an effort to curb the divorce rate and strengthen the home, Willard Tate of Abilene has been invited to deliver a series of messages on "The Home" at the 14th & Main Church of Christ, May 3-6. The first message will be Sunday morning at 10, "We Can Make It," with "Practical Suggestions" following at 6 p.m. Monday through Wednesday sermons will be delivered at 7:30 p.m. and will be: "Discipline," "The Number One Problems Facing the Home" and "The Magic Touch".

Tate is a native of Alabama and a 1961 graduate of Alabama Christian College, in addition to the B.A. degree from Alabama Christian he has earned degrees from Auburn University and Alabama State.

Following 13 successful years as coach at Alabama Christian he moved to Abilene in 1974 where he served as head coach of the Abilene Christian University Basketball Program. During his seven years at A.C.U. he posted a 119-79 record and in 1980 led them to the quarter finals of the N.A.I.A. national tournament with a season record of 27-5.

Tate preaches for the Hamby Church of Christ near Abilene and is in demand as a speaker for youth gatherings and for special programs on marriage and the home.

Baptist convention leader is challenged

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Rev. Bailey Smith's leadership of the Southern Baptist Convention is being challenged by some Baptist laymen and ministers — and one pastor says the group wants to block Smith's expected re-election attempt.

Dr. Bill Sherman, pastor of the Woodmont Baptist Church in Nashville, on Friday said the group of about 20 met this week in Memphis to discuss their problems.

The group is "distressed, concerned and disturbed" by some recent Smith appointments to the most powerful and influential committee of the convention, the "committee on committees," he said.

Sherman said Smith's appointments reflect complete domination of one church group called "biblical literalists," a conservative group that supports the "inerrancy of doctrine." The group is led by Judge Paul Pressler of Houston and Dr. Paige Patterson of Dallas.

Dr. Earl Davis, pastor of the Memphis First Baptist Church, said at the time of Smith's election to the convention's presidency last year that Smith promised his appointments would be balanced, reflecting literalists and the "denominational loyalists," as the dissidents call themselves.

"We're not going to sit idly by and let them take over our convention and bump honorable people from the committee on committees," Sherman said.

Attempts to locate Smith were unsuccessful Friday. A secretary at his church, First Southern Baptist of Del City, said the church office is closed until Monday.

Smith, 42, is expected to seek a second term at the convention's June meeting in Los Angeles. He was elected in June 1980 in St. Louis after Dr. Adrian Rogers of Memphis decided to forego a second term.

Hillcrest Baptist sets Senior Citizen Day

Senior Adult Day will be observed in the Hillcrest Baptist Church, located at 2000 FM 700 Big Spring on Sunday.

The morning worship hour at 11 O'clock will recognize and honor older adults for their strategic service in the church and community. Special activities are planned for this observance being celebrated in many of the 35,605 churches affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention.

"Since senior adults, age 60 and above, represent approximately one-fifth of our congregation, the Hillcrest Baptist Church pays tribute and expresses appreciation to them on this special occasion," states Pastor Phillip McClendon.

Mr. Bizarre has strange ways in Houston Open

HOUSTON (AP) — Gary McCord describes himself as "kind of bizarre." And the more he talks, in the fast-paced patter he uses in his magic act, the more believable his assessment becomes. "I am a resident of the planet Bluthar," he announces, and it's impossible to determine if there is a smile lurking beneath his Fu-Manchu moustache. "I have created my own environment. I won't let anybody else in. They wouldn't understand it," he said. And the explanation of his putting magic that produced week of this season. Five times during Thursday's game, Kansas City hitters demanded that the umpire check the balls Honeycutt was throwing and once manager Jim Frey came from the dugout to demand that the umpires be alert for any tricks. "None of the players said anything to me, though, and I didn't have any tacks on me, so that was just my straight stuff," Honeycutt said. "I get checked a lot, especially when my sinker is working like it was tonight." Kansas City third baseman George Brett, who had one of the Royals' five singles, said, "Honeycutt's ball was moving pretty good, but I guess he didn't have anything (illegal) on it, because the ump said he didn't."

Celtics feel 1st half must improve vs. Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Boston Celtics are hoping they won't need a halftime pep talk to shake them out of the doldrums tonight when they try to break their Spectrum jinx in Game 6 of their National Basketball Association playoff series against the Philadelphia 76ers. "We've proved that we're a good second-half club," said Celtics star Larry Bird. "Now we have to stay with them in the first half. We can't keep digging holes for ourselves." Reserve center Rick Robey put it more graphically. "Lately we seem to be putting ourselves into graves and then clawing our way through most of the game. The Rockets, who finished the regular season with a 40-42 record, are the third NBA team to reach the championship series with a losing record in the regular season, none of which surprises Harris. "I can't say I'm surprised," Harris said. "I knew we'd make it someday, but I didn't know it would be this year. But I knew we'd be playing for that ring some day."

For Reynolds, who hit only three home runs in his two previous seasons with the Astros, his two-run shot just inside the right field foul line was his second in two nights. "I don't have any new-found power. It was just one of those things. I happened to be in the right ball park. In our ball park (Astrodome), it doesn't even hit the wall," said Reynolds. The Braves scored their only run in the fourth on a walk, a single by Glenn Hubbard and a sacrifice fly by Bruce Benedict. "We just didn't hit," said Atlanta Manager Bobby Cox, whose club has fallen below .500 at 9-10. "When we play at home I feel we can beat their summer fishing trips by at least two days. But Philadelphia still leads the best-of-seven series 3-2 and can wrap it up tonight in the Spectrum, where they have beaten Boston in their last eight meetings. "I don't know if they're due or not," said 76ers forward Bobby Jones, "but they'll have to earn it." And to earn it they'll have to avoid falling too far behind in the first half. In their last two games here the Celtics came storming from way back, but the 76ers were able to hold on and win both times. "We're going to need 48 minutes of air-tight basketball (to win tonight)," said Robey. "And that's something we haven't had so far in this series. We've yet to put together four good quarters." If they do, they'll return home for a seventh and deciding game on Sunday. "I predicted there would be a Game 6 and now I'm predicting that if we just put together the kind of game we're capable of, there will be a Game 7 Sunday and we'll win that one, too," vowed Celtics forward Cedric Maxwell. "We've been down like this before, but when we get together, we get a feeling we're unbeatable. We're excited about finally winning in Philly — it's a challenge to us." If they don't meet that challenge, Philadelphia will advance to the title series for the second straight year, facing the West champion Houston Rockets starting Sunday. The 76ers lost to Los Angeles in six games for the 1980 crown. The 76ers hope to have the full services of playmaker
