JAS. E. FERGUSON FOR U. S. SENATE

Spoke At Court House At 2 o'clock In Interest Of His Candidacy—Is a Former Governor.

FAVORS A LOW INTEREST RATE

Opposes Advances Of Federalism Against The Personal Liberties Of Citizens—Knocks Rent Hog.

Speaking before the largest crowd that has gathered in Sweetwater this year to hear a candidate for the United States Senate, former Governor James E. Ferguson stressed the fact that a man has the liberty to desert his party in order to retain his political principles and possesses the same right to return when the principles are restored.

Mr. Ferguson was ably introduced by T. Ward Woodruff, who spoke at length upon the past achievements of the former Governor.

Mr. Ferguson favors a low interest rate upon loans, preferably not to exceed 6 per cent a year, and against the restriction of the free ballot. He spoke in part as follows:

He spoke in part as follows: After the law is passed that will give us an increased circulation of money, I want another law that will prevent anybody or any bank, State or national, from charging a rate of interest that is over 6 per cent annum. The purpose of money is not and never was to be loaned for profit.

To keep the wealth of the country from being centralized, I want to pass a law that will prevent any bank or trust company from loaning and depositing over 15 per cent of its average yearly deposits and where the deposits are seven times the capital I would tax them 2 per cent.

After we kill the interest hog there is another one that I want to knock over. He is the rent hog, who is a twin brother to the interest hog. Profiteering in rent has become a matter of national peril. It has become the custom in cities where they can't loan money at 30 per cent they build martin-bug bungalows and rent them at 36 percent on the cost.

My friends, when we begin to realize how bad it is to interfere or restrict a free ballot, it is easy to see how dangerous it is to interfere with other liberties of the citizen. If a citizen is entitled to freedom of thought and conscience as to how he will use that ballot and the privilege which that ballot brings, if a man is to be free, then above all, he must be free in matters of conscience, in religion and in pursuit of happiness. These are not only constitutional guarantees but they are rights which the conscience and judgment of all man kind ought to be guaranteed to the individual.

In determining the rights of the citizen, it is not so much what the citizen thinks or does, as it is the right of the citizen to do or think as he may desire, that the law intends to guarantee. Every time we get away from these rights we get into trouble.

While the name would indicate that the Federal Reserve system is a government owned institution yet it is private institution owned by the banks of the country, who use the credit of the Government for profit and they are given the power to issue money to be loaned to the people at interest.

FRESHMEN GRADUATE

Grammar School Students Receive Diplomas At High School Last Night.

Fifty-two, prospective Freshmen received the official credentials at the Grammar School Graduating Exercises at the High School Tuesday night. The class address was delivered by Rev. E. H. McLaurin. The balance of the program consisted of two choruses, valedictory by Alvin Robert Kendrick, "The Americanization Problem" given by S. Edwards, a number by Horace Heath, Jr. in very able manner, Mendelsohn's "Schegzo" very prettily played by Thelma Lee Carter and the presentation of diplomas by Dr. Chapman.

Rev. McLaurin spoke as follows— I consider it an honor to be invited to share with you these graduation exercises and I want to extend to you my congratulations on your having completed this much of your education. If I may make a wish for you in this hour, it would be that four years from now everyone of this class might be on this platform for graduation exercises from the high school.

It is not necessary to speak to you of the value of an education. An education today is a necessity. All of you have received the best that our teachers have been able to give you. You have learned the same things, but you will not make the same use of them. Finish does not make furniture but the kind of wood used in its construction. So education does not make a man or woman, a boy or girl. What you do with your education makes the difference between you and the man who does not have it.

Will you ask yourself the question tonight, "What do I stand for?" That is the important thing for you to decide.

If two boys go to a business man and ask for work, one will be selected and the other rejected, although they may be equally fitted and educated. Why is this? It is because one stands for more in the community than the other. One is more reliable. Do you remember reading an incident in the life of Lee, that great hero of the south? The Louisiana Lottery Company wanted to use his name as an official in that company. The purpose was to take great sums of money from the southern people. They offered Lee $10,000 if he would allow them to use his name. General Lee said, "No I cannot dishonor my name or myself in any such way."

Honor then is one thing that all of you boys and girls alike, must ever carefully guard. Your class colors are blue and white. Let the white ever remind you of your honor which should be kept spotless.

I would say that blue stands for loyalty. Loyalty to honor, loyalty to conscience, loyalty to truth. Be loyal to your best selves and then you can be false to no man. Be loyal to your parents and their ideals for you are loyal to your country and your God. "What do you stand for?" That is the question. Try to live in such a way that you stand for something, for honor, for right living, high character, and for God.

The following students received their diplomas from the Grammar school.

Pauline Arnold, Edwin Alken, Bonner Allredgo, Fred Chapman, Thelma Lee Carter, Albert Dason Sie Edwards, Walter Fitzgerald, Bruce Gibson, Ethel Hope, Bill Goff, Tommy Hardin, Horace Heath, Jr., Alvin Kendrick, James Payne, E. J. Posy, Luther Pence, Devany Neal, Bernard Richardson, James Wallace, Gordon Webb, Eva Mae Johnson, Ruth Lohman, Jack McGlaun, Louise Morton, Anna Will Cox, Emma Inman, Mondel Russell, Bernice Ragland, Dorothy Armstrong, Bill Sheridan, Frank White, E. ### TOURIST CAMP FOR BRADY

BRADY, May 31—In a few days Brady's tourist park will be a reality. A gang of Mexicans is grubbing the stumps and cleaning out the underbrush, while the local electric company is installing lights throughout the picturesque little park. The Chamber of Commerce is preparing to erect a camp house.

HOOVER PROTEST COAL PRICE HIKE

Calls Upon 1,500 Non-Union Operators To Reduce The Price Of Fuel To A "Fair Level."

CLAIMS INCREASES UNJUSTIFIED

Coal Companies Said To Be Profitteering As Result Of Market Shortage—Up 25 To 50 Per Cent.

WASHINGTON, May 31—Fifteen hundred non-union coal miners have been called upon to reduce the price of fuel to a "fair level" by Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce. The coal price level indicated by Secretary Hoover is said to be considerably below the price levels maintained at the present time. Hoover pointed out that coal prices have advanced from 25 to 50 per cent since the nationwide coal strike April 1 became effective.

These advances are unjustifiable, according to Mr. Hoover and are merely hoisted by operators in view of the fact that the occasion permits them to make the unjust increase. Concerted action to protect the public against the open-faced profiteering is suggested by Hoover.

SWATTERS WIN

After trimming the San Angelo Bronchos, the Swatters will open up at home with a four game series with the dangerous Lubbock "Hoppers" winning ten out of twelve games on the road is some record on the part of the Swatters but that is just what they have done to date and there is no question about a good sized crowd being out to the park Friday. By the way, the game will not be called until 7 o'clock in order to give everybody a chance to go. Lubbock has been winning altogether too many ball games lately but the Swatters can stop them. Watching them do it will be very interesting. Some new paper acquired on the road will be equally interesting to watch in action.

CONDITIONS IMPROVE

Prices Show A Marked Stability In April—An Advantage Over Preceding Months.

By The United Press.

WASHINGTON, May 31—Business is making a steady advance toward recovery, according to the report of the Department of Commerce following a survey of general conditions in April.

Construction work and the production of automobiles are the pacing industries, according to the survey. Automobile production increased approximately 30 per cent during April over the preceding month and building increased a larger percentage.

The most encouraging sign of better business was the hardening of the price department. Few commodities registered an increase in price and many showed marked slumps, but in general the structure of prices were more stable than they had been in several months.

"The fact that prices have been relatively more stable in the recent months indicates a fundamental improvement in business conditions," according to the review.

The scholastic census shows that Hamlin has 602 in that age. To make an increased enrollment a bond election is called to vote $25,000 for the purpose of erecting and building to and maintaining the school. When that has been done, an addition to the present building, making in all twenty-four rooms and a large auditorium besides the several halls. Bronc's Errors Proved More Costly Than Visitors—Scores Two Men in 3 Rounds.

Thrash Poles A Three-Bagger—Lory Averages 750 With The Willow.

Reporter Staff Special.

SAN ANGELO, May 31.—The Sweetwater Swatters out hit the San Angelo Bronchos, whose errors proved more costly than those by the visitors, and the Swatters was by a score of 1 to 3 here yesterday afternoon. The Bronchos loaded the bases in the ninth, with none out, through a single by Alexander, an easy roller by Badger, whom Pipkin failed to touch at first, and Bupp's tumble of Robertson's grounder. But Cooke struck out and Butler hit into a double play, Brooks to Shaw to Pipkin.

The work of Umpire Spencer was poor for the first time he has officiated in nine games here and he was almost continually booed by the fans. Sweetwater gained the jump in the first inning. Mason tripled to center and scored on Frierson's single over second, after Sheppard had grounded out. Dean to Scoggins. Angelo evaded the cowl in the second. Dean was safe at First when Sheppard at second forced Alexander who had singled. To stole second and registered on Robertson's Texas Leaguer, which bounded from Thrash's knee into right field. Thrash's triple in the third with one out. Robertson's muff on the run of Shaw's long fly and Lory's second hit, after Dean had tossed out to Pipkin, netted Sweetwater two runs. Lory's smash injured Dean's hand and Badger, a pitcher, replaced him, fielding brilliantly. The Swatters added their last run in the sixth when Bupp, Brooks and Mason singled in succession, Bupp scoring.

Scoggins was hit by a pitched ball in Angelo's half of the sixth, went to second on McBride's hit to left and scored when Sheppard, fielding Robinson's grounder, tossed to Bupp, who relayed to first in an attempt for a double play. Pipkin chucked home but Shaw dropped the ball. Scoggins' single in the eighth, his advance to second when Shaw dropped a third strike and threw out McBride and Mason's muff of Robinson's hoist netted San Angelo its final run.

Lory got three hits out of four times at bat, and Robertson two out of three while Mason, Thrash, Scoggins and Alexander each batted 500.

HAVE THE MIND OF CHRIST

—Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus. Let nothing be done through strife or vain glory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves.—Philippians 2: 5, 6.

STRANGE THINGS

As you read this, strange things are happening in the animal world. The Lycosa spider comes out of her nest and lies all day in the sunlight, patiently holding the silk cocoon that contains her eggs. The strange part of this is how Mrs. Lycosa knows that the sun helps the hatching, saves her weary hours of sitting on her eggs, like a hen, warming them with bodily heat.

Another queer thing is in Australia, where the frilled lizard is patiently and painfully trying to become a biped.

He is built like all other lizards, with four legs. But something has put into his tiny brain an ambition to walk on his hind-legs. He goes a few steps, falls down, then tries it again time after time.

Eventually Mr. Frilled Lizard will succeed. Then his forelegs will grow longer, turn into hands and arms. Scientists say that man learned to walk on his hind legs the same way, far back in the mists of the past.

Mr. Frilled Lizard will envy the human-like penguins of antarctic regions. They walk on substantial legs and have turned their wings into flippers, for swimming.

Another strange thing, in the woods. Beavers are building their dams. They gnaw at trees, some with trunks a foot thick. All the way through? No. Mr. Beaver stops when he gets to the tree's core. He knows that the next gale will finish the work for him. What tells him? Does he figure it out?

When the beaver house is finished, its entrance will be under water, so that animal enemies cannot follow. While the family sleeps, a guard beaver will sleep with his tail in the water, so that if the dam breaks he will know as soon as the water starts going down. Then he'll waken the family, for repairs.

Not far from the Canadian beaver, the ice has gone out on the lakes. Salmon trout are swimming on the surface. They are picking their mates. Soon they'll separate, go into deep water. Next fall the mates will meet again and spawn. How do they always find the ones they're engaged to? Science knows they do. The strangest mysteries and the most fascinating oddities in the world are the peculiarities of animal life.

Call it instinct if you will, but every living thing seems to have some form of intelligence, planted in it by the Supreme intelligence that is back of all.

WAS SUCCESSFUL PLAY

Reading and Dancing Featured—Mrs. Hutchinson Directed Play.

The Senior play given by a part of the class members Monday night at the Lyric Theatre was a social and financial success.

The audience was composed of the representative citizenship of the city and many school patrons, all of whom were well pleased with the whole performance. Each player was well chosen for his part and acted like veterans of the art.

As a director Mrs. Hutchinson cannot be surpassed and will return in September to resume her place in the Expression Department.

"Clarence" was a comedy farce and the cast was composed of 16 characters. The story was woven about a tangle of misplaced affections, possessed by (Laura Sheridan) a wilful girl (Mable Johnson) a jealous wife, Edith Harkins; a distracted husband and father (Roy Jones); a youth of more heart than discretion (Clifton Cox); who in turn becomes a loser in the "love game" as does his sister (Mable Johnson) who turns "man hater" in the end, declaring her position with many a "weep" and "wail." The story centered around "Clarence" Olly Richardson a noted "Bug Ologist" who became a mule driver in the army, and came out with a badly impaired "liver" with his life dedicated to "beetles." He made a promise finally to the "girl in the case" (Melrose Myers) or rather she figured in two cases, that he would spend the rest of his life talking to her about beetles and potato bugs. The husband (Roy Jones) and wife (Edith Harkins) became reconciled and but for their "weeping and often times wailing daughter" (Mable Johnson) there was a prospect of living "happy ever afterward."

The specialties between the acts were most enjoyable features of the entertainment. They were readings given by little Leona Ruth Butler, Juanita Holland and Nina Mae Bryant. The last two were read with musical accompaniments played by Miss Lucy Cuthbert and Mrs. Carl Ragland. Mrs. Douthett played for Jim Weatherby's "buck and wing" dance, and Miss Ina Lee Ey who gave a beautiful dance interpretation of "Dixie."

FAVORS ADDITIONAL CUT.

Commissioners Favor Greater Slashes in Rail Rates.

By The United Press.

WASHINGTON, May 31—Additional railroad rate reductions may be made as the result of the recent action of the railroad labor board cutting the wages of the employees and the probability of more pay slashes in the future. Some members of the Interstate Commerce Commission are in favor of making rate cuts upon specific commodities in addition to the recent 10 per cent general reduction, according to information given out here today. Some commissioners also favor slashes in passenger rates.

JEWELRY PASSING

Valuables Of Russian And German Nobility Pass Through Paris—Mostly Unset.

By The United Press. PARIS, May 31.—Jewelry valued at eight hundred million francs (about $30,000,000), chiefly sapphires, rubies, amethysts and emeralds, which once bedecked Russian and German and Austrian princesses and other dames of high degree, have passed through the hands of Paris merchants in the last three years.

This sum represents only the total amount paid for precious stones actually purchased here from agents of exiled royal or noble families and does not include the enormous quantity of gems which the Bolsheviks have been able to dispose of through their agents.

Leonard Rosenthal, one of the biggest wholesale dealers in precious stones in Paris, writing in the Revue Mondiale, says the Bolsheviks in order to sell the jewelry they have seized or stolen, destroy the mountings and send only the stones to the markets of western Europe.

Most of the reputable dealers refuse to purchase gems which bear evidence of having been stolen or confiscated, M. Rosenthal tells of one string of emeralds which was offered to him for 300,000 francs.

"It was obviously worth 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 francs," writes the dealer. "I declined to buy it, for in the clasp I noticed a strand of golden hair. There was no doubt about it in my mind. The necklace had certainly been snatched from the neck of the wearer—probably by her murderer."

VETERANS TO HOLD REUNION

Special to the Reporter. CHRISTOVOL, May 31.—The Mountain Remnant Fifth Brigade, Confederate Veterans will hold its 1932 reunion here August 2, 3 and 4. Brownwood sometime ago withdrew its invitation and the invitation of San Angelo was not accepted this year.

A large building is available for the holding of the sessions. Six or seven houses, some of which are two-story, are available for use and the campgrounds under the pecans on the river are free for the use of the veterans. Adjutant L. Ballou will soon issue an official order for the holding of the reunion. Veterans will be asked to bring pillows and blankets for bedding.

ALLEGED GRAFTERS TO TRIAL

By The United Press. WASHINGTON, May 31.—The motion to quash the indictments against Charles W. The United States district attorney Gordon announced that the cases would be brought to trial as soon as possible.

Work is progressing nicely on the 5-room brick bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. Buck Allen which is situated at the corner of Cedar and Fourth streets. Mr. Cohen who has the contract, says the specifications call for five rooms, bath and porch. The building will cost approximately $8,000.

The farmers of Hylton and Blackwell shipped cooperatively one car of hogs Tuesday. Car of hogs and a car of cattle will be shipped in September. This move is sponsored by the members of the Farm Bureau in these communities. In a conversation with the county agent, Mr. J. Calvert, says other communities will feed and ship their livestock.

U. S. DECLINES AGAIN

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The United States has rejected another invitation from the Allies to participate in a forthcoming conference with the Allies and Russia and Germany at the Hague, according to an announcement from the State Department today.

The Allied ambassadors here approached Secretary Hughes informally with the suggestion that the government delegates are representative to sit on two Hague Commissions on the ground that they are to deal with economic subjects in line with the desires of the United States.

MORE BEAUTIFUL ROSES

The civic pride of Sweetwater dwellers is stimulated more and more when such pictures as a porch to a home of the bungalow type is found with the whole semicircle forming the front and end of the porch outlined by a thick mass of blooming white roses reaching clear to the ground and completely concealing the base of the house. Such a rose trellis may be found at the home of Mrs. F. I. Drago and Mrs. Felton on Bowie Street. At the south window may be found another beautiful trellis of the pink varieties. There are others at Mrs. Jim Butlers', Mrs. W. W. Hudsons', Mrs. Walter Andersons', Mrs. J. W. Vades', Mrs. A. Chapman, but the only white ones seen so far are at the Visser and the Felton-Drago homes.

Mrs. George Altizer is the possessor of a fine crimson Rambler, which covers a trellis five feet high, and blooms during the whole summer.

Young Woman, Submitted Wonder Story—Manuscript Returned With Rejection Slip.

OAKLAND, Cal., May 31.—For 15 years Mrs. Joan O. Wierk has been cheated of fame by a trick of fate. Charles G. Norris, novelist and author of the "best seller," "Brass," lecturing before clubwomen here, was telling of the discouragements which befall new writers. He said:

"Somewhere in this country a great authoress has been buried for years. In my days as manuscript reader for a magazine, a story called 'Blue Pearls' reached my desk one day. It was a wonder story. I saw in it the budding of a genius. I was so enthusiastic that I passed it to another reader. He raved over it and passed it on.

"In some manner it was lost in this way, and was returned, by an assistant, to the writer, a rejection slip enclosed.

"I nearly cried. All we could remember was the pen name—Gladys Ethel Olney. For years I have waited to see that name become famous, but doubtless the story was by some girl who, discouraged by rejection, never tried to write again."

Mrs. Wierk was among the lecturer's hearers. A little later she told her friends, "I was very interested in what Mr. Norris said, for I wrote that story." And she wrote it at the age of 18, in a small Michigan town, then her home. Upon its rejection, she gave up in despair.

Norris immediately offered to help her, but she wonders if it is not too late. "My circumstances," she says, "are modest. I have been forced to work. For five years I have been a saleswoman. I have lost my dreams, my youthful ideals. Will they come back? I don't know."

MEMORIAL TO FRENCH

By The United Press. ANCON, CANAL ZONE, May 31.—The courtyard of the old Chiriqui Prison, at the point of the peninsula on which the city of Panama is built, along with the former Plaza de Armas, outside the old prison walls, has been made into a park and named the Plaza de Francia. A memorial to the French who died in the effort to build the Panama Canal is being constructed there. The central feature of the memorial is an obelisk, 59.06 feet in height, surmounted by the French cock and adorned at the base by gas reliefs.

THREATENS IRISH CONTROL

A QUEER SCENE

Is Pictured in G. Fitzmaurice's Play "Three Live Ghosts."

A wave of excitement recently agitated the bustling thoroughfare of London when a burley policeman held up the traffic to allow the passage of an aristocratic-looking gentleman, immaculately tailored, wheeling the latest thing in expensive baby-carriages, to which was attached a sheep which showed an obvious disinclination to cross the road.

Absorbed and quite unperturbed by the amazement caused by his unheralded arrival, the gentleman steered his charge to the opposite side walk, by the time the crowd had recovered from its astonishment, had apparently vanished into thin air.

At the same moment two cameras which had been taking a record of this unusual scene from the inside of a covered motor lorry ceased to grind, and George Fitzmaurice, famous Paramount producer congratulated himself on having successfully secured a particularly effective and difficult "shot."

PLAY AT CHAUTAUQUA

Friendly Enemies Enlivened—Boy Scout Body Is Asked Tonight.

A cast of splendid stage artists gave "Friendly Enemies" last night before a packed tent, at the chautauqua. The play was full of heart appeal and every scene was built around the biggest and best emotions of life: patriotism, mother love, father's pride, faithful devotion, friendship and the pure love of a man for the woman who won his heart.

A delightful stream of comedy runs through the whole story, creating one round of laughter after the other, and the next moment perhaps moving one almost to tears, when the father is bowed with grief over the result of his blind allegiance to a false cause.

In the afternoon J. A. Cooper gave his lecture on "Civilization's Supreme Test" derived from his experiences
