By The United Press.
HOUSTON, Sept. 6.—The death list in the family shooting between the Shaffners and Bells at Sealy Tuesday night mounted to five this afternoon with the deaths of Ernest Shaffner and Turner Bell. Shaffner died at his home as the result of knife wounds while Bell succumbed from bullet wounds in a Temple hospital.

By The United Press.
HOUSTON, Sept. 6.—Three men are dead, one seriously injured and expected to die and another dangerously injured as the result of a family feud, which is said to have originated from high feeling over the interest of the Ku Klux Klan in political affairs at Sealy, Texas, Tuesday night, according to reports received here today.

The dead are F. C. Shaffner, a prominent real estate man, his son, Robert, and Luther Bell, who is alleged to have shot Shaffner. Turner Bell was shot in the head and is not expected to recover. Ernest Shaffner, another son of the dead man, is suffering from serious stabs in the back.

Trouble leading up to the shooting had been smoldering for several months, according to F. C. Elboe, deputy sheriff. The shooting took place in a Sealy drug store following a fist fight, according to Mayor Hilboldt of Sealy.

F. C. Shaffner, who is prominently known as an anti-klanman, is said to have had trouble with the Bells several times regarding the question. Unconfirmed reports here state that Luther Bell did the shooting. Turner Bell, who was shot in the head, is reported to have died at Sealy Wednesday morning, according to an unconfirmed report.

UNCOVER SWINDLING PLOT.

Secret Investigators Of Federal Officers May Get Results Now.

By The United Press.
DALLAS, Sept. 6.—The uncovering of the operation of a large race track swindling game with centers in various Texas cities by federal agents, in El Paso and other border towns is expected to lead to the wholesale arrest of a gang of confidence men operating throughout the state.

The post office inspectors working secretly recently raided the offices of alleged confidence men at El Paso seizing a large amount of paraphernalia said to have been used on the Juarez race tracks recently. A telephone in the "office" of the gang is being held by the postal inspectors as evidence. The telephone is said to have had no outside connection running but a few feet across the room where the confidence men had it connected with a buzzer. When a "sucker" was being interviewed by the confidence man one of them in order to make the office look business-like would press the button, answer the telephone and carry on a business conversation, all by himself.

Attempts are being made to connect this gang with the band arrested in Denver a short time ago for the selling of fraudulent oil stocks in Texas.

WILL CAN BEEVES

Miss Mabel Spann Will Give Canning Demonstrations In October And November.

During the months of October and November, Miss Mabel Spann, County Home Demonstration Agent, will put on a meat canning campaign in Nolan County. One beef will be canned in each community in the county at a public demonstration.

The people canning the beef will furnish the cans and all other equipment will be furnished by Miss Spann. Anyone who wants a beef canned at their home, are urged to communicate with Miss Spann regarding the date. Meat canned, according to specifications outlined by Miss Spann tastes the same as fresh meat when it is opened. Spoilage of the canned product is negligible if the surrounding are sanitary, which means no flies present, according to Miss Spann. More than a thousand beeves were canned in Texas in 1921 with a loss of less than a hundred cans, which resulted from disregarding instructions regarding the preparation and canning by the home demonstration agents.

Plans have been made to hold canning demonstration in the following communities and at the following homes, but the date of the demonstrations have not been arranged:

Frank Childers, Rock Crossing.
Mr. Squires, Maryneal.
Louis Sweet, Collins.
M. I. Matthews, Decker.
Mrs. C. E. Barry, Nolan.
Charles Sanders, Cottonwood.

A LURID PAINTING

Description Of Hell And Its Population Featured In Sermon By Reverend Doak.

A lurid word painting of Hell and its population featured Rev. D. B. Doak's sermon at the First Methodist church revival services Tuesday evening.

Rev. Doak took for his topic, "The Wicked Shall Be Turned Into Hell with The Nations That Forgot God," by saying that the existence of a Hell was proven by the existence of a Heaven, that it would not be dealing justly with the good if the wicked were allowed to come into Heaven, nor would it be dealing justly with the sinful to whom the atmosphere of Heaven would be ungenial.

"Hell," said Rev. Doak, "is peopled with the thugs and outcasts of society, and also with the supposed to be good and moral people of high society who reject Christ in their daily life."

Evangelist Spindler is delighting the congregation with the song services he conducts and the attendance is increasing. A Worker's Council is held every morning at the church at 10 o'clock. Rev. Doak has not announced his topic for tonight.

KILLED IN OFFICE

Kansas City Lumberman Alleged To Have Been Killed By Son—R. A. Long Rampant.

By The United Press.
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 6.—G. W. Garvey, prominent lumberman was shot and killed in his downtown office here today. Roy Garvey, 27 years old was arrested.

The shooting followed an argument over Mrs. Helen Groh, a stenographer in the Garvey office.

Miss Groh was reprimanded and discharged for slinging in the office by the older Garvey. Mrs. Groh was sitting at her desk sobbing when Young Groh entered. He consoled her and Mrs. Groh tearfully told her story. Young Garvey entered his father's office in a rage, according to the police and the shooting followed.

The Garvey offices adjoined those of R. A. Long, millionaire lumberman, who later stormed at a newspaperman who had gathered notes on the affair, and tore up the notes of the reporter. Mr. Long is an outstanding business man and financier of Kansas City, owning a large estate near Kansas City and is a member of the Long-Bell Lumber Company.

KILL TREE BORERS

W. C. Calvert Recommends Combative Washes To Destroy Tree Menaces.

Inquiries have been made this week at the County Agent's office for some combative measures for tree borers. Preventive measures should be applied about the first of March and continued through the year until about the first of October. Where the borers are in the tree, a copper wire may be used in inserting the wire in the tunnel and puncturing the borer with it. A drop or two of Bisulphide may be dropped in the tunnel and the tunnel closed with wax or putty. There are some washes recommended as preventives. They are given below:

16 pounds hard soap.
2 gallons boiling water.
2 quarts crude carbolic acid.
Lime enough to make a good paint.

SCOTT'S WASH.
1 bushel lime.
10 pounds sulphur.
Half gallon of gas tar.
Water enough to make 50 gallons.

PADDOCK'S WASH.
10 pounds of lime.
6 pounds potash.
Water to make 50 gallons.

These washes should be applied below the surface of the soil and well up into the first branches of the tree. Applied to a uniform height in the orchard, or along the street, will add quite a little to the appearance or beauty of the trees.

PEAK OF COTTON RUSH NEXT WEEK

Weight Of Cotton Season Will Be Felt Within 10 Days In Sweetwater, Says Local Ginners.

FIRST SHIPMENT OUT TUESDAY

Two Hundred Bales Leaves Western Compress Billed For Galveston And Houston Markets.

The peak of the cotton ginning season is expected within the next ten days, according to local ginners. Cotton has picked up rapidly within the last few days, many farmers bringing in a bale a day.

Dry weather has hastened the crop some, but the staple is fairly good. Cotton sold in Sweetwater Tuesday for $20.25 and $20.35. Cotton seed is selling for $25 a ton.

Cotton in some sections of the country is better than in others, due to intermittent showers in small areas at various times during the growing season. The production in the Sweetwater vicinity of Nolan County will make from a sixth to a quarter of a bale in some instances to the acre, according to L. D. Terry, manager of the Williams & Miller Gin Company. "We have ginned 102 bales of cotton this season and expect to handle approximately a thousand more," said Mr. Terry Tuesday.

In some instances farmers are bringing cotton to Sweetwater Gins from points twenty-five miles away, but such practices will disappear when the season's rush arrives.

Approximately thirty-five hundred bales is the estimated production of the local gins this season, according to local ginners.

The first shipment of 1922 cotton was shipped from the Western Compress Company here Tuesday. Two hundred bales left here for Galveston and Houston. Approximately two hundred bales of new cotton stands upon the Company's platform with a considerable quantity of the 1921 product still held here.

With the estimated 2,500 bales bringing a conservative price of $100 a bale outside of sale of cotton seed, it can be readily seen where local cotton growers will have a new account of $250,000 to their credit at the close of the season. In view of the prevailing market quotations, this is a conservative estimate, according to local buyers.

Recent estimates given on the crop in the Southern and Eastern sections indicate that the cotton yield will be far below that of this section, which means, if true, that the price will be greatly increased here. The boll weevil and leaf worm has damaged the crop to an alarming degree in the eastern, southeastern, northeastern and southern sections, according to information given by correspondents of the larger newspapers of the state. The great activity of the crop destroying insects was caused by too much rainfall in the early part of the season, according to the reports.

FAVORS MILD REBUKE

Unofficial Report From Convention Believed Against Klan—Mayfield With Cypol.

By The United Press.
SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 6.—The early hours of the second day of the Democratic convention here were spent marking time with trivial matters awaiting the report of the resolutions committee. The majority of the committee is said to have agreed upon the resolution of Granberry, a professor of Georgetown University, which is a mild condemnation of the Klan without naming the organization specifically.

Earle B. Mayfield, alleged Klan nominee for Senate, took his seat near the front of the audience between Cyclop Parker of Dallas and Z. E. Marvin, another alleged Klan leader.

Barry Miller of Dallas, recent campaign manager of James E. Ferguson and leader of the anti-klan faction, arrived with a proxy and declared that he would make a prolonged fight for an outspoken condemnation of the hooded order in the convention.

Governor Neff made his acceptance speech after being nominated by Miss Decca Lomar West of Waco.

THE FEAST OF HARMONY.

Enter is a dry morsel, and fetness therewith, than a house full of sacrifices with strife.—Proverbs 17:1.

NOT TO BE ABRIDGED

"The Constitutional Rights of the Shopmen Are Not To Be Abridged" says a statement from the United House agent the Daugherty Disjunction.

This is one of the most surprising utterances that has come from the White House during the present administration. It denotes a weakness, a hesitancy, a vacillating policy that will win neither the respect of the Shopmen at whom it was aimed, the general public whose rights it was supposed to protect, nor the railroad companies, whose plight in the present situation is not the most enviable to say the least.

If the Administration intends settling the strike by force, let them go to it, and the mercy of the Lord be upon the hindmost.

If the Government intends to wash its hands of the whole affair and allow the individual railroad companies handle their own affairs, that policy will not be condemned.

If the Government will put the interests of the public paramount in the movement of food, fuel and other necessities by such action as the exigencies of the situation might demand, the general public might excuse an ultra-constitutional move to avoid starvation or death by freezing of multitudes.

But one statement and one policy one day, and another statement and another policy another day will not endure. The present republican administration in this rockribbed stronghold of Democracy, not noticeably, that is.

BACK AGAIN

After renouncing the concert world "forever" Jan Ignace Paderewski, one time considered the world's greatest pianist, has returned to the piano stool again. During his absence he is reliably reported to have gotten into politics in Poland, and then got right out again.

Once upon a time a popular minister of this writer's acquaintance in another state ran for the state legislature, was elected and served a term. Asked if he was going to come out for re-election, he replied very emphatically in the negative. "They're all crooks down there," referring to this particular state's capital.

Whether Paderewski found that to be the case in Poland or not he didn't say. But the field he left a hardly disputed master has since been invaded

The first record that he has made since his return shows a lack of the old fire. A composition of his own, by the way, it is rich as life itself in tonal qualities, something to ponder over in a quiet hour as if the master had found much of mockery in those places in the world supposedly great.

It is reliable reported that E. C. Brand and T. O. Cowan have volunteered their services to Postmaster M. B. Howard for the taking of the next scholastic census.

And now comes September with its bustle that few households escape. Getting the kids ready for school is one item. The cotton patch, where the farmer will reap according to what he has sown and cultivated, and the business man, who will likewise reap where he has sown the seeds of good-will and cultivated them with much advertising. At least if said business man listens to the Reporter man, he will be told that.

TEXAS HISTORY MAKERS

LA SALLE
The French flag was the first of the six to float over Texas soil and was probably the result of a mistake in mathematics. Robert, Cavalier de la Salle, a Frenchman educated for the priesthood, turned adventurer and explorer, went to Canada and engaged in the fur trade. Becoming restless with such humdrum work he attempted to discover a new route to China by sailing down the Ohio river, thinking it emptied into the Pacific ocean. Instead, he sailed down the Mississippi river arriving at its mouth April 19, 1682, about a century and a half after DeSoto had first seen the mighty river.

At the name of Louis 14th, king of France, he took possession of all the vast territory on either side of the river. He took the latitude and in doing so made a miscalculation and placed it too far north. Two years later, returning with three ships and a number of colonists made up of women and children, priests, soldiers and mechanics he landed on what he thought was the coast of Florida, but which later proved to be Texas. He sailed from France with four vessels, but his supply ship was captured by Spanish pirates and when he landed at Matagorda Bay, in January, 1685, he and his colonists were seriously handicapped. However, he formally took possession of the land by planting the flag of France on the beach and laid the foundation of Fort St. Louis.

It was La Salle's dream to colonize Louisiana, but destiny intervened and made of him the discoverer of Texas. The closing years of his life were filled with suffering and hardship and the weight of the hardship and suffering of those under him for whom he felt the responsibility of a father for his children, and his career was closed by the first of many tragedies with which the pages of Texas history is adorned. He was shot through the head by one of his own rebellious men.

M. E. M. Davis says of La Salle: "Thus perished, by treacherous hands, the gallant and stout-hearted La Salle"

—the soldier, explorer and dreamer. He was buried in the lonely spot where he fell. Father Anastase scooped out a shallow grave for his friend and benefactor, and pressed the grassy turf upon his breast. An so with in the borders of Texas—though the exact spot is unknown—repose the mortal remains of its discoverer."

GEORGE B. REEVES.
George B. Reeves died September 5, 1882. He was born July 3rd, 1826, came to Texas in 1845 from Arkansas and settled in Grayson county; served as sheriff tax assessor and collector for several years. He was elected to and was serving in the legislature at the outbreak of the Civil War. He organized Company C, Eleventh Texas Cavalry and was elected as captain in 1862 was promoted to colonel. In 1873 he was again elected to the legislature from Grayson county and was Speaker of the House at the time of his death. Among other honors bestowed upon him was the giving of his name to Reeves county, which was created April 14, 1883 and organized with Pecos as the county seat. November 4th, 1884.

OPEN MIND COLUMN

Editor The Reporter.
Some nice things that are being said in the papers about other towns that cannot be said about Sweetwater: "Large crowds attracted to Midland Rodeo." "There are more entries this year than ever before." "Good roads booster's meeting." "Baylor Fair advertised by motor caravan." "Come to the Baylor Fair and Cowboy Re-union September 19 to 23rd." "West Texas is going to have a good season inspite of the drought" clipped from the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram of Sept. 6.

And here are some mottoes that cannot be used by Sweetwater: "Meet me at the Abilene Fair and Fat Stok Show." "Meet me at Ballinger Fair and Agricultural Demonstration. Meet me at the San Angelo Fair and Races." "Meet me at the Lubbock Fair and Hereford Show." Shall we use this motto, "When you want to enjoy a quiet day where nothing is stirring come to Sweetwater?" We have no Fair Park.

A TRIBUTE

The action of the Democratic Convention at San Antonio endorsing the administration of Senator C. A. Culberson is a fitting tribute to a man who has spent the best years of his life in the service of the public and of the Democratic party. It calls to mind an editorial in the Dallas News following the first primary which must have served in part at least to assuage the sting of defeat, for it was probably the most eloquent utterance in the Texas press of the current year.

MONEY

A gentleman who is a glutton for punishment figures out that the allied debt to Uncle Sam is more dollars than there are letters in 4000 Bibles. Shipped to us in silver dollars, it would fill 10,000 freight cars.

People who discuss the debt glibly, and talk as if cancelling it were a routine matter such as yawning, are like a man trying to pick up a railroad locomotive with a pair of bon-bon tongs.

And, its worth insuring when you're SURE of A1 Service and companies.

SOFT DRINKS IN JUAREZ.

Greater Number Of Easy Drinks Than Number of Saloons.

By The United Press.

JUAREZ, Mexico, Sept. 6.—Juarez, the nearest oasis to the Southwestern United States prohibition desert have more cold drink stands than saloons or liquor selling concerns, a recent survey of the two enterprises has brought forth. While the casual visitor would find but few of the soft drink stands in fact they flourish on every hand.

Itinerants who parade the streets and alleys laden with large "ollas" or containers made of clay and whose cries of "agua fresca" or "cold water" fill the air are the principal vendors. Curbstone markets also do a thriving business.

The trade is carried in typically Mexican manner. A complete disregard of the laws of sanitation, two large pails, one of the soft drink mixture and the other with water, fresh at the beginning of the day, which is used to dip the one glass in after it is used are all the necessary requirements that threaten, so the ragged vendors say, to run the hard liquor merchants out of business.

PLAY-OFF STARTS WEDNESDAY

Amarillo And Clovis To Stage Nine Games For League Title.

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 6.—The 1922 championship of the West Texas League will be decided in a series that may run nine games opening today at Amarillo between the Gazettes, winners of the first half, and the Clovis, New Mexico Boozers, winners of the second half of the split season.

Rules of the national commission, governing championship services were made last week by Sam Crowther of San Angelo acting president, to both clubs, together with instructions. The club that wins five contests will cop the pennant.

The series will open Wednesday in Amarillo and the clubs will also play there Thursday. They will then move to Clovis for battles Friday and Saturday and back to Amarillo for games Sunday and Monday. Then if more games are required to decide the title, the contenders will jump back to Clovis. Announcement has been made from Amarillo that the Santa Fe will operate special trains both ways. Tom Price and F. E. Hart of Sweetwater will likely umpire.

With the pulling down of the $4,000 bonus, to have been divided among the players, they will get a share of the receipts the first five days. After that money will go to the contending clubs and the league.

TREES ENDANGERED

San Jose Scale Eating Shade Trees In Sweetwater.—Owners Warned

R. C. Crane noticed that the shade trees in his yard seemed to be dying. Then it was observed that the trees of his neighbors Ellis Douthit, Mrs. Bardwell and others seemed in trouble. W. C. Calvert was called into consultation and identified the trouble as the San Jose scale. This scale, a species of insect that ordinarily attacks fruit trees only but for some reason has gone after the Carolina poplars in the neighborhood mentioned.

Lime-sulphur spray is the only remedy for the San Jose scale but it must be applied when the tree is dormant in the winter. A strong solution during the winter and another weaker one just when the trees are budding is the way to apply it, according to W. C. Calvert who points out that property owners in Sweetwater must take more interest in their trees if they wish to keep them.

"Many trees are suffering from lack of water in the city," said Mr. Calvert. "They should be watered regularly and in that way they will be strong and resist many of the diseases which infest trees in general, just like a strong man is physically able to throw off disease much better than a man who is already in a weakened condition.

White washing trees to prevent borers from infesting them is also recommended by Mr. Calvert.

FIGHTS GALORE

If it is fights that will lure one to the theatre "The Three Buckaroos" is as enticing as a photoplay can be. Hardly has the introductory title faded out when things begin to happen. One first has a laugh—that's always a good tonic—when Dartigan is seen meandering down the countryside, astride a decrepit, pot-bellied, roan horse. Farther down the road is Onyx the nag, and its rider move a typical "bad man" to jeers. That's where the tabasco is thrown into the composition. At this point the patron will take the kinks out of his spine and sit up and take notice. The bad man becomes at once identified in Dartigan's mind as "My man of Onyx" and he will become identified as surely in the spectator's mind, for he, and Dartigan mix things gloriously on more than one occasion. And he is not the villain, but one of the villain's henchmen. The villain has his day in court—only it isn't in court, and it is not his day. It's "Hess's" day.

Getting back to "My Man of Onyx," the pulses quicken and one's breath is almost stopped when Dartigan tries to grab a stab in the back and engages the would-be assassin in a hand-to-hand encounter on the edge of a deep abyss; again when Dartigan leaps from his horse's back onto the Onyx person's back; again in a rocky, treacherous pass where nimble wits turn the tide of battle; again—but why continue. "The Three Buckaroos" will be presented today at the Queen Theatre. It will be found a wonderful tonic for jaded nerves or fatigued minds.

Miss Grace Hord has returned to Abilene to visit her sister Mrs. Ben L. Cox, accompanied by her little nieces Elizabeth and Nancy Cox. She had just returned from Dallas where she had visited her brother Harry Hord and family.

J. L. Tappan left for Dallas Wednesday night to purchase new merchandise. He also expects to visit Paris while gone.

MORONY WILL SPEAK

On Program Of West Texas Baptist Conference At Stamford Sept. 20-22.

Among the speakers at the West Texas Baptist Conference at Stamford September 20, 21, 22 will be several notables including Millard Jenkins and L. R. Scarborough and also a notable exception, said "exception" being Dr. E. G. Morony of Sweetwater, according to the latter who furnished the information concerning the program.

Following Dr. Morony's return, active steps toward the construction of the new church are being undertaken. The Finance Committee is expected to have a definite plan for financing the construction ready for approval by the members of the church.

Dr. Morony was on a "vacation" in August, said vacation consisting of holding over 100 services at New Mexico points.

NEW ORCHESTRA PLEAS.

New Sweetwater Organization Makes Initial Appearance Tuesday Night.

An orchestra composed of unquestoned artists, which is known as the "Pogue's K-C Orchestra" made their initial appearance for dances Tuesday evening at the Elks' Club. The music played by this new organization is way out of the ordinary for dances. The noisy, rattling "no-music" part which is usually played by orchestras for dances was eliminated, and instead of this, the new band is specializing on the kind of playing that is being urged by the dance masters of the east and north. This fine playing met with the solid approval of those who were present. Judging from the applause given, Mr. Pogue's orchestra will be in demand in this section.

The orchestra is composed of a lady pianist, violinist, trombonist, cornet player who also handle the banjo in splendid style and an excellent trap drummer who uses the xylophone, whistle and other instruments in a most satisfying way. One more member is to be added who is a professional saxophonist. This orchestra will play again next Tuesday night for the local Elks' Club.

"The Three Buckaroos"

Alexander Dumas' thrilling adventure story, "The Three Musketeers," one of the best known quasi-historical novels of all times, has been filmed so frequently in America and in Europe that, aside from its vast number of readers, millions have seen one or another of the film versions, all of which were based on, and followed more or less closely, the context of Dumas' original story. Fred Balshofer has lifted the plot in part and taken certain other liberties with it for the purpose of making an altogether highly entertaining Western comedy-drama. He has succeeded in injecting all of the bravado and interpid spirit of the hero of Dumas' tale into a fighting ranger of the Golden West, and laid the story in the heart of the High Sierras in the West of old "where blood is young and hate is bold—where life is life, and men are men—for love and honor glories then." And he has made the characters human, living, loving, hating, fighting, scheming beings. The investiture is the glorious outdoors in that region where the sky is loftiest and the air keenest, the backgrounds scenically of wondrous beauty. And the action, well, it's a riot of action, love and red-blooded—the fight-inger of fighting westerns.
