RAYBURN SPEAKS TO LARGE CROWD

Both Morning and Evening Services at Tabernacle Are Well Attended Sunday Opening Day

TELLS STORY OF LAZARUS

Evening Sermon Based Upon Story Told by John—Motto, "We are Working Together With God."

Before an estimated audience of 1,500 at the morning hour which swelled to 2,000 at night, the Rayburn Union Revival Service got under way here Sunday to an auspicious start.

Exceptionally good music was rendered by the choir at both services.

Following the doxology, Rev. Hestir opened the morning service with prayer. Then after the various musical numbers by the choir of over fifty voices, Rev. Morony, in behalf of the Ministers' Association, introduced James Rayburn of Newton, Kansas, the evangelist, Newton M. Boggers of Fremont, Neb., pianist, and O. A. Cheek of Columbus, Ohio, song leader.

Mr. Rayburn's first word was "Howdy-do," and after shaking hands with every one through the air, he read for a lesson Nehemiah's rebuilding of the walls of Jerusalem. Choosing his text from Nehemiah 4:6, Rayburn then spoke upon the general subject "Reconstruction." Declaring the reason for the present moral condition to be lack of concern on the part of the people, he said that people knew but would not act and did not feel the passion of the Gospel.

"The people of Sweetwater," said Rayburn, "will have a great revival only when they make it concern them and put their work into it. Cheap things are always cheap, and a cheap religion is the cheapest of all. You must be willing to pay the price if you are to succeed with a revival."

"There are two sets of difficulties, I have found in holding revivals. They are: The internal hindrances in the church, such as poverty, and the external hindrances, out of the church. But there can be no such cause here because the average tent show takes away from the town more in a day than the entire meeting will cost. Then there is the 'noble' who will not work, and the optimist who sees no need for a meeting. Among the external hindrances are those who had rather see the revival fail and the young go to wreck and ruin in order to satisfy their little prejudices, ridicule, intrigue, and slander. Only prayer and work will overcome these and lead to success, and both must be intermingled, for prayer alone is laziness, and work, presumption. God will answer neither."

Among the features of the morning service were the visit of the Knights Templar in a body, numerous Easter hats, and a request that all hats be removed in the tabernacle beginning Sunday night.

In the afternoon at three o'clock a choir rehearsal was held, and at four Rayburn spoke to the various church officials of the city.

At the evening hour, reading from the story of Lazarus' death and resurrection and taking for a text "Jesus said take ye away the stone," Jno. 11:39, Mr. Rayburn spoke in brief as follows:

"The condition of a man in sin are parallel with the incidents surrounding Lazarus' death. In the first place Lazarus died. So is a man dead in sin and trespass. Being dead Lazarus was insensible; one dead in sin is also insensible and past feeling. He does not recognize his sin. Furthermore, Lazarus was helpless, and a man in sin cannot be saved, save by Jesus. If he could the death of Christ would have been folly. God will do for no man what that man can do for himself. God's work begins where man's ability stops."

"What happened in the case of Lazarus, also occurs in the case of one dead in sin. Martha did not believe Christ to have power to effect the miracle. Even Christians often lack faith in the power of Christ in saving some sinners, those who have long been dead in sin.

"Christ commanded the people to take away the stone from Lazarus' grave, then when man's ability stopped he raised Lazarus from the dead. Thus the church has the responsibility of removing the stone from the sinner's way. The church cannot save the town, but it can evangelize it."

DALHART, Texas, April 21.—The mysterious slaying of Mrs. M. E. Beddingfield, aged widow, was still puzzling local authorities today.

The woman's body was discovered late Sunday at the home of her brother, J. R. Perkins, prominent cattleman. She had been beaten to death with a heavy iron pipe.

The aged woman had been left alone and her mutilated body was discovered by other occupants of the house when they returned late Sunday night.

Misses Helen Latham and Mina Darby, faculty members of the High School, were week-end visitors with relatives and friends in Abilene.

CHORAL CLUB IN ANNUAL CONCERT

Splendid Program Rendered Sunday Afternoon at Palace Theater by Choral Club Members

AUDIENCE IS APPRECIATIVE

Ladies From Snyder and Colorado Choral Clubs Assisted—Led by Thomas Dawes Director

Before a well filled theater the Sweetwater Choral Club, ably assisted by members of the Snyder and Colorado clubs, under the direction of Prof. Thomas Dawes, Sunday afternoon gave a splendid program at the Palace Theater.

With just the right amount of variety on the program, including eight well selected numbers, drew continual and merited applause from an appreciative audience.

Mrs. George Gray opened the program with a solo, "Dainty Daisies," by W. J. Marsh. This beautifully rendered solo drew forth a burst of applause, that marked each song until the final number, "La Sereña," sung by the entire assembly.

Following the second number, F. N. Lohr's "Swing Song," by members of the three clubs, Miss Ruby Hemby and the "Gypsy Trail" in her own inimitable manner.

The "Indian Love Song," sung by the clubs struck a responsive chord and was furiously applauded as was a piano solo, "Set arzo Valse," by Mrs. Jay Ingram. Then came the Cycle of Songs, "Peter Pan," by the clubs, followed by the beautiful "A Spirit Flower," sung by Mrs. Carl Ragland.

But a single member of the Snyder Choral Club was present, Mrs. W. Morrow, while Colorado was represented by Mrs. Thomas Dawes, Mrs. F. P. Whippley, Mrs. Stanley Van Tuyl, Miss Iola Tilley and Miss Catherine Buchanan. Members of the Sweetwater club included Mrs. John Hubbard, Mrs. George Gray, Miss Ruby Hemby, Mrs. Jay Ingram and Mrs. Carl Ragland.

SAN JACINTO DAY

Eighty-eight years ago today was fought one of the most memorable battles for the cause of freedom the world has ever seen. The victory of San Jacinto will always be dear to every son and daughter of Texas no matter in what day or age they may live.

General Sam Houston led a little handful of 750 men, poorly equipped it is true, as to accoutrements of war, but actuated by a spirit which knew not defeat. This master strategist led them to a glorious victory against the Mexican armies numbering thousands and made Santa Anna bite the dust of defeat and humiliation. He deserved the death he had inflicted on the gallant defenders of the Alamo and Goliad and he knew it and expected nothing less and but for the interlopers Houston would have received his just deserts.

San Jacinto Day, will always remind posterity of those who blazed the way through desolate wilderness and arid plains to found the great empire of Texas, who fought Indians and Mexicans and forces of nature. Their love for home and freedom was the motive which led them on from struggle to struggle and culminated in the cry of "Remember the Alamo," "Remember Goliad," on that never-to-be-forgotten April day.

SHATTERED NERVES

Lady Says She Was In a Desperate Condition, But "Now In Splendid Health" After Taking Cardui.

Dale, Ind.—"About three years ago," says Mrs. Flora Roberts, of this place, "I had the 'flu', which left me in a desperate condition. I had a bad cough. I went down in weight to 115 lbs over one hundred pounds. I took different medicines—did everything, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I hurt so badly in the chest at times I would have to go to the door to get my breath.

"I would have the headache and... was so weak I felt like I would just have to sink down and stay there.

"My nerves were shattered. I looked for something awful to happen—I would tremble and shake at a noise.

"My mother said, 'Do try Cardui', and my husband insisted till I began its use. I used two bottles of Cardui... and noted a big improvement in my condition. I kept up the Cardui and weigh 180 pounds. I am now in splendid health—sure am a firm believer in Cardui, for I'm satisfied it did the work."

After a weakening illness a tonic is needed to help regain lost strength. Many thousands of women have found Cardui exactly what they needed for this purpose. It may be just what you need. Try it. All druggists.

RAYBURN

And those stones that must be removed before successful meeting can be had are these: The indifference of church members and the community in general toward religion; carelessness; selfishness; and prejudice. When we have done all this we will have accomplished all in our power to do, then the work of the Lord will begin, and as in the case of Lazarus, salvation will be the result.

In conclusion at both morning and evening services Rayburn had all repeat with him the slogan of the revival, "We are workers together with God," I Cor. 3:9.

Rayburn will preach Monday night on "Revivals, Why and How." On the following three Mondays there will be no night services, however, on the fifth Monday there will be preaching as usual.

Beginning Tuesday and continuing through Saturday, a Bible institute will be conducted by Rev. Rayburn at the tabernacle 2:30 in the afternoon.

AMUSEMENTS

One of the most spectacular scenes ever filmed in motion pictures is the big mob scene in the Cosmopolitan picture, "Little Old New York," starring Marion Davies, which opens at the R and R Palace Theater on Wednesday and Thursday. Miss Davies, swung on the shoulder of Louis Wolheim, is rushed through a mob of a thousand howling men to the whipping post to receive the punishment which the crowd demands because she rang the firebell and stopped the prize fight.

The scene occurs in the streets surrounding Bowling Green and the Battery of New York as they appeared a century ago. Over sixty thousand feet of floor space was covered by the pounding feet of the mob and forty-five immense sunlight arc lights shot down a brilliance which rivaled the sun and made it appear as though it really out doors. Director Sidney Olcott and his assistant, Saul Harrison, shouted themselves hoarse directing the great mob which followed Wolheim down the streets. The slender lilele figure of Miss Davies, perched on the shoulder of Wolheim as she hurried to her doom is silhouetted against the sky above the heads of the crowds.

Cameramen cranked madly as the mob swirled around the platform upon which the whipping post was stationed. The cruel, avenging faces of the mob; the huge, brutal appearance of Wolheim as contrasted with the fair, fragile delicacy of Miss Davies as she is lashed to the whipping post—all combine to make of the scene a most thrilling one. Refusing to employ a "double," Miss Davies insisted on taking the lashes inflicted by the cruel whip herself. The star insisted it would make the picture much better if she took the lashing herself. As a result the beautiful shoulders which have been painted by some of the most famous artists in the land, still bear the marks of the cruel black-snake whip. Although Wolheim tried to lay on the lashes as lightly as he could and still register the proper effect it was impossible to spare the dainty little star entirely.

Director Sidney Olcott, cameramen, mechanics, and electricians alike, were led in their praise of Miss Davies' fortitude in the interests of art. The resulting scene caused a sensation in New York. It was only the day previous to the whipping that Miss Davies fell from Wolheim's shoulders when the latter tripped. She was knocked unconscious for several minutes, but insisted on going on with the scene.

"Little Old New York" was adapted from Rida Johnson Young's stage play by Luther Reed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ney Sheridan returned from a week-end visit at Lubbock with her sister, Mrs. D. N. Leaverton and family. They were accompanied by their niece, Miss Elizabeth Leaverton, who has accepted a position here in the office of her uncle, Hubert Toler, as stenographer and bookkeeper.
