LEADER IS PROUD

LaFollette Wires Congratulations on Fight to Members of Wisconsin Delegation.

By The United Press. CLEVELAND, O., June 12.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, in a telegram received by Governor J. J. Blaine, Wisconsin, delegate to the National Republican Convention, said: "Please convey to every member of the Wisconsin delegation my profound feeling of admiration for the gallant fight that you have made. Wisconsin is proud of you. You have vindicated the principles of progressivism. Millions of Progressives have watched your fight, and admired your steadfastness." "Robert M. LaFollette."

Be Careful What You Do Tomorrow Friday, the 13th

Beware of Friday the thirteenth! Tomorrow is the particular Friday upon which the witches and goblins plot against the rest of the world, dragging forth all the ill omens and envoys of bad luck in their possession for their inning on the day dedicated to the Supreme Jinx.

So dust off your horse shoes and rabbits' feet, and prepare ye! Black cats are particularly dangerous on Friday the thirteenth. Whatever you do, don't start on a railroad journey, or kiss a red-headed girl. If you break a mirror or look at the moon over the wrong shoulder, the ordinary bad luck resulting from such defiance of the fates will be increased seven fold.

To those who were born on the thirteenth, the Supreme Jinx is extremely considerate. If Friday is your birthday you should, according to the rules of the spooks, be unusually lucky.

Those who survive Friday without mishap may breathe easy for the rest of the year, as June is the only month in 1924 in which Friday falls on the thirteenth.

RECOVER BANK LOOT

Trio Had Robbed State Bank of $1,200—Fight Begins After All-Night Search.

By The United Press. BLANCHARD, Ok., June 12.—One bank bandit was killed, another captured and a deputy sheriff wounded in a gun battle between three robbers and two officers early today.

Claude Lee, 25, one of three men who robbed the First State Bank of Washington of $1,200 yesterday, was killed by Deputy Sheriff Oscar Morgan when he resisted arrest. Morgan was slightly wounded in the exchange of shots. Guy Wilkerson, 27, was captured by the two deputies. The third robber escaped.

The entire loot was recovered. Wilkerson and Lee had split the haul, and over $1,000 in bills was found in their pockets.

The deputies encountered the robbers after an all-night search on the highway between here and Washington. Lee emptied two revolvers before he was shot down. Wilkerson surrendered when Lee fell.

State Evidence Nears End in Murder and Rioting Case in Pennsylvania.

By The United Press. EDINBURG, Pa., June 12.—The State will probably conclude its testimony late today in the trial of 44 men, part of them members of the Ku Klux Klan, charged with murder and inciting a riot at Lilly.

The state has presented 63 witnesses in the attempt to prove that the 44 men caused the trouble that ended in a street riot. Twenty other witnesses have been summoned by the state, but it is probable that they will not be called on to testify.

The trial will probably continue through next week, as the defense has called 100 witnesses.

Carl N. Chambers of the West Publishing Co., St. Paul, Minn., was in Sweetwater on business Wednesday and Thursday.

COOLIDGE NAMED BY REPUBLICANS

Wild Demonstration as Chief Executive is Chosen to Lead Party in Fall Election.

BURTON MAKES NOMINATION

New England Assumes Power Held By "Senate Oligarchy" With Coolidge Nomination.

By The United Press. CLEVELAND, O., June 12.—Calvin Coolidge was formally selected today to lead the Republican hosts to victory or defeat at the polls this fall. At the climax of one of the most extraordinary conventions the party has held in years, the President was given an overwhelming vote of confidence for another term in the White House.

The nomination of the President marked the emergence of a new leadership in the Republican ranks—the leadership of New England. The so-called "Senate Oligarchy" passed as dictator of the party organization with the rise of the new leadership.

The convention's choice was acclaimed amid wild din as the delegates and galleries shrieked, whistled, and applauded. The formality of nomination of President Coolidge was preceded by an extraordinary clever, entertaining, and eloquent nominating speech by Dr. Marion LeRoy Burton, Michigan, a personal friend of Mr. Coolidge.

Burton diverted from his set speech and engaged in humorous sallies at his audience, speaking entirely without his manuscript. He was a decided hit with the convention.

Madden Adds Praise.

Seconding the nomination of President Coolidge, Representative Martin B. Madden of Illinois, told the Republican national convention today that "the creation of confidence, the removal of any feeling of unrest, the continued progress toward the restoration of normal conditions and the firm establishment of the Republican party in its position of traditional glory can best be obtained by the election of Calvin Coolidge to the presidency."

"This country and the world," continued Mr. Madden, "need the calm and imperturbability of Calvin Coolidge. His type is rare. He is neither radical nor reactionary. He moves forward cautiously and progressively to meet the country's changing needs. He serves by work, not words. Arriving at the sound solution of a problem, he acts at whatever the cost."

"There is no problem too small to receive his attention and none too great for his genius. He embodies every principal of modern American hope for the future with every safeguard for the present. He is a true American, who meets every requirement for the greatest public office in the world."

The Sweetwater Fire Department made a quick run to the Robertson Cafe Wednesday afternoon where a small blaze was discovered in the kitchen. The fire was quickly extinguished with slight damage done. The blaze was thought to have started from defective wiring.

This Man Stabs Trout With His Pocket Knife.

By The United Press. YORKTOWN, June 12.—Charles Lambrecht, automobile dealer, while on a fishing trip to the bay near Arkansas Pass caught a nine-pound trout with his pocket knife. He asserts it's no fish story he's telling.

DIVISION AMONG COOLIDGE CHIEFS

Vice Presidential Candidate in Doubt After Butler Turns Against Curtiss.

KENYON A POSSIBILITY

Smoot Calls His Nomination Virtually Certain—Complete Upset in Plans Seen.

By The United Press. CLEVELAND, O., June 12.—An amazing development within the ranks Coolidge's managers was seen while the convention was in session today, causing another complete upset in the vice presidential situation.

It appeared certain that it forced out the nomination of Judge Cochran, Curtiss, Senator Borah, or any of the others mentioned. Senator Reed Smoot of Utah told the United Press upon the convention floor that the nomination of Senator Kenyon was virtually certain.

Pennsylvania and New York during the morning endorsed Curtiss. The endorsement was given on the word of one of the closest advisors of the president that Curtiss would be acceptable to the White House.

When they arrived at the convention hall, however, they began to get the information that something was wrong. They were told that if they pressed the fight, William Butler, the President's personal campaign manager, would take the platform himself in opposition to the nomination.

The New York and Pennsylvania delegations immediately decided to hold another caucus. The recess after the nomination of Coolidge enabled the members of the state delegations to straighten out their plans for the new drift of the tide.

It was understood that the New York and Pennsylvania delegations were to reconsider and switch their support to Kenyon. It was apparent that there was a distinct division among the Coolidge managers.

OFFICES READY SOON

Remodeling in Trammell Building Nearing Completion.

All the equipment of the old office will be moved into the new headquarters where there will be more room and a better location, according to L. A. Eberle, manager of the exchange.

It is reported that another cotton exchange will be opened here next month.

FARM LABORERS IN DEMAND HERE

Grain Harvest and Cotton Chopping Create Work For All Who Need It.

PLAINVIEW WANTS HELP

Wire Here For Harvest Hands—B. C. D. Receives Urgent Call For Cotton Choppers.

With the grain harvest coming on at the same time that there is a need for cotton choppers, farm laborers are in demand in West Texas. Calls have been sent out from various communities for harvest hands, and the Plainview Chamber of Commerce wired the Board of City Development here Wednesday, stating that harvest hands were needed there, receiving from $2 to $3 per day and board.

Hot weather during the past week has put the Nolan County cotton crop on the boom. Held back by excessive rain and weather unfavorable for growing, the crop has made material headway during the past few days of typical "growing weather."

The demand for farm laborers in this section is very heavy, according to reports from the Sweetwater Board of City Development. There is a crying need of cotton choppers and other farm hands now, and the demand promises to continue throughout the summer. Pay for cotton choppers is ranging from $2.00 a day up, and farmers are constantly seeking help.

One Nolan County farmer recently took charge of three negroes who had been arrested and fined for drunkenness here, and will let them work their fines out by chopping cotton in his fields. Chief of Police Johnson states that hoboes and loafers are practically unknown here now, the majority of them drifting out to the farms or further up on the Plains to work in the harvest fields.

PLEDGE AID TO LEGION PICNIC

Luncheon Club Votes Unanimously to Get Behind Big 4th of July Celebration Planned Here.

TO BE AT CITY PARK

Judge Mahaffey of San Antonio Tells of Park Assets to City in Like San Antonio Experience.

Details concerning the American Legion picnic here July 4 and the unanimous support of the Luncheon Club pledged thereto were features of the regular meeting of that organization held Thursday noon at the Hotel Wright with R. C. Scudday as toastmaster.

Visitors present included Jess R. Smith of Breckenridge, Judge Bryan of Midland, C. L. Anderman of Big Spring, Geo. Stapleton of Amarillo, and Judge W. P. Mahaffey of San Antonio.

Plans of the American Legion for the big Fourth of July picnic to be staged at the City Lake were outlined by Gus Farrar. He said the entertainment was for the benefit of the city and of the surrounding trade territory and to provide amusement on a holiday so that citizens could take advantage thereof. A balloon ascension, baseball games, and a big display of fireworks at night are on the program.

R. M. Chitwood said that it was never a mistake to celebrate the 4th of July, the most notable day in American history and that it was peculiarly fitting that the American Legion should handle this celebration.

J. A. McCurdy told of improvements already made at City Lake for the benefit of tourists and townspeople, but that limited funds prevented as much improving as was needed. He especially urged business men who wished to have an advertisement at the park to put their advertisement on the back of a bench or table to be donated for use by picnic parties, etc.

J. H. Beall Jr., president of the club was empowered by unanimous vote of the club to appoint committees from the Luncheon Club to work with the American Legion on the July 4th picnic plans.

The advantages of parks to a town was stressed by Judge Mahaffey of San Antonio, who told of the wonderful assets parks were to that town. He also urged upon people of West Texas generally to work for a complete hard surfaced road from San Antonio leading via this section to the mountains of New Mexico and Colorado and told of the financial advantages such a road would bring. He complimented Nolan County on the road improvement program upon which it had embarked.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Johnson are visiting friends in Stamford.

MILITARY CAMPS

Indorsing Citizens' Military Training Camps held each summer for youths between the ages of 17 and 24, Governor Hyde of Missouri says:

"The combination of physical and mental training of education and discipline with instruction in citizenship, has a great value not only to the young men personally, but to the nation as well. I cheerfully commend these camps and trust that a goodly number of Missouri's young men may be in them."

"The training camps should meet the approval of pacifists as well as advocates of military training, for the minds and bodies of the young men who attend the camps are strengthened by wholesome food, work, play, and the fundamentals upon which American citizenship finds its foundation."

Students at the camps are not part of the military force of the nation. While the camps are not intended to furnish merely a vacation for the young man, fun is generously mixed with work. Military activities occupy the morning, athletics the afternoon, and recreation the night of the average day.

Discipline is harsh, though not strict. The government pays the expenses of each man in camp, even to his laundry. Young men who spend a month under the direct care of Uncle Sam will return home greatly enriched in health, knowledge, and experience.

UNCERTAINTIES

Warm weather of the past few days has been exceptionally favorable for cotton, although hot winds—especially last Sunday—have been rather hard on feed. Grasshoppers do not seem to be bothering much except in isolated instances, according to all reports, and with just a shower or two of rain along during the growing season, bumper crops will be unavoidable.

Price of cotton, however, is more of an uncertainty this year than it has ever been. Reports from most of the cotton belt indicate a very favorable crop condition predicting an unusually large production. And that will surely drive the price down. How far down depends upon other conditions.

Among these other conditions is the industrial situation in the north and east. In Akron, reports indicate the big tire companies are steadily laying off men. The tire companies use lots of cotton. Worse still, the cotton mills are averaging from 25 to 75 per cent production only. Lack of demand, they say. That does not sound like high cotton prices.

Production of pig iron, an unflinching business barometer, usually, shows a big slump. Automobiles, locomotives, and other big industries are being hit similarly—a condition that is bound to have its effect on business generally and cotton prices particularly.

On the other side of the picture, however, may be cited the following:

This is a presidential year, and business uncertainty is by many attributed to this. Whether it has any bearing on the situation or not, nobody knows for sure. But the fact remains that a business slump always comes along about the time for the country to elect a president.

And then—there is the known shortage of cotton. A bumper crop this year will not offset the short crops of previous years.

There is inflation to be reduced, so speculative prices to be disastrously removed at inventory time as there was in 1920.

And the dark spots on the business map of the United States are very conspicuously lacking in Texas. The tremendous development under way in this state and especially the western part, is more than offsetting any unfavorable development in the north and east, which had reviving business while Texas was still hard hit back yonder in 1921, and early 1922.

Of course, the higher the price of cotton, the better for everybody in this section. But with the lesson of 1920 severely in mind there will be no disaster if the price is 20c a pound. There is no reason to believe at this time that it will fall any lower.

A Houston woman has petitioned the city council to prohibit any resident of that city from painting a house black. She complains that one of her neighbors spread several coats of black paint on his home, and that he cast a gloom over the entire neighborhood.

Such wholesale crepe hanging should be discouraged, if not prohibited. If our homes are to reflect the character of their residents, let those who go in for the mournful hue move far enough away from their neighbors to relieve the neighborhood of the contact with a depressing influence.

Candidacy for Governor
OF TEXAS

Nolan County Court House
Friday Night
at 8 O'Clock

—In Dallas, where he was judge of the police court, and is now of the Criminal District Court No. 1, they call Judge Robertson, "Hardboiled," the "Common Sense Judge" and also the "Praying Judge."

—The term "Hardboiled" originated from his habit of meting out justice, regardless of the wealth, standing or poverty of the accused.

—The term 'Common Sense' was applied to him from the character of his decisions given in various cases and wherein common sense played so large and prominent a part.

—And they called him "Praying Judge" because one sultry morning, while judge of corporation court in Dallas, he knelt in prayer and compelled everyone in the courtroom to do likewise, the while he asked the Lowly Nazarene to save a Magdalene, accused of the world old crime. Frequently in his present court, sessions are opened by him with prayer while Divine Guidance is asked.

YOU WILL FIND JUDGE ROBERTSON A MOST INTERESTING SPEAKER. BE SURE TO HEAR HIM FRIDAY NIGHT AT THE COURT HOUSE

AMUSEMENTS

The fourth of the great Distinctive features of the year distributed by Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan, is coming to the R and R Palace Theater Friday and Saturday. It is "The Steadfast Heart," by Clarence Budington Kelland, adapted to the screen by Philip Lonergan, and it ran serially in Collier's Weekly.

The story is that of a young waif who, frightened and terrorized by his wicked mother, shoots and kills a sheriff in imagined defense of his home. The boy is tried for murder and through the efforts of a newspaper man and a young attorney is acquitted. He wins the enmity of the town's most powerful lawyer through his defeat. The boy is educated far away from the little town, and years later he comes back when his friends are taken sick. He fights his way through the barred doors of local society and in a series of breathless episodes finds out who he really is, and that "blood will always tell."

At the Lyric.

The small boy nowadays does not have to wait long weary months for the circus to come to town. He can get the old "circus thrill" in his neighborhood movie house. Exceptional films dealing with wild animal life have been made. They are filled with thrills, hairbreadth escapes and other wild beast dangers.

Just such a picture is coming to the Lyric Theater next Friday. It is "Beasts of Paradise," a chapter-picture in fifteen installments of two reels each. A chapter will be shown by the R and R Lyric every week.

"Beasts of Paradise" is a Universal picture. The leading parts are played by William Desmond and Eileen Sedgwick, two popular film stars. They will be seen in all sorts and kinds of adventures in the jungle, aboard ships and on tropical islands. They will even brave many dangers in the search for hidden treasure. What more could a thrill-lover want?
