POULTRY EXPERT SPEAKS AT FAIR

Miss Myrtle Murray of A. & M. Will Address Poultry Raisers on Fair Grounds Thursday.

IS RECOGNIZED AUTHORITY

Poultry Show at Fair to be Fore-runner of Big Show Here in December, Many Entries.

In addition to judging the exhibits of poultry at the Nolan County Fair here Oct. 30, 31, Nov. 1, Miss Myrtle Murray of the A. & M. College, College Station, will make an address to the poultry raisers of the county on the fair grounds Thursday afternoon, the first day of the fair. This announcement was made Thursday by members of the Fair committee who have secured the services of Miss Murray for that occasion.

Miss Murray has visited Sweetwater several times and has made lectures here before. She is a very able talker and knows the poultry business possibly as well, if not better than anyone in the south, according to Frank W. Irvine of the Sweetwater Hatchery, a prominent poultry man of this county.

"Miss Murray has recently been in California where she studied the poultry situation in that state," Mr. Irvine stated, "and she has made one town in that state the leading poultry center of the section. Sweetwater could just as easily be made the leading poultry center of Texas, with the fine start it already has, if the business man and farmer would get behind the industry."

"Few people in Nolan County realize the great importance of the poultry and egg industry, and the advantages for all awaiting the development of the industry," Mr. Irvine said. "This industry should be pushed to the limit so that in case the cotton crop of this section failed, the farmer and business man would be protected."

The poultry show to be held during the Fair will be the forerunner of the big annual Poultry Show to be staged in December. Over 100 pens of birds are expected for the show next week, while the indications are that there will be close to a thousand entries in the December affair. The Nolan County Poultry Association has the promise of poultry exhibitors at other fairs in West Texas to bring their birds here for the December show. This show, as well as the poultry show during the Nolan County Fair, with the co-operation of poultry men and business men is expected to show the county the vast advantages of the poultry industry, and the money-making possibilities of chickens and eggs.

Miss Murray will discuss the industry and situation in detail, and the business men of Sweetwater are especially invited to hear her.

Farris to Preach Sunday.

Pastor L. G. Morony of the First Baptist Church is taking a much needed vacation for about ten days or two weeks, but while doing so he is holding a protracted meeting near Gallup, New Mexico. However, his pulpit will be supplied in his absence by Rev. G. C. Farris.

Mr. and Mrs. George Willis have gone to Dallas on a business trip. They will also visit the State Fair during their stay.

Member of Gang Escapes Death 12 Hours Before Execution—One Sentenced to Hang Nov. 6.

By The United Press.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Oct. 24.—Four men were hanged at day-break for the murder of a taxi cab driver during a hold-up. Tony Frank, "King of the Underworld," Louis Morel, and two Italians were executed practically simultaneously at the Bordeaux jail despite every attempt of friends and attorneys to save their lives. The lives of two of the original eight bandies were spared by a cabinet granting of clemency commuting their sentences to life imprisonment. One of the men, Mike Valentino, was to have been hanged with the others today. The cabinet acted to save him 12 hours before the time set for his execution.

The sixth man, Leo Davis, was sentenced to hang November 6. One bandit turned state's evidence and another awaits trial.

B. Burnett, Democratic nominee for Sheriff in Fisher County, has resigned the nomination, according to word received here. He is in a hospital at Temple, where physicians hold little hope for his recovery.

Mrs. Ed Bradford and Mrs. J. D. Dulaney will leave Saturday morning for Dallas where they will be guests of relatives. Sunday afternoon they will witness the dedication service of the Eastern Star home for aged and homeless members, which is being erected on the highway half way between Dallas and Fort Worth. Sunday night they will leave Dallas for Galveston where they will attend a three-days meeting of the Grand Chapter of the O. E. S. Mrs. Dulaney is a member of the transportation committee which meets Monday morning and Mrs. Bradford is worthy Matron of the local order and goes as a delegate from the Sweetwater Chapter.

Mrs. L. G. Geer and Miss Emma Lee Herby will leave tonight for Dallas to spend the weekend visiting the State Fair.

HUNT TO SPEAK

President of McMurray College to Make Address Here at Court House Saturday Night.

Under the auspices of the Democratic Good Government League of Texas, Dr. J. W. Hunt, President of McMurray College of Abilene will address the voters of Nolan County on Saturday evening at 8 p. m. in the court house district court room.

Dr. Hunt is said to be a forceful talker. It was announced at one time this week through the press that joint discussions had been arranged between him as a Democrat supporting Dr. Butte for Governor and Hon. Bascom Thomas supporting Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, at Dallas and at Abilene, but for some reason that has not been announced, they were called off.

It is said that Dr. Hunt will analyze the much-discussed question in Texas just now, as to whether good Democrats can vote for Dr. Butte, the Republican nominee. Dr. Hunt himself being a life-long Democrat. A capacity house is expected by the friends of Dr. Butte and Dr. Hunt.

Mrs. Will Hubbard and children are visiting in Fort Worth.

Engineer Gets An Exclusive View Of Giant Shenandoah

The Shenandoah was unable to follow the example of the world flyers and land in Sweetwater, but as the giant ship hummed through the air about 4,000 feet above the city, county engineer John Focht stepped out of a window of the Masonic Hall, executed a tail spin, watched the Shenandoah during the entire course of his drop to the ground, and landed unhurt two stories later.

Several men in the Masonic Hall had placed a plank from one of the windows to the roof of the adjoining building on the south side, and used this route to get a good view of the dirigible. Focht, intent upon walking the plank, crossed the bridge before he got to it. He got a wonderful view of the Shenandoah, however, he stated.

The dirigible apparently carries a bag of tricks which is opened as it passes over Sweetwater. On its way to San Diego, the Shenandoah dropped a real bolt from the blue that whizzed through the air and lit on a roof down town dangerously near a prominent citizen.

Solicitor General Issues Statement While Final Decision on Legality is Pending.

By The United Press.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 24.—Pending final decision as to whether it is legal to publish income tax figures, the Department of Justice warned editors that to print them will be done on their own responsibility.

The following statement was issued by the department at the direction of Solicitor General Beck, in the absence of Attorney General Stone, on the question:

"Many inquiries have been received by the Department of Justice as to the publication in the press of income tax records secured from collectors under the public inspection provision of the tax law passed in May. In view of the provision of section 3167 of the revised statutes, which is unrevealed by the latter law, such publication is made a criminal offense."

County Has All 19 Votes Lined Up For General Election

By The Associated Press.

PIERRE, S. D., Oct. 24.—Armstrong County, South Dakota, reports having done its mite in the state-wide get-out-the-vote campaign and anticipates a record balloting although to do this only nineteen votes from its single precinct need be returned.

Prior to this year the county has never mustered more than eighteen votes and these were culled from an uncertain population, which numbered sixty-four persons in the last census. The county is unorganized. Practically the entire extent of its thirteen odd townships is given over to the cattle ranges of a single ranchman. It has a varying population of Sioux Indians and is all reservation territory.

Armstrong County is without a postoffice address. No politician was ever known to get foot within its borders.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 24.—Great Britain today sent a note to Russia demanding that the Soviet government immediately order the Communist party to cease the subversive propaganda planned to overthrow the existing institutions in England.

Enclosed was a copy of a letter received by the British Communist party from Zinoviev, president of the executive committee of the Communist International Party. The note said:

"This letter contains instructions to British subject: to work for the violent overthrow of the institutions of this country and for the subversion of His Majesty's armed forces as a means to this end."

DIRIGIBLE OFF FOR LAKEHURST RADIO FANS HERE GET SHENANDOAH

Shenandoah Gets Away From U. S. Helium Plant at Fort Worth at 10:10 Friday Morning.

TAKES NORTHERN ROUTE

Fully Refueled, Ship Circles Dallas Fair, Heads For Little Rock, Dayton, Columbus.

By The United Press.

U. S. HELIUM PLANT, Ft. Worth, Texas, Oct. 24.—The U. S. Naval dirigible Shenandoah slipped away from her mooring masts here today at 10:10 a. m., bound for Lakehurst, N. J., where she is expected to arrive between 4 and 5 p. m. Saturday.

Promising weather reports along the Northern route put the Shenandoah on a new course over the last lap of her homeward journey. The big craft was 40 miles eastward to Dallas at 11:32 where she was scheduled to circle the State Fair Grounds before turning her nose northward to Little Rock.

Other points listed on the route include Dayton and Columbus, Ohio, and thence east along the air mail route to Lakehurst. The ship was fully refueled and stock with 200,000 cubic feet of helium during her stay here.

Commander Lansdowne and other officers declared their confidence in the ability of the craft to make the trip on scheduled time unless unfavorable and unforeseen weather conditions developed.

Circles Fair Grounds.

By The United Press.

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 24.—The Shenandoah arrived over Dallas at 11:32 a. m., and sailed across the city to circle the State Fair grounds before heading north to Little Rock. She slipped out of the haze directly above the city before thousands on top of buildings discovered the visitor.

Lands at 2 a. m.

By The United Press.

U. S. HELIUM PLANT, Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 24.—Weather conditions permitting, the Shenandoah will take a short cut to Lakehurst via Dayton, Ohio, and follow the air mail route back to the Atlantic Coast, officials of the helium plant here said today.

The first reports of the route to be followed on the last swing across the continent indicated the Southern route. A desire to reach Lakehurst by Saturday prompted the decision to take the northern route if possible, Commander Lansdowne said. The Commander was waiting for weather reports an hour before the scheduled take off at 10 a. m.

The big ship came over the landing field here at 12:55 this morning and was not made fast until after 2 o'clock, when the process of refueling began.

Navy Dirigible Making 60 Miles an Hour Passes Over City Thursday Night.

GIVES DETAILS OF SHIP

Operator Talks of Giant Vessel's Mechanism and Equipment—Introduces Crew Members.

Its great bulk blotting for the moment the light of the stars, a shadow just a little blacker than the night skies through which it slid so easily and swiftly, the navy dirigible Shenandoah passed over Sweetwater late Thursday for the second time in its trans-continental trip. So high was it that the lights it carried were rivaled in brightness by the very stars through which it seemed to sail. Its great motors sounded only as a subdued crackle.

There were a few radio fans in Sweetwater and throughout this section who were fortunate enough to be tuned in while the radio operator gave the location, altitude and other interesting data concerning the big ship. Broadcasting began while the dirigible was five miles west of Sweetwater. The altitude was given as 6,000 feet. (The altitude measuring instruments on the Shenandoah measure from the sea level which means the ship was about 4,000 feet above Sweetwater when the 2,000 odd feet altitude of this city is subtracted from the 6,000). The temperature in the control room was 42 degrees, and it was expected that Fort Worth would be reached at 2 a. m.

The message as it was heard in Sweetwater follows: "This is the dirigible Shenandoah. Our present location is five miles west of Sweetwater and 200 miles west of Fort Worth, Texas. Since leaving San Diego our motors have been making 1200 revolutions per minute for 28 hours. At midday their speed was increased to 1400 revolutions per minute and the speed of the ship to 60 miles an hour. Our altitude is 6,000 feet. Since sundown the radiation has decreased and the air currents become more steady. The Helium Plant, Ft. Worth, please let us know the direction and strength of the wind. Answer."

There was a pause while the Shenandoah waited for a reply. The answering message was inaudible on the set this writer was privileged to listen in on. At times too, the broadcasting was interrupted as eager radioists, learning that the Shenandoah was in the air, hastened to tune in. The whining howl of sets coming in interfered sadly, but the broadcaster repeated each sentence which made listening that much easier.

Continuing the Shenandoah broadcast: "We expect to reach Fort Worth about 2 a. m. Friday morning. While passing over the Sierra Blanco the radio operator on the Shenandoah, George W. Almour, picked up radio signals from Norway. While in San Diego a message was sent from the Shenandoah to the U. S. S. Canopus at the Hawaiian Islands, a distance of more than 4,000 miles. This shows that the radio equipment on the Shenandoah is first class and also presents interesting possibilities for the transmission over long distance at high altitudes."

By the time the message was completed, the big dirigible was over Abilene, it was announced. As he signed off it was declared that another program would be given at 10:30 p. m.

The announcer aboard the Shenandoah asked that all who were listening in on the first program broadcast from the ship write Station NERK, The Shenandoah, Lakehurst, N. J.,

FAITH AND SERVICE

Recent improvements in passenger service on the Orient, made in the face of very serious decrease in the revenue of the passenger department, demonstrates the faith of the Orient in the various communities served, and the loyalty of its employees, according to a statement from E. H. Shaulfer, general manager of the road.

When the new service was inaugurated, through trains were scheduled between Wichita, Kas., and Ft. Stockton. A Pullman was placed in trial operation between Dallas and San Angelo, via Sweetwater. Where trains were previously held over night at Altus, Ok., and again at San Angelo, the new through service brings the people of lower West Texas 23 hours nearer Wichita and the eastern markets via the Orient.

The change was authorized by the Orient management with the net deficit in passenger service $222,643.58 for the first eight months of 1924. The extension of hard surfaced highways and the growth of inter-city bus service and short haul truck shipping is continually decreasing freight and passenger service of the Orient, a situation at present common to all railroads.

According to the general manager's statement, the Orient attempted to meet the exigency by improving the service at added expense, hoping for increasing traffic. Many roads are reducing expenses by crippling their service. The success of the policy depends on the attitude in which it is received by the public and the road's employees.

If the present passenger service does not produce sufficient traffic to abolish the recurring deficits, it is not improbable that a gradual abandonment of this class of service will be the only alternative. This will mean a loss to every community of a great asset and loss of employment to a considerable number of men, Shaulfer's statement declares.

DEATH FROM THE AIR

As the great Shenandoah passed over Sweetwater many an overseas veteran remembered when the passing of ships in the air was something to be dreaded. For the eggs laid by these aerial visitors were of nerve wracking noisiness to say nothing of their deadly effect. Science has been busy since the war. Explosives are more powerful, bombs are bigger and more destructive. Still worse, poison gas has been made more effectively deadly.

Supposing the Shenandoah had been in the hands of an enemy of the United States in time of war. And supposing again that it had dropped a poison gas bomb of large capacity. This it could have done easily and without slackening speed appreciably. Deadly gas fumes permeating every nook and corner in this town, killing men, women, children, at their work, their play. Coming perhaps in the early stages of the conflict without warning and without preparation, let us say. Horrible? Yes! The next war will be fought in and from the air and the non-combatants, living in inland towns will suffer as never in the world's history. Let's don't have any more wars, but if there should be, this nation cannot and must not neglect aerial defense that will prevent an enemy nation gaining the upper hand.

Persistent Young Man Gets License on Fourth Trial.

McALESTER, Ok., Oct. 24.—Howard Tolbert, 18, of Ashland, Ok., finally has been successful in obtaining a marriage license here, after four attempts.

Several weeks ago Tolbert made his first try but was rejected because he was only 18. Later in the day he disguised himself with a mustache and had the license in his hand, when the clerk discovered the duplication in names.

Several days later, Tolbert returned with a letter from his father, approving the match. The clerk still was adamant because the parental permission wasn't in affidavit form.

Finally Tolbert came back with sworn permission from his parents.

The bride is Miss Nora Standbridge.

The Proper Use of Light

Have you ever gone into a room at night, and felt that there was too much light in the room? Perhaps it was because you came in out of the dark, and your eyes were dazzled by the light. If this feeling of dazzle persisted, there was surely something wrong with the lights.

It was not too much light, however. For in that room there was certainly not more than one-hundredth part of the light that we find during a clear day on the shady side of a tree or building. Nor one-five hundredth part of what we are accustomed to find in the bright sunlight. Surely, then, the trouble in that room was not too much light!

be quite disagreeable and might not be very good for our eyes.

In order to protect our eyes, all lamp bulbs should be shaded in such a way that we cannot see the lighted filament or wire inside the bulb and so that we do not even see a very bright spot in the shade directly in front of this lighted filament. When lights are shaded in this way, it is hardly possible to get too much light for comfortable vision. Sometimes the use of frosted bulbs will help remove annoying glare.

Whenever you hear someone say that there is too much light in a room it is safe to say the real trouble is not too much light, but rather that

GLARE

The trouble in the room was too much glare—too much dazzle. Any very bright light which shines directly into the eyes produces glare and eyestrain. This becomes more and more unpleasant as the light stands out with greater contrast to the darkness of the background.

Lights for use in the home have improved quite rapidly during the last two or three generations and as soon as a better light was invented, we just put the new one in place of the older one. First the candle was replaced by the oil lamp, and this in turn by the gas light. When the modern electric light bulb or incandescent lamps were invented, and used in homes instead of gas, they gave more light and were much brighter than anything we had before.

A bright light burning outdoors in the day might not even be noticed, and it would not cause glare because there would not be enough difference between the brightness of the light and the brightness of daylight. However, at night this same light would there is too much dazzle and glare and that the lights are not properly shaded.

ANOTHER KIND OF GLARE

How tired our eyes become after a day on the water, or when the sun shines brightly on the snow covered ground. Do you remember the mischievous boy in the class room who caught a beam of sunlight in a mirror and reflected it into your eyes? It made you start. These things are particularly annoying because our eyebrows give us no protection from this indirect or reflected light which comes in from below the level of the eyes.

This kind of glare must also be guarded against if we are reading or writing on glossy paper. The light should come over the shoulder, or be directed to the page at such an angle that a beam of light from the lighted filament of a lamp bulb cannot be reflected up into our eyes. Lamps placed in front of a mirror and shaded by shields should not be placed in such a position that the mirror will reflect the image of the lighted filament of the lamp bulb back into our eyes and cause this kind of glare.

The two lower pictures show how to improve bad lighting. The man at the left shaded the light and changed his position; the man at the right changed the shade on the table lamp. The picture in the center shows a good arrangement for reading.

EDUCATION IN HOME

Sex Problem Has No Place in School, Educator Says.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 24.—Sex education should be a subject for the home rather than the school, according to Dr. Borden S. Veeder, who spoke this week before the annual meeting of the American Child Health Association here.

"For much of the well intended but nevertheless sentimental slop known as sex education, I have a decided distaste," declared Dr. Veeder. "The only satisfactory form of education along this line is from a father or some other man in whom the boy has confidence."

Explosives Cheap For Farmers.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Oct. 24.—Farmers of Texas are taking advantage of the opportunity to secure cheap explosives for digging ditches, blasting stumps, quarrying stone and doing other work on the farm from the stocks of surplus war-time supply now being distributed by the United States Department of Agriculture thru the various state agricultural colleges. The Extension Service of the A. & M. College of Texas is now preparing to order out the second car of the explosive which has been purchased in recent months by Texas farmers through the Extension farm agents.

MODERN SHERIFF

Missouri Woman Who Fills Husband's Office Has Bobbed Hair, Wears Knickers With Six-Shooter.

EMMINENCE, Mo., Oct. 24.—Missouri's only woman sheriff has bobbed hair, wears knickers in preference to clinging skirts and carries a rouge and powder "compact." Moreover, although she is a petite blonde, weighing only 110 pounds, she is "not afraid of any man living," and can handle a gun like a world war veteran.

Mrs. Melissa Akers, became sheriff of Shannon County last February, when her sheriff husband died, and Governor Arthur Hyde named his widow to fill the vacancy. Since that time, Mrs. Akers has taken five convicted criminals to the state penitentiary in Jefferson City in her automobile with only a male chauffeur as protection, chaperoned sixteen patients to the state insane hospital, and made the usual routine arrests of a small town sheriff.

Missouri sheriffs have to be good auctioneers and this is one of her duties which especially appeals to Mrs. Akers. Since taking office she has "cried" over one hundred public sales, including one big timber tract which netted her $3,500 in commissions.

Serving papers is another duty which Mrs. Akers likes, although the average male sheriff finds it the bane of his existence. In one week recently she drove over 800 miles while serving subpoenas, summonses and other legal papers.

Mrs. Akers recently captured single handed a desperado who had escaped from jail in a neighboring county.

"I just told him to come along and he did," she explained. "After he was locked, he told me that he didn't realize I was an officer of the law until I had him locked behind the bars."

Henry Ford has presented the Prince of Wales a flivver with nickel plated trimmings. Now if he also gave him a booklet telling the right explosives to use on zero mornings, the Prince would be pretty well fixed.

After a deer had charged an automobile driven by John Wotring on a Montana forest road, the deer was without horns and the car was minus a fender.

Reports from J. R. Johnson, who went to Temple for an operation, are that he is improving and responding to treatment and may not need an operation.

No Better Material In Any Car at Any Price

The sturdy qualities that make the good Maxwell so durable and dependable are the natural results of materials and methods of manufacture usually associated with cars of far higher price.

There are approximately 38 fast wearing parts in all automobiles. Irrespective of price there is nothing superior to the good Maxwell at those 38 points.

More expensive alloy steels are used in the good Maxwell than in many cars selling for twice or thrice as much.

Furthermore, the group of engineers who share credit for the advancement and perfection of the good Maxwell—the same group that designed the Chrysler Six — has practically eliminated all vibration. This is a refinement of operation hitherto assumed to be impossible with a four-cylinder car.

Every penny you invest in the good Maxwell will work for you overtime. It is apparent from the testimony of its owners that it is actually a better car than anything at anywhere near its price.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Maxwell's attractive plan.

LARGEST BALLOT

Missourians To Vote Blanket 19 1/2x 38 inches.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 24.—When Missourians go to the polls November 4, they will be handed the largest blanket ballot in the history of the state, Charles U. Becker, secretary of state, announced today. The ballot will be 19 1/2 inches wide and 38 inches long and will have columns for the nominees of seven political parties, six of which will be headed by the elephant for the G. O. P., statue of Liberty for the Democrats, Liberty bell for the La Follette liberal party, two hands clasped around the globe for the Socialist party, the arm and hammer for the Socialist-Labor party, and the camel for the prohibition party.

It wouldn't be a bad idea if some of us got a little more religion before we start quarreling about it.

FIGHTS TAXI WAR

Station Master Has Problem in Competing Companies.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 24.—V. I. Bell, union station master and custodian here, has declared war on Kansas City's "taxi war."

Taxi-cab starters representing four bitterly competing companies form Bell's greatest problem in trying to have Kansas City make a good impression on visitors, he declared today. A near-riot occurred last Sunday when employees of all four companies tried to capture a theatrical troupe. In the melee, a private automobile with a woman and baby in it, was wrecked.

Timid passengers frequently have their baggage snatched from them and they are hustled into cabs before they know what has happened, according to Bell. Newspapers are demanding that the Kansas City Terminal Company take steps to eliminate the "taxi war" before casualties occur.

Lad Would Make Officials Let Him Attend.

TULSA, Ok., Oct. 24.—Shades of Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer!

A real healthy boy, 8 years old, has brought suit in the district court here to compel the Glenpool school board to permit him to attend school.

The boy, Bernard Pope, lives in Creek County, but this fall started to school in Glenpool while visiting his grandparents. On October 5 the school board there expelled him according to a petition filed by his grandfather as "his next friend," and a truant officer arrested him and took him to Creek County to compel his attendance at school there.

The district court is asked to issue a mandamus writ compelling the Glenpool school board to permit young Pope to continue his education there.

What the World Is Doing

As Seen by Popular Mechanics Magazine

One-String Instrument on Bellows Has "Voice" of a Prima Donna

Unique tones, which are said to sound like the far-away voice of a prima donna, are produced by an odd one-stringed instrument invented by a Spanish musician.

Made out of a pair of bellows with the single string stretched between a needle and diaphragm of a phonograph, it is played with a violin bow, giving the notes a singing character of charm and sweetness. A horn at the top increases the volume of the sound.

Volcano to Be Tapped to Get Steam from Nature's Boilers

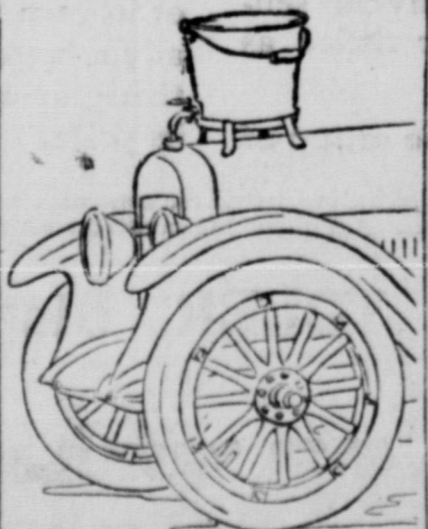

Plans are under way to pierce the sides of Mount Tatio, an active volcano on the west coast of South America, to get the steam generated by the natural fires beneath the mountain. Most of the energy will be piped out for use in making electricity. Estimates show that as much current can be produced in this manner each year as would require the consumption of a half million tons of coal in an ordinary plant. It is said the steam is so pure that it can be run directly into turbine engines without the usual costly cleaning processes. In Italy thousands of horsepower have been developed in this way.

Size of Radio Shields

When shielding is resorted to in order to eliminate interference from body capacity, etc., it is much better to use a small shield for each instrument than a large one covering the whole panel, as a loss of efficiency, due to interspacity between the instruments, is likely to result in the latter case.

Radiator-Filling Pail

An ordinary pail fitted with legs, as shown in the drawing, will prove useful around the farm garage as it saves much work and prevents one from spilling water all over the radiator and hood. The pail should be of large size and a faucet is soldered in the side near the bottom. Four legs, cut from heavy sheet metal, are riveted to the underside of the pail, and these are covered with soft material in order to prevent scratching the hood. Ordinary cloth wound on the legs and tied with cord will serve to make non-scratching feet, but electrician's tape is better, if available. In use, the pail is filled with water, set on the hood so that the faucet comes directly over the radiator-filling hole, and as much water as necessary is then let into the radiator by opening the faucet.

Planing Window Frames

For fitting windows and doors, etc., the device shown in the illustration will be found very handy.

It consists of a long board of any suitable size at hand, a short piece of wood nailed to this at an angle of about 45°, a vertical brace for the angular piece, and a block nailed to the base at the bottom of the brace. The upper end of the angular piece or stop is notched deeply to take the ends of the windows or doors, and the block is notched in the same manner; the method of setting up the work to be planed is apparent from the illustration. The device will be found convenient not only for doors and windows, but for other similar work too large for the vice, and it can easily be carried from room to room.

Close-Up Photos

By using an auxiliary lens, commonly known as portrait lens, close-up photos can be taken, as this lens shortens the focus. The same results can be obtained, in many cases, without such a lens if it is possible to pull out the bellows of the camera a little farther than the last mark on the scale. By doing this good pictures can often be taken at as close a range as three feet. If there is a stop on the focusing scale, this can often be filed off to permit extending the bellows without affecting the use of the scale for its purpose.

AMUSEMENTS

Two million people in the United States have bought Harold Bell Wright's popular novel, "When a Man's a Man." This means that six million people have read it, for book publishers figure three readers to each book.

Today the famous story has been transferred to the screen by Principal Pictures Corporation, and will be shown at the R and R Palace Theater starting Friday, as a First National Attraction.

John Bowers enacts the role of Lawrence Knight, later known in the Arizona mountains as "Honorable Patches." Marguerite de la Motte plays Helen Wakefield of Cleveland, Ohio, the young lady who is responsible for Larry's awakening to the futility of his indolent life. Robert Frazer is the beloved Wild Horse Phil of the Cross Triangle Ranch, and June Marlowe is his western sweetheart whose eastern education is fast estranging her from her western environment. Forrest Robinson is the venerable old Dean of the Cross Triangle Ranch, and Elizabeth Rhodes is his wife, Stella. Fred Stanton is the villainous cattle rustler, whose dupe, Yavapai Joe, is played by Geo. Hackathorne.

The other important characters are played by Arthur Hoyt, Edward Hearn, Johnny Fox, Jr., Charles Malles and Ray Thompson.

"When a Man's a Man" was photographed in the exact locale in which the story was written, Prescott, Arizona, and the real Cross Triangle Ranch of the story will be seen throughout the picture. Harold Bell Wright wrote this famous novel while on a camping trip in the mountains of Arizona, and when Principal Pictures decided to film the story, directed by Edward F. Cline, he and his troupe were shipped to Prescott. Many of the characters in the book still reside in the mile high city, and an abundance of technical detail and atmosphere was available to the actors in the picture.

ENGINEER DIES

Second Wreck on T-P in Ten Days Takes Life of Trainman When Freight Crashes at Eastland.

The second fatal wreck on the T-P railroad within 10 days resulted Thursday morning when freight train No. 289 and extra freight train No. 520 crashed together in a head-on collision in the west yards of Eastland, fatally injuring Engineer "Dad" Woods who died about midnight Thursday. Fireman Cunningham was also injured, but his recovery is expected.

The cause of the wreck is uncertain, according to officials here, however it is reported that one of the trains was waiting on a siding for the other to pass. It is believed that the other train for some cause, also ran into the siding and the collision resulted. The freight train No. 520 was west bound, and No. 289 was going eastward.

A wrecker and crew were sent out from Big Spring Thursday afternoon to the scene of the wreck, and the track had been practically cleared by Friday.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of gripe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nausealess, Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

trains into Sweetwater resulted Thursday night and Friday morning. The "plug" No. 4, westbound arrived in Sweetwater at 9:15 Thursday night, over three hours late. The Sunshine Special, westbound No. 1, arrived in Sweetwater at 4:10 Thursday morning, 7 hours late, while No. 5 west bound, was about two and a half hours late Friday morning.

The wreck of one train on a line means that there will be three wrecks according to veteran trainmen. This superstition is firmly believed in by many railroad employes, and after the wreck at Stamper last week, and the Eastland wreck Thursday, according to their theory, another wreck will occur shortly.

JUNIOR CHURCH

Organization Among Young Methodists Proves Successful—Gaston Foote Leader.

With 125 enrolled and others joining daily, the Junior Church, organized by Gaston Foote at the First Methodist Church in Sweetwater, will hold its third service Sunday with every promise of becoming the largest and most popular religious department ever formed among the young people of the city.

Sweetwater's first Junior Church meets at 11 o'clock in the basement of the church every Sunday morning, while regular church services are being conducted in the main auditorium up stairs. Foote preaches illustrative sermons to the young folks at the Sunday morning hour.

The Junior Church has its own Board of Stewards, collectors, and other officers, has its pianist and choir leader, and conducts its affairs in an independent and efficient manner. Five members of the Junior Church were baptized at the last meeting.

Members of the church, ranging in age from five to 13 years, express themselves, take active part in the affairs of their own institution, discuss religious views and problems as they see them, and are extremely free and sincere in their discussions and prayers. The increasing membership and steady attendance attest the popularity of the new venture.

Parents are urged to enroll their children in the Junior Church so that they will be free to worship in the main auditorium. Gaston Foote will preach on "Lessons From the Cradle" Sunday.

FIRST FROST

Ice and Frost Expected Friday As Cold Spell Continues.

Both frost and ice were discovered in Sweetwater early Friday morning as the results of a cold spell starting this week. The frost was light, and came several weeks earlier than the first killing frost of 1923, which was the night of November 19. A thin layer of ice was reported by several Sweetwater people.

The thermometer continued to range from 50 to 55 degrees Friday, in spite of a brightly shining sun.

about getting the message. The ship signed off at 9:04, above Abilene.

At 10:30, a second program was broadcast, beginning with code messages that lasted about 30 minutes. At 11 o'clock, the announcer began a talk concerning the details of the Shenandoah's construction, pointing out interesting facts concerning the engines and general mechanism of the ship, and relating incidents of the trip up the Pacific Coast.

"In the hope that some of you may meet the men on the Shenandoah at some later time, I am going to introduce the crew to you," the announcer said. "They are the type of men who make up the backbone of our national defense who are ready to give the thing most precious to all of us, life, to make the United States Navy second to none."

He then began with the men in number one cor, and presented the entire ship's crew, with the name and address and appropriate remarks about each, to his hearers. He signed off at about 11:15.

The red and green lights carried on the ship designated the port and starboard sides of the vessel, in accord with navy regulations. The port, or left side of the Shenandoah, carried a red light, while the starboard, or right side, was marked by a green light.

TWENTY MILLIONS—

have read, loved and thrilled to this mighty story of heroism, daring, romance. Now you can see their favorite story brought to life—a living, pulsing drama of a man who played the game of life as a man, clean through.
