PREDICT PROFIT IN AGRICULTURE

Government Experts to Follow Rise and Fall of Prices—Plot Curve Known as Hog Cycle

FORECAST PRICE TRENDS
Plan to Give Advance Information On Prices That Will Prevail Months After Dates

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, April 28.—Big profits are promised to farmers who will follow the latest method of the government's agricultural experts to "beat the market."

The experts have taken that vicious circle known as the "hog cycle and carved and plotted it until they are now able to tell the big producer how he can escape from the succession of market peaks and depressions in which he is just one jump behind and losing money at every jump.

Farmers "miss the market," department of agriculture officials said today, because they raise hogs in time of underproduction and high prices and stop breeding when there are low prices and overproduction. On the face of it that sounds like a reasonable procedure, but when the farmer looks at his bank book at the end of the season, he discovers there is something radically wrong with it. Here is the department's explanation:

"This plan fails to allow for the time that must pass before the results of breeding decisions thus made will be felt in a large or smaller movement of hogs to market. The number of hogs on the market at any given time is not going to adjust to the price conditions then existing, because the amount of the supply was determined months previously on the basis of the conditions prevailing at that time."

Obviously, if farmers could know what prices would rule several months later by the time they had finished breeding and raising their hogs, they could fit their supply to the demand and be ready to take advantage of peak prices.

Here is where the experts come to the rescue.

"Economists in the department of agriculture have worked out a method of forecasting hog price trends which has been thoroughly tested, and which makes it possible for the trend of the hog market to be foreseen far enough ahead and with enough general accuracy to give the farmers a better and safer basis for gauging production than they can ever get from watching the current markets," according to a department announcement. These forecasts are available to all farmers.

Since American hog production contributes nearly two-thirds of the supply of hog products in international trade, it is believed that the American farmers in the main regulate world production and resultant market prices.

"The American hog producer can take the excessive swings out of the hog cycle simply by learning to gauge his production with an eye to the future, rather than to present price conditions," the announcement states. "As long as conditions remain as they are, basing hog production on the forecast, market trends will afford an opportunity for special and individual profits.

"In this field, as in others, the first comers will get the best pickings. As the practice of 'playing the cycle' becomes general, it will yield smaller profits for the shrewder individuals, but producers as a whole will gain through the tendency toward less extreme fluctuations in production and price."

Reports from the bedside of Lige Cutbirth, today indicate that he is slightly improved and hopes are now entertained for his recovery.

NEED MORE CARS FOR BAND BOYS

Transportation Committee Urge All Who Can Spare Room For Member of Band Report

OUTLINE PLANS OF TRIP
Will Start From Sweetwater 1:30 Sunday Afternoon—Reach Mineral Wells That Night

Additional cars are needed for transportation of the Sweetwater Boys Band to the Mineral Wells Convention next week it developed at a meeting of the committee members Monday afternoon.

All who can find room in their cars for one or more of the members of the band are asked to get in touch with the Board of City Development at once so that the transportation committee will have this information.

The band will leave Sweetwater Sunday afternoon and all who plan to leave with the official motor caravan are asked to meet on the Square at 1:30 that afternoon.

In addition to providing transportation for the band boys, it is necessary to take care of others who will not have cars. So all who can furnish cars are asked to register and those who wish to ride will also register, and share in the expense of operating the car to the Convention and back.

Other details in connection with the trip were worked out in the committee meeting.

A house has been rented for the three days for the band boys. This house, a large two story affair, will have room for about fifty additional people besides the band boys. It is unfurnished however and it will be necessary for everyone to furnish their own coats and blankets. Anyone who wishes to reserve space they can do so by getting in touch with the Board of City Development office or can arrange to have other rooms reserved for them at Mineral Wells. Many are planning to take tents and camping equipment and camp out during the three days.

The route via Baird, Cisco, Ranger and Thurbur is the one that will be used by the official party and is advised to be the best for any who may go down at other times during the convention.

Paris Newspapers Believe Quick Action Necessary—Foreign Minister Waiting On Britain

By United Press.

PARIS, April 28.—France will seek an United Allied attitude toward the election of field marshal von Hindenburg before taking action, but the press and public is agreed that some action is necessary.

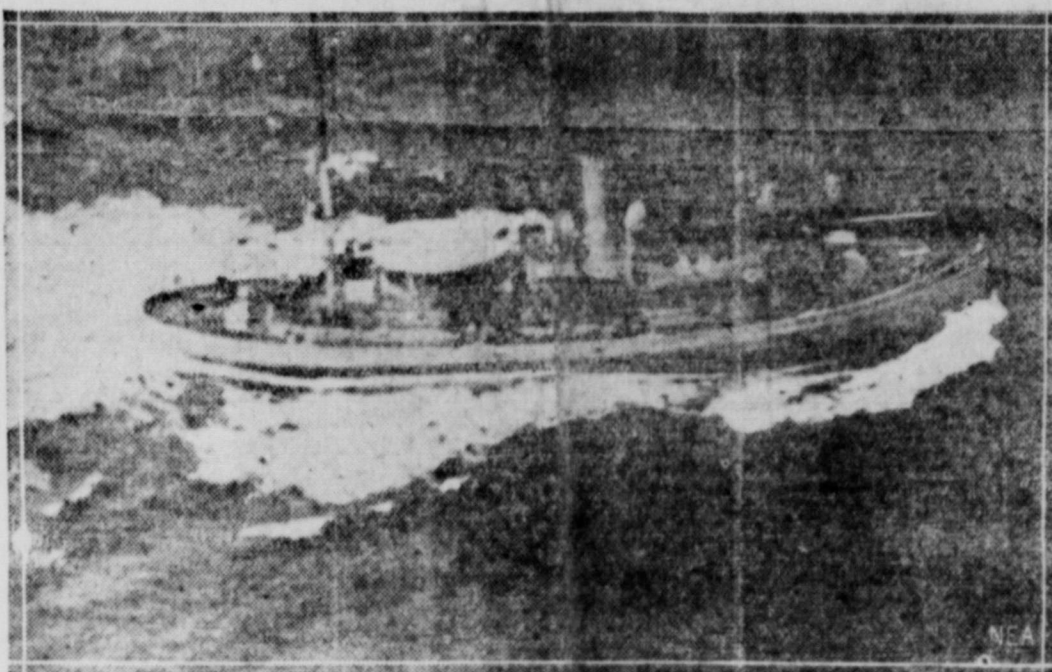

Most of the Paris newspapers described the results of the German presidential election as an attempt to overturn the Treaty of Versailles, blaming the Allied policy of confidence and insisting that henceforth France must act drastically.

Foreign minister Briand conferred with his colleagues in Painleve's ministry, but is hesitating until he learns what Great Britain will do.

Underworld of Gary and Chicago Probed for Clue to Assassin of Unidentified Girl

DEATH IS GREAT MYSTERY

No Motive Yet Found for Murder—Charred Body Brutally Hacked—Disembled When Found

By United Press.
GARY, Ind., April 28.—The underworld of Gary and Chicago was hunted today for clues to the man or men who brutally murdered an unidentified girl of about 20, whose bullet-riddled, disembled and charred remains were found near Chesterton, Ind.

Police are now working on the theory that the victim was a wife or sweetheart of a criminal and was killed because she knew too much.

Chief of Detectives James Connolly, is working on the theory that the victim was the wife of Gus Sanders, member of a Chicago bandit gang. Sanders is serving a sentence in the Waupen penitentiary.

The scores of clues found on the scene of the crime have so far failed to give a tangible lead to the slayer or slayers. Connolly is inclined to believe that two men did the killing.

Willie Hemby left Sunday for Temple for an examination. He was accompanied by his uncle, S. N. Davis.

FLAPPER IS BACKFISH

American Fisherman Gives New Name To Flapper for Viennese

VIENNA (By mail to United Press)—A flapper is not a flapper at all in the former imperial heart of the Hapsburgs. Here she is a "backfish."

Just how she came to be so called is not altogether known. According to some Vienna wisecracks it came about as follows:

One day an American went fishing with an Austrian friend. For several hours they sat on the banks of the Danube. Luck did not come to either of them. Each time the American caught a small one he tossed it back into the river with the remark "backfish."

"What mean you by saying backfish?" queried his Austrian host.

The American replied: "Oh I mean back into the river with their mother until they have time to grow up. These little fellows are too small to be interesting; always worrying everybody like girls who think they are grown up and very wise." So "backfish."

Snake And Owl On Exhibition At City's Zoo

Two new additions to the Sweetwater Zoo were received Monday, and a census of the population of the city's menagerie would show a total of five, with representatives from the animal, fowl and reptile kingdoms.

The latest arrivals were donated by Walter Boothe, and are a rattle snake and a huge "hoot" owl. The former is only a young 'un, but has the inclination and ability a plenty to make a big one. And for the present present, the rattle snake, which is an 18 inch diamond back, is held captive in a glass jar but arrangements will be made for the new comer near Maggie and Jiggs and Toby in pens at the City Lake where the zoo will be located in the future.

The owl had nothing to say when interviewed Monday, and favored his small audience with a glass stare.

It was stated that arrangements will be made to secure another alligator to take the place of Gonzales whose death left an empty concrete pool at the City Zoo at the lake.

DEATH COMES TO R L MCCAULEY

Pioneer Settler of Nolan County for Many Years Identified With Growth of Section Is Gone

FUNERAL TUESDAY AFTERNOON
Interment in City Cemetery With Rev. J. T. McKissick Officiating—Active With Orient By

R. L. McCaulley, 69, pioneer settler in Nolan county and for many years identified with the growth and up-building of Sweetwater and many other sections of West Texas, died at his home here at 11 o'clock Monday night following an illness of several weeks. Mr. McCaulley had been in ill health many years, and was an invalid for the past few years.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Christian Church, of which the deceased was a member. His pastor, Dr. J. T. McKissick officiating—

The pall bearers: Hubert Toler, L. M. Hubbard, E. Nolen, Ed Bradford, Dr. A. J. Wimberly, Judge Ragland, Dr. A. A. Chapman, Dr. L. O. Dudgeon, and J. F. Morgan.

Mr. McCaulley is survived by his wife, and two sisters and brothers. The sisters, Mrs. J. Munroe, Snyder, and Mr. Brooks Bell, formerly of Colorado, and now of Dallas, are both in Sweetwater for the funeral. Two brothers, one of Whitney, Texas, and one of Oklahoma, have been notified of Mr. McCaulley's death.

McCaulley was reared at Whitney, Hill County, Texas, and went to school at Baylor University, Waco and the Hill Business College of that city.

In 1885 he came to Sweetwater where he and Thomas Trammell, now deceased, organized the Trammell-McCaulley Co., the first banking institution in Sweetwater and for many years until 1901, the only bank in Nolan County. He has lived in Sweetwater continuously since 1883.

In 1901, when the Orient railroad decided to bring its line through here, Trammell and McCaulley became the Texas representatives of that railroad having in hand the procurement of right of way and location of town sites. McCaulley, as field man, was entrusted the duties of obtaining right of way. He traveled frequently all over this section of Texas in a buggy, from the Red River to Alpine and to the Rio Grande.

It was largely through the efforts and untiring energy of the pair, McCaulley and Trammell, that the construction of the Orient railway thru Texas was made possible.

Later in 1909 McCaulley was one of the leading figures in dealing with the Santa Fe, negotiating for right of way through the county, and working out details for depot and work shop sites.

For many years, until his health failed, McCaulley was in the forefront for every move in Sweetwater which had for its object, the growth, development and advancement of the town, and West Texas owes to him and his partner, Thomas Trammell, a debt of gratitude that it can never repay.

MANY PRIZES FOR FARM CLUB BOYS

Railroad and Packing Houses Offer Free Trips to Fort Worth and Chicago—Best Record

OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL
Each Prize Good for One Boy to the County—Grand Prize to Be Awarded Best Club

The combined lists of prizes which are offered by various railroads and packing companies for the best work of farm club boys during this year, include an electric light plant and trips to Fort Worth and Chicago, according to information received by county agent W. C. Calvert from the extension department of the A. & M. College. These prizes will be awarded to one club boy in a county whose record for the year stands out above all other club members.

The electric light plant will be awarded the best club in the state, but other prizes are for individuals.

It is a wonderful opportunity for club boys, it was pointed out. Aside from the benefits derived from actually going thru the rules of the contests the trips to Chicago are especially attractive. It is hoped that each rural community will back their boys clubs to the limit and it was indicated that a fine opportunity was open to teachers in the rural schools in taking in hand the work of club boys and putting them over winners for the State prize, the electric light plant.

The prizes as announced by the Extension Department follow:

Grand State Prize: An electric light plant, given by the Western Electric Company, Dallas, for the best record made by any standard club organized under the auspices of the Extension Department of the A. & M. College. (Winners of first state prizes are barred from the contest the succeeding year.) The best record for each county must be sent in by December 15th.

Santa Fe Trips: The Santa Fe railway Company offers 19 trips to the fourth International Club Congress, to be held at Chicago the first week in December, each for the best record made by a club boy on any one project and only one trip to a county. This contest is open to boys fourteen years of age or over who live in counties traversed by that great railway and having full time county agents. These prizes are worth $120.00 each.

Armour Trip: Armour and Company offers one trip to Chicago for the best record made by any boy in the production of baby beef but is not open to boys under fourteen years of age. The value of the prize is $150.00.

Swift Trip: Swift and Company, Chicago, offers a trip to the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth in March, 1926, to the club boy who makes the best record in pig club work and is valued at $75.00.

No club boy who has won one of the above trips, may compete for the same trip again.

Records in the four contests above must be in on or before November 15, 1925.

The following score card will be used in awarding all the trips mentioned above:
For the greatest cash return from project, 30 per cent; For the greatest profit from project, 30 per cent; for best record book, 20 per cent; for the best story of project, 300 to 500, words, 20 per cent.

NIGHT WIND

Liten! The long dark winds are roaring by, Loud with old woes, that gather more and more, Old sorrows that go crowding down the sky In a lost flood that tumbles on no shore. Not Odysseus himself, not man, not woman Shall name a grief here, but is gulped and drowned. What pitiful sorrow, single and sweet and human But is too fall a crying in this sound? Come, stand here where the wind is going over Now when the rush is full upon your face, If you be king, or a woman or a lover, Come pour your little grief out in this place, And cry your little cry, and see it tossed High on the roaring flood, and drowned, and lost, and never to be seen again. -David Garrison in New Republic

CHILDREN

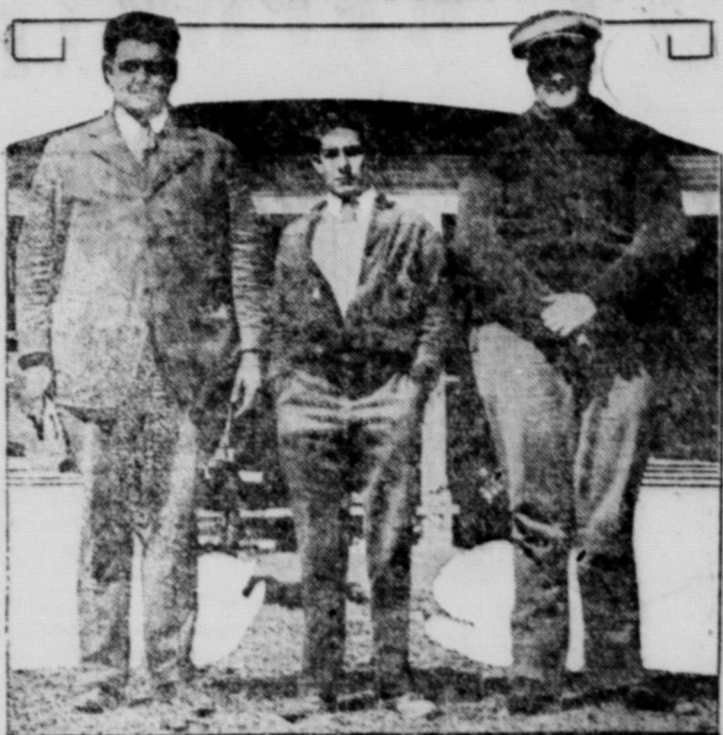

There was once a man who worked at night and slept in the day time, and did not get to see his children often; but on Sunday mornings would stay up long enough to read the morning paper before retiring. For his day's sleep he would take his children would not be able to see him. One day he was out in some business. As he passed by his house, his little baby was out in the front yard in some mischief, so he slapped the youngster and sent him into the house and went on his way to town. As the little fellow ran into the house crying in a big fashion, the mother was greatly excited and asked what was the trouble, and the child said, "That man that hangs around here on Sunday slapped me." This story is so true to life today in many families where one or both the parents don't see and come in contact with their children often enough to really know them and to give them the proper care, love and training.

Children may well be considered as a crop. If the farmer leaves his crop to shift for itself, it will be a failure. So it is in most every case with children. The farmer may stunt his crop by not giving it fertilizer or warmth of environment. In preparation for a good crop, the farmer must fertilize his crop with attention, discipline and patience. Just as the firm crop may be stunted by lack of fertilizer and warmth of environment, so may children in the home be stunted by lack of education, knowledge and interest in environment. As the farm crop must have the proper environment of warmth, sunshine and fertilizing showers, so must the human crop be reared in the warm environment of love, trust and high ideals. The farmer must continually plough, harrow and cultivate his crop, in order to promote growth and keep out weeds that would choke the young plant life. In like manner the human crop which has been entrusted to your care must be constantly nurtured in order to be able to resist bad habits and evil desires and to promote full and proper development of body, mind and soul.

"San Francisco will have spent $750,000 in a two-year program to show the world San Francisco knows how.

"Los Angeles invests $200,000 annually to make herself the most talked of place in the world, and it's working.

"San Diego, little but mighty, feels $75,000 is not too much to ask of her business men to advertise Coronado Beach and Balboa Park, and she gets it."

"The cities of Florida should spend more money in the right kind of advertising. It is gratifying indeed to note the substantial fund being raised by the Florida Development Board for the purpose of advertising our incomparable state. Florida's climate is unexcelled anywhere in the world, and it is up to the cities of Florida to raise the necessary funds for letting the whole world know 'Why People Come South.'"

The suggestion of the Herald applies not singly to Florida but pre-eminently to every other state in the South; Florida is doing more advertising than any other state and yet there is still room for Florida to expand its advertising activities, for it is through its advertising that the present wonderful development of that state has been brought about. Other Southern States, if they would follow Florida's example, could attract far more attention than they are doing.

Advertising does not simply draw men and money from other sections, but it entices the people in the place in which the advertising is done. Live, vigorous advertising in the local papers of Florida is largely responsible for stimulating the spirit of enthusiasm in local people and in helping them to get a broader vision of their own opportunities. The live town is often made alive by virtue of local advertising. The dead town is one in which comparatively little advertising is done.

The town of the state that desires to be left alone without being disturbed from its long sleep of death should never advertise, locally or outside, for the moment its business people commence live advertising, its banks, its merchants and its manufacturers commence to tell their own people what they have on which to build up industry, a new spirit will be awakened.

Today the most important thing in three-fourths of the towns of the South is to wake up the local people, and this can only come through the tonic of well worked and well placed advertising in all their local papers. When a town breaks loose in a spirit of local advertising it will then be prepared to spend money for outside advertising, but the local paper has a right to enlist the heartiest cooperation of its local clientele, and the better and broader the advertising the more spirit that is thrown into it, the more optimism that is given it, the more quickly the community itself aroused into new life. Then the community is in a position to invite other people to come and take part in its development. No town or city or state has a right to seek to draw outside men and money until it has put its own house in order, until it has cleaned up its streets and paved them if they are unpaved, painted and beautified its homes and put on its best Sunday go to meeting clothes in order to welcome the stranger who may be invited there.

Any advertising where, in the language of the day, the goods cannot be delivered, is worse than useless, because the money is not only wasted but the results are harmful rather than helpful.

The merchant who advertises goods which he cannot deliver wrongs his prospective customer and his own business. The community which advertises resources and attractions in order to invite outside men and money unless it has a brightened up and cleaned up and painted up is doing itself harm, and if a prospective investor or settler comes he is driven away and takes an unfavorable impression with him. Therefore, let every community in the South that wants to develop wake up, clean up and paint up and begin an active advertising campaign in the local papers about its own business interests. Then and only then, can it afford to go before the world and invite others to come.

A TALK ON RELIGION By E. L. W.

With frequent regularity the sun goes into an eclipse and the earth is darkened for a time.

Just as the moon causes such an eclipse by moving in between the sun and the earth, thereby shutting off the light rays of the sun, the light of Christianity was darkened when the scientist and philosophers passed between their devotees and God. Many taking Jesus merely as a 'big brother' example and denying His lofty ceasing to have their old time religious fervor and as a result an era of thoughtlessness and disregard began to prevail.

Just as the light of day is restored when the obstacle causing the eclipse passes, the original status of religion and man's moral rights and responsibilities will be revised when the world sees that the new fangled idea has failed to pass the test and that true happiness is found only in a childlike trust in Christ, with the will of the individual lost, in that of the Master.

A decrease in the crime wave and an increase in man's respect for his fellows will mark the return of reverence and respect for the Sabbath and the Holy Oracles of God.

FORTY YEARS Show More Progress than Seven Thousand MORE THAN five thousand years were required to evolve illumination from a burning fagot to a candle. The candle grew into a lamp in seventeen hundred more years. One hundred years after the lamp, gas came. About seventy-five years later great improvement was made in gas lighting, and electricity arrived. Forty years after electricity was first used for lighting it reached its present amazing perfection. The forty years that represent great progress are those just passed. Far more has been done in the development of lighting in that space than was done in the seven thousand years that went before. They brought the electric motor along with the electric lamp. The electric industry is improving every year. We apply these improvements as they are introduced so that you may have the best power, and light service that can be produced. WASHINGTON GOSSIP

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Congressmen cost a good deal more dead than alive.

An example is given in a report of William Tyler Page, clerk of the House, who sets forth the cost of providing official honors for a congressman who died in office last year, as follows:

- Full year's salary to widow, $7,500 (in the future $10,000)
- One month's salary to secretary, $205.53.
- One month's salary to clerk, $105.

33. Railway expenses of congressional delegation conducting body to home, $3,855.04.

Expenses of a senator who accompanied the party, $57.

Expenses of funeral director accompanying the party, $214.26.

Funeral expenses, $415.00.

Floral wreath, $35. Total: $19,281.30.

The congressman in this case came from the South. Expenses for a member from the far west would be proportionately higher.

Dorothy Mondell, daughter of former Representative Frank Mondell, of Wyoming, who was majority floor leader during his time, has foreseen

Your Newspaper Is the Path to Making New Friends and Preserving Old Acquaintances

Many a man after a few years' absence, has returned to his old home town to find himself a stranger there. He has looked in vain for boyhood landmarks, has walked the streets unnoticed, where once he was greeted familiarly by every second passerby.

Many a business, once on good terms with all the world, suddenly has been found out of touch with today's tastes, customs and fashions. Within a surprisingly short time it, too, has become a stranger where once its name was on every tongue.

The public that grants favor to a business is changing continuously. People are building homes and buying baby carriages. New cooks, this morning, are ordering the groceries for tonight's dinner. Today people are driving automobiles who could not afford them yesterday. New products are essential to the happiness of people who had not heard of them last year.

Wise is the merchant who keeps his "friendship in repair"—who realizes that his merchandise must impress new minds and be looked upon by changing faces. To build a business, or even to maintain a business, the merchant must tell his story—and retell it. He must keep his customers sold, and sell the prospects who are coming constantly into his field. "Keeping everlastingly at it brings success"—and retains it!

the ballrooms of the capitol for a career. He has adopted journalism and is a full-fledged member of the staff of a Washington daily. Miss Mondell says she prefers working 12 hours a day at her chosen profession to wasting time at the teas and social functions. By going after a weekly paycheck, Miss Mondell has shown the way to other Washington social debts whose striving toward careers have not passed beyond the stage of charity work.

Confusion is liable to reign in the Washington post office with two such similar names as Lieut. Col. Andrew and Lieut. Col. Andrews to contend with this winter. Col. Andrew is a member of congress from Massachusetts, organizer of the volunteer ambulance corps with the French army before America entered the war, and later second in command of the militarized ambulance corps which remained with the Allies. Col. Andrews is assistant secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement. He was in charge of training of troops in France and subsequently organized the military police force.

Seven paintings by John Singer Sargent, the noted American portrait painter, who died suddenly in England on April 15, are owned at the federal capitol. A portrait of President Roosevelt hangs in the White House, two portraits and a landscape are in possession of the Corcoran Gallery and the Freer Gallery own three.

The Corcoran possessions are the "Oyster Gatherings of Canale," one of his earliest works yet one of his best, and striking portraits of General Leonard Wood and Daniel J. Nolan. "The Oyster Gatherings" is a shore scene with figures, of great beauty particularly in the handling of reflections of blue sky and clouds in pools of sea water on the sand. The Freer paintings are "The Weavers," "Landscape with Gents," and "The Sargent painted a portrait of Woodrow Wilson after the war, but it left the country when he presented it to a Glasgow, Scotland Gallery.

Quarterly Social Meeting

The Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church held a most enjoyable meeting in the parlors of the church Monday afternoon, with a large number of the Baptist ladies from the Women's Missionary Union over the country as their honor guests.

Singing opened the program, after which Mrs. W. K. Beall read the scripture lesson and Miss Lena Pearl Harris rendered a vocal solo, "I Will Go." Miss Dora McBurnett, contributed a piano solo, "Impromptu" by Hugo Reinhold; Mrs. R. M. Chitwood, sang, "O, Love That Will Not Let Me Go."

The main feature of the meeting was a drill in the names of the district and state officers of the church, which was directed by Mrs. H.P. Bondies. This was given in preparation of a contest with the Taylor County ladies in May, which will be held at Sweetwater, in the form of a "spelling bee." This promises to be a clever way of learning the church officers names and everyone is becoming very much interested in the contest.

Three of the Missionary Society Circles acted in the capacity of hostesses and invited their guests into the dining room at the close of the program for cream and cake.

Dr. Morony had just returned from Hamlin, Monday morning and the ladies were glad to include him on their guest list.

Meeting Closed

Dr. L. G. Morony returned Monday morning from Hamlin where he closed a very successful revival meeting of two weeks duration. A number of conversions and baptisms were the visible results of a great meeting.

SPORT CHATTER

Unique Record
Pitcher "Lefty" Groves, for whom Connie Mack is reported to have parted with a hundred thousand simoleons has already shown flashes of greatness despite his inability to finish either of his first two starts.

In his second game of the season, pitted against the Boston Red Sox, he pitched three and one-third innings of erratic yet brilliant baseball.

Six of the 10 batters who were retired while he was on the rubber, struck out. In between the whiffings Groves walked five men and allowed as many hits.

Jack Dunn, who developed Groves, says he is the best left-handed pitcher in baseball and that he will win 20 games for Mack.

Serious Fault
One feature of major league ball that is certain to trouble Groves for a time, is the wait 'em out tactics the players will adopt when batting against him.

Young Groves has considerable reputation of being wild, also having a tendency to have one bad inning in which lack of control would undo a perfectly pitched game up to that time.

Groves will probably find himself in the hole more times than he has the edge on the batter, because of the keen eye possessed by most major leaguers refusal to bite at bad balls.

Until Groves acquires control that will enable him to get the edge on the batter, he is going to be forced to do a lot of pitching.

His case is different from that which controls all recruit pitchers who have a reputation of being wild. He should overcome it.

Sox For Collins
Regardless of where the Chicago White Sox finish in the American League it is already apparent that the team is going to hustle, a pleasing feature of baseball.

Having the good will of his players means that 50 per cent of a manager's troubles are immediately eliminated.

The Chicago White Sox are for Eddie Collins to a man. His brilliant career as a player inspires them and the regard they have for him as a man makes every player give his best from start to finish.

There seems to be a greater dash to Collins' play today than ever before in his long career. He is showing the spirit he wants his players to emulate.

That's the proper system, a manager should do everything he expects from his players and do it to the best of his ability at all times.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. A. Bradford have returned from Slaton from a visit with their son, Andrew Bradford and wife.

Golden Rule Circle
Christian Aid Society held their meeting in the ladies' parlor upstairs at the church Monday afternoon. In the absence of Mrs. Barcus, Mrs. Robert Calvert occupied the executive chair and heard reports of the Cook Book committee, who reported good progress being made on the sale of the books.

Dr. McKissick lead the Bible lesson from chapter of Acts.

Presbyterian Auxiliary
Mrs. B. C. McCall was hostess Monday afternoon at a social meeting and Missionary program, which very cleverly portrayed the needs of Miss Kemper's Girl's Mission School, in Brazil, in the form of a Pageant, called "In Fair Brazil."

The occasion was also in celebration of Miss Kemper's 88th birthday anniversary, and the 13th anniversary since the name of the women's organization of the Presbyterian Church was changed from "Ladies' Aid Society" to "Women's Auxiliary."

Mrs. H. B. Brockenbrough led the pageant which was participated in by 12 other ladies. A liberal collection was taken which will go toward the support of Miss Kemper's School.

Preceding the pageant, Mrs. Jay Ingram favored with a piano solo and Mrs. Wiggins told a very graphic story of the life and work of Miss Kemper who has been a missionary in Brazil 40 years.

At the close of the program Mrs. McCall displayed a big birthday cake holding 13 candles, honoring the Auxiliary's birthday. Refreshment plates was served.

S. S. Class Party
Miss Ruth Davis was hostess Saturday evening from seven to nine o'clock to the children of her Sunday school class. The time was enjoyably spent playing games and was concluded with a course of cake and iced fruit punch.

From nine to eleven couples of her class mates and friends also enjoyed her hospitality. Music, games, songs and solving cross-word puzzles were the evening's diversions. Punch and cake was served.

Kidneys need flushing, just as the bowels do.

Don't think that back pains mean serious kidney trouble. Or scant, highly-colored urine. Or frequent urination. Try flushing the kidneys. Do what you would do if the bowels were clogged. Relieve them.

The pity is that people don't realize that the kidneys and bowels both eliminate wastes and poisons. And both become clogged. They relieve the bowels, but they let the kidneys go.

Flush the kidneys—relieve them. Do this by drinking plenty of water. Drink the first glass before breakfast. Add a little Jad Salts. That makes a tart, pleasant, effervescent drink.

Watch the quick results. In one hour poisons are eliminated. The clogging is relieved. Conditions are entirely changed. Jad Salts is made from the acids of lemon and grape juice combined with lithia. They are made to relieve the kidneys in a quick, efficient way.

Try them once. Then whenever you feel that the kidneys need flushing, you will know the way to quick relief. And a better way has never yet been found.

Thousands have cleaned their systems of constipation's poisons.

Constipation exacts a telling price. Its hideous poisons lead to over forty devastating diseases. But let Mrs. Rench, of Iowa, tell her story:

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the very best I ever used for chronic constipation. I have used all kinds of medicine and nothing helped me like ALL-BRAN. It has such a nice flavor and it is cheaper than paying out hundreds of dollars seeking relief.

Yours truly,
Mrs. A. J. Rench,
