Scott Trial Is Nearing Close

State Completes Its Efforts Today to Prove Millionaire Murderer Sane and Subject to Hanging; Rests Case.

STAR WITNESS TESTIFIES

Alienist Declares Russell Scott Is Sane; Defense Attorney Opens Bitter Attack on Testimony of State Witnesses.

By United Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The state today completed its efforts to prove that Russell Scott is sane and should be hanged for the murder of Joseph Maurer.

The state rested after Dr. William O'Krohn, its star alienist, testified that he could declare that Scott seemed to be in complete command of his mental faculties.

"My opinion is that the prisoner is sane," the witness said.

Scott's attorneys waived cross-examination of Dr. Krohn, and W. W. O'Brien, assistant defense counsel, stated his arguments on behalf of the condemned man. O'Brien attacked the examination of Scott as unethical, indecent, and unfair, and at the conclusion of his statements declared that the testimony of alienists for the state was "ridiculous."

"It is ridiculous to say that they can look at a man and say that he is sane," he shouted.

O'Brien contrasted the thorough examination and opportunity for observation of the defendant by the alienists with the "brief and superficial examination by state witnesses."

Eloquently, O'Brien dealt on the terrific nervous strain imposed on Scott by the eleventh hour escapes from hanging. He pictured Scott wining at the hammer blows resounding through the corridors and the death cell as carpenters erected the gallows.

"Is there any man who fought in the war who went thru a greater strain than that? I say he is insane. We insist that the cell madness brought on by the horrible strain of many months in jail and a condition akin to shell shock, caused Scott to go insane," O'Brien said in conclusion.

"We ask you to picture that man as a wounded soldier, and carry him into the insane asylum where he belongs."

Assistant state attorney Harry Pitzer then started argument for the state.

CHANNEL SWIM IS DIFFICULT FEAT

Hazards That Will Confront Gertrude Ederle When She Attempts Crossing Shown by Freyberg

FAILURE WAS SURPRISE FIELDS BELIEVED WAR HERO COULD CROSS CHANNEL—TIDE BEATS GAME EFFORTS OF SWIMMER

By United Press.

ABOARD THE BRITISH ADMIRALTY TUG LANGDON, off Dover, England, Aug. 6.—The difficulties that will confront Gertrude Ederle when the American girl attempts to swim English Channel were observed in detail by a United Press correspondent who accompanied Lieut. Col. Bernard Freyberg, V. C., when that gallant British officer failed by a few hundred yards to accomplish the feat yesterday.

When he finally gave up, exhausted in the chill waters, it was at a point a mile and a half from shore with the tide bearing him back towards France.

Colonel Freyberg, who is 35, is the man who won the V. C. at Gallipoli by blacking his naked body, swimming ashore in the darkness and penetrating the Turkish lines. He also won the D. S. C., the C. M. C. and was wounded nine times. So when he plunged into the surf off Criz Nez on the French coast shortly after eight o'clock last night, it was with every hope of success.

Mrs. Freyberg and P. Miller, the Colonel's trainer, brother officers and the United Press correspondent, kept pace with the swimmer in the Admiralty tug. Now and then one of the party would slip over the side and swim along side, setting the proper stroke for Colonel Freyberg.

Sometimes, in the blackness of a moonless night, the swimmer was almost invisible. Mrs. Freyberg kept at the rail, calling encouragement. The Colonel, his face heavily greased against the cold and water, wore goggles to protect his eyes. He made good progress.

A patchy fog at dawn, a westerly wind that roughened the Channel and a slight rain failed to deter Colonel Freyberg and at 11:30 a. m. everyone aboard the tug was cheered when Miller said:

"I'm confident that Colonel Freyberg will be able to win, if he can make this next 200 yards within about 15 minutes."

The swimmer was about a mile and a half from Dover's chalky cliffs.

"If he can get over this little stretch," Miller explained to the United Press correspondent, "a favorable tide will carry him in. It's a 50 to 1 shot that he will do it."

Colonel Freyberg negotiated the difficult 200 yard stretch of swirling water, but it took him an hour to do so. The 50 to 1 shot didn't come off.

A tide swept him down towards St. Margaret's Bay. He kept gamely at his task with waning strength and at one time was within 600 yards of the shore. This was his final effort.

At this point an adverse tide set in. The swimmer was observed to be losing ground.

Freyberg's strength was not equal to the effort. They lifted him from the water at 1.45 p. m.

Willard Estep left Thursday for Paint Rock where he will spend the week end. Mrs. Estep expects to return home with him after a visit of two weeks with friends and relatives.

Dairy Herd of 18 Cows to Be Killed—Near Jacobs Ranch Where First Outbreak Occurred

By United Press.
HOUSTON, Aug. 6.—Territory not affected by the hoof and mouth epidemic last year has become infected, it was announced Thursday. The newest cases are within 2 miles, north and south of Houston.

The exposed cattle were estimated at between 1,600 and 4,000 head. The strip runs between the ship channel and the interurban, extending towards Genoa.

It was expected Thursday morning that the Galveston road would be closed and detours arranged. The outbreak is in the herd of J. E. Endicott, dairyman. Three cows out of 18 kept on his farm are suffering from the disease. This herd is to be killed and burned.

The Endicott farm is 5 or 6 miles from the Jacobs ranch where the disease first appeared last Friday.

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

Many Visitors Expected at Anniversary of Ellis County

WAXAHACHIE, Aug. 6.—Nearly fifteen thousand persons were expected here Thursday for the opening day of the Ellis County Diamond Jubilee held at Getzandner Memorial Park in celebration of the county's seventy-fifth birthday.

Old pioneers of the county and former early residents were special guests of the Waxahachie Chamber of Commerce, occupying places of honor in the parade during the afternoon and at the pageant which is to take place Thursday night in which more than a thousand persons will take part in depicting the history of Ellis county since its founding seventy-five years ago.

Mrs. S. W. Meharg, secretary of state, was slated to be principal speaker at the Friday afternoon program. The two day celebration will close Thursday night with the coronation of Queen Ellis County, elected from nine duchesses from over the county.

MAN DIES WHILE ENROUTE HOME

Death Comes to Aged Fisher County Man as T-P Train Speeds Him Toward His Home

Body Removed from Morning Train to Local Undertaking Parlor—Accompanied by Daughter

The body of E. M. Lynch, 69, was taken from an early morning Texas and Pacific passenger train west bound, here this morning following his death in a passenger coach between Baird and Clyde. The body was taken to a local undertaking parlor where it was prepared for burial.

Lynch left Fort Worth Wednesday night for Sweetwater, from where he was to journey overland to Roby, 30 miles north of here. He was accompanied by a daughter, Mrs. C. T. Benson, of Roby. The aged man was to make his home with his daughter and her husband at the Fisher county city, according to information received here.

He had been ill for about 2 weeks during which time he had been in Ft. Worth.

Believing that his condition was considerably improved, his daughter went to Fort Worth to accompany him home. When they left there, Mrs. Benson thought her father was resting well, and Lynch himself stated he "felt better."

It was west of Baird that the man died, according to C. T. Benson, who met his wife here Thursday morning.

When the train reached Baird, Lynch was "feeling fine," but he told his daughter that he was "a little tired." The man slid down in his seat and stretched his legs up on the opposite seat. Again he remarked to Mrs. Benson that he was tired. They were the last words he spoke.

He apparently dozed for a few minutes, and Mrs. Benson also dropped off to sleep. In a few minutes she awakened to hear gasps coming from her father. He was drawing his last breaths.

Burial will be at Roby where Lynch had lived for several years. He is survived by two sons and a daughter.

HUNT BUSH BABY

Denver Scientists on Way to Africa in Hunt for Strange Ape—Want Specimen

By United Press.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 6.—In search of a "bush baby" and a "bush man", Dr. C. E. Cadle with Paul L. Hoefler, his companion, both of Denver, have started on a journey half way around the world.

Their trip will take them through the twilight jungles, the desert of "Great Thirst" and into the heart of the ark continent.

At Cape Town natives will be picked up to accompany them into the perilous desert of Kalahari, home of the bushman, the aboriginal race of Africa.

Returning through Johannesburg they will travel east to the Mozambique channel, take to water again and go north through the Indian ocean to Mombasa.

There the ship will be left again and a search made of these tropical forests described by Theodore Roosevelt as "teeming with beasts of the chase in infinite numbers and variety."

Skirting the highlands on the border of Abyssinia and Kenya colony, they will work their way to the Nile, through Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, and then follow the course to Cairo, returning to the United States by the way of the Mediterranean.

The "bush baby" isn't what it sounds to be.

"The bush baby is a very tiny ape and seldom found," said Dr. Cadle before leaving here. Dr. Cadle was born in Africa and is well acquainted with the country.

The bushman which he hopes to find in the Kalahari desert is a pygmy, having the average height of four feet. His skin is a dirty yellowish color and he has a repulsive countenance, a receding forehead, thick lips, small lobeless ears and tiny deepset restless eyes.

The bushmen are a wandering people living on the flesh of various animals and wild roots, bulbs and fruits. They live in rocky caves or rude, nest-like structures, according to Dr. Cadle.

Dr. Theil, keeper of the archives of Cape Town and official historian of the Union of South Africa, made a statement in the history of the bushman race there is not one instance on record of a bushman who has permanently accepted European habits of life said Dr. Cadle.

Highway Meeting Opens Thursday

Attendance at Opening Session of Highway Meeting This Morning Estimated at 200; Interest and Enthusiasm Shown.

HON. JOE BURKETT SPEAKS

Outlines Purpose of Session, Urges Highway Maintenance Organization; Road Problems Discussed During Morning.

With approximately 200 visitors from scores of counties throughout the state present for the opening session, the highway maintenance meeting got under way in the district court room of the court house here at 10:30 Thursday morning when the program was carried out as scheduled. Interest and enthusiasm was great from the time the meeting was called to order by A. S. Mauzey, county judge of Nolan county, and throughout the morning session, the main theme of the entire session was apparent in all conversations, addresses and discussions: "Better road construction and better maintenance of highways."

The beginning of the realization of a long felt want and growing need in Texas for an organization that has as its purpose the satisfactory and efficient maintenance of highways was seen in the first few hours of the session here this morning. Joe Burkett, State Highway Commissioner, struck the key note of the meeting at the very beginning of the session when he in an address, immediately endorsed the organization of a Highway Maintenance Association of Texas.

Commissioner Speaks
Judge A. S. Mauzey called the meeting to order after an estimated 200 judges, commissioners, engineers, and other interested citizens, gathered in the district court room. The room was comfortably filled long before the morning session ended, with indications that even greater crowds would be present in the afternoon.

Judge Mauzey introduced Joe Burkett, who, in a brief talk, outlined the idea and purpose of the meeting he called for this city several months ago.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss road construction problems, exchange ideas and view points on highway matters, plan better road construction, and chiefly, to organize the maintenance association, Burkett said.

"We have just been constructing roads, heretofore," the commissioner said. "We have had no maintenance. Now, the great majority of the roads we built several years ago are gone. We have nothing to show for them. We did not get value received. People are not going to vote bonds to build roads unless the roads are to be maintained," he continued. "It would be the height of folly to do so."

Burkett then heartily endorsed the project of organizing the maintenance association as a state organization with county units.

Mauzey Named Chairman
Burkett suggested that a temporary organization be formed for the day's session. Nominations were opened for the election of a chairman, and Judge A. S. Mauzey, Sweetwater, was nominated by Judge Victor Gilbert, Baird, county judge of Callahan county. He was unanimously elected.

Charlie Gray was unanimously elected secretary. With these two temporary officers, the morning session continued according to the prepared program. Mauzey introduced John J. Ford, mayor of Sweetwater, who welcomed the visitors in behalf of the city. Judge Ford, himself a former county judge, made a splendid talk in which he heartily expressed the pleasure of this city in being hostess to the distinguished gathering.

"The importance of Highway Maintenance" was the first subject on the program. This discussion was led by R. K. Baker of Snyder, who made a brief talk on the subject, which was followed by a general discussion.

Gravel Roads Discussed
Joe Gresham, highway engineer from San Angelo, was the next speaker. His subject, "Shall the State continue to build gravel roads for primary roads," resulted in a general discussion over varied viewpoints of that topic, and the merits of gravel roads were discussed thoroughly. Gresham went into details with information on the building of gravel roads, the amount of gravel used, the cost as compared with hard surfaced roads, the upkeep and proper maintenance. Heavy traffic, hard rains and other factors present the maintenance of gravel roads as a difficult problem, Gresham pointed out.

Gresham suggested that gravel roads be constructed with wide drainage, with a wide road bed and wide drainage structures, to care for future traffic. One phase of road maintenance, it was pointed out, is the building of roads today to care for the in-
In the general discussion of gravel roads, the first costs of gravel roads created traffic havoc to be tomorrow, was pointed out, and the road compared with hard surfaced roads of other types. The gravel road will not stand the wear and traffic that other hard surfaced roads will, several speakers declared.

Amarillo Engineer Speaks

The construction and maintenance of earth roads was discussed by Larry O. Cox, engineer of Amarillo, who made a splendid address on that topic. Cox especially stressed the necessity of keeping earth roads in good conditions at all times. This is necessary in order that the road bed, the base and foundation may not be destroyed, and for instant readiness for a hard surface. He talked on the design and construction of dirt roads, going into details on methods of construction.

Earth roads, as a rule, are badly located, Cox declared. In many sections dirt roads are routed badly, and often located in wrong sections of the county. The route and location of earth roads must be chosen with care, he said, with special attention given to subsoil, soil conditions, geography, drainage and shortest routes.

Active Afternoon Session

Further discussions on various phases of road construction and maintenance were scheduled for the afternoon session which got under way shortly after 1:30 o'clock. Speakers who were to discuss road problems during the afternoon were George A. Field, Lubbock, George E. Franklin, Eastland, and A. S. Mauzey of Sweetwater.

The session will adjourn at about 5 o'clock for the automobile trip over the city and to Lake Trammell. Supper will be served the visitors at the latter place. Upon the return to town, a band concert on the court house lawn and an address by Hon. Joe Burkett, will be features which, it is expected visitors and hundreds of townspeople alike, will enjoy.

CAPTURES DEER

Buck Leaps Into Creek Among Swimmers—Boy Mounts and Rides Out

BRADY, Texas, Aug. 6.—Tom Morris, 13, is a trainer and tamer of wild animals, or might be. It may be said of him that he captured a half-grown deer single handed the other day.

Morris and several other boys were in swimming when the deer jumped into the water trying to elude hounds that were hot after him. Tom jumped on the buck's back and was able to manhandle him until the other youths came to his assistance. Together they took him into camp.

And then the buck refused to leave camp when they gave him his freedom.

TROUBLE IN BRITAIN

With the unemployment conditions worse in England now than in 1921, several million men engaged in the mining trade, assisted by other millions in rail and shipping trades, threaten to add to the problem by a general strike. Representatives of the British miners, imitating the hands across the sea policy that was in such favor throughout the World War, have asked American miners to limit this country's coal production to a point that there will be no surplus to export in case the strike is effected. This help has been promised by agents of the International Miners' federation, in generous forgetfulness of the fact that eastern ports were crowded with boats carrying British coal at the time American miners were having their last strike. "Solidarity" may be lapsed in its functioning between nations, but in peace or in war these big-hearted Americans are forever willing to take a chance.

It is not believed that all these dramatic eleventh hour movements really mean that there will be a British general strike. The government there does not limit its interest in such controversies to the appointment of a few fact finding commissions. It has real power in emergencies, and Premier Baldwin is not one who will shrink from exercising this power if it is something essential to public interest.

A report of a court of inquiry appointed by the government to review the differences between British miners and operators reveals a situation there that is much the same as that attending the industry in America: Too many miners, lack of co-operation with other industries, and no co-ordinated effort to put coal production and distribution on a basis that would lower the price to consumers and also have a good effect upon stimulating popular demand for the fuel. The miners are upheld in their contention for a minimum wage, but not in having wages a first charge upon the industry or to be fixed at a figure that would leave no profit for those whose money is invested in mining property nor permit the public to have coal for reasonable price.

This report is so fair that both sides have rejected it. It is typical of a coal dispute that both parties to take this course, preferring to proceed with flamboyant statements to win public favor for their particular side. After that they settle matters by boosting the price f. o. b. coal bin.

THE ROAD MEETING

It is fitting that Sweetwater and Nolan county was selected as the meeting place of such an important gathering and such distinguished citizens of Texas as are here today. This city, doubtless, was conveniently reached by every visitor. Our two main highways and twelve passenger trains a day over three railroads running in six directions, make this city convenient to all points of Texas.

And it is fitting that men gather to study and plan road construction and highway maintenance in a county where the commissioners' court and citizens in general consider those subjects linked with success and prosperity of a community. Nolan county is a good road county, and is rapidly becoming more so every day. With construction work under way in many sections of the county, and with bonds voted to care for road building on a large scale, this county is truly among the foremost in highway construction.

Sweetwater welcomes the visitors here today, and feels that they came to the logical West Texas city for a good road meeting. And it is our hope that a great highway maintenance association be perfected here at this meeting, the work and aim and scope of which will be felt wherever a highway, a road, or a lane winds along over Texas soil.

DISARMING OFFICIAL GUNMEN

Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, the new prohibition officer, has made a popular regulation. He has decided that there has been too much indiscriminate shooting in the streets and highways by enforcement agents. So the general has ruled that any officer who is too quick on the trigger is going to lose his job. The casualty list shows that due to the facility with which the enforcement squad has used its guns more innocent bystanders than bootleggers or rum runners have been killed or desperately wounded. The list of victims including a United States senator and a Sister of Charity. Something of the same caution will be exercised this year by the Ohio bureau which directs the operation of corn order guards. The latter will be permitted to wear uniforms, but they will carry no arms. These movements in behalf of non-combatant and law-abiding humanity come in good time. Under past conditions every highway was a sort of no-man's land along which a citizen could move only at great peril.

Anyway, a war to make the world safe for something makes it safe for about six months.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Vacation for the president of the United States does not mean vacation for the newspapermen who have accompanied him to keep the nation informed of his activities, opinions and policies.

The public seems to have become even more interested in President Coolidge since he came north for his vacation and the work of the reporters who must satisfy this interest has become doubly strenuous.

As Mr. Coolidge moves here and there in New England, by motor and by yacht, the newspaper men must follow him closely to insure that nothing of consequence may happen which the people of the country are not informed upon immediately. If the president starts out upon a two hour motor trip from coast to coast with an account of afternoon papers are on the street his outing long before he returns to the White House.

Automobiles, the telephone, the telegraph and couriers all play their part in hastening the news of the president's doings to the newspapers. The news is not centralized here as it is at the White House when Mr. Coolidge is in Washington.

Here some comes from the President himself at the White House, some from his secretary, Everett Sanders at the executive offices in Lynn, four miles distant, some from hotels where members of the president's party are staying, and some from important visitors to White House who are stopped and interviewed at the gate as they go in and out. The reporter who would carefully cover the story of the President's vacation hour by hour has great need of being in half a dozen places at once.

Equipment necessary for the newspaperman with the president's party here includes dinner clothes. The president is staying in one of the most exclusive and aristocratic summer colonies in the country and the hard-working reporter here finds it necessary to dress for dinner night after night and frequently to seek his news at exclusive social functions he might not otherwise ever find occasion to attend.

Two classes of newspaper men are on this assignment—those representing great press associations and those special correspondents representing the principal big newspapers of the country, some 18 or 20 in all.

All of them keep well posted on the important questions before this government and a single remark indicating the president's attitude or intention is usually enough to give them the "whole story." It is because news of ten hinges upon a single statement or remark from the president or his advisers that newspapermen must understand that background of every international and national question and the recent occurrences which led up to the action.

President Coolidge and other government officials as well, prefer this indirect method. The responsibility for the correctness of the story thus rests upon the newspaper men themselves, as Mr. Coolidge rarely ever issues official statements which can be quoted as coming from him. All the statements made by Mr. Coolidge in his conferences are reported, mostly paraphrased to give their connection with recent events in the situation as coming from the White House spokesman or "it was said at the White House."

The newspapermen's working days at Swampscott are long, for they try to follow the president's actions during all his waking hours. Mr. Coolidge arises earlier than the newspaper men at that, however, for when they come from their hotel to White House he has already finished his early morning walk, eaten breakfast and prepared for his day's work or play.

His appointments with visitors are scattered throughout the day, and reporters halt the callers as they leave, asking what development has taken place. Information regarding these walks, swims, drives and other personal happenings is obtained from secret service men, neighbors, police and chauffeurs, with most of whom the reporters keep in close personal touch.

The reporters follow in the presidential motor caravan when Mr. Coolidge goes touring. When he goes a-yachting he sometimes asks them to accompany him, at other times they go by motor or rail to his landing point to watch and report his doings.

Plea Wins in Washington Court

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—If you get caught speeding have cupid as an ally. This works in Washington at any rate.

Franklyn M. Carter, 18, tuned up his motorcycle and made a trial spin at 35 miles an hour. Policeman Jett nabbed the speeder and took Carter to traffic court.

"Judge MacDonald, I was trying out my machine in preparation for my honeymoon," Carter said. "I am going to get married in a few weeks."

"Case dismissed," the court ruled after warning the youth to show more respect for his wife than he had for the traffic laws.

Harnessed Radium Is New Discovery of Scientists—Bottled in Tubes

LONDON, Aug. 6.—"Harnessed" radium or radon for treatment of cancer and kindred diseases is among the newest discoveries of British scientists. Radium gas is "bottled" in tubes about the size of a hair and this can be used with less danger and with the same therapeutic effects as radium.

As a result of conservation of the gas, radium properties are rendered cheaper and radon can be administered at home.

SPORT CHATTER

By United Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Outsmarting the wisest men in tennis who thought they had him bound and gagged, Bill Tilden, the world's champion tennis player, has started another war with the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Tilden found a loop-hole in the rule passed last winter aimed directly at him for the purpose of restricting his activity and his earning capacity as a tennis writer.

The association is particularly chagrined because Tilden was a member of the committee that drew up and approved of the rule that he is now beating and diligent efforts are now being directed to tighten the rule.

The new amateur rule of the association permits a writer to do newspaper work as long as he does not use his title over the articles, but it prohibits him from covering or commenting upon a tournament in which he is a competitor.

Tilden complained that he had a contract with a syndicate that bound him to write about the big tournaments and that the rule and his contract would force him to sit in the press box during the national championships and the Davis Cup matches.

When the association took the attitude "You can sit wherever you wish" Tilden announced that his syndicate had released him from that particular clause in the contract that he would be able to defend his country and fight for the flag in the Davis Cup matches.

All went well until Tilden made his appearance in the first major tournament of the season. Then a series of articles in which he was being interviewed exclusively for the papers subscribing to the syndicate began to appear and the association rose up in wrath. The wise minds had been out smarted. It is true that Tilden's name was not signed to the articles, but the interviews were just as "Tilden" as if he had signed them.

Viewed from a neutral seat the indignation of the association is amusing and the developments that are sure to follow will be comical. Tilden must be chuckling because he has outwitted the faction against him and there seems to be absolutely no way in which the association can thwart him unless it passes a rule prohibiting players from doing any kind of writing for pay and there may be a way in which Tilden can hurdle that barrier.

The association probably will continue to make life just as disagreeable for Tilden as possible without forcing him out of tennis. Despite all the clamor that no man is bigger than his game, it is apparent that Tilden is almost as big as his game and the association needs Tilden.

Without him the Davis Cup would be lost and the association is greatly in love with the cup, not only because it is symbolic of world supremacy on the court but because it is a source of much revenue.

Tennis From Wall

PARIS, Aug. 6.—A board wall, says Rene Lacoste, the new French holder of the English tennis championship is one of the best tennis trainers.

He puts down his great improvement in tennis in the past two years to the fact that he practices two hours a day hitting the ball against a wall.

Lacoste always takes three new rackets with him when he goes on to the courts for a tournament game. As a tip to players who have trouble with the racket slipping in their grip, Lacoste says he carried with him a tin of boracic powder. He shakes some of this on his hands between games.

Kellogg's patented inner-sealed plastic wrapper preserves the flavor and keeps the flakes toothy-crisp. This is an exclusive Kellogg's feature!

Compare the flavor of Kellogg's Corn Flakes with any ready-to-eat cereal and you'll appreciate why Kellogg's outsells all others.

Jack Yarborough, Sheriff Nolan County, Texas. By M. A. Musgrove, Deputy. Sweetwater, Texas, August 5, A. D. 1925. Aug 6-13-20.

Lieut. Col. Alfred H. Osman, secretary of the National Flying Club, insists he has been libeled by an article appearing in an English newspaper protesting against the holding of pigeon races involving night flights by the pigeons.

Col. Osman says an occasional night out doesn't hurt the pigeons, and that he has been libeled by the newspaper's remarks to the effect that pigeon races he has held from San Sebastian calling from overnight flying are inhumane.

The first jury to hear the case was divided in its opinion as to whether "night outs" were especially harmful to the pigeons and has been discharged. Meanwhile plans are pending for a rehearing.

Sweetwater Serves You Better

And So Does WADE BROTHERS

By her situation at the intersection of three main lines of railroad, which gives her outlets to the markets of the world in six different directions, SWEETWATER is peculiarly suited to be the distributing center of all West Texas, and, if a good distributing center, she must also then be suitable for manufacturing for the same reason.

Many have talked manufacturing, but few have ever ventured it. Recently however a new industry has raised its head in our midst, which bids fair, in time, to offer this territory a better outlet for its livestock by creating a market, and at the same time supplying an ever increasing demand for meat. SWEETWATER is justly proud that it can now boast an abattoir, which though small in comparison to those operated by larger concerns, is complete and modern in every detail of its structure and equipment.

We will appreciate the citizenship of West Texas giving us their support providing ours is a just and worthy enterprise. If, after thorough investigation, you do not find it worthy of your patronage and you can not conscientiously be a booster for this new business, we invite your constructive criticism, and where possible will do everything to carry out any new ideas advanced.

WADE BROTHERS.

A modern building of tile, brick and concrete located one mile west of Sweetwater on the Texas & Pacific Railway, houses the newest enterprise to be introduced to West Texas. Modern in every respect, electrically operated where machinery can be used, and as clean and sanitary as careful keeping and watchfulness can make it, Wade Brothers Abattoir is indeed an asset to Sweetwater and the surrounding territory.

Three hundred feet of spur track from the main line of the T. & P. serve to bring cars up to the doors of the plant, which gives employment to fifteen people and represents a payroll approximating $2,000.00 per month.

A conservative estimate would place the valuation of this plant at $20,000. Four huge storage vaults which are constantly kept at a low temperature have a capacity for 70 carcasses and five carloads of other products. There is also a concrete salt vat in which hides are kept for shipment.

Heading this enterprise are two of Sweetwater's biggest boosters, Will and Tom Wade, the former handling sales and the latter being the livestock man. They are distributors in this district for Wilson & Co. products and are handling at the present one solid car of hams, bacon, etc., each week, each car representing an average valuation of $6,000.00.

This is one of a series of pages devoted to the upbuilding of SWEETWATER and made possible through the co-operation of the following Progressive Business Men. Watch for the next one.

HIGHWAY MEETING NOTES

They were here from every section of Texas today—county judges, commissioners, maintenance engineers, section foremen, machinery salesmen and agents of construction materials. Representatives of many counties from Fort Worth to Sonora, from Amarillo to San Antonio, had registered up to noon Thursday.

San Angelo furnished probably one of the best engineers, and anyhow, the best looking engineer for the session. At least, Joe Gresham of that city was introduced as the most handsome engineer present this morning.

Joe Burkett, State Highway Commissioner, was formerly a Nolan county citizen. It was in about 1907, the commissioner said, when he lived in this county. Mr. Burkett was superintendent, principal and faculty of the Nolan school, in south Nolan county, and he first became interested in highways when driving along the sand pike from Sweetwater to Nolan. Judge John J. Ford, Mayor of Sweetwater, was county judge at that time.

Larry O. Cox, Amarillo, highway engineer was one of the principal speakers Thursday. Incidentally, it was stated that the panhandle highways did not suffer greatly in the recent Amarillo earthquake.

F. M. Gwin, Cross Plains, was present at the morning session. Mr. Gwin is a friend of all movements for better highways, and a typical West Texas booster. He is a business man, a newspaper correspondent, interested in oil wells and an organizer of bands. In his spare time he is mayor of Cross Plains and Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce there.

Not only were county judges, commissioners and highway engineers present at the morning session here. The register revealed that many other vocations and occupations were represented.

On the register were the names of farmers, stockmen, agents, railroad officials, officers, a Ford dealer, citizens, contractors and newspaper men.

Sweetwater citizens will drive visitors to Lake Trammell this evening where supper will be served. Citizens who will furnish cars for the trip are urged to be at the square by 5:30 o'clock. A drive over the city will follow upon return from the lake. The Sweetwater Band will be in concert at the square and Hon. Joe Burkett will make an open air address from the court house lawn.

George P. Galvin, manager of the Berger Manufacturing Company, Dallas, was one of the visitors here Thursday.

J. M. Rutherford, Orient official, Chillicothe, attended the morning session at the court house.

E. K. Whitehead, of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce, attended the meeting here today. Mr. Whitehead was in Sweetwater recently with R. Q. Lee, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and party, on a tour of West Texas. Whitehead divides his time among newspaper work, chamber of Commerce duties and organizing Izzak Walton Leagues.

Silliman Evans, staff correspondent of the Fort Worth Star Telegram was occupying an advantageous position during the morning session, with one hand full of pencil and the other fist full of copy paper.

Tomorrow's session will get under way at the court house at 9 o'clock. A very active and interesting program is arranged for Friday.
