WHERE ARE THE BUGGIES?

Only a few years ago a Kansas prophet rated as one of the menaces to thrift and prosperity in his state the fact that Kansas farmers were buying MOM'N POP too many pianos and top buggies. If that prophet is living now he must be soured and disappointed as Jonah because his misgivings did not fit with later events. Top buggies have given way to motor cars, talking machines and radio supplement the pianos, and still nothing has happened to bring calamity to the state. In the town of Hutchinson, which has 20,000 people and 2,777 automobiles, there is only one top buggy. It is stored in the loft of a former livery stable, now a

When this circumstance came to the attention of the editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star, it inspired him with regret, but not prophecy. He did not read humanity a lecture on the economic consequence of too high saturation point in motor car yearning, but he mourns for the passing of the top buggy. He finds little comfort in the fact that "for religious reasons Mennonite farmers in Ohio and Kan sas stick to the buggy," or that "when the roads of mountain Kentucky are bettered, maybe it will displace the saddle horse and again win a little em pire of its own." His sorrow that heaps, and mice build nests in its leather seat in cob-webby carriage houses, and hay is piled over its skeleton in barn mows . And not long ago it was the vehicle of pride, the chariot of adventure, the rumbling caravansary of sentiment, the traveling ark of the covenant is which ten der vows were plighted.' '

Carriage makers might amend this Cincinnati expert's statistics, but they cannot improve upon his tribute to a great popular institution that custom has put on the toboggan. The nation lost its top buggies and lound a casualty list.

CROOKED COMPETITION

· A veteran traveling salesman was recently asked us to how far he had to go to meet crooked competition.

The questioner related a story that had come to him, about a member of a certain firm of architects in a large city. This man had a wonderful mift for getting orders. He would invite some builder whose contract he want ed, to dinner at some swell hotel. The wine would flow freely and at a late hour the architect would triumphantly emerge with the signature on the

"See much of that kind of thing now?" the traveling man was asked. "No," was the reply. "The buyers of business concerns, so far as I know them, do not usually like to feel that they owe obligation to any salesman, and they do not commonly care to accept a cigar from a traveling man. They do not want to feel too friendly with them, or feel that they are expected to do anything for them."

"Of course there are some who are not so particular and some who are crooked clear through. They sometimes ask me direct what there is in it for them personally. But those fel lows are not common.

"You must have your goods right and your prices right, and if you have you can do business, and if you have not you can't. That's my experience" he concluded.

The Druses who are in revolt in Syria, are stubborn fighters, too. Both these campaigns are expenive and undoubtedly will make the French feel poorer.

All the indications are that America's World War Foreign Debt Com mission will stand pat in its conversations with Finance Minister Caillaux of France-that is it will insist on an agreement which appears to give the United States all that she has coming.

In reality the figures are likely to be hocussed so as to make a good many concessions to the French, but it must be done so that nobody will know! except a few super-experts like Secretary Mellon and Hoover and Senator Smoot.

It must be done that way because the administration doesn't believe the Racing drivers-hill-climbing and endurance record holders - taxicab, motor truck and bus operators-and hundreds of thousands of car owners-are daily emphasizing the unheard-of mileage and service delivered by Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords.

Gum-Dipping is one of the biggest factors in tire performance and long mileage, making Firestone Gum - Dipped

Cords the most economical tires ever offered motorists.

The cord from the fabric mills is first delivered to a separate plant where it is treated in a solution of gum, which insulates every fiber of every cord. This protects against internal friction and heat, giving the sidewalls greater flexibility and additional strength.
