Sorry to lose George O'Neal as the Humble Oil distributor here, but pleased to add two fine men to our community—and still keep George.

After Humble Oil & Refining Company bought the bulk agency from George, it placed James Massey, formerly of Lubbock, in the managerial spot. Aubrey Lester, former Sundown football coach, will assist as tank-wagon salesman.

The self-made man who boasts he is his own master might do better by serving another.

Sept. 20 is the date for the annual Terry Soil Conservation District Field Day. From all indications, the event should prove more interesting, educational and pleasant than that of a year ago.

Three TNM&O coaches—air-conditioned—will make for much more enjoyable riding. The farm section this week and that of next week will contain many details and pictures of some of the farms we'll be visiting.

Farmers and businessmen, alike, will enjoy the day. Those plans you make now to attend—they'll profit you.

Herbert Bevers has sold The House of Fabrics to Jack Canipe of Lubbock. Herbert plans, however, to remain in Brownfield.

Brownfield Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors accepted the resignation Wednesday of W. N. (Doc) Lewis as the chamber's first vice-president.

In Lewis' place, the board immediately elected J. L. (Dusty) Kemper, division manager of General Telephone Company. The board explained that Lewis resigned for purposes of other pressing business.

A special room has been set aside for good used clothing and shoes which will be distributed to needy school children. All parents are requested to donate to this room. For pick-up of the clothing, call Mrs. Joe Henson.

Meadow Tallies 292 Scholastics

A total of 292 students were registered for the 1956-57 year in Meadow schools, Supt. J. S. Carroll said this morning.

The Meadow schools lost a faculty member of eight years standing, Elmer Watson, who resigned this week to become principal of the high school at Amherst.

Supt. Carroll also said that the Meadow Parent-Teachers Association would meet tonight in the school to greet new faculty members and to lay plans for the coming year.

On Monday's school opening, Leon Sharp, minister of Meadow Church of Christ, addressed some 450 teachers and students. Coach Phillip Wynn has been putting the Meadow Broncos through their paces since Aug. 28, said Carroll.

The Broncos meet Ropseville High School at 8 p.m., Friday at Meadow, in the season's first game for both teams.

Students will take advantage this year of combination gymnasium and auditorium, said Carroll. The old auditorium was remodeled during the summer.

Said Lewis: "These bags will contain 10 bulbs: four 60, four 75 and two 100-watts. They're a $2.02 value for $2, delivered at your door. Should you find any defective bulbs, please telephone 2048, and we'll make immediate replacement. Lions also will deliver the bulbs by the case, if you desire." (Staff Photo)

School Traffic To Be Watched, Chief Explains

By JOHN ANONYMOUS
Brownfield News Staff

"Brownfield has an air-tight city ordinance governing traffic in our school areas, and Brownfield Police Department personnel have strict orders to enforce it to the limit."

The foregoing statement was issued this morning by Police Chief Nolan Lassiter, prompted by an Associated Press story in Thursday's Lubbock Avalanche.

The story: "Janet Griffiths, 7, and her 5-year-old sister, Sandra, of Chicago, were killed on the first day of school Wednesday when they were hit by a car driven by a 16-year-old boy as they were walking along the school year fence on the city's north side."

Deaths within the city limits due to traffic accidents remained at zero as of Wednesday, police said. Three moving traffic mishaps this week raised the total to 93 for this year. There have been three traffic injuries.

A hot chase last Saturday night by Brownfield patrolmen netted the following: 10 cans of beer, and 72 half-pints and 13 fifths of whiskey.

Charged with illegal transportation of alcoholic beverages and placed under $500 bond each were: Bobby Raymond Thomas and Robert Eugene Ivey, both of Brownfield. Police first spotted the duo in the 100 block on Lubbock Road. In a fast car, Thomas and Ivey gave the patrolmen a god run for some 3 miles down the highway before being caught.

Patrolman Jack Seales this week, working the night shift, apprehended a New Mexico resident driving a stolen car. Extradition papers have been Called by J. T. (Jake) Fulford, farm bureau president, the session "is open to any and all farmers in Terry county." Said Fulford: "There'll be no politicking and no fund-raising. The area is faced with certain agricultural problems in connection with the harvest. Our one purpose will be to tackle them."

Oil Progress Week Plans Being Pushed By Industry Here

A total of 44 oil industry firms in Brownfield were busy this past several days with plans for Oil Progress Week.

Biggest item: the selection of a Miss Oil Progress for 1956. Who she is, is not yet known. However, a screening program is in effect, under the direction of W. B. Nance of Mid-Continent Supply.

Today is the deadline for entries in the event.

Miss Oil Progress will be the industry's entry in the annual Harvest Festival queen contest. The two weeks are to be combined this year for the first time.

Date of the annual Oilman-Businessmen Banquet will be week of Oct. 9, said General Chairman John Hansard. Exact date is yet to be set.

Clarence Griffith, Rotary Club parade chairman, urged firms and individuals planning to enter floats in the annual HF parade, get in touch with him. "We have the experience—and much material—for assisting in building these floats. However, we must know as soon as possible the number and type of each float. There is the crucial matter of placing each entry in the parade."

Demands for Cotton Pullers Increasing, Says TEC Manager

Demand for cotton pullers for the 1956 harvest in increasing, Aubrey T. Jones, manager here of Texas Employment Commission, said this morning.

"It now appears that pullers from South Texas will be coming into the area in larger number than during the '55 harvest," explained Jones. "This condition will be because of the lack of crops off the Caprock."

The manager added: "Terry farmers needing pullers in the near future should get in touch with TEC that hands may be guided into the area when the demand gets heavy."

Jones' office, located on the second floor of the courthouse, assisted more farmhands to get agricultural work during July of this year than during the same period of 1955.

TEC records show that 722 hands were placed in the July period of this year and 252 during the 1955 month. Non-agricultural placements were up 30 per cent over the same month of last year.

FARMERS PONDER QUESTION

Soil Bank Due for Tryout in 1957

The Soil Bank program, based on legislation enacted late last spring, will get its first real tryout this fall, according to Robert G. Shrauner, Chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Meetings are now being held throughout the state to get details of the Acreage Reserve to winter wheat growers and of the Conservation Reserve to all farmers.

In general, Chairman Shrauner explains, the program is aimed at reducing the surpluses of farm commodities, which have continued to pile up despite acreage allotments and marketing quotas. The Acreage Reserve part of the program enables farmers to reduce basic crop acreages below the acreage allotment level for their farms while maintaining income.

The Conservation Reserve part provides financial assistance for farmers who reduce their acreage of general crops and carry out an approved conservation practice on the designated land.

To participate in the Acreage

Reserve, the farmer will remove part or all of his basic crop acreage from production, harvesting no crop from it and not grazing it.

To participate in the Conservation Reserve, the farmer will designate a certain acreage of cropland other than the acreage for the Acreage Reserve and carry out an approved conservation practice. To reduce the regular rate annual payment, there must be a reduction in the acreage of crops which are generally called "depleting crops."

The farmer may receive a Conservation Reserve payment for the conservation practice covering up to 80 percent of the cost, and also annual payments for each acre in conservation reserve.

Farmer Subject To Child-Labor Laws and Rules

DALLAS, Sept. 1 (Special)—Every commercial farmer and grower whose products move in interstate commerce, directly or indirectly, will be subject to the child labor provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act, now that school has started.

U. S. Department of Labor officials here today issued the word of caution.

This complete change in the legal status of employment of children in agriculture the day local schools open was explained by Regional Director William J. Rogers of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division in Dallas.

"This law," he said, "exempts growers of agricultural and horticultural products from it $1 minimum wage and overtime provisions, but it specifically prohibits employment of children under 16 years of age in agricultural occupations during hours school is in session in the school district in which they live while working."

"In other words children of any age may be employed on the farm by the grower in the planting, cultivating, harvesting or handling of agricultural

County Officials Approve Little League Ball Park

PAGE TWO Brownfield News-Herald, Thursday, Sept. 6, 1956

Since football is on the threshold, let's ask this question: Did you know that Wednesday was the anniversary of the forward pass in football?

As a matter of fact, it was the 50th anniversary. The first pass thrown fell incomplete, but the second one went 20 yards and the receiver, Jack Schneider, stepped in for a TD. That first pass was thrown by a lad named Brad Robinson and he was a back at St. Louis University.

Should the Cubs lose every game they play this season, the school, the town and you parents can be consoled by this fact, (and I use the word "fact" in expressing a personal opinion) they are being coached by four of the finest men in high school football.

This opinion is expressed after watching the boys work-out for the past week, noting such things as the coaches' ability to handle the squad, the attitude with which both coach and player handle their tasks, the receptiveness of the players to new ideas and formations and, in general, the all-around aggressiveness shown by each player as the team prepares to meet Levelland on the 14th. It is also my opinion that the Cubs won't lose every game they play.

Terry County 4-H'ers In Sears Gift Program

Terry County 4-H club members again took part this year in the annual Sears Gift Program.

The 4-H'ers were judged Saturday in the following manner: Carroll Hulse, first $8; Dwight Hill, second, $7; Jimmy Woodard, third, $6; Geoffrey Hulse, fourth, $5, and Roy Stone, fifth, $4.

Judge was Alvin Davis, agricultural advisor and vice-president of Brownfield State Bank. County Agent Jim Foley said this morning that Hulse would take his gift to Lubbock for the Sept. 15 contest there.

The group named Janith Spears, a local high school senior, as their choice to wear the Little League colors.

The meeting was held at the Brownfield swimming pool and after the announcement that the league would participate in the Rotary Club sponsored event, other business was discussed.

The first order of business was a discussion of the proposed new Little League ball park to be erected before play begins in 1957. The new park will be located just east of Coleman Park on county owned property, according to an announcement made by County Judge Herb Chesshir.

The announcement was greeted with much enthusiasm and plans were laid to begin a layout of the diamond immediately.

A business meeting was called for Tuesday night and all parents of Little Leaguers and interested persons are urged to attend since the Terry County Little League will elect its officers for the 1957 season and make plans for the Little League's participation in other civic events throughout the winter months.

The meeting will be held in the Scout Clubhouse located next to the American Legion Hall, on the Seagraves Highway. The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m.

In 1955, he appeared as guest tenor soloist with the Albuquerque Symphony Orchestra in Bach's B Minor Mass. Mr. Wall and his wife Barbara, who teaches fourth and fifth grade music, are living at 611 North A. and are members of the Methodist church.

Ruidoso Downs Closing Out the Season Sunday

Ruidoso Downs, a favorite racing spot for Brownfield fans, brings its 1956 season to a close Sunday with the Pinky Roden Purse for Quarter Horses as the feature race.

Track officials stated today that the Labor Day weekend was the most successful of the current season with both attendance and parimutuel records broken.

Pat and Wanda are graduates of McMurry College, and they will be teaching in the Brownfield Schools this year.

Anne Lee made one last pilgrimage to her "ole stompin' grounds" at Matador before settling down to the old grind. She was there during the Old Settler's Reunion, and she returned Friday afternoon.

A party was held bright and early Wednesday morning for "orientation" of freshmen at Mary Jane Brownfield's.

Janith Spears will be a Harvest Festival queen candidates, sponsored by the Brownfield Little League.

products during vacation periods, on weekends and before and after school. The grower may use his own children in agricultural work at any time and at any age on his own farm.

But he noted that these are federal restrictions. Each of the 48 states has a child-labor law of its own. So he advised growers to consult with state officers, local school attendance officials or study state laws to determine their provisions. When the state child-labor standards are higher than those of the federal law, the state law should be observed.

"The federal regulation requires that each grower subject to it have on file for each employee under 18 a record showing his full name, date of birth, the home address and the local address if the minors are employed on days when school is in session," he said.

Primary purposes of both federal and state child-labor laws, according to Rogers, are to protect children from exploitation, and to encourage them to stay in school and obtain the education that will make them better citizens of tomorrow.

Here are the steps Mr. Rogers said the commercial grower should take to protect himself from unintentional violations:

1. Learn the requirements of both state and federal child-labor laws.
2. Do not employ or permit children under 16 to work in or about the farm or hothouse during hours school is in session.
3. Make sure the youth is of employable age and keep the required records for at least three years.

He emphasized that the federal law applies to all children, whether they reside in area or are members of migrant worker families. Also that the grower himself is held liable for any violations children were hired and paid by a labor contractor or processor or others.

Visiting over the week end in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Norma Lewis, was Mrs. Jess Harris of Abilene.

Wrestling Site Changed To Lions Ball Stadium

This week's wrestling matches will be held at the Lions Club baseball park instead of Cobs Stadium, according to an announcement made by American Legion Post today.

The Legion also announced that, beginning Monday, matches will be held each Monday instead of Friday. The change will also see some new faces in Brownfield since the Post decided at the same time, to change promoters.

Peggy Elliott from Tahoka defeated Mary Jo Hardy last Friday to become the 1956 Women's Champion at Brownfield's Country Club.

The championship match was a duplicate of last year since the same women vied for the finals and then, as this year, Peggy Elliott emerged the winner.

YOUR FIRST DAY IN SCHOOL — Monday was a mighty important day for Cody Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Douglas Green of 604 North Bell. Six-year-old Cody started to school. He was one of 249 first-graders to register at Jessie G. Randal and Colonial Heights primary schools. Let's follow Cody — and his mother — as the lad makes his way through that first day. From left in the upper panel: Cody and his mother pause for a long moment on the steps of Jessie G. Randal, the threshold of which is an elusive line between two entirely different worlds to which Cody is accustomed. His first step: the registration desk presided over by teacher Miss Edith Creighton. Next: a personal and warm welcome from the principal himself, Vernon Brewer, after which it's time for lunch in the school cafeteria. From left in the lower panel: Lunchtime finished, Cody settles down to what he came to school for, reading books. He expressed a lively interest in his books and in his classmates. Finally and at long last, it's home once again to tell father all about that first day at school. (BHS Photos)

Drouth Brings Feed Problems

Roughage is a scarce item these days on most Texas farms and ranches. The prolonged drouth has cut deep into supplies of all roughages and forced stockmen to turn to substitutes, says Dr. C. M. Patterson, A&M veterinarian.

He reports that numerous calls and letters to his office indicate the wide-spread shortage of roughages and the intentions to use substitute whenever possible. A frequent question has to do with the use of cotton burs and gin trash as a maintenance ration and whether or not there is danger of poison from cotton insecticides.

The veterinarian says burs and gin trash can be fed and there is little or no danger from position, especially if no insecticides were applied to the cotton plants three to four weeks prior to harvest.

He also reports that complaints have been received that livestock have suffered from prussic acid when fed baled sudan, Johnsongrass, hegar or other sorghum hays. He says considerable of these crops were cut at an immature stage and baled before the plants had thoroughly dried and that the excessive moisture inside the bales was causing the trouble. The trouble can be remedied by breaking open the bales and letting the plants dry before feeding them.

Patterson also warns against using urea as a protein supplement where cattle are getting a very small intake of roughage or the forage is of poor quality. He says the animals cannot utilize the urea because of the low intake of carbohydrates, and urea poisoning will result.

Do You Really Want Your Children To Believe In God?

90% of what your children will learn comes from your example. If they really learn to pray, it will be from seeing you pray. If they really learn to read the Bible, it will be because they hear you doing it. If you "put them through" something, it will not have the same effect as going through it with them. Religion is contagious. The relationship with you on the way will make all the difference — to them and to you.

Our Family Service, Sundays at 8:45 A. M. brings entire families to Church to worship and learn together. You and your family will be welcomed at this and all other services.

MRS. LYLE SHELTON

Miss Janelle Lewis Becomes Bride of Ensign Lyle Shelton in Church Rites

Beneath an archway flanked with baskets of white gladiolus and flanked with candelabra, Miss Janelle Lewis became the bride of Ensign Lyle Thomas Shelton at 7 p.m. September 1 in the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Jones W. Weathers, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the double ring rites.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Norma Lewis and L. O. Lewis, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shelton.

Leonard Ellington, organist, offered traditional wedding music, and accompanied Miss Tommy Wieland of Dumas as she sang "Hand In Hand" and "O Perfect Love".

Don Adress of Brownfield was best man. Ushers were Richard S. Blackmore of Chicago, Ill., Macky Hord of Lubbock, and Holly Bird and Doug Tankersley, both of Brownfield. Jerry House and Robert Latham, both of Lubbock, lighted the candles.

Mrs. Bobby Latham of Lubbock was matron of honor and Miss Patsy Stice of Brownfield was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Norma Ackner, and Beverly Wartes of Brownfield and Miss Helen Willis of Dumas.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white tulle over satin, fashioned with an appliqued lace over-tunic with fitted bodice, bateau neckline and long sleeves terminating in points over the hands, the tunic dipping in long points around the skirt. The bouffant skirt ended in a chapel length train. Her tiara of rhinestones, pearls and irrescent sequins held her fingertip length veil of illusion. She carried an arm bouquet of pink sweetheart roses tied with pink streamers and love knots.

The honor attendants wore identical gowns of pink chiffon over taffeta, fashioned with waltz length skirts with a Vassar red over-drape at the off-the-shoulder neckline extending to the back in full streamers. They wore headbands of pink velvet with noseveils sprinkled with sequins, and carried bouquets of Vassar red carnations tied with pale pink streamers.

At a reception in the home of the bride's mother, the couple was assisted in receiving by their parents, their attendants, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Jess Harris of Abilene.

The serving table was laid with a hand made cloth and was centered with the three-tiered cake, decorated with pink and silver, and topped with a miniature bridal couple. Mrs. Roy Collier presided at the punch service. Assisting in the house party were Mrs. G. V. Ellis, Mrs. John Cloud, Mrs. Jerry Kehoe, Mrs. O. R. Reed, and Miss Muriel Brann of Lubbock and Miss Joy Wieland of Dumas.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., Mrs. Shelton chose a rust tweed-effect sheath dress with tiny bolero, black accessories, and a white rosebud corsage.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Shelton are graduates of Brownfield High School. Mrs. Shelton attended Texas Tech, where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority. The bridegroom is a graduate of Texas Tech, where he was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity.

The couple is at home at Pensacola, Fla., where Ensign Shelton is stationed with the U. S. Navy.

Donna Christopher Will Try for Crown

Miss Donna Sue Christopher, who was crowned queen Aug. 23 of the Terry County Farm Bureau, will compete against nine other county queens for the Texas Farm Bureau District 2 title.

Do all measuring devices give the same size for the same feet?

Measuring devices are the cause of endless arguments among shoemen. Some add a half size, others subtract; some have the children stand, others measure them sitting down. There is no one right way because shoe sizes vary. 9C from one company may be as big as 9 1/2D from another. It is a good idea to remember that a measuring device is used to save the shoe-man's feet, not the customer's. Experienced shoemen can guess the size of eight out of ten feet without measuring them but if they guess wrong they have to make an extra walk to the stock. When they learn how the measuring device can be adjusted to the make of shoes they fit they get the right size the first time and have fewer complaints from their bunions.

One thing that no measurer measures is the depth of the foot and that is very important. Nor is there any marking in the shoe to indicate whether it is shallow or deep. Again, the best answer is the old one—there is no substitute for the experience of man who is doing the fitting.

GEE GEE'S Chat!

This is the time of the year when I always start getting enthused about football, world series, apples, a cord of wood, and numerous and sundry other things that are heralds of fall. I think we all sort of look forward to the change of seasons, although I suppose most people, like I, have some seasons we like better than others. Spring has always been my very favorite, but I am eagerly anticipating this fall. Mainly because I'll be able to put the old straw hat on the shelf.

With the coming of fall and the starting of school, all other activities seem to get up steam. It's nice to have all the study clubs resume their meetings. I've really missed you gals. And right here I want to thank the Maids and Matrons for issuing me a courtesy T. F. W. C. membership card. These lovely ladies are celebrating their golden anniversary this year and they certainly have a beautiful year book. You other clubs are going to have step pretty high to produce a better one.

And that reminds me that I would like to have a year book from each study club, P.T.A. and other organizations who

Regular Meeting Of WMS Is Held

Next week the circles will meet in homes for Mission Study as follows:
 Ann Pettit, Mrs. Lloyd Thompson, 306 W. Ripley; Bagby, Mrs. Ruth Auburg, 412 N. 6th; Blanche Groves, Mrs. Elko Evans, 305 W. Lake; Janelle Doyle, Mrs. D. I. Patton, 912 E. Oak; Lois Glass, Mrs. R. D. Shewmake, 802 E. Cardwell; Lottie Moon, Mrs. T. A. Wartens, 1309 E. Buckley; Lucille Reagan, Mrs. W. S. Daniell, 316 E. Tate; and Roberta Edwards, Mrs. Sid Lowrey, 1206 E. Buckley.

Tuesday through Thursday, the W. M. S. will meet at 4 p.m. at the church in observance of the week of prayer for State Missions.

Brownfield Garden Club Will Begin Club Year With Table Setting Study

The Brownfield Garden Club will begin its club year next Wednesday, September 12th, at 3:00 p.m. with a regular meeting at the Seleta Jane Brownfield Clubhouse.

Mrs. Jess McWherter is the Program Chairman for the day and will introduce the program topic, "Let's Set Our Table." Mrs. Kenneth Purcell will have a table set for breakfast complete with appropriate table cover, place settings, and centerpiece. The Luncheon table will be prepared by Mrs. Alton Webb and Mrs. Lee Fulton will set the Dinner table. The Buffet will be presented by Mrs. Eulice Farrar. Each table will be explained by the member who prepared it.

Calvary Baptist Circles In Study

The Ruby Wheat circle, Helen Tisdale, Darlene Sears, circles of the Calvary Baptist met at the church Monday for a regular business meeting.

Mrs. G. S. Weber Led Circle Study

Faith Circle met in the Weber room of the First Methodist Church at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Mrs. G. S. Weber led the program, "The Spirit of Christ For All of Life", reading the scripture from the 24th Psalm. She was assisted by Mrs. Ida Bell Walker, Mrs. T. C. Hogue, and Mrs. W. B. Downing.

Local Police Cracking Down On Traffic Rules

While disconsolately dunking the dishes Saturday afternoon, I was most happy to observe George and Katie Weiss stop their pickup in front of my house. Even more so when George appeared with a more than ample sized watermelon and presented it to me. It was really one of the sweetest, most elegant melons I've ever tested and I want to tell you here and now that George Weiss may not know beans about raising cotton but he's a fine watermelon-raiser.

Speaking of generous people, the customers at the Melody drive in restaurant were getting the real treatment Monday morning when owner Cye Tankersley was taking piping hot home-made rolls and butter to each coffee-drinker's table. Was a real neighborly gesture and a nice treat, Cye.

While I'm at it, want to thank the crew at the office, and all you people who very kindly turned your news in to them, for taking care of my little business while I was gone last week. The mountains were very nice and cool and relaxing. I think.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarene Denson and Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hulse and boys, and Mrs. A. J. Bell spent last week in Ruidoso, N.M.

Guests in the home of Misses Barbara and Patsy Stice over the weekend were Misses Joy and Tommye Wieland of Dallas.

To the Man Who is Hesitating...

There are many motorists here in this community who have given serious consideration to the purchase of a new Cadillac car this year—and yet, for one reason or another, have not made the move.

If you are among them, we hope that you will pause to read the little message that follows. For we are sure you will find it interesting.

Ordinarily, when a man hesitates to make the move to Cadillac, it is because he is not familiar with the practical aspects of Cadillac ownership.

Insofar as original cost is concerned, a Cadillac is eminently practical. Several models, in fact, are actually priced competitively with the so-called "medium-priced" makes.

owners that Cadillac is the most economical automobile they have ever owned.

And as for resale value—well, Cadillac traditionally retains a greater share of its worth through the years than any other motor car in the land.

In short, the great Cadillac car represents one of the wisest and soundest automotive investments on the highway today.

The moral of our message is this: It is still not too late to set things right in a 1956 Cadillac of your own!

We have a selection of new Cadillacs on hand—and we can promise you both prompt delivery and a generous trade-in allowance.

'Sure Diversified Farming Pays,' Says Grady Davis

By WELDON CALLAWAY
Brownfield News Staff

In 1951 Mr. and Mrs. Grady Davis purchased a 320-acre farm four miles southeast of Brownfield, on which they now make their home; but up until this year they had been farming west of the Needmore community on a rented farm.

Davis is a firm believer in diversification in farming and proves it by raising grain, corn, a garden, watermelons and cantaloupes, plus having his own milch cows and chickens. Said Davis—"I don't raise hogs any more, I got tired of working for nothing."

The Davis farm is located between two other Davis farms—J. R., his father, and Hershel, his brother. Between the three they are farming some 960 acres, of which 317 acres is in cotton, the balance in feed and pasture.

He has two irrigation wells on his place, a six-inch and an eight-inch. Both wells had to be reworked this year, but are apparently doing a good watering job now, as evidenced by the large "load" his cotton is carrying. Davis has very little cotton open at present, but if conditions hold it will be ready to pull in about two weeks, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis have two children—James Riley, 13, and Janis, 9. The two young Davises have 14 acres of cotton of their own—with which they plan to buy their school clothes and other necessities they will need in the coming year. Said James Riley—"I do all the work in the cotton patch and Janis gets half the profit."

Mrs. Davis (Clarice) is a firm believer in raising as much home-grown food as possible and is continually putting items in her huge deep freeze unit. This year she had an opportunity to freeze corn, strawberries, peaches, okra, peas and other foods, which will be a welcome sight on the Davis table this winter, when such items can't be bought fresh in the grocery stores.

Here is a statistic which we don't consider "dry." Of the 254 counties in Texas, Terry is blessed with the distinction of having the largest number of sprinkler irrigation systems in operation. The total: 675.

The figure is contained in the "Irrigation Survey," compiled in September of last year by Robert V. Thurmond, A&M agricultural engineer.

Only county to be in the same running with Terry is Dawson, with its 330. Others are Gaines, 200; Martin, 140; Hidalgo, 136; Yoakum, 100; and Comanche, 60.

With its 675 sprinkler systems, however, Terry irrigates only some 70,000 acres. (In the year since the report, additional systems and additional acreage have come into the picture.)

"WHICH DO YOU WANT?"—James Riley Davis can't make up his mind whether he had rather have the strawberries or peaches for supper; but his mother, Clarice, knows she won't have any trouble getting him to eat them this winter when you can't buy them fresh in local grocery stores. She contends that "what you raise at home just naturally tastes better." (Staff Photo)

In Lubbock County, the report listed only 12 sprinkler sets, but 325,000 irrigated acres.

Suez Language Is 'Softened'

The London conference on the Suez Canal reached its tortuous end with 18 of the 22 conferring nations in agreement with the plan proposed by US Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. This called, originally, for operation of the canal by an international board of which Egypt would be a member. The language was later softened and the "international board" rechristened the "Suez Canal board."

Next chore is for the US and four other conferees to take the proposal to President Nasser in Cairo. That gentleman has said he would receive the delegation, but he wanted no part of any international control of the canal, regardless of the name of the board.

But it would seem to us that since Mr. Dulles has persuaded the Western powers to accept the principle that the canal belongs to Egypt, that Egypt should share in the profits, and to accept the further very considerable modification of their original demands — it should not be impossible to reach a meeting ground with Col. Nasser.

But Britain, suffering, no doubt, from a bad case of Cyprus fever, continues to rattle the sword — even as the five power mission headed by Australia's Prime Minister Menzies takes off for Cairo. This does not help to engender hospitable thoughts in the Nasser bosom. And to add to the explosiveness of the situation, Russia's Khrushchev now says if there is war the Arabs will not stand alone.

By George Peck

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is Chairman of the Board of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Executive Editor of its official publication, PARTNERS.)

Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man's labor because they are a burden on production and can be paid only in production. If excessive, they are reflected in idle factories, tax-sold farms, and hence in hordes of the hungry tramping the streets and seeking work in vain. Our workers may never see a tax bill, but they pay in deduction from wages, in increased cost of what they buy, or, in broad cessation of employment. There is not an unemployed man, there is not a struggling farmer whose interest in this subject is not direct and vital.

Now who in the world said that? Hang on to your hat, or take a firm grip on your seat, it was none other than Franklin Delano Roosevelt, then Governor of New York state, speaking at Pittsburg in 1932 in the campaign during which he was making his first bid for the Presidency.

And Mr. Roosevelt went on to say:
"I regard reduction in federal spending . . . as the most direct and effective contribution that government can make to business. A powerful cause contributing to economic disaster has been this inexcusable fiscal administration and the obscurity that has attended and grown out of it . . . a veritable

AUSTIN, Tex. — Instead of simmering down at summer's end, Texas' political pot is boiling more furiously than ever.

New significance has been added to the already-controversial State Democratic Convention next week. Monday the executive committee must certify a winner in one of the most breathtakingly close gubernatorial races in Texas history.

Unofficial counts showed Price Daniel leading Ralph Yarborough by some 3,000 votes. But each side regarded returns in certain areas as questionable.

It promises to be an even close finish than in 1932 when Mrs. Miriam Ferguson edged out Ross Sterling by 3,798 votes.

Decision of the executive committee apparently is all important. In the Ferguson-Sterling contest courts refused to interfere with the committee ruling. They said it would delay the general election.

He is a major threat to the Texas GOP's official endorsee, Thad Hutcheson, a young Houston attorney. Hutcheson promised "no token fight."

James P. Hart, former Supreme Court justice and University of Texas chancellor, also has announced.

Congressman-at-Large Martin Dies indicated early in the summer that he would run.

American Way

We set our nances openly and frankly and courageously to this problem, we shall have reached the end of our long, hard, downward road, and shall have started on the upward trail. We shall have built for economic recovery a firm footing on a path broad, true and straight.

It seems almost incredible that these words were uttered by the man, who after the American people elected him, set up the New Deal, whose slogan was: "We will spend and spend and spend and elect and elect." The administration which he castigated as "a powerful cause contributing to economic disaster" because of its excessive spending, was by comparison a miserly piker to the wild spending orgy on which "the Pied Piper of the Air" embarked.

What caused this self-avowed, ardent advocate of economy in government to take the wildest, most profligate spending binge in world history up to that time? There can be only one answer to that question—in that Pittsburg speech, Mr. Roosevelt was making campaign promises which he had no intention of fulfilling.

And why after 24 years do I exhume this shady bit of political maneuvering? Because between now and November 6th, we are going to hear a lot of political promises. They'll come to us via our newspapers, our radio, our television sets, from the public platform, from the blaring of sound trucks and by candidates buttonholing us individually. Let's take most of these vapid outpourings with a grain of salt. Let's make a serious attempt to penetrate through the veil of political promises to make sure it isn't a smoke screen to hide an ambition to propel this nation further along on the road to Socialism.

And let us remember that in spite of Mr. Roosevelt's wild spending necessitating higher and higher taxes, this nation, after six years was still in a depression, with millions unemployed. It was only after we embarked on the defense program in 1939 that American began to emerge from the financial doldrums. Meanwhile, during peacetime, America had piled up a huge national debt, and as we well remember, in 1941 became involved in World War II, which inevitably skyrocketed the national debt to a new record height. So beware of the promising politician—the fellow who is all things to all men—the candidate who unashamedly promises something he either can not, or does not intend to deliver. Vote for the candidate on next November 6, who sees "no pie in the sky," and who sincerely and honestly believes that Uncle Sam should cease playing Santa Claus to such a large number of American adults—leaving that fled entirely to that jolly fellow in the red suit to make his annual visit to the kiddies on December 25.

tion of Texas asked the USDA last Friday to investigate the cotton acreage allotment program "all the way from the county to the national level."

Vernon Stiles, association official, said the request was made in answer to a West Texas claim that the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee is administering the acreage allotment law unfairly.

W. O. Fortenberry, president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., said Saturday that "West Texas farmers would welcome any investigation of the cotton acreage allotment program—all the way from the county to the state and to the national level."

A total of 84,000 bales—that's what Terry will produce this year should estimates of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange pan out. Producers here gained 59,000 bales this year. The Terry yield would come from some 75,000 dryland and 65,000 irrigated acres.

Davis has mapped out a long-range conservation program on his farm and hopes to put it into practice this year. He plans to plant rye and other cover crops on rocky hillsides which have been washing due to no cover—he has one area that is well weeded over and plans "to clear this and plant a cover crop, and in future years will I turn this land into profitable cropland," he added.

"As to fertilizer, I believe that in most cases it pays to fertilize, and I have been experimenting with certain crops but due to recent dry years it is not too easy to bear the expense of extensive fertilizing," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis are members, and staunch supporters of the Baptist church, they also belong to P. I. A. and different farm organizations. Jan is will be in the fourth grade this year and James Riley will be in the eighth grade.

They have one Mexican family living on the farm fulltime and do the remainder of the chores themselves. When cotton pulling time rolls around the Davis farm will be a bee hive of activity—but if things work according to plans some of the cotton will be machined, Davis said.

The 84,000-bale yield would go toward the 1,492,000-bale yield expected this year of the 20-county South Plains, according to the exchange's latest forecast.

This is an increase of some 32,000 bales over the Aug. 1 estimate and an increase of approximately 155,000 bales over the actual 1955 production.

AMALIE L. P. G. is more than just a good oil, it's a super oil. When you burn butane or propane (Liquid Petroleum Gas), ordinary oil won't do. It must be ENGINE-NEEDED for L. P. G. And AMALIE L. P. # PCG Acting to Get State Cotton Acreage Reduced

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a statement from Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., of Lubbock. It in effect presents the "case" of PCG to U. S. Department of Agriculture officials concerning the current fight to have reduced the State ASC Committee's 10 per cent reserve cotton allotment.)

1. The history of West Texas is one of constantly expanding cotton production, due to the favorable soil topography, and climatic conditions for efficient production.

2. In 1956 the nation as a whole received an average acreage reduction of 3.9%. The Department of Agriculture, recognizing the national trend westward gave Texas only a

2.7% cut; yet the state committee did not recognize trends within the state and gave West Texas a 7.0% cut, while giving East Texas a 7% gain, thus completing reversing trends.

3. West Texas planted all acreage possible in uncontrolled years, and all allowable in controlled years, thus building a strong history, and decided upward trends.

4. An amount of 191,000 of these legally earned acres was taken away from West Texas by the state committee in 1956, and given to East Texas on the basis of trend losses and lumped along with hardships in the final figures. The Department's definition of trends, speaks only of "upward trends."

5. An additional 134,000 acres were granted to farms of 15-25 acres as hardships. The Department's definition of "small farms" to receive special treatment is up to 15 acres. We do not see on what authority the state committee gave special consideration to the 15-25 acre group.

6. The Texas state committee strongly recognized these upward trends in West Texas in 1954 and 1955 when they allocated 80% and 62% respectively of the state reserve for trends, but in 1956 they ignored trends entirely.

7. We believe the most equitable method of allotting acres is by the 5-year history. Those who plant their acreage earn this history and should retain it. Those who do not plant for reasons within their control, lose their history as the law provides. If they do not plant for reasons beyond their control, they are protected by the "adverse conditions at planting" clause.

8. The expansion of cotton production in West Texas did not in the least hurt East Texas, but in fact helped them; without the expansion of acreage on the Plains the total state allotment would be much less than now, because East Texas did not plant heavily even during uncontrolled years, and these acres would be lost to the entire state quota.

9. The record shows that many East Texas areas did not even plant their allotments in 1955, whereas West Texas has always planted its full allotted acres. East Texas did not plant in many cases because of the favorable prices for cattle and feed, but now that these have declined they are asking for return of acres which they lost by default according to law.

10. The impression has been given that West Texas received a big increase in 1953 at expense of East Texas because an adjustment was made to area 1-S of 1,113,000 acres. The truth is this was an adjustment due to severe drought in 1953, and this was allotted by the U. S. D. A. in Washington, and not by the state committee, and it had no adverse effect on East Texas. These represent acres which would have been planted if weather conditions had been favorable. The following figures give the true picture:

1953 actual planted	2,259,200 acres
adjustment	1,113,900
Would have planted	3,373,100 acres
Planted 1952	3,165,500
Actual increase	207,600 acres

Note that the actual increase was only 207,600 acres instead of the 1,113,000 as claimed by East Texas.

11. The impression has been given that hardships exist only on small or family size farms. We are in complete sympathy with family size farms and their problems, and recognize they do have hardships, but we also claim that hardships also exist on larger farms as well. Higher fixed costs, equipment and land investments, and greater expenses occur. Reducing acreage raises costs per unit of operation to a high degree, efficiency is reduced, and cotton becomes less competitive to synthetics and foreign production.

12. The policy of extracting acres away from natural trends will lead to nothing but small farms, a situation certainly not intended by the law. The present average cotton farm across the nation now is only 17.5 acres, this average being composed of many small ones and a much smaller percentage of large ones. If carried too far, the taking away from the large to give to the small could lead to only one situation—that is, we would all be 15 acre farmers—and this certainly is not the intention of the law.

13. West Texas does not have representation of a cotton producer on the state committee. It is not democratic that such a large and important cotton producing area should go completely without a voice on the committee.

14. Many West Texas counties have no irrigation water, and their yields per acre are very low. It, therefore, requires many more acres to make an economic unit.

15. West Texas has been reduced drastically more in acreage than other parts of the State, and as evidenced by the following representative county figures: showing percentage reductions of 1956 under 1953.

REDUCTION
West
Dist. 1-S	48%
2-S	40
1-N	53
2-N	44
6	40
East
Dist. 8-N	14%
9	43
4	30
5-N	1 gain
5-S	30

16. The state committee has been very inconsistent with respect to distribution of reserve, as follows:

In 1954 they allotted 80% of reserve for trends.

In 1955 they allotted 62% of reserve for trends.

In 1956 they allotted 0% of reserve for trends.

We see no change in the general situation which would justify this.

In 1954 no provision for hardships in the law.

In 1955 they allotted 19% for hardships.

In 1956 they allotted 63% for hardships.

We see no change in the general situation which would justify this.

17. The adjustments for small farms during the controlled acreage years are as follows:

1954	— 123,239 acres
1955	— 123,434 acres
1956	— 255,063 acres

3 Yr. Average—167,245 acres. Equivalent to—2.25% of state allotment

18. Our position is supported by the Plains Cotton Growers, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Tran-Pecos Association, and by the Farm Bureau (A state-wide organization) which has made it an official state policy to ask that the state committee be permitted a maximum of 2% for all purposes.

19. Ten percent of 7,400,000 acres is a tremendous responsibility to put on a committee, especially with the wide variations which exist in the state of Texas. What group of men is really qualified to allocate such important amount of land and money? Granting full good faith, the relieving of one hardship only serves to create others. With such tremendous amount at stake, the pressures on the committee make it impossible to allocate acreage fairly.

20. Reduction of the percentage which the state committee may reserve is the best way to assure fair and equitable distribution of the state allotment. This reduces the bulk of the distribution to an arithmetical formula based on earned history, and will reduce contention, misunderstanding, possible law suits, and all other difficulties contingent to distribution of a large state reserve.

IN THE PICTURES — It's vetch-planting time on the J. B. and Hugh Hix farm, 4 miles north of Brownfield. To the left: J. B. and Hugh take special care with the inoculation of the seed, which action has been described as "priming the motor." The inoculant makes the plant a complete factory for nitrogen fixation. In the lower panel: Hugh, using the three-row planter of Terry Soil Conservation District, puts down some 25 pounds of vetch seed to the acre. He's interplanting with grain sorghum. crowded field. Filing fee is only $50. High man wins without a runoff.

In the last such election, held in 1941, a total of 29 candidates ran. W. Lee O'Daniel emerged as victor with a blade-thin lead over Lyndon B. Johnson.

Demo Nominees Invited To Texas—Democrats will make a real fight to regain Texas in the November election, says U. S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

He has invited both nominees to speak in Texas this fall. Vice-presidential Candidate Kefauver was specifically urged to attend the heart of Texas Fair in Waco to be held Sept. 29-Oct. 5.

School Bells Ring Out—For millions of Texans the political clamor is almost drowned, out this week by the ringing of school bells.

As usual, a "biggest ever" public school enrollment is expected. Texas Education Agency estimates enrollment at 1,754,883, compared to 1,740,784 last year.

No official reports or estimates were available on how many additional schools will be integrated this year. TEA officials, always carefully aloof on the subject, said they had "heard of only a few." Only known trouble spot was Manfield (Tarrant County) where white citizens patrol the school to prevent registration of Negroes.

A more common problem is shortage of teachers. Some 6,000 additional teachers are needed, says the Texas State Teachers Association.

Business Record Still Expected—Despite a summer slump and farm troubles, forecasters expect Texas' total business volume to set another record in 1956.

According to the University of Texas' Bureau of Business Research, business activity declined two per cent in July. But the index was still two per cent above July, 1955.

"Plight of the drought-stricken Texas farmer continues to be the most serious aspect of the state's business situation," said the report. "Farmers not only face falling prices, but have very little to sell."

Texas farm prices have fallen 36 per cent since 1951, livestock prices 48 per cent in the same period.

New Mental Health Code—Proposals to streamline Texas' mental health code are being drafted by the University of Texas Law School.

Financed by the Hogg Foundation, the project is being conducted with the guidance of the board for State Hospitals and Special Schools.

Suggested changes would (2) encourage earlier care for mental cases to speed recoveries and reduce expense to the state and (2) modernize administrative procedures for the state hospital system.

Crimemobile Launched—Texas' unique new crimemobile is on the road. It was officially launched in Austin last week with a flask of "truth serum" (sodium amytal) substituted for traditional champagne.

Dallas was first stop for the 40-foot trailer truck with its educational display of modern crime detection equipment. Other major cities are to be visited soon.

Texas Law Enforcement Foundation assembled the crimemobile with contributions from industry.

Short Snorts—University of Texas will have its final admission tests for the fall semester at the main campus Sept. 10. Total students tested before school's opening will be about 4,500 officials estimate.

Texas Department of Public Safety called leaves and off-days to put every available man on the highways during the holidays. Their goal: to beat the odds that 32 would be killed in weekend accidents

WHEN IT RAINS

Plans, Seed and Fertilizer Need To Be Ready for Planting of Winter Pastures

Prospects right now are slim for winter pastures, but, says E. M. Trew, A&M pasture specialist, plans, seed and fertilizer should be ready if and when it rains. The need for winter forage is critical in most areas of the state and winter pastures, if conditions become favorable, can be used to cut wintering costs for livestock and up the output of meat and milk from the farm. When planting time comes, Trew advises dusting in oats and barley if there is subsoil moisture. Dry planted crops will be up and growing before planting could be done after a rain and the result is much earlier grazing. Don't fail to use fertilizer, emphasizes Trew. If it does not rain, the plant food will not be lost for it can be used by a succeeding crop. The specialist says if possible plant a legume with the grass. The combination often gives greater yields, and the forage is higher in protein and minerals and the grazing season is extended. For early grazing, Trew suggests using an upright type of

Radiation on Cotton Is To Be Studied

Seems there is no end to where cotton may go as a modern textile, with serious efforts being made to improve its qualities and markets. The latest study to be announced deals with how cotton is affected by radiation. The work will be done at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology this fall, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Under a contract recently signed with the department, M.I.T. scientists will seek to learn whether atomic or electrically-generated radiation can be used to make useful new textile products from cotton or to improve the value of cotton in its present uses. Among the things to be studied are the effect of radiation on the durability of cotton, its strength, elasticity and ability to absorb dyes. Cotton already has been improved much for certain uses by treatment with various chemicals. How radiation will affect these chemical treatments also will be studied under the M.I.T. contract.

Harmony HD Club Has Chicken Fry

Harmony Home Demonstration club members and their families and a few friends met Friday, August 31, at 6:45 p.m. in the back yard of the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Kissinger for a chicken fry. The chicken was friend in iron pots on a camp fire. The menu consisted of chicken, potato salad, pickles, onions, sliced tomatoes, cake, pie, coffee, and iced tea. Those attending were Messrs. and Mmes. E. D. Saunders, barley or oats such as Goliad or Alamo in areas where these varieties are adapted. Upright types will give grazing weeks ahead of the prostrate types but don't hold up for mid-winter grazing. The specialist suggests planting about 20 per cent of the acreage to the upright types and 80 per cent to intermediate types in order to get maximum winter grazing. Generally, the small grains, oats, barley and rye and wheat in some areas, are the best for winter grazing. Italian ryegrass does well in East Texas, the Gulf Coast region and in the Blacklands and Grand Prairie areas. Vetch, crimson clover, Hubam and Madrid sweetclover are among the legumes which can be grown in combination with the grasses in West Texas.

Loyce Floyd, J. E. Gracey, R. E. Townzen, Doris Tuggle, Barnet Green, and Ely Jones; Mesdames Addie Hogue, Ava Newsome, Elco Evans, Lottie Smith, Willie Moore, Ethel Hogue, and Dessie Stone; Miss Marie Gracey, Loman and John Eldon Jones, Roy and Bryan Stone, Doyle Floyd, and Rowe Stephens.
