COTTON REVIEW ROLLS ALONG

By CHARLIE MAPLE
NEWS Staff Writer
Brownfield merchants have contributed more than $1,100 toward financing Terry County's 1957 "Maid of Cotton Review," according to Dennis Lilly, review finance chairman.

The annual event, which is expected to have 85 entries in the seven divisions, will kick off with a parade through downtown Brownfield at 4:30 p.m., May 17.

The parade, headed by the Brownfield High School band, will begin at the Co-op Gin, circle the square, and end at senior high school. It will consist of floats, Maid of Cotton contestants, and equipment depicting various phases of the cotton economy.

The two-night review, to be held in the high school auditorium, will feature county Misses and matrons from 6-25 years of age. Tentative plans call for four age groups to appear on stage Friday night: 6-10, 11-13, 14-15 and 16-18.

Saturday night's program will highlight the two-day event as the county Maid of Cotton candidate and alternate Maid are selected. A matron of cotton will be chosen from entrants who cannot meet the strict requirements set up for the Maid of Cotton contest.

Deadline for entering the Maid contest has been extended to May 9, according to Mrs. Billy McCallister of Route 1, Meadow. Applications should be mailed to her before the deadline.

Qualifications for the contest are that the candidate be 5 feet 6 inches tall; be 19-25 years of age; be single and never have been married; be talented and poised. Background also will be judged.

Maid of Cotton contestants will be given $50 to spend on a cotton wardrobe for the event. The winner will receive a $250 wardrobe prior to her participation in the South Plains eliminations at Lubbock. Winners in the other divisions will receive $25 and runners-up will receive $10.

Entertainment is scheduled to appear on the program both nights. All talent will be drawn from Terry County. Tickets for the review will be on sale beginning May 11 for $1, according to Mrs. A. J. Bell, chairman of the ticket committee. The ticket will be good for both nights of the review. Children under 12 will be admitted without a ticket if they are accompanied by their parents.

Contributors to the review are: $50—Farmer's Co-op, Newsum Gin, Collins, Dunlap's. See NO. 1, Page 3

Unit leaders for the day camp attended a course in Lubbock Tuesday to prepare them for their duties during the event. An on-site training course will be conducted here prior to the opening of the camp.

This year's theme will be "Indians" and the camp will feature two cook-outs, as well as basic points of outdoor camping, games, folk songs and arts and crafts.

Reports Untrue

A total of $7,500 still remains the maximum which Texas veterans may borrow from the Veterans Land Board.

"Erroneous reports that veterans may borrow in excess of the $7,500 to buy land are being heard here," said L. D. Bailey, county service officer. "The information is false. However," he continued, "a veterans may purchase a tract worth up to $15,000, but he must have the cash difference over $7,500."

Bailey this morning urged Terry County veterans to take advantage of the VLB loans by writing to the board in Austin asking it for a number.

"Two years probably will elapse before numbers granted now can be acted upon," he explained. "In that time, a veteran should be able to find his tract of land."

Bailey said that the land board now was at the 23,000 number.

Mrs. Curtis Sterling, president of Colonial Heights PTA, will install that school's officers during the double installation ceremony.

Members were encouraged to attend the meeting, which is the last of the school year.

DR. PER STENSLAND

Today marks the beginning of what I hope will prove an enjoyable and worthwhile experience—that of writing a column in the Sunday NEWS.

It is my first attempt at this sort of thing and when the opportunity came along, I decided to give it a try.

I'll begin by introducing myself. I am Mrs. Hubert Henson, a housewife 35 years old, have two children, Robert 14 and Edna Ruth 9. I am a Baptist and belong to several other things which you will learn about as time passes. I am a "farmer's wife" and live 14 miles northeast of Brownfield.

I moved to Terry County in 1929 with my parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gandy. Now of Lorenzo, along with two sisters and three brothers. We went to school at the then existing Pleasant Valley School during grade school days and I finished high school in Brownfield in 1933.

There's good philosophy in the time that says, "I know a little bit about a lot of things, but I don't know enough about you." I shall endeavor through this column to present my thoughts toward creating a better understanding of each other and our problems.

Remember The Sabbath. Congratulations to the NEWS for the progressive step taken in giving its readers a Sunday edition. "Where there's no vision the people perish" and many a potential enterprise stands still simply because it fails to materialize a vision.

I hope you appreciate this service. Also, when the paper is delivered to your door, it will remind you to "Remember the Sabbath to keep it Holy." That doesn't mean merely to remember it is Sunday, grab your hat, and head for church. Chances are if you need a reminder that it's Sunday you would not go anyway, but it does mean you should have a profound reverence for what the Sabbath stands for. Since it was God-given (EX 20:8), then our thoughts and actions should be God-like. A million sermons in a nutshell are:

EASY MONEY — Juanita Mulkey, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Mulkey of 918 South Sixth, receives a $5 check from Beverly Brown, secretary to the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce. The junior high school student was the first of an estimated 150 persons who called the Chamber offices, and correctly identified the teaser initials in last week's NEWS to mean "Let's Make Brownfield A Beautiful City."

Transfer From Schools To Be Done This Month

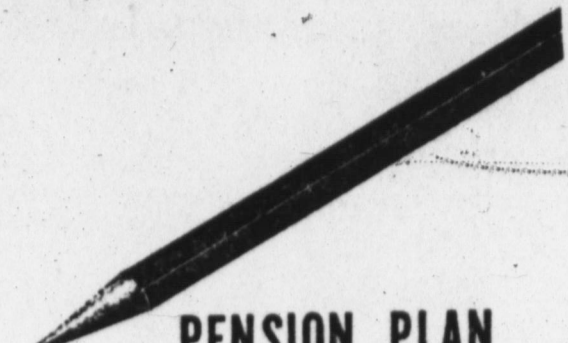

May is transfer month for parents who desire to move their children from one school to another within Terry County, E. G. Brownlee, county school superintendent, announced this week.

Brownlee said the law requires the parent to make the application for transfer at the county superintendent's office by May 31. Transfer within the county will not be valid after that date.

RECOVERY CHANCES FAR GREATER THAN EVER

'Hopeful Outlook' For The Mentally Ill Will Be State's Theme During Mental Health Week, April 29-May 5, Says Leader

HOUSTON, April 30 — "The hopeful outlook for the mentally ill will be spotlighted during Mental Health Week, April 29 through May 5," announced Dr. Virginia Love, president of the Texas Society for Mental Health, today.

Twenty-two county-wide affiliated mental health associations all over Texas will join in the ninth annual observance which has as its theme, "The Mentally Ill Can Come Back . . . Help Them."

"The chances of recovery today are far greater than ever before," said Dr. Love. "Modern treatment methods and improved facilities are making it increasingly possible to return mental patients, once considered hopeless, to their homes and jobs. This changing picture gives fresh impetus to the efforts of every citizen interested in translating hope for the mentally ill into action on their behalf."

In several Texas communities, Mental Health Week will signal the opening of fund drives for the local associations. In Dallas, Fort Worth, Marshall, Tyler, Lubbock, Wichita Falls and Waco, more than 5,500 volunteers will ring doorbells and ask their neighbors to join the crusade against the most urgent health problem in the state and the nation.

"Open House" will be held at the state mental hospitals. Public meetings, special church and civic programs, radio and TV shows and the distribution of educational literature will highlight the observance.

In every community throughout the state, Mental Health Week will stress the need for more research, improved care and treatment of the mentally ill and the establishment of more preventive facilities such as mental health clinics.

"The nationwide observance of Mental Health Week will have special significance for Texas this year," said Dr. Love. "We have made great strides in improving our hospital system and humanizing our laws relating to the mentally ill. These accomplishments make it clear that an enlightened, interested public can do a great deal to meet the challenge of mental illness.

"Only Made Start"

"But, as Dr. William Menninger told a joint session of the Texas Society for Mental Health.

There are 16,000 patients in Texas state mental hospitals and it is estimated that one in 10 Texas will be hospitalized for mental illness sometime during his lifetime.

In his recent proclamation of Mental Health Week, Governor Price Daniel commended the Texas Society for Mental Health for its program of information, action and service and urged all Texans to join the fight against mental illness.

Council Names Tippit To Full Police Chief

The City Council Thursday appointed James E. Tippit as chief of police, a position he has filled on a temporary basis since Feb. 1. He succeeds Nolan Lassister, who resigned to become an investigator for the district attorney at Lubbock. The appointment follows almost seven months of service with the Brownfield Police Department. Prior to the temporary assignment as chief, Tippit was a sergeant in the patrol division.

The new chief came to Brownfield from Snyder Police Department. He was a patrolman in the Snyder and Tahoka Police Department for more than four years before coming here.

Little change is expected in the police set-up in the city at present since traffic is the major concern of the department the chief reported. "We expect to have our traffic problems ironed out within the next three or four months," Tippit said.

ENTERING FINAL STAGES

Safety Should Play Major Role In The Annual Spring Clean-Up, Say Leaders

AUSTIN, May 1—"A place for everything, and everything in its place." A familiar phrase to most of you. This week is being emphasized by the Texas Safety Association as gardeners, housewives, farmers and ranchers enter the final stages of "Spring clean-up."

Records of the Association indicate that there is much weeding to be done. Only in this case it is a matter of weeding out hazards and sewing safety.

Take the problem of falls—often caused unnecessarily by cluttered stairways, barns, lots, porches, garages, etc. Last year, falls accounted for half of all accidental deaths. On the farm or ranch falls were responsible for one-in-four fatal accidents, and in all types of accidents, falls were second only to traffic in swelling fatality columns.

When working with tools, TSA suggests that you place them where they can't be tripped over, or have exposed prongs. A stepped-on rake that clouts a person's noggin may be funny in a Keystone Cop comedy, but it's not so hilarious if it should happen to you.

While on the subject of tools—keep them clean and hanging out of the way when they're not in use, especially if small children are around. "Oh, my aching back" will be more than a slang expression if you are not careful about lifting heavy objects. Get help if your moving problem is very heavy or bulky. If you can manage the load yourself, lift correctly by kneeling, being sure to keep your spine straight, get a firm hold and use your legs (not your back) for lifting power.

Exercise special care if you have tree pruning to do. Keep your head above your work if possible, or wear glasses, to keep falling twigs or bark from damaging sensitive eyes. If you must use a ladder, make certain it is well braced on firm ground.

Keep Poisons Labeled
After handling poisonous mixtures, remember to wash your hands and exposed parts of the body. And, above all, keep them clearly labeled and stored in an out of the way spot.

Finally, if you haven't already done so, clean out all corners, closets, lofts, attics and storage rooms that may have accumulated winter rubbish. These breeding spots for fire offer you one of your most hazardous areas.

To many, these simple suggestions are mere platitudes. But, unless these and other common sense precautions are taken, the Association predicts that one-in-nine Texans will suffer an accidental injury in 1957. How are your safety habits?

City Preparing For Job, Face-Lifting

Theme of city-wide activities May 13-20 will be "Beautify Brownfield."

The efforts will be part of the national observance of clean-up, paint-up and fix-up. A total of 18 civic and service groups have been assigned that many zones within the city limits. Each organization will strive to make its area the cleanest.

Brownfield Chamber of Commerce will present a loving cup to the winning group.

Here are clubs taking part in the program: Alpha Omega, Delphian, Maids and Matrons and Junior Women's study clubs; and American Legion, American Association of University Women, Brownfield Country Club, and Junior Chamber of Commerce, Brownfield Garden Club, Rotarians, Kiwanians.

Auto-Scooter Crash Injures Local Boy

A 13-year-old Brownfield youth sustained a broken arm late Thursday afternoon when his motor scooter collided with an automobile at 4th and West Cardwell.

Jimmy B. Childress, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Childress, 202 South 14th, received a broken arm and minor cuts and bruises when he collided with a car driven by Mrs. Wayland Parker. He was taken to Treadway-Daniell Hospital by city police and released Friday.

"Live this Sunday as though you expected to spend the next one in heaven."

Facts Are Given
The Commissioners Banquet given at The Party House Tuesday night by the nine home demonstration clubs of the county was attended by approximately 120 members and guests. Mr. James Roberts of Andrews was the speaker. His address contained an actual account of the steps taken over a 15-year period in finally establishing a youth center at Andrews. There was no "flowering" of facts. He neither encouraged nor discouraged. He said his personal opinion of a youth center was that it is a priceless community asset. He cautioned that should such a project be undertaken, the people had a long hard job ahead of them.

The inch and half of rain received out our way was appreciated, but not sufficient to let us plant. That time soon will be here. I noticed Doug Lowe was planting cotton Tuesday. Irrigation farmers now plant when the soil gets warm enough instead of waiting on the rain, but for those who don't have water below, planting time still depends on water above—and when we get it, is anybody's guess.

If reports are true, our labor leaders, namely Mr. Dave Beck, can't keep money. However, he has an advantage over us. When his money is gone, or so it seems, he just spends somebody else's. Three hundred and fifty thousand is a pretty good salary even if he's convicted and gets 10 years. Beats farming anyway.

Monday Dollar Day
Graduation announcements came this week from Martha Bartlett and Sue Fulford, two sweet girls from Meadow High School. Monday being Dollar Day and the last one before May graduation, it might be wise to take advantage of it. I intend to spend more than a dollar, girls—that is if I can get any of the aforementioned check. If one anticipates many in-itations then it most certainly would be wise to be bargain-hinded.

I've heard that over in Plains last year some of the graduates picked things they would like to have in the local stores similar to the routine we follow with a bridal shower. Those who intended to send gifts and wanted to contribute, did so. Might be an idea that some graduates would like to do in Brownfield. It saves time, the money is spent locally, and the gift is worthwhile.

When one can truly laugh at himself, he has overcome a high hurdle in life. A sense of humor is one tranquilizer scientists didn't make, nor have they discovered a substitute. How to go about acquiring it, I wouldn't know. Certainly it isn't something one possesses from birth. At least I didn't, because I discovered this morning just how much I can laugh at myself. The story my husband told me (after two days) is so funny it bears repeating. I gave a two-minute comical skit at the Commissioners Banquet Tuesday night, and when I had finished and sat down an elderly gentleman seated near Hubert said, "That's enough of that." To say the least, I got one person's opinion of the skit or me. I'm conceited, so surely he referred to the skit.

According to the Gallup Poll (and I didn't know they polled anything except elections) the most popular name for girls last year was "Linda". The boys remained very conservative—forty-fifty for John and Frank. My children dislike their names. It must be a common trait for children. I know I hated my name when I was in school. However, I like Rose much better since I've gotten older and realize there's nothing in a name. It just fills in blanks on certificates—one at birth, another at death. What you are between the time the blanks are filled out is what really counts. "You" are what people will remember. I guess, in a sense, we name ourselves. What is yours?

Growth of Terry County Shown By Courthouse

A county's progress is often reflected in the appearance and growth of its government buildings.

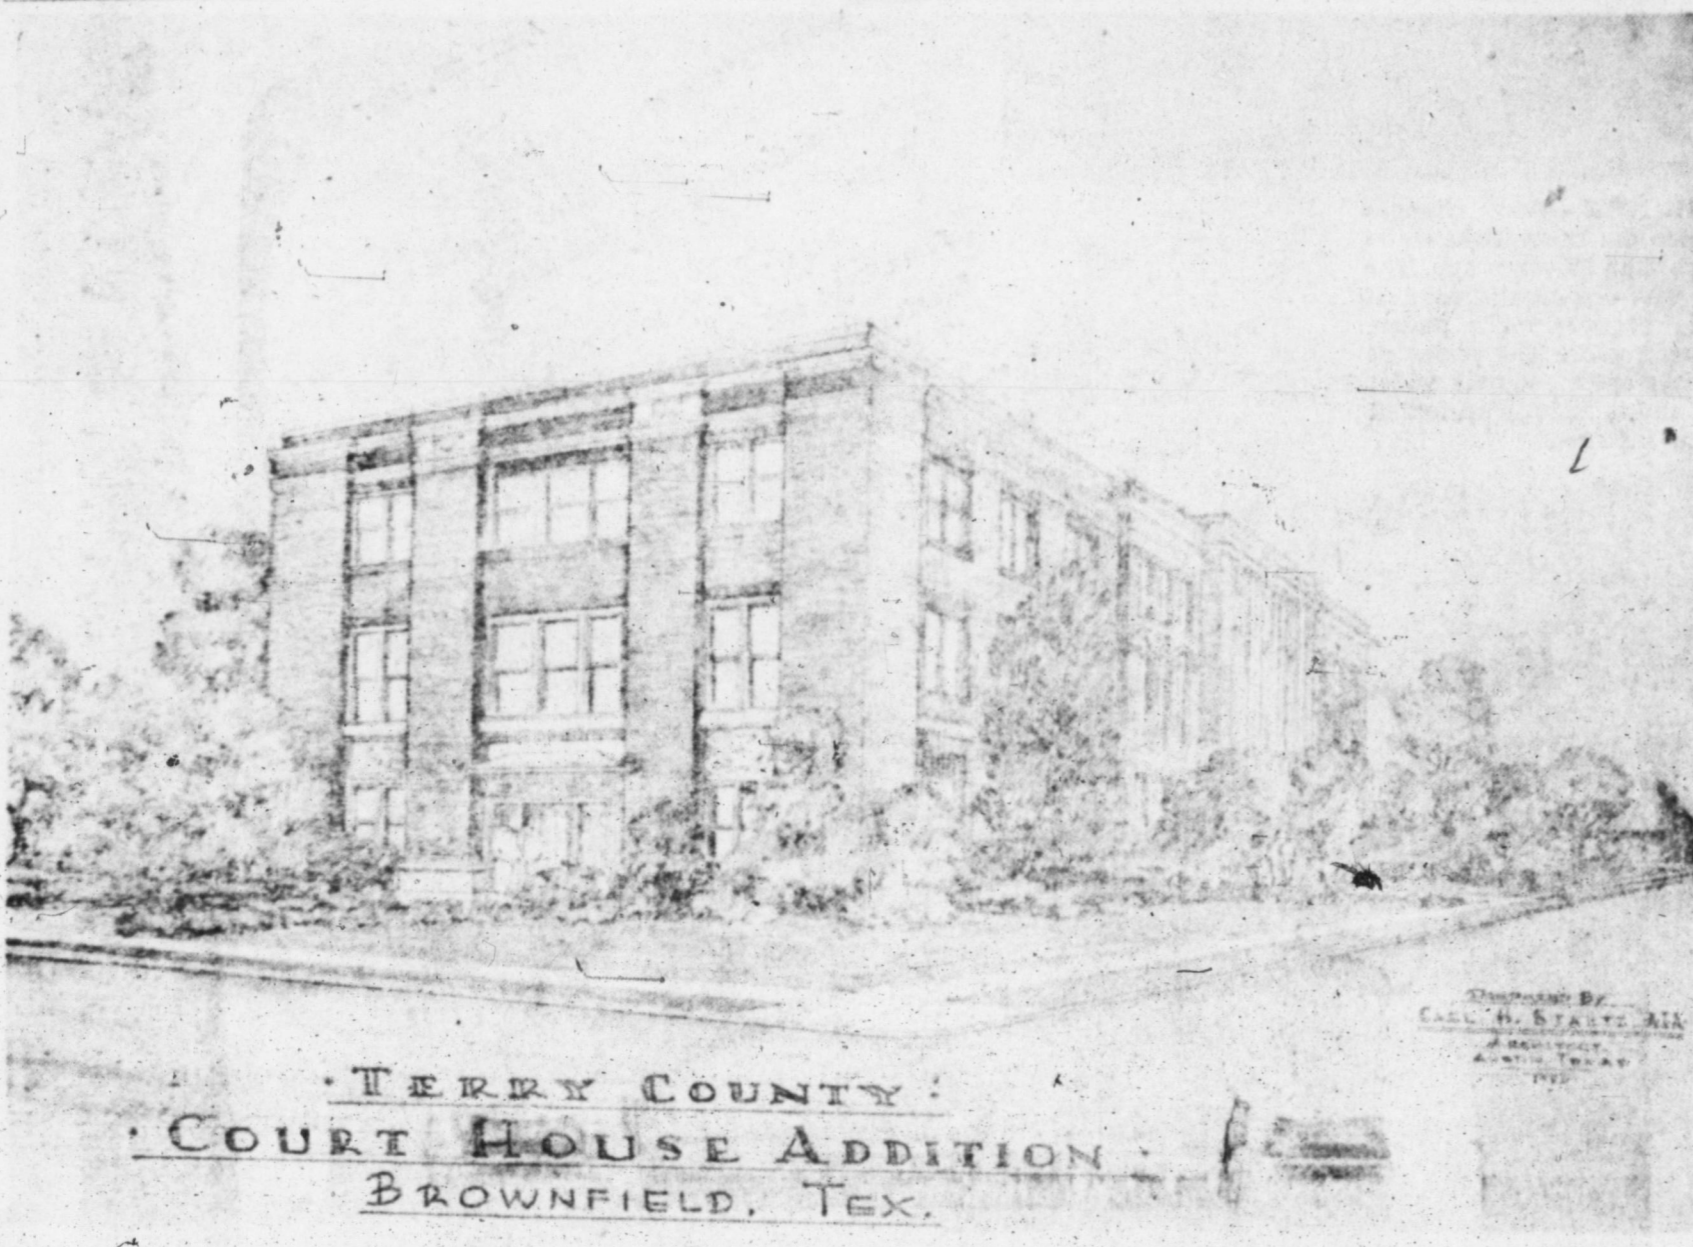

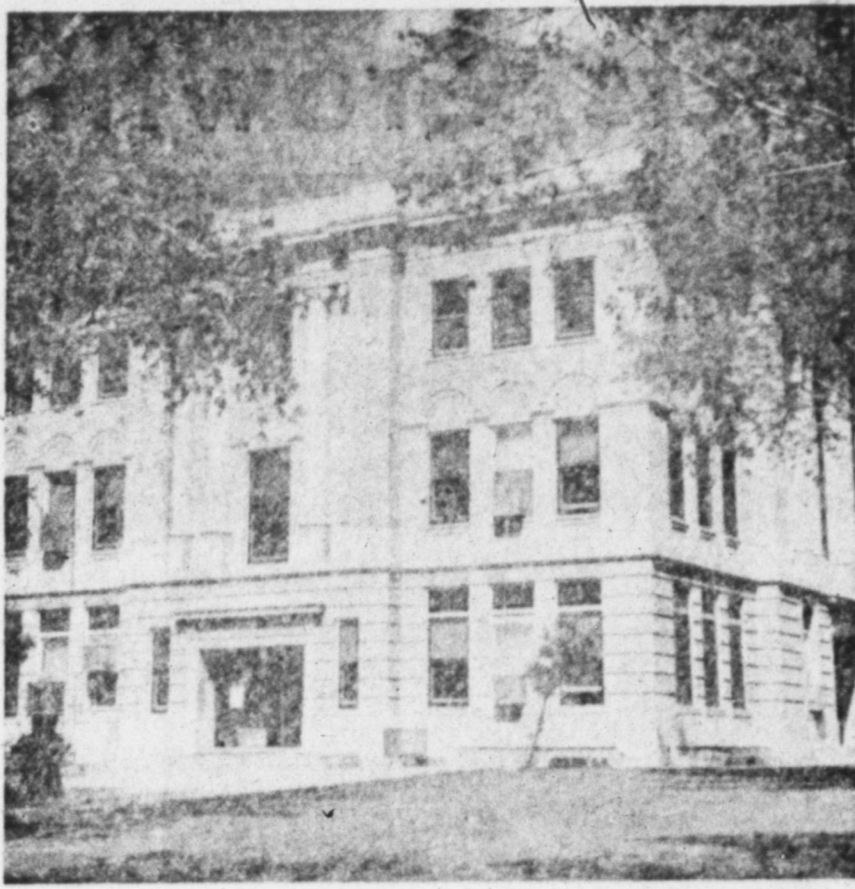

This is especially true of Terry County. Its citizens should be well pleased with its government offices which have grown from a small old fashioned building in the middle of a sandy square, at left, to an addition that is modern in every respect.

The modernistic addition, below, was built in 1952 to meet the increasing demand for office space and facilities brought on by the sudden spurt of growth in Brownfield and Terry County during the early 1950's.

A well-groomed lawn and trees further enhance the square which reflects progressive thinking about a metropolitan city and a continued growth throughout the county in the future.

Dube Pyatt, Terry County auditor, says the present facilities apparently are sufficient for the county's needs but another addition will be necessary if the area continues to grow as it has in recent years.

As an indication of the 1952 county commissioners' progressive thinking, plans have been made to build a second addition on the west side of the old court house when the next expansion is necessary. This will "square up" the court house, giving the county a maximum of space without giving it a patched together appearance.

C. A. Marchbanks, of Route 4, was listed as the first subscriber to the Brownfield News in the first issue of the paper, September 10, 1937. He paid $1 in advance for the year's subscription to the paper.

Brownfield was rapidly becoming the center of oil operations and wildcatting on the South Plains, according to the February 25, 1938 edition of the NEWS. The NEWS reported apartment house and business space was at a premium and new arrivals were renting all available space without complaint about the charge.

On August 5, 1938, Terry County remained in the Dry column with an overwhelming vote of 1,153 to 397.

On April 7, 1939, the NEWS reported "a group of enthusiastic young businessmen" organized the Brownfield Junior Chamber of Commerce.

More than 1,000 Terry County residents were expected to be in Brownfield for a four-day showing of "Gone with the Wind," the April 5, 1940 NEWS reported. All seats were sold on a reserved in advance basis.

Brownfield merchants prepared for their second Dollar Day October 3, 1941. In the same edition, farmers reported the wettest week of an exceptionally wet year as they measured more than 2 inches of rain.

Terry County contributed approximately 100,000 pounds of scrap rubber for the war that was less than seven months old, according to the NEWS of July 3, 1942.

A year later, on July 2, 1943, rationing was in full swing. Items listed as rationed were sugar, canned sugar, coffee, shoes, meats, fats and edible oils, processed foods, gas and tires. The same week Meadow School took the lead in an area scrap metal drive.

On April 7, 1944, Terry County turned temporarily from the war to see the Jaycees kick off their annual stock show for the first time. The original show, consisting of about 48 calves, was judged by Texas Tech's Ray Mowery, of the animal husbandry department.

The Brownfield National Guard unit, met officially for the first time the week of October 24, 1947. The unit was inspected by a major from Fourth Army Headquarters.

The City Council made several sweeping changes in the first meeting of 1948, reports the January 2 edition of the NEWS. Elective office salaries were reduced as much as $275 per month for some posts and the councilmen fired the chief of police at the same meeting.

The Brownfield Concert Association was formed the week of November 25, 1949, in an effort to bring well-known artists to the city. The same week two persons were seriously injured in Terry County auto collisions.

On Feb. 3, 1950, the NEWS inaugurated its first semi-weekly paper and a carrier service with 13 boys.

Brownfield had its share of troubles the weekend preceding October 30, 1951. It registered a murder, jailbreak, armed robbery and four auto accidents.

With dry weather continuing, farmers were searching for two things during the week of August 21, 1952—bugs and rain. Cotton estimates dropped from 120,000 bales to 58,000 bales as the dry spell continued.

An announcement that General Telephone Company would establish its division offices in Brownfield was the big news of July 2, 1953.

Representatives from 40 city and county organizations met with county commissioners and city councilmen to iron out difficulties involving an estimated $200,000 expenditure for a park adjoining Coleman Park the week of July 2, 1954.

Less than a year later, the two groups cleared the way for a $175,000 bond election to construct a swimming pool and for park expansion on March 4, 1955.

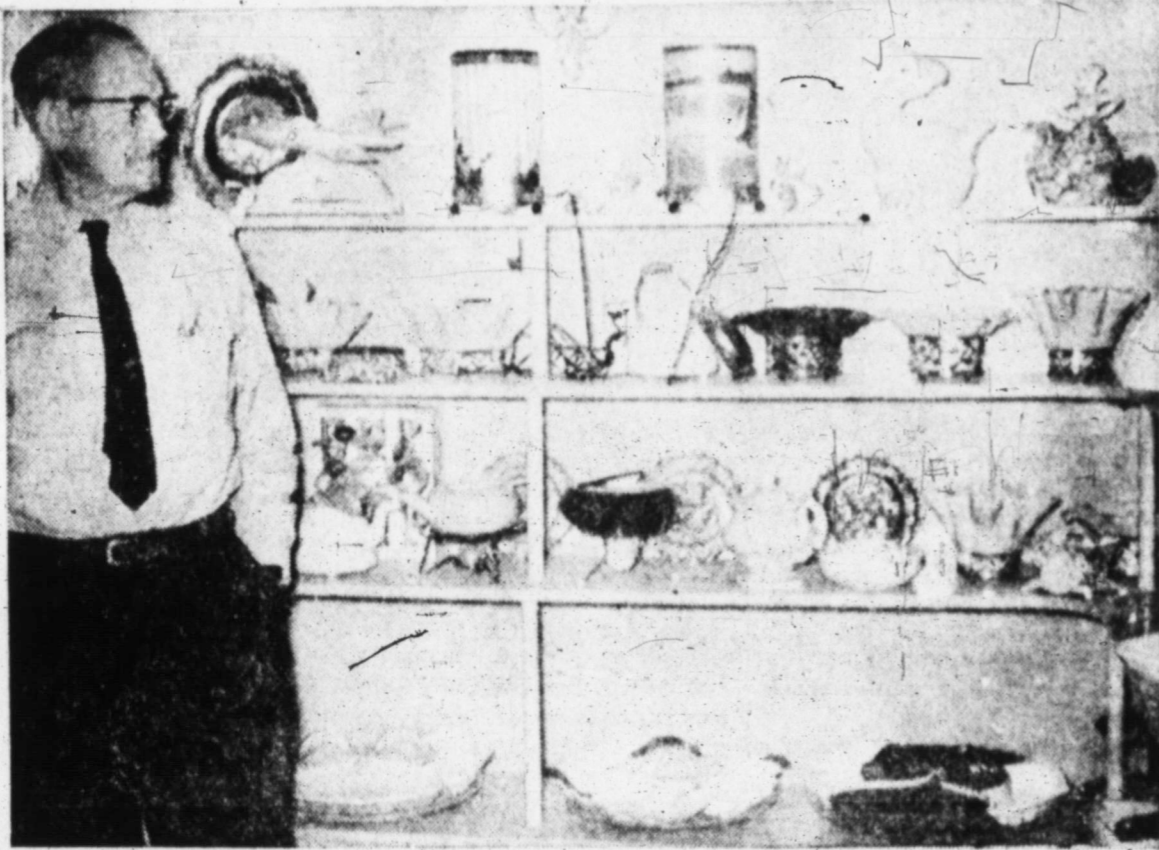

FAT PIGS CAT-NAP
USDA scientists Louis Feinstein and R. J. Fulmine report a new method of measuring an animal's fat by the way they sleep.

Using mild drugs to put pigs to sleep and then measuring the length of their slumber, the scientists say fat pigs only cat-nap while their thinner sty-mates sleep soundly.

If the measurements prove correct, the scientists say such measurements could provide a basis for better selective breeding.

Shop Is Important Cog in Operation Of The NEWS

Practically every business or undertaking has a division that is the key to the whole business operation, though it is often the unknown quantity to persons outside the organization.

The printing shop is that keystone in the operation of the NEWS. The news may be gathered and written; advertising may be sold and laid-out; but until it is set in type and put into print, the whole operation is for naught.

Dennis Fairbairn, the shop foreman pictured at right, and his crew are the ones who are perhaps the least known in the publication of the NEWS each week, but are the most important in the final analysis of the operation.

The foreman, a veteran of 10 years in the newspaper business, is responsible for more than $45,000 worth of equipment—some of it the newest to be found in a printing shop.

Fairbairn, two full-time operators, and two part-time apprentices set all type for news and advertising, make-up the pages so they are attractive and readable to the reader, print the paper, and finally put all the sections together by hand.

Of course this is only a swift generalization of the many things the printing shop of a newspaper accomplishes. Hours are spent each week doing such tasks as melting lead, moulding the various necessities of the shop, cleaning the shop and unloading paper from boxcars.

The full shop staff includes Fairbairn, Edward Holloway, Bill Prestidge, Homer Davis and Roy Snow.

To Inform, Entertain Is Goal of Newspaper

The value of a community newspaper is often measured by the number of trophies, certificates and other tangible awards given by the various press associations.

If this theory is valid, the

KEYSTONE TO PUBLICATION

FRUITS OF PUBLICATION

NEWS is reasonably valuable to Brownfield and Terry County because it has garnered its share of awards over the years. A few are shown above.

However, press associations seldom can gauge what the paper is actually worth to the trade territory it serves—they can only gauge what they think it is worth.

The true test of a paper's relative worth is: Does the advertiser's message reach the consumer? Does the paper inform and entertain the reader? If these three points are satisfied, the newspaper has a good start toward fulfilling its responsibilities.

The goal of the NEWS is not to win trophies and other awards—it often does not even enter the contests—but to fulfill its obligations as the voice of Terry County.

If the NEWS fulfills the obligations, it will grow as the city and county grow. If it does not, it will regress.

A healthy newspaper, representing the area news, is a count best advertisement of healthy county.

FREE SUBSCRIPTION—Can You Identify These Pictures and People?

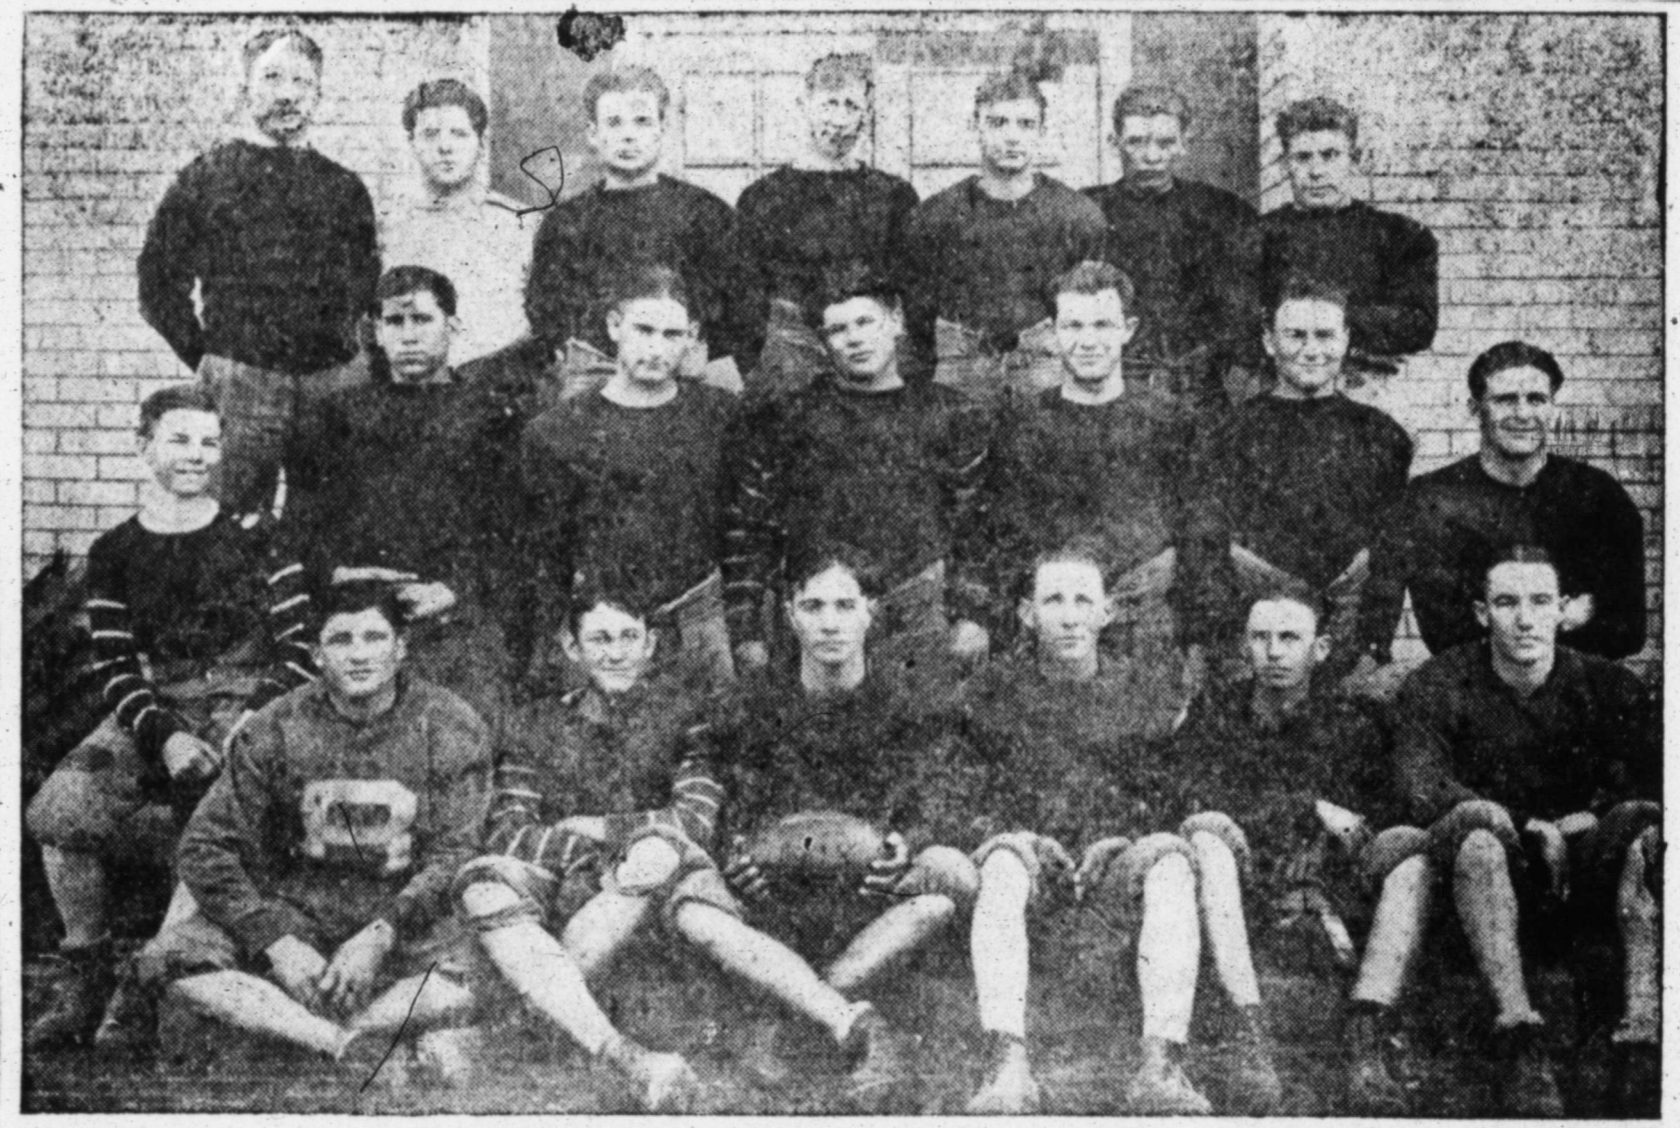

Now is the time for Terry County's elder citizens to win a free subscription to the Brownfield NEWS.

On this page are four pictures taken from the files of the NEWS. If anyone can identify at least 15 persons from the numerous "personalities" on the page, or if they can tell us what three of the four pictures depict, it will be worth a year's subscription.

Take a close look. Maybe those six cowboys harassing the cook, lower left, were friends, a relative to you. The school group, upper left, gives the reader plenty of leeway for 15 individuals he knows.

For the avid Cub fan, take a stab at identifying the two huskies, upper right, or name the members of the Cubs, lower right, of an earlier era.

If you think you can fulfill the requirements, mail your entry to the NEWS or bring it to the office at 409 W. Hill. Winners will be announced in a later issue. Limit one subscription per family.

Everybody knows that merely wishing won't make things come to pass. It won't deliver us from decisions, nor will it solve any of life's problems. Sweat of the brow and sweat of the brain are needed in this world to get things done.

In religion, however, many do little more than idly wish for faith and then wonder why it doesn't come as if on magic wings. Spiritual wishing, however, is as unproductive as any other. Wishes do not make life more meaningful nor help one to know God. Faith requires decision and active commitment. A pledging of life to God and creative participation in doing His will is the only road to deeper faith. Go to Church Sunday and begin to put your faith into active service.

Is something wrong with your life—an inner restless dissatisfaction? The answer to every human problem comes only from God our Maker. He alone can forgive and reassure. Through the church God has committed the provision and redemption of His forgiveness and redeeming love. Without a church relation no one is securely related to God. Everyone should be in the Church and the Church in everyone!

GEE GEE'S Chit Chat!

If you're looking for something new and different, beautiful and lasting, don't fail to see the exciting new Ikora silver holloware just received at Bayless Jewelry. Jim Bayless, the prop. says that in all his 16 years in the jewelry business, this is the most startling discovery that's been made in the silver line. This lovely new holloware is absolutely heat and tarnish resistant and to prove it, he struck matches and dropped them, burning, into the dishes and then merely wiped away the sulfur burns and tarnish with a damp cloth. More interesting, this lovely silver ware is no more expensive than regular holloware. Believe me, it's gorgeous, and with mother's day and wedding days coming up, you'll do well to make your selection from the Ikora collection at Bayless'.

At long last, the sun lamp has arrived at the Beauty Aid Clinic and Frances Gilliam and Georgia Short are doing a booming business in suntans. The machine, which accepts a quarter for a five-minute treatment, has a revolving turntable perfected to give you an even tan all over, and is in a private room, available to men or women. Right now is an excellent time to take advantage of the machine because you can get a head start on your tan, without the worry of strap or sleeve marks, without getting sandy, without getting overheated and without getting dry skin. To say nothing of without swatting flies and other varmints while you are trying to tan. Best of all,

Texas To Be Honored By Navy in Ceremony

Texas, the biggest of the forty-eight, will be honored by the United States Navy during the world's largest homecoming at the world's largest naval training center.

"Salute to Texas" will take place at the Great Lakes Navy Homecoming during the week of July 1 through July 7, 1957.

The thousands of Texans who have trained at Great Lakes have been extended an open invitation to visit their service Alma Mater. The "Seabag alumni" of the Lone Star State are part of the almost two million men and women who have received training here in the past forty-six years.

Proceeds of the play and a shampoo sale between acts will go toward expenses of the class trip to New Orleans later this spring.

Great Lakes Navy Homecoming is a summer-long event. The invitation to attend the open house and homecoming includes the general public.

CLOSE WATCH IS URGED

Prices Follow Definite Cycles Where Livestock Is Concerned, Says Expert

While a livestock producer may lose his shirt by "watching the clock" too closely, Extension Economist Alvin Wooten strongly advises him to keep an eye on the calendar at all times.

Livestock prices follow definite "cycles," he says, and the alert producer can cash in on these seasonal fluctuations.

Little seasonal variation occurs in the amount of meat eaten by consumers, Wooten says, and the price "cycles" result primarily from changes in the quantity of livestock marketed.

Breeding dates, weather, production costs and the amount of available feed and grass represent major causes for such quantity changes.

The seasonal price for hogs is probably established better than for any other type of livestock, says the specialist. Large hog supplies reduce fall prices when the spring pig crop is marketed and lowers them again in the spring with fall crop marketing.

May, June and July are the "high" months for marketing 200-220 pound swine while June, July and August are the "top" for those in the 160-180 pound class. November, December and January are the "low" months for both weight classes.

Regulate farrowing dates of sows, advises Wooten, and use forced or delayed feeding for bringing hogs to market in the "high-priced" period.

Milk-fat calf prices begin an upward climb in March from their characteristic late summer and fall "lows" before reaching peak "highs" in May. Mid-spring is the best time to market grade Good or lower slaughter cattle. "Low" for these classes is in the fall months.

Although the demand for feeder cattle is good during the fall, Wooten says that large market numbers are sufficient to depress prices greatly. "High" periods for both Feeder and Stocker calves and steers is March, April and May. Avoid fall marketing when possible.

Fat lambs bring high prices in the spring, Wooten asserts, reaching a peak during May after fall lamb marketings have fallen off and before spring lambs reach the market in volume. Most feeder lambs move to market during late summer and fall with depressed prices resulting in that period.

Lubbock College Slates Ground-Breaking Rites

A capital funds campaign to raise a million and a half dollars to build the initial buildings of Lubbock Christian College has passed the half-way mark.

Dr. F. W. Mattox, president of the new college, which is to be located 5600 West 19th St. in Lubbock, has announced the campaign total has now reached $780,000. The board of trustees consider this sufficient to let a contract for the Administration building.

ration-Library Building.

This building will be 350 feet long and consists of administrative offices, a library with a library reading room and a stack area four stories high. The building completed, with full air-conditioning, will cost $671,000.

Dr. Mattox emphasized that ground-breaking for the beginning of a college is a once-in-a-lifetime occasion. Accordingly, the public is invited to participate in a unique type of ceremony.

After a program of introductions and speech-making, where many city, county, state and national dignitaries will participate, the entire audience will be invited to go into the staked-off building area and simultaneously dig the first spadeful of dirt.

The slogan for the occasion is "Come and bring your shovel". A total of 10,000 persons is expected to be present. The event will be held at 2 p.m., Saturday.

Preceding ground-breaking ceremonies, there will be a free barbecue for all. Faculty

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

Born In United States? Then... You Are American Citizen

Proud men and women, ancient and modern, who fought free of tyranny, have taken the name of citizen. Others may call themselves subjects, denizens, slaves, etc.

For the Greeks, with rare exceptions, citizenship came by blood. You had to be born a citizen's child.

But the Romans, like us, found ways to make citizens of those who came up to certain standards: As Gibbon said, the Romans sacrificed "vanity to ambition; and deemed it more prudent as well as honorable to adopt virtue and merit for her own wherever found—among slaves, strangers, enemies or barbarians."

American citizenship is an office which carries power, privilege, and duties. Only citizens can do certain things—for example, teach in many schools and colleges, become lawyers, hold certain political or civil service offices. You are a citizen if naturalized or born in the United States (subject to its jurisdiction); and in certain circumstances if born outside the United States to parents of whom one or both are American citizens.

As in ancient Greece, citizenship in most lands comes through blood; but American citizenship comes chiefly by place—where you were born.

need them for many reasons, for example, to travel in foreign lands under U. S. protection.)

The Fourteenth Amendment holds that place of birth fixes native citizenship—all persons born in the United States. Your birth in this country automatically makes you a citizen unless you are not subject to U. S. jurisdiction, as in the case with diplomats' families and certain travelers.

In 1898 Chinese parents who themselves could then not become citizens, became parents in San Francisco of a son, Wong Kim Ark. Years later this fact settled the whole thing for the U. S. Supreme Court—he was a citizen. Nothing else mattered: not his parentage nor blood, nor his race, color, creed or ancestry.

(So dig out your birth certificates or naturalization papers if you can find them, and put them away safely; you may

113 Area Entries Taking Part In Piano Auditions

Some 113 contestants have entered the third annual National Piano Guild auditions which began here Wednesday and will last through Monday. Thurman Morrison, senior professor of piano at Hardin-Simmons University, is judging the event.

The Brownfield auditions, which have grown considerably from their inception three years ago, will feature pianists from Lamesa, Denver City, Brownfield and several communities in the area.

Teachers entering students in the Brownfield auditions include Jerry Gannaway, chairman of the Brownfield center; Mrs. Cecil Springer of Brownfield, Mrs. D. W. Massengale of Lamesa and Mrs. Marvis Post of Denver City.

National Piano Guild Tourneys, which were started in Texas by Dr. Irl Allison 24 years ago, now are held on 500 centers from coast to coast with more than 50,000 entries annually. Local, district, state, national or international recognition is received by entries depending upon the number of pieces memorized and upon their playing ability.

Creep Feeding For Lambs Approved By Extension Experts

Creep feeding lambs, says J. A. Gray, extension animal husbandman, is the practice of supplying young lambs with concentrated feed while they are nursing and is used to develop lambs as future breeding animals or to fatten them for market.

The practice is often used, he adds, when pastures are poor and ewes thin. The supplementary feed helps to lighten the drain on the ewes and aids the lambs in maintaining or improving their condition. Too, the lambs fatten more rapidly, and usually bring a better price at market time.

The practice may not pay, says the specialist, when ewes and lambs are on good lush pasture such as oats, wheat, or grass and clover.

Gray lists several advantages for creep feeding. Ewes remain in better condition; it adds weight and improves the finish of lambs, often permitting earlier marketing; lambs tend to be more uniform in size and finish; shrinkage is less at weaning time and when shipped direct to market; aids in developing future breeding stock; creep fed lambs are easier to start on full feed and the feeding period is shorter and creep feeding offers a market for home-grown feeds.

In the new publication, L-322, Creep Feeding Lambs, Gray offers suggestions on building the creep, on locating it and on feeds which may be used. He also has suggestions for starting the lambs on feeds.

Cattle Feeders Day Is To Be Held at Lubbock

The Annual Cattle Feeders Day program has been scheduled at Texas Technological College on Tuesday, according to an announcement from Dr. W. L. Stangel, Dean of Agriculture.

The livestock event will feature results of a feeding experiment conducted to provide information which will decrease the costs of cattle feeding, enabling cattlemen to solve the squeeze between rising costs and lower sales prices.

Dean Stangel points out that this experimental work gives practical application to recent developments in the field of scientific cattle nutrition studies. Factors investigated in the experiment include stilbestrol, aureomycin, combination of stilbestrol and aureomycin, ground cottonseed hulls, and pelleted cottonseed hulls.

This study has been supported by the Texas Cottonseed Crushers Association. Research on wintering rations for breeding beef cows will also be reported.

In addition to observing experimental work conducted at Texas Technological College, cattlemen will be given reports of important recent cattle research at the Spur Experiment Station by Paul T. Marion.

Dr. L. S. Pope, widely known cattle nutrition authority at Oklahoma A. & M. College, will discuss cattle research which has been conducted at that experiment station. Information on beef consumption trends and outlooks will be covered in an address by Mr. R. B. Elling, Director of Industrial Relations for the Livestock and Meat Board.

The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Agriculture Building on the Tech Campus. In addition to the format program, the event will include a tour of the experimental feedlot and a barbecue lunch at the Livestock Pavilion.

Ilroy of 1201 East Ripley. Dr. McIlroy said 13 members of the club spent Saturday and Sunday diving and fishing underwater in Balmorhea's clear natural pool. Members use aqualungs while swimming underwater. Anyone interested in joining the organization can contact Dr. McIlroy for full details about the club. He said meetings are held every Thursday night at Lubbock.

Creators of NEWS Comic Strips Introduced Here To New Readers

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The popular comic strip, "Beetle Bailey," makes its first appearance this week in the NEWS. It will remain as a regular feature hereafter. Following is a biographical sketch of the artist, Mort Walker.)

There is a parallel in the careers of the musical prodigy who ends up playing Dead Man Blues in a jazz band and of Mort Walker, who draws the comic strip "Beetle Bailey" that is syndicated nationally by King Features.

For each there once were high hopes of achievement in the rarified stratosphere of Art that nobody understands — and each one came through in the end by doing something that people enjoyed . . . and understand.

The child of artists. Kansas-born Mort Walker explains that he "usually took an art course or two in school, but was constantly at odds with the teachers, who considered my cartoons a low form of art." But Walker — along with millions of Americans — didn't consider cartooning any such thing, and today he draws "Beetle Bailey," one of the brightest and freshest comic strips in the country.

It was only Walker's teachers, incidentally, who frowned on his cartooning. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robin A. Walker, encouraged it all the way. "I started drawing at about 4," Mort says. "My parents gave me a room in the house for a private studio and took me down to the local newspaper, to meet the staff cartoonists." The senior Walker, an architect, painted in oils and Mrs. Walker was a newspaper illustrator who now designs and decorates trays, lamps and trunks.

Walker, one of three children, was born in Eldorado, Kan., Sept. 3, 1923, and attended high school in Kansas City, Kansas City Junior College,

Washington University in St. Louis, and Missouri University in Columbia, Mo., collecting an A. B. in humanities and a two-year diploma in engineering along the way. He had what he terms a mild interest in sports, being captain of his grade school basketball team and playing football in high school "untill the team outgrew me."

Mort worked after high school as an editorial designer for Hallmark greeting cards, and from there on his progress was rapid. Before signing in contract with King Features in June of 1950 to draw "Beetle Bailey," he had his cartoons published in The Saturday Evening Post, Collier's, This Week, The Ladies' Home Journal, American, etc., and in the time between his graduation from college in 1948 until that June of 1950 he became one of the top ten cartoonists in the country from the standpoint of salaries.

Before getting out of college, incidentally, Walker was an intelligence officer in the infantry and in the summer of '46 he was in charge of several German P. O. W. camps. Married to the former Jean Saffill, Mort lives in Old Greenwich, Conn. They have three children; and Mort's hobbies are photography, humorous writing and reading. Until 1950 he worked at Dell Publishing Co. as an editor.

From the first it was apparent that Beetle was not the stuff of which soldiers are made. His talent was for being a yardbird. He had a peculiar genius for fouting things up to the point where his superiors looked even more ridiculous than he. For the most part, G. I.s and Generals alike guffawed at these antics. But at the beginning of 1954, it turned out that some of the brass, at least, was thin-skinned. On orders from above, "Beetle Bailey" was barred from the Tokyo edition of Stars and Stripes. Staffers privately admitted that Beetle's inability to refrain from gently spoofing rank was the real cause.

Mort was baffled. Since he was an ex-officer himself it was apparent he was not working off a grudge. "The only criterion I have," he said, "is the question: Is it funny? That's the yardstick I apply to Beetle whether he's in or out of the army."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The nationally acclaimed comic strip, "Johnny Hazard," makes its first appearance in this edition of the NEWS. It will be a regular feature hereafter. Following is a biographical sketch of its creator, Frank Robbins.)

Frank Robbins is a precocious paradox . . . he is the kid prodigy who grew up . . . but became a success!

With few exceptions; prodigies, like horseplayers, die broke. At 10 they can play the three Bs on a kazoo, and at 12 are the toast of the nation. But at 20 . . . barring a few lucky sticks like Yehudi Menuhin, etc. . . the kid genius usually joins Alcoholics Anon. or becomes an apprentice shipping clerk. The artistic touch seems to leave him the first time he shaves!

But Frank Robbins was a Grade-A prodigy of the drawing board in his native Boston at the age of 4, won several art scholarships at 9, painted giant murals for his high school at 13 . . . and today is noted as the creator of one of King Features Syndicate's leading comic strips . . . the darling, hell-for-leather Johnny Hazard, ace among pen-and-ink aviators.

"Seriously," Frank grinned, "I began life back of the North Station in Boston . . . precisely on the wrong side of the tracks! At fifteen, my family came to New York, lived on the East Side and I began my professional career."

After kicking around as errand boy in ad agencies, Frank at the age of sixteen, came under the eagle eye of Edward Trumbull, well-known muralist. Trumbull was then color director of the Radio City project, and through him Frank met the architects and contractors for the buildings being erected.

He immediately received commissions to do pencil portraits of all the architects and other personalities connected with the constructing project. Upon completion of this lengthy and challenging job, Frank met the Rockefeller's and received a grant from them to study and paint.

Frank was busy working on a series of mural sketches, for the then proposed Children's Broadcasting Studio in the RCA building. The sketches were approved when the NBC studios opened for a full schedule of broadcasting. Since the murals were to be painted directly on the walls this gave Frank the choice of working for three months in the wee hours between midnight and early dawn or forgetting the whole deal. Due to his health at the time Frank had to regrettably drop the project.

It was up and down after that but mostly up. Frank drifted into commercial illustrating for RKO Pictures . . . painting meanwhile, and winning a prize at the National Academy show when he was 18. Then he finally plunged into comic strip work. He took over one of the daredevil-hero strips and after five years blossomed out as the creator of Johnny Hazard, one of KFS' most popular cartoons.

Frank both writes and draws the continuity for Johnny — for relaxation he does serious paintings in oils, some of which have been exhibited recently. His vices are shooting and collecting firearms, salt water fishing, listening to high-brow music, building high-fidelity radios, swimming, class, gin-rummy and doing practically everything else but sleeping.

Modern submarines can move faster submerged than on the surface. They can fully submerge in less than one minute.

Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat, was an avid submarine enthusiast. He built several submersible warships, one of which was known as the Nautilus.
