It's Big Business: Assessing And Collecting Terry County Taxes

By CHARLIE MAPLE
NEWS Staff Writer

Running a $600,000 per year business and doing it right in accordance with a maze of laws and regulations is the job cut out for J. D. (Jot) Akers, Terry County's 13th tax assessor-collector.

Akers, who assumed his duties June 1 after Don Cates resigned to enter business in Roswell, N.M., will fill the position until general elections in 1958. Until that time, his appointment puts him in charge of assessing and collecting almost $445,000 in county taxes and more than $126,000 in state taxes yearly.

In addition to these duties, Akers is responsible for registering all motor vehicles in the county and for collecting Union and Meadow school taxes.

Through the first six months of 1957, the office has registered 5,142 motor vehicles for a total of $107,000.

Akers, who came to Terry County from Hedley in 1920, said only minor changes have been made in his office since he took charge.

"We are adding a new tax accounting machine that is supposed to do everything but talk," he noted. The new machine to be used for the various computations in the office, is expected to be in operation about Aug. 1.

The 55-year-old appointee has three deputies to aid in the operation of the office. Heading the staff is Mrs. Tommy Hamilton of 609 Park Lane. She has been with the office about 2 1/2 years. Other deputies include Mrs. Joyce Odle of Meadow and Kay Hamilton of 1202 Tahoka Road.

Akers said evaluation of property in the county totals $32,729,316 which brings in almost $600,000 in state and county taxes annually.

Tax Rolls Grow

The "old-timer" of the staff, Mrs. Hamilton, said the tax roll has grown considerably since she began working in the office. "For instance," she noted, "the county evaluation in 1951 was only $15,074,516. This brought in $261,130.14 in county and state taxes."

Akers pointed out that, despite numerous bond elections in recent years, the tax rate per $100 valuation has climbed only one cent since 1951. "The tax rate in 1951 was 42 cents for the state and $1.35 for the county. The present rate is still 42 cents for the state and only $1.36 for the county."

Rates Going Up

The assessor-collector noted, however, that car registration rates will go up this year as a result of a bill passed by the 57th Legislature for highway right-of-way purchases.

Though Akers is the 13th assessor-collector, he is only the fifth man to hold the position since it was separated from the sheriff's office in 1940.

Virgil Burnett of 706 East Repetto was elected as the first assessor-collector in 1940 when the office became a separate entity. County Judge Herbert Cheshir followed Burnett in 1946, filling the position until 1951 when he was named to his present job.

Collector's Are Named

Mrs. M. O. Webb of 403 East Repetto, was appointed to fill out Cheshir's term until the election of Don Cates in 1952.

The late Tom Bess was the first assessor-collector with his appointment as sheriff from August to November of 1904. He was followed by the late George E. Tiernan, who was elected in November and served until 1914.

The late Jim N. Lewis rode herd on law-breakers and filled the tax position until 1920 when Wood E. Johnson was elected. Johnson presently is farming in Johnson Community northwest of here.

Other sheriff-assessor-collectors were the late Frosty Ellington, 1924-28; Mon Telford, who farms southwest of here, 1928-32; Jess Smith, who farms northeast of Brownfield, 1932-36; and Ches Gore, 1936-40. Gore has extensive farming, ranching and business interests in Terry County and Lovington, N.M.

FROM SCOUTS

Letter To Editor

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A total of 80 Brownfield Scouts and their leaders arrived Tuesday in Valley Forge, Pa., where they are taking part in the Fourth National Jamboree. Following is a letter received at the NEWS Tuesday, from the group.)

Dear Don,
The first two days of fun. The first stop after we left Tulsa was Cactus, Tex., where we ate lunch. You will see pictures where we ate and of hostess.

The next is Dodge City, Kan., where we saw Boot Hill. It had many things there, like a train engine (very old), graves and many exhibits.

The next is old Fort Larned (Kan.), where brave men fought. We got the life history of the fort. We ate supper that night in the Methodist Church in Larned. We slept that night on the football field in Larned.

The next day we ate breakfast in the same church in Larned. We traveled all that day with only a few bus stops. The best place was at the Kansas City line, where we crossed the Missouri River. Both Kansas Citys on both sides are BIG.

We had lunch at Emporia, Kan., in the Methodist Church. The Mayor gave us a good welcome and souvenirs. We traveled most of the rest of the day without many stops.

We ate supper in Moberley, Mo., at the Merchants Hotel and slept in the Moberley City Park. Lots of mosquitoes! So ends second day. So far all the boys are having a wonderful time. No one has been sick or unhappy.

The next two days are July 4 and July 5.

July 4, we ate breakfast in the Merchants Hotel in Moberley. We stopped later that day at Mark Twain Cave in Hannibal, Mo., and then crossed the Mississippi River.

We ate dinner at the Leland Hotel in Springfield, Mo., and then we went to Lincoln's Tomb and saw all the sights there. We ate supper at the City Park in Gary, Ind., and spent the night there.

Before breakfast on July 5 we went swimming in Lake Michigan, and the water sure was cold. We'll always remember the police escort in Gary (two cars and two motorcycles).

That day we traveled nearly all day without many stops. The

Terryettes To Meet Seminole Girls Here For Softball Game

Brownfield senior girls softball team will meet Seminole at 8 p.m., Monday in Little League Park.

The Brownfield girls will try to soften the blow of a 24-6 thrashing dealt them Wednesday night at Seminole.

Preceding the appearance of the senior girls, Brownfield junior girls will tangle with Meadow at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Jim Todd, Brownfield High School physical education director in charge of the summer here for girls, Wednesday announced organization of a softball team for local women if enough interest is shown.

Mrs. Todd asked that interested women telephone 2248 and leave their names. She also urged that any junior girls wanting to play softball the remainder of the summer, that they meet at 8:30 a.m., Monday at Colonial Heights practice field.

Florence Parker, coach-manager of the senior girl Terryettes, said Friday that her team had played its first game in Seminole: "They scored heavily on our errors. We can promise more action Monday night."

Mrs. Parker indicated that the Terryettes would be playing with the thought in mind of entering the state tournament at Lubbock in late August.

A grinding one-car accident, believed to have been caused by a blown tire, claimed the life of a Brownfield man and critically injured another 7 1/2 miles north of here on Farm Road 2066 about 7:25 p.m. Thursday.

William Ellis Heathcoat, 38, of 503 Park Lane, was pronounced dead on arrival at Treadaway-Daniell Hospital. His companion, J. T. Renfro, 34, of 701 North Atkins, still was on the critical list Saturday morning "but improving" hospital attendants reported.

Investigating officers said the accident, which tallied the fifth Terry auto death this year, apparently was caused by a blown right front tire while the two men were travelling at a high rate of speed.

The car, which was headed north when the accident occurred, veered right into a cotton field owned by W. W. Wenzel, skidding and rolling some 250 yards before coming to rest on its side directly across the road from the home of Mrs. J. L. Hyman.

Wreckage was strewn along the car's path and one

The young people participating are to set up their own governing body.

Dancing, ping pong, table games and listening to records will be among the entertainment items.

CAUTION URGED

Fleahoppers Make Appearance Here

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following cotton insect situation release for July 11 is prepared by county agents, vocational agriculture teacher, USDA and Texas A&M.)

Weather conditions have continued favorable for growth and fruiting of cotton. While plants are not as large as normal for this late date, cotton is fruiting at a satisfactory rate in most of the earlier planted fields.

Aphids were reported in some fields throughout the area, and infestations have been light in most cases.

Thrips were present in light to medium infestations. No heavy finds were reported.

Fleahoppers appeared in larger numbers in cotton reaching the fruiting stage. Infestations were light in most fields, but occurred in fairly large numbers in Terry, Mitchell and Yoakum counties.

the farmer's wife

by rose jean henson

My ole rheumatiz is action up this week—don't know if it's the weather or my age. Could be both, especially since I'm having my 36th birthday Monday. I always admit my age because (my favorite alibi) I don't look near that old. Seriously, I've never understood why age should be a touchy subject with anyone. Women seem more touchy than men about revealing their years. I know this—those who refuse openly to admit their age are shaking their heads blindly at life and saying to themselves, "Look what life is doing to me. The task is difficult for me to handle and I'm mad about it."

Gets No Answer

I recall asking an elderly woman (very politely) several years ago how old she was, and she quite bluntly said, "It's none of your business. I never tell my age to anyone." She felt, say, but I supposed she felt some sort of consolation in hiding her age (though she couldn't her face) because her husband was a considerably younger than she.

It was Jonathan Swift who said—No wise man ever wished to be younger—and I think he was right. I would not recall one day or one hour of my life if I could. Most people would do worse with a second chance than they did with the first one anyway. Nothing is more dishonorable than that one should have nothing to prove he has lived long except his years.

Marks of Age

Age is not always a matter of years. A Minnesota State Medical bulletin said that old age does not begin with a certain birthday. Rather, you may be old at 40 and young at 80; but you are genuinely old at any age if:

You feel old; You feel you have learned all there is to learn;

You find yourself saying, "I'm too old to do that";

You feel tomorrow holds no promise; You take no interest in the activities of youth, and if their banter irks you;

You would rather talk than listen; You long for the good old days, and feel that they were the best;

You will not help your neighbors, friends, and community;

You would rather win an argument that be right.

Ask yourself these questions, answer them truthfully, and then admit your age. Me? Thirty six and already half dead, according to this.

SOS — Anybody know where I can get some scissors sharpened in Brownfield. I mean someone who is in business and can do it right.

Have you been to the new Frontier Stamp store? I traded all my stamps in Lubbock last week. Did you know that Lubbock's two stores are managed by Tommy Moorhead, a local boy, and son of Mrs. Era Moorhead of Brownfield?

Anyway, one of my purchases was a Pyrex teamaker made by Ekco. It's a dandy—makes tea twice as strong. I probably never would have "splurged" enough to buy one in a store, but it didn't bother me in the least to trade two and one-half books of stamps for it. Most of my stamp purchases are things I would never go out and buy.

Some argue we pay for the stamps when we get them and they aren't really a bonus at all. A businessman told me about a survey he conducted as a result of a discussion on the matter. To settle the question of whether women would rather have a 10 per cent discount at the time of purchase or stamps, he ask the next five women entering his store the question and their reasons.

Without exception, all five preferred the stamps and without exception all of them gave the same reason, which was somewhat of a surprise. They said if they were given the discount, they would have to account for it to the husbands — the stamps were theirs to do with as they pleased. How about that?

I've never been on a budget or had to give any accounting, but I can imagine what an unnecessary strain it would cause. In the first place, I feel sorry for the man who feels his wife isn't capable of spending grocery money and in the second place, if she isn't (and I've seen some who weren't) then he ought to do the buying him.

Grashoppers appeared in damaging numbers in Briscoe, Dawson, Gaines, Garza, Howard, Mitchell and Yoakum counties.

A number of reports have been received of incorrect dosages being recommended and used for control of certain cotton insects. Such practice will give unsatisfactory control or will tend to bring on earlier trouble with bollworms, aphids and spider mites.

door was found an estimated 60 yards beyond the vehicle's resting place.

Terry Deputy J. A. Richards, who was the first officer to arrive at the scene, said the men apparently remained in the car until the last roll because both were within 20 feet of the wreckage.

The 1952 model automobile was listed as a complete loss by officers. The motor was smashed into the front seat of the car and the roof was peeled from front to back, resembling a convertible with the top hanging in mid-air.

Richards said a "large piece" of the defective tire was found near the spot where the car left the road to further substantiate their theory of the accident cause.

Calvert Home Study Offered To Children in Isolated Regions

Hundreds of farms and ranch children whose classrooms are the wide open spaces, are looking forward to staying in school this summer.

The youngsters, with the year-round advantages of country life, have as their schoolmates the children of diplomats, soldiers, missionaries, entertainers, businessmen overseas and world travelers.

The rural children and their schoolmates all study by mail with the Calvert School of Baltimore, a unique institution which for more than 50 years has provided an education for children who cannot attend regular schools.

Farm and ranch children in the elementary grades study Calvert courses when they live too far away from regular schools to attend them daily.

A third grade girl in Nevada studies with Calvert because she is 30 miles from the nearest school.

Two California brothers, one boy in the ninth grade and the other lad in the third, study at home because the nearest school is almost 40 miles from home.

An eighth-grade girl in New Mexico, living a great distance from school, has never studied anything but Calvert.

The children of an entire family in Wyoming, isolated most of the winter, have been raised on Calvert courses, and many Texas ranch children are Calvert home study enrollees.

Home study courses offer farm and ranch children another important advantage in that the year's work does not have to be done on a rigid schedule. Calvert courses can be temporarily set aside during the busy seasons around home, like planting, harvest, and round-up time.

All of these farm and ranch children study at home with the aid of their parents. The arrival of a box of books from Baltimore containing lessons for the entire year and a teaching guide for parents signals the start of the school year.

Every month the pupil prepares a special lesson and sends it back to Baltimore where a member of the Calvert faculty reviews it, grades it, and returns it to the student with a friendly critique. All home study courses are designed and pre-tested in the Calvert day school in Baltimore, which has about 400 pupils.

Calvert courses are approved by Maryland's Department of Education, and Calvert credits are accepted throughout the country.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Jody Keese of Meadow spent the weekend in Ruidoso, N.M. They returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Yowell and sons of Route 4 were weekend guests in the home of her sister, Mrs. Edwards Smith of Stanton.

If You Don't Support Your Church Weekly—Your Church Will Be Weakly Supported

A Miracle

Modern medicine with its wonder drugs is truly miraculous; it gives protection against almost every disease of the body. But no doctor has any medicine to protect the human spirit from the stresses and strains of life.

There's only one protective medicine for the spirit; it is called faith in God. Not just any God, mind you, but the God whom the Bible proclaims, the Creator and Father of us all, the sovereign King of the universe. Faith in Him means to live by His will and make Him the one great purpose of life. For one who does that, life holds no fears and death is only the final doorway to fulfillment—that medicine protects the spirit for eternity; that is The Miracle.

Wonderful World by Waldman

A complete replica of a bustling early-day Oklahoma oil field development, known as the Oklahoma Semi-Centennial Exposition, will be a popular attraction at the Oklahoma City June 14 thru July 7. Actual wooden rigs, as well as the newest in portable drilling equipment, will be in operation.

For those who like their action rough and ready, a full-scale Wild West Rodeo will be presented in the exposition grounds. Bronco busting, chuck wagon races and trick riding exhibitions will be featured.

Theme of the exposition is "Arrows to Atoms"—combining Oklahoma's Indian heritage with its plans for the next half-century. A towering, 200-foot arrow piercing the symbol of atomic energy with a map of Oklahoma as the nucleus is the focal point of the exposition grounds. Brilliantly lighted, it will be a giant red, white and gold landmark which will be visible for many miles to welcome visitors to Oklahoma's Semi-Centennial celebration.

Egg Law To Have Far-Reaching Effects

The Texas Egg Law, which becomes effective in a few weeks, will have probably a more far-reaching impact on the citizens of Texas as a whole than any agricultural legislation of recent times.

Although regulations will extend only to certain areas of the egg industry itself, the effect of the law will be felt not only by producers and other industry men, but by consumers as well. And the effect felt will be a good one.

What the law actually does is to stop misrepresentation of inferior eggs as quality merchandise and to place emphasis on accurate product labelling of quality eggs and a better product for consumers.

This is accomplished through a system of egg grading which requires all eggs offered for sale to consumers through retail outlets to be accurately labelled according to size, grade and condition of freshness.

Producers of eggs who sell only the production of their own flocks are exempt from provisions of the act unless they claim some kind of grade. If producers choose to claim a grade, their eggs must conform completely with provisions of the law.

The act becomes effective August 22. Deadline for obtaining licenses by retailers, dealers, wholesalers and processors is October 20. Actual enforcement of violations, which carry fines up to $1,000, will start after February 17, 1958.

Condition of Meadow Woman Reported Good

The condition of Mrs. I. V. Pendergrass, 80, of Route 1, Meadow, was reported good Friday by spokesmen at Taylor Hospital in Lubbock, where she underwent surgery Tuesday. She is expected to remain in the hospital several days.

Mrs. Pendergrass is the mother of Mrs. Sue Timmons and Carl Pendergrass of Meadow and Mrs. Houston Hamilton of Brownfield.

Brownfield Trio Takes Part in Band School

Sue Shewmake, Le Nora Turner and Bette Ann Davis left Thursday for Albuquerque, N.M., where they will attend a band school for the next 10 days at the University of New Mexico.

All three will take specialized training in instrument playing. In addition, Miss Shewmake and Miss Davis will study baton twirling and Miss Turner will receive drum major training.

GEE GEE'S

Although few people have had more experience with it than I, moving always gets me down. As many times as I've moved, it looks like I wouldn't be such a packrat, but the fact remains that I am always encumbered with a bunch of useless junk which I must decide whether to move just one more time or to relegate to the trash heap. Anyway, if any of you people get to looking for me, the Pritts now are in residence at 706 East Buckley . . . but with the same telephone number of 3858.

These days, when we're all eating a lot of meals outdoors, it's nice to have a different variety of foods to serve with the barbecue. Here's a wonderful potato deal that Robert Bowers served us the other night: take an ordinary baked potato and split the top. Add a good dollop of butter, sprinkle on crumbled salt pork that has been fried crisp, add a healthy spot of sour cream and top with grated cheese. Run the potatoes under a broiler until the cheese is melted. Served with barbecue or charcoaled steaks, a tossed salad and hot rolls, this is a perfect meal for outdoors or indoors. Be sure to fix plenty, though, because your family will love them.

Women of Bible Studied by EMU

Mrs. Jim Jones was hostess when members of the Evangelical Methodist Union met in her home Thursday night.

Mrs. B. W. Young opened the meeting with a prayer, and the business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Evelyn Collins. Mrs. William Mayo reported on the annual conference which she attended in Memphis, Tenn. recently.

The first chapter of Solomon was read by Mrs. G. M. Thomason for the devotional. Miss Betty Collins spoke on "The woman who married the right man", taken from the book, "Great Women of the Bible". Mrs. Collins closed the meeting with a prayer.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Guess I may be a little funny, but eating outdoors leaves me cold. I just can't seem to get much of a charge out of eating with one hand and fighting varmints with the other. It's a good old American custom, however, and the picnic is practically an institution in the average family.

Believe it or not, you mamas had best start thinking about getting your kids ready to go back to school. The summer is half gone and the first thing you know, the old bell will be ringing for class to begin. As a matter of fact, season tickets

Salad Days Are Here Again

With the advent of warmer weather and the plentiful supply of fruits and fresh vegetables, lovers of fine salads take a new lease on life. Sliced fruits and daintily prepared vegetables are eye filling as well as tasty. Here is a salad anyone would enjoy.

Easy to prepare, colorful, perfect for buffet or impromptu entertaining—as well as for a luncheon or supper dish. The whole delicious tray can be table-ready in a matter of minutes.

Well-chilled grapefruit and orange sections—fresh or canned—teamed with chicken salad quickly made from canned chicken present a sparkling and filling dish. Add thin slices of bright red apples and cool green avocado slices for color.

With poppyseed rolls, hot or iced coffee, a plate of cold creamed soup, plus dessert—and your meal is ready in a jiffy.

Ideal dressing is RealLemon French dressing—also quickly made. Use a quarter cup of RealLemon bottled lemon juice, a quarter cup of salad oil, a teaspoon of sugar, half a teaspoon of paprika and the same of salt.

Combine all ingredients in a jar, shake well, and pour over the salad. A rainbow of color and a feast of a meal!

Institute Says Sensation of Hair Standing On End Heralds Coming of Lightning Bolt

If you are outdoors in a threatening thunderstorm and you notice a sensation that feels like your hair is beginning to stand on end, you may be getting set up to become a lightning target.

Best thing to do, says the Lightning Protection Institute, is to lie down immediately—in a ditch or a depression if possible. By lying prone, the Institute advises, you may cease to be the "highest object in the area" in which positive electrical ground charges congregate in order to be as close as possible for an explosive meeting with their negative opposites contained in storm clouds.

Yearly toll from lightning throughout the country is about 600 persons killed, two and a half times that number injured, and more than $100,000,000 in property loss. Much of this, says the Institute, could be avoided by practicing a few simple rules.

Lightning's danger is more often great to people whose occupations or hobbies keep them outdoors. The most hazardous period occurs just before the storm, when dark clouds gather in the sky and the atmosphere actually feels charged.

The most dangerous places to be are: in the golf course, whether in the open or in an exposed shelter; in a boat; in the water; atop in hill; at the beach; under an isolated tree; near a wire fence, clothesline, overhead wires or towers; or riding a bike, tractor, horse or farm machinery.

Safest place are: in a building protected with lightning rods and grounds; in a steel-framed building; or inside your car. If these shelters are not available, seek protection in a ravine, under a cliff, in a ditch, in a cave or flat on the ground. If you are indoors in an unprotected building, don't stand in doorways or near open windows. Keep away from metal objects: the fireplace, the sink, the telephone, and the television set.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority
Travel Survey

If you took a trip last year, you are a statistic—part of a survey taken by the AAA on vacation travel. Here are some of the facts and figures you probably figured in:

One half of all America vacations at least once a year—spending some $12 billion in the process. Private automobile trips in the United States account for 85 percent of all travel within the country each year; 11.5 billion vehicle-miles driven on vacations; and a $10.4 billion expenditure.

In half the states, travel is ranked among the three most important industries. It ranks first in Florida, New Jersey, Nevada and Washington, D.C.

Here is how the traveler spends his dollar: food, 28 cents; lodging, 22 cents; retail purchases, 20 cents; gasoline and oil, 19 cents; entertainment and recreation, 8 cents; tires, parts, repairs, 3 cents.

Of every 100 motorists on route, 63 stay in motels; 16 stay at hotels or resorts; 16 with friends or relatives; 4 camp out; and 1 lives in a house trailer.

The great upswing in travel is due to: population rise; increased earning power; more leisure time; retirement plans, insurance and social security benefiting older citizens; and increased passenger car registration.

AND COMPULSORY UNIONISM MUST GO

Taft-Hartley Law Needs Rugged Amendments To Give Union Members, and Not the Leaders, More Control Over Affairs

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Maurice R. Franks, author of the following article, is president of the national Labor-Management Foundation and editor of its official publication, Partners.) In my last article, I traced the rise of the racketeer in the union labor movement and attributed the cause of this to our neglect in not having insisted that our legislators design laws requiring responsibility on the part of our unions and the men who lead them. We have stood idly by while union leaders have herded their memberships like so many cattle — have permitted them to use union funds and their power to move politicians into corners where they want them — where laws are shaped to fit the needs of union-leader perfidy. What today, because of the exposures of the Senate Committee, is so obvious in the case of labor's racketeers is no less true of labor's scheming radicals. The pity is that these latter aren't today under equal public scrutiny, and that we now find them scampering about in the somewhat grotesque role of prosecutors of their racketeering brothers. Legislation Is Needed And where does all this leave us — apart from the end of our own neglect? It leaves us face to face with the need for remedial legislation — and it's up to us, the general public, after the present circus has lowered its tents, to see that such legislation is enacted. Indeed, the time has come for the Taft-Hartley law to be ruggedly amended — but this time so as not to give the leaders of labor greater power and prestige. This time, the law must be amended so as to give them far less — and the union members far more. And the Railway Labor Act and every state labor law must likewise be so strengthened. Competition Is Needed Compulsory unionism — meaning compulsory union dues — must go. And in the very name of union security! Industry-wide bargaining, that other weapon of manpower monopoly must also be dumped for the good of all concerned. In the place of each must come the wholesome effects of union competition — the competition of union with union on the basis of services offered and services rendered. The merit system must be restored by law to unionism, if the whole labor movement is not to founder beneath a crushing load of demerits. New Charters Needed Further, the unions must be brought under the direct control of the anti-trust laws. For a manpower monopoly is the most pernicious of any type yet developed. In either case, the union in point should go or be brought to court and a full public investigation of charges and counter-charges be made, with every official under oath and subject to public prosecution if malfeasance in office is established. We simply can't afford to have suspicious-looking unions running around loose. When their charters are in any way involved, the whole case should be brought to a head to determine whether or not the organization under suspicion is in

WITH TEMPERATURES CONSISTENTLY IN 90'S

It Appears That What Is Needed Is A Complete Overhaul Of Acceptable Summer Clothing for Men, Says Health Authority

AUSTIN—with daytime temperatures consistently in the 90's and with prospects of going even higher, it appears that what is needed is a complete overhaul of acceptable summer clothing for men, say, Dr. Henry Holle, commissioner of health.

Women have the right idea when it comes to summer clothing. Lightweight, sleeveless, open-necked dresses permit free circulation of air and encourage heat loss. A man, though, with a tie around his neck and belt around his middle—all topped off with a coat—is at a disadvantage in trying to throw off body heat.

Elevations of body temperature will develop inevitably in a man so dressed because such clothing prevents loss of body heat through conduction; radiation, and evaporation of sweat.

And this much is physiologically true: The body thermostat is so constructed that a fall in temperature is much harder to produce than is a rise.

Heat stroke, sometimes fatal, is due to exhaustion or inadequacy of the heat dissipating mechanism of the body. It occurs as a result of exposure to a hot, humid atmosphere such as is common over most of Texas during summer months.

Sunstroke is a form of heat stroke, complicated by an absorption of radiant energy from the sun which causes a temperature rise in local body areas, such as the forehead, neck, and face. It is caused by direct exposure to the sun's rays. Symptoms include dizziness, headache, nausea, and vomiting. Treatment involves moving the person to a cool, shaded area and providing fluids.

brain, higher than the temperature of the rest of the body.

How do you avoid heat stroke? By doing what you can to keep heat loss and heat production in balance.

The wearing of loose, airy clothing is known by physiologists to be among the best means of maintaining that balance. Open throat sport shirts and light trousers are of course more practical than heavy suits.

Excessive clothing causes excessive perspiration, and excessive perspiration means a loss of body fluids and salts. Unless the loss is compensated for by drinking additional quantities of water and consuming extra amounts of salt, painful stomach cramps can result.

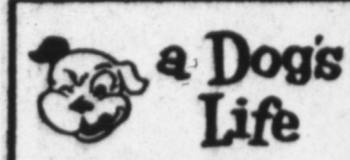

During periods of high humidity, body perspiration doesn't evaporate. It clings and you feel constantly damp. Skin rash often develops at these times and the rash is liable to infection.

Since body temperature represents the balance struck between heat production and heat loss, a disturbance in the value of either will be followed by a temperature change. The most sensible ways of avoiding the effects of a rise are these:

Eat slightly, avoid exertion, drink plenty of water and eat extra salt, and stay close to the shade. A super camera that can take pictures at the rate of two million frames per second is used by the Naval Ordnance Laboratory, Silver Spring, Md., to show exactly what happens when an explosive explodes.

the fan. Above all, keep your clothing loose and airy.

HEAT HYSTERIA AND PROSTRATION

by Dr. E. M. Gildow
Director, Friskies Research Kennels

A dog adjusts poorly to excessive heat because he does not perspire freely over the body. He depends principally upon evaporation from the tongue and mouth and from the pads of the feet. He therefore is more commonly subject to two types of heat stroke... heat hysteria and heat prostration.

In hysteria he may become delirious, have convulsions and claw at anything within reach.

Dog of the Week:
KEESHOWD

Non-sporting classification. Average weight: 40 pounds; Height at shoulder: 18 inches; Coat: double, soft, thick, light-colored undercoat which stands away from body forming a ruff; well-feathered, profuse fringes; Color: may vary from light to dark but no pronounced deviation from the gray color is permissible. Legs and feet should be cream colored and there should be spectacles (dark markings) around the eyes.

In heat prostration he becomes suddenly weak, and topples over, unconscious. Your pet needs a veterinarian's attention as quickly as possible. Until the veterinarian arrives, the safest thing to do is to wet him down, move him to a cool spot and supply good ventilation. If he's unconscious, wave some ammonia under his nose. Your veterinarian will advise you in regard to proper care and treatment.

Dogs are often afflicted with either of these maladies in cars. On really sultry days the heat collects in the car even if you've parked in the shade and left the windows open.

On drives or trips during the summer always be sure to take along fresh water. A large-mouthed jar which your pet can drink out of directly will cut down on equipment and serve the purpose.

Feeding Tip: As with older people, older dogs require less food. They need less amounts of a well balanced diet such as Friskies with all the essential nutrients.

Giant Berries From Chile Are Crossed

Giant strawberries and blackberries collected recently in South America by Dr. George M. Darrow, U. S. Department of Agriculture specialist, give promise of even better fruits for U. S. markets of tomorrow.

Plant breeders will use these larger cousins of our domestic berries to develop new and still better varieties through cross-breeding.

Both wild and cultivated strawberries with large size, disease resistance, and other promising characteristics were collected in Chile. They were growing under such diverse conditions as long, dry seasons, heavy rainfall, mild coastal temperatures and the rigors of the Andes Mountains up as far as the timberline.

Some were found within 1,600 feet of the permanent snowline, where they ripen after freezing.

A giant drought-resistant blackberry found on the slopes of the Andes near Bogota, Colombia, ripens at 2 inches in length. Another, collected at an altitude of 10,800 feet in Ecuador had 42 buds, flowers, and fruits growing in one cluster.

Successful crossing of these South American species with our own strawberries can mean many advantages for both producers and consumers here in the United States according to USDA specialists. Increased fruit size would cut losses at production and marketing levels, bringing more high-quality berries to consumers at favorable prices.

For producers, drought tolerance and hardiness can increase the range over which berries may be grown and make their production more dependable.

Cotton improvement groups, other than those in counties where the deadline has passed, are urged to apply now for free Smith-Doxey cotton classification and market news services this year. The deadline for filing for these services is August 1. Instructions and applications are available from county agricultural agents, local AMS cotton classing offices, or from the Cotton Division, AMS, USDA, Room 806, U. S. Terminal Annex, Dallas 2, Texas.

F-M Radio Stations Show First Growth

For the first time since 1948, the birth rate of f-m radio stations has passed the death rate.

In 1948, there were more than 700 f-m stations broadcasting. Then the downward trend began, and by June 30, 1956, a low of 546 was recorded.

For the year ending June 20, 1957, comparison of stations going off the air and those going on showed a net loss of 32 f-m stations. In 1955, the loss was 17. By June 30, 1956, 26 more stations had folded; 20 had started, for a net loss of only six.

As of May, 1957, the total on the rise again, was 555.

In Los Angeles and New York there are more applicants for f-m channels than there are channels available. Five hopefuls are competing for three channels in Los Angeles, and five are competing for two in New York.

The FCC notes that activity in seeking f-m channels has risen to a point where each week sees one or two grants given out, and an additional 15-20 applications on tap.

Major population centers are nearing full-up status in f-m stations. New York City has allocated 16 of the available 18 channels, Los Angeles has 17 of 20 channels in use and Chicago has assigned 13 of 18 channels.

Such distribution holds true for most big cities. But an exception, San Francisco, has allocated only seven of its 17 stations.

Green Vegetables Are Best Source of Necessary Vitamins

So many kinds of green vegetables can be bought at the market these days that there is really no excuse for a diet not adequate in needed vitamins, according to extension foods and nutrition specialists.

Diet studies show that nutrients most frequently found in inadequate amounts are calcium, which is supplied by milk, and vitamins A and C which fresh green vegetables can help to supply.

Dark green leafy vegetables, yellow vegetables, and dark yellow fruits such as apricots, yellow peaches, yellow meaty plums, and cantaloupes, are all good sources of vitamin A. These vegetables and fruits, eaten raw or properly cooked, also supply substantial amounts of vitamin C.

Not all green vegetables have the same food value. The intensity of the color and the part of the plant from which it comes are clues to its vitamin value.

In general, the greener the vegetable the better it is as a source of vitamins. Dark green leaves may carry several times as much of some nutrients as the green stalks, pods or immature seeds.

Cook green vegetables quickly for best quality. Use a cover on the pan to speed cooking

BEHIND SCENES IN AMERICAN BUSINESS

Survey Shows Executives Believe Business Will Continue Upsurge Through Rest of Year Despite 'Tight Money'

By REYNOLDS KNIGHT
Economic Analyst

NEW YORK—Despite indications that the Federal Reserve authorities will be slow to abandon their restrictive credit policy, business should continue to expand during the second half of 1957.

Of executives of 242 firms surveyed on the business outlook by the Commerce and Industry Association of New York, a total of 83.1 per cent foresee business as being at least as good as it has been, and probably better. Half of these anticipated increased volume, and half expected no change.

Nearly three-fourths of the participating firms reported that business during the first half of 1957 was as good or better than in the last half of 1956. Half of those in the "as-good-or-better" group reported business in the first six months of this year up an average of 14.9 per cent from the previous six months.

HEALTHY SIGN — Financial observers regard freight-car deliveries as one of the most reliable indexes of industrial production and business activity.

For that reason it was considered a sign of the times when the American Car and Foundry division of ACP Industries, Inc., announced it has set a 3½ year record for one month's production in the freight-car building industry.

In April the division shipped to the nation's railroads 1,927 freight cars, the largest shipment in the industry since October, 1953, according to S. M. Felton, president of the division.

THINGS TO COME — For those who have trouble keeping covered, there's a set of bed-cover grips designed to prevent sheets and blankets from bunching, sliding, slipping or twisting. . . . A new emergency escape light for aircraft is battery-powered and operated by an inertia switch that turns on the light upon impact. . . . A low-priced, "back-pack" resuscitator-inhalator has been designed for use at pools and beaches.

FOREIGN TRADE POLICY — A foreign-trade policy that would end the "unfair competition" that threatens many Americans industries has been endorsed by the producers of 90 per cent of the ceramic wall and floor-tile made in this country.

Such a purpose could be achieved by basing the volume of imports on the relative difference between American wage scales and the wage scales of other nations, contends E. D. Mann, president of the Tile

Council of America.

In a speech before the Tile Contractors Association of America, Mann explained that such a policy could be carried out in this way:

"The higher the minimum wage standard of a particular country the greater allocation of imports allowed that country. Legislation of this type, if enacted, would both protect our industries from unfair competition created through the ever-increasing flow of cheaply produced foreign products into this country and also help improve the living standards and incentive of our friends in other countries."

MODERN KNOTHOLE — Back in 1938 when construction of New York's Radio City was under way, a helmeted workman spotted a distinguished-looking gentleman peering through an opening in a fence surrounding the excavation. "Keep moving, Buddy," the gawker was told. Some say that was the start of the pastime known as sidewalk superintending.

The curious gentlemen was John D. Rockefeller Jr.—and he saw to it, as a bit of enlightened public relations, that fellow-gawkers were catered to (with convenient, labeled peepholes) instead of being rudely invited to mind their own business.

Since then builders have generally followed this line. A new unit of Radio City now under construction gives rubbernecks a better break than ever: A cantilevered, candy-striped balcony, replete with flower boxes and even model cranes and bulldozers that can be operated by push-button control, accommodates onlookers who can spare a few minutes.

And, instead of mere peepholes, there are ten picture windows giving a full view of the work of building a 47-story structure. On hand to answer questions will be smiling hostesses—quite a departure from the construction worker who elbowed Mr. Rockefeller away from the premises.

BITS O'BUSINESS — Registrations of new passenger cars for the first four months of 1957 were 1,997,508—neck and neck with the 1,988,696 registered in the comparable period a year ago. . . . Sales gimmick: In swank Miami neighborhoods you're likely to pick your telephone and be greeted with: "Say, I'm out in front of your house right now in the dazzling new Imperial. How about coming out and taking a spin?" Astonished listeners look outdoors and, sure enough, there's a salesman sitting in a car from which he has made the call over a radio-telephone.
