

Benefits Override Many Inconveniences Of Storm

A heavy moisture-laden snow ushered in the new year here when an estimated 12 1/2 inches blanketed the county, blocking highways late Saturday night and Sunday.

The damp, fluffy flakes provided the area with approximately 1.8 inches of moisture, the first of this year. The much-needed water was the first appreciable amount registered since Oct. 21, when more than two inches of rain was recorded.

The slow-falling blanket caught most South Plains residents by surprise when it began as a light spitting snow about 9 a.m. Saturday.

Precipitation stepped up until the area became blanketed with the white stuff by late afternoon and became heavier as the night progressed.

Teams Depart Hastily
By 7 p.m., streets and highways were clogged with snow, slowing traffic to a minimum. The Levelland cage team, competing in the Brownfield Basketball Tournament, left here immediately after their game in an attempt to return home before they became stranded.

Basketball teams representing Monterey of Lubbock and Colorado City did not attempt to return home until midnight, when the storm apparently hit its peak.

Only two minor accidents caused by the storm were reported in the county as most area residents stayed home.

Both accidents occurred Monday morning after Sunday afternoon's slight thaw turned streets and highways to icy sheets.

Highway patrolmen reported a pickup overturned 3 miles north of here on Lubbock Highway and Brownfield police reported a collision at the corner of Fifth and Broadway. There were no injuries reported in either mishap.

The first onslaught of 1958 forced most churches to cancel Sunday night services after morning services attracted few members from their homes.

Evangelical Methodist Church postponed the revival meeting which was scheduled to begin Sunday.

The blanket, which clogged county roads, highways and streets, also forced Terry schools to close Monday, when buses could not make their rounds. School doors reopened Tuesday with reduced attendance because snow and muddy roads kept buses on paved highways.

Suffered Broken Arm
Also cancelled by the season's first storm was a county teachers' meeting slated for Monday afternoon at Union, and meetings of several civic and social organizations.

Terry-Yoakum March of Dimes Drive To Begin This Week; 350 Are Working

The 1958 Terry-Yoakum March of Dimes campaign is expected to move into high gear this week when some 350 persons attempt to surpass all previous goals accomplished here, according to Jimmy Billings, director of the two county drive.

"We have not set a specific goal this year," said Billings. "We still must care for those who were afflicted before the vaccine discovery. Also further research is being conducted on other types of paralysis."

Events scheduled to aid the drive before its conclusion Jan. 31 include a mother's march, a road blockade by the local National Guard unit, theatre collections the last two Sundays of the month and the annual VFW President's Ball and bingo party at Veteran's hall.

The director said final arrangements have not been completed on the campaign events. "We should have everything set by the end of this week," he said.

The BHS Choral Club will kick off activities when they place coin collection boxes in business houses this week, revealed Billings.

"However, we hope to surpass goals set in previous years." Last year's goal was surpassed

First three from left are directors for next three years: Charles S. Kersh of Kersh Implement Company, V. L. (Pat) Patterson, manager of Piggly Wiggly, and C. E. Ross, investments. With them are the chamber's 1957 vice president and president, respectively, Bruce Zorns and Dennis Q. Lilly. Zorns is trust officer and vice president of Brownfield State Bank, and Lilly is agriculture advisor and vice president of First National Bank. With exception of Lilly, the men were elected directors in chamber voting Dec. 20. A fifth new director, Burton G. Hackney, Brownfield attorney, is not shown. Lilly and Zorns were elected unanimously during chamber's first meeting of year, held Wednesday in Melody Restaurant. They succeed J. L. (Dusty) Kemper and Curtis J. Sterling. Weather Was Major Factor in the 12 Months

1957 Is Year To Be Remembered in 1958

Terry County during the 12 months of 1957 — it grew, developed, changed, slipped here, advanced there, suffered some reverses and moved into 1958 with head up, chest out and stomach in.

Irony appears to keynote the year's major story: the end of a staggering drought and the fizzle of an apparent record cotton and grain crop. (Grain harvest yet may be county's biggest.)

Tied directly to the '57 weather are year-end deposits in First National ($6,920,000) and Brownfield State ($10,135,000) banks. Total: $17,055,000, down $2,621,000 from Dec. 31 of 1956.

The decrease hardly notes the trend going into '58. Officials of both banks explained Wednesday morning that current deposits will climb steadily this month, probably peaking by Feb. 1.

which reflect last year's growth: Building permits at City Hall totaled $1,168,367 as of Dec. 31, up from the $1,023,000 at end of 1956. Record was more than $2.5 million in 1955.

Other construction dollars not counted in the foregoing total: $600,000 for city's electric plant last year, $250,000 for city's water plant last year, and $200,000 for city's new four-lane highway last year.

Postal receipts as of Dec. 31, released by Postmaster Joe Shelton, totaled $92,190, a gain of $3,410 over year before last and a gain of $5,143 over 1955.

City Hall records show that 94 water meters were installed to bring total to 2,757. New electric meters installed jumped from 3,528 in 1956 to 3,668 last year.

Pioneer Natural's total number of gas meters in use throughout the city was 2,848 at year's end, a healthy increase of 198 during the 12 months.

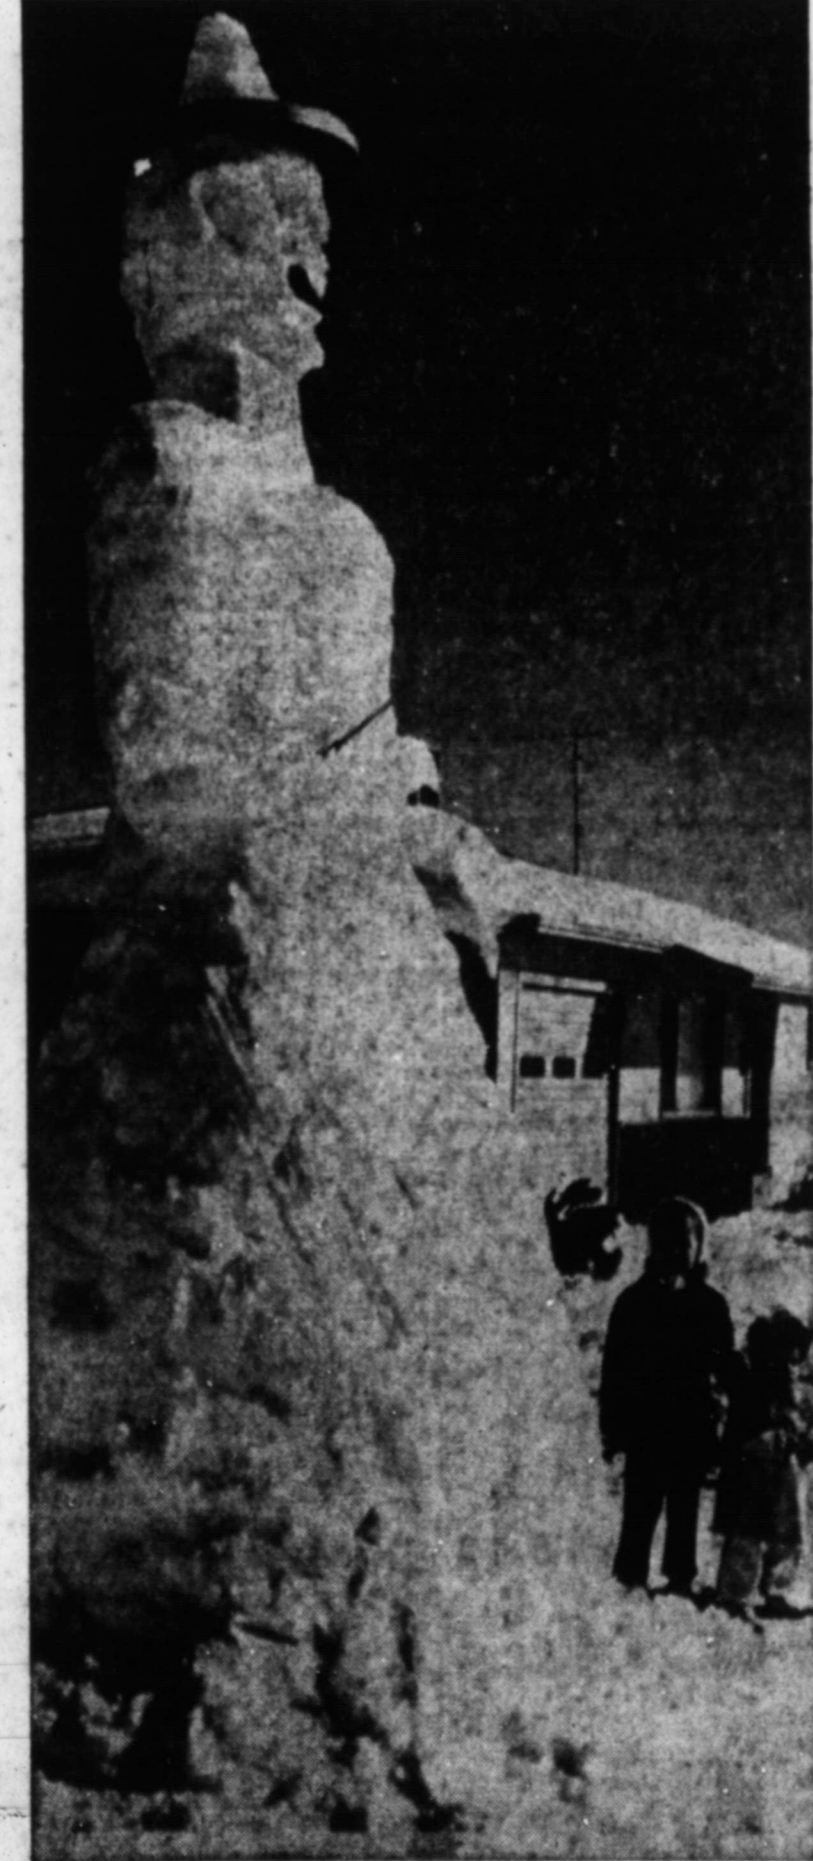

Hiway Association Convening Here For One Day's Business

Brownfield will host an estimated 100 members of the International Park Highway Association in a luncheon at the Hitch-N-Post Cafeteria today, reports Joe Satterwhite, the group's vice president and manager of Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting, originally slated to be held at The Party House, will include members representing cities from Canada to South Texas. The group will meet to hear the annual report of the association's 1957 activities.

Fred Thompson of Sidney, Neb., IPHA public relations manager, will present the report to the association. Other guests include Harley Rhodes of Burlington, Colo., national president; I. H. Peters of Alliance, Neb., members of the board of directors, and Judge Joe Beyer of Crane, Texas division president.

International Parks Highway, now designated International Highway 51, extends from Regina, Canada, to Old Mexico.

OF BROWNFIELD TOURNEY: CUBS FOURTH

Lubbock Wins Championship

By CHARLIE MAPLE
NEWS Sport Editor
Despite playing the best games of the season and outshooting their opponents on the field, the Cubs lost to Levelland's Lobos, 49-48, Saturday in the battle for third place in the Brownfield cage tourney.

Lubbock Monterey pasted Colorado City, 67-48, to cop the championship of the seventh annual hoop meet.

In Saturdays' opening battle for third, the Cubs trailed all the way in a nip-and-tuck game. Levelland jumped to a four point lead in the opening minutes, only to be tied on goals by David Ivey and Ken Cary.

From that point, the Lobos moved out front again and the Cubs swapped goals the rest of the way. The host team outscored Levelland in the second and fourth periods and equaled their output in the third frame but never could overcome the Lobos' 14-8 lead of the first quarter.

Out-Shoot Lobos
Though the Cubs out-shot the Lobos 23-19 from the field, the visitors took the tilt via free-throw route, canning 11 of 19 gratis pitches. Brownfield hit 20 of six free-throws.

City Gets 'A' Report
Brownfield's water plant facilities has been recognized as a Class A system, or State Approved water facility.

The "A" approval, granted for many years here, was awarded in mid-December, when a Texas Health Department engineer assistant, V. T. Hancock of Austin, inspected the system with E. R. Hutson, Brownfield water superintendent.

Results of the annual inspection were forwarded in a Dec. 30 letter to Mayor Lowrimore from Dr. Henry Holle, state health commissioner.

Courtesies Appreciated
Wrote Dr. Holle: "This inspection has revealed that the plant facilities present an attractive appearance and that the acceptable operating practices and mandatory items for continued State Approval have been complied with."

"It therefore gives us pleasure to advise you that this Department continues to recognize your city as being served by a Class A, or State Approved, water facility."

"In conclusion, we wish to express our appreciation for your interest in matters of public health significance and would like to convey the thanks of our representative for the courtesies extended him at the time of inspection."

NEW M-F "35" COMBINE

ECONOMY AND MANEUVERABILITY are two outstanding features of the new Massey-Harris "35" Combine designed especially for the "family size" farm. Yet, in spite of its smaller overall dimensions, this self-propelled combine with 7-or-8-foot table offers a high operating capacity.

The bright new member of the Massey-Harris combine line features a short turning radius and light weight that enables the operator to finish a job in record time and with a minimum of effort. The gas tank holds an all-day fuel supply. Because of its space-saving features, the "35" is small enough to be driven from field to field or even from farm to farm without removing the table. The economical four-cylinder engine is located at the top for easy service and efficient power transmission. All drives are easily accessible and bearings are sealed and lifetime lubricated. The table has a hydraulic assist which makes height adjustment quick and simple. The new Massey-Harris "35" was introduced to 3,000 dealers from throughout the United States at a series of regional meetings in November.

Judge Asks, 'What Is Real Love to Juvenile?'

By Judge Sarah T. Hughes
Ed. Note: This is one of a series of articles on the state's growing problem of juvenile delinquency by one of Texas' foremost authorities on the subject, District Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, who had handled more than 25,000 juvenile and family relations cases along with an even greater number of other civil cases in 22 years on the bench.)

Real love in the life of a child, so necessary in combating juvenile delinquency, is not trying to "possess" him, not just giving him material things. It is giving him a sense of his own significance in his home and among his friends.

Real love does not over-indulge him, give him too much in the way of material possessions or passing pleasures, excitements, stimulations. Instead it provides understanding and emotional security as he runs up against the hard knocks life hands us all from time to time.

SENSE OF BELONGING
A little girl 4 years old was in my court a number of years ago, the subject of a custody suit. At the end of the day I took her in my office and told her she would stay with her mother that weekend.

She looked up at me and said, "Which mother, my old mother or my new one?" You see, Patsy had two mothers and two fathers. She had been shifted from one to the other, been involved in several custody cases and consequently had no sense of security, of belonging, such a necessary part

Tourney Team Named
Deilke scored all of Monterey's 10 points the final quarter when he was on the receiving end of Lubbock's fast break. The last period spurge gave Deilke top scorer's honors with 25 points.

Richard Compton led Colorado City scorers with 12 points, one better than team-mate Jerry Treadwell.

Eight tournament players, two from each team participating, landed positions on the All-Tourney team. Members receiving miniature gold basketballs for the honors were Cason and Cary of Brownfield, Deilke and Martin of Monterey, Compton and Jim Richardson of Colorado City and Doug Cannon and Jessie Ballew of Levelland.

NO. 2—
Jessie Ballew hit six field goals and five free throws for 17 points, top for the game. Jerry Garrison tallied 13 more for the Lobos.

NO. 3
Kenneth Cason and Cary meshed 14 and 12 points, respectively, to lead the Cub attack.

The championship tilt, featuring rough play and the terrific rebounding of L. H. Martin of Monterey, never was close after the first four minutes of play.

After Colorado City's Marion Flippin knotted the score at 7-7, Dick Deilke and company went to work to widen the gap to 18-7 at the end of the first period.

Martin's 10 points in the second period widened the gap still more to give the Lubbock team a 37-21 lead at the half. Flippin, who had held Deilke to seven points during the first half, fouled out two minutes deep in the second half, turning the Lubbock high-pointer loose for 17 points the final 17 minutes.

TRAFFIC REMAINS THE MAJOR POLICE PROBLEM
Traffic remained the major police problem here in 1957 as 1,295 summonses were issued and 132 accidents recorded, reports Chief James Tippit.

The city's traffic fatality toll was revised downward to one the final week of the year when the Department of Public Safety advised Chief Tippit one death should have been attributed to construction instead of traffic.

Though no comparable figures are available for previous years, Tippit said Brownfield had 151 accidents from May 1956, to January 1957. Complete records were not kept prior to May 1956.

Most other criminal activities showed apparent downward trends in comparison with 1956 figures. However, the chief said a sharp up-swing was noted in juvenile crime the latter part of the year, especially in December.

a Dog's Life

YOUR DOG'S EYES
 By E. M. Gildow, D.V.M., Director, Friskies Research Institute

A dog's eyes talk. When he looks up at you pleadingly, soulfully or reproachfully, you get the message. His eyes talk in another way, too. They usually give you the first indication that your pet isn't up to par. They're such a good barometer, in fact, that when you take your pet to the veterinarian the eyes are one of the first things he checks. There are two general groups of causes for eye disturbances: first, various infectious diseases such as distemper and hepatitis, parasites such as round worms or hookworms and, second, various injuries or irritations of the eyes alone.

When both eyes are involved, the cause is more likely to be a generalized disease. When one eye is involved, an irritation or injury is more often the cause.

When your dog has running eyes, sticky eyes, dull eyes or pus in his eyes and is off feed or actually sick, he no doubt has one of the common diseases of dogs such as distemper, hepatitis or leptospirosis, or is seriously affected with worms, coccidiosis, or other systemic disturbance. See your veterinarian for prompt attention in such cases.

An inflammation of the lining of the eyelid and covering of the eyeball is known as conjunctivitis. It may be caused by dust, smoke, a scratch, a foreign substance or some internal disturbance. If possible, eliminate the cause of the trouble, bathe the eyes with a warm saline solution and introduce an ophthalmic (eye) ointment. Consult your veterinarian if the irritation persists.

Feeding Tip: Don't be surprised at the appetite of your puppy. At two to 12 months old he'll eat two to two and one-half times as much food as a mature dog of the same size.

FROSTY, MAN, FROSTY — Linda Brown, left, and her brother, Earl, add the last minute touches to their king-size snowman. the exception of feed and seed. When we look back as far as 1940 we see that there has been some rapid changes made in agriculture. There was almost three times as much fertilizer used in 1957 as in 1940.

The amount of irrigated land in the United States increased from 18 million acres in 1939 to 30 million acres in 1954. The average investment per farm in 1957 including real estate, machinery and livestock was $27,000. This figure compares with $7,000 in 1940.

Even 20 Bushels
IN 1940 the average wheat farmer produced 15.4 bushels per acre. In 1955 this average had increased to an even 20 bushels. The same thing happened to the corn farmer.

He is now producing 45.5 bushels per acre compared with 29.6 in 1940. About the same thing has happened in the case of cotton, grain sorghums and tobacco.

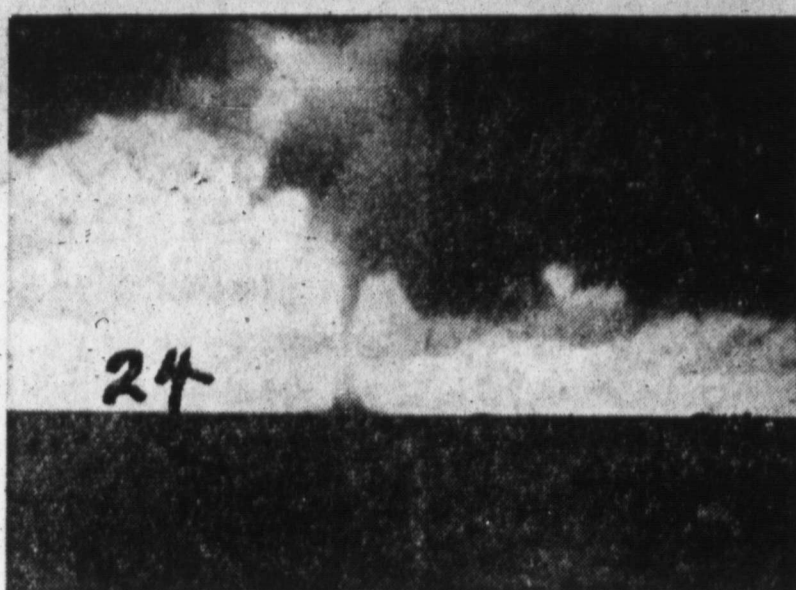

Livestock and poultry have boosted the output per animal even more than land yields have increased. A hundred pounds of broiler feed would produce 24.3 pounds of meat in 1940 and now the same amount of feed will produce 36.5 pounds.

Same Increases Noted
Sixteen years ago 100 pounds of feed for a laying hen would produce 134 eggs and now the same amount of feed will produce 196 eggs. About the same increases have come about in all classes of livestock.

We are producing more per acre from more acres and more and at the same time our population is growing along with our farm output; however, our population figures are growing slower than farm output so we have a build-up in our stock pile of storable products.

With all these things in mind, we plan for 1958. What changes will we have to make in our plans in order to make 1958 a profitable year? That is the big question and it does have a definite answer.

Look Toward 1958
The Yoakum Country farmer who produces cotton and grain sorghum had the elements of nature against him in 1957.

REMEMBER — Who could forget? The NEWS submits that the April 20 tornado shown above was the outstanding news event for 1957, Terry County-wise. No deaths and no injuries resulted. There was damage, however, to fences, General Telephone communication lines and crops. Who can deny that our citizenry has ever been galvanized into action so fast, before or since. The murderous phenomenon bore down on the town from the southwest, dissipating itself the other side of Rustic Theatre on Plains Hwy. (NEWSfoto)

They look forward to 1958 being a better year and they will always remember 1957 as one that was rough in many respects. There is an old saying, "If You Can't Cure It, Endure It".

Most farmers learned to do that at the beginning of their farming careers. Something good sometimes results from the painful things that people learn to endure. Sometimes like the oyster who allowed a little thing to get under his skin.

Under His Skin
There once was an oyster whose story I tell
Who let some sand get under his shell;
It was only a grain but it gave him much pain
For oysters have feeling although they're quite plain.
Now do you think that he would berate
This sad working of fate
And say that the sea should have given protection?
"No," he said to himself as he lay on the shell,
"If I can't remove it, I'll try to improve it".

Now the years came and went as the years always do,
And he came to his ultimate destiny—stew.
The small grain of sand that had bothered him so
Was now a pearl with a heavenly glow.

Now this story has a moral for isn't it grand
What an oyster can do with a small grain of sand?
And there's no telling what we can accomplish if we'd only

FARM & HOME FIRM

Vaughn White Buys Interest in Store

Vaughn White, an employee of Santa Fe Railway some 15 years, has purchased one-half interest in Farm and Home Appliance Company, Inc., reports Ches Gore, owner of the firm. "White will manage the company," said Gore, "and Mrs. White, formerly employed by Griffith's Variety Store, will join us as a full-time employee." Gore added that Jimmy Billings will be sales manager and shop and service manager. Billings is a former employee of Brownfield Motor Company and Griggs and Goble Furniture Store. Gore retained one-half interest in the company.

Joint Account

Bank Teller — "So you wish to open a joint account with your husband? A checking account; I suppose?"
Mrs. Brown — "A checking account for me, yes, and just a deposit account for my husband."

Nivver a Worry

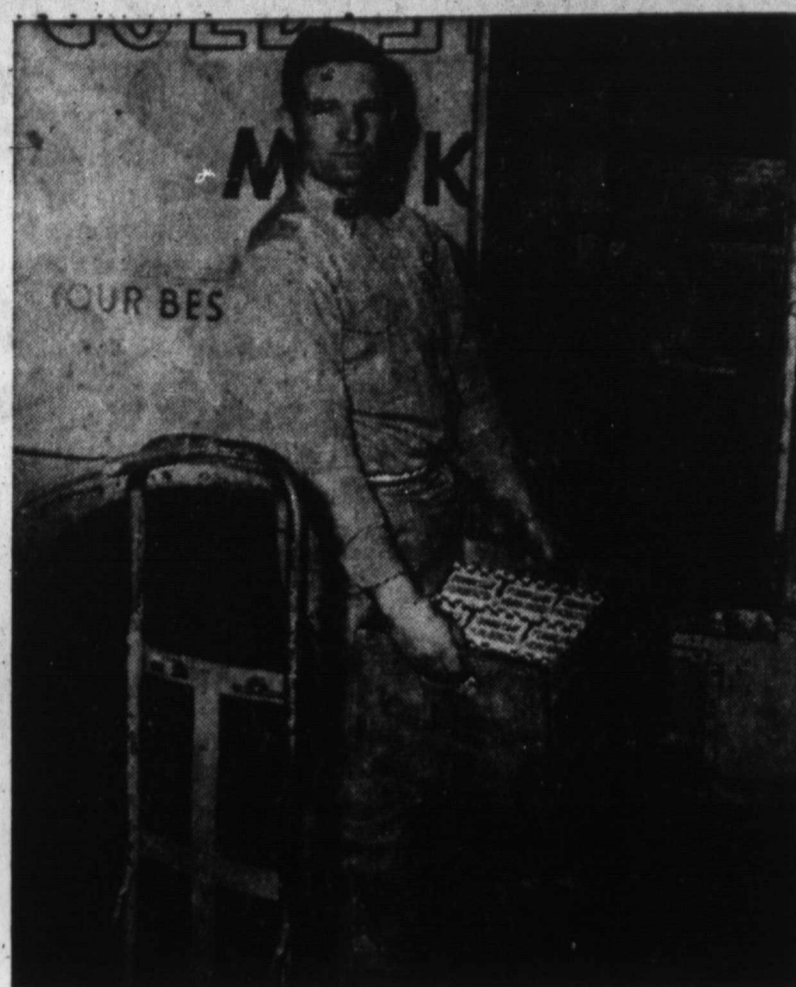

"Yes," said Paddy, "the last time you saw me I was just about finished. Hadn't even any coal in the house."
"Poor old Paddy! And are you all right for coal now?"
"Sure, I've sold the stove."

Etiquette

"What do they mean by superfluous, Bill?"
"Aw, somethin' unnecessary. Like the 'Will yer?' in 'Will yer have a drink?'"

Dodging Nemesis

"What is the hardest job you have faced since your college days?"
"Living them down."

As 1957 draws to a close we have an opportunity to look back over the year and recall some of the things that have happened. One reason why we look back is because we need the experience of the past to guide us in the future.

Looking back over the past several years we see that employment and industrial production reached a new high in 1957.

Farm exports set a new record in both value and volume. The prices that farmers and ranchers received for the products they had for sale was about the same as 1956.

BLIND CHILDREN AND THEIR DOGS

Frisbies Research Kennels
You couldn't find sixteen healthier, happier, better-fed or better groomed dogs than those kennelled in a handsome red brick building at the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind, the oldest institute of its type in the Western Hemisphere.

This group of purebred dogs plays a starring role in the animal husbandry course offered by the school. Their young masters and mistresses, though totally blind, blind and spastic, or partially blind, master every aspect of dog care and handling under the kind and gentle tutoring of director of training, Louis V. Ciccia, a true dog-lover and professional trainer.

Walk into the bright, spotless and airy kennel room on an early afternoon and you may find a twelve-year-old boy weighing the dog's food. He's accurate to the fraction of an ounce. You may hear a running conversation between a frisky poodle and his master who is busily brushing the mats out of his pet's coat, collected over the weekend when the pair went home to the country.

In the kennel library of books in braille, two girls are boning up on dog care. Out on the lawn you'll find Mr. Ciccia conducting a class. With a leash tied to his wrist he's jerking it to and fro to demonstrate to a young girl who's holding the other end of the leash, the pulling antics of a pup. When the child learns to be gentle enough with the leash so that she won't harm or scare the puppy, she can have one of her own of the breed she chooses if her parents give their consent.

Whether or not the youngsters graduating from the school go on working with dogs, as many do in kennels and shows, they take their dog home. The loneliness that would be theirs when their friends go off to play ball or dance is missing, for they have a constant friend and companion to care for and love.

South Plains Maid Of Cotton Is Finalist In National Contest

MEMPHIS, TENN.—After a two-day whirlwind of social events, interviews and presentations, King Cotton chose a Georgia peach from Atlanta to represent him officially during 1958 as Maid of Cotton. She is Miss Jean Carter, 20, a Vanderbilt junior.

Throughout the series of events making up America's "most sedate beauty pageant", The South Plains Maid of Cotton, Nan Kelly of Lubbock, charmed her way into the top 10 national winners the last night in Ellis Auditorium.

The capacity crowd of more than 6,000 people watched the night's procession of the South's loveliest belles, and loudly applauded as Miss Kelly swept onto the stage in her formal evening dress, one of several included in her $1,000 wardrobe which she won with the South Plains Maid of Cotton title.

An obvious favorite with the crowd, Miss Kelly was a guest Wednesday in the home of Memphis' Alice Condon, first alternate winner of the national title.

Second alternate was Miss Ruth Ann Bennett of Hartsville, S.C.

Miss Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Kelly of Lubbock, won her South Plains Maid of Cotton title in November when she was chosen over 19 other lovely area girls.

Cotton industry leaders and the Chamber of Commerce of Lubbock, sponsors of the contest, indicated they have already begun committee work for next year's Maid of Cotton events.

First major committee to be appointed is a key group to begin now the search for qualified entrants in the regional contest. Winner of the South Plains title wins the right to represent this area at the National Finals.

Texas Man Helps To Increase Interest In Mathematics Through Latest Books

(Special to the NEWS)
AUSTIN — If your child suddenly shows greater interest and an improved understanding of arithmetic in the future, this could be one of the reasons.

Making arithmetic more enjoyable and easier to grasp has, for many years, been the work of expert Herbert F. Spitzer, professor of education at the State University of Iowa.

Dr. Spitzer is a native of Meridian, Texas, a graduate and former faculty member of North Texas State. His parents still live in Meridian.

"Exploring Arithmetic," a newly published series co-authored by Dr. Spitzer, uses many successful new techniques for helping youngsters "reason through" each new number process and use it in problems directly related to everyday arithmetic needs.

The child first learns to use a new process through techniques already mastered and is led carefully to the stage where the accepted method automatically becomes apparent to him.

Games, puzzles, number tricks and other recreational activities help to make arithmetic interesting and important to youngsters who are fortunate enough to use these new books. Semi-stylized, cartoon-type pictures, which attract the child's immediate interests, are used in full color throughout the books which are rampantly with beaming little boys in saddle shoes and girls with pony tails. This is intended to show the children that the world of school is not divorced completely from the world outside.

Educators feel that these new books with their varying approaches will provide long-range social benefits as well as immediate improvement in arithmetics teaching results.

It recently was pointed out by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics that "greater enjoyment and understanding of arithmetic may lead more youngsters to choose scientific and engineering careers — fields where our most critical manpower shortages appear to lie in the future."

Mothers and dads, along with America's teachers, may find "Exploring Arithmetic" to be the answer to many prayers.

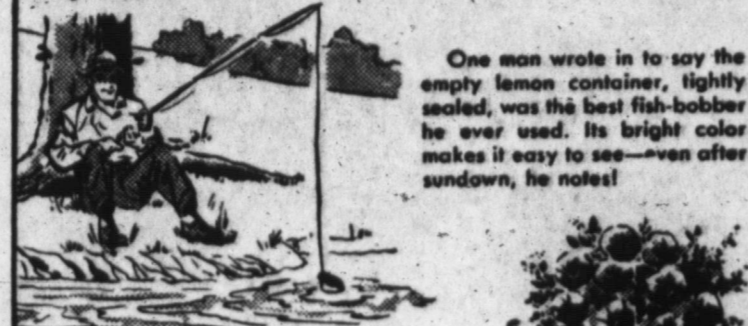

We are about to realize that the money we spend to help other peoples does not guarantee they will like us.

Happiness adds up to different things for different persons.

ODDLY ENOUGH

by Waldman

A bright firm a few years ago hit on the idea of bottling fresh lemon juice for convenience and economy—then they hit on a second idea that was even more striking. They packed the Reuteman juice in a plastic container—that looked like a lemon, even felt like a lemon. It worked with a squeeze—to produce a few drops of a tablespoon-full quickly and easily. Then things happened!

One man wrote in to say the empty lemon container, tightly sealed, was the best fish-bobber he ever used. Its bright color makes it easy to see—even after sundown, he noted!

A clever housewife wrote to say she found the empty container, with the top cut off, a colorful planter for artificial flowers. Another wrote that she was saving them up for outdoor Christmas tree ornaments—colorful, festive—and unbreakable.

Another ingenious lady wrote to say she found the "lemons" made unusual party favors—paper bird heads could be fashioned and inserted into the necks of the plastic lemons. Gay and amusing!

Suggestions continue to pour in for the plastic lemon—ranging from clothes sprinklers to harmless squirt guns. In fact, say company officials, people seem obsessed with creating uses for the container, other than the hundreds of uses for lemon juice itself.

BEHIND AMERICAN BUSINESS SCENES

Though Poor Business Is Making Major Headlines, Nation's Leaders Say They Can See Considerable Promises For 1958

By REYNOLDS KNIGHT
Economic Analyst

NEW YORK — While poor business news continues to make the headlines, many of the nation's business leaders see considerable promise in 1958. Here are some of their observations:

RUBBER — World consumption of rubber this year probably will set a new record of 3.2 million long tons, not counting the use of man-made rubber in the Soviet bloc, about which little is known. This compares with world usage of 3.1 long tons estimated for 1957.

This is the forecast of J. W. Keener, president of the B. F. Goodrich Company, who says the American rubber industry may expect business in 1958 to equal or exceed 1957 totals.

The United States, he estimates, will probably consume about 1.5 million long tons of new rubber in 1958. This would be about 20,000 tons more than 1957's estimated total, and only 30,000 tons less than the record year 1955. About 64.5 per cent of 1958's new rubber consumption in the United States will be domestically produced man-made rubber, Keener added.

Tire industry sales in 1958 will approach the all-time high established in 1955, according to E. F. Tomlinson, president of the company's tire division. He estimates industry sales this year will total 112,735,000 pneumatic tires of all types, compared with 110,530,000 in 1957.

GLASS — There are indications that the glass industry has come through its mild recession and turned the corner earlier than many other lines of business. This is the consensus of glass men voiced also by John D. Biggers, chairman, and George P. MacNichol Jr., president, of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company.

Although certain segments of the flat glass industry have suffered severely in the last two years from heavy imports of both window glass and plate glass made in low-wage countries, demand picked up considerably in the final months of 1957.

The L-O-F executives reported receiving forecasts of an upturn in general construction and increased residential building in 1958, and they added that "there is also the present stimulus of new automobile models using more glass."

Important factors in any long-range outlook for flat glass, they point out, are the growing population and the well-established trend toward the use of larger areas of glass in automobiles and in all kinds of buildings.

PACKAGING — One of the nation's largest suppliers of packaging materials—the folding paper box industry — feels that with consumer spending remaining strong, it should experience a substantial pickup in orders this year.

With a record-setting 1957 indicated on the basis of a 3.4 per cent rise in shipments for the first 10 months of the year, the Folding Paper Box Association estimates the last 12 months' volume at $930 million. This would place it four per cent above 1956.

FPBA President Norman F.

Greenway says the trend to self-selection in all types of stores means more packaging for all types of goods. He points out that 1957 saw a rising demand for boxes for convenience foods, paper goods, tobacco and candy. A new type of packaging — the flip-top box — has revolutionized the cigarette industry, he pointed out.

For the long term, Greenway cited figures which estimate that by 1965 production of paperboard will have to total 3,699,000 tons to meet the anticipated demand for folding boxes. This would be a 57 per cent increase over paperboard production in 1956, he said.

TUBES, TOO — In another growing area of packaging, 1958 sales of polyethylene plastic tubes, bottles and cans are expected to double the 1957 volume, according to a leading manufacturer.

Leonard A. Britzke, president of Bradley Container Corporation, a subsidiary of American Can, points out that "squeeze-to-use" containers have won wide acceptance since their introduction three years ago. They're now being used for drugs, cosmetics, automotive products, foods, industrial products, trade items and household articles. And they vary from eye-drop and tire-cleaner containers to detergent and drawing-ink pack-

DOGS AND MAILMEN

by Bob Bartoe
Preminent Dog Authority

When your generally gentle and well-mannered pooch gets rip-roaring mad at the mailman, most likely he has nothing personal against him. Rather, an outsider—particularly one who moves quickly and is carrying some object or form—many times will bring forth the latent protective instinct inherent in the dog. A uniform may appear strange to him, and that bag slung over the carrier's shoulder may give him an odd silhouette. Your pet may just as easily get upset over the mailman, the laundryman or the garbage collector.

If your dog has been taught the meaning of the word "no" by having learned obedience, this situation can most often be averted or more readily corrected. It is your responsibility in a situation of this kind to get your dog and the object of his frenzy together so that you can correct the problem. Meet the mailman or service individual halfway with the dog under your control, and let your pet sniff the mailbag, the laundry bag or whatever you suspect may be upsetting him. Repeat this procedure several times in a row.

FREEDOM TO BREATHE—A 30-YEAR EPIC OF SCIENCE

In 1928, the iron lung was invented. It was a grim device, but for many it meant the difference between life and death. A campaign to better the bare existence of iron lung survival started in 1938 with the formation of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Here, in pictures, is the story of progress supported by the March of Dimes.

1 The traditional iron lung used over the years and still needed in severe cases. Here, obviously, there is no freedom of movement.

2 The chest respirator developed in 1949 represented a long deep breath toward a more normal life for polio sufferers.

3 Eight years later came the "breathing belt." It compresses and expands patient's diaphragm, offers still more freedom.

4 The most recent development of all, the 1957 "peace pipe," is merely a small plastic tube through which air is pumped.

MY FAVORITE RECIPE — Mrs. James B. Mott of 1110 Tahoka Road is shown mixing her favorite recipe, meat loaf. Her directions: Dice 1 medium onion and 1/2 green pepper and add to 2 pounds ground beef, 1 cup oatmeal, 1/2 cup wheat germ, 2 eggs, 2 cans tomato puree or sauce, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon celery salt, 2 tablespoon parsley and 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder. Mix well and pack into greased loaf pan and bake in 350-degree oven for one hour. Mrs. Mott got the recipe from a friend when her husband was taking his work at Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery at Kirksville, Mo. She has passed the recipe on to relatives and friends. Dr. and Mrs. Mott and two sons, Jeffrey Kane and Joel Bryden, recently moved here from Denver City. (NEWSfoto)

Once the sole source of news in the west, the Pony Express was begun in 1860. Relay stations such as this one permitted riders to rest and pick up fresh horses.

The gaudily decorated and intricately carved gypsy wagon is a rarity today, for when a gypsy died, his wagon and all of his other personal belongings were burned.

Favorite gathering place for the local populace used to be the "shebang" or old general store. At Pioneer Village, Minden, Nebraska, you can visit all these buildings out of the past—plus an early stockade, a sod house, pioneer school, lots more. OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By L. A. WILKE

About ten years ago on this very typewriter I penned a piece for my outdoors column about the passing of the Pace-maker. In it I shed a tear, along with thousands of others, for the discontinuance of the hand gun that helped to carve civilization out of a rugged west.

The Colt factory had decided that the market for its famous old single action Frontier model revolver was gone. Instead, they were selling ACPs and double action 38 Specials and snub nose guns.

The price of used single action Colt revolvers jumped. Many of them that once cost about $16 were sold for as high as $100. Collectors began gathering them. Classified ad pages of gun publications offered to buy or sell these valuable keepsake revolvers.

It was only natural that some other manufacturers came along with facsimiles. They ranged in price well above the last retail selling price of the Colt.

Then came TV. Quick triggered gunmen gave so much publicity to long barrel Colt pistols that they made a comeback.

But here is the big news. Colt has just announced a new 22 calibre version of the world-famous Single Action Army Colt. It will sell at a price below $50—brand new.

There are many of us who have early memories of these wonderful guns. There was something about them, their feel, their appearance, and the way they hung on the hip, that we can never forget.

To our way of thinking there has been no advance in handgun manufacture in recent years, greater than the return of the Colt Single Action.

It's a great gun.

Check Gun Sights

Speaking of guns, on a trip through West Texas recently we were talking with a party of hunters. One of them had shot at his buck seven times before he finally connected.

"I checked my sight AFTER I came in and found it was two feet off," the hunter said. "The shot that finally got the buck was purely an accident."

The rancher where these men were hunting then told how one time he had walked up on two big bucks standing just below the rim between Marfa and the Rio Grande.

"I shot at them 34 times with my saddle 30-30 and never touched a hair," he said. "When I finally got around to checking my sights I found the front sight had been accidentally knocked over and I was missing these bucks by 37 inches at 100 yards."

Most hunters know that they should zero their guns before taking a trip. But it is a little hard now to find a place for sighting in. About the best way is to join a good club that has a shooting range. If your home town has none, then how about organizing one?

Building Brush Shelters

We often hear someone talk about building brush shelters in fishing water, especially in known crappie waters. Some very intensive research work has been done by a number of biologists to determine whether brush cover in water really is beneficial both to fish and fishermen.

A test run on a Virginia lake revealed a definite increase in angler-success for black crappie. Overall fishing pressure in this particular lake increased 15 per cent between 1955 and 1956. But the harvest of black crappies increased 40 per cent in 1956 after installation of the shelters. Although only 22 per cent of the fishermen used the shelter areas, they harvested 57 per cent.

If you plan to build one of these shelters, talk with your game warden, area biologist of the Game & Fish Commission, or your county agent. They can give you some good advice.

BOOKLETS AVAILABLE — An 18-page illustrated Farmer's Bulletin on the construction of farm ponds for bass and blue gills has just been published by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. You can get a copy by sending 15 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C. If you plan a farm tank this year the bulletin will be most valuable.

For those of you interested in wilderness areas, in National Parks, there is a free bulletin. It is called the National Park Wilderness and was printed with private funds. You can get your copy of this 38-page booklet by writing to the U.S. Park Service, Washington, D. C.

Trout Fishing—A very interesting letter has just come in from a man who read a story on trout fishing which we sold to one of the national publications some time back. He writes: "I have been trying to fish for salt water specs and red for the last couple of years. I don't have too good luck catching them, no matter how hard I try. I sure would like to catch a good mess of them one time. I've fished for them when they were as thick as cordwood in the water, yet they wouldn't hit a bait or lure. Any help

Millionaire Box Maker Sighs Over Lost Career

Container Corp. Director Men Who Make America Great Made Concerts Popular In Philadelphia Really Prefers Music

By LOUIS JAMES

Fredric Rand Mann is a self-made millionaire who can't buy the one thing he wants most.

He is an industrialist, a human dynamo, a banker, builder, philanthropist and musician.

As board vice-chairman of the National Container Corp. of America, he has amassed a fortune he uses in numerous ways to benefit himself and his fellow-man.

But there is one thing he can never buy—a lost music career.

Born in Russia

At 53, Mann admits, "I've been chasing a rainbow all my life. I would rather be a concert pianist than anything else in the world."

Born in Russia, brought here at the age of two, he had been happily preparing for the concert stage when, suddenly, at 15, a car rammed into his bike, broke both shoulders and robbed him of his career—in music.

What music lost, however, business gained.

First, though, he took to books and study. Possessed of a crack-brain mind, he breezed through Yale's tough entrance exams to become, at 15, one of its youngest students.

Two years later he quit to study at Philadelphia's Wharton School of Business with the idea of a Wall Street career before him.

At 19, he was earning $100 a week with a paper concern and three years later he became the firm's treasurer. In 1930 he founded the National Container Corp. of Pennsylvania, with his own and some borrowed capital.

In the middle of the depression, at the age of 26, Mann was busy operating a million dollar company.

"I read and studied constantly," he said. "Anything to do with economics—business papers, the Wall Street Journal, magazines, news letters—things that kept me abreast of economic twists and turns."

Though he loved the tempo of big business, his ear was always tuned to the rhythms of music.

A dedicated art collector

He collected records and art. His Philadelphia home is a veritable gallery and he is equally at home with Stravinsky or Gershwin, Picasso or Matisse as well as with stocks and bonds.

A few years ago Mann took his money, plans and energy and placed them at the disposal of the city of Philadelphia. Just like that, Philadelphia liked the idea.

They immediately appointed him Commissioner of Recreation, a new post; he helped write the City's new charter and then moved into local government as an adviser and planner. In 1955 he also became Director of Commerce and City Representative.

Worried by the off-key financial noises emanating from the Robin Hood Dell, the city-run concerts, Mann took over in 1948 and inside of a year put it squarely in the black.

He did more than that—he took the concerts away from the "carriage trade" and brought it right into the laps of the people.

Concerts at low cost

Now, Philadelphians can see and hear the world's best orchestras and soloists at an average-admission fee which cannot be duplicated anywhere—one and a half cents a concert!

Continental boundaries, however, do not limit his interests. This year Mann was hailed by the Israel Government for leadership in building a $2 million, 3000-seat music hall, finest in the Middle East. In gratitude, Israel has named it The Fredric R. Mann Auditorium.

Today, he has retired from actively making paper containers and has resumed his one-time hobby. Touring abroad in search of new musical talent has now become Mann's vocation—a rainbow dream come true.

you can give me will be appreciated."

Some of you salt water fishermen might want to give this man an assist. He signs his name Frank Siegel, Route 1, Wing, Ala.

Speaking of salt water fishing, Jimmie Yett, who runs Jensen Sporting Goods of Austin, has developed a "crawdaddy" lure which he says is making a real name for itself among Gulf coast fishermen.

And sales tripled when he dropped the price from $1.25 to an even buck.

A half-truth is often far more dangerous than no truth.

It Says "Greatness"...in Any Language!

Wherever highways exist and motor cars are known, the name "Cadillac" signifies but one thing—the unmistakable leader in its field.

For the motor car that has borne that distinguished name for the past fifty-five years has been so well designed and crafted that it has become a synonym for everything good and desirable in a product.

And never have these virtues been more evident than they are in the Cadillac car for 1958.

A single, sweeping glance at the new "car of cars", for example, reveals a grace and majesty and elegance never before attainable in modern automotive design.

A brief journey at the wheel provides irrefutable proof of the forward strides that have been made in Cadillac performance and in Fleetwood coachcrafting.

And a study of the facts about Cadillac economy and dependability indicates a soundness of investment beyond anything in Cadillac's brilliant past.

If you haven't as yet inspected and driven a 1958 Cadillac, you should do so very soon.

Whatever your favorite among Cadillac's wide selection of models, which includes the distinguished Eldorado Brougham, you will find it a rare masterpiece in everything a Cadillac can be.

Texas Tech Offers Audio-Visual Equipment For Science Training

An increased uses of audio-visual teaching aids to beef up the lag in science education equipment may help solve the problem facing the nation's school system in training more young people in this space era, declares Henry R. McCarty.

At a time when the nation is becoming increasingly aware of a need for more science education in the public schools, McCarty points to a film project recently completed by Encyclopedia Britannica films.

It is a full course in basic physics consisting of 162 half-hour films designed to leave class room time for questions, quizzes and assignments.

systems in this area are using educational films from the West Texas Cooperative Audio-Visual Services.

Among those participating is the Brownfield Consolidated Independent School District.

Beginning its sixth year of enabling an estimated 58,500 public school students and 8,500 college students to flex their mental muscles in general and technical subjects, the Audio-Visual service has an estimated 3,000 film prints about 1,600 subjects on 16 mm sound film.

McCarty said the number of students served in West Texas has increased from approximately 47,000 when the cooperative was formed in 1952 to 67,000 in 1957.

Each participating school pays into the cooperative 50 cents for each student in its system while Tech participates in the program by providing housing, consultant and advisory service for the organization, McCarty said.

Approximately 10 per cent of the films are for college-level use.

As the need for visual aids has come more in demand throughout the West Texas schools, the annual distribution of films has increased from 9,543 in 1952-53 to 19,854 in 1957. Meanwhile, the average cost of booking a film by schools has dropped from $2.76 to $1.45, he said.

Today the total value of films in the Audio-Visual Services library is estimated at $125,000, he said.

In addition to providing educational film distribution, the West Texas Audio Visual organization provides professional direction, in-service education and consultant services in the field of teaching materials.

Unlike a library of books which are kept for reference years after their contemporary use has passed, the Audio-Visual films are continually

Wellman Is Runner-Up

After leading in the first period, the Wellman girls cage team fell before a last period flurry by Sundown girls, 47-45, in the Sundown Invitational basketball tournament, Saturday night.

Janet Thornton meshed 16 points to lead the Wellman lasses to the runner-up spot in the meet.

Wellman held a 9-6 lead at the end of the first quarter, only to see Sundown come back with 17 points in the second eight minutes for a 23-23 tie at the half. The home team added single-point leads in each of two final frames to take the victory.

The Wellman boys team fell from competition earlier in the tourney. Sundown also won the boys championship, plastering Morton, 65-40.

Meadow Girls Win Ropes Cage Crown

Meadow's lasses took up where the Broncos left off in the Ropesville Invitational tourney by downing the Ropes girls, 39-34, Saturday night.

Linda Hendrix netted 20 points to take high point honors and pace her team to victory.

Meadow's boys team was eliminated early in the tournament when their top scorer, Harold Hinson, sprained his ankle in the opening game.

The James Dean Story Reveals Famed Star in Own Life Film At Regal Today

Warner Bros. "The James Dean Story," in which Dean stars as himself premieres today at the Regal Theatre.

Much has been written about Dean, in magazines, in newspapers and in books.

His name has become legend to people the world over. His personage has come to symbolize the restlessness and hope in youth and those young at heart.

James Dean was brought up in Fairmount, Ind. with an aunt and uncle. His parents died while he was still quite young. He came to New York, after leaving U.C.L.A. in his sophomore year. He wanted to become an actor.

Dean rose to stardom in Elia Kazan's "East of Eden." He previously had played some roles on Broadway stage and on television.

He was chosen as "the most promising young star of the year" for his role as the Arab boy in Gide's "The Immoralist."

Following "East of Eden," in which he portrayed a rebellious son who almost destroys his father and brother in his search for love and understanding, Dean won the hearts of teenagers around the world as Jim Stark, misunderstood teenager in revolt against society in "Rebel Without a Cause."

His last film, "Giant," won for him a posthumous Academy Award nomination, the first such honor to be bestowed upon any performer.

James Dean lived with an insatiable hunger, and his great appetite for life and its experiences led him to daring and abandon.

He grew to love speed and soon began auto racing. His natural ability to succeed at almost anything he undertook, found him winning many races and awards. He was killed in an auto collision enroute to compete in an auto race.

Governor and Friend

AUSTIN — After signing a proclamation designating the month of January, 1958, as "March of Dimes Month" in Texas, Gov. Price Daniel has some words of encouragement for tiny polio victim George Craig De Villeneuve, Jr., 22-month-old, of Austin. Stricken at the age of 10 months, Craig will eventually make a 100 per cent recovery, his doctors say. Cost of his treatment is paid by March of Dimes funds supplied by the Travis County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

AT RIALTO

Edna Ferber's 'Giant' To Be Here Sunday

Elizabeth Taylor who stars in George Stevens' production "Giant," never had an awkward phase. Even as a teenager she was always beautiful and poised.

At the age of eleven she was a perfect cameo of a child with chiselled features, an alabaster complexion and incredible thick fringe of eyelashes framing her deep violet eyes.

By this time, everybody could see how beautiful she really was, for she was starring in a motion picture, "National Velvet," about a small girl and a horse.

Now grown up and in the full flower of her beauty, Elizabeth Taylor has a role to match her appearance and her talents as an actress in Warner Bros. presentation "Giant," the George Stevens production from the novel by Edna Ferber. The part: Leslie (Lynnton) Benedict, wife of Rock Hudson and co-owner of a vast empire of land.

Miss Taylor had one of her most successful roles under George Stevens' direction in "A Place in the Sun" and it is safe to say that reunited with this great director in "Giant" she will enjoy again the admiration of her legion of fans.

Liz Taylor is right at home in "Giant." She was brought up in opulent surroundings spending a great deal of time on her godfather's estate in Kent, England.

She is familiar with handling livestock, especially horses. When she was four years old her godfather, Colonel Victor Cazalet, gave her a beautiful wild field horse named Betty which Liz alone could manage. She has ridden with great style all her life. Riches and people are important elements in "Giant."

Elizabeth Taylor's career has been studded with success. But she has never had a role with such scope and power as she has in "Giant" in which she co-stars with Rock Hudson and James Dean.

In WarnerColor, "Giant" was produced by George Stevens and Henry Ginsberg.

a Dog's Life

YOUR DOG AND FLEAS

By Dr. E. M. Gildow, D.V.M., European Fleas Research Kennels

Fleas' chief purpose in life seems to be to annoy dogs—and this they do with a zest and efficiency unmatched by any other insect. They also have a sideline—that is, they are the intermediate host of the dog tapeworm. Consequently, when a dog actually catches a flea and swallows it, he may be infecting himself with tapeworms. Fortunately for dogs, though, fleas aren't too hard to get rid of. There are a number of excellent preparations on the market that come in both powder and liquid form. The new parasitocides such as D.D.T., chlordane or Lindane are preferred. For fleas they're usually mixed with other ingredients in powder or liquid form and act as a residual flea-control agent. Be sure to prevent the development of fleas around the house and yard by using these same parasitocides in the nest box, doghouse or yard. If the dog is allowed to associate with other dogs or to have the run of the neighborhood, he will probably pick up a new supply of fleas. So deflea the pooch anytime he needs it. Flea eggs develop into fleas more rapidly during warm weather. This accounts for the greater flea problem during summer-time. If you have any doubt about the right flea-control approach, call your veterinarian.

Feeding Tip: A puppy's food requirements increase rapidly. Be sure to increase the food supply as he grows. He may double his food intake in merely a week's time.

AUSTIN—Gov. Price Daniel took a look backward and a look forward and focused on two issues as crucial to Texans: water conservation (1957) and tidelands defense (1958).

Daniel named the newly-passed water conservation and planning measures as the most during the first year of his administration. Texas is 25 years behind its neighbor states in this field, said the governor, but now can "begin to catch up."

Looking ahead, the governor called on fellow citizens to square off for another round with the federal government. Two-thirds of Texas' multi-million-dollar tidelands are at stake. Latest suit in the decade long struggle was filed recently by the U. S. attorney general and likely will be considered in the Supreme Court sometime this year. It contends that Texas owns land three miles from shore, rather than three leagues (10½ miles) claimed by the state.

Great Moments in Motoring

Facts and figures from Esso Touring Service

Fort McHenry
Baltimore, Md.
Fort McHenry is the birthplace of our national anthem. As British guns shelled the fort that night in 1814, Francis Scott Key watched and waited anxiously on a ship in Baltimore Harbor, with dawn's early light he saw the flag was still there. Inspired, Key wrote the words of "The Star-Spangled Banner." Today Fort McHenry is a national shrine.

Middleton Gardens
Charleston, S. C.
Middleton Gardens in any season recall the grandeur of Colonial plantation days. Graceful terraces, formal walks and reflecting pools, and woodland blend with vistas of marsh and river. The passage of time has not altered the charm, the 18th Century elegance, of this internationally-famed show place, the oldest landscaped gardens in America.

Kenmore
Fredericksburg, Va.
A tangible reminder of the patriotism of our forefathers, beautiful Kenmore mansion was built in 1752 by Col. Fielding Lewis for his wife, Betty, sister of George Washington. Sold for debt after Lewis exhausted his fortune making guns for the Revolution, Kenmore again faced the auction block—and demolition—in 1922. It was saved and restored as a true Colonial shrine.

The Singing Tower
Lake Wales, Fla.
A trip to Florida is incomplete without a stop at the "Taj Mahal of America," which Edward W. Bok bequeathed to the American people. The tower, with its 71-bell carillon, overlooks tall pines and palms and a profusion of tropical plants and flowers. Many say this majestic but restful sanctuary moves the visitor to silent communion with nature—and himself.

Fort Worth Stock Show Reported To Be Largest In History Of The Event

The junior livestock department of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show will be larger this year than ever before due to a substantial increase in the number of entries by Texas FFA and 4-H Club members.

The boost in junior entries was discussed during a recent meeting of the show's livestock superintendents. The men, who come from all sections of the Southwest, made plans for the Fort Worth Show, which will be held Jan. 24 through Feb. 2.

Five other livestock departments also had more animals entered this year than last, show officials reported.

The open steer show will have 278 animals — 112 Aberdeen-Angus, 97 Herefords and 69 Shorthorns. The total number of steers entered is larger than in 1957.

Also up this year in entries are Shorthorn and Brahm beef breeding classes, the sheep department and the swine division.

In the junior livestock show, which is open only to 4-H Club and FFA members from Texas, a total of 293 steers will be shown and judged. Of these, 179 will be Hereford, 45 will be Shorthorns and 69 will be Angus.

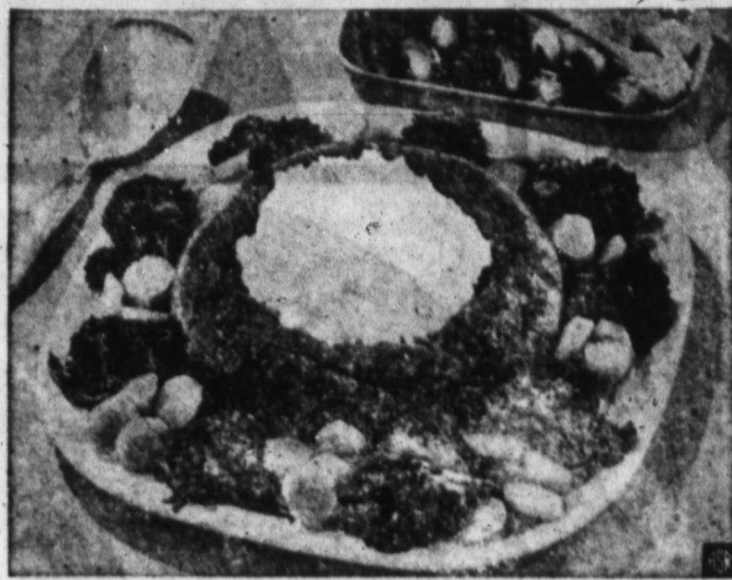

The junior department also will have 72 dairy heifers, 356 lambs and 353 pigs.

Beef heifers, too, are up this year. The FFA and 4-H boys will exhibit 42 Hereford heifers, 10 Shorthorns and 27 Angus heifers.

FFA and 4-H youth from other states exhibit in the open shows.

Entries this year come from about 35 states. The animals

Barbecue's Back for Indoor Dining

Barbecued hamburger—a summer favorite of outdoor cookery fans—adapts itself to the new season of indoor dining in this different and delicious manner, glamorous enough for party fare.

Ground beef, combined with corn flakes and seasonings, is baked in a ring mold, then topped with a lively barbecue sauce and returned to the oven to allow the full flavor of the sauce to permeate the meat. Serve on a heated platter, fill the center with mashed potatoes or a creamed vegetable, and surround with sliced buttered carrots and broccoli.

Barbecued Hamburger Ring

- | | |
|---------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1½ pounds ground beef | 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce |
| 1 teaspoon salt | ¾ cup milk |
| ½ teaspoon dry mustard | 2 eggs |
| ¼ teaspoon pepper | 2 cups Kellogg's Corn Flakes |
| 2 tablespoons chili sauce | |
- Sauce
- | | |
|------------------------|--------------------|
| 1 clove garlic | ¼ teaspoon pepper |
| 1 tablespoon salad oil | dash oregano |
| ½ teaspoon salt | ½ cup tomato sauce |
| 2 tablespoons honey | |

Combine beef, seasonings, milk, eggs and Corn Flakes; mix thoroughly. Press into well-greased 8¼-inch ring mold. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 45 minutes. Unmold in shallow pan.

Meanwhile, make a glaze by browning garlic clove in heated salad oil; remove clove. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Simmer about 30 minutes. Spread over entire surface of ring. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) about 10 minutes. Serve on heated chop plate or platter, filling center with fluffy mashed potatoes or creamed vegetable.

Forfeited Land Now The Vet's Best Buy

AUSTIN—Even though $12.5 million in Veterans' Land bonds were sold in December, the quickest way for ex-servicemen to participate in the Veterans' Land Program is to buy forfeited land, Land Commissioner Earl Rudder said today.

The next sale of forfeited land is scheduled for Jan. 21. Fifty-eight tracts in 21 Texas counties will be offered for sale then.

Commissioner Rudder asked veterans desiring information represent the best products of the nation's livestock industry, show officials pointed out at the meeting.

Almost $55,000 in cash prizes will be awarded in the junior and open livestock show.

The Fort Worth fat stock show is the oldest livestock exposition in the United States.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

The 1957 crop has been harvested. A lot of farmers will find that they can keep a lot more of the harvest in their barn instead of transferring it to Uncle Sam's barn if they read the "1957 Farmers Tax Guide." Your County Agent has this free booklet.

Farmers as well as other taxpayers have to pay all the tax they owe; but this booklet has some good hints on how to keep records, what tax you owe, and don't owe.

There are some people who seem inclined to work seven days a week regardless of Sundays and holidays.
