JUDGE HERR CHESH SIR Will Seek Re-Election...

Herb Cheshsir Will Seek Re-Election As Terry County Judge

Herbert Cheshsir said Friday that he would be a candidate for re-election this year as judge of Terry County, subject to the Democratic primary in July.

Said Cheshsir: "Since this is an election year for most of our county offices, including that of judge, I have been asked many questions regarding my intention to file. In answer, I hereby announce my candidacy for this office."

Judge Cheshsir continued: "As many of you know, I have served as your county judge for the past four and one-half years. It is with real gratitude that I thank you for the many kindnesses and honors which you have shown me."

"I believe that anyone who puts himself before the public and asks that you elect him to any office — that person should state what he stands for and explain his qualifications."

The judge added: "We hear much about gold government from city office up to Washington, and I certainly am a firm believer in the issue, regardless of partisan politics."

"I have been, and am, for progress, better roads, more recreation for our youth, and other items. However, and at the same time, I believe in spending your tax money wisely, which, of course, mean economically."

"The duties of the county judge are many, because he is the presiding officer of your commissioners court. He handles many criminal cases in the county court."

February Bids Scheduled For County Airport

Contracts for City-County Airport are expected to be let by mid-February, barring unforeseen circumstances.

This was the report R. B. Allen, airport engineer for Civil Aeronautics Authority, gave Terry officials at a meeting Wednesday in Portales.

Allen made the announcement to Earl Jones, C-C aviation committee chairman, Judge Herb Cheshsir, Joe Satterwhite, C-C manager, Howard Schmieding, county airport engineer and Pete Harris of Harris Flying Service.

The CAA engineer noted that the present stepped-up missile program has cut funds on this type of construction. However, he said, the government will go ahead on the original plans to match funds necessary for the airport here.

Government To Spend
"The government will foot their half of the cost," he said. "Whether it costs us $67,000 or the full $94,625 set in the original estimate." The foregoing figures do not include $100,000 which the county will spend on the project.

Allen said contracts will be let as soon as a few minor changes are completed to comply with government specifications. Schmieding is making the required changes now, said Judge Cheshsir.

Terry officials estimate that construction on the airport will

FIRST DISTRICT WIN

Cubs Engaged In Best Game

Out-shot, out-rebounded, out-reached, but not out-fought, the Cubs battled back from a 11-10 first period deficit to claim a District 2-AAA cage tilt from the Kermit Yellow Jackets, 48-45, here Friday night.

Playing without the services of their ace scorer, Kenneth Cason, the Cubs depended upon a tight defense and some terrific clutch playing by David Ivey and Joe Oswald to pull the upset.

The host team spotted the visitors a five-point lead in the opening minutes of play before roaring back to claim a one-point, 29-28, lead at half-time.

Lead Is Claimed

The lead was claimed after the buzzer sounded when Ellis Cox, attempting a desperation mid-court shot, was fouled. The senior guard calmly bucketed the two pitches to give the Cubs their first lead of the night.

A slam-bang third period, which saw the lead change hands five times, ended with

Three Proposals Will Appear on Ballot; All Civic Organizations To Get Reports

By CHARLIE MAPLE NEWS Staff Writer

Feb. 11 has been set as the date for Brownfield residents to ballot for or against a proposed $300,000 expansion of school classrooms and athletic plant.

The election, set Monday by the school board, will present three proposals to voters, said T. A. Hicks, president.

"Proposal 1 is for $110,000 to construct eight new classrooms for Colonial Heights School. Proposal 2 is for $190,000 construction of a new athletic plant, and Proposal 3 is for approval to issue the bonds under Senate Bill 118," said the president.

"The third proposal must be approved if either or both of the other proposals are approved."

Hicks explained that SB-118 allows a school district to issue bonds at a more favorable interest rate. "Therefore, it is important that voters approve the third proposal if they vote for the other two," he added.

Board members anticipate that passage of the bonds will increase taxes by only five cents per $100 valuation.

"In other words," said O. R. Douglas, school superintendent, "if school taxes cost a family $50 now, it will cost approximately $51.75 if the bond issue is passed. It is estimated that taxes will increase only about 3.5 per cent."

The present school tax rate is set at $1.45 per $100. State law authorizes a school district to set a maximum of $1.50 per $100. "Therefore," noted Hicks, "voters will not be balloting on whether to increase the tax rate—but for much needed expansion in classroom and athletic facilities."

Douglas pointed out that Colonial Heights has only one unused classroom at the present. "At the current rate of growth, it will not be unused very long," he said.

"We anticipate hiring four or five more first grade teachers by next fall—this will make us short of space even before the classrooms are ready if voters approve the present issue," he said.

Stop-Gap Measure
Delwin Webb, curriculum coordinator, said the expansion actually will be only a stop-gap measure.

"Enrollment here has been growing at an almost steady five per cent pace since 1947," he said. "If this continues, the present issue will cover needs only for a short time."

Figures show the Brownfield school enrollment has increased about 46 per cent in the past 10 years. Average enrollment has increased from 1,612 in 1947 to 2,352 early last fall.

Brownfield's steady growth also is showing up in the school's already-cramped athletic facilities, noted Douglas. "This, coupled with deterioration of present facilities, prompted the moved to seek an improved plant," he said.

Plans for the athletic plant will provide adequate space for all high school athletic teams, relieving the cramped situation now at the school, explained Douglas.

"Present facilities are long out-moded and have proved to be an expensive proposition to keep in repair," said the superintendent. "The new plant, if approved, will provide space for both junior high and high school teams, in addition to giving the program much needed baseball and parking facilities."

Hicks revealed that school officials will meet with numerous civic and social organizations to discuss the proposed bond issue.

'No Down Payment' Slated To Show Young Married's Problems of Today

Twentieth Century-Fox utilizes the talents of eight young performers and a new director in Jerry Wald's second independent production for the studio's release, "No Down Payment," opening Tuesday at the Regal Theatre.

Starring Joanne Woodward, Sheree North, Tony Randall, Jeffrey Hunter, Cameron Mitchell, Patricia Owens, Barbara Rush, and Pat Hingle, "No Down Payment" is primarily concerned with the social, economic and emotional problems of four married couples, neighbors in a post-war housing development. The story is based on John McPartland's forthcoming novel.

When Patricia Owens, as Jeffrey Hunter's wife, is violently attacked by a neighbor's husband, Cameron Mitchell, it leads to a new understanding between the married couples directly and indirectly involved.

Hunter is one of the nation's fastest rising stars, while Miss Owens, a Canadian-born beauty, made her recent American debut in "Island in the Sun."

Another of the couples, Tony Randall and Sheree North, suffer from the husband's "big promoter" complex. It marks Randall's dramatic debut, having previously been spotlighted in comedy roles in "Oh Men! Oh Women!" and "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" "No Down Payment" also is Sheree North's first dramatic role.

Joanne Woodward, already acclaimed as the year's finest new star discovery on the basis of her performance in the forthcoming film, "The Three Faces of Eve" and Cameron Mitchell, who scored in the recent "Monkey on My Back," are cast as a couple torn asunder by their frustrated desire for a child, and by his frustration in failing to get the job he wants.

He takes out his ire on society in general by attacking his neighbor's wife. The fourth couple, Barbara Rush and Pat Hingle, are divided only by his indifference to attending church, and by their struggle to reach a joint decision to lead the way for racial integration in their community.

RIALTO, WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY—Here is one of the outstanding westerns of our time, produced once more with an outstanding all-star cast. 'PAJAMA GAME'

Broadway Hit Now Showing at Regal

"The Pajama Game," Warner Bros. filmization of the Broadway smash opens at the Regal Theatre today.

The film stars Doris Day, John Raitt, Carol Haney, Eddie Foy, Jr., Keta Shaw, Barbara Nichols and members of the original New York cast.

Directed by Stanley Donen, "The Pajama Game" is reputedly bursting with the same excitement that sparked it as the leading Broadway musical for almost three years.

All the Richard Adler-Jerry Ross songs that became Number One hit tunes across the nation: "Hey, There," "Hernando's Hideaway," "I'm Not At All In Love," "Steam Heat" and "Small Talk" are also in the film.

Doris Day stars as "Babe" and John Raitt is seen as her leading man, Raitt, who makes his first big motion picture appearance in "Pajama Game" starred in the New York production.

He previously created the role of Billy Bigelow in Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel."

Carol Haney, a former assistant dance director for Gene Kelly, also makes her screen debut in the film. She wowed New York audiences with her comic song-dance renditions of "Steam Heat" and "Hernando's Hideaway."

In WarnerColor, "The Pajama Game" is a George Abbott Stanley Donen production for Warner Bros. George Abbott and Richard Bissell wrote the screenplay based on the book, "7½ Cents" by Richard Bissell, Fredrick Brisson, Robert E. Griffith and Harold S. Prince were associate producers.

Many Restrictions Have Been Ordered Out for Reservists

Major General Guy S. Meloy Jr., 4th U.S. Army deputy commanding general for Reserve Forces, has announced that since mid-November many of the recruiting restrictions applicable to U.S. Army Reserve units have been lifted.

The majority of the 368 U.S. Army Reserve units in Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas again are authorized to accept enlistment of non-prior service people and assignment of prior-service personnel.

Lifting of restrictions, he added, means that many hundreds of reservists may join Ready Reserve units in their communities and receive advantages that active participation in the Reserve program afford.

General Meloy said that a reservist in a Ready Reserve unit earns training pay and retirement points, retains his skill and fitness as a soldier, and broadens his experience while enjoying the fellowship of other reservists. A reservist earns one day's pay, according to his military grade, for each authorized drill period he attends.

Normally a reserve training period consists of two hours of training and is held in the evening. In some cases weekend training is authorized and is held every other week, rather than weekly.

Average reserve pay per year for a private first class who attends 48 drills and 15 days of summer camp per year is $245.70. For a master sergeant it is $523.29.

Practically every training facility available to personnel in the Active Army also is available to the reservist. He can volunteer for attendance at many of the Branch Service schools, and upon acceptance will be recalled to active duty for training for the length of the course, which might be from 10 days to several months in duration.

He can take Army correspondence courses, or in some cases, attend a U.S. Army Reserve School in the community where he lives.

Most persons originally enlisted or inducted into the active Army after Aug. 9, 1955, have an obligation to serve on active duty and in a reserve component for a combined total of six years.

The length of their obligation to participate actively in Ready Reserve training varies according to the program under which they enlisted or were drafted.

Men who are inducted or enlisted for two years in the Active Army also must serve two years in the Ready Reserve, and then are eligible to request transfer to the Standby Reserve for the remaining period of their military obligation.

Personnel who desire to take advantage of the pay and retirement benefits may continue to serve in the Ready Reserve. Information concerning enlistment opportunities in the U.S. Army Reserve may be obtained by contacting the local Army Reserve unit commander, Army Reserve unit advisor, or the U.S. Army Recruiting Station.

He will be doing the evangelistic work for a two weeks revival starting Tuesday at Church of God located at 406 South Third. Services are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. each day. According to the Rev. W. E. Mitchell, pastor, the Rev. Mr. Byus is also a composer of songs and plays the guitar. His wife will assist by playing the accordion. The public is invited.

ON PART OF AMERICAN CONSUMER

Savings Mean Increased Buying Power

By WELDON CALLAWAY

The U. S. Department of Commerce has estimated that net savings of American consumers increased more than 19 billion dollars during the past year.

The 1957 gain in consumer savings set an all-time record. It is three billion dollars higher than the previous record set in 1956.

The figures have a special meaning to American business men. Accumulation of consumer savings indicates the possibility of increased savings as an opportunity and a challenge to do a better job of selling in 1958.

No doubt the opportunity is there. The American consumer is spending more carefully than he did several years ago; but he has more money clear of debt than ever before. His savings will find its way to the market when advertising advises him that his best interests will be served by spending.

In a situation of increased savings and careful buying, advertising becomes essential to continuing prosperity. More than at any other time vigorous advertising is needed to move available money into circulation. For too much savings leads to depression.

Some business leaders feel that 1958 advertising budgets should be larger than at any time in the past. One noted economist argues that the percentage of gross income of a business must be constantly increased in order to maintain expanding prosperity.

Our economy depends upon the sale of new and improved products manufactured at decreasing costs. It seems only logical that increasing amounts should be spent on advertising which makes the system work.

Plainview Youth Wins State Sorghum Contest

Winners in the first statewide hybrid grain sorghum production program have been named.

Leading the list is Hubert E. Settiff of Route 1, Plainview. His acre yield from TX620 was 10,195.6 pounds which was produced under irrigation. The top yield without irrigation was posted by Walter F. Schaefer, a 4-H member of West Point, with a very respectable 6,454.8 pounds an acre from hybrid RS610.

The complete list of winners as released by R. J. Hodges, extension agronomist, included Jerry Hawkins, a Carson county 4-H boy, with a yield of 8,433.9 pounds an acre as second high in the irrigated class; Joe Bob Johnson, a Parmer county 4-H boy, as third in the same class with a yield of 8,003 pounds an acre; Doyle Elliott, also of Parmer county, fourth, with a yield of 7,989.8 pounds and Billy W. Clayton of Lamb county, fifth, with a yield of 7,451.3 pounds an acre. The last four named all planted TX660.

In the dryland division for the West Texas area, Coy Garrett Jr. of Concho County, who planted RS610 and produced 1,386.3 pounds per acre and John Mitchell of Jones county planted TX620 and produced 1,313 pounds per acre. According to the program rules when less than five entries from an area are submitted, cash awards are made on the basis of the number of entries and in the above case fourth and fifth cash awards of $10 and $5 will be made to the two winners. Both are 4-H Club members.

In the dryland division which included Central and Northeast Texas, Tom Hatter of Bell county won the top award with a yield of 5,699.9 pounds an acre. Ralph W. Toon of Hill county was second with 5,091.5 pounds an acre. Buddy Priesmeyer, a Williamson county 4-H boy was third with 4,773.5 pounds; Richard A. Field, a Falls county 4-H'er, was fourth with 4,349.8 and Edward W. Curtis of Hill county, fifth, with a yield of 4,293.9 pounds an acre. All of these area winners planted RS610.

Fayette county producers made a clean sweep of the honors in the dryland division for counties in the southern part of Texas.

Top winner was Walter Fred Schaefer, already listed.

Following in order were Walter Schaefer, father of the area winner, with a yield of 6,448.3 pounds; Roy Gene Brendie, a 4-H boy, 5,915.7; Milton E. Koenning, 5,822.1; and Raymond Kuchynk, a 4-H member, was fifth with a yield of 4,202.1 pounds per acre. Each of these winners planted RS610.

Hodges said the program, sponsored by the Texas Certified Seed Producers, Inc. in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, was originated to prove the value of Texas developed hybrid grain sorghums. He added that adverse weather conditions at harvest time caused many participants to fail to make the deadline for getting in reports.

Area winners (where five are listed) will receive cash awards of $50, $35, $25, $10 and $5. The overall state winner in addition to the area award will receive $50 and a plaque.

All participants were required to register with their local county agent; to plant a minimum of one acre to one of the recently released hybrid grain sorghums which were developed by plant breeders of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

"We are well satisfied," said Hodges, "with the results of our first statewide program. Continued improvements will be made by our plant breeders and the hybrids are sure to increase in popularity with the grain producers of the state because of the productive capabilities of the hybrids."

Brownfield's School Census Scheduled

"Parents who have children that will be 6 years old on or before Sept. 1 are requested to obtain the forms at Colonial Heights or Randal elementary schools, beginning Monday," said Webb. Deadline for returning the forms will be Jan. 31.

Fort Worth, Big Spring Men Will Head 1958 Texas Cancer Campaign

Edwin T. Phillips Jr., of Fort Worth and Dick Simpson of Big Spring are co-chairman for the 1958 Texas Cancer Crusade, according to an announcement by Dr. J. Layton Cochran of San Antonio, president of the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society.

"We are certainly pleased," Dr. Cochran commented, "to have these two outstanding leaders in the state cancer control program to head up our 1958 Crusade to conquer cancer in Texas."

"I know that they will do everything in their power to insure that the results of the 1958 educational fund-raising crusade of the American Cancer Society in Texas will be such as to sustain the excellent year-round program of education, service to cancer patients and cancer research we now have in Texas," added Dr. Cochran.

"During the 1957 April Crusade more than 80,000 Texas volunteers raised $1,084,000 to support the Texas cancer control program," stated Cochran.

Phillips, who is a prominent Fort Worth attorney, has been associated with the cancer program as a volunteer since 1946 as well as serving as a member of the Texas Division board of directors and executive committee for the past three years.

He also serves as vice chairman of the Texas Division board of directors. In addition to other outstanding civic work, Phillips is also vice chairman of the Tarrant County Unit of ASC's Texas Division.

Simpson, a prominent rancher and cattleman in Big Spring has been associated with cancer control work for the past seven years. He has been a member of the state executive committee for the past four years and served as vice chairman of the Texas Division board of directors during 1957. He is a member of the board of trustees and executive committee of Texas Christian Uni-

Aiken Says Success of School Survey Depends Upon Number of Participants

The success of the Legislature's state-wide study of the Texas Public Schools will depend upon the number of persons participating in the county meetings, the chairman of the study declared in Austin this week.

"The Committee of 24 has no axes to grind, no new programs to propose," Senator A. M. Aikin Jr. told 1,200 school administrators in Austin. "We do want specific recommendations from the people of Texas on many important school matters and we then will pass the recommendations along to all members of the Legislature."

As keynote speaker for the annual School Administrator's Advisory Conference sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, the Paris lawmaker challenged the citizens of Texas to give this school study "the same splendid cooperation you gave us ten years ago."

The Senator, in 1947 was co-sponsor of the Gilmer-Aikin school survey which resulted in legislation designed to guarantee at least a minimum of educational opportunity to each child of school age in Texas.

"The Committee of 24 was established in Texas before foreign developments re-emphasized the fact that education is a vital part of our national defense," said Senator Aikin. "To a much greater extent than ever before, our survival depends upon the quality of our schools."

Senator Aikin was introduced by Representative DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi, vice chairman of the committee.

The committee has initiated meetings to be held in every Texas county, and has urged complete participation by all districts. County chairmen have been asked to insure the at least two-thirds of the active participants in the study are lay citizens not engaged in teaching or school administration.

Senator Aikin said each County Committee has until May 1 to submit its official report.

"Any interested citizen not knowing the chairman and members of his County Committee should make his interest known to his local school superintendent."

another one-point margin, 40-39, when Leon Hinson meshed his only point of the night.

Kermit, rattled by the glue-like defense thrown up by the Cubs, jumped to a brief 44-43 lead mid-way in the final period on a set shot by Gene Williams. However, quick buckets by Ken Cary and Ivey restored the lead to Brownfield and Cox stole the ball in the waning seconds to add insurance with a lay-up tally.

Was Tight Defense

The tight defensive tilt kept an estimated 200 fans on the edge of their seats through the full 32 minutes of play. Bob Cloe and Charles Lee combined defensive talents to hold high-scoring Gene Williams and Jackie Probst to five and seven points, respectively, while tallying 14 points themselves.

Cecil Bryant of Kermit took high-scoring honors for the game with 18 points. Ivey tallied 11 points to lead the Cubs.

The Yellow Jacket "B" team won the opener by a 47-27 score. Milton Moore meshed 17 points to lead scorers.

The Wildcats bounced Seagraves "B" team, 54-45; Meadow, 65-55, and the Eagles rolled over Ralls, 60-43 in the opening round of the two-day tourney.

As the NEWS went to press Saturday, Union was scheduled to meet Plains and the Broncs were to clash with Seagraves in semifinal matches. Championship play was scheduled for Saturday night.

Wyhe Kay posted 26 points to lead the Wildcats past the Eagle "B" team which trailed Union all the way. The Cats held a slim, 25-24 margin at half-time.

Meadow's Harold Hinson meshed 22 points in their victory over Seagraves. Terry Lockett, James Smith and Maurice Warren added 10 points each to take the easy victory.

MODERNIZATION OF TRAFFIC SIGNS BEGUN

A Life-Saving Opportunity

A new trend in traffic safety that seems to offer reasonably priced life-saving opportunities is developing, according to reports from Pennsylvania, Minnesota and California.

For the first time, according to these scattered but otherwise similar reports, highway traffic signs are being more fully recognized and utilized. Extensive and well-planned programs have been put into action, and many motorists' lives undoubtedly will be saved as a result of them.

Strangely, the programs that are helping to solve the complex traffic problems on our roads are simple in concept. They involve no more than this: modernizing traffic signs.

Minnesota Governor Orville Freeman recently issued an appeal to all county road commissioners and engineers in the state to upgrade traffic signs to nationally recognized standards.

In Pennsylvania, officials have undertaken a huge traffic sign renovation program on 20,000 miles of highway. More and larger signs, at greater heights from the roadway, placed farther ahead of roadway, hazards and reflective so they can be seen at night are among the improvements being made in Pennsylvania. The signs are designed to compensate for "increased speeds, traffic volumes (and increased nighttime motoring)," Pennsylvania officials say.

Tulare county, California, is one of many local governmental units that has embarked on a program of sign modernization and made its roads safer as a result. By putting up signs that are bigger, better located, and reflective, Tulare officials have made roads safer.

According to safety authorities, these programs are symptomatic of the need for highway sign improvements. "Too long has the lowly traffic sign, which does perhaps the most humble and consistent job of traffic safety, been without recognition for the tremendous responsibility for which it is charged," claims one expert. "Because of the traffic sign's humble role, its importance has been overlooked. Today, it appears, it is beginning to receive appropriate recognition. Lives will be saved as a result."

LAND LEASING SET — School Land Board has set March 4 for sale of oil and gas leases on public lands.

Some 34,000 acres of tide-lands plus several hundred tracts on state prison farms will be offered for leasing.

It will be the first time tide-lands leases have been offered since the federal government filed suit contesting Texas' claim to land more than three miles from shore. State officials were unsure how attractive the land would be under the circumstances.

OPTOMETRISTS AT ODDS — Rival groups of Texas optometrists are apparently on their way to the Texas Supreme Court to settle differences over what practices are legal for that profession.

Disagreement centers on two issues: (1) whether optometrists may advertise, and if so, who and (2) whether they may have offices in part of the space of a store.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled unconstitutional the portion of the Ophthalmic Dispensers law passed last spring that pertained to advertising. Reason, a familiar one: the topic was not mentioned in the bill's caption.

Members of the Texas Optometric Association disagreed with the opinion. They brought suit asking that the State Board of Examiners in Optometry be enjoined to enforce a no-advertising rule. Since the case involves constitutionality of a law, it can be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Another suit was brought by a group of optometrists protesting a state board ruling that an optometrist's office cannot share space in a store.

Attendant publicity resulted in the resignation of Charles M. Babb of Austin as executive secretary to the State Board of Optometry Examiners. Babb was criticized for holding that position while also serving as legal counsel to the Texas Optometric Association — i.e., serving both the regulators and the regulated.

SHORT SNORTS — Travis County grand jury gave state officials and employees a clean bill of health after two months' searching for "any further evidence of misconduct." If did, however, recommend tighter regulation of notaries public and insurance company officials handling company funds.

Railroad Commissioner Olin Culberson made the first statewide political announcement by stating he would seek a fourth term in his present office.

Persons wanting to buy under the veterans land program will have a chance Jan. 21 to buy land of previous owners who failed to meet payments. Forfeited land includes 58 tracts in 21 counties, said Land Commissioner Earl Rudder.

Gov. Ben Ramsey named Judge Joe J. Fisher of Jasper, Judge A. R. Stout of Waxahachie and Earl Smith of San Antonio to the Law Enforcement Commission created during the special legislative session. Three were appointed to the commission by the governor, three more will be named by the House Speaker. J. T. Ellis Jr. of Weslaco has been appointed to Governor Daniel's staff to assist with

THE AMERICAN WAY

By GEORGE PECK

A great many of our American citizens labor under the erroneous impression that because of our highly progressive individual income tax rates, the rich are paying for most of the "drunken sailor" spending of the Federal Government. Because of this mistaken idea they are not perturbed about the manner in which the Federal Government tosses tax-money around — with apparently no thought of economy.

Well, let's take a look at some of the individual income tax statistics! Those figures knock into a "cocked-hat" the notion that the "Economic Royalists" are bearing the brunt of Federal Government extravagance and waste:

Three out of four income tax-payers, some 30 million in number, in 1955 fell into the first bracket rate of 20 per cent. These 30 million "non-rich" citizens accounted for 85 per cent of all personal tax receipts. And further, even three-fourths of this amount came from the "definitely non-rich" who reported taxable incomes of $2,000 or less.

The surtax rates, starting above the $2,000 income level, progress to a high of 71 per cent or to a combined rate of 91 per cent on incomes of $200,000 or over. Yet here again, one-half of the revenue from the surtax was paid by income groups up to $16,000 — $18,000 for single persons, or double that for married persons where the combined rate reaches 50 per cent. (Certainly these citizens cannot be tagged as "rich.")

To put it another way: If 50 percent were set as the ceiling for the combined personal income tax rate, it would mean only a loss of $700 million or around 2 percent of the total personal income tax, based on the 1955 experience.

My associate, Willis E. Stone, President of the American Progress Foundation, is working for outright repeal of the 16th Amendment (Income Tax). He has produced authentic figures to show that such repeal would not jeopardize our national security, nor hamper any legitimate, constitutional function of the Federal Government. This repeal can only be accomplished by another Amendment to the Constitution, which must be ratified by three-quarters of 36 of the individual States. To get this proposed amendment before the 48 State Legislatures will require considerable time, even though several of the States already have indicated their willingness, yes, even their eagerness to ratify such an amendment.

29 Cases on Docket Of Judge Chesshir's Court

American and stems directly from the Russian Kremlin.

If the top rate on corporate incomes were also fixed at 50 per cent, the combined loss might reduce the income tax take by 2 billion dollars. This would be a temporary loss, however, because private investment spending would be stimulated and after a short lag, tax revenue inevitably would increase.

Faced with the knowledge that the next budget will call for more defense spending, Federal Government is going to need every tax dollar it can muster, without killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. Setting a maximum of 50 percent on both personal and corporate income taxes will help materially toward that objective. It will be a "shot-in-the-arm" to risk taking — to risk taking which has ever been the prime ingredient of America's economic achievement.

REMEMBER? — Nigh on to 30 years ago, best way to get to Post was in the well-loaded vehicle pictured above. The trip was a journey, with dirt roads all the way. Even honeymooners took advantage of the bus (with connections to Plains, Tatum and Roswell). A lunch in a sack was the best guarantee of not getting hungry. Flat tires played a major role in the temperament of the passengers. (LOWE'S foto)

My, my, how time "do" fly. It seems only two moons ago since school started and here it is mid-term. Just about ever place I've been the past 10 days pupils from the third grade level to seniors have been "cramming" for six-week and mid-term examinations. In most instances, the television has been on.

This may or may not be good. There are certain types of individuals who find it hard to concentrate unless they are surrounded by complete silence. This is what is meant by having a one-track mind, and certainly is no disgrace. There are still others who have no difficulty in concentrating regardless of surroundings. Still there is another group who can grasp two subjects at the same time, maybe not well, but they can do it by practice.

I recall 25 years ago that when I attended school in a three-room country school the student had no choice. He studied in anything but a quiet surrounding. There was the big room, the middle room and the little room which did not denote the size but the grades which assembled in each.

Three teachers were employed for $50 or $60 a month to teach 11 grades. Each class had four subjects, and the brighter student absorbed his own subjects plus a great deal of the 12 other subjects being taught throughout the day to the other grades.

I well remember that my 7th grade geography followed the 9th grade Spanish class. While studying geography, I listened to Spanish translations and learned more Spanish that year than I did geography, and I never took a test on it. In fact, I never did study Spanish at all.

Since each subject was 15 minutes in length, the time was used in lecture and occasional discussions. The teacher didn't side-track on some long-winded story about his past experiences or his future desires. He strictly taught the lesson. He sat on the front desk of the row which he was teaching and usually one row composed all of one grade. We took two exams a year. One in January and the other in May. They were hard but everybody passed and without the aid of the cheating.

Modern teaching methods are foreign to those "old timely" ways, and I certainly wouldn't stick my neck out and say the older methods were best. I will say, however, that the pupils learned to read anything, all were good spellers because they spelled by sound, and they had a solid foundation in arithmetic.

Some of these qualities are yet to be desired among some teaching circles. Nobody learned much about Shakespeare or Huckleberry Finn, but we could form a proper sentence and spell the words correctly and knew which was the verb and which was the subject.

Grades I thru 11 had two recesses each day and in other spare time we found it enjoyable to read the big thick Webster's dictionary which was the only library we had.

After 20 years, I guess it is safe to print this: There was a boy in the Brownfield School who was a preacher's son and he had excellent mechanical abilities if you can call knowing how to operate a memograph machine mechanical abilities.

I haven't decided whether it was because he a preacher's son and presumed to be "holier than thou" or because he could run the machine that he was chosen to print most of the exams.

Anyway, he was a friend to everybody and none of us begrudged the dime or quarter we slipped into his pocket for the exams he just happened to salvage from the waste paper basket. Word rapidly got around who had what test and there was considerable trading going on just before the "fatal event."

No, this wasn't honest, but when we got those test, we studied like mad. When exam time came we knew it by heart and we remembered it — some of it 'til this day. The exams I remember most are the ones I had "in advance," and if I were a teacher that is the kind I would give today.

Give a loaded copy a week in advance and a condensed form on exam. The pupil would learn a lot but would use only part of what he learned on the final exams. I am not ashamed to admit that I cheated on examinations in high school and the person who says he never cheated — well, question his memory.

There was then—and is now—a lot of unnecessary emotional disturbance created in the students over exams. Far too much emphasis is placed on the grade by the pupil and not enough on effort. The general idea seems to be: how much is my average and how much more do I need to make to average a certain grade.

Never, what did I learn. Who is to blame for such unconstructed thinking? Well that's your department.

A politician is one who—etc., etc. If all goes well that will be my subject next week. I promised a friend that I would write on the subject... some facts and then some opinions. Get ready with your knives. Some of you may want to whittle me down... We'll see.

VICTIM OF POLIO 11 YEARS

Young El Paso Widow Named Texas Polio Mother For 1958 March of Dimes; Despite Wheelchair, She Leads Normal Life

Mrs. John L. Crouch, attractive El Paso mother of two, and widow of an Air Force pilot, today was named Texas Polio Mother of the Year for the 1958 March of Dimes. Nomination of Mrs. Crouch was announced by Gordon McLendon, Texas chairman for the 1958 March of Dimes, who described the 37-year-old mother as "symbolic of the hundreds of Texas mothers who have courageously and successfully battled crippling polio to return to active and useful living."

Selected from a large group of nominees submitted by Texas county chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Mrs. Crouch typifies, McLendon said, what a combination of determination and rehabilitation techniques can accomplish for the victims of the pre-Salk vaccine polio war.

Though confined to a wheelchair by the after-effects of a polio attack, Kathryn Crouch now serves successfully as homemaker, and as executive secretary of the El Paso County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

It is a dual role, she says, "that seemed impossible 11 years ago."

She remembers that "like most people, I thought polio was something that happened to somebody else. It wouldn't happen to Kathryn Crouch."

When it did, it began with "the worst headache I ever had." A few hours later, in August, 1946, Kathryn Crouch, mother of one child and expecting another, was admitted to a Port Arthur hospital.

Although her case was diagnosed as polio and her right leg completely paralyzed, she remembers telling her husband, wartime fighter pilot Major John L. Crouch, that she would be "walking by Christmas."

Two weeks later her second child, Connie Ruth, was born. Her oldest, a son, Larkin, was two.

A few weeks afterward, Kathryn Crouch went to Gonzales Warm Springs Hospital to begin the March of Dimes-financed rehabilitation treatments she hoped would put her on the road back.

After two months she returned to Port Arthur faced with the knowledge that she would probably never walk again, but determined to be a successful mother and homemaker despite her handicap.

And tragedy struck again. In October, 1947, her husband was killed during a cross-country training flight. A home he had purchased in El Paso for his family stood empty.

Kathryn Crouch responded with characteristic courage. Leaving Port Arthur where she had lived for most of her life, she took her small children to the new home in El Paso, seeing it as a symbol of a new life.

EL PASO—POLIO MOTHER OF THE YEAR for the 1958 March of Dimes in Texas, Mrs. John L. Crouch (Kathryn), of El Paso, joins daughter Connie Ruth, 11, and son Larkin, 13, in a family game. More interested in the photographer is the Cocker, Ginger. Mrs. Crouch, executive secretary of the El Paso County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and widow of a World War II fighter pilot, was named to symbolize in the 1958 March of Dimes the hundreds of Texas mothers who have overcome the crippling after-effects of polio to resume active and useful lives.

Soon, Kathryn Crouch and her wheelchair were a familiar sight in El Paso. She became active in community affairs, and, as her children grew, with the PTA, the Girl Scouts.

In 1952 the El Paso County Chapter of the National Foundation offered her the exacting position of executive secretary. She accepted and added "career woman" to her other activities.

Today, she says that the rewards of the past 11 years far exceed the rigors. With Larkin, now 13, and Connie Ruth, 11, participating, her home is as smoothly run as her office where, El Paso Chapter officials and patients say, "she is indispensable."

Despite the wheelchair, she goes where she wishes. She drives expertly a car which boasts only the additional equipment of oversized gas and brake pedals.

At home, she recalls only one incident where mention was made of her handicap. When still small, Larkin, now a Freshman at Burgess High School, once refused to obey. Warned of chastisement, Larkin, playing in the backyard, retorted "You can't get out here."

But, Kathryn says, "I did, and we had no more trouble." She adds proudly that Larkin is today a model man of the house, while Connie Ruth is an excellent cook. In her office in the Southwestern General Hospital, Kathryn deals daily with other victims of crippling polio. Her brown eyes soften when she observes, "We speak the same language," a remark that can also be taken literally, since to cope with the many Latin-American patients in the El Paso area, Kathryn has perfected a fluent Spanish.

Outwardly, there is no indication that the Kathryn Crouch of today bears other than the physical scars of the misfortunes that have altered her life.

But some hint of her mental adjustment may be found in the quotation of Stephen Grellet, taped to her desk calendar.

"I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good, therefore, that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any fellow creature, let me do it now. Let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

Ribbon Cane Syrup Feature of 'Review'

The old-fashioned way ribbon cane syrup is made in East Texas will be shown next week on Humble's weekly TV program, Texas in Review. Locally the program is seen at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday on Channel 13.

The last regular session of the Texas Legislature passed 17 laws designed further to regulate the insurance business. A few of those bills are of particular interest.

Under the old law a company could, in addition to carrying on business ordinarily carried on by an insurance company, accept deposits and act as trustee for the handling of such deposits.

The U. S. Trust & Guaranty Company adopted the charter powers granted in the old law, enabling them to accept deposits such as a bank would accept deposits. They used the money for various types of investments. The law now has been amended so as to prevent surety and guaranty companies organized under that particular chapter from acting as trustees.

Formerly, a fire or casualty insurance company writing health and accident insurance policies could refuse to pay losses without incurring any penalty. But, if a life insurance company refused to pay its losses, it incurred a penalty of 12 per cent of the amount due under the policy, plus reasonable attorneys' fees.

Under the new law, the provision for the 12 percent penalty and attorneys' fees applies to all health and accident policies, regardless of whether they are written in a life company, on the one hand, or a fire or casualty company, on the other.

Under the old law, companies writing fire insurance could not charge a premium in excess of that fixed by the Board of Insurance Commissioners. However, they could write such insurance at a lesser rate than that fixed by the Board.

Now, if a company is to write fire insurance at a rate different from that fixed by the Board, it must file facts and statistics to justify the different rate, and the Board has a right to determine whether or not the company can write at the proposed different rate and maintain its solvency.

Prior to the last regular session, certain lines of insurance which could not be placed with companies licensed to do business in Texas were burdened with a 5 per cent premium tax if placed through an agent licensed in Texas to do a surplus lines business.

If such business was written by an unlicensed company direct (without a licensed Texas agent), then no tax on the premium had to be paid. Under the new law, if the business is written direct, the insured is required to pay a tax of 5 per cent of the premium paid, thus equalizing the tax on the insurance regardless of whether it is placed through a licensed Texas agent.

The workmen's compensation laws were amended, one of the principal changes being to increase weekly benefits to injured workmen from $25 to $35 a week.

Pointer To Heaven

Did you ever stop to wonder why so many churches have steeples? The answer is simple — a steeple has meaning — it is a finger pointing to Heaven. The steeple is the architect's way of showing what is important about life, and that is life's relation to God. The steeple also symbolizes the role of the Church as showing men the way to eternal life. Eternal life is not just an extra tacked on to the end of life, but those who know God, and thereby really know themselves aright, share now in the eternal, or heavenly, kind of life, for theirs is the Kingdom of God. If you would live, look for the nearest steeple, and go there to find the meaning of life.

Is something wrong with your life — an inner restless dissatisfaction? The answer to every human problem comes only from God our Maker. He alone can forgive and reassure. Through the church God has committed the provision and proclamation of His forgiveness and redeeming love. Without a church relation no one is securely related to God. Everyone should be in the Church and the Church should be in everyone!

IN RAISING HAPPY CHILDREN

Judge Says Time And Effort is an Investment

By Judge Sarah T. Hughes
 Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles on the state's growing problem of juvenile delinquency by one of Texas' foremost authorities on the subject, District Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, who has handled more than 25,000 juvenile and family relations cases, along with an even greater number of other civil cases in 22 years on the bench.

Important in the development of children is companionship with their parents. Youngsters need to feel that they have significance in the daily lives of their mothers and fathers.

Among the happiest memories of my childhood are the times I spent with my parents. There were the bonfires my father and I had from the leaves we raked together, and the Sunday picnics, and walks in the spring. They are among my fondest recollections.

Gave Things

A young girl recently answered her newspaper's inquiry as to what young people wanted from their parents with the statement that her father gave her material things — whatever she wanted — money for shows, clothes, travel, even a car. But what she really wanted from him was attention, she wrote.

Happiness does not depend, as many people believe, on material things — a TV, the latest model car, or a mink stole. It doesn't depend on keeping up with the Joneses, but rather on being loved and understood, of feeling secure, of being important in work and play with our parents.

Much Harder Today

It used to be easy for parents and children to do things together — there were many tasks around the house or the farm and they called for joint effort.

But today, with the chores limited and so many outside distractions, it is easy to drift apart — each to have his or her own interests outside the home. The job of being a parent in today's world requires increasing effort and time.

There are many things to do together — singing in the living room, fishing, picnicking, taking pictures, raising vegetables or flowers, saving stamps. It may require work on the part of parents to think of a project to include the family, but the results will be rewarding.

Gave Car

A young boy who finally came before me in the juvenile court became delinquent largely because his father, with whom he lived, thought material things were sufficient. The mother and father were divorced, and the father, busy making money, hoped to retain his boy's love by giving him a car. But he failed to give him time and understanding. The boy, having no attention at home, fell in with the wrong crowd. What finally brought him into court was stealing tires and gadgets for the car his father had given him.

Family Life First

On the other hand, a recent article in a national magazine showed photographs of the Danish royal family — king, queen, and three daughters — at afternoon tea, an occasion that the king never allows anything to interfere with. It is also well known that despite Queen Elizabeth II's multitudinous duties she sets aside time daily to be with Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

So do the wisest and most successful parents everywhere make sure that the house is a home for being together in, not just a place to keep their clothes.

The Missing Parent

In cases of delinquency the mother and father are usually missing — wholly or partially — from the life of the child. Good relationships — love, understanding, guidance, and

WINDUP OPERATIONS EVIDENT

High Plains Cotton Production Climbs To 1,400,000 Bales By Mid-January

Cotton production on the Texas High Plains by the 23 member counties of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. soared past the 1,400,000 bale mark the second week of January as windup operations on the belated harvest became evident at many gins.

W. E. Franklin, head of the U.S.D.A. classing office in Lubbock reported 1,178,714 bales had been classed as of January 8. He reported about 60,000 samples were on hand, plus about 180,000 bales classed at the Lamesa office and another 5,000 bales on hand at Lamesa. This gives an over all total of more than 1,400,000 thus far off the 1957 crop and clean-up operations should push this total even higher.

While the total yield of the 1957 crop from the 23 member counties of the PCG is going to be somewhat lower than earlier estimates, it is going to be much more than most officials had estimated.

The September 1, 1957 crop estimate made by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange and PCG staff set the total at 1,688,000 bales. This was raised in October to 1,713,000 before October rains fell. After the rains, the November estimate was dropped to 1,659,000 bales. No estimate was made as of December 1, but most officials did not think the crop would top much over 1,200,000 bales if any.

Most officials now agree the 23-county crop will hit 1 1/4 million bales. This is a significant improvement over the 1956 crop of 1,310,000 bales and the 1946-55 average of 1,369,000 bales.

W. O. Fortenberry, PCG president, has maintained most of the season the estimated production will top 1,400,000 bales.

J. B. Booth, area representative of the George H. McFadden & Bro. Cotton Exporting Firm, said last month, "We should have a minimum of 1,450,000 and a maximum of 1,550,000 bales."

D. C. Prince, secretary of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange, has estimated the crop at 1,502,000 bales.

Nationally the USDA has estimated the belt-wide crop at 11,010,000 bales. This is down from the 1956 crop of 13,310,000 bales and the 1946-55 average of 13,669,000 bales.

The indicated yield per acre in December was 390 pounds compared with 409 last year and 300 pounds for the 1946-55 average.

Estimates on the Texas crop in December were set at 3,575,000 bales almost as much as the 1956 crop of 3,615,000 bales.

Yield-wise the High Plains Farmers are not hurt on the 1957 crop. Quality-wise this year's crop is another story.

Prince estimated that the price of cotton to cotton farmers has dropped $45 a bale since December 1. This is due to an early freeze and snow, coupled with heavy fall rains, all of which lowered the cotton's quality.

Prince figures the value of both cotton and seed ginned since December 1 averages about $125 a bale.

Safety Is No Accident

Parents Carry Big Responsibility For Education in Safety

The role of parents as safety-education teachers was emphasized today by J. O. Musick, general manager of Texas Safety Association.

"No matter how much safety education parents give their children, it cannot be completely effective unless both mother and father obey the rules of safety themselves," said Musick.

"In safety, as in everything else, children absorb the attitudes of their parents and mimic their behavior. Telling Johnny not to cross streets except with a green light is not going to seem important to him if he sees dad jay-walking or squeezing through an intersection on a caution light. "By the same token, if Susie sees mother standing on a makeshift ladder of a chair and boxes, to get something from a high shelf, she's not likely to use a sturdy ladder when she wants something from a similarly high place," noted Musick.

Musick pointed out that good examples and repetition are two of the most effective weapons of accident prevention. By each parent making certain that his own actions are reasonably safe and correct, he creates a climate of safety which fosters good safety-attitudes in children.

"Curiosity is a natural part of the growing-up process," said Musick. "Many times a child's investigative actions lead to dangerous situations, especially if they are left unsupervised. Yet, an opportunity to learn must not be denied them."

"Among safety experts, the best and safest plan is to answer children's questions, show them how things work and teach them to do things the safe way for themselves. Of course, this plan is not always the easiest or most convenient, but it is the most effective."

Musick said that national figures reveal that about 14,000 children, up to 14 years of age, are killed in accidents, of varying types, each year.

SCOT Sets Study Of Wildlife Troubles

Problems of Texas wildlife management will be discussed by the Technical Committee of Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas on the eve of SCOT's annual convention in Austin, Jan. 18, according to Val Lehmann, committee chairman.

Lehmann, who is wildlife manager for King Ranch, said major interest would center around a report by a sub-committee investigating the adequacy of present pay scales for Game and Fish Commission personnel.

"It is apparent," said Lehmann, "that recommendations for salary increases for many grades of State workers are, in order, but the problem of merit provisions to insure that competent personnel receives maximum benefits continues to perplex."

Chairman Lehmann said the difficulty in maintaining competent wildlife management personnel has just been pointed up again in the resignation of two more experienced members of the Commission's coastal area staff. The men, Bob Kemp and Bob Singleton, quit to set up their new Southwestern Wildlife Management Company.

"We simply cannot expect trained men, with the qualifications required in this field to make a career of work marked by a low starting salary scale with a $10 a month raise every three or four years," added Lehmann.

The special group studying salary schedules is headed by Milton Caroline of San Antonio connected with the United States Department of Interior.

Lehmann said major interest at the Technical Committee meeting the afternoon of January 17 also will center around "the complex angles of brush control and timber stand improvement with relation to wildlife." A sub-committee working on this topic is headed by Dr. Paul Hickie of Stephenville, formerly Director of Research for the United States Fish and Wildlife Service.

The regular SCOT convention will begin at 9 a.m. January 18 in Driskill Hotel, with a record turn out of Texas sportsmen predicated by President Toddie Lee Wynne Jr. of Dallas.
