Copeland Ross Are Winners

A light turnout of voters Tuesday overwhelmingly approved a $110,000 bond issue and elected two new city councilmen and incumbent mayor, Arlie Lowrimore.

Councilmen elected to succeed John Kendrick and Henry Chisholm, who did not run for office, were Lal Copeland, owner of Copeland Hardware here and in Levelland, and C. E. Ross of Ross Investments.

Lowrimore, who was unopposed in the mayor's race, garnered 257 votes from the 270 ballots cast. Copeland received 248 votes and Ross drew 230. Joe Ramsdell, president of Glenwood Homes, Inc., was the choice of 47 ballots.

Trend Is Followed
Gerald Hopkins of 1414 East Buckley received 2 write-in ballots for councilman. Write-in votes also were cast for Lloyd Hahn of 1105 East Buckley, 1; W. B. Tudor of 102 West Cardwell, 1; John Proctor of 1409 East Buckley, 4, and R. R. Marsh of 801 East Buckley, 5.

A total of 210 votes were cast for the bond issue which will include about 30 blocks of paving and mercury vapor lighting along Lubbock-Seagraves Road.

City Secretary A. J. (Jake) Geron said the lights should be in operation this summer and paving completed by next fall.

The Tuesday election was one of more than 50 conducted across the South Plains. Though few of Brownfield's voters cast ballots, the election followed the trend set in most area cities and towns.

TOWARD ITS NEW HOME

Chamber Reports Luscious $9,500

A startling $9,500 in cash and pledges has been obtained toward construction of Brownfield Chamber of Commerce's new home.

The current figure, secured in a relatively few weeks, was revealed to the chamber's directorate at breakfast Wednesday by Lal Copeland, building committee chairman.

Because of the committee's success, directors agreed Wednesday that they could foresee a $20,000 building, with some $3,500 worth of new furniture.

Balance of the cost, explained Committeeman Bruce Zorns, will be covered by a 20-year loan at the preferred interest rate of 5 per cent. Negotiations have been completed with Brownfield Savings & Loan.

Site of the future home is in the 200-Block of Lubbock Road.

With Pres. Dennis Q. Lilly presiding, the Wednesday monthly meeting of the directors was opened with an invocation by C. E. Ross, third member of the three-man building committee.

In other business, the directorate, "because of the close ties which we feel must be maintained between our urban and rural residents," voted to declare its approval of the proposed Extended Area Service.

The service, if put into effect, would eliminate toll calls between General Telephone patrons in Brownfield and two telephone exchange patrons—Wheatley and Ausborne—north and west of the city.

The chamber's action will be made known in a letter today to Brownfield City Council, which has scheduled further discussion of the proposal with General and the two exchanges.

April 10—On that day the Terry County "hospital committee" will make its report to the public, and the First Annual Conference on Agricultural Diversification in Terry County will be held in the Legion Hall.

In connection with the foregoing, chamber directors heard Wednesday from three of their own: Burton Hackney, hospital committee chairman, and Zorns and Charles Kersh, who will emcee the five-hour conference.

The trio urged attendance by "everyone—housewife, businessman and farmer—from throughout the entire county to attend and take part in both events."

Both have been described as "events almost without precedence in our town and county—they are of the utmost importance to all of us."

Present for the first time Wednesday was Jimmy Billings, new proxy of Brownfield Junior Chamber of Commerce, who succeeds Bob Payne.

"For your unselfish and untiring efforts as a member of this board," Payne accepted an appropriate plaque from President Lilly and the chamber.

As one of the final acts of Wednesday's meeting, Zorns read the "Brownfield Chamber of Commerce 1957 Profit & Loss Statement" (prepared by Burnett & Black):

More Governmental Units in Terry To Take Care of the Public Affairs

(Special to the NEWS)
NEW YORK—A special study undertaken by the U.S. Department of Commerce, covering the entire country, shows that in Terry County there is a more involved system of government than exists in most counties.

Locally, there are more units of government to handle the affairs of the public, in proportion to population, than are to be found elsewhere.

The national study, called the 1957 Census of Governments, is the first of its kind since 1952. It shows that the public business is conducted only partially by county, municipality and township governments. More than half the units of government in the United States today are school districts and special districts.

In Terry County, according to the survey, there are nine governments in operation of three municipalities, four school districts and one special district.

In terms of population, there are the equivalent of 6.1 units of government in the county per 10,000 people.

This is more than the proportion in most counties in the West South Central States, the average being 4.6 governments for every 10,000 people. In Texas it is 3.8 per 10,000.

Throughout the country, the report reveals, there are now 102,279 governing bodies from county level down. Included are 50,466 school districts and 14,405 special districts with authority over such matters as roads, soil conservation, fire protection, housing and the like.

A simplification of the governmental process is the goal, with the hope that it will offset to some extent the costs of county and municipal operations.

There has been definite progress in this direction in recent years, chiefly through the elimination or consolidation of many school districts.

On the other hand, the number of special districts has risen, but not enough to nullify the school district decrease.

The number of governments in the United States, as a result is 12 per cent lower than it was five years ago.

In Terry County, there was little over-all change in the period. The number of units has been increased from eight to nine.

Three Suffer Slight Injuries in Mishap Last Sunday Night

Three persons suffered slight injuries in a two-car collision about 6 miles southwest of here on U.S. Highway 62 late Sunday night.

Injured were Mrs. William Dewey Rannels of Route 2, and Raymond Bedford Haywood of 1012 East Hill. Haywood is in Treadaway-Daniell Hospital for observation and treatment of a broken hand. Mrs. Rannels was released after overnight observation.

Investigating officers said Mrs. Rannels' husband apparently misjudged the distance when he attempted to turn north onto Farm-to-Market Road 300. Haywood's automobile, which was headed southwest toward Seagraves, struck the Rannels vehicle at the edge of the pavement, reported officers.

Rannels was treated and released from Treadaway-Daniell following the mishap which occurred about 10:30 p.m. Rannels' 14-year-old son and a passenger in the Haywood vehicle escaped injury.

No charges have been filed in the collision.

PROGRAM SPONSORED BY JAYCEES
'Hypnosis Can Be Fun' is Theme Of Famous Hypnotist, Dr. Morton Greene

"Hypnosis can be fun and I make it my business to prove it" is a statement which has made Dr. Morton Greene, famous hypnotist, one of the outstanding entertainers in his field.

The doctor will appear here in person on April 18th at the high school auditorium under the sponsorship of the Brownfield Jaycees. He will present a two-hour show that is novel, fantastic, sparkling and entertaining.

The program is devoted to hypnotism. The stage is set for the demonstrations which follow after the Doctor explains the facets of the mind to the audience.

Following this are preliminary tests, directed will power, rapid induction and a baffling demonstration of sensory control of taste, smell and other senses, while in a state of trance.

Dr. Greene, master hypnotist, not only astounds all who attend one of his performances, but his clever wit and outstanding sense of humor contribute to audience enjoyment, even when he gets everybody into the act by a thrilling demonstration of relaxation where he uses nearly the entire audience.

Some of the mirth provoking demonstrations include placing a subject in an ordinary chair which is not wired electrically not treated with heat radiation of any form, yet at the sound of a specified word spoken by the Doctor, the subject is forced to rise from his seat.

Another laughing-provoking scene is one where it becomes impossible for a hypnotized subject to keep shoes on her feet, except when they are reversed, with the right shoe on the left foot and vice versa.

Because of the recent nationwide interest in "The Bridey Murphy Case", the scene called, "In the Long Long Ago", is one the audience particularly enjoys. Here an experiment in age regression is used and, with proper subjects, occasionally one will be taken back for a glimpse into this little-known realm of the mind.

Indications are that there will be a packed house at HYPNOTIC MARVELS and tickets are now on sale by members of the sponsoring organization. They also will be available at the box office on show night.

Henry Mertz Home Is Damaged by Fire

Fire, believed to have been caused by a faulty central heating unit, caused heavy damage to the roof of the Henry Mertz residence, 401 North Fifth, about 8 p.m. Monday.

Minor smoke and water damage also was sustained by the home, which also houses offices for Farmers Insurance Group, operated by Mertz.

Firemen, who fought the blaze about 45 minutes before bringing it under control, said portion of the attic was gutted. The flames ate through the roof briefly before the blaze was brought under control.

The fire broke out about 10 minutes after Mertz and his wife left the house. No damage estimate has been made.

How Very True!

Henry Ward Beecher once received a letter from a student asking his advice in the matter of an easy career in life. To this the eminent theologian replied:

"Young man, you cannot be an editor. Do not try the law. Do not think of the ministry. Let alone all ships and merchandise. Abhor politics, and do not practice medicine. Don't be a farmer, a soldier, or a sailor. Don't study. Don't think. None of these is easy. Oh, my son, you have come into a hard world. I know of only one easy place in it, and that is in the grave."

Another important meeting date to remember is Thursday, April 10 — that is the date of the county-wide Hospital Meeting, to be held at 7:30 p.m., in the High School Auditorium. Be present, then you can't complain about the solution which will surely come from this important informational gathering.

Brownfield students to win the annual Terry Spelling Bee held in the junior high school Saturday.

The eighth grade student claimed the title by spelling "fugitive" after it had been missed by runner-up Laurelle Wheatley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Wheatley of Route 2.

He went on to clinch the championship by spelling "funeral."

Miss Wheatley will be alternate to the "Avalanche-Journal spelling Bee slated for Lubbock on April 12.

Only four students participated in the county bee: Mary Thomas, fourth grader and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Thomas of 915 East Tate, and Kathy Goodpasture, fifth grader and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Goodpasture, of 1310 Tahoka Road, were the other contestants.

Miss Thomas went down on "dignified" and Miss Goodpasture misspelled "advisable."

Mrs. R. L. Noble Jr. directed the bee and Mrs. George Weiss was pronouncer. Judges were Mrs. Clarence Cornett, Mrs. Glenn Mitchell and Miss Yvonne Robinson.

Let's Talk Livestock!

By TED GOULDY

FORT WORTH — Despite increased offerings of cattle and sheep at Fort Worth and around the major marketing circle this week and last, prices are only slightly below the year's best. Some slaughter cattle and calves have been shaded by 50 cents to $1 per hundred in the past ten days, but others are firm. Stockers are fully steady.

The over-all strong position of farm prices is credited to strength in livestock and poultry values. March 15th it was reported farm income was up 4 per cent, and parity on livestock as reported by USDA in Fort Worth Monday revealed the following:

Beef cattle—farm price was $21.70 on March 15th, against effective parity of $23.10, or 94% of parity. Calves from value was estimated at $24, against parity of $25.40, or 94% also.

Farm value of hogs was estimated at $20.30, against effective parity $21.90, or 93% of parity. Lambs were estimated at $21.50 on farm, with effective parity of $25.90, or 83% of parity. Wool at 40.7 cents against effective parity of 70.2 cents, was at 58% of parity March 15.

FED CATTLE TOP $30; COW TOP $21.00

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings ranged from $24 to $30 at Fort Worth Monday, the higher figure on a few individual yearlings. Plain-er butcher stuff sold from $16 to $24. Fat cows drew $17.50 to $21, and canners and cutters cashed at $11 to $17.50. Bulls sold from $16 to $22, odd head to $22.50.

Good and choice fat calves sold from $25 to $28, odd head to $29. Plainer sorts cashed at $14 to $23. Stocker calves of good kinds sold from $25 to $30, stocker yearlings drew $28 down.

LAMBS WEAK TO 50c LOWER, SHEEP STEADY

Fat lambs were weak to 50 cents lower at Fort Worth Monday. Good and choice Spring lambs sold from $23 to $24, and

A few old ewes sold from $9.50 to $11, and a few goats cashed at $7 to $8.

HOGS WEAKEN AS CORN BELT RUNS PICK UP

WILL LIGHTEN BURDENSOME CHORE

Easy Cleaning of Home Carpet Is Made Possible by New Product, Blue Lustre

Among the many wonderful things which science has produced to lighten the burden of those everyday chores around the home is a new product called Blue Lustre. It can be used on all fine rugs and carpeting.

Unlike many old fashioned cleaners that may be inflammable or have obnoxious fumes, this new cleaner, developed through long research, is non-flammable and odorless. A gentle harmless concentrate in liquid form, it is mixed with water and creates a billowy foam that then is applied to the carpet or rug with a long-handled brush.

One of the most surprising features of this new cleaner is how suddenly the old colors spring back to life again, revealing the beauty of old colors long forgotten.

The cleaning action of the Blue Lustre foam is unique for it penetrates the carpet soil, holding it in suspension which allows the easy removal of it along with the cleaning agent by vacuuming the rug or carpet. Because there is no gummy residue left in the carpet, the rug stays cleaner longer and the nap is left open and lofty. Blue Lustre also is used widely for cleaning upholstery with excellent results.

—April 10, 1958—

The home building industry is likely to be a highly important factor in leading the Nation out of the present business slump. There is a widespread expectation that this industry, which has experienced two successive years of decline since hitting an all-time peak in 1955, will revive this year.

What is the basis for this expectation?

Action is being taken to make in the housing field. The new housing bill is designed to stimulate the building of 200,000 additional new houses this year.

Number of new housing starts already is increasing—in Texas and in the country as a whole. Residential building permits in Texas are above the level for the same time last year.

Why is a healthy home-building industry so essential to a healthy economy in general?

Home building ranks second in importance perhaps only food and food processing among America's major industries. In recent years the value of new houses constructed annually has been running close to $16 billion. When land and other non-construction factors are considered, the value of the industry's annual product probably is close to $20 billion a year.

The industry has directly been providing about 2.5 million jobs a year.

Does it also provide many jobs indirectly?

Yes. Around 3,000 items go into every new home. Residential building uses one-third of the United States' total output of lumber, two-thirds of all brick produced, four-fifths of all gypsum. The sale of a new home generates the sale of about $1,500 worth of furnishings and equipment in the first year of occupancy.

Building new homes also creates demand for other types of construction—utility expansions, schools, stores, churches.

Effects of an expanding home-building program will spread out widely among our people. The construction of an additional 200,000 new houses, made possible by the housing bill, will stimulate industries turning out everything from steel to shingles—from bathtubs to electric switches.

A real pickup in housing has become crucial, in my opinion, to a revival in business. That is why I felt it essential to give such a high priority in Congress to the passage of the housing bill.

That legislation is of immediate importance to all of us.

Colorado River Is Texas Playground, According to Author

As a giant water playground for Texans, the Colorado River and its dozen lakes furnishes some of the best fishing in the State.

In "Sprawling Colorado," to appear in the April issue of Texas Game and Fish, L. A. Wilke, outdoor writer, presents the second of a series of articles describing the recreational facilities available on the lakes and rivers of Texas.

Flood threat to more than 60 miles of territory from the New Mexico border of Texas to the Gulf of Mexico, the Colorado required a century of engineering to be transformed into a stable supply of industrial power. River authorities built dam after dam to stem the river's menace and channel its tremendous force.

As recently as 1957, the dams prevented flood loss of millions of dollars in property as well as untold loss of life. Although their primary purposes was flood control, the dams pay for themselves and their operation by generating hydro-electric power, says the author.

Almost unlimited recreation is offered by major lakes on the Colorado River. Among them are Moss Lake in Howard County; Lakes San Angelo and Nasworthy in Tom Green County; Brownwood in Brown County; Colorado City in Mitchell County; J. B. Thomas in Scurry and Borden Counties; Oak Creek Reservoir in Coke County; Hord's Creek in Coleman County; and the Central Texas lake chain of Buchanan, Inks, Granite Shoals, Marble Falls, and Austin's Travis.

City, county, and state parks surround these various lakes, the author continues. Lodges, cabins, trailers, and boats are rented by independent operators on many of the lakes. A detailed listing of these facilities closes the article.

—April 10, 1958—

If you are between the ages of 17 and 65 and fish outside your county you'll need to buy a fishing license, which costs $2.15.

Mariners Review Work; Make Plans for Future

In a speech to The Mariners Club Friday night, Log Keeper Jack Bendler reviewed the past year's activities of cargo meetings.

He pointed out in the First year of operation the club has painted Sunday school rooms and Fellowship Hall of First Presbyterian Church, repaired toys for the needy at Christmas, bought food, clothing and toys for the needy during Christmas, provided the care for the Nativity scene of First Presbyterian and served meals to civic groups.

He also told club members of the need for the Mariners to make their cargo meetings available to other churches in the county.

A birthday cake, commemorating the anniversary, was served crew members. The cake, decorated with the lettering "Happy Anniversary Mariners," was complete with candle which was extinguished after the group sang the birthday song.

First Mate Don Cooper charted the course for the second year's activities of the Mariners. He explained meetings are divided into three groups: "cargo," spiritual and educational.

A cargo meeting, according to Cooper, is a work detail designed to provide manpower to fix-up, paint, clean or repair the items in disrepair in the church. He mentioned various items needing attention and promised the club a full complement of cargo nights.

He pointed out spiritual meetings are held every other month with guest speakers who bring ideas of ways for members to improve their relation with God.

Skippers Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hedrick organized work details Friday and led in the schedule of making aprons for the women's organizations, making toys for the nursery and cleaning the rafters in the recreation room.

Attending were Mrs. Joe Morris, Mrs. Shirley Reed, Miss Ellen Griffin, Delwin Stultz, Chuck Powers, Bill Simmons, Barry Welton, and Messrs. and Mesdames Bill Coats, Don Cooper, Jack Bendler, Ralph Hedrick, M. D. Fairbairn, Gerald Kehoe, Barney Vachal, Bill Wolfe and Herschel Griffis.

Public speaking isn't hard; it's the thinking before you speak that's hard.

FORT LEWIS A&M AT DURANGO

Accreditation Given To Colorado College

Fort Lewis A & M College in Durango, Colo., has been granted accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Announcement was made from Chicago by an official of the Association.

President Charles Dale Rea, pleased by the fact that Fort Lewis A & M College is now accredited by, and a member of, the North Central Association, termed the achievement "one of the most important steps taken in making the college a great academic institution."

Fort Lewis College is just completing construction of an all-new campus on a high mesa overlooking the town of Durango in southwest Colorado.

Clyde Taylors Feted At House Warming

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Taylor were honored with a surprise house warming Friday evening in their new home at 1605 East Cardwell.

Mrs. Vernon Brewer greeted guests and Mrs. Pate Collier registered them. Mrs. Norene Hudspeth was at the refreshment table with Misses Edith Creighton and Marie Gracey and Mrs. Bob Graves displaying gifts.

The table was covered with an ecru lace cloth and had a center arrangement of pink roses in a milk glass vase, which was presented to the honored guests with a set of china dishes.

Hosts were Misses Creighton and Gracey, Mrs. Hudspeth and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy May, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bost, Mr. and Mrs. Brewer and Mr. and Mrs. Pate Collier.

The team report, basis for action by the several bodies of the North Central Association in Chicago the past few days, was filled with praise for Fort Lewis A & M College. "The attitude, loyalty, and morale of the faculty and students are excellent," wrote the men.

"The physical plant, which is new, is magnificent in quality, design, character, site, and general location in the area," they declared.

Among other elements of strength, they noted that, "The institution has an aggressive and professionally respected president, a dedicated and capable dean, and a number of highly competent members of the teaching staff."

The advising and orientation programs are exceptionally good and are well adapted to the clientele of the institution," the two men noted.

"The students are given a high degree of responsibility in the management of their own affairs. Their response to opportunities of the educational program is excellent. The interest and enthusiasm manifested by the community assures strong support in providing the necessary resources for further growth and development of the College in the future."

In all, the examiners gave ratings of "strong" to 14 aspects of the Fort Lewis A & M College program, "adequate" to the 12 remaining categories. Not a single "inadequate" rating was given.

It was the College's first application for accreditation.

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools is the regional accrediting agency for a group of 19 states, including Colorado. Its purpose is to maintain high standards of instructional work and educational programs.

Said President Rea: "Good administrative procedures, personnel practices, adequate plant facilities, and other matters related to quality of instruction come under its scrutiny and by means of periodic surveys and reports to the member institutions it enables them to study their own problems to much better advantage."

Tech, Texas University Geologists Make Study

Texas Tech and University of Texas geologists have joined forces to study 1,000 square miles of strategic interest to the petroleum industry.

The area, called "Kent's Quadrangle of Trans-Pecos Texas," is located north of the Davis Mountains in West Texas.

A casual look at the rocky, broken terrain might cause a layman to wonder why the UT Bureau of Economic Geology is sponsoring the project.

"But it's a place where many of the geologic strata that are in oil-producing country crop out on the earth's surface," Tech geologist John Brand explained.

"Studying these outcroppings allows us to identify details of strata that extend into oil and gas producing areas," he added.

Purpose of the current project is to study details of the Cretaceous, a geologic period estimated to be 70 to 90 million years old.

Terminology decided upon for details found in the study may be used in the future by oilmen in communicating about the geologic system.

Dr. Brand is working with Prof. Ronald K. DeFord of the University of Texas on the study. Other staff members and graduate students of both institutions are helping on the project.

There are three times during the year that are most practical to check the bulls — just before the breeding season, soon after the breeding season, and three to five months after the breeding season, he advises.

Methods of evaluating semen quality have been known for several years, but its use has been confined mostly to artificial breeding programs because it was very difficult to collect semen from bulls on most farms and ranches, according to L. A. Maddox, extension animal husbandman.

Semen has been collected from over 1,200 bulls and evaluated in the last eight months from a wide area of the state, says Maddox. About six percent were sterile while another eight percent had semen of such quality that they would usually settle less than one-third of the cows bred.

This indicates that the average ranch with 20 bulls has three that are just boarders leaving the other 17 to cause most of the cows to conceive, points out the hus-

Maddox encourages evaluating the semen of young bulls, but warns that certain points should be taken into consideration.

First, the production of semen begins with sexual maturity and all bulls do not mature sexually at the same age. Too, bulls of European breeds show viable semen at 14 months of age in most cases. Semen evaluation in bulls of other breeds is not recommended until about 18 months of age.

Semen checks of young bulls may be very useful to determine if they are mature enough sexually to turn out with a breeding herd, he concludes.

100 CARS—Two members of the sales force of Jack Bailey Chevrolet were in Oklahoma City last Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Purpose: To attend the "100 Car Club Banquet" sponsored by the Oklahoma City Zone of the Chevrolet Company. At the event from Brownfield were W. N. (Doc) Lewis and John Jennings, accompanied by Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Jennings. From left in the picture: Brody Waller, district manager; Lewis; Rufus Bedford, zone manager, and Jennings.

A Chevrolet salesman who sells at least 100 cars for the first time in one year is given a diamond pin, and a diamond each year thereafter that he "makes the grade." Last year was Jennings' fifth successful year, and Lewis' fourth. All Bailey salesmen qualified last year for the "100 Car Club," with the exception of Thurman Pickett, who has been with the company for only a short time. Of the 534 salesmen in the Oklahoma City Zone, only 201 qualified during 1957.

Gomez Baptist Church Is Participating In Small Church Achievement Program

Gomez Baptist Church is participating in the 1958 Texas Baptist Church Achievement Program sponsored by the Baptist General Convention of Texas, according to T. L. Nipp, pastor.

Designed to stimulate interest in small-church work, the program recognizes outstanding achievements by pastors and churches in areas of church, community and world improvement.

More than 335 Texas Baptist town and country churches participated in the program last year.

Each church participating in the program sets up goals for advancement in the three areas. An inventory questionnaire furnishes suggestions for projects, such as health education, community recreation, citizenship training, race relation studies and world missions.

Individual churches, however, select their own projects for the program.

Winning pastors in each of the BGCT's 17 districts receive a parchment scroll and the church a metal plaque which may be displayed in a prominent position outside the building.

Churches in the open country and in towns up to 2,500 population are eligible to enter the program. Approximately two-thirds of all Texas Baptist churches are classified as town and country congregations.

The program has been expanded this year to include all Spanish-speaking congregations regardless of location.

Records and scrapbooks are made under the direction of three special committees. The scrapbooks are the basis for judging on the associational, district and statewide levels.

Darwin Farmer, direct missions associate for the BGCT, is in charge of the program. He said surveys among participating churches show the rate of baptisms nearly twice as high as the general average for all churches.

Temporary Summer Pastures Are Urged By Extension Expert

Summer temporary pastures provide the most dependable source of summer grazing that is available, according to E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist. Too, he adds, they usually supply better quality grazing than is available from permanent pastures.

But these are not the only advantages of summer, temporary pastures, points out the specialist. They permit resting permanent pastures and provide grazing all through the summer. They also provide some reserve feed. Any excess grazing may be put up as hay or silage, something very few livestock raisers have enough of.

Sudangrass and pearl millet make the best summer pastures, with sudangrass being the best bet in most areas, says Trew. However, pearl millet will be the choice in East Texas and certain Central Texas soils.

The pasture can be planted in the time danger of frost is past until moisture is too low in the summer. The grazing season may be extended by planting as soon as danger of frost is past and then making additional plantings in three or four week intervals.

Proper fertilization will pay big dividends with good growing conditions, he says. A soil test is the best way to determine the soil requirements. The dollar for a soil test is the best fertilizer dollar that can be spent.

Rotation grazing and mowing should be practiced in order to get the most out of the pasture, advises Trew.

Rotation grazing permits resting the plants between grazings, giving higher yield and permits use of the plants while they are in their most palatable and nutritious stage. Too, blocks not needed may be put up as hay or silage.

You can save yourself a lot of wasted effort if you refuse to believe everything that you hear about other people.

Now Is Cited As Time To Prepare For Approaching Spring Tornado Season

If you were to see the destructive, black funnel of a tornado rushing directly toward your home, where would you and your family go for protection and safety?

This question is not far-fetched. In fact, many Texans have experienced this and other similar disasters from time to time. Many of them had never realized the value of a safe place just as we never miss the water until the well goes dry.

But, why not construct a storm cellar before a tornado strikes to remind you that you need one? It can be constructed easily without any special skills and only a few special tools.

Since tornadoes generally move from southwest to northeast, the storm cellar should be located southwest of the house. Its entrance should face northeast.

It should be located far enough from the house that a falling wall, large trees or other debris will not block the entrance. Too, select a well-drained site which can be landscaped to harmonize with the home surroundings.

Storm cellars should be constructed strong enough to withstand the impact of falling debris. It should also be watertight, economical and relatively easy to keep.

The size of the cellar depends on expected use. For an extended period of comfortable occupancy, allow about 10 square feet of floor area per person. Short occupancy requires only about two square feet per person. Adequate ventilation should be provided.

Instructions on constructing a satisfactory storm cellar plus other information, such as other uses for the cellar, food storage, for example, is contained in a Texas Agricultural Extension Service leaflet, L-388, "The Disaster Cellar."

Texas Exes Adding Brainpower To The List for Recruitment

Recruiting brainpower for the University of Texas is the latest program launched by the University Ex-Students' Association.

With unrestricted funds donated by Texas-Exes, the Ex-Student's Association has inaugurated an "Alumni, High School Visitation Program" to pay expenses of University administrators and counselling teams who visit Texas high schools informing students of what the University offers.

Goal of the new program is to interest the above-average high school senior in the University of Texas.

In larger Texas cities, local Texas-Exes clubs make arrangements for visitations, while the Association pays travel and housing costs for the campus speakers.

The visitation programs have three parts: a campus speaker, either a University administrator or student dean, explains briefly what opportunities are available at the University; then, an orientation film of University life, "Gone To Texas," is shown to high school seniors, juniors and their parents. Finally, the students break up into smaller interest groups to meet with representatives from the dean of men, dean of women, administration, certain general academic areas and Ex-Students' Association.

The visitation concludes with an informal coffee period for students and their parents.

Successful trips have been made to Dallas, Cleburne, Hillsboro and several high schools in the Rio Grande Valley. Plans are under way now with San Antonio and Corpus Christi Texas-Exes clubs to arrange visitation programs in those areas.

4-H Quartet Heads For Nation's Capital

A veteran foursome of Texas 4-H club members will represent their State at the 28th annual National 4-H Conference to be held in Washington, D.C., June 14-20.

The four are Pat Shepherd of Hale County; Charles W. Conatser of Randall County; Peggy Leanne Schluter of Denton County and Grace Evelyn Moncrief of Hopkins County. Funds for the all-expense trips, according to Floyd Lynch, state 4-H leader, will be provided by the United Gas Pipeline Company.

Theme for the 1958 Conference is "Focus on the Future" and all program sessions will feature speakers and discussions aimed at helping youth gain a clearer understanding of the changes taking place and how their lives will be affected.

Tours and visits to points of interest in and around Washington will again be a highlight of the Conference program.

Shepard and Conatser are Gold Star boys; both have completed nine years of outstanding 4-H club work and have represented their State at National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

They are recognized leaders in their counties and district and both have been members of winning judging teams. Pat is now a student at Texas Tech while Charles is enrolled in Texas A & M College.

Miss Schluter has completed seven years of very active 4-H club work and Miss Moncrief nine years. They also are Gold Star members and have been Club Congress winners.

Miss Moncrief is a student at East Texas State College and Miss Schluter is a senior in Denton High School. Both have been winners in dress revues and are recognized rec-

Guy Noble Retires From Youth Work After 36 Years of Continuous Service

Guy L. Noble, managing director and one of the founders of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work will retire on May 1 after 36 years of continuous service, according to an announcement made by John W. Coverdale, vice-president of the board of directors.

The committee assists the Federal and State Extension Services to furthering the membership, influence and prestige of 4-H Clubs. Though the committee, business concerns, industry, and private citizens have supported 4-H Club work by providing funds to carry out the objectives of specific 4-H programs.

There now are some 50 of these national and regional 4-H award programs offered to 2,200,000 club members in 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico.

Norman C. Mindrum, Executive Director of the National 4-H Club Foundation, Washington, D.C., for the past five years, has been named by the board to succeed Mr. Noble. Mindrum previously had been a member of the Minnesota 4-H Club staff, assisting with the over-all administration of the state's 4-H Club program. Prior to that time he was agricultural agent in Winona County (Minn.).

A native of Minnesota, Mindrum received his bachelor's degree in agriculture from the University of Minnesota in 1942, and last year obtained his master's degree in education from the University of Maryland.

He served two years in the Navy. Mindrum with his wife and four sons will reside in the Chicago area.

Noble took charge of the first 4-H boys and girls ever to come to Chicago for an official meeting. That was back in 1919 and there were 160 in the delegation. Since then well over 45,000 of the nation's top 4-H youth have visited Chicago as delegates to the annual 4-H Club Congress.

Typical of busy men, Noble has found time to be useful in other capacities. For 12 years he was vice president for farms of the National Safety Council, and former vice chairman of the board of directors. For distinguished service to boyhood he received the Boy Scouts Silver Buffalo award, and for outstanding service to 4-H Clubs, a citation from the National 4-H Camp.

A graduate of Iowa State College, Noble received an honorary master's degree in agriculture there in 1933. He also was the recipient of the alumni merit award for "pre-eminent service in advancing human welfare."

During the summer months, Noble commutes from his 200-acre Guernsey dairy farm in

Your Opinion Please...

The Brownfield sub-committee of the Terry Hale-Aiken committee is nearing completion of their study of Brownfield school district, according to Lee Brownfield, chairman.

"In order to prepare our report for the county group which meets April 11, we need Brownfield resident's opinions on the 19 questions below," explained the chairman. "We need the opinions by April 7."

The 19 questions were selected from some 200 answered by the sub-committee. The full county report, to be compiled from sub-committee reports of Terry's four school districts, will be forwarded to the State Hale-Aiken Committee of 24.

Brownfield asked that opinions be mailed to him at 508 South C.

The questions are:

1. Is the content of courses, as taught here, adequate and are standards high enough? If not, what are your suggestions?

2. In your opinion, would a longer period of time, day or term, in school result in a better instructional program?

3. What do you recommend be done by the state to insure effective guidance for every pupil?

4. Changing economic conditions affect the instructional content needed in vocational programs. What can be done at the state and district level to assure that vocational instruction is meeting the present needs?

5. How would you define the responsibility of the state and local districts in providing education for the handicapped child? Special instruction for the gifted child?

6. What is the responsibility of the state and local district for driver education?

7. What should be the responsibilities of the state and the local district for adult education?

8. It appears in this district, that for educational efficiency,

Lowell, Lake County, Indiana, and in the winter he and Mrs. Noble reside on the south side of Chicago.

and local level to improve this situation?

9. In your opinion, are the schools adequately provided with textbooks and other instructional materials needed to do effective work. If not, how can these be provided?

10. What is the responsibility of the state for developing a state-wide program of educational television?

11. Are transportation services adequate and school lunch programs satisfactory? What changes do you recommend?

12. There is now a shortage of teachers in Texas and more will be needed. What do you think can be done to: a. Better utilize the teachers we have? b. Recruit more teachers? c. Keep teachers from leaving the profession?

13. Should the state offer incentives to encourage the teacher to complete college work beyond the bachelor's degree? If so, what?

14. Are there realistic ways in which Teachers performance may be related to salary? If so, how?

15. In your opinion, what minimum and maximum salary figures would cause young persons of your community to enter college with the specific objective to become a teacher?

D. A. (Andy) Rdam, 53, veteran employee of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, died Wednesday night in a Bryan hospital.

32 more classroom units will be needed here in the next five years. If West Ward building is abandoned, 17 more will be needed. What is the responsibility of the state and local district to provide this housing?

17. Will the school district be able to provide enough classrooms in the next five years? If not, what do you suggest? a. Authority to raise and levy additional school taxes? b. Adam began his long and distinguished career with the extension service in 1928 when he was appointed county agricultural agent for Lamb county.

In 1935 he was transferred to the same position in Young county and in 1944 to the position of farm labor assistant under the Emergency Farm Labor Program.

In 1947 he was named radio editor for the Extension Service and in 1950 to the position he held at the time of his death, staff assistant.

During the past eight years, his major responsibility has been the handling of foreign students who came to Texas A & M College and Texas to study agriculture and the Extension and System organizations. Only last year the Turkish Government requested his services and he went to that country to serve as extension advisor to the Minister of Agriculture.

Adam has gained national recognition in several fields of work but is perhaps best known for his abilities in the fields of organization and planning.

Andrews Cops Permian Title

Andrews continued their domination of South Plains track meets by copping the championship of the Permian Basin Relays at Kermit Saturday.

The Mustangs nipped Snyder for the championship as eight records fell and another was tied. The Cubs came in seventh in a 14-team field.

Andrews tallied 38½ points to 34 for Snyder and 21½ for Hobbs, N.M. Others were Crane and Seminole, 15; Fort Stockton, 8; Brownfield, 6; Kermit, 5½; Pecos, 3; Marfa, 2½; Wink, 2; Monahans, 1; Odessa Ector, 1; and Jal, N.M., ¾.

Cub points were the result of a third in the 120-yard high hurdles and a fourth in the 180-yard lows by Larry Megks, and a second place finish in the shot put by Johnny Jones.

Meeks, turning in his poorest performance of the spring season, covered the highs in 15 seconds and the lows in 21.1. Jones flipped the iron ball 49-7½ but again was out-distanced by Crane's James Byerly, who tossed for 51-4.

Rex Wilson set a new record in the high hurdle event with a 14.5 mark. His teammate, Bud Morgan copped the lows with a record-breaking mark of 19.5. The Cubs will participate in Andrews' Mustang Relays, beginning at noon today. Coach Don Hendley is taking an 18-man squad to the after-noon meet.

Trammel Nets Legal On Coast, Advises Attorney General

It is legal to use trammel nets not to exceed 1,200 feet in length in Galveston and Trinity bays, north of a line extending from Smith Point to Eagle point, according to W. J. Cutbirth, assistant executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

The nets must have at least a three and one-half inch stretch mesh.

Complaints have reached the game department from persons objecting to the use of the trammels. According to the Attorney General's ruling, however, they can be used in the manner in which they are customarily used.

This means the net can be played from the boat in round-up activities.

The assistant secretary further points out, it is unlawful for bait dealers or any other person to use a shrimp trawl larger than 10 feet during the period from Jan. 1 through Aug. 31.

During the remainder of the year a 65 foot trawl, as measured on the cork line, may be used.

The law also provides that during the closed season no person may catch or have in his possession any amount of shrimp in excess of two quarts, except that bait dealers may have 150 pounds, with heads attached, in their possession.

A bait dealer is described as a person who has an established place of business which sells and offers bait for sale.

Game Commission Lists Two Personnel Shifts

Two personnel shifts in the Game and Fish Commission have been announced by Howard Dodger, executive secretary.

Thornton Leads Tech Into Big Spring Meet

Led by W. L. Thornton, only Southwest Conference competitor to win an individual first place at the Texas Relays, Texas Tech's track team participates in the ABC Relays at Big Spring Saturday.

Thornton, sophomore from Aspermont, leaped 6 feet 8¾ inches at Austin to beat out by an inch Southern Methodist's highly-touted performer — NCAA champion Don Stewart and Swedish champion Bertil Holmgren. Thornton stands only six feet tall.

Coach Delmer Brown will also enter E. H. and Tommy Davis of Granbury, Pete Dyson of Fort Stockton, Johnny Henderson of Amarillo, Doyle Herring of Colorado City, Don Holt of Fort Stockton, James Leonard of Abilene, James Morris of Brownfield, Ken Osborne of Amarillo, and Tommy Patterson of Waco.

Henderson was held out of competition last week with a pulled leg muscle.

Tech's freshman mile relay team captured a trophy with a sparkling 3:18.2 clocking at Austin, but frosh aren't competing at Big Spring. The Picador runners were Harold Donahoo of Southland, Charlie Draper of Amarillo, Curtis Hart of Andrews, and Donnie Foster of Farmington, N.M.

'Macbeth' Slated In Agriculture Building On Tech Campus

Texas Tech thespians temporarily will populate the Agriculture Pavilion on the campus during the next few weeks in preparation for a four-day production of "Macbeth."

And, Macbeth will summon up Banquo's ghost in a setting not unlike that of Shakespeare's day. The Tech speech and drama students will be playing their roles in the pavilion, a place that in many ways resembles the famous old Globe Theater of the Elizabethan era.

Behind American Business Scenes

By Reynolds Knight Economic Analyst

NEW YORK — Penny-pinching is becoming fashionable in business and industry these days.

Many companies have traditionally followed cost-cutting practices, and in those cases the increased emphasis now on saving of time and material is not too obvious. But some others — nurtured on the cost-plus operations of war and defense contracts — have had to institute "economics" which make them appear almost parsimonious.

One concern, putting its plant-guards on motor scooters to speed them on their rounds, has cut their numbers almost in half with no loss of protection. The head of a big equipment manufacturing firm drops into his plants at night to remind employees to douse unnecessary lights. An appliance manufacturer bans collect phone calls from distributors.

The "hold-down" philosophy is not without its beneficial effects. One result is that management is now more willing to listen to the conscientious employee who's got a cost-cutting idea.

AIRBORNE TV — A closed-circuit television device that pictures constantly for an airplane pilot the exact location of his plane in relation to the ground has been developed for both military and commercial applications.

The electronic system, developed by the Avion division of ACF Industries, Incorporated, was demonstrated recently at an Air Force symposium held at Wright Air Development Center, Dayton, Ohio. R. F. Wehrin, Avion president, described the system, called the "Horizontal Situation Display" HSD for short — as one of the most significant advances since the airborne computer in simplifying navigational problems for jet pilots.

HSD projects on a five-inch round TV screen mounted on the instrument panel an image of the plane superimposed on an aeronautical map. This permits the pilot to have before him a continuous and automatic picture of the aircraft's geographical position and flight track, thus eliminating the need for bulky charts and hand computers.

THINGS TO COME — A new indoor-type color film, ten times faster than ordinary color film, makes it possible to take photos by the light of a match. . . . A new automatic change machine accepts dollar bills even though they're torn, but turns down counterfeit. . . . Plastic golf ball retriever that fits right into a golf bag holds 22 balls and removes one of the exercise features from the game: It eliminates stooping or bending; also caddies.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY — C.I.T. Financial Corporation, the nation's largest consumer and industrial financing organization, is celebrating its 50th anniversary — a short life span for firms in some fields but a patriarchal age in the comparatively new instalment credit field.

C.I.T., now the 34th largest U.S. corporation based on total assets, was launched by the late Henry Ittleson on Feb. 11, 1908 in a small St. Louis office.

Ittleson had conceived the idea of lending to businessmen against the bills owed them, a procedure now called accounts-receivable financing.

The firm quickly saw the enormous potential in another new idea — instalment credit. In 1916 C.I.T. signed with Studebaker the first agreement between an independent company and an automobile maker for a sales financing service on a national scale. Convincing the whole automobile industry of the advantages of instalment credit at that time, however, was a slow, hard job.

In 1919, Ittleson hired Arthur O. Dietz, now president, to spearhead the automobile financing business and in 1925, for the first time, the number of cars sold on credit in the U.S. exceeded the number sold for cash.

C.I.T. now provides financing, not only for car buyers, but in almost every segment of U.S. industry through its industrial financing and factoring subsidiaries. On its golden anniversary, C.I.T. is advancing credit to consumers and businessmen at the rate of $20 million a day — more than $5 billion a year.

GET THAT RECEIPT! — Internal Revenue's promised closer scrutiny of expense accounts has been causing New York cab drivers headaches lately. They're losing time after they flip the meter because many passengers now request receipts. The Police Department's Hack Bureau has pitched in to help by printing up authorized receipt books for tax drivers.

And the police have ruled that the cabbies must carry these receipt forms and hand them out when asked. However, the voucher shows only the actual fare collected, does not include the tip. The tip, we presume, will have to be logged by the taxpayer under that catchall deduction, "non-reimbursed expenses."

BITS O' BUSINESS — Sulphur producers expect U.S. consumption in 1958 to approach last year's total; but they're afraid Mexican sulphur will continue to cut into the domestic market. . . . Uncle Sam sold heavy loads of surplus corn to Europe last fall at cut-rate prices. Some market men think it's now coming back as refined cooking oil and being sold to Eastern buyers about a penny a pound under the domestic seaboard price. . . . Employment on the Class 1 railroads is down 11 per cent from a year ago, the I.C.C. reports.

It may be an old-fashioned idea, but we still think the Bible is good reading for the average man, woman or child in Brownfield.

The motto might read: "What helps the people of this country helps business."

Crankcase Crisis!

It seems this nice old lady drove into a Phillips 66 Station to fill up with Flite-Fuel. When the attendant checked the dipstick, he found she had only about a quart of oil left in her car. When he pointed this out, she replied: "Fine... as soon as I use that up, I'll put in some more!"

Of course the Phillips Dealer explained that she needed five quarts of oil for adequate lubrication!

Now that spring is here, it's time to think about the oil in your crankcase. If you are still using "winter grade" oil, it's time to change it. But why use two, when one will do? Better switch to Phillips 66 Trop-Artic* which gives you the effects of 10w, 20 and 30 grade oils. Compared to old-fashioned oils Trop-Artic Motor Oil can actually double engine life. Drive in today for your spring change-over. *A trademark

CONCERNS MANY CONSERVATIONISTS

SCOT Studies Aerial Spraying of Fire Ants

Concern of many conservationists over potential havoc wrought to birdlife and wildlife by the aerial chemical dusts treatment of the incipient imported fire ant plague was reported by Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas, Inc.

Cecil Reid, SCOT's executive secretary, said the use of aircraft to expedite poisonous dusting of infested areas seemed to be the primary worry of interested persons.

"Local or spot eradication is more costly at present but may prove more effective and practical in the end," he added.

Charles Chapman, director of quarantine for the Texas Agriculture Department, said "cyclone seeders," a hand operated gadget is recommended for use around tanks and ponds and Bill Adams, Bertha Smith and Ronnie Nettles, Mary Porter and Dennis Pinson, Clara Bolen and Troy Willis, Anna Morton and Larry Sims, Tootsie Hawkins and Ldean Hughlett, Peggy Burnett and Wayne Hare, Ann Baker and Jack Brown and Ray Sansing and ???

See you next week! The Two Ann to save fish life but that aerial dusting is being effectively used to treat 1,400 infested acres in Hardin County in southeast Texas.

The Texas Game and Fish Commission has just named Dan Lay of Buna, veteran wildlife biologist assigned to the Southeast Texas area, to observe the mass extermination program.

Reid said studies are being rushed to determine whether an effective but safe method of eradication may be found for the deadly imported fire ant which attacks plants and trees as well as wildlife and young domestic livestock.

"Game animals, song birds, beneficial insects, needed for pollination processes, as well as helpful micro-organisms in the soil may be affected," he explained. "Residual affects are not yet known and it has not been determined how long the soil will remain sterile after treatment with chemicals strong enough to suppress the ants."

"The effects from washings of the poison into streams and lakes likewise has not yet been determined. It is possible the preparations may kill fish food organisms although actually not in heavy enough concentrations to kill fish outright. "Certainly the imported fire ant infestation potential is a serious matter but consequences which could reduce the treated area to a status without fauna requires use of the best judgement."

Curbing the fire ant, already subject of close study by local state and federal agencies, is being scrutinized by SCOT's Technical Committee, headed by Val Lehmann, wildlife manager of King Ranch.

Everyone who fishes for bass hopes some day to land a grandpappy. Not that they are any better eating . . . it is just the pride in catching one bigger than you've ever taken before.

Well, if you've tried everything else, here is a suggestion that may be worth something. It has paid off. Whether it does for you may depend on luck as well as ability.

Some call it jigging. Actually it is just plain horsin'. You might call it bottom fishing with a heavy rig. But it does, occasionally, pay off with a big bass.

Naturally you must have good bass water. Always in bassy water there is an area that looks good, but is unworkable with light lines. You can do it, however, with a heavy rig.

The best spot is at the base of big tree trunks that stick out of the water, or where there is considerable brush under the water. Rig up your light salt water tackle, or use a good stiff action rod with a heavy reel loaded with from 20 to 30 pound test line.

The bait doesn't make too much difference, if it is something that will attract the bass. Right now some of the fishermen are using those black plastic worms or black eels. They have a good heavy sinker on the terminal that will take the bait to the bottom. After it has had a chance to settle down, work it only slightly and not too often. Just an occasional movement up and down. The chances are a big bass already has spotted it. He's not likely to be in a hurry to attack. You may spend a half-hour there, but don't take the lure out. Finally the old bruiser can't stand it any longer and he rushes it.

Set your hook and start up, all with the same motion. Don't give him a chance to wrap the line around a limb or crawl under a fence. More depends upon your retrieve than most anything else. That's the reason you need a good heavy line, one with which you can hoist him out.

When you are fishing for the big ones it is man against fish. If you land the fish you are the best. After you get him on the stringer find a new location and start all over again. Will it work? Try it yourself.

There is another way you can use the same rig, except for the lure. This time use a deep running, large plug. You might even want a trailing jig. Troll it fast through good bass water, and deep. That's why you'll need the heavy equipment, so you can pull it deep.

This is being done every day on Texoma with wonderful results. You may not do it the first time, but the idea is worth

BIG SPRING PAGEANT — Webb Air Force Base personnel and residents of Big Spring again will present the annual Easter Pageant this year. The event annually draws thousands of persons. a little practice.

Again, will it work? Again, try it.

HAWAIIAN LURES — Twenty-five years ago a fisherman in Ohio by the name of Fred Arbogast was testing out lures to see what effect they would have on catching fish. There was something about a Hawaiian skirt that intrigued him, so he made a skirt for an original lure and called it the Hawaiian Wiggler.

It didn't take long for this lure to catch on. Every man wanted one in his tackle box because it was a bass killer. Since that time Fred has gone on to his reward, but his Hawaiian Wiggler lives on. More than 14 million of them have been sold.

This year a number of silver Wiggles have been made up for presentation to a few longtime users. I am proud to have

GAR FISHING — It won't be too long until gar fishing will be coming along again. Over near Madisonville they are catching some of these big tackle busters already. Recently two were taken in Blue Lake on the east side of the Trinity, about 25 miles northeast of Madisonville.

One of them weighed 118 pounds and the other 74, with more than a score of smaller ones.

The gars were taken in gill nets. However, they can be taken on rod and reel and there is plenty of fight in doing it.

ICE FISHING — We don't have ice fishing in this part of the country, but occasionally we do have some real chilly weather. Fishermen on Lake Texoma have found a way to help overcome some of the chill. They are using charcoal heaters in their boats.

Others use gasoline stoves for the same results. While we believe in comfort, we hesitate to recommend a stove for a small boat. It's taking a lot of chance, especially in a boat where there is a gasoline tank or extra can of fuel.

Rocking of the boat, a gust of wind or even excitement while boating a fish could cause a terrible tragedy. If you've never seen a boat on fire in the middle of the lake, with its passengers struggling in the water, we can tell you it's not a pleasant sight.

Speaking of cold weather. Early morning fishing is chilly even in late Spring. If you want the big economy size of warmth — take along a Jon-e, jumbo-size warmer. It's a new self-starting, lighter-fluid type of hand-warmer, only it's giant size.

Aladdin Laboratories of Minneapolis has just produced this big one, patterned after their famous lighter-size hand-warmer. It has an easy starting, no flame heater, and also serves as a handy cigarette lighter. I'm told they also have a belt that you wear close to the body for real cold days. Resembles an old-time money belt and has two pockets in the back for inserting the warmers. NATURAL — "Lifelike and true-to-nature" is how Burke's Flexo-Products Co. refers to their new Flexo-Lures. Plastic lures seem to be growing in popularity, and this Traverse City (Mich.) manufacturer is making artificial bait that is as realistic as can be.

They now produce everything from artificial red ants, to floating frogs and the most "natural" eels. Especially "tempting" is their Flex-Minnow for spinning, trolling or casting. Sure hard to tell 'em from the real McCoy.

DEL-LIAR — Got a fisherman friend to whom you'd like to present an inexpensive little gift? Here's something he'd appreciate. It's only a $2 item but it's quite a little gadget.

We're talking about the fisherman's DEL-LIAR. It's a combination scale for weighing (up to 8-pounds) and a 24-inch retractable steel tape for measuring length. Right clever little all-metal gauge that's no bigger than a cigarette lighter. It's made by the Langley Corporation of San Diego, Calif. They have sold 3,000,000 of them the past 10 years.

Land Commissioner Says Vets Program Is Moving Rapidly

"Though the Veteran's Land Program is speeding up its operation," says Land Commissioner Bill Alcorn, "We are keeping right up to date in processing applications."

Alcorn cites these improvements in the speed-up of the land program:

1. Until recently, 250 applications were sent each week to veterans on the waiting list. This figure is now 300, and will be increased soon to 325 and later to 350 per week.

Some 3,000 applications have been mailed out since the Veteran's Land Board sold its first issue of 1956 Amendment Bonds.

2. The V. L. B. is now sending warning notices to veterans on the waiting list 60 days before they receive application forms. Notified in advance, more veterans can locate land they want to purchase by the time they receive applications.

Before the new money was available the time limit on returning applications was 30 days with a 10 day extension. This extension has now been increased to 30 days. Results already indicate that this is allowing greater participation.

Alcorn says the Board will offer $12.5 million worth of Veteran's Land Bonds for sale on April 1. On December 16, 1957, the V. L. B. sold the first $12.5 million worth of bonds from the $100 million bond issue approved by voters in November, 1956.

Dundee Hatchery Construction Begun

Construction work has been started on a complete rehabilitation of the Dundee Fish Hatchery near Wichita Falls, according to Joe Marks, hatchery engineer of the Game and Fish Commission.

Contract for the work was awarded to Boyd Callan, Inc., of Waco. The contract price was $178,667.25. The job is to be completed in 150 working days.

New ditches, water lines, and levees will be installed under the project. Work will be carried on without disturbing the present operation, which will continue in approximately half of the hatchery, which will continue in approximately half of the hatchery. After the first half of the project has been completed, operations will be switched over to the new installation while the other half is rehabilitated.

This is the hatchery that provides fish for restocking in the hundreds of small lakes in the North Texas and Panhandle areas.

Under the improvement program, a constant source of water is assured for the hatchery. Previously, propagation was seriously affected by drought conditions.

—April 10, 1958—
Farmers, as a class, are not receiving a fair share of the nation's income, and the welfare of the entire country demands that they should.

Most people are looking for excuses for postponing their work; that is why they have to look for excuses for not having cash when they need it.
