ATHLETICS FOR ALL

The first season of city league baseball has recently been closed entirely successful and as a result many business men have been given an opportunity to get needed physical exercise and at the same time form friendships with other men whom they might not have ever met off the athletic field.

The closing of the baseball season does not mean that this sort of thing must stop until spring, when the weather will once more permit the playing of baseball.

In Lubbock high school there is a gymnasium which, because it is in a public building, could very easily be used for the benefit of the public when it is not being put to the use of school athletics. It offers a remarkable opportunity for a basketball league, along the line of the city basketball league.

Why not have one? Basketball, it is true, will not afford the opportunities that football affords to the ordinary business man, because only five regular players are used on the court where nine are needed to play football. Yet, because it is rougher and because it offers its opportunity only at night, it helps to help tide the men who still feel able to enter into a game full of physical contact, an opportunity to keep in trim.

The men who organized and operated the baseball league performed a service for Lubbock which other men could not, or at least did not, do. Perhaps the same group or maybe another group, can do the same thing for a basketball league.

REALIZATION

Sometimes it appears that we who live in Lubbock have not yet come to full realization of what the Texas Technological College means to us. It seems that we are too often taking it as a matter of course—as something to be expected when in reality the doors of the institution are yet unopened to students.

If everyone in Lubbock who feels in a matter-of-fact way toward the Tech were permitted to hear what other people—perhaps away about it—say there would be a change in the general feeling.

All over West Texas, and in other parts of the state, too, we are told—The Texas Technological college is one of the topics of conversation.

Get on a train or a line car and listen to the conversation between strangers. It won't be long before the "school at Lubbock" becomes talked about. And the things that are being said are complimentary and the expectations voiced concerning Lubbock's method of handling the situation are also complimentary.

If we were all given the opportunity to hear things of this kind the business of putting Texas next school over with a bang would not be left to the loyal few who do practically everything in Lubbock—but every man, woman and child would get in the buggy and do his share in the thing. In twenty or thirty years, when vines have been grown over the administration building, when there are ten thousand students at the Tech—and when the boys are wearing knickerbockers to their classes and the girls are wearing gossamer in the cafeteria—legitimate, he said he believed that the mark of 4,000 as predicted by some was not to be thought of with the present equipment, for he could see no way that such a number could be taken care of.

With the bustle and hurry of the opening days, however, not much of a definite nature in this connection can be known, the school head said, and continued that if as many as 4,000 students apply for entry, all efforts possible would be made to accommodate them.

Pupils who've just moved into the city constantly besieged the office of the classification department throughout the day Tuesday, but according to Mr. Duncan, no classifications will be made during the actual school hours. All this must be attended to, he said, after 4 o'clock, for all teachers will be busy with the regular work until this time.

IT WILL HURT HERE

Some folks think that the drought in East and Central Texas will hurt only those parts of the state actually involved. That is a mistaken idea.

The drought condition, which has caused hundreds of farmers and business men to lose great sums of money, is going to hurt the Panhandle and every other part of the state severely unanticipated. It won't hurt as much as it will hurt. And here's how:

In Lubbock today are men who have come from these ruined sections of the state to tide over until a better time so that they can return. This fact is not true in Lubbock alone but in every other part of this country. It is not true among the farmers alone but

LARGEST NUMBER OF STUDENTS IN HISTORY REPORT

NEW BUILDINGS WILL BE ESSENTIAL; FIGURES UNAVAILABLE

With the entire hill on which the high school is situated teeming with activity as youngsters from throughout the city gathered for the second day of the 1925-26 school term, the corps of able teachers assisted by Supt. M. H. Duncan, were busy Tuesday morning checking up their records and arranging their rooms for the accommodation of the student body, which this year is expected to surpass anything on record in the history of the public schools here.

While no accurate check has yet been made as to the number that will attend throughout the several different buildings in the city, pending a meeting of the faculty this afternoon, all indications point to crowded conditions despite the many commodious buildings which have been erected in the past two or three years.

Preliminary check-up shows in round numbers, about 775 already registered for the high school course, which has already passed the peak mark during the term last year. Supt. Duncan predicted Tuesday morning that the high school alone will probably pass the $50 mark before Christmas.

Actual class work and lesson assignments were entered into Tuesday morning, and although the issuance of books has not been entirely completed in the high school building, this will probably be finished sometime today, according to Mr. Duncan.

Three primary grades have been opened at the high school building for the accommodation of residents of the southwestern portion of the city. These are one class each in the first, second and third grades, under the supervision of Mrs. M. L. Dugan, who for several years has been connected with the primary work of the school here. All these classes are to be held on the first floor of the south wing of the high school building, and although enrollment in these grades has not yet reached the capacity mark in conformity with the balance of the schools, it is believed that as soon as patrons know that this accommodation is being offered, the rooms will be filled to capacity.

This will in a measure relieve the congested conditions of the ward buildings, the superintendent believes, in addition to giving patrons south of Broadway and west of Avenue Q the advantage of not having to send their children across the city to some ward building.

Supt. Duncan estimates that the enrollment in the school system during the first few days will approximate 3,200, which he says is just about all that can possibly be accommodated, and while not casting reflection on the judgment of some of the more optimistic, he said he believed that the mark of 4,000 as predicted by some was not to be thought of with the present equipment, for he could see no way that such a number could be taken care of.

With the bustle and hurry of the opening days, however, not much of a definite nature in this connection can be known, the school head said, and continued that if as many as 4,000 students apply for entry, all efforts possible would be made to accommodate them.

Pupils who've just moved into the city constantly besieged the office of the classification department throughout the day Tuesday, but according to Mr. Duncan, no classifications will be made during the actual school hours. All this must be attended to, he said, after 4 o'clock, for all teachers will be busy with the regular work until this time.

SCHOOLS WILL NOT HOLD LUBBOCK PUPILS

Already having passed the high record of last year by over 600, enrollment in the public school system of Lubbock threatens to again bring the school board face to face with the proposition of providing more room, according to Superintendent M. H. Duncan, who announced Wednesday that enrollment in the high school alone has reached the $50 mark, with daily.

Fifty were classified into the high school course after 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and over 30 were held over until this morning. Others have come in today, Superintendent Duncan said at noon, and he expressed the opinion that there is a probability of the enrollment passing the 1000 mark.

This necessitates the addition of another teacher, who Wednesday was assigned work in the English department. She is Miss Dorothy Lomax, of Columbia University.

Enrollment in the grade schools is estimated to be about 3,200, bringing the total for the entire system to over 4,100. The grade school enrollment is only in round numbers, Mr. Duncan said, for an accurate count has yet been made.

With lesson assignments and other work well under way the school is taking on its normal stride, and things are beginning to move off in the best of shape, according to Mr. Duncan.

County Club Boys And Girls Will Be Given Reception

The officers and honor members of the Boys and Girls clubs of Lubbock county will be tendered an informal luncheon September 16, at the country club house on the east edge of the city, David F. Tinsley, county agent announced Wednesday.

John T. Eason, District Farm Agent, and Miss Myrtle Murray, District Home Demonstration Agent, will be guests at the reception and the officials of the board of the county, including the commissioners and judge will also be present.

A program is being arranged by Mr. Eason, and a general good time is promised.

DIRT BROKEN FOR NEW STAGE LINE DEPOT TUESDAY

BUILDING TO BE MODERN AND FIREPROOF THROUGHOUT

Dirt was broken Tuesday morning for the foundation of what is to be Lubbock's stage line depot, and according to J. B. Maxey, local contractor, who has the construction contract, work will be pushed along until completion.

The building, which is to be 25 by 125 feet, is located on Avenue J just across the alley back of the Lubbock National bank, and will be of brick construction, as near fireproof throughout as possible.

It will be equipped with every modern convenience found in a depot of this nature, and will be managed by competent officials who have had experience in the operation of such institutions.

Arrangements will be made for accommodation of all stage and bus lines operating in and out of this city, relieving to a great extent the congestion that is a natural consequence of parking at the curbs or near hotel entrances.

It is the present plan to furnish work for as many boys who wish to attend the Tech college as possible, according to those in touch with the situation. These boys will be offered odd-time jobs in the repair department, on the wash racks, or in the office.

In fact, anything that is to be done about the place will be held, and preference will be given college students, officials say.

The building will be completed within about 40 days if present plans of the contractor materialize.

Forty-three Cars To Make Jaunt To Post And Slaton

Working for only a few hours Wednesday morning, the committee in charge of the first Fair Booster trip, which leaves Friday, has signed up 43 cars at 2 o'clock today.

The committee will continue work tomorrow, Louis Moore, chairman, said, in an effort to bring the number to no less than 100, which is the mark set at a meeting of the directors of the Junior chamber of commerce yesterday.

The jaunt is scheduled to get under way and take the eastern route via Idalou, Lorenzo, Rails and Crosbyton, where the caravan will turn south to Post, making all intervening towns on the route home.

This trip, according to Mr. Moore, will be one of the shortest of the four, the other three of which will be made one each week.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9. (AP)—Rudolph Valentino must appear in justice court here Friday and stand trial on a speeding charge. Such is the determination of Justice Joseph Marchetti despite the screen celebrity's plea that he move his court temporarily to the Valentino studio. Valentino had pointed out that if he lost the studio and came to court the wheels of production would stop and much money would be lost while the cameras waited for his reappearance.

SHORT COURSE FOR FARMERS OF SOUTH PLAINS MAY BE HELD IN CITY IF PLANS ARE FOLLOWED

D. L. JONES, HEAD OF LUBBOCK STATION, STRESSES ADVISABILITY OF PLAN; LEIDIGH AND HORN TO BE ON PROGRAM

Lubbock county and South Plains farmers and business men will be given advantage of a short course, or educational program sponsored by the International Harvester company if action taken by the chamber of commerce directors gives sufficient backing to guarantee attendance at the programs, according to an announcement of A. B. Davis, Manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

The two-day course, primarily for the benefit of the farmer, is one that is likewise advantageous to the business man in an indirect way, Davis said, and complete co-operation among the two classes must be had before the Harvester company will offer their program.

The Nislar Hardware company here, representative of the sponsoring firm will take the initiative in any move that will lead toward bringing the series of programs here, Oscar Nislar, manager of the local firm said, and he plans to begin signing up the necessary number of petitioners to the Harvester company at once.

"The course will be given to the town or city that offers the best prospects for attendance," Mr. Nislar said, "and attendance is the main thing that controls this, for the Harvester company offers the course absolutely free in their efforts to improve conditions of the farmer throughout the country."

Speakers furnished. The Harvester company proposes to furnish free the best speakers that can be secured for the course—men who have been especially trained for the work, and men who have had practical experience on the farm, and know the needs, the trials and tribulations of the farming class.

Large speakers using moving pictures, large charts and lantern slides to illustrate their subjects, showing actual scenes of what happens to the farmer and his equipment under certain conditions. The work is strictly an educational campaign, and not an advertising scheme, Mr. Nislar says, and this is vouched for by the fact that one of these courses has been exhibited here before, and local people are conversant to a great extent in regard to what the course means to them.

Good Attendance Needed. In return for this service, the company must be assured that good attendance will be given at all sessions, requiring that certain civic organizations give their approval to the move and their assurance that everything possible will be done to encourage attendance.

Subjects which will be discussed during the course include almost everything in the category of the farmer's work from the front yard to the orchard.

The ladies likewise are given pointers in the management of the home in its different phases and surroundings, with special stress being placed on modern conveniences in the farm home, and in canning work. Competent lady directors and speakers are on the program for the course.

Nothing definite can be learned in connection with the date that the course may be secured until formal application has been filed with the company, but officials of the chamber of commerce expect to file these papers as soon as arrangements can be made.

DAN HENDERSON IS GIVEN 45 YEAR TERM

Dan Henderson, negro, was given a total of 45 years in the state penitentiary following the state penitentiary jury's verdict on Thursday morning, in District Court here Wednesday morning.

Ten years on each of three counts was assessed against him, and fifteen years on the other. One charge of attempted assault, for which the black had been indicted, was not called out by the prosecution on account of the long aggregate term given him on the burglary counts.

District Attorney W. C. Witche expressed satisfaction with the sentence, but issued the statement that if by chance the negro ever should come out of the pen, the latter charge would be brought up against him.

The charges grew out of a recent rampage of the negro at Slaton and no flight was attempted. The first indictment was in connection with the entry of the home of J. A. Owens, of Slaton, on February 1, when it is charged that the negro took a drink.

One indictment recites that on February 20, the negro entered the home of Gillard Leary, of Slaton, and took an overcoat.

The other two charges the negro with theft of an electric iron and a pistol from the home of Henry Ford and W. E. Dorsett, also residents of Slaton. These occurred respectively on March 5 and 20.

The black, who is known to be a rather wild character, took the sentence stoically, and when asked by the Judge if he wished to accept the penalty at once, replied in the affirmative.

He will be held in the Lubbock county jail pending arrival of penitentiary agents, District Judge Mullin said.

Queer Check Case Results In Light Punishment Today

Hershel J. Burns, local man was assessed a two year suspended sentence, in District Court here this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of forgery in one of the most unusual cases on record in the 72nd Judicial District. The jury in the case was out only a few minutes.

It developed during the trial that Burns, instead of having raised the check as is usually the case in a forgery case, had reduced a check from $150 to $105, but had endorsed the paper with a fictitious name, according to the prosecuting attorney.

CITY OFFICIALS GIVE CONTRACTS ON BUS SERVICE

Five-Cent Rate Assured School Boys and Girls; Red Ball Stage Is Winner

Final contracts have been closed and everything is lining up for the installation of a city bus line service as soon as the equipment arrives. It was announced Tuesday morning by R. M. Childwood, Business Manager of the Tech College, which institution has fostered the move for the benefit of the student body.

The Red Ball Stage line was the successful bidder on the project and the local manager of the concern says that special equipment has been ordered and is now being driven through from the factory in Lima, Ohio. It is expected that this will arrive here the latter part of this week, or the first of next.

The bus is a 21-passenger street car type parlor car, with one pay-as-you-enter entrance at the front, and an emergency exit at the rear, and will be equipped with all the conveniences usually found in a transportation vehicle of this nature.

A special arrangement of college officials with the contracting company, a set of five seats will be set aside for both college and high school students, but all other passengers will be charged ten cents.

All students who wish to take advantage of the five cent rate must carry an identification card signed by college or high school officials, the manager of the bus line firm said.

Idalou Is Host To Many People At Prosperity Party

The city of Idalou, Lubbock nearest neighbor on the east, is in her gayest dress today, and is playing host to hundreds of visitors from over the South Plains, who have gathered to assist the young city in her celebration of the wave of prosperity that is sweeping her trade territory, according to reports brought to Lubbock by S. W. Cooper, secretary of the chamber of commerce at Crosbyton, who stopped off for a few minutes at noon enroute here.

A big barbecue marked the noon hour as one to be long remembered by the visitors, and a program of peppy speeches by some of the South Plains' best products along this line was a prominent feature of the afternoon.

WARNING ISSUED ON COUNTY LEAF WORM SITUATION

Precautions Must Be Taken If Cotton Crop Is Not Badly Injured. The leaf worm situation in Lubbock county is fast nearing the stage that if precaution is not taken by the farmers, the cotton crop will be cut at least half, according to an announcement Wednesday morning by County Agent David P. Eaton, who in company with J. D. Tinsley, Agricultural Agent of the Santa Fe and R. R. Reppert, ex-Mexico college has just completed a survey of the cotton in connection with a tenon entomologist of the A. and the situation.

"There is no cause for undue alarm at the present time," Tinsley said, "but if something is not done in the next few days to curb the rapid increase of the pest, the cotton crop will suffer. After watching the worms and its growth, we find that within a week's time it will grow from the egg stage to the full grown worm, which is another week or ten days will grow into the moth."

"We find that the most heavily infested sections lie to the south and southwest portions of the county, due to the fact that the moths, which come originally from Mexico, fly with the wind, and lights promiscuously on the cotton crop, usually on the spot where the most dense growth is found."

"But the county generally is covered with the worm in the egg stage, and another week will play havoc with the crop unless preventative steps are taken to curb the spread of the pest. Every moth is capable of laying 400 eggs, which within two weeks time or a little more, will in turn hatch out for hundreds more each, showing the rapidity with which the pest will increase."

The county agent's office is besieged daily by farmers seeking information in connection with how to fight the pest, and is offering every assistance possible in the fight. Poison is being handled by the agent through the Farm Bureau, and is sold to the farmers at actual cost. Orders were placed today by wire from the office of calcium arsenate, which is suggested by the agent as the best method of combat against the worms.

This poison is used in a powdered form, soaked up into sugar sticks or cheese cloth bags, and is thoroughly dusted over the infested area. The agent says that usually a farmer, if he has no help at home, will co-operate with his neighbor, strapping bags of the poison on a pole between two horses, shaking the dust vigorously over the foliage. A fog of dust must be made near the ground, the agent says, so that the poison will thoroughly cover the leaves on the bottom, where the pest stays. The arsenate can be used in the form in which it is received, or continued, or mixed almost equal parts with lime. The user, however, is cautioned that if the mixture is too strong with arsenate, it will burn up the foliage, which is just as bad as letting the pest take it.

Another mixture that is in common usage here is Paris Green and lime, which should be used in equal parts and added to by either one part of flour or lime. The Paris Green should not be used in the concentration form, the agent said, for it likewise will burn up the foliage.

Machine For City Bus Line Service Arrived Here Today

The new bus, which was bought by the Red Ball Stage Line here especially for use on the city line, for which the firm was granted contract recently, arrived here Wednesday morning. The machine was driven through from the factory in Lima, Ohio.

Operation of the bus service will begin about the 15th of this month, the local manager of the stage line said today, giving the company an opportunity to arrange a schedule for the opening of the Tech College the latter part of this month.

The bus is a 21-passenger parlor type car built on the order of a street car, with an entrance at the front, and an emergency exit at the back.

Many City Men To Go On Trade Trip

Fifty automobiles, bearing Lubbock booster and the high school band, will make the trip to Brownfield, Wilson, September 15th, if early reports on those who have promised to go, can be taken as a criterion. Harold W. Wood, with Garland Woodward, J. A. Raley and Mose Hood, has been busy getting business men interested in the jaunt, which is one of a series of annual auto trade trips staged to advertise the Panhandle and South Plains fair. The Lynn county fair, at Tahoka on the 15th, will be the big feature of the trip, Mr. Woods says.

Mexican Minister Laid To Rest In Local Cemetery

The body of Rev. Ephraim Gauss, Exhorter of the Mexican Methodist Mission, in Mexican town, this city, was laid to rest in the local cemetery following fitting services held in the First Methodist church Tuesday morning.

Rev. Santos Romo, in charge of the Mexican Methodist Church, in Brownfield, Texas, was in Lubbock and preached the funeral sermon.

In eulogizing the deceased, Rev. Romo was filled with deep emotion. He said he had known Rev. Gauss for years and that he was one of the best men in Texas, and had been a minister in the Mexican Methodist Church for a short seven years. He was a wholehearted Christian, and he proved he was in every respect. Just as soon as Hillsboro Methodist Church heard he was dead, they wanted to have him buried in Hillsboro. He was the first Mexican Methodist that came to Lubbock county to work among the Mexican people and ministered unto them since last October, and recently organized a church with twenty-five Mexicans joining through confession of faith.

POSTMASTER IS URGENT IN PLEA OF COOPERATION

People Control Extension of Free Mail Delivery Here, His Plea Says.

Issuing an urgent appeal that local people co-operate with the postoffice in their efforts for an extension of the free mail delivery service here, Postmaster Jno. L. Vaughan Wednesday laid the proposition squarely upon them, saying that the people who would be granted the service are the ones who have sole control over whether or not the recommendations as made to the Postal department are granted.

Certain requirements must be met, he said, before an attempt will be made to extend the service. These requirements include correct numbering of houses, the placing of mail receptacles in convenient places so that the carrier may have ready access to it, the erection of street lights on all affected districts, and the laying of continuous sidewalks in the district.

The city has agreed to make all light extensions as soon as workmen can get to it, and is making every effort to live up to the requirements. Now the people must do their part, the postmaster insists.

It is the plan now to put on three new carriers the first of October, doubling the present service. But these carriers probably will be new men in the city, and street signs must be installed before they can give the service with any reasonable amount of speed and accuracy. These signs likewise are here, and will be installed in the very near future, city officials say.

Following are the routes as proposed in the extension recommendations which are now before the Postal department at Washington:

FT. WORTH MEN IN HIGHER RATES REQUEST

CHICAGO, Sept. 9. (AP)—Shippers of the southwest today served notice through Judge S. H. Cowan, of Fort Worth, that they would act as a unit in the hearing on the western railroads petition for a cent increase in rates.

Judge Cowan in the announcement to Chief Justice H. A. Aitchison, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who is hearing testimony, asked the right to do their own case. Cowan said the western shippers were here by thirty of their number.

Joseph H. Beak, of Chicago, secretary of the National Industrial League, who yesterday in the shippers unite in the formation of a steering committee today announced that the plan had been done because of the failure to

Long Beard Camp Is Badly Injured As Car Hits Bike

RENO, Nev., Sept. 9. (AP)—Zack Wilcox, 78, who lays claim to fame by reason of his 22 foot beard which won him a second place in the Whisker competition of Sacramento several years ago, has been seriously injured in Carson City. He was struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle down the main thoroughfare there. One leg was broken in two places and his shoulder strained. Because of his advanced age, it is feared that his injuries may be fatal.

Upon the handle bars of Zack's bicycle was his green parrot, his boon companion for the past twenty years. It was uninjured but expressed its indignation in three of the five languages at its command.

LEAGUE TO MEET ON CLAIMS MADE ON MONSUL LAND

Turkish Foreign Minister Puts Question Up To Board; John Bull Implicated

(By The Associated Press)
GENEVA, Sept. 9.—Formal demand for a plebiscite to determine whether the Mosul district in upper Mesopotamia shall go to Turkey or the British mandate state of Iraq, was contained in a memorandum presented to the Council of the League of Nations today by Tewfik Ruzhbil Bey, the Turkish foreign minister.

The memorandum declares that if Great Britain refused to agree to the plebiscite it will be "indisputable proof" that the Turkish claim is well founded and that Mosul desires to be restored to the Sovereignty of Turkey "her mother country." Evidence that the neutral countries of Europe will persistently labor for the early convocation of a disarmament conference was given today when former Premier Zahle, of Denmark, urged that the League's council continue preparatory steps for such a conference and study all the problems connected with disarmament.

Protection of minority, a security pact among the Balkan nations and re-organization of the council of league are among the outstanding questions for the assembly which today got down to serious discussion, after two days of routine organization.

NOTICE, SCHOOL PATRONS

Beginners. Pupils known as beginners—those entering school for the first time—will be admitted to school only during the first three weeks of school in September. The class of beginners starting now is the only class that will be started during this school year. So parents having little children to start to school this school year will please enroll them during the first three weeks. Children who will be seven years of age on or before the first day of next January may enter school now or any time during the first three weeks. This is a regulation of the Board.

Kindergarten children: We have found that we can accommodate more kindergarten children than are now enrolled and have decided to admit all children who will be six years of age on or before the first day of next January. The tuition fixed by the Board is two dollars per month for children in the kindergarten. We shall be glad to have all children of this age enroll at once if they intend to enroll during the present school year.

Editorially Speaking

The Stone Age Again

Lubbock has one of the most intricate traffic systems in West Texas. Anyone who has operated a vehicle here and obeyed the laws while doing it, knows that.

Many of the laws are necessary and some may not be. But one thing sure—there is no necessity for placing big stone blocks in the center of narrow street intersections in the residence sections of the city. No driver, no matter how much of a dumbbell he may be, needs a stone block to help him more safely operate his machine.

The idea of traffic regulations is to promote safety to both autoist and pedestrian alike.

If it is promoting safety to have a 500 pound block of cement placed where a driver is apt to run in to it we might just as well throw the cars away and go back to roller skates. If that is the case it's entirely too dangerous to drive a car anywhere save in a forty acre lot.

Driving west on Main street, with the sinking sun in your eyes, see if you can get by the block at the intersection of Avenue Q if you don't already know its there. Then see what you think of the stone block—or rather the stone age—system.

Maybe one or two serious smashups—and there has been several trivial ones already—coming as the result of this idea, will cause the blocks to be removed.

It would be much nicer, however, if they were removed without someone being hurt.

School Uniforms

The idea is advanced by some educators that it would be well for the girl students of high and "prep" schools, to wear some distinctive uniform. It is argued that such a plan takes the attention of girls away from dress, and makes it easier to concentrate their thought on other aims. Also it promotes democracy. The girl from the humble home is not placed at a disadvantage by the need for economy on clothes.

The girl who is ambitious to make a fine appearance is forced then to depend upon her fine carriage and posture, her pleasing manners, instead of making up for defects by spending more money for clothes. Much can be said in favor of the idea.

Church Fairs

About now many churches hold fairs and bazaars. Many authorities say that churches should be supported by gifts. Yet while this is true in the main, the church fair draws a lot of money from people's pockets that would not be contributed in any other way.

It is funny how people will give in this way, when they could do the same thing at less expense by direct gifts. Many a man will allow $5.00 worth of material to be taken from his pantry for a church supper, when he would not give $2.00 directly. Yet somehow the fairs appeal to human nature, and the women perhaps get their pay for hard work through social pleasures.

Fairs should be run on a business basis. The people who put in $1.00 worth of material and $2.00 worth of time, and then sell the article for $1, are working on the wrong theory. They would better make something that people really want, and will pay a good price for.

The Child In A Hostile World

Considering all the perils, moral and physical, that children have to meet, it is a marvel that so many survive.

The New York Evening Post puts it this way: "Into what a hostile world does the little city child intrude with his happy smile, his desire to play, to run, to shout, and stretch his muscles vibrant with life! His position is very much like that of an ant in some great power plant with whirling wheels and roaring boilers. The ant does not endanger any of the wheels, therefore it may run about, but if it isn't careful it will be crushed."

Thus many cities and towns turn their children out into the streets without adequate play spaces, and then are shocked when some of them are killed and injured. It turns them loose to the moral perils of town life, and is shocked when some become criminals and others loafers. If we care for our children, we must not stint them opportunities for development.

There is a man in Lubbock who is not doing himself or anyone else justice and for some unknown reason he knocks the city. His case is identical with many others. Very often when a man is finding trouble with something else the real trouble is with him.

The trouble with their situation today is that when a cartridge house sells a lot of bullets the management can figure that although business is good at the present time the sale of each bullet lessens their field. From the looks of things a lot of potential customers are coming to untimely ends.

Martyrs of Progress

By Dorman H. Smith

The Big Heart

The Saviour of mankind, in one of His noblest utterances, spoke of the shepherd who had a hundred sheep, one of which had gone astray. "Doth He not leave the ninety and nine?" He asked, "and goeth into the mountains and seeketh that which hath gone astray?" Yet we pursue our own cares and pleasures, regardless of the 100th sheep down in some back alley or side street that is going astray in the complexities and temptations of modern life.

A community ought to be like a family, in which the troubles and difficulties that individual members meet should cause concern and anxiety to all the members of this fraternal group. The family that is up against hard times should find generous hands of help extended to it. If that were always the case in a city, you would find hard feelings disappearing, and the community would work together as a unit in its industries and its social efforts.

There is the belief of course that people's troubles are largely the result of their own fault. In a great many cases that is so. Indolence, vice, follies, cause more than half the troubles of life.

But there is a residue of misfortune that is due to causes that the community could help. Lack of practical facilities for education that should train backward children to self support, is one cause why many go on the wrong track. More generous support for playgrounds and clubs where high ideals of action are taught, would help a lot more to keep straight.

Our cities and towns will not contain happy and united populations, until those who are successful and fortunate feel a deeper concern about those who have had difficulties, and seek to provide those preventive agencies that shall keep young people from entering some wrong or unfortunate course of action.

Another bright young man has committed a murder for a "thrill" and incidentally for $4,000. His lawyers have announced that the plea will be insanity and that they will ask the jury to order him kept in an asylum the rest of his life. Perhaps if a different dispensation had been made of the perpetrators of the Bobby Franks crime this would never have happened. Even the most ardent opponents of capital punishment must admit that sometimes it has its good points.

"The kind of girl that men forget" now-adays seems to be the sensible one.

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—France's war in Morocco, with another one just starting in Syria, won't improve this country's prospects of arranging a satisfactory debt settlement.

It's beginning to become apparent that the Moroccan affair is of considerable size.

The Druses, who are in revolt in Syria, are stubborn fighters, too. Both these campaigns are expensive and undoubtedly will make the French feel poorer.

All the indications are that America's World War Foreign Debt Commission will stand pat in its conversations with Finance Minister Caillaux of France—that is it will insist on an agreement which appears to give the United States all she has coming. In reality the figures are likely to be hounded so as to make a good many concessions to the French, but it must be done so that nobody will know it except a few super-experts, like Secretaries Mellon and Hoover and Senator Smoot. It must be done that way because the administration doesn't believe American public opinion would approve undue leniency toward the French. But this won't suit Minister Caillaux, whose game is to make his people think they're getting more than they are. The outlook doesn't favor harmony.

The beauty of the whole thing is that nobody on the inside in Washington expects America to get full payment on war loans except from England. As for the rest—a little interest, perhaps, here and there, but nothing more. The pending negotiations are for popular consumption.

The Denver Tourney

It used to be quite the stunt for everybody from Amarillo to hate Lubbock—and for everybody from Lubbock to heartily return the compliment.

It used to be that people in one town hoped fervently that a cyclone would come along and wipe the other town off the map.

It used to be that the citizens of each town thought of the citizens of the other town as direct competitors—even deadly enemies—at least in a commercial light.

But all that is "used to-be" stuff and both towns are better off for it.

Recently the Trade Trippers from Amarillo visited Lubbock. They got a real reception from Lubbock people even though the time which they were to arrive here was changed five times and when they did arrive it was just at the dinner hour.

Yet the reception here was the warmest they received on their long trip and the men from Amarillo appreciated it.

More recently both cities entered a baseball team in the Denver Post tournament and the Amarillo team was defeated by Lubbock and thereby lost all opportunity of competing in any more games.

But Amarillo took it in a sportsmanlike manner and again cement was applied to the foundation of friendship between the two towns.

And further, the Amarillo Daily News, the largest paper in the Panhandle and Amarillo's leading publication, comments as follows on Lubbock's victory:

"Lubbock went to Denver and won the baseball tournament in a field of eleven teams. It took grit for Lubbock to win this tournament. Lubbock lost the first game. One more loss and Lubbock would have been eliminated, for two defeats would have sent the team home.

"But Lubbock came back gamer than ever and defeated Amarillo, Parco and Elitchs, the high teams to win. The Panhandle-Plains rejoices in the good fortune of Lubbock in winning the tournament. Amarillo baseball fans were rooting for Lubbock, if the local American Legion team could not win it.

"Amarillo sent a good team to Denver. The boys won three straight games and then dropped the two contests which eliminated them. The Legion team went into fourth place, and Amarillo also congratulates their good work at Denver, although we naturally would have liked for them to be the winners."

Fine spirit.

MATADORS APPROVED BY FREELAND AS NAME FOR TECH ATHLETIC TEAM; SCARLET AND BLACK TO BE COLORS

Picking colors and a name for a new football team—one that will carry the effect not only with the football squad, but with the entire athletic category is no little job, in the opinion of Ewing Y. Freeland, athletic director of the Tech College, and in seeking to solve this all-important problem for the state's newest educational establishment, Freeland has been tearing his hair for the past several weeks.

Many names and color combinations have been offered in this connection, according to Freeland, but only recently has a layout that snacks of the real thing been found, he says.

The name which sounds good to Freeland is "Matadors," and the colors to which he admits he is partial designer, is a scarlet and black combination. This combination has been used by the coach in all his plans and orders for equipment, and the greater part of the equipment has been ordered, some of which is already here.

The name "Matadors" struck the grid mentor as especially appropriate for use of the Tech on account of the Spanish effect that is carried out in all construction work on the college campus. The name, coming from the bull fights, the national sport of Spain and Mexico, is one that is self-explanatory in its meaning, and carries the spirit that Freeland will strive to instill into all athletes who participate with the college.

The color also will add to the effect carried by the name, but Freeland is very insistent that the color, scarlet, should not be confused with the red and maroon, both of which seem to be great favorites among southern schools. The color selected by him comes as near as possible to matching a blood stain, and he'll urge upon the student body, which must make the final decision in the matter, that this color be selected.

The black will be used only for the numbers on the uniforms and for borders and other minor uses to break the flashy scarlet.

Coach Freeland is exceptionally optimistic over prospects for the initial year in athletics for the Tech, and this enthusiasm all but bubbled over into a setting-up exercise when he was commenting on the outlook of things—especially since he has placed an order for the scarlet sweaters.

Three men who have lettered in Freshman athletics at A. & M. College, and as many who have distinguished themselves at the University of Texas, together with several more who have equally as good records at other schools, will attend the Tech this year, Freeland said. With this material as a nucleus, and with a wealth of less seasoned material which will be picked up from high schools throughout the Panhandle-Plains, Eastern New Mexico and southern Oklahoma, Freeland expects to whip into shape during the first year a club that will make a mark for itself.

The squad, however, is facing an exceptionally hard schedule for the opening year, and could hardly be expected to sweep everything before it. Freeland has promised, however, that he will certainly mix things with any club that desires a trial.

With the arrival of "Big Higgs" Higginbotham the latter part of last week, added impetus is given to the hopes of the coach, for Higginbotham carries a reputation throughout the southwest as a man who can do much with little material.

The most of the equipment for the squad has been ordered and will be here in plenty of time for the first out to practice, which is expected to be made about the 15th of this month.

Killing Weeds Aids In Conserving Water
Cultivate to kill the weeds and you save the moisture that would go to produce the weeds, says the Research Department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers. A ton of weeds requires 20 tons of water to grow them, according to experiment station figures. The disk, the smoothing harrow, the land plow or the roller all help seal the water supply and hold it for bigger crops next year when these implements are used following harvest.

Editor Harry N. Stone, of the Seminole Sentinel, is in Lubbock today on business, and reports that conditions in his section are very favorable for a bumper crop.

Former C. of C. Secretary and A Worker for Lubbock, Sends Congratulations.

That, although he is no longer a citizen of Lubbock his heart still beats for the "Hub of the Plains," was shown last night when Curtis A. Keen, formerly editor of the Plains Journal and secretary of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, sent the following telegram to the staff of the Daily Journal:

"Heartiest congratulations upon this progressive step for the development of the South Plains, and sincere good wishes for the fullest possible measure of success in your new venture. The Journal was instituted to meet a need that was evident at the time of its first appearance and its growth has been justified and deserved. Continue your broad-minded policy of featuring the local news in a clean, wholesome, straightforward way, holding ever in mind the greatest service to your city and section and nothing can stop you. You have the greatest line-up of news facilities I have ever seen announced for a new publication and I predict for you an instant recognition by the people of Lubbock and the South Plains as the leading newspaper of the city. Add me to your misery list. Start it with the first issue and never let it lapse."

"Curtis A. Keen." Mr. Keen, who was one of the most tireless civic workers ever seen here, was the founder of what is now the Daily Journal, over three years ago. He served as editor of the Plains Agricultural Journal and then later as editor of the Plains Journal. He is now publicity director of the Baker chain of hotels and is headquartered at the new Baker hotel, at Dallas.

Rio Grande Within Two Feet Of Flood And Still Rising

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Sept. 8. (AP)—The Rio Grande is within two feet of flood stage here this morning and is slowly rising, following a tropical storm which Sunday and Monday high brought an eleven inch rain and marooned motorists on flooded roads.

The storm apparently has disappeared according to W. J. Schurz, local weather forecaster. A slow rain is still falling here this morning with the rainfall for the past 24 hours reported at 64 inch.

Four Feet Over Bridge. DEL RIO, Texas, Sept. 9. (AP)—The Rio Grande was flowing four feet over the international bridge here today and was rising slowly. It was one foot higher this morning than 24 hours before. The Conchos river, in Mexico was pouring flood waters in the Rio Grande.

LADIES IN LAMB PLAN FORMATION OF CIVIC ORDER

Littlefield's Housewives Who Are Interested in Growth To Band Together

LITTLEFIELD.—A meeting for the purpose of organizing a Civic League in Littlefield will be held at the school house next Wednesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. All ladies of the town interested in the betterment and beautifying of Littlefield are urged to be present. The committee in charge of the organization is composed of Mrs. L. W. Jordan, Miss Birdie Lee Burkhalter, Mrs. T. Wade Potter, Mrs. B. L. Cogill and Mrs. W. G. Street.

That the Civic League in Littlefield is a very desirable and almost necessary organization there is no doubt. Never a week passes but there are matters of importance that might well be looked after by an organization of this kind. There are several matters of civic importance now that deserve the attention of the ladies of this town, who can handle such better than the men.

One of the committee in commenting upon the organization declared there was no reason why there should not be a Civic League organized here that would rival both in membership and activity, the local Chamber of Commerce. Every woman of the town who is interested in the advancement of their home city should be present at the meeting next Wednesday.

Santa Fe Is Valued At $476,120,978 By Officials Of I. C. C.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (AP)—A tentative valuation of $476,120,978 was fixed by the Interstate C. C. today on the property of the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe system, as of June 30, 1916.

The system operates 10,875 miles of its own line and leases 1,684 miles of line, and has a capitalization in stocks and bonds outstanding of $334,924,552. Its own book investment account has a total of $534,221,828.

Separate valuations were given a large number of the subsidiary railroads operated by the Santa Fe. The tentative valuation will be subject to protest by the railroads or by the state commissions and will be further considered by the commission before it is used as a basis for fixing rates.

TRADE TRIPPERS OF ABERNATHY INVADE LUBBOCK

NEIGHBORS BOOST THEIR COMMUNITY FAIR TODAY

Accompanied by their 30-piece band the Abernathy booster party called gaily into the city this morning on schedule time, and made merry for a few minutes among local people, advertising their community fair, which is to be held there on the 25 and 26 of this month, just four days before the South Plains Fair is to open here.

The visitors were welcomed by Judge Vaughn E. Wilson, prominent local attorney, who was profuse in his remarks in regard to the development of the Plains country and the phenomenal growth of the young city of Abernathy, saying that only a few years back, the entire country which the now thriving cities of the Plains are located, was being trampled by the hoofs of thousands of cattle. These, he said, are gradually giving way and are being pushed westward by the advance of civilization.

J. D. Nystel, secretary of the Abernathy Chamber of Commerce, responded to this welcome, praising the spirit of co-operation that has always existed between Lubbock and her neighbors, and extending a cordial welcome to local people to attend the first annual community fair which is being undertaken at Abernathy. Mr. Nystel lauded the progress that has been made by the South Plains Fair here, and asked the continued assistance of Lubbock in the undertaking of his city.

The band which accompanied the party, though only about three months old, rendered several peppy selections, which drew heavy applause from the several hundred local people who gathered on the courthouse lawn.

The party left Abernathy this morning, going out to Anton, and stopped at all intervening towns on the route here. They departed eastward and touched Dalon, Petersburg and other towns in the trade territory of Abernathy.

Prospects for the fair are exceptionally bright, Mr. Nystel said, for crops in the territory are the best that has been seen in some time.

It is the plan of Abernathy Fair officials to bring an exhibit from their show to this place, as they have done for the past several years and it is the belief that the community fair will be of great assistance to them in assembling an exhibit for the South Plains exhibition.

Two Lubbock County Cabbages Weigh Over Twenty - four Pounds

W. H. Massey, who lives eight miles south of Lubbock brought two cabbages into town yesterday, which weighed 24 pounds together. "I've heard a lot of people say that vegetable can't be grown in Lubbock county," Massey said, "and I want to exhibit these at the Panhandle South Plains Fair to show the many visitors who will see the exposition that this county can raise almost any product, farm or garden."

MARR-BURNETT. Announcements have been received here of the marriage of Miss Beattie Burnett to J. C. Marr, on August 30, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pyke Burnett, Calvert, Texas. Miss Burnett was formerly a teacher in the Lubbock schools and during her short residence here she made a great many friends among the young people.

Mr. Marr for three years was teacher of Spanish in the high school and coach of the Westerners. This past year he has been attending the University of Texas where he received his B. A. degree at the end of the summer session.

Mr. and Mrs. Marr are now in their new home at Gulf, Texas, where Mr. Marr will be principal of the consolidated schools of that district.

Bridge Shakes As Floodwaters Roar On Mexican Border

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Sept. 9. (AP)—Flooding and a portion of the framework of the International bridge here was removed today as a precautionary measure against the flood waters in the Rio Grande, which has reached nearly to the top of the structure. The flood gauge stood at 10 feet 10 inches this morning, and the river was still rising.

DAVID FRANKLIN EATON

Do you remember the agricultural exhibits at the 1924 Panhandle and South Plains fair? There were more of them and they were better than ever.

David Franklin Eaton was the man responsible for them and if the word of the officials of the fair may be taken as a criterion, the exhibits this year, still under the supervision of Mr. Eaton, will be better than ever.

D. F. Eaton was born in Gatesville, Coryell county, Texas, on November third, 1877, and has lived in Texas all of his life. For two years after his birth he was a resident of Gatesville and then his family moved to Brown county, near Brownwood, where he lived for twenty-three years.

Mr. Eaton is an active member of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, and is one of the deacons of that organization. He is also a member of the Masonic lodge, the Woodmen of the World, the Lubbock Rotary club, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

He estimates that the population of Lubbock will reach 25,000 by 1930 and states that the agricultural possibilities are such that the area surrounding Lubbock will develop into one of the richest and most prosperous farming sections of the whole state.

HOUSTON MEN TO BACK 'PAY YOUR BILLS' CAMPAIGN

Retail Credit Men's Ass'n Is Behind Move to Get Money In Quickly.

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 9. (AP)—The Retail Credit Men's National Association is sponsoring a "Pay Your Bills Promptly Week." Leopold L. Meyer of Houston, vice-president of the association and chairman of the committee on "Pay Your Bills Promptly Week," announces the plan of procedure.

In every community in the United States in which there is an organized retail credit men's association or retail merchants' association, there will be published in one of the leading newspapers a series of four advertisements to appear on alternate days beginning with Sunday, October 25. The same advertisements will appear simultaneously in all the newspapers selected for that purpose.

CATTLE MUCH FEWER THAN USUAL THIS YEAR, REPORTS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AT WASHINGTON

The Department of Agriculture at Washington estimated recently that 280,000 fewer cattle will be marketed from the range country this fall than last fall with the principal reduction in the Southwest. The number for market is placed at 4,077,000 head compared with 4,357,000 last fall and 4,308,000 in the fall of 1923.

The movement from the Southwest is estimated at 1,847,000 head compared with 2,177,000 in 1924 and 2,041,000 in 1923. Because of dry weather movement from the Southwest from January to July has been very heavy with a considerable increase from Texas. Oklahoma marketed 232,000 during this time compared with 231,000 in the same period in 1924. In New Mexico a record number, 254,000 head were moved in the first seven months compared with 164,000 in the same period last year and a six-year average of 166,000.

Feed conditions over the range country are generally very good except in the Southwest. All states west of the Continental Divide and Wyoming have much better feed and hay crops than last year. In Montana, Colorado and North Dakota the western section of South Dakota and Nebraska the hay and feed crops are not so heavy as last year, but there is ample supply for range stock.

Excellent feed supplies in Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Utah will result in more cattle for market this winter than last year with most of these cattle moving to coast markets. A shorter hay and beet crop in Colorado indicates a reduction in cattle feeding.

A large part of the western cattle goes through the markets to the feeders in the corn belt and the demand for stocker and feeder cattle in the corn belt this fall will be an important factor in the marketing of western cattle. The August forecast of the corn crop indicated about 500,000,000 bushels more than last year and the supply of hogs in the belt is the smallest in several years, so the demand for hogs will be correspondingly light. Early indications are that the feeder cattle demand will be strong. During July prices on feeders and stocker steers shipped from Chicago were higher than during July, 1924. Recent sales of heavy, well finished cattle have shown top prices.

BILLY CLARK TO REPORT TO CAMP OF DOC STEWART

Former Austin High Star, One Of Best in Years, Goes To State University.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 8. (AP)—Billy Clark, regarded by many competent critics the outstanding high school athlete in the state the past two years when he starred in football, basketball and baseball for Austin high school, will enter Texas University September 21. Under the tutelage of "Doc" Stewart, football and basketball mentor, and Billy Diech, noted baseball coach, Clark should develop into one of the notable athletes of orange and white history.

To Clark belongs the unique honor of having made all-State high school selections in both football and basketball. Had an all-State team been selected in baseball, it is certain Clark would have made such a selection also. At the close of the 1924 football season, Clark was named All-State tackle by every sport scribe who saw him in action. Big, powerful, fast for his 180 pounds, and a heady and courageous player, Clark was the ideal football player. He showed to conspicuous advantage in every game played by Coach Bobby Robertson's eleven.

The Austin high school ace showed such stellar form in the Inter-scholastic league basketball championship tournament held in the spring of 1924 that he easily won a place on the All-State five. That year Clark played at guard and his floor work and air-tight defensive play were features of every game played by the Austin high quintet. He was also the outstanding basket tapper on the team.

Staunch admirers of Clark were certain the big athlete in 1925 would again win All-State high school honors in basketball; but he failed to show his usual form, though he was picked for a third string All-State five. The fact that Coach Robertson played Clark at forward rather than at guard unquestionably, had something to do with his failure to flash his customary brilliant form in the state basketball tournament.

In baseball, Clark can handle almost any position on the diamond. He is a splendid pitcher, possessing speed, control, curves and a chance of power, but he is equally at home in the outfield, where his heavy hitting is a valuable asset for his team. Clark's baseball playing ability is so well recognized that he has received more than one offer to play professional baseball.

T. C. U. TEAM TO HAVE SERVICES OF A. E. F. STAR

Les Cranfil, 250 Pounder, Will Worry Opponents Football Leaders Believe.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 9. (AP)—Les Cranfil, forty-two-year-old, former All-A. E. F. honor man playing football in France after the signing of the Armistice, will attract a major portion of attention Thursday when approximately 50 candidates for the Texas Christian University 1925 eleven start the long training grind. Cranfil, who won football prestige in Bethany College, is now overweight, tipping the scales around 240 or 250 pounds, when he gets into the pink of condition he likely will weigh about 215 or 220 pounds. He is astonishingly fast for his bulk and is certain to give opposing Southwest Conference eleven plenty to worry about this fall.

Nine letter men of 1924, 15 players who were on last season's squad but failed to letter; a score of the members of last season's freshman team; and six promising athletes who will be out for a Frogs eleven for the first time have been invited by Head Coach Matty Bell to report for early training. Some of the conference dopsters have assigned the Frogs to a rather low place in the conference standing, but if Coach Bell and his first assistant, Kubie, former All-American center while playing for Centre College, have their share of the breaks, the T. C. U. eleven may be the surprise team of the conference.

"Tubby" Brewster is a big tackle of whom much is expected this fall. The big fellow was showing to splendid advantage last fall when he was seized with typhoid fever and his football chances for last season ruined. Frog supporters believe he will come back stronger than ever.

Letter men who will report are, Herman Clark, captain and all-conference quarterback last season in the opinion of many sport followers, Harry Taylor, Donald Frazee and Harold Carson, all backfield men; "Rickey" Ward, Forest Long, Frank Stangl, Forest Levy, and John Washburn, linemen. Squad men of last year who failed to letter and who will report are, Cantelmi, Light, Reddy, Taylor, Morgan, White and Cochran, backfield men; Adams, Peebles, Brewster, Stewart, Pruden, Holcomb, George, and McConnell, linemen.

Freshman players of last season who will report are, Williams, Grant, Clark, Cantrill and Pettit, backfield

20TH CENTURY YIPPIES START YEAR'S WORK

The Twentieth Century Club, true to its long record of civic and intellectual activity, began another year's work Tuesday afternoon at their first meeting. Mrs. H. A. Davidson asked for reports from those standing committees of last year.

Mrs. Ballenger, chairman of the committee on child welfare work reported that as a result of their work two kindergartens with graduate teachers in charge had been placed in each of our primary schools, the Geo. Hunt and the K. Carter.

In taking up new reports Mrs. Hillman stated that the committee had decided on September 23 as the date for the Citizenship program that is given each year by the study clubs of the city. A motion carried to invite the study clubs to take part in this program.

Mrs. Hargis told the great interest being taken in the Tech girls who are being placed in homes. Mrs. H. D. Woods reported that the new committee on child welfare work were investigating art exhibits and hoped to bring some very good things of that nature to the school children this winter. This committee also stated that every effort would be made to help the kindergartens reach their full efficiency.

The resignation of Mrs. W. O. Stevens was accepted with regrets. Mrs. Stevens has been a very active member for some time and it will be a real loss to the club to not have her working with them. She will, however, become an associate member and still be a part of the club. Mrs. J. C. Street took Mrs. Stevens's place as secretary and Mrs. W. H. Blair was appointed Federation counselor.

A rising vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Kimbro for the exquisitely carved regatta she had presented the club at their last meeting. It is a work of the artist Peter Mansueti with the club's motto inscribed on it. Business dispensed of Mrs. Davidson made her opening address to the club in which the main idea was the Federation slogan "Service is the Rent You pay for the Space you Occupy." She spoke of the ideals of the club and its opportunity to carry them out in the future, dwelling on the fact that the worth of the organization to the community would be determined by the time and personal effort given their undertakings, that service is the watch word of every true success. Mrs. Davidson inspired her associates with the realism of her ideal and each one felt that she would begin her work with a greater determination for service.

The study course was started under the leadership of Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, and each lady went into her subject with such an understanding of it that every point was brought out consistently. A review of European Colonial Policy prior to 1815 was given by Mrs. McKee bringing out the four reasons why this policy was adopted. Mrs. Kimbro very ably discussed the Congress of Vienna and the territorial changes that it brought about, and the significance of these changes, in its full importance the reaction in England was discussed by Mrs. Klett. Mrs. Woods brought out the fact concerning the industrial revolution and its relation to democracy.

A round table talk brought to notice many points on the subject and much interest is being taken in the work.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 8. (AP)—While they sat engrossed in a motion picture at a local theater, pickpockets yesterday stole $2,400 from Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Richards of Los Angeles as it lay in a paper wrapped money sack in the lap of the latter.

The Richards arrived here Sunday from the Pacific coast. Representing their life savings the money was to be invested in a small business in San Antonio.

With the banks closed on account of Labor Day, it was impossible to deposit the money Monday. Miss Milly Halsey, from Lynn county, was in town Tuesday visiting the local demonstration agent.

Rummaging around through the relics of past years in search of some kind of equipment, Coach J. (Mule) Davis, of the high school Westerners, is occupying his spare moments that are not required in other forms of endeavor in trying to fill demands being made upon him for uniforms with which to outfit the hopes of Lubbock high in their try at state football honors.

Much new equipment has been received, but this supply will fall far short of meeting the demands, for instead of dribbling out one at a time, as is usually the case in high school football, the lads are ganging on the coach seeking a trial for the squad.

Five men were brought over from last year as a nucleus around which Davis will start his new organization, Seaman Smith, Payne, Roarke, Adkinson and Brothers, all letter men compose this five. In addition to these, there are several who have transferred to Lubbock, the most of whom have set high marks at their former place of activities.

Two Recommended. These include Moore, from Waco, and two Ing brothers, from Fort Worth, who come with the highest of recommendations from their coaches.

None of these boys, including new and old, will pass the 150 mark in weight, but make up this shortage in pep and flight. The squad this year will probably be the smallest yet turned out at Lubbock high in several years.

Practice work now is confined to passing and kicking, with the probability that some signal work will be given the latter part of the week. Scrimmage will not begin until the first of next week, Davis said, but at this time, scrimmages will begin in earnest, as preparations must be made for the Floydada game at the South Plains Fair. Lubbock will meet the east plains team on the third day of the fair.

CLUBWOMEN HOLD DINNER LAST NIGHT

One of the loveliest affairs of the season was held last night at the Tech cafe when the Athenaeum club gave their annual banquet. The program was opened with America after which Mrs. S. C. Wilson took charge as toastmistress. Mrs. J. H. Hankins gave a toast to the retiring officers to which Mrs. E. L. Robinson responded. Then Mrs. Temple Ellis gave a toast to the new officers and Mrs. Hutchinson, the new president, responded. Each number of the program was original and consequently a great variety in talent was exhibited. The invocation was given by Mrs. A. B. Ellis then Mrs. Almsworth talked on the subject, "Vacation Days Are Over." An original song was sung by Mrs. Raymond George and also by Mrs. Trinkle. Mrs. Raugh told the club what she would expect of the club if she were its president. Mrs. Stanton, Mrs. F. N. Payne, Mrs. G. W. Murray and Mrs. E. L. Robinson each gave original poems. Mrs. Sawyer, Mrs. Leonard, Mrs. Paul Barrier gave talks on subjects of interest to the club. It was an extremely clever program and each number was equally novel in its effect.

The club had as its guest Miss Ina Thomas, of Dallas, sister of Mrs. S. C. Wilson.

The tables were beautifully laid, carrying out a color scheme of pink and white asters and roses. Year books were used for place cards and pink asters for plate favors.

A delicious dinner was served consisting of fruit cocktail, fried chicken, stuffer course, ice course, and black coffee.

The president then told the club of her aspirations for the club this year. The banquet was closed with the club collect by Mrs. Sears.

LOUIE MOORE, CHAIRMAN, and members of his committee which will launch the first Lubbock trade trip Friday is working hard on the plans and a record crowd of Lubbock business men will make the jaunt. Crosbyton, Post and Southland will be visited on the first trip.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS MEET TUES. MORNING TO DISCUSS NUMEROUS QUESTIONS CONFRONTING CITY

TECH CELEBRATION, TRADE TRIPS AND FAIR ARE CHIEF TOPICS OF CONVERSATION IN REGULAR SESSION

Several matters of much importance to Lubbock and surrounding territory were up for discussion at the regular meeting Tuesday morning of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, included in which were the trade trips planned for advertisement of the South Plains Fair which is to open here on Sept. 29 for four days, and preparations for the celebration at the opening of the Tech college which also falls on the opening day of the fair.

The directors were very insistent that the city of Lubbock should back the Junior Chamber of Commerce wholeheartedly in their efforts to put on the trade trips in the surrounding territory to Lubbock, urging that not less than 100 cars should be in evidence on each of the jaunts. They voted unanimously to give every assistance possible as an organization and as individual members, to the plans of the Junior body.

A committee of five to take up plans for the Tech celebration was approved, and will be appointed at an early date, according to A. B. Davis, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. This committee will work in connection with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which organization has offered its assistance in any way possible that they can aid.

Preliminary arrangements were discussed at a conference of Porter A. Whaley with Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the college, recently, but nothing of a definite nature has been released.

The Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the plea of the Burlington railroad system for authority to construct a line into West Texas has been set for Nov. 1 and the matter of representation for Lubbock at the hearing was discussed. It was decided that Burlington officials would be left to judge whether or not this representation should be sent from here, and the secretary was instructed to ascertain from these officials what action they would advise. It was the opinion of the body that if railroad officials thought it wise to have this committee from here at Washington, same would be dispatched at the proper time.

The installation of a fish hatchery in Lubbock by the state was also up for discussion and a letter was read from Hon. Turner E. Hubby, head of the state Fish and Game department stating that the commission would send a man here to investigate the matter if this city would be interested. Further investigation of matter was ordered by the board.

Other matters of a more or less routine nature were discussed, in connection with the efforts of the organization to persuade the Santa Fe to rearrange their train schedule here.

COMMUNITY COMMENTS

among every other class and trade.

Take the insurance business, for instance. Reputable business men in Lubbock and in the Plains territory yhave noticed the advent of scores of insurance men during the past few weeks, who have come here to tide over the hard times in their own parts of the state and to make ends meet until such time when they will find it profitable to return here.

Every time a man takes an insurance policy from one of these men he hurts the business of the man who has been in Lubbock and who intends to stay here.

It is true that men of this type, with little or no stability about them, will get very little business as compared with those of the other type who are here and who are here to stay. Yet the loss of this business will hurt some of the others and will hurt them badly.

Not only in the insurance field but in every other field does this situation hold good. It is one which will bear watching.

THERE WILL BE AT LEAST A thousand students enroll in the Texas Technological college this year, according to the opinion voiced by Henry T. Kimbro, a member of the board of regents, today. All of the main buildings are sure to be ready for occupancy when the school opens. Mr. Kimbro said, and a meeting of the board of regents will be held at that time. Living and board quarters will be needed badly if more people do not list their facilities, he believes.

GROWTH OF SOUTH PLAINS SINCE 1920 SHOWN IN FIGURES GOTTEN UP BY LUBBOCK C. OF C. MANAGER

Growth of West Texas, particularly that portion known as the South Plains, is reflected in the fact that since 1920 many of the counties in this section have more than doubled acreage in cultivation. Statistics showing the phenomenal growth have been compiled by A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. Figures shown in the statistics approximate figures for the same items given by the United States Department of Agriculture reports. Perhaps the most astounding growth has been recorded in Hockley county, the statistics shows. The total land area of Hockley county is 554,886 acres. In 1920, there were only 18 farms, embracing 3,228 acres, in cultivation. In the early summer of 1925, there were in cultivation 279 farms of a total of 36,231 acres.

Floyd is the county of the South Plains with the largest number of acres in cultivation. This county with a total land area of 647,949 acres, has 275,637 acres in cultivation. In 1920 this county had in cultivation 242,622 acres. Floyd has 1,488 farms in cultivation. Lubbock county, which is next to Floyd in the number of acres in cultivation, produced in 1924 the largest number of bales of cotton of any county in the South Plains, 43,019 bales, to be exact. Since 1920, the number of farms in Lubbock have doubled. In 1920 there were 1,909 farms; now there are 3,842. Hale county, with a total land area of 662,940 acres, has in cultivation, 244,463 acres, as contrasted with 235,889 in 1920 and 1,293 farms, compared with 1,931 in 1920.

the increase in acreage being tilled has increased by only about 12,000 acres.

Lynn is another county in which the farmers apparently favor farms of small acreage. In five years the cultivated acreage has increased from 37,223 to 129,901 acres, while the number of farms has increased from 677 to 748. The size of the average farm in Lynn county is slightly larger than 160 acres.

Gaines county, the largest county for which statistics was gathered, has a land area of 985,696 acres, with only 49,956 in cultivation.

LAMESA WORK GOES ON

The city of Lamesa is busy enlarging its sewer and water systems more than 25 laborers being employed laying pipe and digging ditches. Most of the ditches are being excavated with machinery. Four and one-half miles of water line being laid and three and one-half miles of sewer pipe being installed. Nothing but six and eight inch pipe being laid in the water system. When completed this will give Lamesa sufficient water lines to take care of the thickly settled parts of the city.

OFFICIALS MEET WITH PROMINENT CITIZENS TODAY

FIRST FACULTY SESSION IS FEATURE TODAY AT COLLEGE

In what might be termed the first really official recognition of the existence of the Texas Technological College, President Paul W. Horn, M. M. Childwood, Business Manager, E. L. DeHoney, Registrar, Miss Elizabeth West, Librarian, H. T. Kimbro, member of the Board of Regents, State Senator W. H. Bledsoe and wife, Hon. J. K. Wester, Representative from this District, and other faculty members of the new institution, met in the Administration building of the college Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, and discussed the problems facing the school, the policy to be carried out in its operation, and what it will mean in an educational way to the state of Texas and the Southwest.

Dr. Horn, in his opening remarks, welcomed the faculty to the institution, saying that much would depend upon them as to the influence of the college upon the youth of the southwest. He issued a plea for co-operation, and assured them his every assistance in any way possible to aid them.

Four members of the faculty were absent at the opening, including Athletic Director Freedland, who later came - other absent members were Dr. J. C. Granbery, Professor of History; Prof. C. S. Mast, of the Physics Department, both of whom had advised the President that they were on the road here, but had been detained on account of rain, and Miss Elizabeth Starford, Adjunct Professor of Mathematics.

Hon. H. T. Kimbro, local member of the Board of Regents welcomed the faculty on behalf of the Board, and gave some statistics showing to what extent Lubbock had gone in her effort to make the college a success. He cited bond issues and subscriptions totaling about $2,000,000 which Lubbock had voted and raised very willingly during the past two years so that the college might not be hampered in any way.

State Senator W. H. Bledsoe and Hon. J. K. Wester, representative, likewise paid a few words on behalf of the city in welcoming the faculty who in reality at the present compose the school itself. Mr. Wester offered a plea for cooperation of the faculty to make the college the best that can be formed in the southwest, saying that everything possible would be done by him in the Legislature to secure the necessary appropriations to this end.

Many Things Ahead.

There are many matters of vast importance to the success of the school just ahead of it, not only the faculty, but the city of Lubbock. Dr. Horn told the gathering, stating that the Board of Directors had been exceedingly liberal with officials in giving them almost a free hand in working out policies and details in connection with the college. He also emphasized the fact that the state legislature had likewise been liberal in appropriations and that these appropriations in the future would be controlled largely by the work accomplished.

He cited six policies that would be predominant in the operation of the institution, the first of which was service. Service in a big word, he said, but it is the duty of the faculty to see that this is in no way impaired.

His second prerequisite was adaptability. In which connection he said there was no necessity for the faculty not offering to the student body what was due them. He said that the first year would be more of a trial for the student body, as nothing was known yet as to how many would be here, or what work the most of them would require.

No Hazing Permitted.

Democracy in the workings of the school likewise was stressed by the President, who said that by action of the Board of Directors, no class distinctions would be made, and no fraternities would be allowed. He stated that hazing, which has been common in many schools would not be permitted. He encouraged, however, the organization of literary clubs, and associations of a similar nature that would be constructive to the student body.

Generosity was his fourth point, in which he said that the student would be given the benefit of the doubt on every occasion, citing a baseball rule in this instance that if any doubt is in the mind of the umpire on a play at first base, the runner should be given the benefit of the doubt.

Professor of Chemistry; and Mrs. Mary Doak, Dean of Chemistry. This committee has charge of placing all students in suitable boarding houses.

4. Committee for arrangement for the opening of the college, which is composed of Dr. W. A. Jackson, professor of Economics; C. S. Mast, professor of Physics; and R. C. Wachora, director of the music department. This committee will work with the local committee from the chamber of commerce, and like body from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

5. Students' Help Committee, composed of H. C. Goodwood, Business Manager of the college; Edgar Y. Freedland, athletic director, and another member to be named by them. They will assist students in finding work, both around the college and otherwise.

6. Athletics committee. W. L. Stengel, professor of Animal Husbandry, was named chairman of this committee, who is to confer with Dr. Horn in the selection of other members.

7. Committee of extra or semi-extra curricula activities, composed of Dr. J. C. Granbery, Professor of History; J. N. Michie, Professor of Mathematics, and Miss Elizabeth West, Librarian. The duties of this committee is to guide the student body in the direction of organization of clubs, clubs in different departments are to be encouraged.

8. Social Activities Committee composed of Mrs. Mary Doak, Dean of Women; Miss Elizabeth West, Dean of Household Economics; and W. S. Gates, Associate Professor of English. An announcement was made at this point that all members of the faculty and their families were especially invited to a social meeting under direction of the Federated Churchwomen, which is to be held at the Baptist church Friday evening.

9. Publicity Committee, composed of R. C. Harrison, professor of English, Dr. W. T. Read, professor of Chemistry, and Miss McGee.

10. Scholarship Awards Committee, composed of A. W. Evans, Professor of Education; Dr. E. F. George, Professor of Physics, and Richard T. Studhalter, Professor of Biology. This last but not least in the opinion of Dr. Horn, is to have charge of disposal of approximately $2,000 in scholarships that have been offered this year.

Discipline Committee Not Named.

A discipline committee, which is usually carried in every college, will not be named for the present, Dr. Horn said, and will not be named at all unless need is seen for it. It is his expressed hope that a committee of this kind will not be needed.

Several meetings of department heads and different committees were held for this afternoon, and President Horn requested conferences with several of the committees also. The President announced that regular daily faculty meetings will be held at 8 o'clock unless members of the faculty are otherwise advised. More or less routine matters will be discussed at these meetings, Dr. Horn said.

Appointment of committees was made by Registrar DeHoney to assist him in classifying students. Two groups will operate, one in each wing of the building, Agriculture and Engineering Departments will register in the west end of the administration building, and Liberal Arts and Home Economics Departments will use the east end.

In a poll of the faculty members present it was ascertained that there are only two who are not yet located in a home or boarding house, and from others who are only temporarily located. Mr. Smallwood, chairman of the housing committee will offer every assistance he can in this connection, so that permanent quarters may be found.

Assignment of classrooms will be announced at the faculty meeting tomorrow. It was announced. This will only be temporary, however, as an accurate check can be made on the number in each department until registration is further advanced.

SLUSH FUNDS IN RELEASE OF RUM RUNNER CHARGED

WILL NOT BE PERMITTED TO ENTER COMING CONFERENCE

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Terry Druggan, a beer runner deluxe, whose frequent absences from his cell where he was supposed to be serving a year's sentence for contempt of court, brought a federal inquiry, in a county jail cell again this time to stay and he faces the prospect of remaining there for some time.

With him is Frankie Lake, his partner, who was released 82 days before his year's sentence expired. They are in after the order of Federal Judge James H. Wilkinson after a court hearing of far-reaching ramifications.

Officials Cited.

As the result of the hearing Sheriff Peter M. Hoffman and half a dozen jail officials are cited to show cause September 22, why they should not be held in contempt of court. Druggan and Lake also are ordered to explain why they should not have another term in jail for defeating the first contempt sentence.

The judge holds that the Sheriff is responsible for Druggan's assignment to the jail hospital as an orderly instead of to a cell for his trips to a dentist and elsewhere, for the hundreds of visitors allowed to see him and for the disappearance of records showing when Druggan and Lake were out and when they were in.

Sheriff Passes Buck.

The sheriff when questioned by Judge Wilkinson denied knowledge of the premature release of Lake, or the absence of Druggan. Druggan told the judge he had been out a hundred times, going some times to the dentist and some times to the bank. He denied having transacted any business or that he had given jail employes any money.

Aside from the investigation of the judge, the federal grand jury is inquiring into any possible conspiracy or connivance between the prisoners and all officials.

100 MEN TO ANSWER FIRST CALL OF TECH COLLEGE MATADORS, IS BELIEF OF HEAD COACH FREELAND

Not less than 100 men will probably answer the first call to arms of the Matadors, Tech college football crew, according to Athletic Director Ewing Y. Freeland, the institution, who Monday morning was making final arrangements for the first drill period Tuesday afternoon. Several dozen men from all parts of this and adjoining states arrived here Sunday and Monday, some of whom had not classified themselves as matadors, but are receiving their uniforms and other equipment.

The coach admitted that he probably would be forced to resort to blue denim as the regalia for the most of the boys for the first few days, as he only has about sixty uniforms on hand. Several of the boys had gotten used to this, and appeared on the scene attired in this manner of uniform. College Hill Monday morning was a veritable hive of activity as additional men sought to see the coach and several meetings have been called in to assist him in the office routine connected with formal entry.

These men range in size from 130 pounds to 180 and 190, and several have had experience in college football. The bulk of the boys, however, to the present have come from high schools over west and central Texas.

The four or five members of the Cisco Lobos squad, who were here some time ago talking with Freeland had not arrived at noon, but they are expected on the scene some time today. They will be accompanied by another Cisco man who has had three years of college experience on the grid. The heavy rain of Sunday night almost made a job-lolly of the practice field on the Tech site, but it is believed that with the coming of tomorrow afternoon this will be fixed off sufficiently to permit the first workout. This period, of course, will be confined for the most part to classification, and chatter among the boys, who will be getting acquainted with each other.

All incoming trains are being met by members of the coaching staff, who are cooperating with the Red Ball stage line here in transporting the lads to the Tech site. The large bus, which will be used on the city service line is being used in this work.

Superintendent In Construction Work On Hotel Is Here

W. G. McMillan, construction Superintendent for the Johnson Construction Company of Waco, arrived here late Monday to take charge of construction work on the new hotel here, the basement for which is now being completed.

Pouring of concrete in the basement floors and foundations will begin just as soon as the excavation is completed. Mr. McMillan said, and the laying of brick probably will get under way within 30 or 40 days.

Under provisions of the contract, the building is to be completed within eight months, and with reasonable weather, this will be accomplished, according to the construction foreman.

The Board of Directors of the Hotel company expect to hold a meeting within a few days, at which time brick for the building will be selected. A meeting of this nature was held Monday afternoon, but final decision was held up pending notification of brick firms of the contemplated action.

JOHN HENDRICKS OF GOLDTHWAITE is prospecting on the Plains. He will probably make his future home in Lubbock or vicinity.

PLAINVIEW TRIP TO BOOST FAIR IS POSTPONED

Jaunt Scheduled to Leave Here Tuesday Morning Delayed By Heavy Rains

Again the elements have interfered, and the second trade trip, which was scheduled to leave here in the receipt of reports from over the section which was to have been covered, this morning, has been postponed after that exceptionally heavy rains had fallen Sunday night.

The jaunt was to have taken the center, Plainview, Lockney, Floydada, northern route via Abernathy, Halecenter, Plainview, Lockney, Floydada and Petersburg, but reports indicate that roads throughout the entire territory would be practically impassable for at least two or three days.

The impression, however, should not get out that plans for the trips have been abandoned, according to A. B. Davis of the Chamber of Commerce, for all four of the contemplated trips will be made in some manner before the fall.

The trip to the Brownfield section, which is scheduled to leave here next Friday are going forward, and according to H. D. Woods, chairman of the committee, which has the trip in charge, about seventy cars have signed up, and are expected to be in readiness at 7:30 Friday morning.

It was pointed out by Mr. Woods that the entire section to be traversed on this jaunt is sandy land, and that rain there would have the same effect that it would on roads in other directions.

George Brewer, chairman of the committee on the Plainview trip, says that work of signing by a caravan of autos for this trip is going ahead, and that as soon as plans can be formulated, announcement of the time for the trip, will be made.

LEIDIGH BOOSTS INSPECTION TRIP OF FARMERS

The people of the South Plains do not realize what the local substitution of the experimental system of Texas means to them, in the opinion of A. H. Leidigh, Dean of Agriculture of the Tech College, in commenting Wednesday on the coming inspection trip of farmers from several counties surrounding here. The meeting is to open a two day session here tomorrow.

The meeting, as explained by Mr. Leidigh, who is thoroughly versed in experimental station work, is the first of a series planned by the extension department of the A. & M. College, through cooperation with county agents in the vicinity of the sub-station to acquaint the farmers with the work being carried on, and should be given full attention of not only the farmers but business men as well, one of whom is entirely dependent on the other.

Visitors at the local station have been in such numbers that special meetings to encourage visitation have not been held to the present. Mr. Leidigh said, and pointed out that the Lubbock station had had more visitors last year as shown by records at the college than any other station in the state.

He was high in his praise of the work being carried on here by D. L. Jones, superintendent, and urged cooperation of the farmers in the work.
