PHONE CO. TO OPEN BIDS ON PLANT FRIDAY

Bids for the erection of a new home here for the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, which had been under contemplation of officials of the firm for some time, are to be opened at the state headquarters office in Dallas Friday. It was announced here Thursday by H. D. Phillips, local manager of the company.

Bids in connection with the work were opened on October 23, but none of these filed were accepted, and the work was readvertised, and an effort will be made again tomorrow to agree with a contractor for the work, which is an approximate cost of $60,000.

The building is to be located on the corner of the company on the east side of the alley between Avenues M and N on Broadway. It will cover almost three lots in width, but will not extend but approximately half way to the depth of the lots, Mr. Phillips said. The structure will be of brick, two stories in height and when finished will be one of the most modern telephone plants to be found in West Texas.

NEW YORK.—A rifle disguised as a walking stick has been seized by the police in their drive against crime.

Alas, my mother found today some one had stolen jam again. I didn't have a word to say and so we had a leak probe then.

CITY BUSINESS MEN START C. O. F. FUND CAMPAIGN

NEARLY 100 MEN TRAVEL LUBBOCK STREETS TO COLLECT MONEY

The drive of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce for funds with which to wipe out some debts and to give the organization finances on which to operate for the balance of this year, was put under way Thursday morning when nearly 100 representative business men of the city, who had been selected to lead the campaign, gathered at the Chamber of Commerce rooms for final instructions in connection with the drive.

The meeting was permeated by the real Lubbock spirit, the spirit of co-operation and team work, for which the city is known far and wide, and to show their enthusiasm and set an example for others to follow, the ones who will lead the campaign worked among themselves for some time signing up pledges and writing out checks for support of the work.

Field is Divided. The different committees, each of which had been assigned certain districts of the city in which they were instructed to confine their solicitations, went into the field about 10 o'clock with one of the best organized teams that has ever been produced here, and this statement might be interpreted to cover much territory, for similar organizations in the past have accomplished almost the unbelievable.

The purpose of the campaign, as outlined to the workers are as follows: 1. Raise enough money to pay off the debts of the Chamber of Commerce amounting to about $4,000. These debts, which must be paid by the Board of City Development will be available if same is voted by the people on the first of December. This amount will also cover the expenses of representatives from here to the hearing before the I. C. C. at Washington next month, when the application of the Beck-Worth and the Lubbock plan will be heard. It will also cover expenses of a much needed industrial survey here, and other needed services that will be handled through the Chamber of Commerce.

2. To inform the public of the Board of City Development plan which will increase the total budget of the Chamber of Commerce, but at the same time will lessen the amount paid by each individual subscriber. This plan is believed by leaders to be the only logical solution to the financial problems of the Chamber of Commerce work, and is considered the only fair and equitable way in which the burden of the organization may be borne.

3. To secure just as many individual members for both the junior and senior Chambers of Commerce as possible at $1 per month each. The fund derived from this source is needed to augment the tax fund, and no one can dispute the fact that the organization must have a membership that feels a certain amount of personal responsibility before it can function with best results.

Cancel Dues Plan. This drive automatically cancels the plan of monthly dues by which the organization has survived thus far, and the convenience of those contributing to the $6,000 fund, payment of the subscription may be made in one check, or may be paid one-half cash and the other half on December 1. It is urged, however, that all those who possibly can, make the check read the full amount or give one check for the full amount another post dated on the first of December, so that a second trip for collection will not be necessary.

The different committees have been pledged to have indicated on the check card just what method of collection is desired by the contributor, so that a complete report may be compiled in the central office. The team organization is under command of J. A. Rix as Colonel, and he has at his command Majors Pink L. Parrish, Spencer A. Wells, H. D. Woods, and E. W. Blair. Each Major in turn names three captains, and each captain then selected five or more lieutenants.

Reports drifting into headquarters from the different teams shortly past noon indicated that the people of Lubbock realize the need and purpose of the drive, and are backing this realization with the much needed funds. The entire team organization will meet again Friday morning at 9 o'clock when they will again take the field to clear up the districts allotted to the separate groups.

Mexico Puts Stop To Petroleum Ban

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 29. (AP)—The Mexican Federation of Labor has lifted its boycott against the Agulla Oil company, owing to the decision reached by the arbitration committee at Jalapa, ending the conflict. Resumption of work also has been ordered by the confederation at the company's Minihill refinery.

Lamesa Water And Sewer Extension Work Is Finished

The $70,000 program for extension of the water and sewer mains of the city of Lamesa has been completed, according to M. R. Smith, of the firm of Hawley and Roberts, here, who returned to Lubbock Wednesday after having had supervision over the work at the Dawson county capital.

The program, which was designed and supervised by Hawley and Roberts, engineers, and was installed under the direction of T. J. Whalen, contractor, gives the city of Lamesa one of as good a water and sewer systems as can be found in West Texas, Mr. Smith said. The entire city is well supplied with water, and sewer connections are equally as good with the exception of one small section of the city that was not touched under the program.

PERPETRATOR OF SWINDLE HERE IS SOUGHT

The perpetrator of a fleeing game by which local merchants suffered losses in the amount of approximately $300 here last Saturday is being sought by local police officers, and in the opinion of those in charge of the case, the depredations have extended to several surrounding towns. It is the same old story that seems to ever recur to the ears of the victims—the story of a forged instrument given in payment of a certain small article that has been purchased, the purchaser getting the larger end of the deal in cash.

In this particular case the checks were made out payable to Ray Carter, and signed with a crude rubber stamp bearing the name of McDonald Oil Co. over the signature of L. M. Glenn, the first and the latter of whom are unknown.

One man was taken into custody for an investigation, and his handwriting was in many ways similar to that on the forged instrument, officers say, but no direct proof as to his guilt could be established, and he was released.

Officers say they believe that the man who turned the trick had a confederate in the swindle, and that one who made out the checks did not cash them personally. They also believe, according to Sergeant Metcalf, of the police department, that the activity of the swindlers was not confined to Lubbock alone, but that other losses will be disclosed as soon as the checks have had sufficient time to make their rounds to the clearing house and return here.

The plan of procedure, officers say, was to enter a store and make a purchase of a shirt, and then the article of about this value. The purchaser would present a check for $30 with the above signature, getting the difference in cash, then would take the merchandise and throw it into a car at the curb and disappear. Most of the merchants eventually found its way back to the store from where it came.

Poultry Raisers To Meet At Court House Saturday

The Lubbock county poultry association, which was recently organized here under the supervision of Miss Lela DuBose, county home demonstration agent and David F. Eaton, county farm agent, is to meet Saturday afternoon at the court house here for its second meeting, the Daily Journal was advised by Mr. Eaton Thursday.

W. L. Stangel, Professor of Animal Husbandry at the Tech College, and ardent supporter of the movement for pure strain flocks on the South Plains, will address the meeting on Poultry Housing, and will advance ideas as to the best care for flocks, both young and old.

Texas Warms Up A Little After First Cold Snap

DALLAS, Oct. 29. (AP)—The cold wave, which gripped north Texas yesterday bringing temperatures which broke records of years standing in many places for this season, was being quickly dissipated by warm currents from the south. Freezing temperatures were felt only in extreme north and northwest Texas. Cold weather extended to all the Texas Gulf coast, however.

ENROLLMENT FOR SCHOOLS PASSES TOTAL OF 3,500

SUPERINTENDENT THINKS 4,000 MARK WILL BE FEBRUARY TOTAL

Enrollment in the public school system of the city of Lubbock had reached half the close of classification last Friday afternoon, it was announced here Tuesday by M. H. Duncan, Superintendent, and Mr. Duncan expressed the belief that the enrollment would reach the 4,000 mark by February 1, next year.

The general pupils have applied for entry to the schools this week the superintendent said, and a number of those already enrolled have dropped out to assist in gathering the cotton crop that is expected to be a record breaker in the county this year. Mr. Duncan estimated that with the return of these students who are helping with the cotton crop, and an enrollment for the balance of this year on a proportional basis to the record that has been made so far this year, the total enrollment on the first of February, next year, will reach 4,000 or beyond.

The report also shows there are 615 pupils classified into the high school course, 354 in the junior high school building, 601 in the Geo. M. Hunt ward, 621 at the K. Carter school and 429 at the central war. Mexican and negro schools make up the balance.

The enrollment with the concurrent school year was the highest since the school has necessitated the use of some basement rooms that are very unsatisfactory, and not for the best effects on the children, Mr. Duncan said. In addition to this, four of the grades at this school have been put on a resolution recommending that the concurrent employment of new teachers. Four grades at the K. Carter school have likewise been put on half day sessions, he said.

There are 103 rooms now being used throughout the city system, with 114 teachers employed. This leaves an average of more than 35 children to each room, and considering the fact that not more than 30 pupils are allowed in each room in the high school under provisions of a state law regulating public schools, each room in the lower grades would necessarily have more than 40 pupils.

President Coolidge Signs Annual Thanksgiving Proclamation Which Sets "Turkey Day" November 26th

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—President Coolidge today proclaimed Thursday, November 25, as Thanksgiving Day, when gratitude should be expressed for "many and great blessings" which have come to the people during the past year.

"The nation has been brought through safety and honor through another 12 months," the proclamation said, with peace at home and abroad, with the public health good, with harvests and industries productive and labor well rewarded.

The proclamation follows: By the President of the United States: "A proclamation: The season approaches when in accordance with a long established and respected custom, a day is set apart to give thanks to Almighty God for the manifold blessings which His gracious and benevolent providence has bestowed upon us as a nation and as individuals.

We have brought safety and honor through another year, and through the generosity of God. He has blessed us with resources whose potentialities are almost incalculable; we are at peace and public health is good; we have been undisturbed by pestilence and great catastrophe; our commerce spreads over the whole world and labor has been well awarded for its remunerative service. "As we have grown and prospered in material things, so also should we prosper in moral and spiritual things. We are a God-fearing people who should set ourselves against evil and strive for righteousness in living and observing the Golden Rule, we should from out abundance help and serve those less fortunate than placed. We should bow in gratitude to God for His many favors.

"Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, do hereby set apart Thursday, the twenty-sixth day of November, next, as a day of prayer and thanksgiving and recommend that on that day the people cease from work and in their homes or in their accustomed places of worship devoutly give thanks to the Almighty for the many and great blessings they have received and to seek His guidance that they may deserve the continuance of His favor.

ENTIRE BOARD OF LETSINGER CASE C. I. A. REGENTS AGREES

OPPOSED TO HAVE COURT MACHINERY HALTED BY THE WEATHER, DESPITE THE FACT THAT THE FURNACE WHICH SUPPLIES HEAT FOR THE BUILDING WAS OUT OF ORDER AND COULD NOT BE USED, DISTRICT JUDGE CLARK M. MULLIN CALLED THE COURT TO ORDER THURSDAY MORNING, AND THE SELECTION OF A JURY FOR THE CASE OF J. W. LETSINGER VS. THE PANHANDLE AND SANTA FE RAILWAY COMPANY WAS STARTED.

The court was held throughout Wednesday on account of the lack of heat, but with the addition of a large coal stove and several small oil heaters scattered throughout the room, the temperature was brought to a state of comfort.

The selection of the jury for the Letsinger case was finished shortly before noon, and the taking of testimony was opened at the afternoon session. Vickers and Campbell, local law firm, counsel for the plaintiff, will lead the fight for Mr. Letsinger seeking collection of $50,000 from the railroad company as damages in connection with the death of his wife and child, who were killed when the car in which they were riding was hit by a northbound Santa Fe passenger train near Monroe early this year.

Attorney Roscoe Wilson, local man, will assist Judge A. C. Pipkin, of Amarillo, as counsel for the railroad company.

STATE WILL PAY FOR HIGHWAY TO PLAINVIEW SOON

EXPERIMENT TO BE MADE AT NO COST TO TAXPAYERS BY STATE

The South Plains is to have another stretch of hard surfaced highway. In addition to the four projects in Lubbock county, plans for which are being prepared, according to an announcement Thursday at the office of George A. Field, division superintendent of the State Highway Department here, Mr. Field said that official notice had been received from the department at Austin that the road from Lubbock to Canyon, through Plainview, which will bring it into condition as one of the best highways of the state.

Contracts for the work are now being advertised for as a result of a decision reached at a meeting of the state highway commission recently, and bids on the project will be received by the department at Austin on November 20. The entire expense of the program will be borne by the state.

Workmen To Start Soon. In the meantime Mr. Field will have a crew of workmen on the highway bringing the roadbed into condition to receive the treatment, as it is desired by the highway department that this work be completed at the earliest possible date. Three tractors have already been put on the work in Lubbock county, and five more will be added early next week in Hale county on the grading work, Mr. Field said.

The roadbed, will be of standard state highway construction, and the work will be entirely under state supervision, without the preliminary arrangements and detailed plans that must necessarily accompany any similar work that is carried on through the county government at state aid.

Oil Treatment Planned. The road oil treatment on highways is practically new to Texas, Mr. Field said, but the same treatment has been used very successfully in several other states, particularly in Illinois, where, according to the best information here, the soil is similar in texture to the soil in the South Plains and Panhandle of Texas. Showing the extent to which Illinois uses the treatment, 40,000,000 gallons of the oil was used under state supervision there in 1925, a recent bulletin shows, at a cost of approximately $3,000,000.

The oil that will be used is specially prepared for road work, is of an asphalt base, and contains 55 per cent residue. It is used as a hot application, being brought to a little over 300 degrees Fahrenheit before being applied to the road. Approximately three-quarters of a gallon of the oil will be used to the square yard of road, according to Mr. Field. The work will cost approximately $1,000 per mile, including the preparation of the roadbed and coating.

Expected To Be Efficient. On account of the nature of the soil in this section, it is believed that the oil treatment will virtually serve the purpose of an artificial hard surface, Mr. Field said, and this move is believed by him to be the next step in a gigantic program that will eventually be launched under state supervision. Mr. Field would claim no credit for himself in connection with the selection of this particular stretch of road for the work, but it is known that he has been working on the project for several months.

The work is carried on purely as a maintenance feature of the state department, and if the treatment stands up under Panhandle soil as it does on other soil of similar nature, on which it has been used extensively, the department's economic highway program for West Texas will be solved, in Field's opinion.

SLATON REALTY CASE IS SETTLED BY COMPROMISE

CALLING OF LETSINGER CASE HELD UP BY COLD WEATHER

The case of E. G. Carpenter vs. J. W. Phillips, et al. which involves the sale of a house and lots in Slaton, was finished Tuesday afternoon when a compromise was reached whereby the property involved reverts to Mr. Phillips, the original owner, upon payment of a stipulated amount and the cost of the court procedure. The compromise was reached after practically all the evidence had been given by the several witnesses brought here by counsel for both sides.

The case of J. W. Letsinger vs. the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway company was to have been called when court opened Wednesday morning, but the weather man broke into plans, for it was discovered that the pipes in the heating system of the building had frozen during the night and no heat could be had in the courtroom. On this account Judge Mullean dismissed the court until Thursday morning when the case was called.

Mr. Letsinger is asking damages in the amount of $50,000 from the railroad in connection with the death of his wife and baby, who were killed on Friday, April 12, of this year, when the automobile in which they were riding was hit by a Santa Fe passenger train at a grade crossing near Monroe.

A companion case to this one, styled Sussie Mae Letsinger, et al. has been set down for trial immediately following the J. W. Letsinger case. Sussie Mae, and Ted, her brother, both children of J. W. Letsinger, were injured at the same time their mother and the other child were killed, the complaint set out. This suit asks for $30,000 damages.

Other cases on the civil docket which have been set for the regular term, are as follows: Week of Oct. 26th. No. 1—E. G. Carpenter vs. J. W. Phillips, et al. No. 2125. No. 2—J. W. Letsinger vs. P. and S. F. Ry. Co., No. 2187. No. 3—Sussie Mae Letsinger, et al. vs. P. and S. F. Ry. Co., No. 2188. No. 4—J. W. Half vs. J. F. Davis, No. 2229. No. 5—J. M. Eldridge vs. T. C. Miller, et al., No. 2280. No. 6—J. M. Eldridge vs. R. F. Duggan, Garrettsville, No. 2280-A.

Week of November 2nd. No. 1—Lora and H. D. Chibley vs. Merton J. Smith, No. 2912. No. 2—Cicero-Smith Lbr. Co. vs. U. S. Fid. Cr. Co., et al., No. 2955. No. 3—J. H. Snider vs. C. E. Maedgen, et al., No. 2153. No. 4—Fidelity Union Cas. Co. vs. S. K. Moore, et al., No. 2279. No. 5—Maryland Casualty Co. vs. J. F. Bolden, No. 2189. No. 6—Sid Clay et al. vs. Western Union Tel. Co., No. 2285.

On account of the heavy docket facing the court machinery, a special term, at which an attempt will be made to clear the slate, had been called to open November 23, immediately following the close of the regular Oct. term. The following cases have been set for this special term. No. 1—G. Cooper vs. Theo. Summers, No. 1599. No. 2—Mrs. Stella Brown vs. Home Mutual Life and Acc. Assoc., No. 1812. No. 3—Lubbock Irrigation Co. vs. C. R. Thompson et al., No. 2127. No. 4—Industrial Fin. Corp. vs. O. L. Williams, et al., No. 2292. No. 5—L. M. McCrummen vs. A. J. Barge et al., No. 2923. No. 6—Nan L. Tudor vs. Val J. Tudor, No. 2271. No. 7—J. W. Acaff vs. Henry Kitten et al., No. 1975.

Week Ending No. 30th. No. 1—M. C. Overton vs. Hildego and Price, No. 1459. No. 2—L. M. Brooks vs. W. E. Vaughn et al., No. 2249. No. 3—Frank A. White vs. Texas Utilities Co., No. 2975. No. 4—F. T. Dyart vs. C. E. Williams et al., No. 2222. No. 5—Industrial Finance Corp. vs. J. Q. Ward et al., No. 2274. No. 6—Industrial Finance Corp. vs. H. E. Brannon et al., No. 2275. No. 7—Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Assoc. vs. F. H. Brown, No. 2925.

Week of December 7th. No. 1—D. N. Arnett Jr. et al. vs. P. and S. F. Ry. Co., No. 1785. No. 2—Mrs. M. L. Karr et al. vs. P. and S. F. Ry. Co., No. 1897. No. 3—Whaley Lbr. Co. vs. W. R. Carter, No. 2262. No. 4—D. C. Vaughn et al. vs. Merton J. Smith, No. 2286. No. 5—H. W. Pennington vs. Mrs. R. Schullert, No. 2256. No. 6—Robt. H. Parkington vs. T. H. Sears et al., No. 1514.

The criminal docket of the court will open on Monday, the week of November 3, and only a few cases can be reached during the two weeks time allotted for this purpose. The case of the state of Texas vs. Jess Harvey, South Plains cotton man, who is facing a charge of murder in connection with the death of Nate M. Hightower on October 1, 1924, holds the bulk of attention on the criminal docket. A special venire of 125 men, from which a jury will be selected, has been ordered for this case. The following settings of the criminal docket for the two weeks have been made: Week of Nov. 9th. No. 1—State of Texas vs. Jess Harvey, murder. No. 2—State of Texas vs. Jim Senna, violation pro. law. No. 3—State of Texas vs. Tom Stone, theft. No. 4—State of Texas vs. Tom Stone, theft of auto. No. 5—State of Texas vs. C. C. Reed, violation pro. law.

Week of Nov. 16th. No. 1—State of Texas vs. D. W. Purkett, perjury. No. 2—State of Texas vs. M. O. Myrick, theft of cattle. No. 3—State of Texas vs. M. O. Myrick, theft of cattle. No. 4—State of Texas vs. M. O. Myrick, theft of cattle. No. 5—State of Texas vs. Fred Cobb, violation pro. law. Special venire of 125 men ordered in Jess Harvey case for No. 9th.

POULTRY FACTS

CURE BROODINESS IN OPEN YARD IS BEST

As the hatching season is ended the problem of broody hens will be confronting most poultry raisers for the following months.

Numerous methods have been advocated from time to time for handling broody hens. Almost every one in any neighborhood has a pet plan for breaking the hens of this condition, which is guaranteed to work. Many of these are founded on sense and will give results, while a good many are founded on abuse of the hens, which should not be practiced.

One favorite method we used to have on the farm was to dip the hens in a tub filled with water, says a writer in the Michigan Farmer. We kept them under the water just as long as we dared without drowning them. This was supposed to scare the hen so badly that she forgot about wanting to set. Sometimes it worked and, sometimes it didn't. When it didn't, something else had to be tried. The broody trait of hens is not a "notion" but a natural condition in response to natural laws. The longer the hens are tolerated in this condition, the longer it will be before they return to laying and the less the profit realized from the investment.

It is foolish to think that mistreatment and abuse which breaks up the tendency is a wise one. One idea sometimes used was to starve the hens when they became broody in order to break them up and get them back to laying. We now know that this was the exact opposite to what we should have done in order to encourage early laying. What is advisable is to feed the hens liberally on a good egg ration which would within a few days have induced the hens to lay. Once laying is resumed the broody trait will disappear.

The open-yard method of breaking up broody hens is one of the most humane treatments we can give the fowls and is also most productive of results. The method is simple. A small area is fenced off in a grassy and shady corner in which a box is placed for protection in bad weather. The hens are turned loose in this yard and plenty of fresh water and feed is given, and as a rule the broodiness ceases in a short time.

Slatted and wire mesh coops indoors or out work fairly well when the bird is caught in time, but in warm weather do not give satisfaction. According to my judgment, the best method for curing broodiness is the open yard. There is less expense, work and trouble involved in this plan than in any other tried. It breaks up the birds more quickly and thus gets them back into the laying class with a minimum loss of time.

Prevent Limberneck by Removal of Carcasses

If poultrymen would spend a little time in looking over their range during the summer months to keep it free from dead carcasses they would undoubtedly prevent a great many outbreaks of so-called "limberneck" or botulism, in poultry.

This is the advice of Dr. F. R. Beaudette, poultry pathologist of the New Jersey agricultural experiment station, who says: "At this time of the year decomposition takes place quite rapidly. Flies are attracted to carcasses and there lay the eggs which later hatch forth maggots. If these maggots are eaten by a fowl an outbreak of botulism is very apt to occur. The outstanding symptom is the limberneck, and generally the affected bird shows a bright red comb. The temperature of such a bird is usually always subnormal. This is of considerable importance in making a diagnosis. The disease is not spread from one fowl to another, and therefore can easily be controlled by eliminating the source of poisoning. It is still a question whether the maggots themselves are responsible or whether the poisoning is due to the botulinus toxin which the maggot mechanically carries.

"Ranges which are overrun with weeds or with anything that would obscure a dead carcass are more dangerous than a range relatively free from tall vegetation; hence, it is a good practice to keep weeds moved during the summer months. Of course there is no danger of botulism in flocks that are confined to runs. "The disease cannot be cured after marked symptoms have made their appearance, though mild cases will often make a spontaneous recovery. Epsom salts in the usual dose aids in early cases. Confinement in a cool dark place seems to give good results."

Green Feed for Fowls

If possible, rest the poultry yards for a month and grow a green crop to purify the soil. A certain amount of green feed is essential to the health of the poultry. When in addition to the food value, we can have the service of purifying the soil, it is thrifty to sow oats, or wheat, or rye in the poultry yard. Even when the yards cannot be spared, and the chickens must have their usual run, by heavy seeding there will be growth enough to benefit the soil.

C. OF C. LEADERS TURN ATTENTION TO MEMBERSHIP

Man Power Imperative For Proper Functioning Of Organization, Claim

With the team organization just about completed for the Chamber of Commerce finance campaign which is to be launched here this week the main attention of the officials in charge of the movement is now being turned to the outcome of the campaign from the standpoint of membership. It is realized that with the passage of the Board of City Development plans for financing the organization, an election for which has been called by the City Commission, this phase of the work will be taken into importance. Thus coincident with the launching of the campaign for funds with which to carry on the work of the organization, a similar move will be launched whereby it is hoped to increase the actual enrollment of workers. The plan is to ask each individual, regardless of his former connection with the organization, to sign a membership card stating that he or she will contribute one dollar per month to the support of the work.

Two Reasons Given. This step is being taken for two reasons, the announcement Monday said, the first of which is to give the organization a designated man power upon which to call when any committee work needing attention is at hand. This man power, it is pointed out, is very necessary to the success of the Chamber of Commerce, for if the organization is not backed by individuals who feel that they have a certain amount of personal responsibility, the work cannot be done as it should.

The second reason for this special fund is brought about by the fact that there are certain movements and miscellaneous expenses with which the organization is faced that cannot be paid out of the funds derived from taxation under the Board of City Development plan, and although officials point to this as secondary in importance to the man power sought, they nevertheless are insistent that this work is necessary for the proper functioning of the body.

Lubbock Now In City Class. They point to the fact, too, that Lubbock has outgrown the country class town and must now begin to put on a certain amount of city ways, which will, of course, be increased as the city prospers and grows. This procedure demands finances and a corps of individuals who are willing to carry their part of the load from the standpoint of personal effort.

The two organizations, Junior and senior, will continue to function as such, regardless of the outcome of the election on the Board of City Development plan, officials say, for it is the aim that the identity of the Junior organization, which has done so much for the progress of the city should not be lost. Young men between the ages of eighteen and thirty are eligible to membership in the Junior body, and it is the expressed hope

ORDERS FOR FIRST CAR PUREBRED CATTLE FULL

The efforts of David F. Eaton, Lubbock county farm agent, and Paul Huey, who holds a similar position in Hale county, to place on the South Plains a shipment of purebred Jersey dairy stock, are meeting with a great deal of success. Mr. Eaton told the Daily Journal Thursday, and orders for the first carload are now in hand, with the possibility that two or three more loads may be ordered if orders are received within the next day or two.

The two agents plan to leave about November 10 for the central part of the state, where they will buy the stock. Between thirty and thirty-five head will be included in the first car. Mr. Eaton said, and the shipment will be about equally divided between Lubbock and Hale counties. The first car will be made up of the stock, including yearlings and calves, according to Mr. Eaton. Several head already have been located, and deals have practically been closed for them. All are pure blood stock, and are being bought at exceptionally low prices, Mr. Eaton said.

This is the first step in a program that will eventually lead to the placing of blooded stock in this county. In the opinion of the county agent, and he is making plans now for the initiation of a bull association among the farmers, final plans for which will be made through the chamber of commerce and local banks in a triple agreement with the farmers.

WORKERS ON THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE drive, nearly 100 strong, collected $2,000 of the $5,000 budget for the expenses of the chamber of commerce in an hour and a half's time this morning. J. A. Rice, colonel of teams, expressed himself as being well satisfied with the way the drive is going over.

Farm Mortgage Financing In Texas Is Studied; Survey Shows Total Of 177 Companies Doing Business Here

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Oct. 26.—A study of farm mortgage financing in Texas has just been completed by Dr. V. P. Lee, Professor of Agricultural Economics, A. and M. College in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Information supplied by 177 financial institutions and insurance companies which make farm mortgage loans in Texas, has been analyzed and presented with pertinent discussion in Texas Station Bulletin No. 330, which is available for free distribution to those making requests to Dr. E. Youngblood, Director, College Station, Texas.

The 177 banks and companies studied have a total of $252,448,122 in first mortgages on Texas farms and $1,727,352 in second mortgages, which amounts represent probably one-half of all the farm mortgages in the State. The farms are in most cases valued for three loans are in most cases valued for more than twice the amount of the loan. The average interest rate charged on first mortgages by these institutions ranges from 3.5 per cent by the Federal Land Bank to 2.45 by the Farmers and Merchants loans made by commercial banks run one to five years; by farm mortgage companies, insurance companies, and trust companies, five and ten years; and by Federal and joint stock land banks more than thirty years. A very large part of the loans made by farm mortgage, insurance, and trust companies, as well as by the commercial banks, are paid off in a lump sum at the end of the term period of the loan. All loans of Federal and joint stock land banks are paid off on the amortization plan, or in the full of the loan after five years. Fifteen per cent of

to increase the interest rates paid by farmers and often presents borrowing when funds could be used to the economic advantage of the borrower.

POULTRY

FORCED PULLETS ARE BEST EGG PRODUCERS

James E. Rice of the Cornell University experiment station issued a bulletin relative to the possibilities of feeding early hatched pullets during the summer by retarded or forced feeding.

By retarding is meant the idea that feeding is necessary during the late summer to check the early tendency of laying, with the hope of getting a larger egg yield in the early winter.

By forced feeding is meant the giving of a rich stimulating mash to induce egg production.

Concerning the results of his work Mr. Rice has certain findings drawn from data which are submitted below:

1. Forced pullets made a better profit than retarded pullets.
2. Forced pullets ate less food per hen at less cost per hen than retarded pullets.
3. Forced pullets produced more eggs of a larger size, at less cost per dozen than retarded pullets.
4. Forced pullets produced more eggs during early winter than retarded pullets.
5. Forced pullets have better hatching results of eggs than retarded pullets.
6. Forced pullets made a better percentage of gain in weight than retarded pullets.
7. Forced pullets showed less broodiness than retarded pullets.
8. Forced pullets had less mortality than retarded pullets.
9. Forced pullets showed better vigor than retarded pullets.
10. Forced pullets showed the first mature molt earlier than retarded pullets.
11. Retarded pullets gave better fertility of eggs than forced pullets.
12. Hopper-fed dry mash gave better results in gain of weight, production of eggs, gain in weight of eggs, hatching power of eggs, days' loss in molting, mortality, health and profit per hen, than wet mash.
13. Wet mash and grain-fed pullets consumed slightly less food at less cost, and produced eggs at slightly less cost per dozen than dry mash and grain-fed pullets.
14. Wet mash and grain-fed pullets produced slightly larger eggs of slightly better fertility, and showed less broodiness than dry mash and grain-fed pullets.
15. Dry mash and grain-fed pullets laid eggs of good size at an earlier period than wet mash and grain-fed pullets.
16. Hopper-fed pullets ate more than hand-fed pullets.
17. Pullets having whole grain ate more grit and shell than those having a proportion of ground grain.
18. Pullets fed on grain were more inclined to develop bad habits than those having a mash.
19. Earliest producers did not give as many eggs in early winter.
20. Early layers gained as rapidly in weight as those beginning later to lay.
21. Proficiency made by slight difference in weight of hen and weight of egg.
22. The most prolific pullets did not always lay earliest.

Give Pullets Best Feed and Careful Attention

"The success of the poultryman is measured very largely by the quality of the pullets with which he replenishes his flock," says Martin Decker, poultry research specialist at the New Jersey agricultural experiment station.

"Great care should be exercised to keep the pullets growing uniformly from hatching to maturity, as a check or setback will cause them to mature too late for winter laying. Development is best promoted by free range with an abundance of shade and green food.

"We feed grain and keep mash before the growing stock continually. The mash is composed of nearly the same combination as our laying mash, but the pullets tend to begin laying too early if allowed too much of it. We must figure on having the pullets come into production about the middle of October, or before cold weather sets in.

"The pullets should be transferred to winter quarters, gradually—a few at a time. Do not put on the lights until they have become accustomed to their new surroundings. Then feed the laying flock the following ration:

- 300 lbs. wheat bran
- 300 lbs. wheat middlings
- 300 lbs. cornmeal
- 300 lbs. ground oats
- 300 lbs. moist scrap
- Grain
- 100 lbs. wheat
- 100 lbs. cracked corn
- 100 lbs. oats.

Hens Pasture Feeders

Hens are pasture feeders, though seldom considered such on many farms. In that they are fenced away from good pasture, J. G. Halpin of the poultry department of the University of Wisconsin says that a heavy-laying hen will not last long unless the fowls are kept in a laxative condition. Most poultry keepers feed green stuff more practical than drugs. Green feed adds the necessary bulk to the ration and apparently assists in the assimilation of minerals.

GREEKS EVACUATE

ATHENS, Oct. 29. (AP)—It is officialy announced that the Greek troops have evacuated Bulgarian territory.

MATADORS LEAVE FRIDAY FOR SAN ANGELO TO MEET SUL ROSS TEACHERS OF ALPINE SATURDAY

The Tech College Matador crew, for their pep and fight somewhat frost bitten by the chilly blasts that have swept the South Plains for the past few days, are nevertheless still at their regular daily routine of practice preparatory for their clash Saturday with the Sul Ross State Teachers College, of Alpine at San Angelo, and will leave Friday morning by auto for the scene of the forthcoming battle, which will be the feature athletic attraction of the All-West Texas Exposition.

It is the present plan of the coaches to take the boys to some small town near San Angelo, where they will stop for the night and take a light limbering up left, proceeding on to the field of conquest early Saturday morning. Just where this stop will be made had not been decided early this afternoon.

More Cars Needed. Reports from L. F. Holland, who has been in charge of arrangements for cars with which to take the boys to the game, say that machines have been secured sufficient to care for about twenty, and that at least one or two more cars are needed to give the club free passage.

Many others have expressed a desire to make the trip with their cars, but seek and business affairs will not permit them to do so.

Coach Fredlund told the Daily Journal Thursday that he is planning to take 24 boys out of approximately sixty that are still sticking to the daily routine of workout. The boys selected to make the trip are the following: Coaches, Miller and Groover; Teachers, Reed, Knowles, Denton, and Harris; Tacklers, Carpenter, Fromm, Smith and Westerfield; Calloway, Dilly, Henry, White and Woodward; Quarters, Hamilton and Woodruff; Fullbacks, Hill and Nicholas; Half-backs, Alford, Archibald, Wilson, Hallmark and probably Flynn.

Bourland Leaves Camp. Bourland, the speedy young half, who was beginning to make inroads on the work of first squad men, and was threatening to permanently dislodge one of them from a regular position, has returned to his uniform and equipment to the coaches, and left a day or two ago for his home. Bourland, who cited no specific reason for his action, had been used to much advantage in the last two games, and was fast learning the art of sidestepping through the line for consistent gains. He fitted in admirably well with the small but speedy crew that coach Fredlund would lead in occasionally to break the monotony and rest the heavier backfield men.

To offset this loss, however, Ernie Wilson, who has been out since the Austin College game when he suffered an injured back, is now back in and, just about ready for regular work. Wilson will make the trip tomorrow, and may possibly be given a few minutes of work in the back field, but he has not entirely recovered from the injury and more than likely will not be permitted to work, but just a few minutes if he is allowed to take the field at all. Wilson's speed, coupled with his ability to find holes in the line for good gains, and his accuracy in placing a forward pass, make him a very valuable man to the Matadors.

Backfield No Worry. In the back field coach Fredlund now has virtually no worries, for he has two crews on which he can depend in almost any emergency. One of them, heavy and more or less experienced in college football tactics, can hold their own against most any kind of onslaught that may be offered. Then for a change of scenery, the veteran grid mentor has a crew of mostly high school boys who fear no danger, and are speedy in all their movements. The sudden change from the heavier crew to the light and speedy backs invariably may be counted upon to deal more or less misery to the opposition.

In the line, a similar combination is presented, but not to the extent that it reveals in the back field. Reed, Carpenter, Fromm and Knowles, serving in the inner circles of the line as a body guard to the snap of the ball from center, where "Big Tro" Trostle may be located, form an almost airtight combination, and no team has appeared here this season that has been able to penetrate this wall of defense for any material gains. On the wings, Calloway and White, both experienced men, may be depended upon to carry their part of the load under any conditions. Calloway is heavy enough that when he gets under way with a forward pass, he is exceptionally hard to down. White is somewhat lighter, but is just as vulnerable in his punning tactics. This line of defense has been known to have repeatedly gone through the opponent's line, breaking up an offensive attack before it had had time to get well under way.

As a field general for the heavier squad, Fredlund has in "Red" Hamilton one of the steadiest and most consistent manipulators on the field in the state. Hamilton has had sufficient seasoning in college football to know what is required of him, and his precision in executing plays, and mixing to the drills is recognized as exceptional.

Lighter Crew Good. Turning to the lighter section of the machinery that has yet been untested this year, there is little doubt that Fredlund and Higginbotham have worked out one of the best all-around young squads ever seen in West Texas, or for that matter any of the younger schools of the Southwest, for he has a squad here that has gone up against some of the strongest competition offered by the T. L. A. A. clubs, and have held their own with some to spare. In fact, these boys have shown practically as much driving power as the "Heater" and "more seasoned crew." In Archibald, Hallmark and Nicholas, none of whom had any college experience prior to this year, he has a second line of defense that is hard to handle, and with Woodruff, also playing his first college football, in the capacity of field center, this back field is mounting in any opposition regardless of its strength.

In the line there is Denton, Harris, Smith and Westerfield in the inner circle, with Miller at center, and a more solid line of defense could hardly be expected in a school of several times the growth of Tech as far as athletics are concerned. Miller is

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR ASKS RESERVED SEATS SECTION ARRANGED AND STUDENTS WILL BE ON HAND FRIDAY

Fifty cooks, students in the home economics department of the Texas Technological College, will be on hand at the Journal's cooking school tomorrow afternoon at the Presbyterian church, to hear Mrs. Ida Chitwood, nationally famous cooking expert, in her illustrated lecture on French cuisine, latest designs in meat decoration and the value of meat as a food.

Miss Margaret Weeks, dean of the Tech department of home economics, told the Journal today, Friday's program will conclude the Second Annual Cooking School, made possible for the ladies of Lubbock and vicinity at no cost to them, by the Daily Journal.

According to Mrs. Chitwood the lecture which she will give Friday afternoon is not to be given anywhere in the United States at the present time and is the result of a special course which she attended in Montreal, Canada, at a great expense, under the direction of a famous French chef. One piece of every cut on a beef will be lectured on by Mrs. Chitwood tomorrow.

Today's program, dealing with pastries and biscuits, and the kind of pie crust which crumbles at the touch of a fork, was attended by hundreds of Lubbock housewives who attentively listened to the expert's every word.

Every woman can be a good cook if she wishes to, said Mrs. Chitwood. We usually accomplish our aims in this life if we try hard enough. Women pride themselves in being a good cook, more than any other accomplishment, and there are only a few women in this world of today who aren't good cooks. The more we know about foods and cookery, the more we want to know.

Pie crust and biscuits are poorly made more often than any other items of food that are carried into the body and I am frank to admit that there is not a single excuse for this, said Mrs. Chitwood.

She also made a beautiful "basket" of specially prepared dough, which had been worked out according to her own formula. This was a real piece of art and indeed, was greatly appreciated by her class. The handle was baked and placed into the basket which had been baked and allowed to cool. The basket was then filled with fruit salad and decorated with leaves, vines and roses.

Mrs. Chitwood stressed the fact she always is most particular as to the quality of food material used in cookery, as she had found it unwise to allow any thing but the highest class products in the kitchen because much of the success of cooking rests with the quality of the ingredients. She personally buys and selects every item that she uses, even to such small matters as salt and seasonings.

"I want the best and only the best as my time is worth too much to waste it trying to make a success out of inferior or poorly made products," she told the cooking class. "I long ago found that there is little use in experimenting with products of unknown quality or with products that are cheaper, but not so good, hence to get best results I always select carefully everything I am going to use in my kitchen and then my success is partly accomplished before I begin the actual preparation of the foods.

The "baking powder" biscuits were just as soft, fluffy and white as the falling snow. They would almost melt in your mouth. The nut and orange biscuits were of a very unusual type and were greatly admired by the class. These biscuits may be baked in quantities and kept over for several days.

Baptists Fail To Set Place Of The Next Convention

HOUSTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—The meeting place of the Southern Baptist convention planned for Houston in 1928 remained in doubt today. Following a meeting of Baptist pastors in Houston Monday, at which a motion to recall the invitation was adopted, 13 to 12, the Rev. James H. Beavall, pastor of the First Baptist church, wired the convention secretary regret for the action taken and guaranteed "royal entertainment for the convention if it met in Houston." Other local ministers of the church refused comment other than action had been taken and saying "that settles it."

The decision to recall the invitation is said to have come about largely because of difference of opinions among local pastors, one difference being about modernism and fundamentalism.

The decision to recall the invitation is said to have come about largely because of difference of opinions among local pastors, one difference being about modernism and fundamentalism.

Mrs. Chitwood stressed the fact she always is most particular as to the quality of food material used in cookery, as she had found it unwise to allow any thing but the highest class products in the kitchen because much of the success of cooking rests with the quality of the ingredients. She personally buys and selects every item that she uses, even to such small matters as salt and seasonings.

DESIGNATION FOR "PEACE SUNDAY" IS ASKED WAXAHACHE, Texas, Oct. 25. (AP) lation of "Armistice Sunday," Nov. 8 to the cause of international justice and world peace was advocated in a statement today by the commission on international justice and good will of the Federal Council of Churches, which also urged observance of a two-minute period of silence on Armistice Day. "Notwithstanding declarations by our president and our recent secretary of state, ominous signs, not yet cause anxiety," the statement declared. "Our Senate has failed thus far even to consider the earnest recommendation of President Harding and Coolidge that America adhere to the World Court of Justice. "Our navy has carried out spectacular maneuvers in the Pacific, and made an ill-timed visit to Australia under circumstances and with publicity inevitably credited to Japan. "Our country has been flooded with propaganda for a bigger navy and for such colossal fortifications for Hawaii as to make it 'the Gibraltar of the Pacific.' "Congress has recently enacted an immigration law which is offensive to Asiatics, not because of its essential substance, but because of the manner of its enactment and humiliating implications of phraseology."

CIVIL DOCKET OF DISTRICT COURT IS CALLED HERE

FOUR JURORS FINED FOR REPORTING LATE TO OPENING SESSION

The civil docket of the 72nd Judicial District court, which has been adjourned two weeks of the five weeks term that opened here last Monday, was called Monday morning by district judge Clark M. Mulligan, and to impress the fact upon those who had been summoned as jurors for the session that the court had opened, four of those summoned were given a minimum fine of $10 each for being late in reporting for duty.

The cases on the civil docket will be handled as far as possible during the two weeks, when the court machinery will turn to the criminal docket. A special session in which it is hoped to clean up the civil docket has been arranged to convene immediately after adjournment of the regular term.

The criminal docket will be called one week from next Monday, and will consume the last two weeks of the regular term, during which time only a few of the cases pending will be reached. Two murder cases which grew out of the death of Roy C. Dalton near Southland were not reached at this term, according to District Attorney Walter C. Wiltcher.

The Jess Harvey case will be called first on the criminal docket. Harvey is charged with murder in connection with the death of Nate M. Hightower, at Oklaon on October 1, last year. Other cases on the criminal docket to come up for hearing cover violation of the prohibition law, perjury and robbery.

GERMAN KING OF FINANCE IS IN AMERICA

BERLIN, Oct. 28. (AP)—The departure from Germany of Dr. Edmund Stinnes, eldest son of the late Hugo Stinnes, industrial magnate, was kept secret and news has only now been received of his arrival in New York.

Tired of family quarrels and squabbles with bankers and receivers over the remnants of the family fortune, friends say, the young Stinnes determined to seek a new business environment in America.

Sailing from Hamburg, he succeeded in keeping his departure a secret.

Dr. Stinnes sailed from Hamburg and succeeded in keeping his departure a secret, only a few intimate business associates being aware of his plan to leave Germany. He is said to have assigned his remaining interests in various Stinnes enterprises for the benefit of the existing receiverships, while his other properties which up to a short time ago gave promise of prosperous development, now are being liquidated.

Dr. Stinnes' wife will follow him to the United States. He is to have effected a complete reconciliation with his mother and younger brother, Hugo Stinnes, Jr., before leaving.

Makes Statement

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP)—When Dr. Stinnes arrived here Saturday on the Cunarder Berengaria, he explained he had come "not for business, but merely as a tourist."

"As an engineer and former aviation officer," he said, "I am naturally most interested in American engineering and industrial developments. While touring America, I hope to see some of the famous industrial plants of the United States."

Bandit Is Knocked Down As He Tries To Rob Texas Bank

TEMPLE, Texas, Oct. 29. (AP)—An attempt to rob the First State Bank at Bruceville, by a youthful bandit shortly before noon today was frustrated when he was knocked down by the cashier, at whom he had pointed a gun, and was captured. The young man drove up to the bank in an auto, tomobile, entered and leveled his pistol at Nolan Taylor, the cashier. Taylor knocked him down.

CONTESTANTS SHOW ACTION AS HEAVY VOTE IS BEGINNING TO PILE UP IN JOURNAL'S DRIVE

DISTRICT TWO WILL BE PRINTED TOMORROW WHILE DISTRICT THREE STANDINGS ARE TO BE GIVEN OUT IN SUNDAY'S PAPER

A heavy vote in the very beginning of the Journal's great circulation drive is being made by the patrons of the paper who are clipping the Free Voting Coupons and giving the votes to a favored worker. The vote is fairly well distributed among those who have been selected to put the drive over.

District one, the city of Lubbock, is published in today's issue. The vote standing in district two, the towns surrounding will be published Friday, and district three, made up of the rural districts, will be published in Sunday's issue. There will be a district published every Monday and Thursday, and district two every Tuesday and Friday, and district three Wednesday and Sundays.

The plan of making the Free Voting Coupon the greater vote is causing unusual interest and with millions of votes going out in the Daily Journal every day and in the Weekly Plains Journal every week, the vote will no doubt continue to be heavy. The ladies who have been selected to put the drive over to a successful finish are fast accepting their nominations, and there is every indication that a very large number will take an active part in the drive.

Coupon-Valuable.

The Free Voting Coupon is worth 1,000 votes in this issue. Workers who will secure a list of their friends and have the Daily Journal sent to them free for one week provided the free voting coupon will be clipped and sent to the Journal office or given to the worker securing the name, will soon build up a substantial and high vote.

The first vote offer for payment of subscriptions is a limited one. No one worker is asked to secure but twelve dollars in subscriptions for this and next week. Regular votes will be issued on each subscription that will go to make up the $12.00 and 1,000,000 extra votes will be issued for the $12.00 club. The million votes will be issued only on one club for each worker who takes part in the drive.

Prizes Good Ones.

The six automobiles and all of the thirty-six prizes will be awarded to the most successful workers who secure the "most votes." The greater vote will be gotten from the Free Voting Coupon and the plan as outlined is proving to be a very popular one, with the ladies who are putting the drive over and with the public in general.

Save the coupon in this paper and vote for some one. They have too great a value to allow them to go to waste.

Only One Cafe In Canada Likes 4.4 Percent Beer Sale

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 28. (AP)—Only one Windsor cafe, District License Inspector Maxine N. Moussemu announced, has applied for a renewal of its license to sell 4.4 beer. The fiscal year ended and time for application for renewal of license was fixed for this date, but it was unofficially reported the time will be extended until May.

Brewery reports of the sales indicate 4.4 beer demand has been declining steadily until it has reached virtually the vanishing point.

ROUMANIA HELPS BALKAN NATIONS DECIDE ON PACT

PEACE ARRANGED BEFORE MEETING OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 27. (AP)—Greece's representative, M. Carapanos, announced at the opening of today's meeting of the League of Nations council that through the friendly mediation of Roumania, a direct agreement has been reached between Greece and Bulgaria for evacuation of their respective territories. The conditions of the agreement, he said, were that Bulgarian and Greek officers should proceed this afternoon to the frontier to arrange for the return of the Greek border guards to their original posts.

The Greek troops in Bulgaria would begin their withdrawal immediately and the Bulgarian forces would not advance in a manner to hinder the Greeks until the latter had crossed the frontier.

Before League Meet

An Athens dispatch last night said the Greco-Bulgarian agreement, at the suggestion of Roumania, had been reached prior to yesterday's action of the League of Nations council in Paris, which ordered Greece and Bulgaria to withdraw their troops behind their respective frontiers.

Whether Roumania acted independently of the league, or not, the effect of the agreement is to carry out the conditions laid down by the league council.

INDUSTRY is DOING the WORLD'S WORK

The people who know most about industry are those people who are in industry. In addition to knowing about industry, people who are in the public service know about the interest that all the other people have in it.

The public utility industry—for instance the service of light and power is peculiar in that it can do well only as the people served by it do well. It is an essential service, and experience has shown that an industry which is affected with a public interest serves well only through co-operation between the service and the people served.

The spirit of co-operation for the benefit of both the service and those served is the spirit that inspires this company to look always to the welfare of its customers.

U.S. GOVERNMENT COTTON REPORTS INDICATE GAINS

15,226,000 BALES WILL TOTAL CROP EXPERTS ESTIMATE

BULLETIN! NEW YORK, Oct. 26. (AP)—Cotton broke $6 a bale today on publication of the government crop estimate of 15,226,000 bales, an increase of 467,000 bales compared with the forecast on October 1.

BULLETIN! NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 26. (AP)—The government estimate of 15,226,000 bales produced was larger than expected and prices at the resumption of trading showed losses of $1 to 30 points from the prices ruling just before the report was issued.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26. — A probable cotton production of about 15,226,000 equivalent 500-pound bales the department of agriculture announced today, as indicated by reports as of October 18, on condition, abandonment, probable yields, and ginnings.

Abandonment Given. An abandonment of cotton acreage since June 25 of 4.8 per cent leaving 27,500 acres for harvest this year is indicated by preliminary reports.

The percentage of abandonment of acreage since June 25 and the indicated production based on all available information on October 18, follow: Virginia, abandonment 1.1 per cent, production 48,000 bales; North Carolina 2.9 and 1,120,000; South Carolina 2.5 and 850,000; Georgia 2.9 and 1,120,000; Florida 1.9 and 40,000; Missouri .9 and 230,000; Tennessee 1.5 and 75,000; Alabama 1.5 and 137,000; Mississippi 1.5 and 1,820,000; Louisiana 1.7 and 400,000; Texas 3.9 and 4,650,000; Arkansas 2.5 and 1,470,000; New Mexico 2.7 and 60,000; Arizona 3.7 and 20,000; California 1.9 and 130,000; All other states 2.9 and 18,000.

About 70,000 bales additional to California are being grown in lower California, Mexico.

The ginnings prior to October 18, by states follow: Alabama 1,954,222; Arizona 30,579; Arkansas 795,446; California 16,339; Florida 55,900; Georgia 1,051,285; Louisiana 832,485; Mississippi 1,182,282; Missouri 72,593; New Mexico 17,526; North Carolina 708,909; Oklahoma 549,272; South Carolina 731,890; Tennessee 234,872; Texas 2,404,460; Virginia 21,952. All other states 5,115.

MASONIC PROGRAM TO DEPICT WORK OF HOSPITALS

A moving picture program depicting the life, activity and good work that is carried on by the Masonic Lodge of Texas in hospitals throughout the state will be shown tonight at the Masonic Hall here through the local lodge by the courtesy of Perry Scott, thirty-second degree Scottish Rite Mason, and his associates from the El Paso Consistory, Chas. F. O'Neill, local mason, told the Daily Journal Tuesday.

The program, which is an educational movie, showing what can be done for the orphan and homeless children of the state through co-operative efforts, will be open to the public, but all Masons and Eastern Star members are especially urged to attend. Others interested in the work will be given a warm welcome, Mr. O'Neill said. Ample seating capacity is promised in the spacious lodge hall.

CROP FORECAST IS CRITICIZED

Southern Senators Are Angry And Charge Agricultural Department Is Wrong

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The Department of Agriculture estimate fixating a cotton yield this year of 15,226,000 bales drew fire from two senators from cotton-producing states. Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, declares that anyone acquainted with conditions in the belt this season realizes that there are not 15,226,000 bales or anything approaching that figure of spinnable cotton in the southern states this year.

Senator Caraway charged that "to everyone it must appear that intentionally or otherwise these cotton reports this year cost the cotton growers of America not less than a quarter of a billion dollars."

CONCRETE WORK ON HOTEL STARTS WEDNESDAY

Excavation work for the basement and foundation of Lubbock's new $400,000 six-story hotel, which is to be erected at the corner of Broadway and Avenue K is completed except for the finishing work of leveling, and the pouring of concrete for the pillars and foundation will begin probably Wednesday, it was announced Monday by J. E. Johnson, of the Johnson Construction company, of Waco, which firm has the general contract for construction of the building.

INSURANCE MAP BEING MADE UP

New York Man Here Is Making First Fire Insurance Map For City Since 1921. Housewives of the city who see a man inspecting their homes from the outside and looking over outbuildings from a vantage point in the back yard need not be overly excited.

According to Gih Jackson, of the Leader Insurance agency, Mr. Nelson will be here for six weeks or two months and the map which he will complete will be the first one made here since 1921. He will inspect brick business buildings on both the inside and outside but will only inspect the frame buildings from the exterior. It is understood. The completion of the map will be of great aid to the fire insurance men here and will fix the rates for insurance on a firmer basis.

QUARANTINE LIFT EXPECTED

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 27. (AP)—Nineteen counties in South Texas may expect to be released from the foot and mouth disease quarantine on November 5, according to Dr. Marion Innes, who is in charge of disease eradication forces. The prediction was based on the presumption that there would be no fresh outbreaks. The last was October 15. The situation, Dr. Innes said today, is disease than at any time since it appears hopeful for a cessation of the feared four months ago.

TECH REGENTS TO MEET TUESDAY IN FORT WORTH

The board of regents of the Texas Technological college will go into session Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the office of Amos G. Carter, president of the board, at Fort Worth. It was announced here Monday by Miss Lucile Robinson, secretary to President Paul W. Horn, of the Tech. CANYON PREPARES FOR BIG GRID CROWDS

CANYON, Tex., Oct. 26.—Canyon is making plans to handle one of the biggest crowds ever seen in the city on October 31, when the West Texas State Teachers College Buffaloes meet the Denton Eagles in the annual home coming game. Ex-students and other fans from West Texas, Oklahoma, and Eastern New Mexico are already making reservations for the game in Canyon. A feature of the annual home coming is the ex-students circus and carnival which will represent ex-students organizations from all parts of the Panhandle. Mrs. Tommie Montfort of Canyon is in charge of the ex-student activities and E. D. Burton is taking care of the details of the athletic feature.

MISSION STUDY CLASS OF METHODIST CHURCH

The members of the Mission Study Class of the Methodist Church, enjoyed a very interesting class meeting at the church Monday afternoon. Our book "Life as a Stewardship" grows more interesting with each chapter. The class appreciates the able leadership of Brother White. Topic for discussion was "Budget Making." Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. R. I. Tubbs and Mrs. J. D. Peters, very ably discussed the different plans of budget making.

The ladies of the church who are not availing themselves of the opportunity of attending these class meetings are missing a great deal. Again we invite you to attend these Mission Study Classes on the second and fourth Monday of each month. At the close of the meeting a few business items were attended to. The Women's Missionary Society and the Mary Helm Auxiliary would observe "Our Week of Prayer" program in an all-day service at the church next Monday, Nov. 2nd, beginning promptly at 10 o'clock. Luncheon 12 to 1 p. m. Continuation of program from 1 p. m. until 2 p. m. Business meeting at 2 p. m.

A very interesting meeting has been arranged for, which will be published in Sunday paper. A very cordial invitation is extended all ladies of the church to be present at this annual meeting, which is one of the most important and most enjoyable meetings of the year's calendar.

CIRCLE NO. THREE OF FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Members of Circle Number Three of First Presbyterian Church met Monday afternoon with Mrs. W. C. Lytle. The devotion was ably led by Mrs. Joe Wilson. Mrs. Lewis led the interesting lesson and was assisted by Mrs. Lytle, Mrs. L. C. Ellis, Mrs. Presley and Mrs. Ainsworth. On opening the mite boxes the Circle added twenty dollars to their treasury.

At the close of the afternoon the business services, refreshment course of hot rolls, hot coffee with whip cream and brown bread.

CIRCLE NO. TWO OF THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Ladies of Circle No. Two of the First Presbyterian Church enjoyed Monday afternoon with Mrs. F. C. Wilson as hostess. Mrs. Davidson led the devotion and Mrs. McCleary proved an efficient leader of the lesson on "Korea." The offerings for the orphans box were collected after which the hostess served delicious refreshments of Deville's food cake and hot tea to Mesdames Heister, McCleary, Moore, Williams, Davidson and Wagner.

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Orange juice, cereal cooked with dates, thin cream, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Cream of potato soup, eggless bran bread, pineapple and cream cheese, salad, ginger cookies, milk, tea.
Dinner—Braised beef, brown gravy, macaroni, buttered brussels sprouts, endive salad, fruit jelly, whipped cream, white bread, milk, coffee.
Luncheon is planned to take care of the needs of school children rather than adults. The person who would diet to reduce will find that a luncheon of sandwich, fruit and tea is sufficient. One slice of the bran bread, a small salad and tea should be the reducing diet from the luncheon menu for the day.
Eggless Bran Bread.
Two cups bran, one cup whole wheat flour, 1 cup buttermilk, 1/2 cup molasses, 1/2 cup nuts, 1/2 cup seeded raisins, 1 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Mix flour, bran and salt. Dissolve soda in buttermilk and add to dry ingredients. Add nuts and raisins and mix thoroughly. Turn into a well-buttered loaf pan and bake one hour in a moderately slow oven. THE AMERICAN LEGION AND LADIES AUXILIARY HOLD JOINT MEETING

The American Legion and newly organized Ladies Auxiliary held a joint business meeting on Monday evening at the city hall. The Post Commander, G. L. Peters, and the president of the Auxiliary, Mrs. H. L. Pharr, presided over the meeting. Plans for Armistice Day program were disposed of to committees who are to meet again on Thursday evening. There will be a call meeting of the entire American Legion and Auxiliary on next Monday evening at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock. The regular time of meeting for both organizations is on the second and fourth Monday evening of each month.—Reporter.

MRS. F. C. YARBRO ENTERTAINED ON THURSDAY EVENING

Thursday evening was indeed pleasant for a few friends with Mrs. F. C. Yarbrow as hostess honoring Mrs. Yarbrow's birthday. Halloween decorations were effectively used throughout. The guests were invited into the dining room where a large birthday cake in pink and white holding lighted candles, made an effective center piece, for the dining table, where a delicious menu of turkey and everything good that makes a turkey dinner complete, was served. After dinner forty-two was enjoyed until a late hour by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moreman, Mr. and Mrs. Hub Jones, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Moxey, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hassell, Mr. Earl Jones, Mrs. Mae Brewer and Mr. and Mrs. Yarbrow.

CIRCLE 4 OF FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Members of Circle 4 and several guests enjoyed Monday afternoon with Mrs. Richard Maxwell as hostess at 320 14th street. After a short business meeting Mrs. Blocker led the devotion. An interesting letter from one of our Missionaries was read by Mrs. Cook and a paper on Korea was read by Mrs. Kimmel. A dainty refreshment course of frozen fruit salad, pimento sandwiches, olives, salad wafers and hot coffee with whipped cream was served to Mesdames Miller, Middleton, Peters, Dunbar, McSpadden, McKee, Blocker, Hull, Cook, Hassell, Griffin and Kimmel.

LITTLEFIELD BAPTIST CHURCH CORNER STONE LAYING

I feel that a word from Littlefield will be of interest. Ten months ago we had one hundred badly disorganized, discouraged, fuming members. Today we have four hundred well organized, wide awake, aggressive, consecrated members in good standing and full fellowship. We are right in the midst of a great building program. We are building a commodious three story brick house. It will cost us about $40,000. We are paying for it as we go. We are planning to be in the first story on Nov. 8, 1925, at which time we are having a great corner stone program. I. L. Cooper of Fort Worth, is helping us over the hill and he is the best scotcher, puller, pusher, organizer and booster; it has ever been my privilege to work with. We extend a hearty welcome and an earnest urge to every one reading this to be at the new Baptist Church building, Littlefield, Texas, Sunday, Nov. 8, 1925, 2:30 p. m. We are planning a great program. Come, be with us! W. B. Phillips, Pastor.

STORY TELLING HOUR IN CONNECTION WITH THE CHILD STUDY CLUB

Two young ladies from the Tech College will take charge of all the children that attend the Child Study Club. The mothers who wish to bring their children may do so at a small expense and they will be entertained and cared for during the lesson.

STUDY CLUB MEETS

The Lubbock Child Study Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church with Mrs. Chas. Whitacre as leader, assisted by Mrs. John Jarrott, Mrs. G. G. Johnson, Mrs. H. L. Johnson, Mrs. Hub Jones, Mrs. R. H. Jones, Mrs. Laverne Kershner and Mrs. J. H. Kimmel.

TO PACK BOXES

The ladies of the First Presbyterian church will pack their box in the morning at the home of Mrs. L. C. Ellis, which they will mail to the orphan girl whom they send to twice each year.

THE WEDNESDAY NEEDLE CLUB

The Wednesday Needle Club will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS TOWNS

With Mrs. H. A. Davidson as hostess and Mrs. T. B. Duggan as joint hostess. Mrs. F. C. Yarbrow is visiting in Hillsboro. She will return home Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lightfoot left Monday for Bridgeport to be at the bedside of Mr. Lightfoot's father, who is very low.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS TOWNS

By West Texas Chamber of Commerce THROUGH MORTON.—Survey of the proposed New Post-Fort Worth line of the Santa Fe is progressing rapidly. Three gangs are pushing the work and at the rate the work is moving the gang should be in Fort Worth within a fortnight. One of the gangs which ran a line from Double Mountain formed a liaison here with the other two gangs indicating that the line might run direct from Haskell here. No public announcement of the Santa Fe policy will be made until the action of the Interstate Commerce Commission on the Denver case has been taken.

LUBBOCK.—Lubbock will entertain the 1925 convention of Texas Commercial Secretaries Association. This action was taken by the executive board which held a recent meeting in Dallas.

BITADY.—Abolition of meter rents and material reduction in water and light rates have been announced by the City Water Board. Water rates receive a flat fifty cent per 1,000 gallons cut, while light rates are designed to benefit large users of electricity.

AMARILLO.—The Southwest is growing better according to Judge Wilson. The extremely light criminal docket of the United States District Court reflects the prosperity of the Southwest and crime has all but disappeared. Good crops and plenty of work for all labor is the answer.

BROWNWOOD.—The Brownwood Bulletin, popular central Texas daily newspaper celebrated its twenty fifth birthday with a special edition. The Bulletin was founded October 15, 1900. Harry Schermer, printer who started with the newspaper is still on the job. Harvey Mayes, original business manager retains his former position.

AUSTIN.—A deficiency appropriation totaling $24,180 has been granted to Texas Tech by Governor Ferguson. The money is to be used to pay instructors salaries and defray the general expense of the year.

TAHOKA.—This city has decided by election to sell the municipally owned light and ice plant to the Mutual Light and Power company, of Amarillo. The consideration is approximately $65,000, and the new owners will take charge about Nov. 1.

BALMORHEA.—The Toyah Valley News is a new newspaper to be published here. The owners are Lee Kingston and George Price and publication has already begun.

EASTLAND.—Local citizens will vote on Oct. 29, to decide whether the city will take over the local gas company and operate it as a municipal utility.

SALTON.—The City Commission has called an election for Nov. 17 to pass a proposed $100,000 paving program here. The Salton public square will be the first unit paved.

SNYDER.—The R. S. and P. Railway here is erecting a modern depot adequate to take care of Snyder and the city's needs. This city is making great strides in civic progress and the new station is necessary in order to keep pace with the growth of the city.

SAN ANGELO.—The District Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be held here Oct. 28 during the All-West Texas Exposition which will be in full blast at the time. Porter A. Whaley, manager of the organization also R. G. Lee, president, and Homer D. Wade, assistant manager, will attend this meeting.

OLNEY.—A new natural gasoline plant will be erected here at once. This will be the third such plant to be put in here and it has been made necessary because of increased production of wet gas in this field.

Specialist To Be In Charge Of New Department At Rix

Mrs. J. D. Johnson, artist and interior decorating specialist, of Dallas, has arrived in take charge of the Art and Drapery department, which is a new feature that is being added for the benefit of the public by the Rix Furniture and Upholstery company here. Mrs. Johnson is an accomplished painter and designer and will have on display in this department much of her work. J. A. Rix, manager of the store said. She has had three years selling experience in Dallas and knows what the public wants. In addition to this she took the three-year course offered under Mr. Scott, of the Rogers-Meyer company at Dallas, which is recognized as one of the best available in the state, specializing in interior decorating.

The service of Mrs. Johnson is to be offered absolutely free to the public. Mr. Rix said, and he urged the people to call upon her for any ideas or suggestions in connection with the interior finish of their homes.

STAR PARASITE REMOVER.—A wonderful poultry remedy contains sulphur, scientifically compounded with other health-building ingredients; is a good tonic and blood purifier, improves health, prevents diseases and keeps fowls free of all destructive insects. No trouble. A few drops in drinking water, as directed, does the work or money back. For sale by—

NEW YORK.—Al Smith's birthplace has been bought for $32,000 by a friend, James T. Riordan, who plans to make it a shrine for democracy.

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Clemington Corson, 26-year-old mother of two children, observed navy day for training for the English Channel swim with a four-mile swim in the Hudson river's chilly waters.

NEW YORK.—A thirty-cent American stamp of 1861 has sold for $1,000.

LONDON.—Widespread foot and mouth disease is preventing the Prince of Wales from hunting this season.

NEW YORK.—For loss of culinary ability a Bronx housewife, whose biscuits and pie never have been the same since the ceiling fell upon her, has been awarded a $1,000 verdict against the landlord.

PORTLAND, Maine.—German coal is on the way to help warm up the state of Maine.

PEORIA, Ill.—Girl students who claim they are physically unable to participate in gym classes at Bradley College will be sent to bed right in the gym. Physicians said relaxation in bed was just as beneficial to the delicate as exercise to the healthy.

COLLINSVILLE, Ill.—Robert B. Pout, St. Louis automobile salesman, has sued the Fairmount Jockey Club for money he lost trying to pick track winners; says Illinois statute supports suit.

CITY NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

MANAGER GEORGE BENSON, OF the Lubbock Auto company, was wrecked yesterday afternoon, shortly before five o'clock, when a Ford car, parked in the very center of his plant, caught fire and blasted merrily. A hurried visit on the part of the efficient fire department, however, soon set his worries at an end and put out the fire at a loss of but $70. The entire valuation of the Lubbock Auto company is about $75,000. Mr. Benson says, and the loss doesn't worry him much, thanks to the fire-fighters.

E. C. ALLISON, OF SHAWNEE, Oklahoma, is in the city and is carrying on an advertising feature for the Cullum Motor company. Studebaker distributors for the South Plains. Mr. Allison is a Cherokee Indian and poses in Indian costume in his advertising feature.

ROBERT BURNS CAMPBELL, OF San Angelo, was in Lubbock this morning. Mr. Campbell was formerly located in Lubbock, representing the Humble Oil and Refining company's geological department, but was sent to San Angelo when the oil boom there became interesting to the larger concerns. Mr. Campbell reports that operations in the Reagan county field are mostly wildcat ventures and as a whole the oil industry is not looking up.

CAIRO.—King Tut's tomb has been opened again and well preserved flowers have been found in an inner chamber.

WEST TEXAS MEET OF METHODISTS IS BEGUN

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 28, 1925.—Installation of American Methodism was the uppermost question as the West Texas annual conference of the Methodist Church, South, opened here today. It was the chief topic for discussion among the delegates. The vote on the question is to come early in the sessions.

Bishop James E. Dickey, of Waco, presiding as a leader of the anti-unification, while Reverend S. S. Light, pastor of Laurel Heights, the meeting place of the conference, is a strong unificationist.

CAIRO.—King Tut's tomb has been opened again and well preserved flowers have been found in an inner chamber.

Cotton Seed Meal and Hulls

The Feed for Every Animal on the Farm

When fed to Dairy Cows, it's use increases the quantity of milk, improves the color, and the cream therefrom makes richer and better butter.

No foodstuff known will place the same amount of fat on cattle within so short a time as Cottonseed Meal combined with Cottonseed Hulls.

For Horses and Mules

Cottonseed Meal is conceded by those who have put it to the test to be by far the best and most economical feed on the market for Horses and Mules.

Up in Iowa, where the inclination would naturally be in favor of other feeds, the Iowa Experimental Station found that with corn at 50 cents a bushel and oats at 40 cents a bushel cottonseed meal fed to work horses at the rate of one pound per day was worth $60.00 per ton.

Feed to Sheep for Wool Production

One pint of Cottonseed Meal per day with pasturage or other food will give most excellent results. Sheep do not require much concentrated food, but Cottonseed Meal is an excellent aid to wool growing, aside from building up good mutton.

Cotton Seed Meal for Hogs

All hogs eat it greedily and all thrive on it from the lordly head of the herd to the tiniest grunter. But for "piggy" or suckling sows it is especially valuable, giving to the pigs both before and after farrowing a growth and vigor attainable with no other feed on earth.

Get More Eggs

The same high albuminoid content which produces flesh and milk in cattle, development and fecundity in hogs, bone, muscle and endurance in horses, will give eggs, vigor and condition in fowls. Feed cottonseed meal to your poultry as a supplemental ration.

A Pure Cotton Oil Cooking Fat Used in the Journal's Cooking School

When you order a lard compound insist on a compound made from pure cottonseed oil. Do not accept a compound composed of cheaper imported oils and other substitutes for cotton oil. You get a better product and will be using the South's own product.

A NEW DOLLAR

Whether or not the public likes it, government efficiency experts are determined to give it a new form of money. In this matter the government isn't taking a purely arbitrary stand but is acting in the interest of economy.

There can not be too much money in any family if it is good money, and the great American family is demanding more and more. The present circulation of $4,827,905,344 has been exceeded only once—on November 1, 1920, when it was $5,628,427,732. Not only is the public using more money but it is wearing it out faster.

One dollar bills and "five spots" are in greatest demand. The last six months have seen the circulation of dollar notes increase 40,000,000. Bills of these denominations are also the shortest lived and are responsible for the present attempts at currency reform.

Government experts have found that because the life of greenbacks and five spots is but a few months, the government is losing money on them.

Several years ago the treasury department tried to save money by reducing the size of paper currency. There was a general protest, especially from banks and business houses, and the plan was abandoned.

Within recent months there was an attempt to make the $2 bill popular as an economy measure. It proved to be a fiasco, probably because of the unreasonable and inexplicable superstition which attaches to the "deuce spot."

The efficiency experts in the treasury department are persistent devils. Undaunted by past failures, they now offer another scheme. A small and light-weight metal dollar has been evolved to take the place of the greenback. It is of silver and gold, a center of a size slightly larger than a quarter.

MEN

Personalities change from generation to generation. There are styles in types of man just as there is in hats and automobiles. One type of man is in vogue today and tomorrow a vastly different type will find popular favor.

Insight into the type of man most popular in the early nineteenth century is afforded by Balzac, the French novelist and satirist, in this extract: "Gentleness in the gait is what simplicity is in the dress. Loinet gesture or quick movement inspires involuntary disrespect. One looks for a moment at a cascade, but one sits for hours, lost in thought, and gazing upon the still water of a lake. A deliberate gait, gentle manners, and a gracious tone of voice—all of which may be acquired—give a mediocre man an immense advantage over those vastly superior to him. To be bodily tranquil, to speak little, and to digest without effort, are absolutely necessary to grandeur of mind or of presence, or to proper developments of genius."

That was the successful type of man in the day of Balzac, but the formula doesn't apply today. When you describe the popular type of man today it is the kind that thinks and walks rapidly, gets on and off the elevator with snap and precision and qualifies for the new high-powered salesmanship and fits the modern word "yes." Balzac's description describes a picture of a philosophical recluse in the mind's eye of modernity. Modern business has developed the present-day style of man, or, perhaps, the man and business have developed together, each exerting an influence on the other.

The typical business man followed in favor the he-man species which was a product of growing cities, advancing frontiers and gold rushes.

SIGNS THAT LIE

A London journalist has made the discovery that "there are milestones that deliberately tell untruths, and others that screen the truth, and some milestones might be described as coy."

An illustration of his point this writer cites a milestone in Buckinghamshire which hints at place names, referring to London as "the city" and Oxford as "the university," and another at Clapham Common marked "V miles from the Bank." Ancient milestones on the Brighton road give the distance from Brighton to London as between forty and fifty miles, although the distance is much greater, but this milestone untruth was established by royal decree by an English king who was forbidden to travel farther than fifty miles from London unless accompanied by a minister and whose taste for Brighton was as great as his distaste for his ministers.

What the London editor has discovered for his own country every American wanderer, motorist and horseman has discovered for himself. Americans need not go to England to find untruthful, coy or ambiguous milestones.

To Americans who never expect to have need of an accurate and explicit milestone in Buckinghamshire or Clapham Common there is something picturesque and romantic about their more famous than useful milestones and the English probably feel much the same about these American road signs in code and imaginary distances which they never expect to encounter in their travels. But it is quite a different emotion which the Englishman at home and the American at home feel when they discover late on a dark night that the gasoline is low and the milestones have been written in Swedish miles, one of which is equivalent to six of our miles.

"Well, Henry," said she, as she pulled out a green one and laid it on the top of the pile, "you will be if you don't pay that gas for it's the gas bill."

Quack, Quack

From Tit-Bits: "I think the new doctor's a duck," she remarked coyly.

"Well, I wouldn't go so far as that," said her husband, "but I will say I've noticed a bit of a quack about him."

Journal Jobs

No man's wife was ever as proud of him as a mother is of her son the first day he goes to school.

For years it has been customary to have a White House dog for the Washington correspondents to write about, but President Coolidge doesn't seem to care to encourage fiction in that way.

It is difficult to show a calm, philosophical spirit in an argument when your opponent is getting the best of it.

The strong characteristic of selfishness is to imagine that everybody else is selfish.

Some men hate work so much they will work harder trying to get out of it than they would at a regular job.

No woman is to blame for being unmarried so long as she is making an honest effort to find a suitable husband.

Better to roam the links and climb the hills than fee the doctor for his nauseous bills.

One of the beautiful characteristics in a woman is how she can adore a man that nobody else can tolerate.

Nipped in the Bud

By Dorman H. Smith

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

BY CHARLES P. STEWART NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—President Coolidge evidently has reached a point where posing for photographs bothers him to death.

He showed it plainly at the initial Washington game of the recent world series when the photographers wanted him to toss, not alone one, but a succession of several balls into the field, to make sure that everybody got a good shot at the performance.

One, he said rather crossly, was a great plenty, and sat down with some emphasis.

In his vice presidential days, when he was less persecuted, he was readier to oblige.

No doubt most people would be the same way.

The press photographers are on the job in swarms at every presidential public appearance, as at the ball game, whenever anything is going on at the White House, which is nearly all the time, and very frequently in connection with the "special stories" that thousands of newspapers, magazines and other publications are continually wanting.

Then there are the amateurs, stalking the chief magistrate constantly. Finally there's the endless procession—singly, doubly, in groups and in delegations—of callers who clamor to have their pictures taken with the president, in the interest of publicity for themselves personally or to boost some cause or other.

No wonder the national executive gets sick of it.

For a long time, day by day, the photographers pestered C. Easton Sloop, then presidential private secretary, for permission to "snap" the Coolidges on their yacht, Mayflower. Sloop replied that the president said "No"—the only privacy he got was on the Mayflower and he wasn't going to have it intruded on.

One day one of the photographers chanced to be at the navy yard just as the yacht was preparing to leave with the Coolidges as passengers, for a cruise down Chesapeake Bay. He looked longingly at the vessel from afar. Suddenly, from her deck, someone yelled to him, He approached. It was the president.

"Do you know," quoth the latter affably, "out of all the hundreds of pictures you boys have taken of Mrs. Coolidge and me, never a one has shown us on the Mayflower. We'd rather like one. Why not shoot a few and give us some of the prints? Then do whatever you like with the negatives."

What a golden opportunity! The cameraman took full advantage of it. "I'll have to come clean," Sloop confessed to the rest of the fraternity later. "The president is so fed up on being photographed that I felt sure he'd answer just as I quoted him—and I might get a scolding into the bargain—that I never asked him."

With Our Contemporaries

WHY?

Thousands of connoisseurs of that most piquant of edibles, cheese, are indebted beyond repayment to the good citizens of the little hamlet of Camembert, France, for the manure they have erected in the public square in honor and commemoration of Camembert cheese. The American people feel grateful to the citizens of Camembert, not for giving to the world this delicious variety of cheese, nor for honoring that cheese, but for solving for them that age-old mystery, the etymology or origin of the name Camembert. But for newspaper dispatches announcing the unveiling of the monument the good citizens of the United States might never have known that the Camembert cheese derived its name from the French village in which it was first made—Lubbock Plains Journal.

The Plains Journal is making a strong plea for the prohibiting the use of trick names and trade marks unless their origin and meanings are plainly set forth upon each and every wrapper, container and advertisement. We are with the Plains Journal on this. Every article ought to be plainly marked to show where it is from. It's all right with us if the cheese comes from Camembert, France, or any other place, just as they say so. Of course, we believe that America ought to make its good cheese as France does. Anyway, some folks like to eat foods that come from Europe; it's a sort of "highbrow" to them to be that way.—Abilene Reporter.

Habit of Breeding Ewe Lambs Is Not Favored

"Much has been said against the practice of breeding ewe lambs," according to R. B. Millin, sheep specialist of the University of Idaho extension division, "and but little has been said for it. The best stockmen and shepherds severely condemn it."

"The attempt to breed ewe lambs usually results in partial failure. In most cases not more than 50 per cent of them get with lamb. Those that do get with lamb are stunted by the demand of the lamb before and after birth for nourishment, which the ewe herself should have for her own full development. The first lamb is usually small and puny and fails to make the quick growth so desirable because of its weakness at birth and the inability of its dam to provide sufficient nourishment."

"Ewes bred as lambs seldom attain their full development. As a result they are undersized, do not produce a full clip of wool, fail to produce the strong, lusty lambs that are a good shepherd's pride and joy, as well as the basis of his financial returns, are not able to produce the large quantity of milk so essential for good lambs, and often are lacking in the maternal qualities which prompt fruitful, well-grown ewes to own and take good care of their lambs."

"Burn All Carcasses

"Burn all hogs that die and clean the premises as well as you can. Then be generous with the use of coal tar disinfectants in the sheds and places where the sunshine can't penetrate. Expose to sunshine all the places you can and plow the lots if possible. If any of the unvaccinated hogs should live through the attack they are as immune as those that were vaccinated. Feed very small amounts of easily digested feed for about two weeks after vaccination."

Live Stock Notes

The hog business needs sanity as well as sanitation.

Working a horse immediately after eating often causes colic.

Brood sows need exercise and should not be too fat.

Hogs are going up some more, if all the signs know what they are talking about.

Mark your spring litters of pigs so that you can select your brood sows next fall from large litters.

The sign who makes money on swine is he who raises large litters from well-bred and well-mated sows—and then gives his herd good management in housing, feeding, and marketing.

The fact that the cost of delivery is generally passed on in the price of goods has contributed to a considerable displacement of light horses formerly used in cities.

PORK PRODUCTION PROBLEMS SOLVED

Hogs are found in every county in the United States. In some cases the number is limited to a very few, which are usually grown in the back yards where they are maintained on scraps from the table, dish, water, etc. In other instances we find hogs produced in large numbers, the sale of which affords the chief income of the animal husbandry division at Clemson college.

It is a significant fact that the larger or more mature a hog gets the more expensive are the gains. This is caused by the ability of the younger animal to consume a larger amount of food in proportion to his body, and partly, because the younger animal contains a higher per cent of water in the gains which it makes.

The economy with which pork can be produced is explained by Professor Starkey, depends largely upon the forages which are available. If in dry lot, as much as five pounds of concentrates may be necessary to produce one pound of pork. If on good soy beans it is possible to produce a pound of pork from a pound of corn. These figures show beyond a doubt that forages must be used if pork production is profitable.

Hogs suffer more frequently from inadequate rations than do any other class of live stock. This is because they grow more rapidly. The started pig is more common than the stunted pig or cull. Hogs frequently suffer from a lack of protein. This is largely caused by the fact that they are frequently raised primarily on concentrates from the cereal grains. Whenever they have pasture such as rape or soy beans they usually balance their ration. Forage crops are usually rich in both protein and minerals. It forage crops happen to be lacking at any time during the year a mineral mixture may be made by using equal parts of ground limestone, ash, and bone meal. This should be kept before the porkers at all times.

FREELAND SEEKS GAMES FOR HIS YOUNGSTERS

An S. O. S. call for some manner of practice game for the young Mustangs at the Tech College is being broadcast this week by Coach Freeland in an effort to give the youngsters some much needed experience, and to keep them in trim for first line duty if the occasion should ever arise that they were needed.

No team on the South Plains is barred from this open challenge, and high school teams throughout this section are specially urged to get in touch with the Tech mentor if they wish to give their boys some good training, and at the same time offer their own people some real football. Only the boys who have never been used in the line-up this season will be permitted to enter these games, Freeland said, and he pointed to the fact that the most of them are high school boys who in time hope to develop into real football artists.

The coach dispatched a letter to Plainview Monday morning seeking to line up a game against the high school Bulldogs there, and believes that if such a game can be arranged, it will be equally profitable to both teams, especially so to Plainview for the meet about the same manner of competition against the youngsters at Tech as they will meet later on in their race for state high school football honors.

The coach hopes to arrange all games of this name on foreign soil, and says that all he will ask in return is expenses for the boys on the trip.

NEW BUILDING IS BEING PLANNED IN CITY

Plans and specifications are being completed by Peters and Haynes, architects, for a modern store building for Mr. Duke Cullum of this city. The building will have a fifty foot frontage on Avenue K, facing the new Lubbock hotel which is now under construction.

The plans call for a one-story and full basement fifty feet wide by fifty feet long of reinforced concrete beam and girder construction designed to support additional stores for future enlargement.

The exterior will be faced in light gray brick worked in different patterns and will be trimmed with cast stone. The brick will be backed with clay tile which will make the structure one of practically fire-proof construction.

Two large, plate glass fronts with tapestry glass lights above the entrance bar provide ample light for display in the two large store rooms that will be offered for rental space with Mr. Cullum will occupy the small central office and the entire basement where he will be engaged in the wholesale and retail automobile accessory business.

The design is of the Spanish type which is accentuated by a green Spanish clay tile roof which adds a touch of color to the effect gained by the use of a mingled shade of gray brick-work in the different panels.

Excavation has already been started for this unique design and Mr. Cullum states that the construction will be rushed to completion as soon as the general contract can be let.

COURT FREES SIX CONVICTED IN RUM CASES

AUSTIN, Oct. 28.—Cases of six men convicted on liquor charges were reversed and remanded by the court of criminal appeals today on technicalities probably establishing a precedent. Except in open and shut cases appeals in liquor convictions are usually denied.

Because of misconduct of the jury, the conviction of Bob Whitfield, sentenced one year in Hill county, was reversed and remanded. Remarks in the jury room "that the defendant was the worst bootlegger in Texas," resulted in the ruling.

Failure of the state to prove the identity of Frank Balmonte, convicted in Robertson county on a liquor charge, resulted in the case being reversed and remanded.

Conviction of W. C. Smith, in Taylor, was reversed and remanded because the court failed to select one of two counts in the indictment charging possession and transportation of liquor.

Insufficient evidence resulted in the court reversing and remanding the case of Homer Manty in Floyd county, who was alleged to have helped a man fill a barrel of whiskey down a hill. The defendant claimed he did not know what the barrel contained.

Because the court permitted evidence as to W. H. Henson's silence after his arrest in Cass county on a liquor charge, his case was reversed and remanded.

A TRASH FIRE IGNTED A FENCE in the rear of the property located on the corner of Thirtieth street and Avenue G, shortly before five o'clock yesterday afternoon, but local firemen had little trouble in putting out blaze, with little damage. As soon as they returned to the fire station they were again called out, this time to the Lubbock Auto company, where they extinguished the blaze of a furnace automobile.

JOHN DALYMPLE, PRESIDENT of the Panhandle Construction Company, has returned to his home following several weeks stay in a local hospital. According to Dr. George G. Hingham, who with Dr. W. L. Raugh attended Mr. Dalymple, he is in a much improved condition and will be his old self again soon.

NOTH BEHREN, N. J.—Mrs. Sarah Behren, 102, is going to vote for the first time next Tuesday with her granddaughters.

Scene Of Matador Battles Shifts To Foreign Soil This Week For First Time When Tech Meets Sul Ross At Angelo

The scene of the battles of the Tech College Matadors, which so far this season have all been staged on the local soil with this week end to be transferred to foreign soil, and the undefeated crew, which has already met some of the strongest competition offered by T. I. A. A. clubs, will be given a chance to show what they may have away from the habitat of local conditions.

Just what this week end may bring forth of course is yet a mere conjecture, and as very little is yet known about the strength of the opponents, plans are being made by coaches Freeland and Higginbotham for combat against some real competition. The coaches, however, are not unduly alarmed over what may be the after effects of the first foreign appearance.

The squad has a certain amount of confidence in their ability to function under any conditions, but they are kept at such a stage it is hoped by the coaches they may not ever become over-confident, for it is admitted that this is one of the worst obstacles that can befall any line of athletic endeavor.

The games on southern fields the past week end hold more interest to the close observer of the game than just the mere results of the contest and especially is this true with the Southern Methodist Mustangs, who met the Oklahoma Aggies, and suffered their second defeat of the season after a sensational finish last year.

This game was especially interesting to local people in view of the fact that coach Freeland, who has worked such wonders with the Matadors in his first year, was in charge of the line play and in charge of the Mustangs last year, and this phase of the Mustang machine was recognized as one of the best in the Southwestern Conference.

On the return they would leave San Angelo immediately following the game, returning to their abode of the night before, where they would again spend the night, and come on into Lubbock Sunday.

Tentative plans announced Monday by Coach Freeland for the San Angelo trip say that the boys will go by bus leaving here probably Friday morning. That night they will stop at some point near San Angelo where accommodations may be had, and will be given a light limbering up workout, going on into San Angelo the next morning.

On the return they would leave San Angelo immediately following the game, returning to their abode of the night before, where they would again spend the night, and come on into Lubbock Sunday.

These are the kind of clubs, however, that usually slip up "on the blind side," to upset the dope, and send cold shivers coursing up and down the spines of the followers of their opponents. Coach Freeland will make no prediction on the game beyond the fact that his boys will be in their fighting to win from the time the first whistle blows, and he refuses to believe that this game will not be a battle from beginning to end. He is therefore preparing for the game accordingly.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—After Locarno's Paris, after Lake Maggiore's code of peace for Europe, a stern pronouncement by Europe that more universal peace code, the covenant of the League of Nations must be loyally followed.

That is the message from Paris today in connection with the council of the league's decisive action in ordering a halt in the Greco-Bulgarian conflict.

The council's warning to the two Balkan states that they must cease hostilities and return within their own frontiers is regarded here as the logical sequence of what was achieved at Locarno, in consolidating European security and as a concrete repression of the conviction that Europe would survive it must effectually stamp out war.

No Doubt Of Command. The order of the council, of the league to Greece and Bulgaria bears of no misrepresentation. The belligerent states were informed that the council was not satisfied that military operations had ceased and a 24-hour limit for the issuance of instructions for withdrawal of the troops was issued.

Dispatches reaching Paris during the night, while they asserted that the Bulgarians claimed that the Greeks still were bombarding certain portions of their territory said that Bulgaria would follow the order of the council. Likewise Greece was willing to accept conditionally.

Statesman connected with the council seemed to see shining forth like a beacon this new page of European history the attitude of Great Britain for they read in foreign Secretary Austen Chamberlain's ringing condemnation of the violation of the rules of the covenant, suspiciously suspected of lukewarmness of the league, had now come out boldly and wholeheartedly in support of its covenant and is fighting for its sanctity with the same fervor with which she combatted the famous Geneva protocol.

SCHOOL MEETINGS ARRANGED AT LAMESA

LAMESA, Tex., Oct. 26.—The executive committee for schools of Gaines, Lynn and Dawson counties met in the county court room recently, arranging for the coming institutes. The Hill County Institute will be held in Lamesa, Dec. 21, 22, 23. Some of the interesting speakers who will talk at the institute are as follows: J. F. Speiser, District Superintendent of Public Schools; A. W. Evans, Prof. of English of Tech College; Miss Lillian Martin, of Baylor University; Waco; Superintendent G. H. Nelson, of Tahoka schools; Judge Cain of Lynn county; Tahoka; Superintendent Richards, of O'Donnell, Texas; Superintendent Key of Wilcox, Texas; Judge Starke of Seminole, Texas; Superintendent V. Z. Rogers, of Lamesa, and also Annie Baker, Superintendent of Dawson county.

Killough Is New Man With A. & M.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Oct. 26. (AP)—D. T. Killough, who for several years had been superintendent of the main station of the Texas Agricultural Experiment station here, recently resigned to accept a position as agronomist of cotton breeding in the department of agronomy in Texas A. & M. college. At this post, he took the place of Dr. G. N. Storman, who resigned to farm in Southwest Texas.

G. T. McNeas, former superintendent of the Nacogdoches substation of the state experiment system, has succeeded Mr. Killough as superintendent of the main station.

J. E. Karper, who for 10 years was superintendent of the Lubbock substation, has been named assistant director and agronomist of the main station.

MEXICO CITY ALMOST 100 PERCENT AMERICAN IN CHEWING GUM, MOVIES AND ICE CREAM SODAS, DISCOVERED

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 25. (AP)—Mexico is about 100-per-cent-American from a standpoint of chewing gum, movies, jitters, baseball slang, toothpaste, ice cream soda, waffles and five-cent literature.

In such of these enumerations the United States product found on every Main Street also flourishes in pristine vigor throughout the Mexican capital. America's most ubiquitous brand of automobile hanks for custom through every street. Gum chewing has become a habit. The only difference between the Mexican and the home variety is that the wrappers are printed in Spanish.

A Mexican with restaurant experience in the States started a modest waffle and hot-cake shop here and put up a sign "American quick lunch." Lunch in Mexico is anything but snappy. Business establishments close a minimum of two hours for the noon meal. But the "quick lunch" idea went over big and now there are dozens of such places here. The name, however, continues to be a misnomer. It is quite possible to spend two hours over waffles.

Soda fountains are frequent and the output would do credit to any place north of the Rio Grande. The dentistry popular in the United States looms large upon the shelves and in the display windows. The same applies to scores of widely used American products and articles.

Some of the popular priced and widely circulated American periodicals, especially weeklies, are on sale here the same day as in the States, and have a large following.

As for the movies—if American studios ceased production every cinema theatre in Mexico City would have to close. Some local and a few European films appear, but they are rarities. Baseball is popular and is increasing. The Mexican small boy knows his Babe Ruth dope perfectly, and will predict with confidence the Big League results. There are some good Mexican teams and they draw well.

QUEER SPANISH CUSTOMS PREVAIL ON TEXAS BORDER WHERE AGE-OLD CHIVALRY IS STILL PREDOMINANT

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas, Oct. 28.—Customs strange to the great majority of Americans are widely practiced in this section of the United States. They reach across the Mexican border and spread their Spanish influence into the Rio Grande Valley, which extends from Brownsville more than 100 miles west to this place, county seat of Starr county.

All along the border, Spanish is the predominant language. Many married women retain their maiden names and they are courted by swains who hire orchestras to play beneath the windows of their sweethearts. At funerals no attendant is expected who has not been formally invited. After the funeral, the guests are photographed.

These customs and many others are outlined by Mrs. Florence Johnson Scott, member of the Texas Folk Lore Society. The history of the Rio Grande border, Mrs. Scott recites, in one of the society's publications. Many married women retain their maiden names and they are courted by swains who hire orchestras to play beneath the windows of their sweethearts.

Twenty years ago these "porciones" remained for the most part in the hands of the descendants of the original patentees. With the coming of the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico Railroad, however, Americans began to flock into the valley. During the last few years the influx has been rapid and today modern towns with modern customs dot the valley.

Education in English for the children of the household is compulsory in Texas. But most of the children acquire only a limited vocabulary. They lapse into Spanish on the playground and in the street, largely because that is the language they hear at home.

Under this environment as they grow up, they retain Spanish customs. That of a married woman retaining her maiden name is old. Senorita Maria Gonzales, for example on becoming the wife of Juan Pena automatically becomes in English Mrs. Pena, but she will describe herself as Senora Gonzales de Pena, or Mrs. Gonzales of Pena. Her son, should his name be Jesus Jose, in turn becomes Jesus Jose Gonzales y Pena.

Old forms of salutation are yet maintained. Men embrace each other and women kiss each other on both cheeks. Even though the names persons encounter each other several times during a single day, the salutation is repeated.

Formal invitations to weddings and entertainments are obligatory. If there is not time to issue formal invitations to an impromptu dance, a committee is detailed to visit the homes of those listed in the community blue book.

The girls come with their parents or with an adult chaperone, and never with a swain. This is one of the few occasions offered to the young men for seeing the young ladies they admire. However, the girls stay under the watchful eye of the chaperones. No sniffs are permitted on the balcony or to an automobile outside. Such things are unthinkable for a well bred Mexican girl.

During the intermissions in the dance, talented persons are asked to play, sing or recite. When a girl goes to the platform to entertain, she must be accompanied by at least two persons who stand beside her until she has finished.

Courtsips are still carried on through the medium of music, but the youngful lover no longer takes his guitar and strums a love song under the window of his beloved. Instead, he seeks two or three of his fellows who catch together and hire an orchestra which goes from the home of one girl to the other. "La Paloma" and "La Golondrina" are the favorites, but American music also is played.

During a marriage engagement, extreme rules of formal etiquette are observed. When a young couple has decided, after the fleeting glimpses they have had of each other, they will wed, the young man sends a committee of his friends, generally men of mature years, to call on the girl's parents and ask their approval of the engagement and of marriage. After due deliberation, the parents select a deputation and send their decision.

If the decision is favorable, the groom's parents may call on the parents of the woman. Definite arrangements are then made by the bride's family, but it is understood the groom will pay all expenses incident to the marriage. The bride's parents may furnish her with anything they wish but everything she wears on her wedding day is the gift of the groom. The gifts for the refreshments and the nuptials.

Women at a funeral almost always are secluded in one room. They wear black shawls over their heads. Only the women accompany the body to the grave. In many places, where a conventional hearse is not available, the casket is used. In the case of an infant, the casket is placed in a baby buggy. Children carrying flowers follow the body, as it is pushed to the cemetery.

First mourning customs are observed. The customary black crepe is tied to the door and never removed by the hand of man, being left to the ravages of the weather. Women in mourning never appear at any kind of public gathering with the exception of church services. In the sickened home, all musical instruments are locked during the mourning period and never revived either veiled or turned to the wall.

Observance of death anniversaries is always held. Special requiem mass is customary to people of the Catholic faith. Invitations are issued and after the mass a feast is held at the family residence. On All Souls' Day, November 2, graves of ancestors are decorated, candles are burned about the tomb and relatives all day beside the graves. Booths are erected around the cemetery and candies, fruit and flowers are sold.

IMPROVEMENT FOR RURAL SCHOOLS SCHEDULED

DALLAS, Oct. 28. (AP)—Improvement of Texas country schools is to be planned by the state superintendent.

as the paramount goal of the Texas State Teachers' association at the association's annual convention here, Nov. 26, 27 and 28. R. T. Ellis of Fort Worth, secretary-treasurer, said this is to take the lead in the organization's program while among many other aims of the association will be a general improvement of the teaching profession.

The Texas country school is described as the pauper child on the doorstep of education. "Country schools are the poorest in Texas," said Mr. Ellis. "An ignorant people doesn't produce wealth yet in many sections of this state we are raising a crop of ignorant people."

One means for carrying out this goal will be to advocate selection of the county superintendent by the county board of education, instead of the present election by the voters. The association, Mr. Ellis said, is going to concentrate heavily on this change, as the present method of electing county superintendents is considered one of the things regarding country schools, which the state superintendent should be given the right to remove or appoint. "The man who does run goes into office with many against him because of the political fight, and he can't stay in long enough to do any good because he is bound to make some politician angry if he stands out for efficiency. There are notable exceptions. Sept. B. Richardson, for instance, has held the county superintendency of Webb county for 20 years."

Although the county superintendent has no jurisdiction over the city schools, he is elected by the voters in certain counties. For example, in Dallas county the city of Dallas elected the superintendent, but that official has no connection with the schools of Dallas. The teachers are to demand that the country pupils have an educational opportunity equal to that of the city children. To do this a much higher state scholastic apportionment than the present $14 will be needed and money will have to be supplied for country high schools, or country students will have to be given a chance to attend city high schools, Mr. Ellis said. The state, he believes, falls far short of the ideal expressed in the constitution that it is the duty of the state to supply sufficient funds to conduct public schools efficiently for at least six months each year. Texas is low among the states in apportionment funds, a $25 apportionment being necessary to bring this state ahead of the progressive states, Mr. Ellis explained.

DULUTH, Minn.—Strong lobbies are working in 15 states attempting to dig anti-evolution bills passed, says Dr. Charles Francis Potter, Unitarian.

MUCH GOOD DONE IN LUBBOCK BY SALVATION ARMY IS SHOWN WHEN ANNUAL REPORT IS MADE PUBLIC

The home service report of the Lubbock Corps of the Salvation Army for the year ending October 31, was released by Captain H. Uptegrove, the Corps officer, yesterday and is as follows:

Number of Christmas baskets given 15, total number fed (baskets and tables) 214, number of persons given meals 329, number of persons given transportation 2, garments given 210, pairs of shoes given 43, lodging given 14, employment found 6, persons given medical aid 5, persons interviewed and advised 25, number of families relieved 25, total number of persons relieved 25, Number of street meetings 273, attendance at street meetings 24,580, number of indoor meetings 25, attendance at indoor meetings 1,340.

State Report Made. Simultaneous with the report, C. E. Marcus of the Divisional Staff, who is now in Lubbock received the following summary of activities of the Salvation Army throughout the Southwestern Division.

More than 13,000 men, women and children of Texas and Southern Arkansas were given free Christmas dinners last year. Free meals were served to more than 10,000 hungry residents of these states. More than 400 destitute travelers of these states were furnished transportation by the Salvation Army. Clothing was given to more than 41,000 ragged men, women and children. Shelter from the elements was given to no less than 8,000 hapless wanderers. "Honest work was found for more than 700 men and women. More than 250 unfortunate girls were taken into a homelike place, where Salvation Army Lassies worked and prayed for their physical, social and spiritual regeneration. Summer outings in the fresh country air were given to thousands of mothers and children. Thirty-three prisons and hospitals were visited regularly. More than 630,000 persons heard the Gospel of God's Grace, who might never have heard it, if for the 4,300 outdoor or street meetings held by Salvationists in these states.

A financial appeal is now being organized in Lubbock County under the direction of J. K. Waster, Appeal Chairman, $4,125.00 is the amount that will be sought beginning November 2, and continuing throughout the remainder of that week.

NEW YORK.—Miss Mary Casey Thorn has given up drinking, "stout." In court she explained that she took it because she was thin but found it too fattening.

CHICAGO.—Wesley Christ on earth today, he would be using the newspapers and the radio, in the views of Dr. Burrus A. Jenkins, of Kansas City, expressed at a conference on Church publicity.

ROW STARTS WHEN FOOTBALL BETS ARE MADE

AUSTIN, Oct. 28. (AP)—Names of Dallas residents who are alleged to have made wagers that "Stud" Wright, Longhorn captain, and Mack Saxon, back field star, would be "put out" of the Texas-S. M. U. game Saturday within 15 minutes are in the hands of University of Texas officials, it was reported today.

University athletic officials expressed confidence that if such wagers have been made, it is without the knowledge of S. M. U. athletic officials. No action will be taken here before the game, it was stated. At least one wager of $500 that "Stud" Wright will be "knocked out" in the first 15 minutes of play has been made, University officials say they have been informed.

DALLAS, Oct. 28. (AP)—Investigation following reports from Austin that indicated attempts might be made to force Texas players from the S. M. U.-Texas football game Saturday disclosed no apparent foundation for the reports, Dr. R. N. Blackwell, director of Southern Methodist University athletics said. He wired that the Mustangs had no right to win unless on clean sportsmanship and merit alone.

CHICAGO — Irene Castle McLaughlin has become a mother again, but her second child lived only three hours.

NEW YORK.—"My! But the actress got it right in the neck," said Millicent Rogers Salm, when she heard of a $27,500 verdict against W.D. Bennett. Countess Salm, who is in litigation herself, refused to pass. "My pictures never do me justice," she explained.
