TEA HONORING MRS. E. E. ROBINSON WEDNESDAY

Mrs. E. E. Robinson was honored Wednesday afternoon at a tea given by the Mary Heim Auxiliary and the Builders' Club at the pretty home of Mrs. A. T. Stewart, 1501 10th street.

Mrs. Robinson, who leaves this week for Plainview, where she will reside for the next few years, has endeared herself to the young ladies of these two organizations and they sponsored this farewell party as a slight expression of their love for her, and their regret of releasing one who has done such willing and unselfish service for them, and one who at all times, has been their guide and counselor.

The receiving room was pretty with blooming narcissus and glowing candles. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. Stewart and presented to Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Hush, Mrs. Wolfarth, Mrs. Claude Barrus, Mrs. H. T. Gooch and Mrs. E. E. White.

From here, the guests were ushered to the dining room where from the table covered with a lace cloth, set with two silver tea services and cut glass and lighted at the four corners with yellow candles, in old blue candlesticks, with a large vase of yellow chrysanthemums in the center, tea was poured and served with fruit salad, sandwiches, pickle and mint.

Those pouring tea during the afternoon were Mesdames H. D. Chipley, R. H. Murray, Tom Foster, J. R. Crawford, W. B. Hilton, F. M. Maddox, Owens, Eubanks and McPeters.

Mrs. White gave several readings, to the delight of all and a solo given by Mrs. Trinkle with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Raymond George was especially beautiful.

Little Miss Evelyn Spaulding gave two readings that were clever and enjoyed.

Mrs. George gave piano numbers during the entire afternoon that made the time so pleasant.

A beautiful reading lamp and a 4-compartment electric grill, were presented to the Auxiliary by the class and by the Auxiliary, who was instrumental in its organization and who has been a "mother" to it since. Miss Gooch presented the gifts in the name of both.

Mrs. Wolfarth, president of the Women's Missionary Society, presented a gold-embossed pitcher with a few words of praise, and love and gratitude in behalf of the Missionary Society.

A large crowd was present throughout the entire afternoon.

MESDAMES BELLER AND CRAVENS RECEIVE 1916 NEEDLE CLUB WEDNESDAY

No meeting of the 1916 Needle club has been more delightful than Wednesday, when Mrs. Beller and Mrs. Cravens extended hospitality to the members at the pretty home of the latter on Broadway.

Potted plants and vases of red and white chrysanthemums added bits of color and charm to the receiving rooms and the roomy and interesting conversation until refreshments of creamed chicken in patty shells, olives, grape-nut salad, coffee, and whipped cream were passed to Mesdames Brown, Moore, F. W. Stanton, James Kimmel, A. B. Davis, McCoy, Carter, Pickle, Ed Green, Fred Spikes and Frank Riddle.

Proceeding the serving a short business session was held, and the annual party given for the husbands of the members, was discussed and planned. Later announcements will be made concerning this.

WEDNESDAY NEEDLE CLUB HAS ALL-DAY PARTY

Delightful and enjoyable to all present, was the all day meeting of the 1916 Needle club Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. J. Wagner with Mrs. Bessie Wilcox assisting.

A bit of home like hospitality was extended to each guest and early in the day the meeting gave evidence of unusualness.

At noon, luncheon was served and a plate of hot handrogers, steaming hot Irish potatoes, coffee, pie and cheese balls was passed that seemed to exactly suit each appetite.

In the afternoon odd bits of needle work consumed some of the time, and pictures, taken during the recent European tour by Mrs. Wagner, were shown with just enough explanation to create and hold individual interest.

Officers for the coming year were elected. Mrs. W. B. Atkins became president; Mrs. C. J. Wagner vice president and Mrs. J. M. Lewis, secretary.

Guests for the day were Mrs. Carrie Thomas of Sweetwater and Miss Tinker, sister of Mrs. Wagner; the members present were Mesdames W. B. Atkins, J. M. Lewis, L. C. Ellis, E. L. Robertson, G. T. J. Stephens, J. H. Goodman, L. B. Wright, Hatfield, H. A. Davidson, M. B. Hubbard, F. M. Maddox, Senabaugh, C. M. Ballenger, J. F. Bacon, Bowen and T. W. Thomas.

Two tables were marked for the players; and the house was very attractive.

Miss Tatum was presented with decorated powder puff, and Mrs. Dick Smith won high favor—a gold lace decorated box of powder.

Mrs. Crisler was given a score pad for bridge, as her favor.

A dainty two-course luncheon was served to Miss Tatum, Mesdames A. V. Weaver, J. B. Crisler, Floyd Bowen, L. E. Miller, Nell Wright and J. T. Krueger.

SOUTH PLAINS MUSIC TEACHERS ASSOCIATION TO GIVE A PROGRAM FRI NIGHT

Perhaps no announcement has meant so much to the music loving public as the announcing of the musical to be given Friday night at the Tech College in the stock judging pavilion under the auspices of the South Plains Music Teachers association.

Prof. Wagborne, musical director at the college, made the statement that one feature of the program of musical interest and note would be grand ensemble of four grand pianos, played by six musicians. This one number will perhaps be the first time that such a treat has ever been featured here and an unusual amount of keen interest and fervid anticipation has been witnessed.

A small fee will be charged, but this will be negligible compared to the program presented.

PRaise SERVICE IN SONG CREDITABLY RENDERED AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday evening at the Methodist church, the music lovers of the city were given a rare treat when the choir of the Church assisted by other special talent, from the various church choirs of the city, and the Tech College, under the able directorship of Prof. Wagborne of the college, beautifully rendered a sacred praise service in song.

Special soloists assisting were Miss Annie Owens, violinist; Mrs. Carl Hoggins, Mrs. E. A. Harvey, Mrs. O. B. Trinkle, Miss Hoffman and Mr. Shelton and Mr. Innon.

Each number was well selected and beautifully rendered, showing talent and much deserved praise for the practice required for the rendition of a program of that kind.

Perhaps the zenith was reached when Gounod's "Unfold" (Redemption) was sung by the choir, assisted by the organ, trumpets, trombones and the hidden celestial choir.

No small amount of thanks is due the organist, Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, the violinist, soloists and trumpeters under the direction of Prof. Wagborne.

HARD SURFACE ROAD PLANS ARE BEING RECHECKED AT CAPITAL AND WILL BE RETURNED SOON

FRICITION BETWEEN COUNTY COMMISSIONERS HERE IRONED OUT; GARRETT IS READY TO MAKE ANY MINOR CORRECTIONS NECESSARY

Plans for the hard surface road project in Lubbock county, the first portion of which is to be laid between this city and Slaton, are now being checked by state highway department officials, according to B. K. Garrett, resident engineer for the county, who supervised preparation of the plans.

The plans are expected to be returned here within the next day or two, for correction of any minor details that may not meet the approval of the state department, after which they will be linked and returned to Austin for final approval. Following this, contracts will be advertised for, and actual work will be put under way immediately after the contract is let.

EIGHT HOUR DAY FOR MOVIES PLANNED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18 (AP). — The motion picture industry, at least that section represented by the motion picture producers and distributors of America, is willing to recognize eight hours as a day's work in the films, Fred W. Beetsen, secretary of the national organization, told the state industrial welfare commission at a hearing last night.

He pointed out, however, that if the employment of women extras were limited to eight hours a day, it would work "a material hardship on the industry." He suggested the payment of overtime would be a solution fair to both extras and producers.

Men and women extras testified for the most part that the day's work could not be limited to eight hours, but that it should be limited to 12, with overtime for everything over the basic eight. Cases were cited where women extras worked as much as 20 hours a day.

Louis B. Mayer, of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer corporation, on the other hand pointed out that in many cases an extra is obliged to work only two hours and then is sent home with a check for eight hours.

One male extra suggested that "the tea parties" and unnecessarily frequent conferences between directors, authors and stars could be blamed for many of the extra long working days.

The conference was attended by several hundred men and women. There was a marked absence of the flapper and shik styles. Old gray bearded men and women well above 30 were among those represented.

Some little friction in connection with the program was in evidence at the last meeting of the Commission's Court here, when the matter was brought up for discussion but this has been ironed out, and it is the belief of those in charge that the work will now proceed along normal channels.

Commissioner H. D. Talley, of Slaton, offered objections to the project that on account of the existing squabble between the highway department and state officials, it was feared the program in this county would be hampered and could not be carried on to completion if put under way now.

No Trough's Laxative was expected, being assured that the state had already passed on the appropriation for the four projects, including the one to Slaton, and that the row would have no bearing on the work in this section.

Commissioner Talley, however, had not signed the formal application for the appropriation Thursday. All other members of the court, including County Judge Chas. Nordyke have signed the instrument.

In line with this, it might be interesting to note that in the opinion of Geo. A. Field, superintendent of this division from the state highway department, the squabble in which the highway department is now the center will have no bearing whatever on any part of the highway work in this section.

MODESTY

In Tahiti clothing may be discarded entirely without giving offense. In Central Asia the exposure of the finger tips is considered the limit of immodesty, and Chinese maidens would blush with shame should, by accident, one of their tiny feet be exposed to public view. Modesty forbids the Mohammedan woman to uncover her face to the gaze of strangers. Caribian women in Brazil feel fully clothed in but a girle and a generous application of grease paint. Any part of the feminine body may be exposed in Sumatra and Celebes but the knee, and the women of an Alaskan tribe once paraded their camp streets in nothing but an ornamental plug carried under their lips.

Further proof that modesty is not innate in man and that clothing is not a measure of modesty is provided by the self-styled civilized peoples of this very age. In the preceding paragraph different races were compared, but the same results may be obtained by comparing two living generations of the same civilized country. Members of one generation define modesty in terms of ankle-length dresses, sleeves reaching to the wrist, neck-bugging collars, thick stockings, multiple-ply clothing and long hair. A later generation cuts off its dress at the calf and elbow and exposes a bit of chest. And a third knee, abolishes the sleeve entirely, cuts the neck as low as the law allows and adopts a two-ply costume. And yet the generation with the least clothing is the least self-conscious and embarrassed of the three when subjected to the gaze of masculine eyes.

If modesty is a matter of clothes each woman must fit her clothes to her own standards of modesty.

MAN MADE LAWS

Many intelligent citizens look upon the growing criminal statutes of the nation with a feeling akin to shame. They can not overlook the inference that all these laws are necessary to preserve the life and property of the individual from his fellow men in this reputedly most enlightened and civilized of nations. They ask themselves whether this is a nation of children and illiterates to need so much restraint.

A statistician, perhaps in satirization of the criminal code, computed statistics showing that a law abiding citizen has ninety-nine chances of arrest every twenty-four hours. This number may have been increased considerably by the eighteenth amendment and new automobile regulations. There is more tragedy than jest, however, in the announcement of a bonding company that, because of the increasing threat of arrest, it would issue an annual bond to be carried on the person to obtain the release of the holder in case of arrest. Most automobile drivers operate their cars in constant fear of arrest for some trivial breach of regulation. The most careful and capable driver is no more immune from this threat than the thoughtless and untrained operator.

It is feared by some that the American people are creating for themselves a tyranny of law, the yoke of which will eventually become as intolerable as a tyranny of man. And tyrants are more easily seated than dethroned. The United States has a criminal class and it has a complex society that becomes more complex as the country grows in population. On the other hand, it has a public school system and prides itself on its high standard of intelligence and morality. With this latter the swelling statistics seem incongruous.

HAND CLASPS

Nothing so eloquently reveals character as the hand-clasp. One may train his voice to express courage and a cordiality unpossessed; one may acquire a poker-face; one may feign pleasure at meeting and displeasure at parting; but the offered hand neither conceals nor deceives. A blind man, deaf and dumb from birth, can read this message of the hand.

Is it a strong hand that functions with the irrefutable determination of a vise? If it is, it belongs to a he-man—go-getter—or to a true friend. Its warm and sturdy clasp belongs to a frank countenance and a feeling heart.

Is it a hand that gives a quick, slight pressure and at once liberates itself? That sort belong to the busy man and is born of independence and individualism. If it is forbidding it is not sycophantic.

Is it a limp hand? Then it belongs to a limp man, to one who is too tired to be interested in persons and things. To him hand shaking is an unnecessary formality in which no energy should be wasted. Through its lack of interest it repels interest.

Is it a lingering hand which caresses rather than clasps and which refuses to liberate its prey—is it a predatory hand—until it has accomplished its purpose? This is the practiced hand-clasp of the politician, the swindler and the cheat. It belongs to the man with a "mission" or a "message."

Grasp the hands of those you would have show their "hand."

CLIMBING

Many, many years ago a creature of gigantic proportions and primitive construction came out of the ooze and slime in which it had dwelt and began a slow and awkward climb toward the mountain tops.

For all its great size and tremendous strength it did not move of its own volition. It did not so much know where it was going. It came out of the slime and began to climb upward in compliance with a law which it had little knowledge.

There were vermin on the great creature. Some of them were noisy and some were industrious and some were stupid, but all alike were convinced that they had much to do with the mammoth's movements.

A few of them—tiny, buzzing creatures—with a fine opinion of themselves—sat back of the great creature's ears and buzzed with a frenzy of importance and "sawd": "See! We are driving him. If it wasn't for us, he never would take another step."

Others, not content with the great creature's choice of routes, assembled on his back and exchanged excited remarks about their duty to take the situation in hand. They were, as a matter of fact, possessed of some influence; for when they assailed the mammoth in a body they were sufficiently annoying to drive him temporarily from his course. But when their fury was spent or their short lives terminated, he resumed his placid way straight up the mountain.

This way and that he was turned at intervals by his tormentors, but he lived on and they did not, and the deviations were slight and of no more than momentary significance.

Up and up and up he climbed, because the law that was older and greater than himself impelled him to climb; and always the vermin scurried about on his great body and moved to higher altitudes because they were as impotent as he. They, also, were creatures of the law—pawns of Destiny—but they gave themselves credit for all that happened and even at times solemnly assured one another that the great creature on whose back they rode was a product of their own ingenuity.

The creature, as you know, is civilization. It is yet far from the mountain top, but it climbs steadily, for climbing means development and development is the ordained scheme of the universe.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

BY CHARLES P. STEWART, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—As enthrallingly as if the weather bureau hadn't repeatedly pooh-poohed their efforts, the long-range school of weather prophets kept plugging away at the job of finding out what the weather's going to be like two or three years in advance of its arrival with us. Director Charles G. Abbot of the Smithsonian Institution's astrophysical observatory has just left for Africa and Asia to choose a site for a new station where the sun's heat will be measured daily, to determine what the earthly temperature will be later.

The long-range prophets' difficulty hitherto has been the lack of sufficient number of points of vantage whence to keep tab on solar changes. They have a station north of the equator, in Arizona, and one south of it, in Chile, but they need a third in the eastern hemisphere, only until just now, they haven't had enough money to establish and maintain it. At last, however, they've converted the National Geographic Society, which agrees to equip the desired additional station and keep it running for four years at least. By that time the prophets are confident they'll have found their own financial legs and will need no more help.

This is the station Dr. Abbot intends to find a location for. The main considerations are very pure air, few clouds and lots of sunshine. The doctor thinks maybe South Africa will do. If, on investigation, it doesn't suit him, he'll go on to Baluchistan, in extreme northwest India, where he's assured conditions are ideal for the work he's so much interested in.

With Our Contemporaries

EDUCATION WEEK American Education Week, which has been formally observed for a number of years, will be held the week of Nov. 16 to 22, inclusive.

Amarrillo has participated in this week to a limited extent in recent years, and it is a worthy movement—especially if it will result in increased interest in our public school system. In many communities efforts are made to get persons to the schools. If American Education Week can put over a program of interesting fathers and mothers in our schools, then this week will be worth while. Education is a corner stone of American democracy, and our people are proud of the public school system.—Amarillo News.

PUNISHMENT

The dead body of a new-born infant, wrapped in bed clothing and stuffed into a gummy sack, was found one morning last week on a lot in Lubbock. The evidence indicated that the infant had been born on the previous night and brought by the perpetrator of the foul act or by an accomplice in the place where it was found. There is no murder that can be much more foul than the murder of a tiny, innocent babe. If the mother of this child can be identified and the person or persons responsible for the death of this infant can be discovered, then quick and adequate punishment should be meted out. Cold

POULTRY

HIGH QUALITY EGGS IN SUMMER MONTHS

One of the biggest problems that faces the poultry producer is the production of high quality eggs through the summer months. The reason for this is the heat of the summer will start fertile eggs to incubate and thereby spoil the quality unless special effort is taken.

The biggest loss can be stopped by the production of infertile instead of fertile eggs. Supplementing and correlated with this effort to produce infertile eggs is the need for careful methods of collecting, storing and marketing.

It is a customary practice for the people who are in charge of enforcing the egg-candling laws to lift the requirements for candling during March and April, for the reason that during the heavy production season the eggs are marketed with good quality. The cool weather, plus the large supply, helps to maintain the good condition of the eggs marketed during this period.

Investigations show that at least two-thirds of the losses occur on the farm. The remainder is on the huckster wagons, in the country store, on hot freight and express cars and in improper storage. This loss has been estimated at $20 per farm in Missouri, and it is doubtless as high in the other heavy poultry-producing states.

No doubt the rooster is responsible for more of this loss than any other contributing element. He eats high-priced feed during the summer without producing any benefit and does a great deal of harm in lowering the quality of the eggs. The movement to cull the rooster out of the flock is on as soon as the breeding season is over. The young cockerels can be best developed by keeping them separated from the flock, and feed and market them as soon as possible. The cockerels that are to be kept for breeding purposes can be developed better if kept separate from the main flock.

In addition to the loss resulting from the sale of fertile eggs, there is a further preventable loss from cracked eggs, dirty eggs, shrunken and bad flavored eggs. These different losses may be lowered by feeding oyster shell, by having plenty of nests, by gathering the eggs daily, by packing them so they will not break and eating all old stored eggs at home. Bad flavors are usually caused by feeding unusual feeds or by keeping the eggs in a place where they absorb unpleasant odors.

Scurvy-Preventing Feed Manufactured by Fowls

It looks as if the chicken makes its own vitamin C or the vitamin which prevents scurvy in guinea pigs and humans, according to an investigation carried on at the Purdue university agricultural experiment station. It appears that chickens do not have scurvy and can thrive for long periods on feeds that do not have the scurvy-preventing vitamin. Mature cockerels were given a ration containing none of this vitamin for over three months. Their livers and kidneys were then fed in small amounts to guinea pigs suffering from scurvy brought on by a lack of a vitamin-preventing scurvy. In about two weeks' time the guinea pigs were cured of scurvy by the livers and kidneys of these cockerels which had received none of the scurvy-preventing vitamin, thus indicating that the vitamin was manufactured by some means in the body of the chicken.

This suggests that the chicken can make this vitamin from sources not available to the guinea pig or to a person and that the lack of this vitamin in the diet of the chicken apparently does no damage. In practical poultry feeding, therefore, little attention need be paid to supplying the vitamin which prevents scurvy, although other vitamins are absolutely necessary and must be provided by the feeds given.

Poultry Notes

- Fresh, clean water is necessary to the poultry flock.
- Losses from tuberculosis in chickens is usually greater in winter than in summer.
- Chick specialists now recommend feeding egg yolk or cod liver oil to prevent leg weakness.
- Experience shows that hens must have animal protein in order to lay prolifically. Milk, meatcraps and tankage are the animal proteins most available for feeding poultry.
- Cracked barley can be included in the feed ration for chicks after they reach the age of five or six weeks.
- It never pays to overcrowd hens—they need a comfortable house, dry and roomy, with plenty of fresh air and sunshine.
- Grain feed such as sprouted oats, cabbage, turnips, beets and rape are necessary for the health of the pullets. A disease similar in symptoms to roup is sometimes caused by lack of green feed.

BUFFALOES SHOW OFFENSIVE FOR FIRST TIME

CANYON, Nov. 18.—For the first time since the opening of the 1925 season the Buffaloes of the West Texas Teachers College show a good offensive drive. In the game with the New Mexico Military Institute Cadets Nov. 11, the Buffaloes opened up an offense drive in the second half that swept all opposition before it and netted the Buffaloes four touchdowns. The score was no indication of the strength of the two teams—the Buffaloes were simply dead until the beginning of the second half. With the beginning of the second half the Buffaloes seemed to attain that which Coach Eckhardt has tried to instill into his men all season, a scoremaking offensive. The Buffaloes have always had a good defensive combination.

Only once before have the Buffs showed any indication of having a strong offensive—in the game with the New Mexico University Lobos. Two losses which the Buffs have suffered this season may be attributed directly to this lack of driving power when in scoring distance. One of them was in the game with the Abilene Christian College Wildcats. Over confidence was the cause of the loss of team work in this game. Again in the game with the Denton Eagles, the Buffaloes were in scoring distance three times but were unable to take advantage of the opportunities.

Something seems to be lacking in the Buffalo squad. It may be that elusive quality which is the feeling of fellowship that is so essential to the team-work. It may be the lack of reserve material that has caused members of the squad to feel a little less seriously the responsibility resting on their shoulders.

The Maroon and White showed an entirely different spirit in a game on Armistice Day and Eckhardt is much encouraged by the evidence of feeling and of fight shown by the squad in the game. Eckhardt has been handicapped by a serious lack of reserve material, but has done wonders with the material available. This team has not won a game since it has beaten N. M. U., N. M. M. I., Montezuma College, Clarendon College. The team has never been so good offensively, but has shown in all the games, unsurpassed defensive play.

The Buffaloes meet the Daniel Baker Hill Billies in Canyon Nov. 23. The game may be played on the Buffalo gridiron this season. The team has been undergoing some stiff workouts in final preparations for the Goats. The Hill Billies beat the Buffs on the local field last year, 3 to 6. The game may give fans a chance to see the Buffaloes play the first real football the team has played this season. The Buffs seem to have found their stride and every man is pointing toward the Turkey Day Game with the Texas Tech Matadors.

HIGH SCHOOL GRID GAME IMPROVES BURTON SAYS

By S. D. BURTON CANYON, Nov. 18.—High school football in west Texas has been better this year than ever before. The games have been better played, almost altogether free from rough play and good sportsmanship has prevailed throughout the panhandle. Attendance at the games has been larger, and the financial condition of the high school athletic associations are no doubt better off than they have ever been before. The crowds have shown good sportsmanship, and have at all times shown for nothing more than fair play. The coaches everywhere have done excellent work and are to be congratulated for the manner in which the season has been conducted.

So far as the writer is aware, there has not been a single protest filed against a member of a team in either district one or two. This speaks very highly for the men in charge. This not only shows that the men in the different schools are strict in enforcing the rules in their own schools, but also shows that they have full confidence in their fellow workers throughout this section of the country. This is as it should be. One coach of a high school team in discussing this phase of athletics said, "I would just as soon be guilty of stealing money from the vault of my bank as of stealing cattle from my neighbor's pasture as to be guilty of winning a football game by any other way than open and above board and fairly in every respect." This idea seems to predominate throughout this section of the country, and it is pleasant and happy situation. May it ever continue thus.

Tut's Mummy Is Not To Be Moved From Its Casket

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 19. (AP)—The condition of the mummy of Tut-an-kh-amen has been found to be such that it will be impossible to remove it from its gold coffin, Doctors Deery and Saleh Bardi announced today in a report on the unwrapping of the mummy, which has occupied seven days. The experts announced that the mummy is firmly fixed to the bottom of its coffin, with a dried pine-like material. The mask, reaching to the upper part of the throat, is also fixed to the coffin, making the removal of the mummy impossible. It will also be futile to attempt to make x-ray pictures on account of the numerous layers of gold and other material covering the body to the knees.

Frank V. Lanham, chairman of the highway commission, sat early today with the individual defendants, officials of the American Road company, and conferred at intervals with them and their counsel. Wise said he based his estimates of ten cents a square yard on a letter of specifications written in March by Chairman Lanham to the American Road company. He said if the company should be required to put on two courses, as the company and commission contend it is obliged to do, between 19 and 20 cents at the maximum would be a reasonable price. He said the 30 cents a square yard paid the defendant "unreasonable."

Mrs. Coolidge Is Expected To Shop In New York Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—Salespeople in New York stores were on their toes today in expectation of an early Christmas shopping visit from Mrs. Calvin Coolidge. The President is to speak tonight before the New York State Chamber of Commerce at the Waldorf.

The Presidential party which includes Frank W. Stearns, friend of the President, and Dwight W. Morrow, head of the aircraft board, is due to arrive at 1:15 p. m.

Arrangements have been made for broadcasting the speech for 9 p. m. throughout the country over dozen radio stations. The President has made no engagements to confer with New York political leaders.

Unless there is an unexpected change for the worse in the condition of the President's father, Colonel John C. Coolidge, who is ill at Plymouth, Vt., President and Mrs. Coolidge expect to leave for Washington shortly after midnight.

Sister of Texas Oil Man Better

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—Mrs. Electra Wharton, sister of Guy L. Hope for her recovery was held out by Dr. Henry Craig Fleming, one of the attending physicians.

Woman's Virtue Is Not Dependent On Length Of Her Hair

PARIS, Nov. 18. (AP)—"The virtue of a woman has never depended on the length of her hair," said Monsignor Dabois, Cardinal-Archbishop of Paris, when asked his opinion on bobbing.

"Religion is no enemy of fashion," the prelate added. "Fashion is the most widespread form of art and God is the true friend of true artists. I loved the fashions of by-gone days and the decorous charm of harmoniously flowing draperies still appeals to me. But we must recognize that we have had our fashioning days. Today is the day of boldly cut low-necked gowns, of too filmy materials, of delicate stockings and too unsubstantial footwear."

"Then there is this mania some young women have of making themselves masculine. A woman loses much in wishing to resemble a man. All the sexes are to be blamed, that is certain, but excess in the opposition direction are just as blameworthy. Please God no archbishop of Paris will ever forbid the women of Paris to follow the fashions—with tact, moderation and intelligence. They have no much intelligence or rather good taste generally, that they are capable of wearing and of making me admit it even, short skirts."

This authorization is not consecration of short skirts and bobs with its marked absence of disapproval, have been hailed in Paris as another feminist victory and as having been meant to dispel the belief that the ecclesiastical authorities were opposed to these latest expressions of woman's will.

Attorney Must Serve 3 Days For Court Contempt

AUSTIN, Nov. 18. (AP)—William M. McCreaw, assistant district attorney in Dallas county, must serve three days in jail for contempt of court, it was determined by the court of criminal appeals here today when his application for writ of habeas corpus was denied. The sentence was imposed on McCreaw Oct. 30 by Judge Felix D. Robinson for attacking the validity of a commitment. McCreaw claimed that as he was being illegally restrained by Schuyler Marshall, Dallas county sheriff,

Former Ambassador To Germany Says He Hopes Catholic or Jew Is To Be Named Presidential Candidate for Next Term

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—James W. Gerard hopes that one of the major parties will nominate either a Catholic or a Jew for president. Presiding at a meeting of the Jewish Tribune forum last night he said such a nomination would "do away with the miserable spirit of intolerance which has grown up in the land."

With the expression of his hope the former democratic ambassador to Germany gave the following warning: "When any one race goes to a political convention and demands recognition of one man because of his religion or race, he is increasing intolerance."

Washington's execution, set for June 19, was not carried out through an official oversight and for a time it appeared that the death penalty could never be imposed. Legal obstacles, however, were later removed and the new execution date set.

Conviction In Shelton Murder Case Reversed

AUSTIN, Nov. 18. (AP)—Conviction of L. D. Shelton for murder in Dallas county for the fatal shooting of Helen Ross, 11 year old daughter of T. J. Ross, June 4, 1924, was reversed and remanded by the court of criminal appeals today. Shelton was sentenced to 12 years for the shooting which he claimed was accidental, as he was shooting at Ross in defense of himself and wife and the bullet went through Ross' arm and killed the child.

Negro Files Suit On 'Jim Crow' Law

MUSKOGEE Okla., Nov. 18. (AP)—Nick Chiles, negro publisher of a newspaper in Muskogee, Kan., filed suit in Federal court here yesterday against the Oklahoma Union Traction company of Tulsa for $20,000 damages based on alleged maladministration of the "Jim Crow" law.

Chiles says he boarded a Tulsa-Seaside Interurban car at Tulsa recently and took a seat in the compartment set apart for negroes. He says the car was filled rapidly by whites and the conductor attempted to force him to vacate his seat in the negro section so a white patron could sit. He says he refused and that upon his arrival at Seaside the conductor caused his arrest. The editor claims the arrest was without complaint or warrant.

Talk Of Professional Baseball Here Reviewed Following Receipt Of Letter From Baseball Association At El Paso

professional baseball league in West Texas, which since the successful season of the Lubbock Hubbers in 1923 has been the annual palaver during the spring months when the buds begin to swell and the birds begin to chatter along the roadside, has again been called to the minds of local baseball fans, this time coming from El Paso.

Skipper Sled Allen, who has been prominent in baseball circles here since the advent of the West Texas League into this section of the state, in receipt of a letter from the El Paso baseball association officials urging the organization of a class D circuit with a possible six or eight club loop.

The advance guard also was accompanied by Chief of Police T. E. May, another enthusiastic Matador fan, who in his own words, "is going down to have the Brownwood come in a good humor" when the Matador fans from the special train that will leave here in the morning storm the city Wednesday about noon.

The Matador roster includes the same squad that went to Abilene last week, with one or two exceptions. The boys who made the trip are as follows: Linesmen—Miller, Corley, Trostle, Smith, Evans, Denison, Harris, Reed, Carpenter, Knowles, Westerfeldt, and Ralph Eikes.

Back field—Woodbridge, Hamilton, Haybers, Hill, Nicholas, Alford, Wilson, Archibald and Hallmark.

Archibald and Reed flankouted reports here recently to the effect that they might not be able to appear in uniform again this season, and both appeared on the scene this morning wagging their uniforms on their backs and were in the most jovial spirits possible.

Moody, arguing orally, insisted that he had a right by the constitution and statutes to maintain the suit and charged that the intervenors were not represented by a county or district attorney.

This is an attempt of the governor to intervene and therefore cannot be granted, called for the placing of a two course treatment on about 1,000 miles of roads, and that if the contracts are cancelled, the state will be put to great expense in giving the highways a second treatment of topping.

RED RIVER FIGHT PUTS LEASES IN COURTS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 17. (AP)—Ownership of oil leases in the disputed Red river channel between Oklahoma and Texas, valued at approximately $2,000,000, was thrown into litigation today when the Federal District Court here seeking the appointment of a receiver for $746,469 oil royalties now imposed by the secretary of the interior.

The syndicate charged that the secretary of the interior, in making final awards of Red river property, erred in awarding leases on 369 acres of oil land to the Burke Divide Oil company and T. A. Testerman.

The syndicate is the successor to the Original Texas strike claimants and claims prior rights to the lease awards. The petition asks also the Burke Divide company and Testerman interests be declared trustees of the syndicate pending settlement of rights to the leases.

The area at issue lies south of the medial line of the river and was declared by the United States Supreme Court to be the property of the Federal Government. The court, however, did not pass on the contract right as applicable in the land. Lease right were awarded by the secretary of the interior to the Burke Divide company and Testerman last May.

FIRST SALE SHORT WOOL CROP NETS 39 CENTS LB. SAN ANGELO, Nov. 19. (AP)—A fraction over 30c a pound was the peak price in the first sale of 1925 short wool in Texas when March brothers, here, last Tuesday, sold their season's accumulation of almost 100,000 pounds to Henry D. Allen, Philadelphia, representing Charles J. Webb Sons' company, of that city, it was learned unofficially today.

The grade of the fleeces principally from Crockett and Sutton counties, was about the same as last fall, with the staple a bit shorter and the shrinkage 1 to 2 per cent heavier, stated S. W. March. He termed the sale satisfactory because prices were not quite as high as expected. Bids on 450,000 pounds of short wool rejected by the wool growers central storage company here Tuesday in the first sale bid offering in the state this season ranged from 33 to a high of over 36c a pound, it was reported today. The only other auction yet definitely announced is by Charles Schreiner of Kerrville, Nov. 24.

Champion Fiddler Of Maine To Play For 'Lizzie' King NORWAY, Me., Nov. 19. (AP)—Mellie Durham, 79-year old champion fiddler of the state of Maine and farmer, has been invited to visit Dearborn, Mich., expenses paid, and play for Henry Ford.

Three weeks ago Mellie stopped making snow shoes long enough to go over to Lewiston to play in a regiment of the state army. His playing won him the title of Maine's champion and a silver cup.

Maine newspapers dutifully chronicled the fact. Henry Ford read it and wrote his invitation which Mellie thought was another order for snow shoes and left unopened for several days. Mellie has been making snow shoes nearly all his life. He made those which Henry's men wore when the north was discovered.

When he opened the invitation, he thought fast. He did not care for cashing, but he likes to fiddle, even better than making snow shoes, especially to an appreciative audience. So he replied that he would rather not come until Dec. 1, but if that was not agreeable "will drop everything and fiddle at once." Mellie and his fiddlers are now awaiting further instructions.

ATTORNEYS OPEN STATE HIGHWAYS FIGHT IN COURT

CHIEF EXECUTIVE TAKES AGGRESSIVE POSITION AGAINST MOODY (By Associated Press.) AUSTIN, Nov. 18.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and her highway commission joined issue in district court here today with Attorney General Dan Moody over state highway contracts which have been agitating the state for many months.

Attorneys for the governor and the commission asked that the Attorney General's suit demanding cancellation of contracts with the American Road company be dismissed, the action thus presenting the spectacle of the chief law officer of the state and the governor, occupying opposite sides of a case in which the attorney general alleges the state is about to be mulched of $550,000.

The Attorney General's suit for injunction, filed several days ago, charges that the American Road company is making excessive profits out of its state contracts aggregating $1,250,000. Attorneys for the commission and the governor, in their plea today, insisted that the attorney general had no authority to bring suit without consent of the highway commission, except for forfeiture of the company's permits.

Answers Filed. The defendant's counsel filed a general answer to every allegation of the petition. The intervenors' plea declared that the highway commission was vested with sole authority to make the contracts involved and that the commission was required by law to exercise its judgment and discretion, in which function it could not be controlled by another officer of the state.

May Lose Federal Aid. The commission's lawyers contended the state stood a chance to lose $4,500,000 of Federal highway funds annually because of deterioration of roads pending settlement of the suit and that Moody had placed a wrong construction on the American Road company's contracts which, it was asserted, called for the placing of a two course treatment on about 1,000 miles of roads, and that if the contracts are cancelled, the state will be put to great expense in giving the highways a second treatment of topping.

Moody, arguing orally, insisted that he had a right by the constitution and statutes to maintain the suit and charged that the intervenors were not represented by a county or district attorney.

Agricultural Foundation Warns Against Forecasts Of Extremely Cold Winter And Unseasonable Summer Scientists Predict

Texas farmers are being warned by the Seera-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation against placing faith in forecasts of an extremely cold winter ahead to be followed by an unseasonable summer in 1926. The winter may be extremely cold and the summer unseasonable, but scientists have no means of telling it at this early date. A week is the longest dip possible into the weather future.

Neither is there reason for believing that the winters in this section are no longer so cold nor the summers so hot as formerly, according to the Foundation, which quotes weather bureau figures on the point, running back three decades. The mean December-January and February temperature over the decade 1895-1904 was 48.4 degrees. For the decade 1905-1914 it was 49.7 degrees; and for 1915-1924 51.3 degrees, a difference in the total range of 3.5 degrees. The mean temperature for the same three winter months last year was 49.8 degrees.

CONCERT PLANNED FRIDAY NIGHT AT TECH

Friday evening in the Stock Judging Pavilion of the college a very unusual program will be given for the purpose of raising funds to assist in buying suitable uniforms for the band. The program is presented through the courtesy of the South Plains Music Teachers association and the willing cooperation of the music dealers of the city who will furnish four grand pianos for the occasion. Six pianists will sit at the four pianos playing an ensemble such as is seldom heard. The high school orchestras of Lubbock and Slaton will amalgamate for this special occasion, playing two overtures on the program. Many well known soloists will also appear at this time, and the college band will play for fifteen minutes preceding the program proper. The band, orchestra and ensemble numbers, as well as the community singing, will be under the immediate directorship of W. R. Wazborne, professor of music at the college.

Cancellation Of Pro Law Permits Dec. 31 Ordered

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (AP)—Cancellation of all basic permits under the prohibition act, effective Dec. 31, was decided upon today by Secretary Andrews, of the treasury. At the same time, James E. Jones, prohibition director, ordered a searching investigation of all holders of permits for distillation of alcohol so that the government may know the record of each before issuing permits for the next year. The new arrangement places the permit for manufacture, distribution or sale of spirituous liquors on a year to year rather than a continuing basis, and it is the belief of enforcement officials that it will make for better control of the establishments, especially as to diversion of alcohol to bootleg channels.

RUSSIA IS COMING BACK TO OWN IN AGRICULTURE

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 13. (AP)—Russia as an agricultural country is rapidly coming back into her own. This was told the students and faculty members of Texas A. and M. College recently by Prof. Valerian Oboznenko Oboznenko, Russian economist and professor of the Agricultural Agency of Moscow, the greatest agricultural institution in Russia.

Prof. Oboznenko said that while Russia in 1921 had only produced 205 million bushels of wheat, less than 50 per cent of her normal pre-war crop, and had only produced 1,130 million bushels of all grain, exclusive of millet, that this year, Russia had produced 660 million bushels of wheat, 817 million bushels of rye and 697 million bushels of oats, a total production of all grains, exclusive of millet, 2,635 million bushels.

"The normal pre-war production of wheat was 759 million bushels, her normal pre-war production of all grains was 2,894 million bushels," he said. "This shows how nearly Russia is back of her pre-war production in agriculture, and the pre-war production will be exceeded next year."

Professor Oboznenko said that in five years Russia would produce sufficient cotton to supply all her domestic demand for cotton goods. This remarkable recovery of a nation, thought by many to be in a state of starvation, has been brought about by the development of a stabilized government and the repeal of those radical economic laws that throttled production in the years after the war, the professor declared.
