Officers Have Thrilling Automobile Chase School Opens This Week With Enrollment of 520

G. A. Heath Heads List of 19 Teachers

The 1931-32 term of the Friona high school opened Monday morning under very favorable conditions under the direction of a most competent and enthusiastic corps of teachers, numbering 19 in all.

The beautiful new high school building which has just reached completion, and which is the pride and admiration of the entire population of the district, was occupied by the proud and happy high school teachers and students, eager for the work of the term, and feeling that they could all do their 100 per cent best, with the many conveniences and strictly up-to-date equipment and arrangement.

Supt. George A. Heath reports an enrollment for the first day of 517, with additional enrollments for the following days of the week, making an enrollment of over 520 for the first week.

This term of the Friona school will be under supervision and tutorage of the following list of thoroughly qualified and efficient teachers:

Prof. George A. Heath takes charge of the school as superintendent of all the departments and practically all of his time will be devoted to the duties of this position. Prof. Heath has been with the school during the past two years, serving as principal under Supt. J. A. Conway, and is well known to patrons of the school as well as the student body, with whom he is more than popular.

Supt. Heath will be ably assisted by Prof. Wayne Eubanks of Claude, Texas, who will serve as principal of the high school and will instruct in history and public speaking. Mr. Eubanks comes to us with the degree of A. B. from the W. T. S. T. C. at Canyon, and with a goodly supply of experience in practical work in the teaching profession, he having served as principal in the Lazbuddy school during the past two terms. In addition to his regular work in the school Mr. Eubanks will receive and train private pupils in the art of public speaking. Anyone desiring his service in this capacity will do well to see him soon as he has several already on his list. Friona is fortunate in securing his services.

Prof. H. K. Smith of Albany is another new member of the Friona faculty, he having come to us this season with a B. A. degree from Texas Tech. Mr. Smith has had several years experience in teaching, but for the past three years has been a student at Tech. He will have charge of work in history in the departmental grades. Mr. Smith is also a musician and will become a member of the local town band, playing the slide trombone. He bids fair to become a very popular member of the faculty.

C. E. Massie's Sows Average Litters 15 Pigs

O. E. Massie, one of Friona's progressive and thrifty farmers, living about eight miles southeast of town, has reason to be proud of his herd of eight prolific brood sows.

These eight sows during their last farrow brought forth 120 fine pigs, an average of 15 to the sow, and of the 120 pigs, 94, or 78.3 per cent of the entire farrows are still living.

One of these sows farrowed 22 pigs, of which she saved 15 that are now two weeks old and are mighty likely looking porkers. The smallest litter farrowed by either of the sows was 11 pigs, saving the entire litter.

Mr. Massie's sows are a cross between Duroc and Poland China, two of our most popular breeds, but there is no denying the fact that they are productive and that means prosperous.

Mr. Massie has held his degree from McMurry College, Abilene. In addition to his work as principal of the music department and will serve as leader and trainer of both the school bands and the town band. Mr. Armstrong will have two bands in the school this term, one for beginners and one for those who have been taking instruction for the past few terms. He will also be prepared to tutor private pupils in music. Mr. Armstrong says he hopes to have his band in trim to play for the big barbecue that is expected here this autumn. He says interest in music is better this term than it has been during his work here, and eight new instruments have been purchased.

Among the lady teachers in the faculty is Miss Arvie Lewis of Celeste, who is here for her second year's work in the school. Miss Lewis is an experienced instructor who has received her training and preparation for work in the E. T. S. T. C., Commerce. She will have charge of a part of the work in the departmental grades, and her work here has proven her to be one of our most popular instructors.

Another of our lady teachers is Miss Leatha Handley of Childress, who is here for her second year in the Friona schools and her third year at actual teaching. Miss Handley received her B. S. degree from W. T. S. T. C., and will have charge of the commercial work and geometry. She will also be custodian of the library.

Miss Pauline Hart, Plainview, comes to our school highly recommended for her first year as a member of the Friona faculty. She has had three years of practical experience in the profession and received her training at the college at Canyon. She will have charge of the second grade.

27 Huskies Out for High School Football Squad

When Coach Bill Stevens made his call for volunteers for the football squad he was almost instantly greeted by a group of 27 of the huskiest of the high school boys earnestly desiring to get on the team.

The names of the aspirants follow: Dennis White, 160; Clifford Crow, 158; Donald Livings, 190; Clifford Boatman, 175; Red Whitefield, 178; Conway Frost, 157; Red Crow, 170; Red McFarland, 137; Charles Reeve, 160; Weldon Whitefield, 148; Lee Euler, 139; Merril Furlong, 126; Robert Chiles, 135; Edward Massey, 142; Virgil Weir, 121; Bud Barnett, 143; Albert Conway, 139; Paul Spring, 156; Merle Harry, 131; Hilton Lansdown, 145; Gilbert Boatman, 125; Henry Collier, 138; John Buske, 132; Raymond Euler, 127; Lawrence Lansdown, 140; Douglas Prose, 156.

Friona football fans are looking forward to some real grid work this season, including some exciting games in which the Chiefs will be the victors.

Miss Harrison of Hereford is beginning her second year in Friona, and won her B. A. degree at Canyon. She will have charge of the third grade and will also teach music. Her efficiency and pleasing personality has won an enviable position in the esteem of her pupils and fellow teachers. She taught music here last year.

Miss Myer of Canyon comes to us for her first year with preparation obtained at W. T. S. T. C. She has had experience as a teacher and will have charge of the fourth grade.

Mrs. H. B. Whitley is entering upon her third year as a member of the Friona faculty. Her home is in Friona and she has been a student of C. I. A., Denton. She has less than a year of work to secure her B. A. degree, and has had much constructive experience. She taught four years at Clovis, New Mexico, and three years at Caspar, Wyoming, in a school where there were 300 teachers. She holds the position of supervisor of the primary department, and is well liked by her pupils and her patrons.

Miss Vivian Boston is here for her third year, and has proven herself to be one of our most popular and efficient instructors. She attended W. T. S. T. C., and is teaching her fourth year. She has charge of the fourth grade.

Miss Marie Gardner is now teaching her third term here and has won the distinction of being one of the most popular and well liked teachers in the school. She won her B. S. degree in Canyon in 1927 and has been active engaged as teacher of home economics each year since.

Word Received Stop Car From New Mexico

A telephone message from Sheriff W. W. Hall of Farwell Wednesday afternoon called Mayor J. L. Landrum and Deputy Sheriff C. M. Jones into an exciting but successful automobile chase on the highway between Friona and Hereford.

The message stated that a car had been stolen in Clovis, New Mexico, and was headed toward Friona and traveling at a high rate of speed, and asked the officers to try to intercept the thieves as they passed through Friona, and they accordingly secured the services of "Shorty" Jones and his car, and set out on the highway toward Bovina to meet the stolen car, which they did about a mile out of Friona.

As they saw the stolen car approaching they turned their car across the road and signaled the other car to stop, but the driver paid no attention except to honk the horn vociferously and to increase their speed, passing the Jones car by a very narrow margin and sped onward.

Our officials hurriedly righted their car and gave chase, going at a rate of sixty miles per hour and slowly gaining on their quarry slowly but steadily, until near Hereford, where they were met by Deaf Smith county officers, who mistook them for the stolen car and attempted to stop them, allowing the stolen car to go by.

Our Friona officials paid no attention to their guns and shooting, but sped onward after the thieves, Mayor Landrum motioning the Hereford officials to follow, and they immediately grasped the situation and gave chase in their high-powered car, soon passing our men and falling in immediately behind the run-aways, and thus they crossed the railroad and zoomed northward on 25-Mile Avenue, the Mayor's car following the streak of dust cast up by the two hurrying cars ahead.

A few miles north of Hereford they met the stolen car coming back toward Hereford with the officers in full pursuit, and ere they could turn their car and give chase, the Hereford officers had crowded the run-away into the bar-pit and the thieves left their car and one of them started across a pasture on foot. Messrs. Landrum and Jones then dashed across a yard and into the pasture after their man and soon had him in custody. When they returned the Hereford sheriff and his deputies had the other man in charge and the two were soon landed in the Deaf Smith county jail to await the coming of the sheriff from Clovis.

The Homelands club met at the home of Mrs. O'Brian on Thursday, September 3, and the meeting was called to order by the president, after which the club prayer was offered by the club. Old business was first attended to. The yard prizes will be given at the next meeting.

Roll call was answered by The most pleasant experience that I have had this year. There were nine members, two new members and five children present. Watermelon and cantaloupe were served as refreshments by the hostess, after which the meeting adjourned. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Pete Berg September 24. T. L. REPORTER.

Truck Fleet Now Eleven

Friona school opened Monday morning with a full fleet of trucks on the job for transporting pupils to and from school, with one additional truck over last year, raising the total to 11.

The added truck is the one used for bringing the high school students over from Lakeview school but has been adopted as one of the Friona fleet and will be under supervision of the Friona school board.

For the benefit of the patrons of the school, most of whom will be interested in knowing who will have in their hands the safety and comfort of their children while in transit to and from school we are giving the following list of contractors with the names of the man who will drive and have charge of the various trucks. The list follows:

Route No. 1, O. M. Eaton, contractor and driver; Route 2, Emmett H. Day, contractor and driver; No. 3, Fred F. Bell, contractor and driver; No. 4, C. F. Lofin, contractor and driver; No. 5, Jesse F. Jones, contractor and driver; No. 6, E. R. Furlong, contractor and driver; No. 7, J. W. Ford, contractor, Leslie Ford, driver; No. 8, W. P. Perry, contractor, Ralph Evans driver; No. 9, W. M. White, contractor, Irving White, driver; No. 10, W. E. Frost, contractor and driver; No. 11, C. D. York, contractor and driver.

The last named driver, C. D. York, is from Lakeview district and has charge of the Lakeview truck. He brings in a nice group of high school boys and girls from our sister district to the south-east.

Had Labor Day Outing. Ester Noble, vice president and manager of the Friona State Bank, and J. R. Roden, proprietor of the City Drug Store, spent from Saturday evening until Monday evening recreating in the mountains of New Mexico.

These two popular young gentlemen visited Clouderoff and other places of interest in the mountain region as a Labor Day vacation and report a most enjoyable outing.

Miss Marie Gardner is now teaching her third term here and has won the distinction of being one of the most popular and well liked teachers in the school. She won her B. S. degree in Canyon in 1927 and has been active engaged as teacher of home economics each year since.

Church Institute.

Members of the local Congregational church greatly enjoyed the Church Institute, conducted at the church building Tuesday afternoon and evening.

The talent for the program consisted of Rev. Frank M. Sheldon, D. D., Oklahoma City, pastor of the First Congregational church there, assisted by Mrs. Davis, state chairman of woman's work in Oklahoma; Miss Jessie Armstrong, secretary to Superintendent L. J. Mash, and Miss Louise Rounds, a missionary home on furlough from Central Africa.

Much interesting and instructive counsel and advice was given by Dr. Sheldon in the afternoon and an inspiring and instructive talk at the evening meeting. Miss Armstrong talked on Religious Education and its place and worth in the church, giving many excellent suggestions for carrying on this work. Her talk was practical and received with intense interest.

Miss Rounds gave an interesting account of her surroundings and labors in the "Dark" Continent, which was listened to with intense interest. Her location is in that part of Africa, south of the Equator and the Congo River.

The ladies of the congregation served lunch in the church basement at 6:30 to which the entire faculty of our school was invited, and was attended by nearly all of the teachers.

FARMERS' DAILY PRAYER: MODEL USED IN 1931.

Lord, I am only a farmer. Thou knowest that when wheat was $2 per bushel and I had flour and sugar in the house and cakes and pies and everything, I voted for Hoover. Thou knowest that I wore a Hoover badge and was faithful in all things to the G. O. P. Even so! Thou knowest that I believed in the dawn of a new day.

That wool would advance in price—that I would get $3 for wheat, and 20c for pork.

20 EVENTFUL YEARS---

Twenty years ago small and medium sized towns obtained electric power from isolated and generally inadequate local plants. Many towns had no service at all. Today nearly all such communities are served by a widespread transmission system, which delivers the power generated in large, efficient power plants.

As a result, industries are growing up in towns in which they could not have located with the limited power facilities of 20 years ago. Throughout West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, where the Texas Utilities Co. is rendering dependable electric service to prosperous cities and town—industrial growth has been furthered by this company's adequate and dependable service.

INVEST YOUR DOLLARS IN FRIONA

—Now, folks, there is no kidding about this, it is only facts. The time has come when you can spend your money with home merchants or else we will not have any merchants.

—The time is here when each business man must cooperate together, or else some good merchant will be forced out of business. Will it be you? Who will be next?

—What kind of a town would we have if there were no stores and not even a newspaper? There may be some few people here who have said they did not care whether Friona had a newspaper or not.

—If Friona did not have a newspaper, half of the population would move. Do you believe that or not? You can't mention a town that doesn't have a newspaper that ever amounted to very much in size. I am asking you the question, and you can answer it.

Church Institute.

Members of the local Congregational church greatly enjoyed the Church Institute, conducted at the church building Tuesday afternoon and evening.

The talent for the program consisted of Rev. Frank M. Sheldon, D. D., Oklahoma City, pastor of the First Congregational church there, assisted by Mrs. Davis, state chairman of woman's work in Oklahoma; Miss Jessie Armstrong, secretary to Superintendent L. J. Mash, and Miss Louise Rounds, a missionary home on furlough from Central Africa.

Much interesting and instructive counsel and advice was given by Dr. Sheldon in the afternoon and an inspiring and instructive talk at the evening meeting.

Miss Armstrong talked on Religious Education and its place and worth in the church, giving many excellent suggestions for carrying on this work. Her talk was practical and received with intense interest.

Miss Rounds gave an interesting account of her surroundings and labors in the "Dark" Continent, which was listened to with intense interest. Her location is in that part of Africa, south of the Equator and the Congo River.

The ladies of the congregation served lunch in the church basement at 6:30 to which the entire faculty of our school was invited, and was attended by nearly all of the teachers.

FARMERS' DAILY PRAYER: MODEL USED IN 1931.

Lord, I am only a farmer. Thou knowest that when wheat was $2 per bushel and I had flour and sugar in the house and cakes and pies and everything, I voted for Hoover. Thou knowest that I wore a Hoover badge and was faithful in all things to the G. O. P. Even so! Thou knowest that I believed in the dawn of a new day.

That would advance in price—that I would get $3 for wheat, and 20c for pork.

to buy necessities and I still wear the Hoover badge, on the seat of my overalls.

Oh, Lord, I am thankful for one thing—that Hoover has been able to make the jack rabbit taste good in the summer time. I pray that thou wilt keep the rabbits replenished so that I shall not go hungry; that I may use the hides for clothing.

I am glad, O Lord, that thou hast prospered the great trucking systems and that they and the railroads have been able to keep their high freight rates and my wheat will not pay the expense of cutting it.

I pray that Thou wilt continue to uphold Wall Street, that the big business will be able to collect the year's interest on the funds of my own bank, for it is a righteous cause. Teach me to pray.

20 EVENTFUL YEARS---

Twenty years ago small and medium sized towns obtained electric power from isolated and generally inadequate local plants. Many towns had no service at all.

Today nearly all such communities are served by a widespread transmission system, which delivers the power generated in large, efficient power plants.

As a result, industries are growing up in towns in which they could not have located with the limited power facilities of 20 years ago.

Throughout West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, where the Texas Utilities Co. is rendering dependable electric service to prosperous cities and town—industrial growth has been furthered by this company's adequate and dependable service.

—The time is here when each business man must cooperate together, or else some good merchant will be forced out of business. Will it be you? Who will be next?

—What kind of a town would we have if there were no stores and not even a newspaper? There may be some few people here who have said they did not care whether Friona had a newspaper or not.

—If Friona did not have a newspaper, half of the population would move. Do you believe that or not? You can't mention a town that doesn't have a newspaper that ever amounted to very much in size. I am asking you the question, and you can answer it.

SOME MISSIONARY EXPERIENCES

Acts 14:8-23.

Acts 14:8. And at Lystra there sat a certain man, impotent in his feet, a cripple from his mother's womb, who never had walked.

9. The same heard Paul speaking: who, fastening his eyes upon him, and seeing that he had faith to be made whole.

10. Said with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy feet. And he leaped up and walked.

11. And when the multitude saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voices, saying in the speech of Lystronia. The gods are come down to us in the likeness of man.

12. And they called Barnabas, Jupiter; and Paul, Mercury, because he was the chief speaker.

13. And the priest of Jupiter whose temple was before the city, brought oxen and garlands unto the gates, and would have done sacrifice with the multitudes.

14. But when the apostles, Barnabas and Paul, heard of it, they rent their garments, and sprang forth among the multitude, crying out.

15. And saying, Sirs, why do ye do these things? We also are men of like passions with you, and bring you good tidings, that ye should turn from these vain things unto a living God, who made the heaven and the earth and the sea, and all that in them is:

16. Who in the generations gone by, suffered all the nations to walk in their own ways.

17. And yet he left not himself without witness, in that he did good and gave you from heaven rains and fruitful seasons, filling your hearts with food and gladness.

18. And with these sayings scarce restrained they the multitudes from doing sacrifice unto them.

19. But there came Jews thither from Antioch and Iconium; and having persuaded the multitudes, they stoned Paul, and dragged him out of the city, supposing that he was dead.

20. But as the disciples stood round about him, he rose up, and entered into the city; and on the morrow he went forth with Barnabas to Derbe.

21. And when they had preached the gospel to that city, and had made many disciples, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antioch.

22. Confirming the souls of the disciples, exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that thru many tribulations we must enter into the kingdom of God.

23. And when they had appointed for them elders in every church and had prayed with fasting, they commended them to the Lord, on whom they had believed.

Golden Text: Blessed are they that have been persecuted for righteousness' sake; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.—Matt 5:10.

Time: A. D. 48 and 49.

Place: Iconium, Lystra and Derbe, going eastward. The return thru the same cities, then to Antioch of Pisidia, south to Pamphylia, and back by sea to Antioch of Syria.

Introduction.

That the gods visit the earth in human form is one of the oldest and commonest beliefs of the ethnic religions. Greek poetry and legend are full of it. Homer's Iliad, for example. Inscriptions recently discovered in the vicinity of Lystra show that Zeus (Jupiter) and Hermes (Mercury) were preeminently gods of the place. A myth also was current that these two divinities had once visited the Lystrians in disguise. Such a miracle and such speech must surely be of gods! And they prepare to worship Paul and Barnabas.

That they identified the latter with Jupiter and Paul with Mercury interests us exceedingly, for it gives us a hint as to the personal appearance of the two missionaries. We visualize Barnabas therefore, as a large, handsome, benign, quiet man—like the king of the gods; Paul as small, slight, nervous, talkative—like Mercury, the errand boy and spokesman of the Greco-Roman pantheon. "But when the apostles head of H." of these preparations to do them divine honors, they naturally were horrified.

Paul and Barnabas in Iconium. The authentic records give us few clear facts concerning the sojourn of Paul and Barnabas at Iconium. They remained here for some time. Their testimony was confirmed by miracles and "signs." They converted numerous Jews and Greeks. But the Jews who had remained unbelievers incited the masses of the pagans against the brethren. The people were divided into two factions, the one siding with the Jews, the other supporting the new church. A tumult broke out; armed with clubs and stones, the crowd marched to the house where the apostles were teaching. They were in danger of being flogged and stoned to death, but were able to escape. They took refuge five leagues to the southeast, in the little town of Lystra in Lycaonia. Here they were sure of finding few Jews and a semi-barbarous country, which they would open to the gospel.—Emile Bautmann.

Paul's Supposed Personal Appearance.

"And early apocryphal book, The Acts of Paul and Thekla, tells the story of a young woman who was converted by Paul in Iconium. Its historical value is slight, but it illustrates the way in which Christianity incurred hatred through the inevitable rupture of family ties. Also, it gives the earliest and most trustworthy description of Paul's person as follows: 'Small in size, bald-headed, bow-legged, strongly built, with eyebrows meeting, full of grace, sometimes seeming, full of grace, sometimes seeming the countenance of an angel.' Prof. William Bancroft Hill.

Lystra—Ancient and Modern.

"The thousands in the populous Lystra of old have dwindled to a bare 900, counting men, women and little children. Of the temples and monuments and theatres of old scarcely a trace can be seen. Every house in modern Lystra, with the exception of the mosque, which is a poor little affair without even a minaret, is a one-story hovel of mud or stone, in which an American would scarcely think it fit to stable his horses. . . . All that one sees today of the site of ancient Lystra is a hillside covered with fragments of broken marble and a few larger stones, scarcely one of them in the position where it was originally placed, for Lystra, like most of these ancient cities, has served as a quarry for the neighboring villages.

An Eager Listener Blessed.

"The same heard Paul speaking." The Greek verb implies by its tense that the lame man heard Paul preach repeatedly. "Who fastening his eyes upon him." The verb is common with St. Luke, and is used several times of St. Paul, as in Acts 13:9, where he fixes his gaze on Elymas, and Acts 23:1 where he attentively beholds the council.

"And seeing that he had faith to be made whole." He would judge from the cripple's eager attention and the lighting up of his face when Paul spoke of the Saviour and his healing of the sick. "Said with a loud voice." Paul shouted the command, both to arouse the cripple to the fullest exertion of his faith, and to draw to the miracle the attention of all in the crowd. "Stand upright on thy feet." Note the nervous energy of the command: "Stand up on your feet! Stand straight!" "And he leaped up and walked." Compare the cripple whom Peter healed at the Beautiful Gate of the temple: "Leaping up, he stood, and began to walk."—Acts 3:8.

Gods in Human Form.

"The gods are come down to us in the likeness of men." The appearance of gods in human form was not altogether unexpected in heathen antiquity. Twice had Zeus (Jupiter) and Hermes (Mercury) been supposed to visit in Lycaonia. The healing of the lame man convinced the people of Lystra that these gods had again vouchsafed to come among them.—Prof. F. J. Foakes-Jackson.

"And they called Barnabas, Jupiter; and Paul, Mercury, because he was the chief speaker." Barnabas was probably taller than Paul and more majestic, conforming to their idea of the "father of the gods".

Mercury, the herald of the gods, was the god of oratory and also the god of medicine. Paul's evident oratorical power and the cure of the cripple which he has just accomplished likened him to Mercury on two counts.

God in Nature.

"And yet he left not himself without witness." God would not have been a loving Father if he had not given to all men, Jews and Gentiles alike, as much knowledge of God and of God's ways as each was prepared to receive. "In that he did good." The natural world is full of proof of God's goodness. "And he gave you from heaven rains and fruitful seasons, filling your hearts with food and gladness." Jupiter Pluvius was the heathen god of rains; Paul pointed them to the true Jupiter Pluvius. Paul's plea to this heathen audience is much like his reasoning before a very different heathen assembly, that on Mar's Hill in Athens: compare Acts 17:23-31.

"The world is full of God. He is immanent in the universe. Lift up your eyes, stretch out your hands. He is near you, on every side of you. He is here as really and truly as the light, the gravity, the electricity which fill this room though you cannot see them."—Rev. Heary van Dyke, D. D.

The Stoning of Paul.

The mode of attempted execution was Jewish, and shows that those who instigated the attack led also in the final outrage. Barnabas may have been absent from the city or in another part of it, or he may not have been so aggressive as Paul and so have escaped the enmity of the Jews. "And dragged him out of the city." If Lystra had been a Jewish city, it would have been illegal to stone any one inside the city limits. How all this must have recalled to Paul the tragedy of Stephen (see Acts 7:57-58, something of the evil he had done before he became a Christian. "Supposing that he was dead." The apostle was left by the very men who worshipped him but yesterday as a god—left to die as a villain outside the city gates."—C. H. Spurgeon.

The Return Journey.

"They returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antioch." They returned over their course, going westward, and taking the cities in reverse order. On the return journey the missionaries were able to spend some time preaching in Perga, where they do not seem to have labored on their first visit. From Perga they went to Attalia, a seaport of Pamphylia, where they found a ship for Antioch, from which they had set out on this glorious pioneer missionary tour. There they called the church together and made their report. They had much to relate. Cyprus had been evangelized and Christianity had been planted in the distant inland regions of Asia Minor. Churches of great promise had been soundly established. Many converts among the Jews had been made, and especially the Gentiles had proved warmly receptive of the gospel. They had endured many hardships, but we may be sure that there were lighter touches upon, if they were mentioned at all. This first missionary report was one long psalm of praise to God and to his Son, Jesus Christ.
