Memorial Day

Big Spring honors the soldier's supreme sacrifice

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

Flags waved and snapped in the chilly wind and rifle shots from the Odessa VFW color guard echoed in the air yesterday morning at a gathering of approximately 100 veterans and the relatives and friends of those who died, were injured or sacrificed their youth in foreign war.

Some cried, while others stood resolute at Memorial Day services at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

VAMC Chaplain Clayton Hicks reminded those attending the 10 a.m. service of the reason for celebrating Memorial Day.

"This is one of the strengths of our great nation," Hicks said in his keynote address. "We must not, we shall not forget those who have sacrificed so much in order for us to enjoy this land and country and all that it has to offer."

Hicks emphasized the importance of remembering those from Howard County who "made the supreme sacrifice" in both world wars, the Korean "conflict" and in Viet Nam.

The need for upgrading the quality and quantity of care and attention to the living veterans was also stressed by Hicks in his address.

"The dead veterans we cannot help," Hicks said. "We memorialize them, but we cannot help them. The living veteran is here among us... We pledge to them our best as we seek to meet their needs."

Hicks added that "Our duty to the living and those who are yet to live as well as those who died in battle is to do all we can to keep and preserve the peace now and in the years to come."

ONE WHO CAME BACK — A veteran of foreign war watched yesterday as approximately 100 people paid homage to the sacrifices he and many others made in past battles.

Man is shot dead at club

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

Billy Roy Harris, 45, of 712 Willia was shot to death at approximately 11:15 p.m. Monday, police said. A warrant of arrest has been issued for a suspect in the shooting, but the name is being withheld pending the suspect's apprehension.

Investigating officers found Harris lying to the right of the front door of the Zodiac Club, 311 North Lancaster, with a gunshot wound in his chest, police said. The officers said approximately 75 persons were at the club when they arrived.

Harris was described by police officials as a "silent partner" in the club's business operations.

Peace Justice Bobby West pronounced the victim dead upon arrival at Malone-Hogan Hospital and ordered an autopsy to determine the exact cause of death, according to police.

British may seek Argentine surrender

By The Associated Press

British marines and paratroopers today were reported fighting Argentine troops for control of a strategic mountain 12 miles west of Stanley in action that could pave the way for the decisive battle of the Falkland Islands.

But government sources in London were quoted as saying the commander of the British task force, Rear Adm. John Woodward, has been given full authority to decide whether to give the Argentines an opportunity to surrender before launching a full-scale assault on Stanley, the Falklands capital.

The sources, quoted by Britain's domestic news agency, Press Association, and Independent Television News, said the British did not want to subject Argentina to a humiliating defeat because of concerns of worsening political instability in Latin America.

The British Defense Ministry reported Monday night that British and Argentine troops were battling for control of 1,500-foot Mount Kent 12 miles west of Stanley.

Press Association reported fighting three miles closer to Stanley on a ridge called Two Sisters, indicating the British marines and paratroopers may have pushed back the Argentine perimeter. But there was no official confirmation of this.

Argentina in a communique issued early today said its forces had "detected" British troops about 15 miles from Stanley. It said Argentine troops were using helicopters to reinforce their defense positions around the town.

Reports from London and Buenos Aires said the Argentine commander, Brig. Gen. Mario Menendez, had heavily fortified Mount Kent and the nearby ridges. If the British captured them, they would provide a vantage point for shelling the inner Argentine defenses.

Press Association also reported without attribution that the British had landed their backup force of 3,500 Scots and Welsh Guardsmen and Nepalese Gurkhas north of Stanley, bringing their total land forces on the island to at least 7,500 and outnumbering the estimated 7,000 Argentines concentrated around Stanley.

The Defense Ministry refused to confirm the landing report.

Two British forces had been advancing on Stanley. Royal Marines and paratroopers moving westward by helicopter from the San Carlo beachhead, and another paratrooper force coming around from the south after capturing the Goose Green airstrip and 1,400 Argentine prisoners.

British press reports said the two forces had linked up for the assault on Stanley.

The ministry said British Harrier fighter-bombers continued to pound the Stanley airstrip 2½ miles east of the town, and "a number" of Argentine light planes were believed damaged.

Press Association reported that British warships moved to within two miles of the Stanley harbor, to shell Argentine fortifications.

As the British forces move steadily forward, the tenor of statements from Argentina's ruling junta and from its newspapers changed in an apparent effort to prepare the Argentine public to accept a defeat and convince it at the same time that this constituted a victory in disguise.

Reagan puts hopes on N-arms talks

By MAUREEN SANTINI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says nuclear arms reduction talks with the Soviets, beginning late this month in Geneva, could diminish the arsenals that threaten "war even more terrible" than those that already have claimed American lives.

In a Memorial Day speech at Arlington National Cemetery, the president also confirmed that the United States will continue to abide by the constraints of the signed, but unratified, SALT II treaty as long as the Soviets do the same.

Reagan's schedule today includes two briefings in advance of his departure Wednesday for meetings with allies in Europe, where he is likely to encounter anti-nuclear demonstrations.

Formal announcement of the June 29 date of the new round of strategic arms reduction talks, which Reagan refers to as START, was made in a joint U.S.-Soviet statement issued at the White House just prior to the president's speech.

"Both sides attach great importance to these negotiations," the statement said.

Standing near rows of graves with white markers, Reagan reiterated his call for reducing nuclear weapons "by negotiating a stable balance at far lower levels of strategic forces."

Addressing about 4,000 people in the cemetery's amphitheater, Reagan said of potential adversaries:

"We must strive to speak of them not belligerently, but firmly and frankly. And that's why we must never fail to note, as frequently as necessary, the wide gulf between our codes of morality."

"And that's why we must never hesitate to acknowledge the irrefutable difference between our view of man as master of the state and their view of man as servant of the state."

"Nor must we ever underestimate the seriousness of their aspirations to global expansion. The risk is the very freedom that has been so dearly won."

He said such "honesty of mind" could "build a foundation upon which treaties between our nations can stand at last, treaties that can someday bring about a reduction in the terrible arms of destruction, arms that threaten us with war even more terrible than those that have taken the lives of the Americans we honor today."

He added: "As for existing strategic arms agreements, we will refrain from actions which undercut them so long as the Soviet Union shows equal restraint. With good will and dedication on both sides I pray that we will achieve a safer world."

Weather dampens Memorial Day across nation

By The Associated Press

Clouds and rain over much of the nation dampened Memorial Day observances as Americans prayed at graves, watched parades and listened to speeches honoring the soldiers who died for freedom.

Rain in the East canceled many observances. In Denver, shivering in 40-degree temperatures, no more than 2,200 people turned out under cloudy skies for a parade, police said, and raindrops sprinkled about 250 people in Topeka, Kan., who heard Mayor William B. McCormick read the Gettysburg address.

The traffic death toll for the long holiday weekend reached 294.

In Walker, Mich., a horse apparently frightened by sirens bolted from its 12-year-old owner, injured five people when it ran through a line of parade spectators, then stuck its head through a bakery window.

In Chippewa Falls, Wis., 10 members of a 7th-grade band received minor injuries when an antique car bumped them from behind. The 89-year-old driver said the vehicle's accelerator stuck, police reported.

In Washington, President Reagan announced new arms limitation talks as he joined about 4,000 people at Arlington National Cemetery.

"This is a fitting occasion to announce that START negotiations between our country and the Soviet Union will begin on June 29," the president said before placing a wreath of carnations and chrysanthemums before the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Reagan said of America's war dead, "How they must have wished in all the ugliness that war brings that no other generation of young men would have to undergo that same experience."

George Carey, national service officer for the Disabled American Veterans, noted more than 1 1/4 million Americans have died in the nation's battles.

"And casualty statistics say nothing about a mother grieving over a telegram delivered to her in the middle of the night, or a desperate, distraught father asking God why it had to be his son," Carey told about 60 people gathered in Salt Lake City's Memory Grove.

On Manhattan's West Side, about 50 men wearing veterans' caps marched in an informal parade to the Soldiers and Sailors Monument overlooking the foggy Hudson River. Taps were played and a rifle volley boomed.

Richard E. Monks, commander of the New York County American Legion, told the crowd as a wreath was laid at the monument, "All the world, because of what they gave, is deeply in their debt."

Today is the last day for absentee voting

Last day absentee voting in the Howard County clerk's office for the June 5th Democratic run-off primary has reached 224 ballots cast in the office, according to County Clerk Margaret Ray. Thirty-five ballots have been mailed out with 28 returned, she added.

With the primary set for Saturday, today is the last day to cast ballots for county judge and commissioners, precinct two. Voters will also decide on Democratic candidates for attorney general, commissioner of the general land office, and two criminal appeals judges.

Clements chases goose down creek

DALLAS (AP) — One of Gov. Bill Clements' rare swans was on the loose again Monday and Clements, a state trooper at his side, was in the water furiously paddling a canoe after the stray bird.

The governor, his two grandchildren and a Department of Public Safety officer chased the pet Australian swan down a North Dallas creek near the Clements' home for 15 minutes before the bird waddled onto the bank, said the officer, who declined to be identified.

"Here Clements came around the bend like a commander, yelling orders," said a witness, Norman Grunfeld.

Monday was not the first time one of the governor's swans has gotten in trouble.

Recently one broke its neck going over the same Turtle Creek waterfall that swept the bird away Monday.

In November, a Highland Park man was arrested and accused of trying to strangle one of the swans. The man said he was trying to pull a fishhook from the swan.

The DPS officer who recaptured Clements' swan Monday said he didn't know the bird's name: "I've got my own name for it, but you wouldn't be able to print it," he said.

Civil suit testimonies set

Testimony is expected to be heard today in one of two civil suits in 118th District Court. Jurors for the two cases were being selected this morning.

The case expected to be heard today is the case of Flora Madrid versus the Quality Transport Company. The suit alleges the company was negligent Feb. 21, 1981 in a collision between vehicles driven by the plaintiff and a company employee. The plaintiffs are seeking damages for injuries suffered in the collision.

Wayne Burns is representing Flora Madrid while the transport company's attorneys are John Gunter and Elroy Sinnacher.

The second suit involves alleged negligence on the part of a housemoving company. Billy Ray White and his wife are seeking damages from Raymond S. Valencia and his company Ray S. Valencia House Moving. The suit alleges on Feb. of 1979 Valencia's company moved the couple's house from Midland to Big Spring without taking proper care.

The Whites are represented by Jack Thompson, while Wayne Basden is defending Valencia.

Sadler recalled how he and eleven other men started the local post after World War II and borrowed money to buy the old Colorado Hotel, which soon was paid off.

The V.F.W. Post's initial membership soon swelled to more than 200 members and became an active organization.

Pope faces some hostile crowds near end of visit

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — Pope John Paul II made an impassioned plea to Scottish Protestant leaders today for reconciliation of the Christian faiths, a day after he faced the noisiest, most hostile demonstration against his British tour.

Later, on the next to last day of the first papal visit to Britain, he was to travel to Glasgow, Scotland's largest city 38 miles west of Edinburgh, where many of the 815,000 Scottish Catholics were expected to attend an open-air Mass in Bellahouston Park.

Glasgow's police were set for hostile Protestant demonstrations and retaliatory Catholic attacks. Police said they were investigating an overnight fire at a rail station less than a mile from the park. Anti-papal slogans were found painted on the station walls. There were no injuries.

In a separate incident, four children returning from a youth rally for the pope in nearby Murrayfield received minor injuries from broken glass Monday when their bus was stoned in Glasgow, police said.

In Edinburgh, the pope rose early to meet with the Rt.

Rev. John McIntyre, the Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Scotland, and other Protestant leaders at the residence of Cardinal Gordon Gray, the Catholic archbishop of Edinburgh.

John Paul lauded recent Scottish efforts to resolve interfaith differences, adding, "In following this road, we have still to overcome many obstacles occasioned by the sad history of past enmities. We have to resolve important doctrinal issues.

"Yet already, mutual love, our will for unity, can be a sign of hope to a divided world — not least in these days in which peace is so sorely imperiled."

After the morning meeting, McIntyre said John Paul must be given personal credit for the ecumenical progress being made.

"Without him, I don't think the new openness in the ecumenical movement would have occurred," he said.

Protestant extremists have failed to mar the papal tour, but the Rev. Ian Paisley, the bitterly anti-Catholic leader of Northern Ireland's militant Protestants, continued to turn out demonstrators at the pope's stops.

One killed by carbon monoxide in Odessa motel

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — Fire inspectors said they planned to check every motel in this West Texas city after one woman was killed and 13 poisoned by carbon monoxide gas piped into rooms at the Imperial Motel by a faulty water heater.

Two people were in critical condition Monday at the Medical Center Hospital. Bernice Conner, 27, of Midlothian, Texas, was dead at the scene Sunday morning, police said.

Doctors said all the victims were suffering from the same symptoms — headaches, earaches, dizziness and vomiting.

The motel was closed at the request of fire officials until faulty vents on the water heater are repaired, said Odessa Fire Marshal Wayne Coggins.

He said wind blew the poisonous exhaust inside, where it wafted through wiring and plumbing spaces and eventually entered several of the motel rooms.

Coggins said fire inspectors probably would inspect the water heaters in all the motels or go room to room to measure the levels of carbon monoxide.

Nixon sees Reagan defeating Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Nixon says Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is a practical man who will "do what is necessary" to seek the presidency in 1984, whether it be losing weight or changing his ideas.

In any event, the Massachusetts Democrat will lose to President Reagan, who will decide to seek a second term, Nixon said in an interview on the CBS Evening News broadcast Monday night. Further excerpts were scheduled to be aired on the CBS Morning News this week.

Former Vice President Walter F. Mondale doesn't even have a chance of winning the democratic nomination, Nixon says. "No way, he's just a warmed-over Carter."

Nixon predicted the Democrats will nominate Kennedy for president in 1984, but said Reagan would win the contest.

"Kennedy will win the Democratic nomination because it's four years past Chappaquiddick, four years more for that in the background," Nixon said. He was referring to the 1969 accident in which Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, drowned after Kennedy's car crashed into the water at Chappaquiddick, an island adjacent to Martha's Vineyard off the Massachusetts coast.

Before running, Kennedy has "got to lose 20 pounds," Nixon said. "He also has got to enter the 80s, rather than the 60s. He's got to get some new ideas. But he is a very practical fellow, and he will get some new ideas. He'll do what is necessary."

But Nixon said Reagan will seek and win re-election.

Nixon said Reagan is "much smarter than most of his critics have given him credit for. Let's look at how they thought about him. Remember, when he started to run he was 'too old.' Well, he's demonstrated that age doesn't seem to bother him. He's a very vigorous person in terms of what he's been able to do.

By The Associated Press Pleasant weather was in store for most of Texas today after an unusual cold front moved across all but the Lower Rio Grande Valley...

There was a chance of some scattered thunderstorms in the Panhandle late today and the possibility of some showers or light rain in extreme South Texas to blot an otherwise beautiful day across the entire state.

Highs were to be in the 80s except in the Valley where readings were to be in the lower 90s.

Lows tonight will be mostly in the 60s, ranging from the 50s in the Panhandle and the mountains of Southwest Texas to the 70s in South Texas.

Clear to partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures were reported around the state early today.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the 40s in the Panhandle to the 50s in North Texas and the 60s in South Central Texas up to the 70s in extreme South Texas.

Severe weather ripped through the Ohio Valley early today, with thunderstorms, large hail, high winds and heavy rain. Tornadoes were sighted in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee and Virginia.

WEST TEXAS: Scattered mainly afternoon and evening thunderstorms Thursday, otherwise partly cloudy through the latter part of the week.

FORECAST WEST TEXAS - Sunny today and Wednesday and generally partly cloudy tonight. Warmer this afternoon and tonight. Widely scattered thunderstorms Panhandle, east and southern mountains tonight.

Violent weather sets records

By GRAHAM VINK Associated Press Writer

The Memorial Day holiday was a weekend to forget for storm-battered communities in the plains as May's departing volley of tornadoes and thunderstorms killed at least 19 people and routed thousands from their homes.

Some cities in Texas and Oklahoma chalked up their wettest May on record, while residents of Marion, Ill., prepared to bury some of their dead today after a tornado killed 10 people Saturday, injured at least 100 and left 1,000 homeless.

Thunderstorms packing hail and rain spread from northern Texas to as far north as Ohio on Monday and as far south as Florida, leaving water 2 feet deep in some communities.

To the west, cities in Wyoming, Montana and South Dakota shivered in record low temperatures. Snow fell in the Colorado mountains while residents of some Montana communities dug out from 15 inches of snow.

Hail the size of baseballs pounded parts of Oklahoma, and some rivers reached flood stage in Missouri and Kansas.

Meanwhile, the National Weather Service's six-month official Atlantic hurricane season began today.

The first storm of the season will be named Alberto.

Illinois Gov. James R. Thompson estimated damage from the Marion tornado at $100 million and asked President Reagan to declare Williamson County a major disaster area.

"Everybody's just terrified," said Marion resident Jeanette Griffin as heavy rain and black skies coupled with another tornado watch Monday to renew fears.

"It looks like somebody dropped a bomb," said Frank Olkoski of nearby Herrin.

Severe thunderstorms Monday spawned three more tornadoes in Illinois, including a twister in Crawford County that smashed a barn, tore awnings from mobile homes and peeled off a furniture store roof, police said.

Lightning struck several petroleum sludge tanks at an oil well near Ashley in Washington County, exploding an empty one and igniting a brief fire in a full tank, authorities said.

Carter doesn't feel 'abandoned or forlorn'

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) - Jimmy Carter says he doesn't feel "abandoned or forlorn" since losing the 1980 presidential election to Ronald Reagan, even though he's never consulted by Reagan's administration.

Carter, making a public appearance Monday before the American Booksellers Association to publicize his memoirs, also said he knew his administration was doomed when Iran failed to release the 52 American hostages before the election.

He said the Reagan administration hasn't consulted him since he left office, but added, "I do not feel abandoned or forlorn. I do feel that former presidents have a valuable store of experience and acquaintance with world leaders...I consulted with President Ford frequently."

Speaking to reporters after a breakfast address to 1,700 people at the convention, Carter discussed the high and low points of his years in the White House, saying the November 1979 capture of the hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran began "the worst year of my life."

Discussing the Camp David talks in September 1978 that led to a peace treaty between Egypt and Israel, Carter said he feared at the time that Egyptian leader Anwar Sadat was "in physical danger" from a member of Sadat's own delegation. Carter said he tightened the guard around Sadat's cabin without telling the Egyptian president, then thought he might have been foolish until Sadat was assassinated in October 1981.

Carter said the Camp David talks, where he found Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin to be "absolutely incompatible," would be included in his book, "Keeping Faith: Memoirs of a President." The book is to be published Nov. 2 by Bantam Books.

The former president, looking relaxed and trim in a dark business suit, said he was torn by conflicting advice on ways to free the hostages in Iran, ranging "all the way from dropping to our knees and returning the Shah (of Iran) to be tortured and killed, to dropping an atomic bomb on Tehran."

Carter said the most difficult moment of his term "was the time I got word that the rescue mission to Iran had to be aborted...and that an unknown number in a rescue team had been killed."

He said he had a "disturbing feeling of impotency" because he could not free the hostages immediately, but said that if he had taken military action, "I think the hostages would be dead today."

King Ranch heir taking family to court

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - The great-grandson of King Ranch founder Richard King has taken his family to federal court here, claiming he was short-changed millions of dollars when he sold his 12 percent share of the sprawling spread six years ago.

Belton K. Johnson filed suit three years ago against King Ranch Inc. for what he contends is an underpayment of up to $35 million when it bought his interest in the ranch for $70 million.

In opening statements Monday, Johnson's attorneys told U.S. District Judge William S. Sessions that King Ranch Inc. agreed to buy Johnson's share after learning of a potential $500 million claim against Exxon for alleged underpayment of gas royalties.

King Ranch executives contend that no valid claim against Exxon for underpayment of royalties existed when Johnson sold his stock in 1976.

Lawyers for King Ranch Inc. described Johnson as "an aggressive seller" who threatened litigation or a sellout to foreign investors unless ranch executives redeemed his stock quickly.

Fighting among King Ranch family members has been common since the death of Mrs. Richard "Henrietta" King in 1925 when the South Texas ranching empire was divided among King's heirs for the first time.

But Johnson's suit may mark the first time the private interplay of the South Texas ranch will be made public.

Johnson seeks an unspecified amount of damages under the Securities Exchange Act and contends that King Ranch Inc. was required under the law to disclose the royalties information prior to the stock purchase.

The suit concerns what Johnson called the "Exxon claim," where Exxon Co. U.S.A., then Humble Oil and Refining Co., was to pay royalties on market value at the wellhead for gas produced on the King Ranch.

According to Johnson's suit, royalty payments were not calculated on that value from Jan. 1, 1973, until Johnson sold his stock on Dec. 13, 1976.

Before the purchase, King Ranch executives had discovered it had a $100 million to $500 million claim against Exxon for underpayment on the gas. Insiders said the figure was close to $300 million.

King Ranch officers, who were negotiating the acquisition of Johnson's stock, knew of the claim and did not tell Johnson before buying his stock, the suit said.

"If the ranch's royalty claim against Exxon had been disclosed to Johnson, it would have affected his judgment as to the purchase price he would have been willing to take for his stock," according to a pretrial brief filed by Johnson's attorneys on April 19.

The brief also noted that after the purchase of Johnson's stock, Exxon settled the claim by "substantially increasing the ranch's royalty - an increase worth hundreds of millions of dollars to the ranch."

In a pretrial brief filed by its attorneys on April 22, the King Ranch acknowledged the Exxon claim.

According to the brief, King Ranch's dissatisfaction with Exxon began in the early 1960s when ranch executives believed they were being underpaid for royalties.

Bomb explosions protest Reagan visit

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) - Bombs ripped through three U.S. Army officers' clubs and the headquarters of a U.S. Army corps before dawn today in what a leftist terrorist group claimed was a "prelude" to President Reagan's visit next week.

No casualties were reported in the blasts.

In a letter to the West German news agency DPA, the Revolutionary Cells claimed responsibility for the bombings, saying "we will not wait until Reagan comes."

"As a prelude to a hopefully loud, eventful and unforgettable reception, we attacked some of the nests of the U.S. military" in West Germany.

The Revolutionary Cells are an offshoot of the Red Army Faction, or Baader-Meinhof gang, responsible for terror attacks against U.S. and West German installations for more than a decade.

Recently, West German officials were quoted as saying the Revolutionary Cells now constituted more of a threat than the Red Army Faction, many of whose leaders had been jailed or slain by police.

A U.S. Army spokesman said the blasts occurred at clubs in Bamberg, Gelnhausen, and Hanau and at the V Corps headquarters in Frankfurt.

German and American officials placed damage overall at more than $130,000, most of it in the Frankfurt blast. Col. James Walton, corps spokesman, said the explosion "totally destroyed" a large central air conditioner and blew out several windows.

Road checks net over 250 traffic tickets

SURFSIDE, Texas (AP) - Authorities in three coastal communities say they issued more than 250 traffic tickets at five checkpoints set up to keep drunken drivers off the road this holiday weekend.

Officials reported only two arrests for drunken driving following their final Sunday night road check. Surfside Marshal Phil Pesses said late Monday that only 10 people had been arrested for public intoxication during the Memorial Day weekend.

Angleton, Richwood Village and Clute police departments worked together to set up road checks along Texas Highway 288. Nearly 100 people have been arrested the past two weekends, police said.

Save energy with high-efficiency a/c and get a bonus from Texas Electric Form for Texas Electric Service Company showing a payment of $240.00 for a 3-ton central electric air conditioner.

The amount shown is for a 3-ton central electric air conditioner with an SEER of 8.5.

If you replace your central electric air conditioner with one that's more efficient, Texas Electric will pay you a bonus of $80 per ton.

Not only that, you'll save on your electric bill as well. For example, a high-efficiency 3-ton unit will save you about $180 a year.

This equipment costs more initially, but the bonus from Texas Electric plus the savings on your electric bill will make up the difference in just a few years.

If enough people buy high-efficiency equipment, summer peak load growth will be slowed - and so will the need to build new generating plants. In the long run, this will help hold down everyone's electric bill.

Before you replace your old air conditioner, ask your dealer about central air conditioners, heat pumps, and window units that qualify for this program.

How to handle nuclear wastes

With the passage of a bill sponsored by Sen. James McClure of Idaho, Congress has started to move on the question of nuclear waste disposal. About time.

Contrary to what we are usually told about this subject, it is now clear that the hang-up on disposing of nuclear wastes has been political, not technical. As noted in a report from the non-partisan Office of Technology Assessment, the health and safety aspects of solidifying and burying these wastes have been solved.

"Three decades of extensive study," says the report, "have revealed no insurmountable obstacles to the development of mined geologic repositories, provided suitable sites are found." There is growing agreement, OTA adds, that multiple safeguards in waste burial "can provide safe and effective long-term isolation."

These conclusions confirm those reached by Argonne National Laboratories and numerous experts on the subject. The bugaboo of nuclear waste is a phony. It's time to get on with a disposal program.

The thin man

Well you can take your ice and snow
And let those balmy breezes blow...

It's my favorite time of the year
And I'm glad that it's here.

James Taylor
"Summer's Here"

I like that song, and I am an avid fan of the Beach Boys, but I have to confess that summer is not my favorite time of the year. Not a bit. It has nothing to do directly with the heat, or the season's sports or swimming at the pool or beach. My problem is a direct offshoot of those signs of the season.

You see, James Taylor, and the Beach Boys and all the others who sing so sweetly of the glories of sand and sweat are mostly muscular and meaty. I'm skinny. That's my problem.

A lot of skinny people have a very difficult time of it in the summer. While their friends and colleagues walk around with shirts off and beautiful tans, the skinny person will be seen walking around with knobby knees, a lot of very apparent ribs and skin the color of milk of magnesia. Or, if they are insecure like me, they walk around dressed like they're heading to the North Pole. Heavy blue jeans, a T-shirt and a long sleeve shirt. Maybe even a sweater. And that's when it's 100 degrees.

I DON'T always have the best of times at outdoor gatherings. During volleyball or softball games, while all the other guys look like candidates for the lead in "Conan," I feel like a poster child for a world hunger organization.

Of course, I know there are things I could do to change my appearance. Get a deep tan, maybe, or enter a body-building program. But that's where the vicious circle comes in. In order to get a tan you have to lay around a swimming pool a lot. Skinny people don't lay around pools. They're afraid big, strong bullies will come along and kick concrete in their face.

During the summer, skinny people are always reminded of their appearance. It never ceases to amaze me how it is considered rude to tell an overweight person that he is fat, but it is considered funny to call an underweight person "skinny-bones" or "toothpick." I don't know how many times people have come up to me when I've had my shirt off and declared:

"MY GOD!!! You're soooo skinny! We're going to have to staple your animal fat for a month so we can keep all those bones from falling out on the floor!"

How would an overweight person like it if I came up to him or her and said:

"MY GOD!!! You're sooo obese! We're going to have to staple your mouth shut so we can get rid of some of that disgusting flab!"

SKINNY PEOPLE are very sensitive. Everybody thinks it's a big kick to never gain a pound and only lose weight. They don't know what it's like to be unable to keep a shirt tucked in. Or to have to fight to keep your bathing suit on when you dive in the pool. We are always the last ones picked for football games. "Okay Richard, you can be the goalpost." I get told. And everybody has a big laugh.

So if you don't see any skinny people outside playing sports or lounging in the sun, don't think we have become a nation of heavy people. The skinny person is probably inside his house, reading a book or watching baseball on TV. Or worrying about being skinny.

At any rate, have a good summer James Taylor and all you other well-rounded people. I'll see you again after the first freeze.

Who's what?

"Who's on first?"
"No, Watt's on first."
"Who is Watt?"

Watt is the secretary of the Interior. He wants to sell all the mineral rights on federal lands.
"What for?"
"I don't know."
"I thought, 'I Don't Know,'" was on second."

"Watt's on second, too. He's touching all the bases."
"How can Watt be on first and second?"
"Because he is playing both ends against the middle."

"What for?"
"Because Watt doesn't believe you should support large tracts of wilderness which don't produce one nickel for the government."
"If Watt is on first and second, Who is on third?"
"Watt is on third."
"Why is he on third?"
"Because he thinks there is oil and gas under it. He's just leased it to you-know-who."
"I don't know who."

"It doesn't matter who, as long as they pay royalties to Watt."
"If Watt is on first, second and third who is at shortstop?"
"No one is at shortstop because it's being strip-mined for coal."
"Can Watt do that?"
"I don't know."
"If Watt is playing all the bases then Who is on the mound?"
"Who is not on the mound. Watt won't let anybody on the mound because he's the only one who can pitch to the miring interests."
"Let me get this straight. What is on first, Watt is on second, and What is on third and What is also pitching to the coal companies. Then Who is catching?"
"You're wrong again. Watt is catching."
"What is he catching?"
"Hell from the environmentalists, the Sierra Club, the National Audubon Society, and National Wildlife Federation."
"What for?"
"Because he won't play ball with them."
"Who is in the outfield?"

"No, Watt is in the outfield. He's trying to sell it to private developers for resort condominiums."
"How can you have a game if you sell the outfield?"
"Who knows?"
"Isn't there an umpire to call What out when he's off base?"
"Watt says he's the umpire and he calls them as he sees them."
"Why doesn't someone kick dirt in his face?"
"Because the President keeps cheering him on from the side."
"What President?"
"Watt's President."
"I thought Reagan is President."
"He is. Reagan is Watt's President."

"You mean What doesn't have to follow the book as long as Reagan eggs him on?"
"Watt makes up his own rules as he goes along."
"He sounds like a foul ball."
"He's a hit with the people who hate conservationists."
"What's going to happen to all of us if he wins?"
"Exactly."

Diplomatic wires criss-crossed

WASHINGTON — The Falklands crisis has produced some strange criss-crossing of diplomatic wires. Consider this Machiavellian mix-up:

1. — Argentina supports the clandestine U.S. effort to undermine the Sandinista government in Nicaragua.
2. — But the United States is backing Britain in the Falklands dispute.

3. — Yet Nicaragua has come out on the side of Argentina against Britain.
4. — Still, the right-wing Argentine junta is dedicated to the proposition that the Sandinista government is a nest of communists that must be destroyed, by military means if necessary.

The incredible fact is that the Argentine government — for all its new public embrace by Nicaragua — has done nothing to halt or even cut back its anti-Sandinista military plotting.

For the past 18 months, a small but important group of Argentine soldiers has been conspiring and collaborating with anti-Sandinista exiles in the southern province of Honduras. The latest count of Argentine military officers in the Honduras hinterland is 50. That's more, not less, than the number who were operating there before the Falklands eruption.

Nor did the Argentine military advisers slip off to Honduras behind the backs of the ruling junta; the clandestine operation in Central America has the blessing of the junta. Sources told my associates Bob Sherman and Dale Van Atta that the Argentine advisers appear to have settled in for the long haul.

The roots of the Argentine enmity for the Sandinistas run deep. They feed on the bad blood between the military leaders and the leftist guerrillas. Their vendetta has turned Argentina into a land of assassinations and kidnappings and fear in the night.

INDEED, ONE of the principal reasons for the junta's coup in 1976 was the determination to seek out and destroy the underground Montonero movement and People's Revolutionary Army (ERP). The excesses of this "dirty war" have been well-chronicled: thousands of innocent civilians tortured and killed in the frenzied search for communists and sympathizers.

The bloody campaign largely succeeded. The Montoneros and their ERP allies were either killed or driven into exile; some took refuge in Nicaragua.

One Montonero leader, who was implicated in an assassination plot, subsequently became a Nicaraguan government official at Managua's Sandino Airport. (The assassination attempt, incidentally, missed the high Argentine official who had been marked for death and killed his innocent daughter instead.)

The Argentine military consider the leftist exiles still dangerous. They point to the clandestine radio station the Montoneros set up in Costa Rica in 1979, for example. It beamed anti-junta messages throughout Central America and could be heard in Buenos Aires.

"Finally," explained one source, "the Argentines believe the Montoneros and the ERP will be coming back to Argentina some day — this time with logistical support from the Cubans and the Sandinistas."

Footnote: An Argentine Embassy spokesman flatly denied to my reporter Jon Lee Anderson that Argentine mercenaries are operating in Central America. The Nicaraguan government, meanwhile, has continued to support Argentina in the Falklands dispute — albeit stressing that the support is not for the right-wing junta but for the Argentine people.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: Ambassador Max Kampelman, U.S. delegate to the suspended Madrid talks on the 1975 Helsinki human rights accord, predicts a new headache when the talks resume: Rev. Billy Graham's naive statements about religious freedom in the Soviet Union. Graham's gaffe could be "a gift to the Soviet system and a major blow to the cause of human rights and religious liberty." Kampelman wrote in a memo to his staff, adding: "We will have our hands full in Madrid as the Soviets quote his statements back to us."

— Even with a onetime Hollywood star in charge, the White House bureaucracy isn't swept off its feet by celebrities of the silver screen. When Paul Newman arrived for an appointment at the Old Executive Office Building with other members of the advisory board for the Center of Defense Information, he had to show his identity card like everyone else. "Obviously, everyone knew he was Paul Newman," said a member of the group, "but the guards were just following the rules."

— South Africa and the Soviet Union recently arranged a "spy swap" — a Russian military officer captured by the South Africans in return for eight Western intelligence agents. But no Americans were part of the deal, which caught the State Department by surprise. This angers the lawyer for Gary Acker, an American mercenary recruited by the CIA and arrested in Soviet-supported Angola in 1976. State Department officials are "claiming now they weren't involved," complained the attorney, William Wilson, who added bitterly: "If they weren't involved, they should have been." A spokesman insists that they're still working for Acker's release.

Passing judgment

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I read in the Bible somewhere that Christians are not supposed to judge other people. Does this mean we should never take a stand against wrong ideas that other people have? — C.R.

DEAR C.R.: You are probably thinking of a passage like Matthew 7:1-2: "Do not judge, or you too will be judged. For in the same way you judge others, you will be judged." These words were spoken by Jesus to his disciples during the Sermon on the Mount.

When you look closely at what Jesus was saying in the Sermon on the Mount, you will see that he is warning us against a harsh judgmental spirit which looks down on others. Another way of putting it is to say that Jesus is warning us against pride — the kind of pride that says "I am better than you," and goes on to point out all the faults in another person which make him inferior to you. This is wrong, as Jesus says. One reason it is wrong is because we are all equal in the eyes of God. Each of us has sinned, and none

Letter to FCC shared with Herald

(Editor's note: The following letter to Randy Nichols, cable TV bureau chief of the Federal Communications Commission, was shared with the Herald.)

Dear Mr. Nichols:
Please reconsider the ruling on Channel 8.

The only replacement is a station in a small West Texas town. True, I believe it is a station owned by minorities, but it that a reason that the majority of the area must not have a choice? This replacing station has a good deal of Eastern New Mexico coverage and the population in a radius of 150 miles is mostly cows and coyotes! The wide spread farms and ranches cannot receive any station. Two stations in Midland and Odessa give adequate local coverage to our area.

The replacement station is actually only a transmitter station of ABC, with little originating in West Texas or Texas.

Channel 8, Dallas has a good statewide staff and provides the only real Texas coverage we have in West Texas. The smaller West Texas stations cannot provide extensive coverage because of staffing. Our other choice is Atlanta and I assure you that will pick up considerably, rather than continuing to watch and listen to the ineptness we have witnessed from the present station. The transmitting and studio equipment seems to be in very bad shape and the engineers seem not to be able to give consistently good service.

Yours truly,

Special education program is praised

Dear Editor:
You say you want a quality education for your child, but your child is handicapped. You've got it! You say you want a chance to actively participate in planning your child's education. You've got it! You say he might need additional services to help him reach his fullest potential, such as speech therapy, physical therapy, leisure and recreation therapy, etc. No problems! The answer is the Big Spring School District's Special Education program.

Why is this being brought to the attention of the community? The Texas Education Agency monitoring team did a comprehensive audit of the special education program May 19th and 20th resulting in three commendations of merit. The overall rating was considered exceptional, surpassing all school districts in this area.

The end result of this audit wouldn't have been possible without the hard work of the special education director and support staff, teachers, therapists, instructional aides and clerks. The director of our special education program is Gene Adkins who has guided the program for the past nine years.

If you would like to find out about the child-centered process and services available, please call the special education office at 267-5584.

Dear Abby

Flat-chested woman is tops

DEAR ABBY: In response to "Depressed," who was miserable because she was flat-chested: The woman I love has no more on top than I have, but she's the sexiest girl I have ever known.

A woman's breasts have nothing to do with her sexiness. Would she consider her husband inadequate and unappealing just because he wasn't built like Arnold Schwarzenegger?

I've talked to other men, and you'd be amazed at the number of men who find smaller-breasted women more attractive.

FLATTIES PREFERRED

DEAR FLATTIES: Stay tuned for a letter from a woman who had too much of a good thing:

DEAR ABBY: I hope I've read my last letter from flat-chested women who envy their full-bosomed sisters. Believe me, there's nothing spectacular about having big breasts. I know. The last time I bought separates, the skirt was a size 12 and the blouse was size 18!

In high school I can remember being told to quit "showing off" when I stretched. I started to wear loose-fitting tops to hide my size but gave up because everybody thought I was pregnant.

I suppose I could have breast reduction surgery, but I have finally learned to accept myself as I am. I've discovered that the people who are worth knowing don't judge a woman by the size of her bra.

LIVING WITH IT

DEAR ABBY: Recently at a small wedding ceremony, I exchanged rings and vows with the man I love. We plan to spend the rest of our lives together.

I have been to all my relatives' weddings and have always brought gifts and/or done the flowers. Would it be flaunting my homosexuality if I sent wedding announcements to my 50 relatives? Not all of them know that

Dr. Donohue

Skin bruises not always ominous

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you explain vascular purpura? Is it something to worry about? What causes it? I went to the hospital for tests and every test proved negative. What were they testing for? Even though all my tests were negative, my insurance company canceled my policy because of it. Please explain if this is serious — Mrs. D.B.

Purpura (PER-pur-uh) are bruise like spots on the skin. They can be insignificant or potentially dangerous. Your hospitalization was very likely to eliminate some of the serious causes. I'll list a few for you.

Purpura may be a sign of blood-vessel inflammation. In that situation, the spots are usually raised a bit over the normal skin level. They can also indicate problems with the clotting factors in the blood, and usually with that kind there is bleeding — in the intestinal tract, for example, or elsewhere.

Now, there are harmless kinds of purpura. Vascular purpura, the kind you are told you have, is most common in women. It can result from a slight weakness in the walls of the blood vessels. This permits blood to seep out into the skin, causing the bruised appearance. That is not a harmful condition. And such bruises can occur on the legs of the elderly. This, too, is one of the harmless forms. That is called senile purpura. These forms of purpura look worse than they really are.

I am gay.

BURSTING WITH HAPPINESS

DEAR BURSTING: Send wedding announcements only to those relatives who know you are gay. Those who don't know obviously don't know you well enough to care whether you are "married" or not.

DEAR ABBY: Everywhere I go I'm laughed at because I have two different-colored eyes. One is blue and the other is a brownish-green. It's not terribly noticeable from a distance, but when people get up close to me they notice it and think it's weird.

A friend of mine said she once saw a cat with two different-colored eyes, but never a person. Well, I've never seen another person with this problem.

Please don't tell me I ought to be glad that I have two eyes and can see, I am glad, but I'm only 13 and I hate to think of going through the rest of my life being a freak. Can anything be done to change the color of one of my eyes?

FEELS LIKE A FREAK

DEAR FEELS: Eye doctors who fit patients with contact lenses can prescribe lenses for you that will give your eyes the appearance of having the same color — or close to it. They are not inexpensive, so if your parents can't afford it now, perhaps you can earn and save money and get contacts yourself when you are older.

In the meantime, it's not as weird as you think. In your grandparents' time there was a beautiful Irish movie star named Colleen Moore who had two different-colored eyes, and everything turned out rosy for her!

Polish union says general strike planned

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Solidarity leaders say they're planning a general strike in Warsaw, Wroclaw and the Silesian coal mines because lesser protests have failed to force the martial-law government to "back off from repression."

Fugitive leaders of the suspended union gave no indication of when they might call the strike.

They said in a leaflet that workers in several large Warsaw factories had asked them to organize a general strike. They said they were also planning to extend the strike to Wroclaw, a major industrial center in southwest Poland, and the Silesian coalmines, which produce the country's chief export.

"The forms of protest action which have been used until now have proven insufficient to force the authorities to back off from repression and pursue the concept of national accord," the leaflet said.

Street marches by Solidarity supporters in early May were broken up by the police.

The union leaders said they are demanding freedom for 2,000 Solidarity activists, including union chief Lech Walesa, held since imposition of martial law Dec. 13.

In another gesture of defiance Monday, union members managed to place a plaque undetected in Warsaw's Victory Square commemorating the nine coal miners killed on Dec. 16 by police who broke a sit-in strike protesting martial law.

Red and white ribbons on the plaque carried the message: "To those who gave their lives for freedom and independence of work."

The plaque was placed at the foot of a large cross of flowers and evergreens on the site of Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński's funeral bier a year ago Monday. Wyszyński, the leader of the Polish Catholic Church for more than 30 years, tried without success to mediate between Solidarity and the Communist government.

The government denied a report that Walesa would be freed soon from internment. A spokesman for the government press office said he would be freed only "if the normalization process is going on."

Deputy Premier Jerzy Ozdowski had said in an interview Sunday with the U.S. Cable News Network that Walesa could return to a "normal life" soon. Ozdowski could not be reached for comment, but a spokesman for him said his remarks were taken out of context.

The network said it had broadcast the entire interview.

Texas returns to Omaha...

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Eastern Michigan coach Ron Oestrike was somewhat philosophical about his team's lopsided loss to the University of Texas in the championship game of the NCAA Central Regional baseball tournament.

"We took a gamble and it didn't work," he said. Texas put the game away Monday with an explosive seven-run second inning. Oestrike subbed out starter Ken Spratke in the middle of the early rally and ended up using four pitchers in all.

It didn't work. The Hurons lost 9-1. "I guess it was a poor decision on the starter," Oestrike said. "Pitching was the factor in the game. We had two bad innings and they capitalized on our mistakes."

Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson agreed the game hinged on pitching. "The key to the whole tournament was our pitching. They were outstanding. It's really encouraging to see that kind of pitching," he said.

Calvin Shiraldi picked up the win for Texas, and Mike Konderla relieved him in the seventh.

The Longhorns advanced to their 21st NCAA World Series in Omaha, Neb., and Saturday will face Oklahoma State, winner of the NCAA Midwest Regional.

"Oklahoma State will be a tough opponent," Gustafson said. "They have some people back from last year's team and they were tough. But I think with our pitching, we should be representative."

Texas opened the scoring with Randy Day's RBI double in the first inning. Mike Trent started the second inning with a walk, one of five for the inning, and then scored on Jeff Hearron's single to left field.

The Hurons' Tim Addis relieved Spratke then but, one walk later, Milo Choate knocked in three runs with a stand-up triple. Mike Brumley socked a three-run homer and Mark Reynolds rounded out the inning's scoring with an RBI sacrifice fly.

Brad Edick brought in the final Texas run when he delivered a bases-loaded walk to Hearron in the eighth inning.

The Hurons' lone run came in the sixth inning on Jim Riggs' sacrifice fly that scored Greg Howe.

Eastern Michigan lost to Texas 7-2 Sunday night in a third-round winners' bracket game, and then took a 30-minute break before returning to the field for an elimination game against Oklahoma. The Hurons qualified for the second game with Texas by beating the Sooners 9-2.

...but Arizona St. is missing

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Five teams from last year's College World Series are back, but defending champion Arizona State will be on the sidelines when play begins Friday for the 1982 NCAA baseball title.

Wichita State and Texas Monday night won their regionals to complete the eight-team field for the two-week, double-elimination tournament.

Earlier in the weekend, Maine, Miami, Cal State-Fullerton, Oklahoma State, South Carolina and Stanford each won regionals to advance to the national series.

The big shock came Sunday when Cal State-Fullerton, ranked No. 3 by Collegiate Baseball, upset No. 2 ranked Arizona State to win the West II Regional in Tempe, Ariz.

Coaches say that development makes the tournament a wide open event, but many are eyeing Oklahoma State, the team that finished second to the Sun Devils last year.

The Cowboys, who beat Oral Roberts to win the Midwest Regional, will face Texas, one of the five teams from last year's Series, at 5:10 p.m. CST Saturday. The Longhorns swept the Central Regional in Austin Monday, beating Eastern Michigan 9-1 in the finals.

The late game Saturday, pits repeater South Carolina against Stanford at 8:10 p.m. CST.

Wichita State won the South Regional Monday, beating host New Orleans 8-1, the only run they allowed in the regional. The Shockers will face Cal-State Fullerton Friday at 8:10 p.m. CST. In Friday's early game, repeaters Maine and Miami will meet.

back Christian added single runs in the fifth and eighth innings to hold an 8-4 edge going into the bottom of the eighth.

Mark Schenazi had a two-run homer and John Catlett singled home a run to cut the margin to 8-7. Pitcher Duane Cresse retired the side to set the stage for Schlesinger's game-winning homer in the ninth.

A two-run single by Rick Wells highlighted a five-run first inning as Liberty Baptist of Virginia held on to edge St. Xavier of Illinois, 7-5.

Steve Younts hit four of Liberty Baptist's nine hits and drove in two runs with a six-inning triple. Doug Smith ran his record to 9-8, allowing nine hits and fanning four before being relieved by David Schaver in the seventh.

Tim Newsome of St. Xavier had three hits and Carl Ferraro and Brian Atchison had two each.

A two-run homer by Frank Talotta sparked a three-run rally in the bottom of the eighth as Coastal Carolina edged Birmingham Southern, 5-4.

Coastal Carolina of South Carolina overcame a 4-2 Birmingham Southern lead, after the Alabama school scored three runs in the fourth inning to open the game's scoring.

The South Carolina team scored two runs in the sixth inning and Birmingham added another run in the eighth. Birmingham had four double plays in the first five innings.

College of Baltimore 7-6 in losers' bracket action.

McLennan, of Waco, Texas, now faces Triton College in a 3 p.m. matchup today. Both teams have lost one game in the double-elimination tournament.

Mesa is the only other team that has not been eliminated.

Monday night, Middle Georgia found itself locked in a 5-5 tie with McLennan in the ninth inning. Ricky Wiggins' two-run double proved to be the game-winner in an inning in which Middle Georgia sent 15 men to the plate and drew five walks from three McLennan pitchers.

McLennan had jumped to a 5-0 lead with two runs in the second inning and a three-run homer in the third by Kenny Grace.

Middle Georgia starter Jerry Slagle steadied down after that and threw four consecutive innings of hitless ball.

Meanwhile, his Warrior teammates scored four runs in the fifth inning with a two-run homer by Kal Daniels and RBI singles by Wiggins and Scott Powers. In the sixth inning, designated hitter Alex Diaz hit a solo homer to tie the game.

PLAY AT THE PLATE — Oscar Samaripa of Ricardo's of San Angelo is safe at home, beating the tag of Santa Fe catcher Victor Ramos. Santa Fe, however, bounced back for a 16-6 win in the championship game to capture the First Annual Chicano Softball Tournament title Sunday afternoon. Quiksilver of Big Spring was third and Britt Trucking of Lamesa fourth. Named to the all-tournament team were Herman Martinez (Britt); Kenny Bearden and Chief Jackson (Quiksilver); Johnny Perez and Gonzalo Gonzales (Ricardo's); and Porky Guiterrez, Emmett Sanchez, Manny Fernandez and Ricky Pena (Santa Fe). Tourney MVP was Mario Sanchez of Santa Fe with teammate Jerry Esqueda taking home the Golden Glove Award.

Is Laker bubble burst?

NBA Championship

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers have proven they can beat the Los Angeles Lakers. The question now is whether they can beat them three more times. The 76ers, having ended Los Angeles' record playoff winning string at nine with a convincing 110-94 victory Sunday in Philadelphia, try to take a 2-1 edge when the best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship playoffs resume tonight at the Lakers' Forum.

"We'll be back with a good attitude," said Lakers guard Norm Nixon, who had just six points in the loss after averaging 22 during post-season play. "The loss didn't do anything to us except make us hungrier. We've got to concentrate better, prevent them from controlling the boards."

Philadelphia's Julius Erving, overpowering in Game 2, knows the Lakers can be beaten, but are very dangerous.

"Since we taught ourselves how to beat the Lakers, they're just another team now, but they can still be awesome," said Erving, who scored 24 points and had 14 rebounds in the back quickly to cut off the Lakers' fast break. They out-rebounded Los Angeles 52-39 and the Lakers were successful on less than half their fast breaks.

"People say you can't both crash the boards and get back quickly on defense," said Riley. "But they can. They're the quickest team in the league."

Riley said he was pleased that the Lakers took the homecourt advantage away from the 76ers — three of the five remaining games would be at the Forum if the series goes the distance.

"I'm not happy with the loss, but I'm happy with the split," Riley said of the opening two games in Philadelphia. "We'll have a lot of support at the packed Forum."

The fourth game of the playoffs is scheduled Thursday night at the Forum and Game 5 is Sunday in Philadelphia. If necessary, the sixth game will be June 8 in Los Angeles and the seventh on June 10 in Philadelphia.

LCC falls in NAIA opener

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Azusa-Pacific had to use some ninth inning heroics to beat host Lubbock Christian, 9-8, and advance to the second round of the 26th annual NAIA World Series baseball tournament.

Mark Schlesinger slugged a two-run homer with one out in the bottom of the ninth to cap off a furious Azusa-Pacific comeback victory after falling behind 6-0 in the first inning.

In other games Monday, Liberty Baptist of Virginia beat St. Xavier of Illinois, 7-5; Lewis and Clark State of Idaho downed Southeastern Oklahoma, 2-0 and Coastal Carolina edged Birmingham Southern, 5-4.

Azusa-Pacific faces Grand Canyon State in a second round winner's bracket game today.

Second round competition opened at 1 p.m. today with a loser's bracket game between St. Xavier of Illinois and Lubbock Christian. Games to follow that featured a loser's bracket between Southeastern Oklahoma and Birmingham Southern. Winner's bracket games matched Lewis & Clark against Bemidji and the finale between Azusa-Pacific and Grand Canyon.

Lubbock Christian jumped off to a 6-0 lead in the first inning with three singles, a double, two walks and two errors by the Cougars.

The California team bounced back to cut the margin to 6-4 in the fourth inning on a four-run outburst highlighted by a three-run homer by Jon Larson. Lub-

Juco unbeatens to meet

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Seminole Junior College Coach Lloyd Simmons believes Stocker Stadium, site of the National Junior College Baseball World Series, favors hitters because the wind blows at their backs.

Given Middle Georgia's 10-run, ninth-inning blast that defeated McLennan Community College 15-5 Monday night, Simmons' batters may need all the wind they can get when they face the Warriors at 8 p.m. today in a showdown between two top-ranked teams. Neither team has lost a game yet in the tournament here.

Simmons hopes his pitchers can contain the Georgians, but he says the pressure is great in Stocker Stadium, where about 7,000 fans turned out to watch Monday night's Middle Georgia game. Most junior college pitchers are accustomed to playing before sparse crowds of friends and boosters.

"Pitchers are awed by the crowd," he said.

Before Middle Georgia's winners' bracket matchup with McLennan, Mesa Community College of Arizona defeated Umpqua Community College of Roseburg, Ore., 8-4, and Triton College of Illinois beat Community

Sunday's victory eases Johncock's memory

By STEVE HERMAN
AP Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — When Gordon Johncock stepped to the podium to accept the largest paycheck of his racing career, the Indianapolis 500 victory dinner became his ultimate celebration, a joyful release from the uneasiness that had haunted him for nine years.

Of the record $2.07 million purse, Johncock earned more than $290,000 for the Patrick Racing Team with Sunday's blink-of-an-eye victory over Rick Mears. But it was the tribute from his racing peers and more than 1,000 people at Monday night's annual awards dinner that at last marked his redemption.

"This victory has meant more to me than anything in my life," said the 45-year-old Johncock, a steady racing veteran whose first Indy 500 victory in 1973 will forever be tainted by the nightmarish circumstances that took three days to unfold.

The 1973 race, like this year's, was halted before it even began when Salt Walther crashed on the main straightaway, seriously injuring himself, sending nine spectators to the hospital and damaging 11 other race cars. Twenty minutes later, rain ended any chance of a restart.

The next day also was washed out by rain. The race was finally started on the third day, but pit crewman Armando Teran and driver Swede Savage were fatally injured in separate incidents. Rain, almost mercifully, ended the long ordeal after 332 miles.

There was no banquet for Johncock, no celebration, no sense of triumph. He took his paycheck and went home.

"The 1973 victory was one of all of us would like to have forgotten, the way it happened," said the man who just by chance was the leader when the rain came. "But this (1982) race was very special to me. It was a good, competitive race, and hopefully we can have many more like it. I know I will never forget May 30, 1982."

The only blemish on Sunday's race was at the beginning, when the cars of Mario Andretti, Kevin Cogan, Roger Mears and Dale Whittington were eliminated in two separate crashes just before the green starting flag dropped.

Once the remaining cars were lined up and the race was started, it developed into the closest and, probably, the most exciting finish in Indy history. Johncock took the lead with 40 laps to go, then held off the charging Mears on the final circuit of the 2 1/2-mile track and beat him by 16-hundredths of a second.

"It was an uncomfortable drive for me until my car got working," Johncock said of the three-hour grind. "It was fun there for a while. From the 155th to 190th lap, when the car was working real well and I could run 197 or 198 mph."

But then the car began having problems and Mears pulled closer with every lap. With eight laps to go, Johncock's lead was 8.5 seconds; with six laps remaining, it was six seconds. With three laps to go, the lead was 1.8 seconds; they were running almost even after 199 of the 200 laps.

"I really didn't know where he was," Johncock said. "I couldn't see him in my mirror. I didn't know if he was behind me or to the side of me."

As the cars moved into the first turn on the final lap, Johncock pulled in front ever so slightly. Mears stayed right on Johncock's tail through the backstretch and the final two turns as more than 350,000 spectators, standing and screaming, watched the thrilling duel.

Johncock's average speed for 500 miles was 162.029 mph; Mears averaged 162.028. And Johncock, too, appreciated Mears' stirring challenge.

"I want to congratulate Rick for one terrific race," he said. "I don't think there's any other driver I'd rather run side-by-side or nose-to-tail with than Rick."

Mears, although the loser in what turned out to be the world's richest drag race, was equally impressed with the great finish.

"I'd like to congratulate Gordy," he told the large crowd at the Indianapolis Convention Center. "If you had seen the last lap from my seat, then you'd have even more praise for him than you do now."

Johncock has never gained the wide recognition that has gone, say, to A.J. Foyt, or the Unser brothers, or Andretti, or Johnny Rutherford, or even the much younger Mears. But Johncock boasts some impressive racing credentials, too. In his 18 Indy starts, he has wound up among the top nine finishers 10 times, a percentage not even Foyt, a four-time winner, can match.

Monday night's prize was about $230,000 more than he won a year ago, and some $54,000 more than he earned for his 1973 victory. This year's total, of which Johncock will keep a predetermined percentage and the remainder to Patrick Racing Team, included more than $187,000 from the Speedway, $14,250 for leading 57 laps in the race and more than $88,000 in accessory prizes from race sponsors and advertisers.

The total purse marked the first $2 million prize package in auto racing history, although the winner's share was some $28,000 below the record $318,819 awarded to Rutherford in 1960.

Johncock also received a Chevrolet Camaro, a replica of the pace car in Sunday's race, and the champion's ring, presented by Rutherford.

Mears, who earned $270,000 for the Penske team by winning the race three years ago, accepted a check for $215,850 for second place. Included in that total was $5,000 for having the fastest lap in the race, 200.535 mph on the 122nd lap. That also was the fastest lap ever run in competition at the Speedway.

Third place paid $103,550 to Pancho Carter; Tom Sneva earned $88,309 for fourth; Al Unser received $60,326 for fifth; and Don Whittington won $56,159 for sixth. Jim Hickman, who received $5,000 as Rookie of the Year, totaled $59,209 for seventh.

Rangers bid falls short

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles improved their atrocious record in one-run games the hard way. Withstanding a four-run Texas rally in the ninth inning, on homers by Leon Roberts and Larry Parrish, the Orioles held on for an 8-7 victory over the Rangers Monday night.

That gave the Orioles a 3-9 mark in one-run decisions, a mark which has disturbed Earl Weaver, the statistically-minded manager. But he found no fault with the squeaker. "It's beautiful any time you can walk with enough runs to put one in the win column," Weaver said.

The Orioles have long been noted for winning a majority of one-run games, including 21-7 last season. But, as Weaver noted, "We've been letting too many get away."

Baltimore went ahead 5-3 in the sixth on rookie Cal Ripken's disputed steal of home and Al Bumbry's RBI single, and made it 8-3 in the eighth when Ken Singleton's two-run homer capped a three-run rally.

But Texas had five hits in the ninth off Dennis Martinez, 5-4, and Tim Stoddard, before Tippy Martinez retired the last two batters and notched his fourth save.

Dave Hostetter, who had an RBI triple in the second, opened the ninth with a double and pinch hitter Bill Stein singled. That finished Dennis Martinez, whose 7-year-old daughter Erica was struck by a car earlier in the day.

Roberts hit the first pitch from Stoddard for a three-run homer and Parrish connected out later.

Buddy Bell singled after just missing another homer, before Tippy Martinez came in to retire Randy Bass, who homered in the second, and John Grubb. Billy Sample also homered for Texas in the third, his third in two games.

Ripken rapped an RBI double in the Baltimore second off Jon Matlack, 1-3, and scored on Rick Dempsey's single to tie the score 2-2. Dempsey's bases-loaded sacrifice fly forged a 3-3 tie in the fourth.

In the sixth, Ripken singled and took third on a single by Lenn Sakata. Ripken then scored on a double steal, getting a good jump before Matlack stepped off the rubber when Sakata broke from first.

"If Matlack hadn't delayed when he saw Lenny run," Ripken said, "I would have been dead out."

Texas catcher Jim Sundberg thought Ripken was out, anyway, despite the ruling by umpire John Shulock.

"The umpire said I got him on the knee," Sundberg said, "but I know I tagged him before he got to the plate."

American League

Royals 11, White Sox 4

Two years ago, the big story in Kansas City was George Brett's run at a .400 batting average. The question this season is whether the Royals as a team can hit .300. "When you look at our lineup, we have good hitters one through nine," Manager Dick Howser said Monday night after the Royals pounded out 18 hits, including three doubles and two triples, in thrashing the Chicago White Sox 11-4. "There is really no easy out in the lineup."

The barrage lifted the Royals' team batting average to .294, tops in the major leagues. They also lead the American League with 96 doubles and 23 triples.

Tigers 3, Angels 1

Lou Whitaker's two-out single with the bases loaded in the ninth inning drove in the tying runs and pinch hitter Jerry Turner singled in the winning run as Detroit scored three times to beat California. California reliever Doug Corbett retired the first two batters in the ninth before singles by Richie Hebner and Larry Herndon and a walk to Lance Parrish loaded the bases for Whitaker.

Blue Jays 5, Yankees 4

Rance Mulliniks drove in three runs with a pair of doubles as Toronto snapped the Yankees' three-game winning streak and stretched its only string of victories to three. Mulliniks gave the Blue Jays the lead for good at 2-1 in the third inning when he doubled off Roger Erickson to score Alfredo Griffin and Damaso Garcia, who had singled.

Mariners 5, Brewers 4

Rookie Paul Serna's second homer of the game, a two-run shot with one out in the bottom of the 11th, gave Seattle its eighth victory in the last nine games.

Indians 9, Twins 4

Von Hayes drove in five runs with a homer, double and a bases-loaded walk and Andre Thornton also homered to spark Cleveland to its eighth consecutive victory and saddle the Twins with their 12th straight loss. Minnesota's losing streak matches this season's major league high established by the Texas Rangers and is one short of the all-time Minnesota record of 13 set in 1961.

Red Sox 5, A's 2

Rick Miller hit a two-out grand slam home run in the fourth inning after Oakland botched a double play. Miller hit his third career grand slam off Bo McLaughlin to erase a 1-0 Oakland lead.

Lea whiffs Astros, 10-0

Charlie Lea says he's in the groove now. And the Houston Astros have to believe it.

The Montreal right-hander shut out the Astros for the second time in five days Monday night, 10-0 with a four-hitter, and has now pitched 26 straight scoreless innings. "I have confidence on everything I throw," said Lea, who continues to rebound from arm problems. "I'm in the groove right now."

After a slow start, Lea had a 3-2 record and posted a 1.43 earned run average for 44 innings in May.

Lea hasn't been the only success story of late in Montreal. In addition to Lea's pitching, Tim Wallach has been providing the key hitting for the Expos. Monday night, he belted a pair of two-run homers.

Lea, 4-2, had retired 26 straight batters entering the game, but the Astros, whom he beat 4-0 last Wednesday, snapped the string when Terry Pugh singled leading off the game.

The Expos unleashed a 15-hit attack, pounding Houston starter Don Sutton, 7-2, for five runs in the first inning that proved more than enough for Lea.

Cardinals 11, Giants 6

Ozzie Smith, Willie McGee and Tito Landrum drove in two runs apiece to highlight a 10-run fourth inning and send St. Louis over San Francisco.

Smith's double sent St. Louis ahead during the rally which wiped out a 3-1 San Francisco lead as part of the major leagues' biggest inning of the year.

The Giants wasted a 15-hit attack off Cardinals' starter Steve Mura and relievers John Martin and Jim Kaat. Martin, 4-4, picked up the victory after pitching the fifth through the seventh.

Padres 9, Cubs 7

Ruppert Jones and Sixto Lezcano hit home runs, Tim Flannery drove in three runs and pitcher Chris Welsh knocked in a pair to lead San Diego over Chicago.

Clerc gains French semifinals

U.S. TENNISWOMAN CHRIS EVERT LLOYD QUALIFIED FOR SEMI-FINALS — U.S. tenniswoman Chris Evert Lloyd in action during her quarter-finals match against Rumanian tenniswoman Lucia Romanov Monday for the French Open tennis tournament at Paris' Roland Garros stadium. Chris Evert Lloyd won within two sets, 6-2 and 6-4.

PARIS (AP) — Jose-Luis Clerc of Argentina became the first man to qualify for the semifinals of the $917,000 French Open tennis tournament today when he posted a workman-like 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 victory over Australian Peter McNamara.

"I was really surprised that I won so easily," the No. 4 seed Clerc said after the two-hour, quarter-final match on the clay courts of Roland Garros Stadium.

Among the women, No. 2 seed Martina Navratilova reached the semifinals by defeating fellow American Zina Garrison 6-3, 6-2.

The 23-year-old Clerc, ranked sixth worldwide, was leading in the final set before the 26-year-old McNamara, ranked 12th, held his service to love in the seventh game.

But the Argentine had a winning serve followed by an ace in the eighth game and took the set and the match on his first match point when McNamara rushed the net and failed to get the ball over.

"There was nothing I could do," the No. 7 seed Australian said after his loss. "Clerc was playing too well. He hasn't been playing well until today. It's a good time to start playing well."

It was Clerc's sixth victory over McNamara in eight career encounters.

In later, quarter-final matches Tuesday, No. 3 seed Tracy Austin, making her first appearance at the French Open, met defending champion Hana Mandlikova, the No. 5 seed from Czechoslovakia. The winner of that match will meet Navratilova in the semifinals.

Clerc will play his semifinal match against the winner of today's contest between No. 5 seed Vitas Gerulaitis and Mats Wilander, a 17-year-old Swede who has become the sensation of the two-week tournament.

Wilander still had everyone talking of his upset of second-seeded Ivan Lendl.

That five-set shocker Sunday, the biggest surprise so far in the two-week clay court tournament, snapped a winning streak that had placed the Czech clay-court specialist in the finals of the last 18 tournaments he has played.

Wilander's style, which is not unlike that of his famed compatriot Bjorn Borg, has drawn compliments from players still in contention for Sunday's $66,000 title match.

"I watched a little of the Wilander-Lendl match and it was like Wilander was on No-Doz or something," No. 2 seed Jimmy Connors said Monday after he advanced into the quarterfinals with a 6-1, 6-0, 6-4 victory over fellow American Chip Hooper. "Wilander is a very good player."

Connors, who has yet to reach the finals of any French Open tournament, plays again Wednesday against Spain's Jose Higueras.

In other men's quarterfinal matches at Roland Garros Stadium, Argentine Jose Luis Clerc, the No. 4 seed, met Australian Peter McNamara, seeded seventh.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTEER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, JUNE 2, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A tendency to look on the dark side of life should be replaced now by an awareness that you are able to make progress by keeping your nose to the grindstone. Maintain self-control.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A higher-up up may think you are not handling your duties wisely, so you have to prove that this is not the case.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Finish important work at hand before looking into new outlets. Don't take advice from one who is not qualified to give it.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get facts and figures straight before discussing future with higher-ups. Avoid any arguments with associates. Relax tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you are in a bed mood today and may want to annoy an associate, it is wise to tone down, or you could regret it.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't make any changes where your work is concerned, or you could spoil the plans of co-workers. Control your temper.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) This could be a strange day where work is concerned, so be alert at all times. Show others you can be relied upon.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Give more time at home to a situation that requires a practical solution. The evening is ideal for the social. Show that you have poise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Use courtesy in dealing with others and avoid arguments, or you could get into trouble. Show more devotion to loved ones.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try to spend less and save more for the future, or you could regret it later. Consult business expert for advice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take the treatments that eliminate any flaws you may have and make a better impression on others. Be more cheerful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take care of all those small tasks that have been accumulating and steer clear of the social for now. Be wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Try not to be too critical of associates at this time. New ideas should be accepted so you can advance more quickly in your career.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she may want to take on the problems of others but teach to do so only when the cause is right. Direct the education along investigative lines for best results. A fine sportsman or sportswoman in this chart.

Television western ride off into sunset

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — With the cancellation of "Maverick," the TV western has ridden into the sunset, with little chance to return.

aggressive behavior on children, it seems worse when they watch modern urban warfare and reckless driving scenes.

have a classic quality. They're for people wanting to go back in time. People respond to them, provided you can do them in a sophisticated way.

"Maverick," which is rerun on Tuesday night through the summer, was definitely a western with a contemporary theme; Garner's character, just as in the "Rockford Files," didn't take the world too seriously. To Maverick, life was one big con game.

The public's rejection of the past wasn't the only thing plaguing "Maverick" and the western genre. With mini-cameras taking news reports to the street for live reports and with cop shows like "Hill Street Blues" creating a gritty realism, the western was limited by its own authenticity requirements.

Television

For younger viewers, a western is not a show featuring blond surfers and bathing beauties on the California beaches. It's period-piece programming about the 19th century cop on the beat — the cowboy lawman.

People forget these shows once were the rage of network television. In the 1959-'60 season, there were an incredible 32 westerns on TV. With the demise of NBC's "Maverick," not a single western will be on the three networks' schedules next fall.

chases to hijacked stagecoaches and gunmen on horseback. "We're not fast in the same way that police shows have action," says Meta Rosenberg, executive producer of "Maverick."

"Actually, with all our swindles and cons, we're more like the 'Sting' than a John Wayne western."

But the spenders most attractive to advertisers weren't buying it. They never accepted James Garner returning to "Maverick." It seems that the now generation prefers reality to nostalgia.

NBC's "Maverick" was rated 31st among the shows in 1981-82, but it was 63rd among viewers aged 12-17, 54th among viewers aged 18-24 and 43rd among viewers aged 25-54.

The show was most successful with people who remembered the original "Maverick" 25 years ago, ranking 14th among viewers over 50.

"These things run in cycles," says Ms. Rosenberg. "When I first did 'Ben Casey,' there were a glut of hospital shows. Westerns

Methodist minister says cancer is cured

HOUSTON (AP) — The pastor of the world's largest Methodist church says he is "100 percent cured" of cancer and has no plans to retire early from the post he has held for 21 years.

The Rev. Charles Allen, 69, assured the 12,600-member First United Methodist Church here Sunday that he is cured of the disease and released a pamphlet of sermons he will preach during the next year.

The United Methodist Church has set mandatory retirement at age 70. "I have never looked forward to any year in my life like I look forward to the one beginning next Sunday. I feel that this year, from June 1 to May 31, 1983, is going to be the best year I have lived," he said.

Allen learned during an April 12 examination he had cancer of the lower intestine and underwent surgery at Methodist Hospital. Doctors said he is cured and will not need additional treatment, Allen said.

Police approve KKK march

SEABROOK, Texas (AP) — Authorities have decided to let the Ku Klux Klan parade through this coastal community June 12 to honor Billy Joe Aplin, an American fisherman killed in 1979 by a Vietnamese refugee.

Police Chief Bill Kerber denied a parade permit last week, saying the proposed route passed by Vietnamese businesses and homes and might violate a federal court injunction.

On Monday, Kerber approved the "memorial march" after Klansmen changed the parade route. "It makes no difference to us where we march in Seabrook, just as long as we march in Seabrook," said KKK Imperial Wizard James Stanfield.

Aplin, a Seadrift, Texas, shrimp, was killed Aug. 4, 1979. Sao Van Nguyen, a Vietnamese refugee who said he killed Aplin in self defense, was charged with murder but later acquitted.

The slaying heated up a dispute between Vietnamese and American shrimpers working on the Texas Gulf Coast.

Last year, Klansmen and American fishermen burned boats and crosses and ordered the Vietnamese to leave the area before shrimping season opened.

The refugees went to court and obtained an injunction from U.S. District Judge Gabrielle McDonald ordering the KKK and American fishermen to stop harassing the Vietnamese.

When the shrimping season opened May 15, Klansmen and American fishermen, armed with cameras, started patrolling Galveston Bay.

TIPS FOR ENERGY SAVERS

How to Save Electricity Before It Comes To You

During late afternoon and early evening hours, the load on the nation's electrical systems usually reaches its peak. To meet the heavy demand, electric utilities often must use back-up generating equipment that is not energy efficient.

Try to use energy-intensive appliances such as dishwashers, clothes washers and dryers, and electric ovens in the early morning or late evening hours to help reduce that peak load.

This energy-saving tip is brought to you by the classified advertising department in the interest of energy conservation.

To buy, sell, trade or rent, place your ad in the classified section. CALL 263-7331 Herald Classifieds

Despite talk of economic upturn, small business hurting

NEW YORK (AP) — The strength of private business continues to erode, endangering the survival of many thousands of companies and leaving some of them too weak to rebuild for any economic upturn.

"This isn't deadwood that's being cleaned out," said Prof. William Dunkelberg of Purdue University, an adviser to the National Federation of Independent Business. "We're cutting into the green," he said.

His assessment of the condition of small and medium-size companies follows a sampling of 2,306 firms randomly selected from more than a half million members of the federation, based in San Mateo, Calif.

"The condition of business is very fragile," he said. "If we took a further economic dip in the near future we would lose a lot of firms in a rolling wave of bankruptcies."

Bankruptcies already are running at rates unseen since the Great Depression of the 1930s and, said Dunkelberg, many other companies are simply seeking to survive. They're asking, "What must I do to be in business a month from now?" he said, contending that very few concerns have the financial strength to make any plans beyond that time.

Senate trapped by rules

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., posed a simple question to his Senate colleagues: "What are we doing here?"

The U.S. Senate was once again trapped in its own web of intricate rules and parliamentary procedures.

It was working into the evening on a housing bill, with the key vote scheduled for one minute past midnight.

That time was picked because the operative Senate rule required a day's wait before the measure at issue could be put to a vote.

But by 9 p.m., the Senate had all but finished work on the legislation and senators were eager to quit for the Memorial Day recess. They hung around the chamber gloomily, awaiting the stroke of midnight.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., fumed.

"I'm getting a little tired of sitting around here doing nothing. I've got as plane waiting to take me to Taiwan. Couldn't we just declare it to be 12:01?"

Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., told Goldwater the Senate could vote to pretend it was after midnight—but it would have to do so unanimously.

But then the Senate could do almost anything it wished by a unanimous vote, even bypass the rule that prompted the scheduling of the post-midnight vote, Baker said.

Dole may have made the most persuasive argument for unanimity, reminding colleagues of their recent vote to repeal the special $75-a-day tax break Congress gave itself last year.

"Since these meetings aren't deductible any more, we ought to speed up the process," Dole said.

Soon after, the Senate decided — unanimously — that it didn't have to wait until 12:01 if it didn't want to. And it passed the housing bill with little further ado.

The House, deciding it doesn't want to see double anymore, is ending its longstanding practice of keeping one photographer on its payroll to shoot Democratic members and another for Republicans.

The policy often has sent both photographers scrambling to cover the same event.

Henceforth the two photographers, who are on congressional salaries, will work on the same staff and picture members of both parties, the House Administration Committee has decreed.

The committee also clamped down on the number of free prints a member can order. Now there's no limit. In the future, only five "per scene" will be allowed.

That means the lawmaker who poses on the Capitol steps with the local high school marching band will no longer be able to send autographed prints to every band member.

Two killed in 'copter crash

FAIRFIELD, Texas (AP) — Investigators examined the charred wreckage of a helicopter that crashed near this Central Texas town and exploded on impact, killing two men.

Burned beyond recognition were Clinton Rose, 25, of London, and Harvard Holen, 24, of Oslo, Norway, according to David Wells of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Witnesses told investigators the Bell Jet Ranger aircraft banked sharply and then began losing altitude, crashing about 3:30 p.m. Monday, he said.

Rose and Holen had taken off from Huntsville and planned to land in Gainesville, Wells said.

Both men were taken to the Cappel Funeral Home in Fairfield, he said.

Officials with the Federal Aviation Administration and the National Safety Transportation Board were at the scene Monday night, he said.

ELDRED E. GRAY, a certified public accountant, has the understanding. He's just recently received information explaining the Economic Recovery Act, and he has the background necessary to pass that information on.

Eldred Gray is a self-employed accountant working in Big Spring. He's been a CPA for 15 years and has 25 years experience working with personal finances. He knows the best way to keep your finances in order, and when income tax time rolls around, he can help you get the most out of the deductions available.

IN ADDITION, he offers services for bookkeeping, money management and audits. Financing is a year-round job, not something for the night before income tax deadline. He can help you prepare. Call Mr. Gray at 267-5938 or stop by his office at 1606 1/2 Scurry. He has the skills and knowledge to help you.
